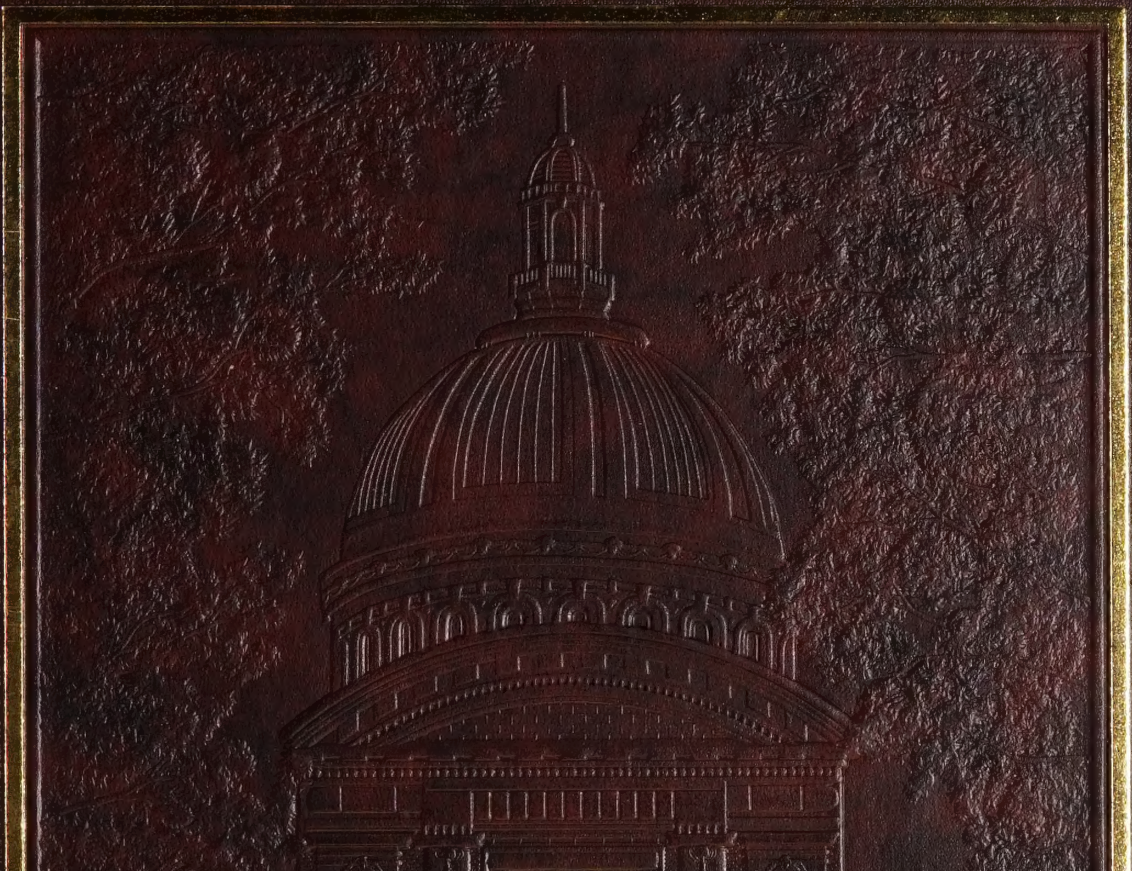
HONOR · COURAGE · COMMITMENT



LUCKY BAG

U S N A
NAVAL ACADEMY
EX SCIENTIA TRIDENS

U S
NAVAL ACADEMY
EX SCIENTIA TRIDENS

LUCKY BAG

HONOR · COURAGE · COMMITMENT

UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND

LUCKY BAG

HONOR · COURAGE · COMMITMENT

Dedication

Chain of Command

Faculty

Mid Life : Summer

Mid Life : Fall

Mid Life : Spring

Varsity Sports

Club Sports

Clubs

Class of 2013: History

The USNA Brigade

Recognition & Advertisements

Index

Table of Contents

004

018

030

042

056

082

124

184

210

256

268

708

750

Austin Tyler Zalik
USNA '13

MIDN 1/C Austin Tyler Zalik

1991-2012

Austin was a genuine person to the core. He was a great son, brother, teammate, friend, and Midshipman. He was loved by all who knew him and continues to be missed dearly. Austin's legacy is one of an uncommon zest for life.

Many books have been written about the importance of living each day to its fullest but no one understood that idea, and acted on it, better than Austin. Every day he filled his life and the lives of those around him with more love and happiness than the day before. It is hard to imagine that anyone has packed so much adventure into so little time spent here on earth.

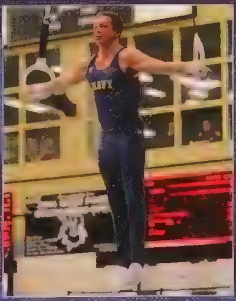
There is no denying that Austin was a perfectionist. Whether it was his gymnastics team, which he loved so emphatically, surfing adventures around the globe, working on his car, or nearly lighting his room on fire with contraband incense and beach scented candles - you could never keep Austin from talking a million miles a minute about the next steps he would be taking in all of his passions.

Without a doubt, he is up there, watching us right now, wondering with a hearty laugh and giant grin on his face why are we making such a big deal about his life. He was selfless in all his efforts and humble in his demeanor. Austin was an exemplary individual and would never give himself credit for the positive example he set day in and day out. He was pure gold.

Austin, your indomitable resolve to follow through on every commitment is the greatest and most important lesson you have taught our class. You set and exceeded the benchmarks of scholarship, leadership and patriotism that every one of us strives to exemplify every day. Every project you saw through to completion. Every athletic endeavor you attacked vigorously until the end. Every friendship you honored with loyalty and devotion from the deepest depths of your heart.

The burning tenacity with which you tackled every obstacle inspires us to meet the challenges in our careers ahead with a tireless spirit. Just as we could always depend on your friendship, we too will strive to be steadfast in all of our duties to the Navy and to each other.

As an honorary classmate, you will live on in the hearts of every one of us. Austin Zalik, we salute you!



The product of the Naval Academy is not an engineer, a political scientist, a chemist, or a physicist. The product is a citizen; a person formed in a heroic mold, who we hope will never have to be a hero, but who we are confident has the fortitude to go in harms way to protect the Republic. The product is a person who will do the right thing for no other reason than it is the right thing to do. The product is a person who recognizes excellence and is willing to strive for it. The product is a person dedicated to caring for the enlisted men and women in the U.S. Navy, those people who do most of the work and most of the dying in our Navy.

Midshipmen are persons of integrity:

They stand for that which is right.

They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known.

They do not lie.

Pearl
MARCHING PERCUSSION

They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented.

They do not cheat.

They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property.

They do not steal.

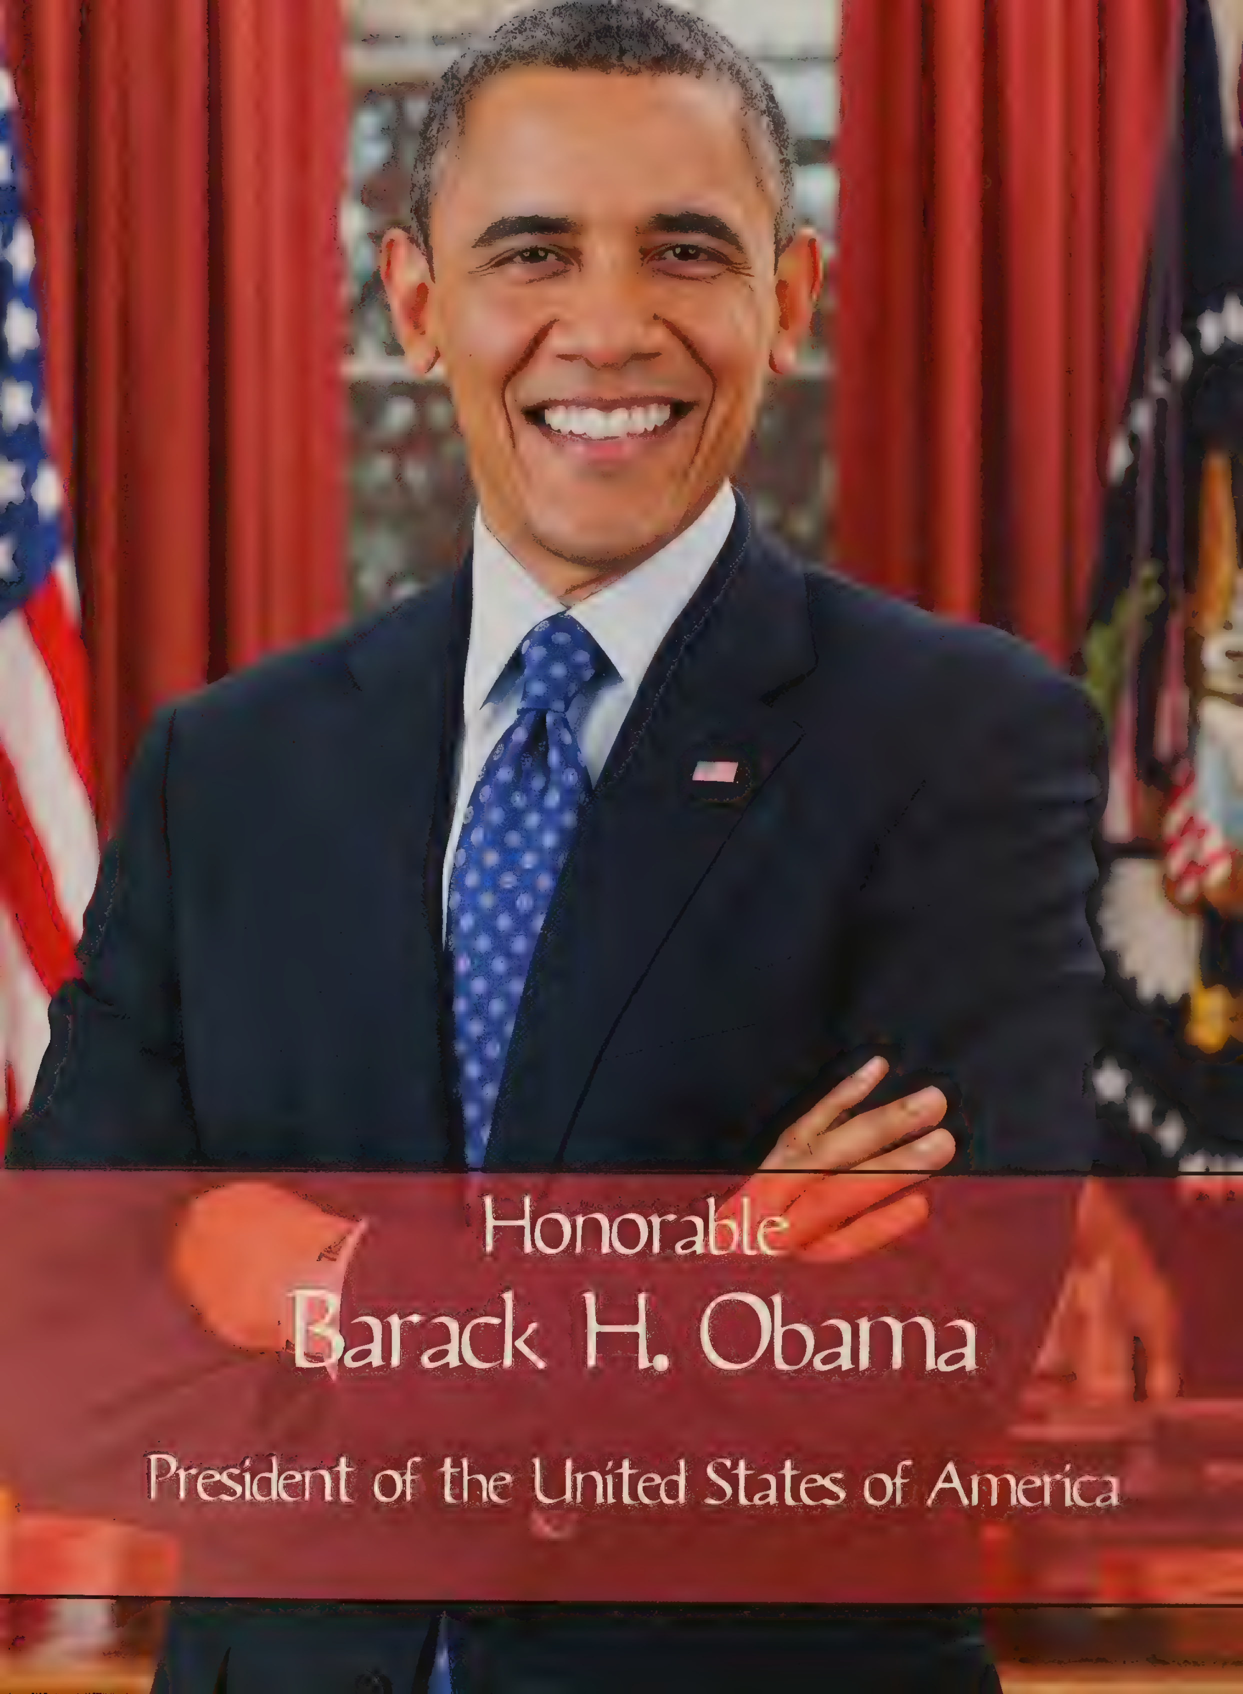
UNITED STATES

The greatest accolade given the U.S. Naval Academy in the Vietnamese Communist prison was the statement the camp commander, Major Bui, made to John Sidney McCain III '58, when John refused an early propaganda release: "They have taught you too well, McCain! They have taught you too well!"

"I can imagine no more rewarding a career. And any man who may be asked in this century what he did to make his life worthwhile, I think can respond with a good deal of pride and satisfaction: 'I served in the United States Navy.'"

-President John F. Kennedy
August 1, 1963, in Bancroft Hall

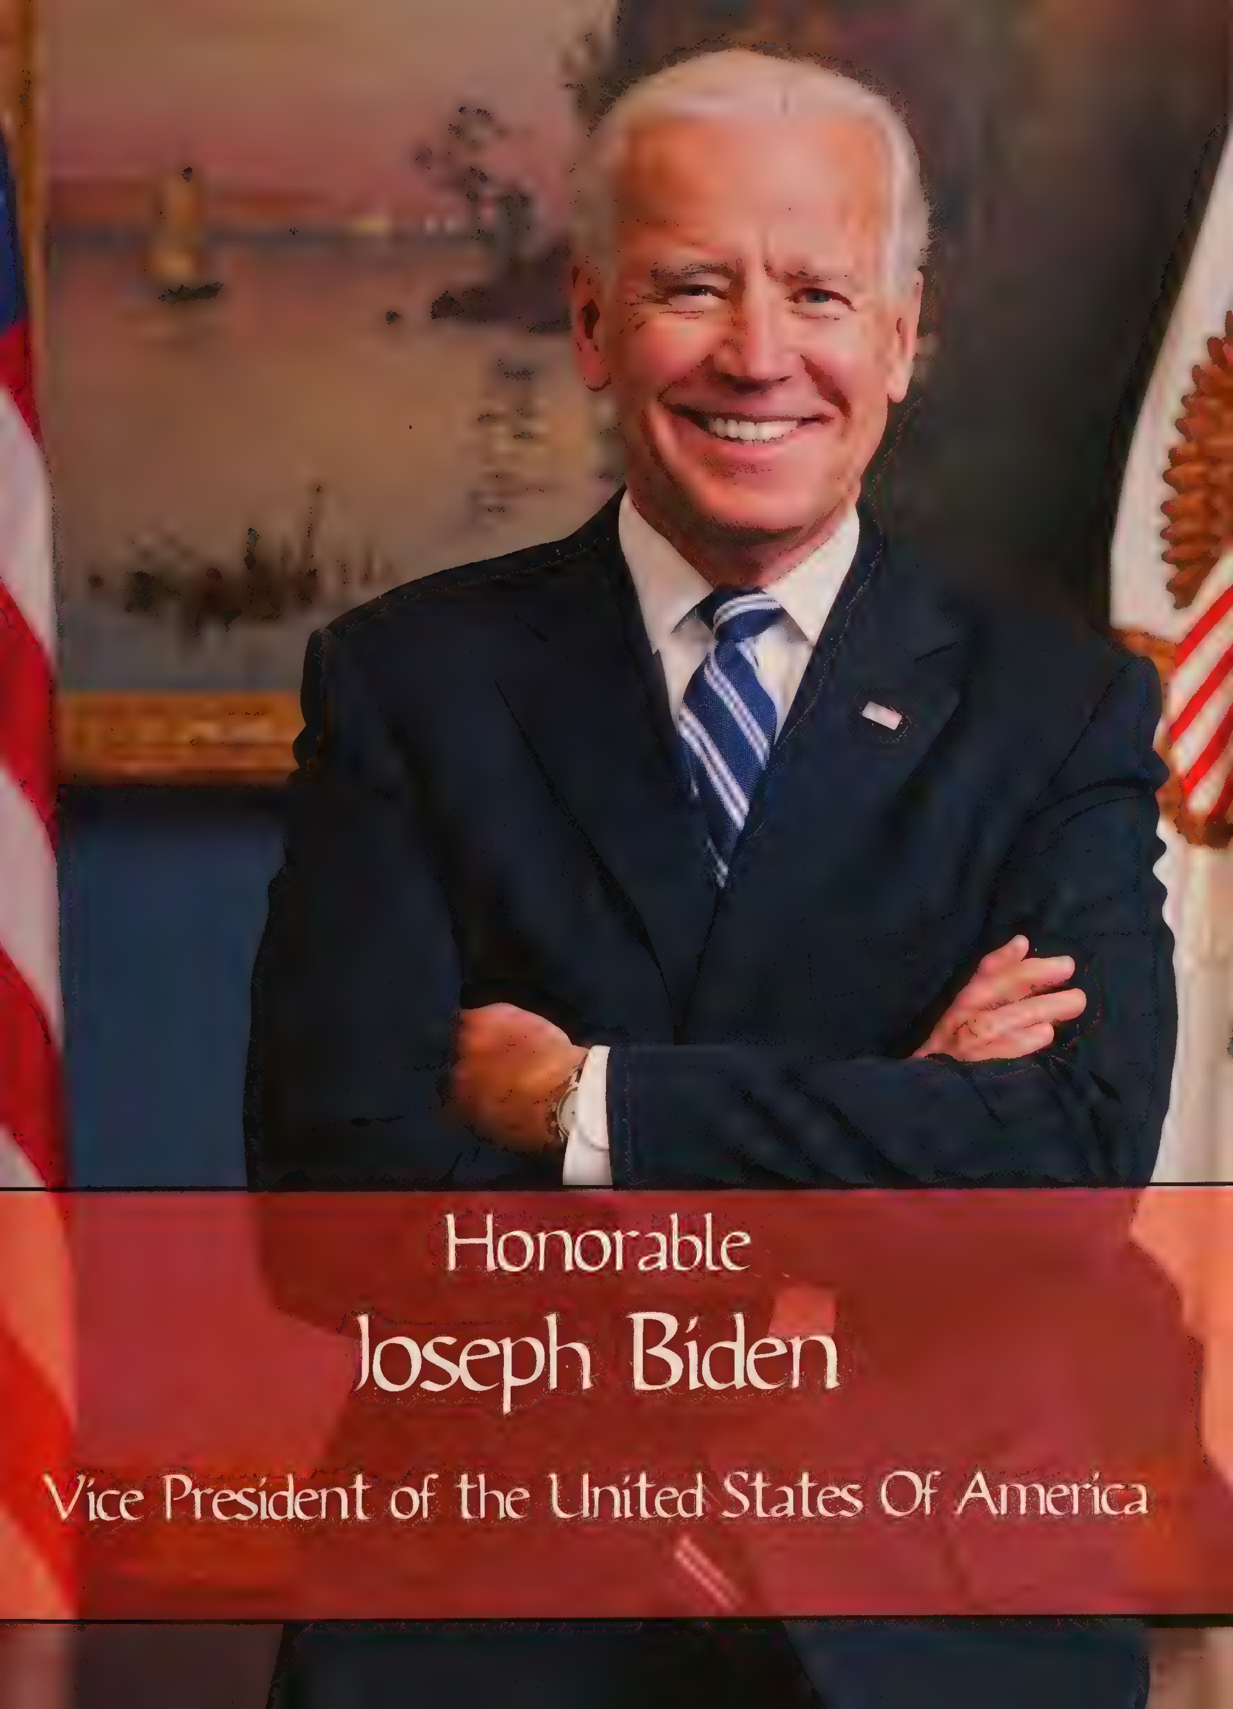
Chain of Command



Honorable

Barack H. Obama

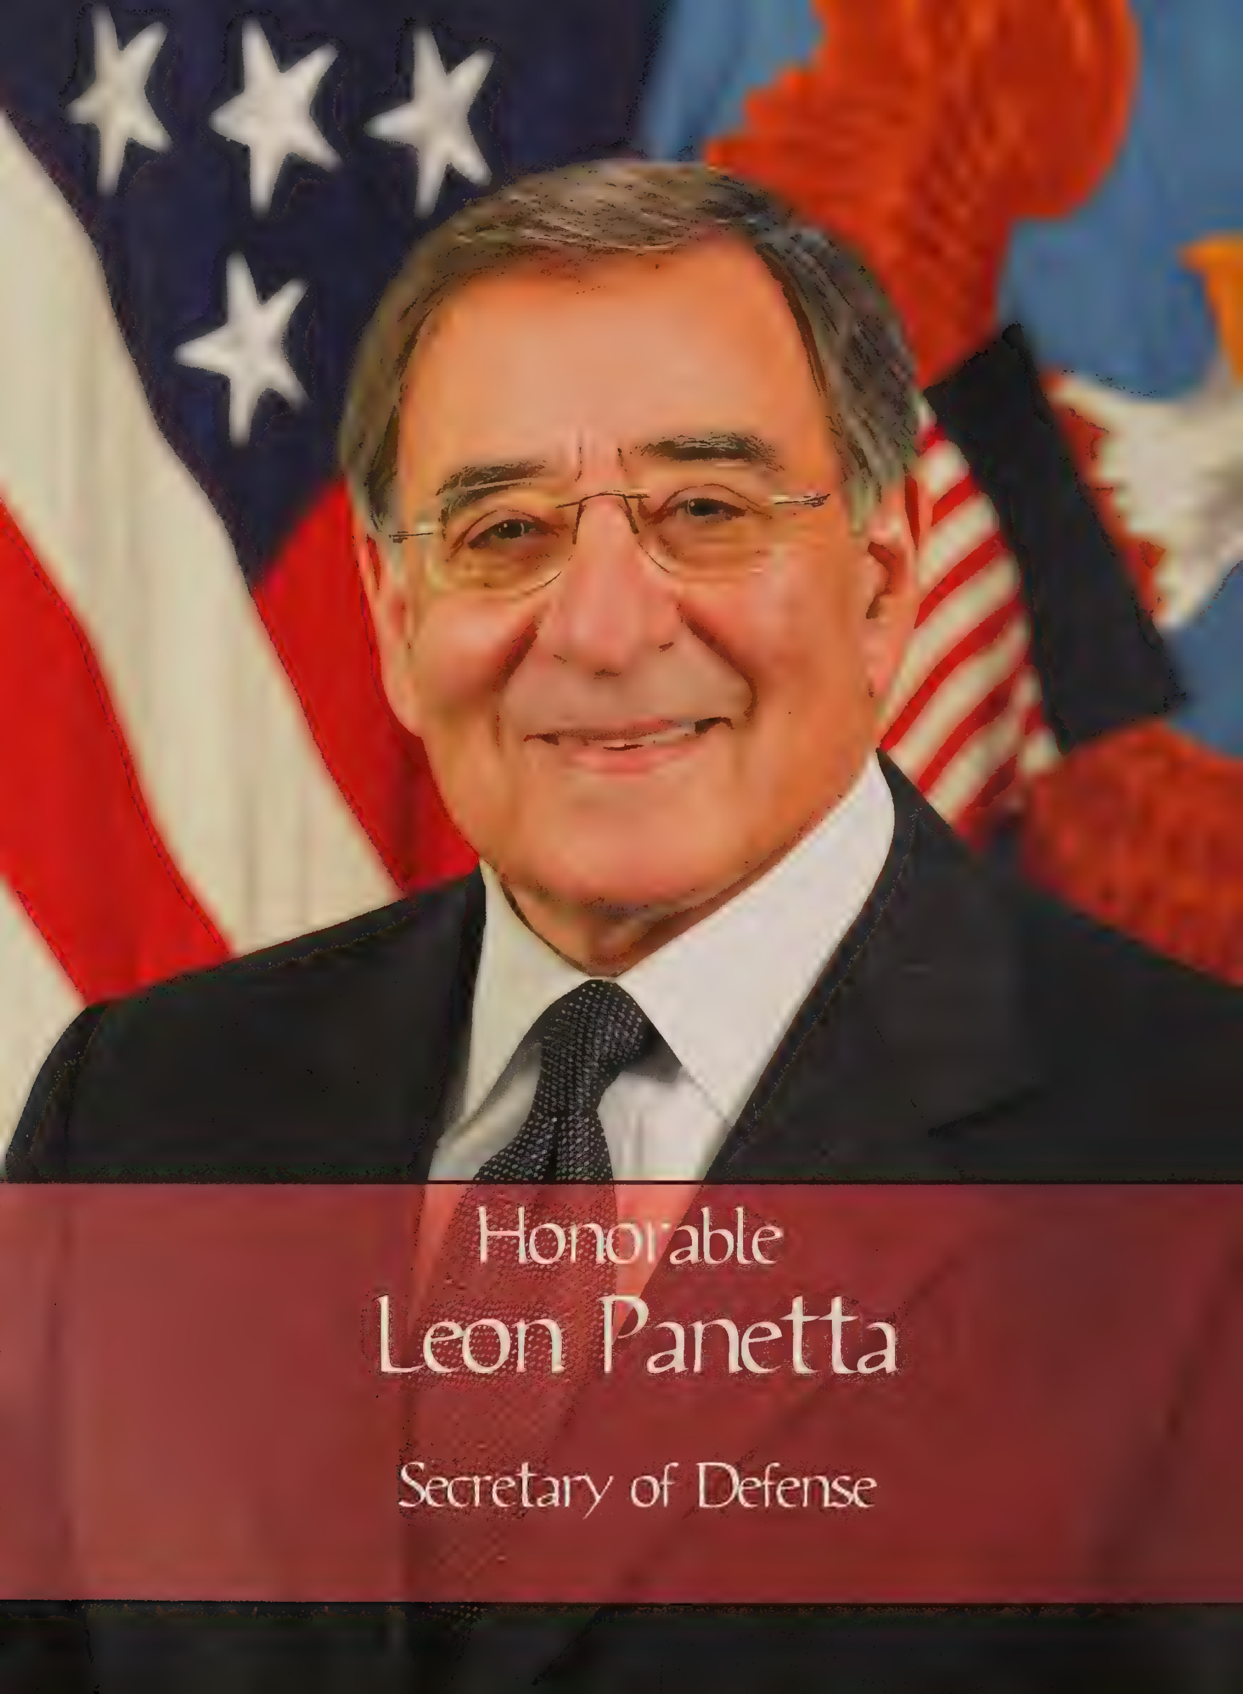
President of the United States of America



Honorable

Joseph Biden

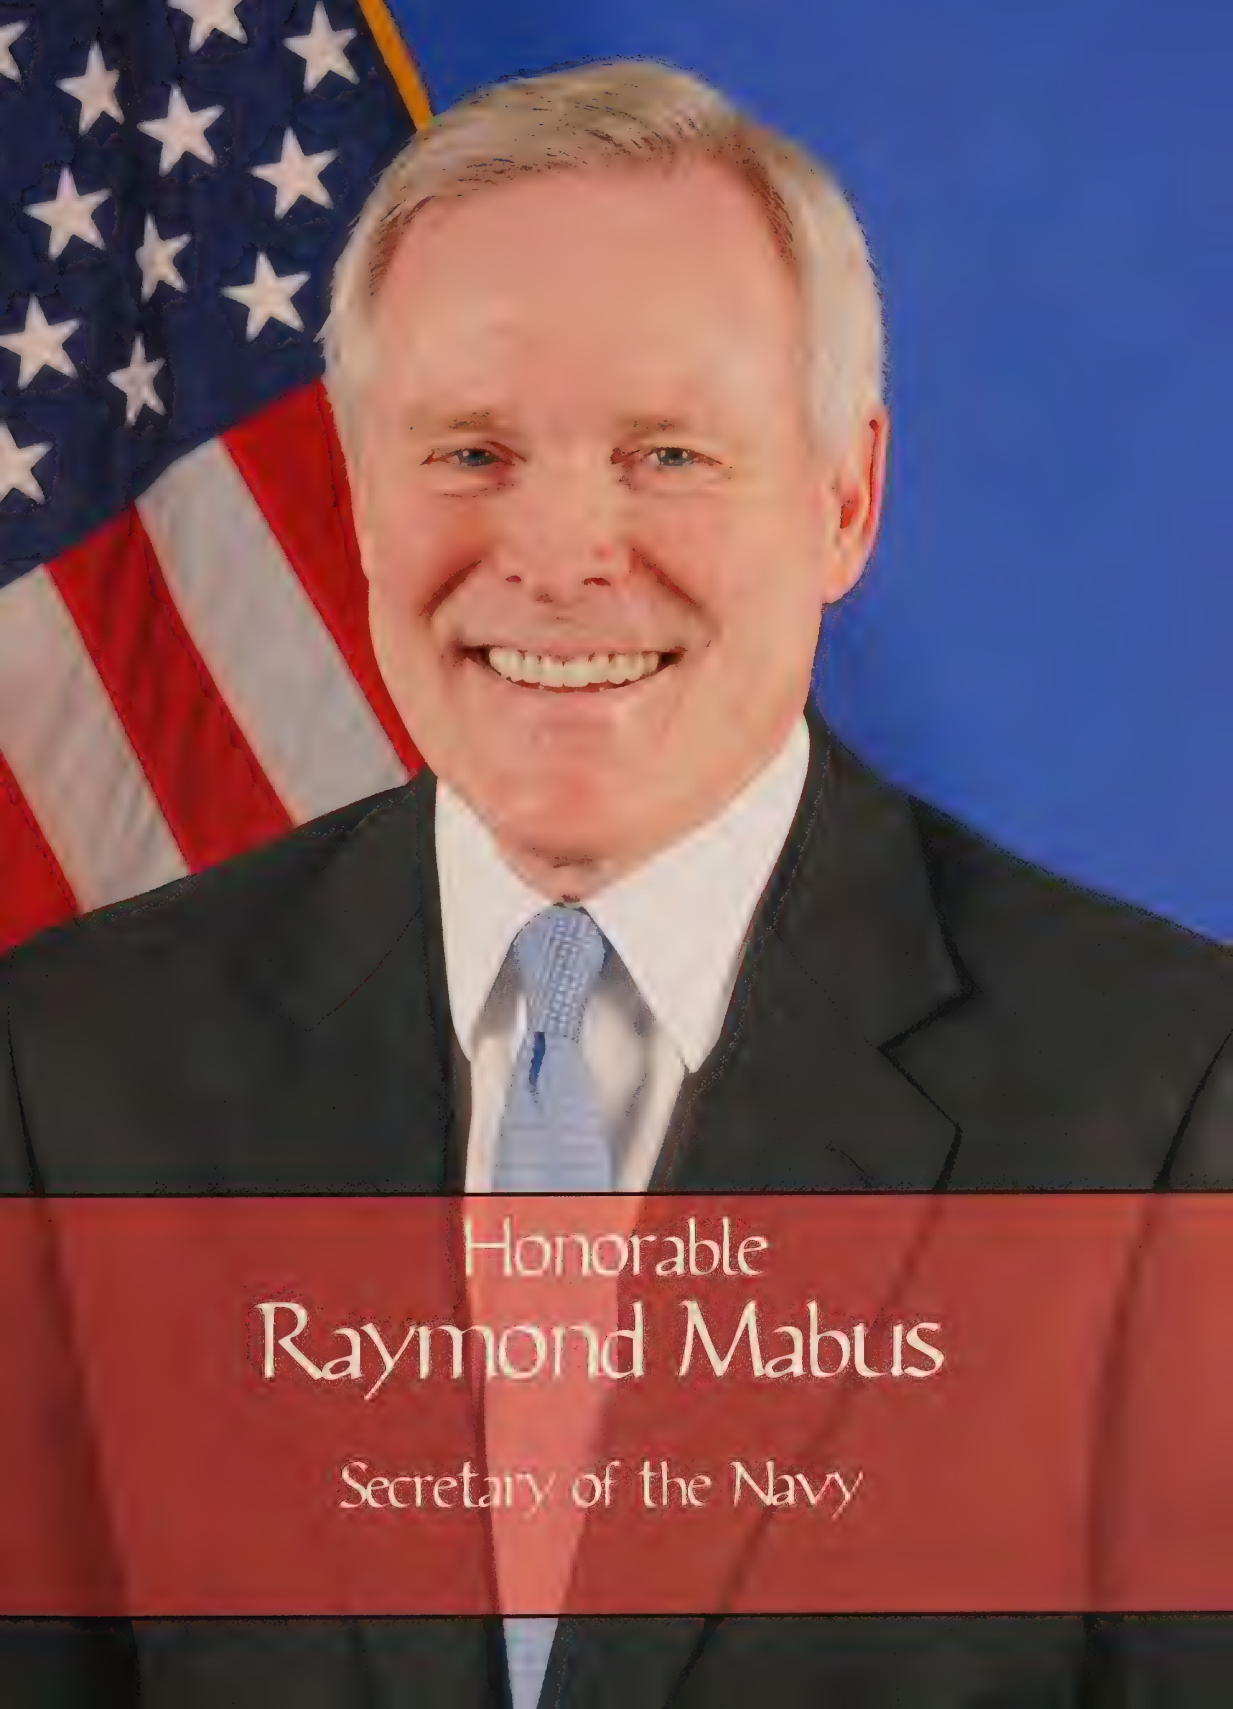
Vice President of the United States Of America



Honorable

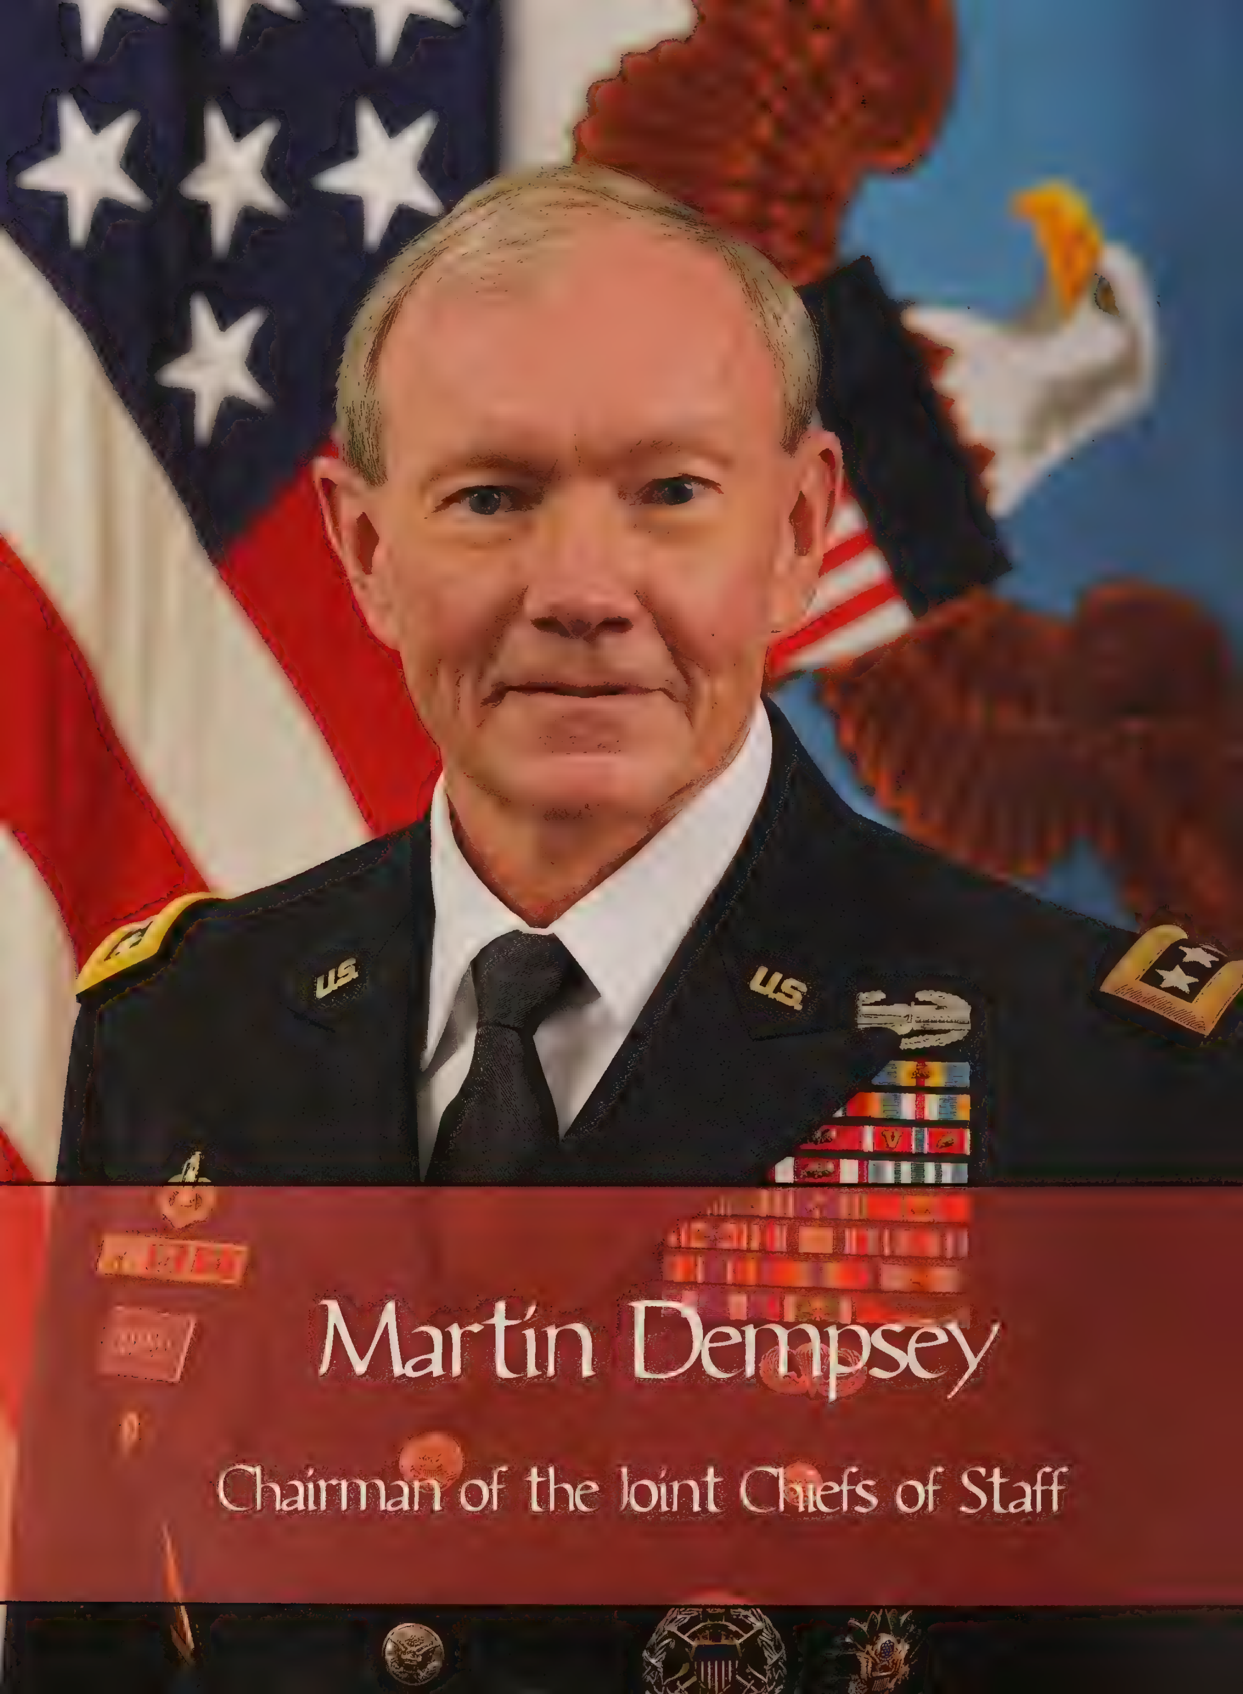
Leon Panetta

Secretary of Defense



Honorable
Raymond Mabus

Secretary of the Navy

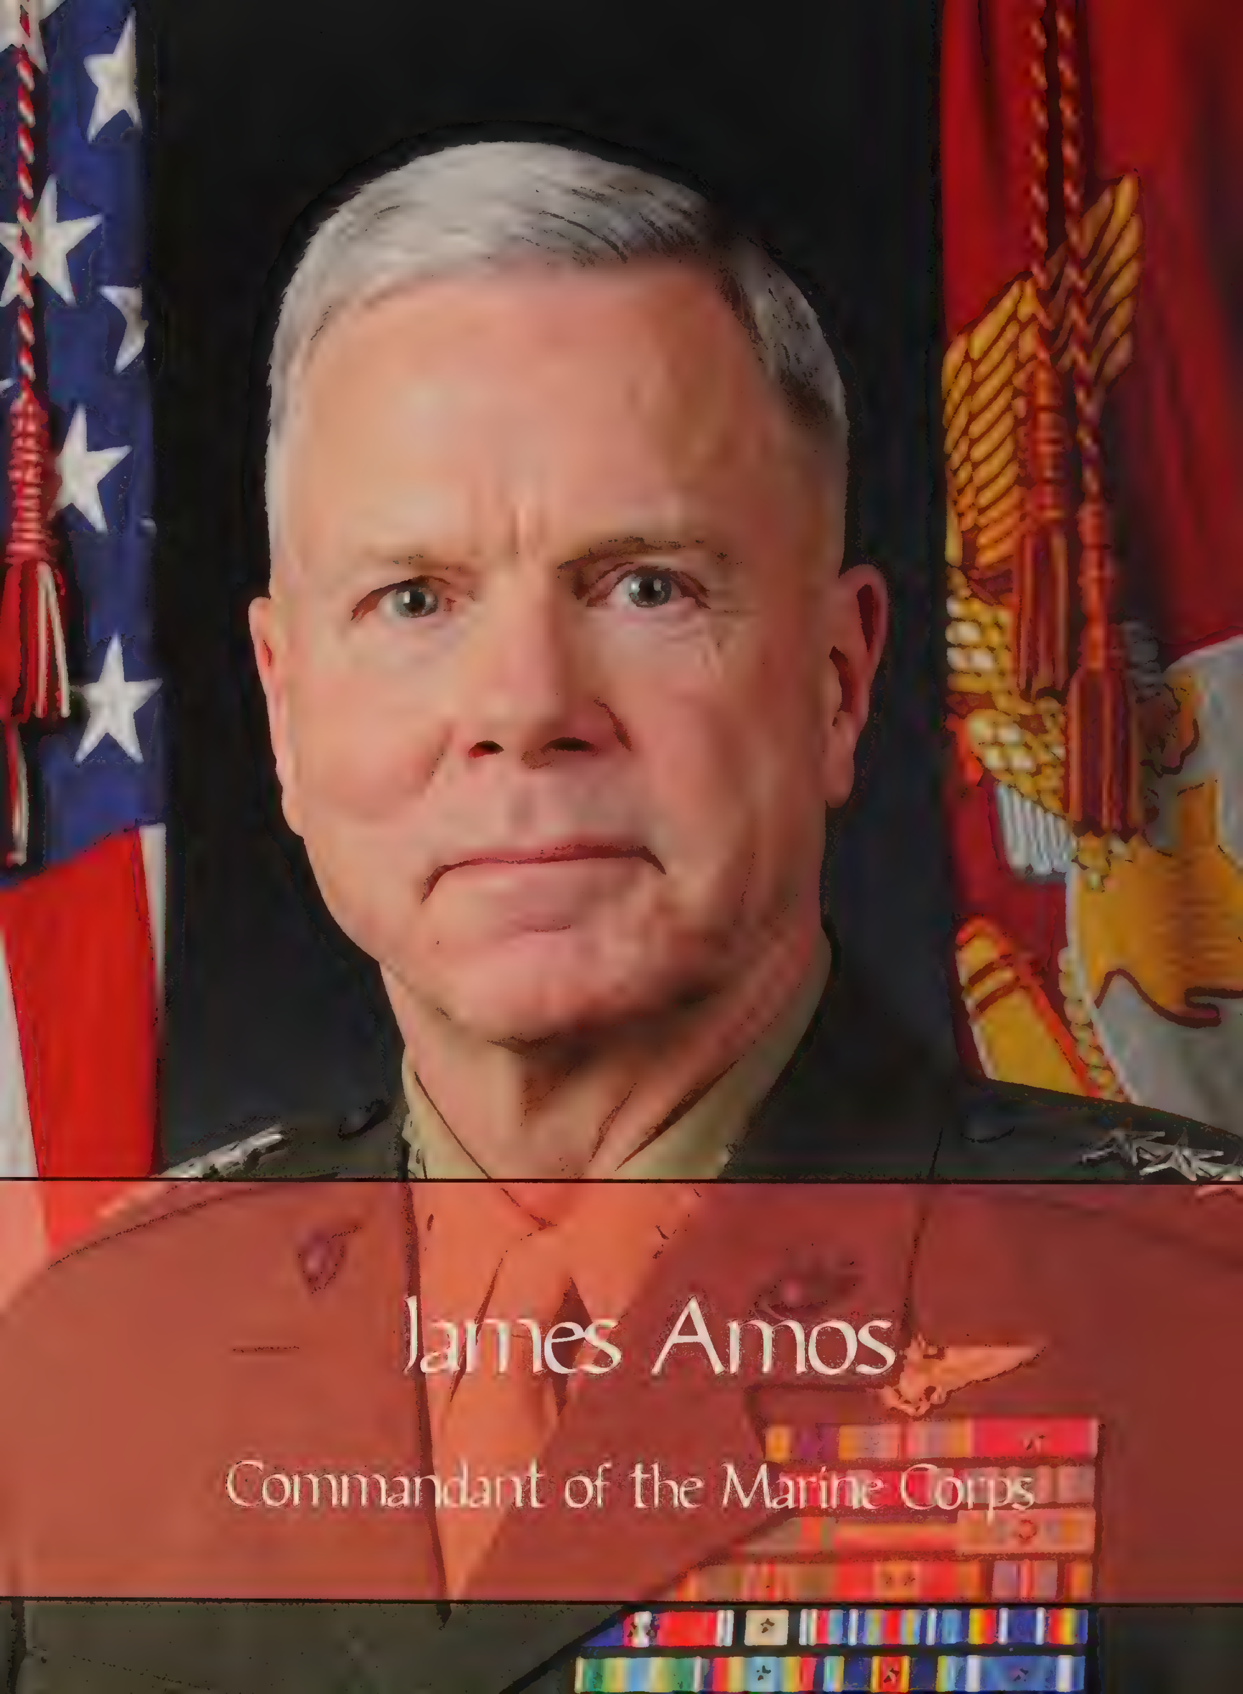


Martin Dempsey

Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

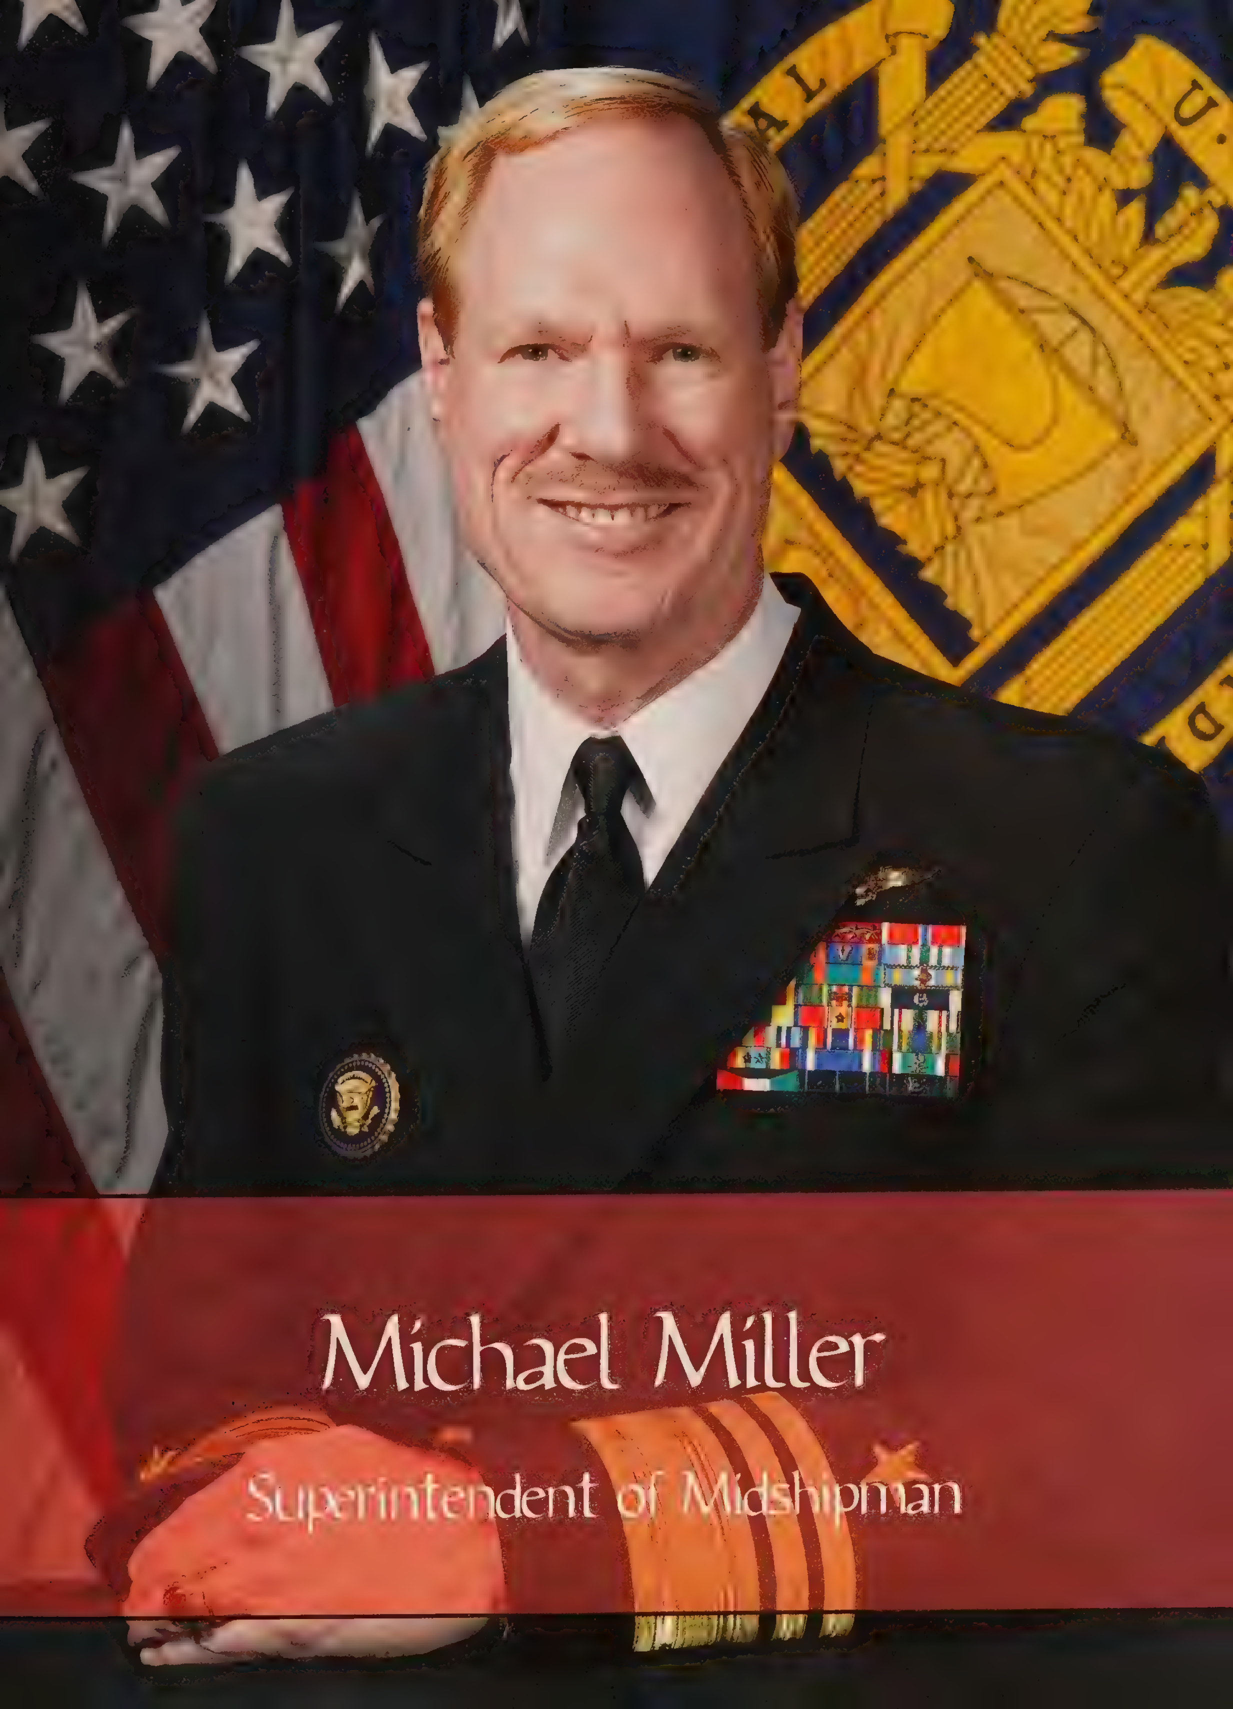
Jonathan Greenert

Chief of Naval Operations



James Amos

Commandant of the Marine Corps

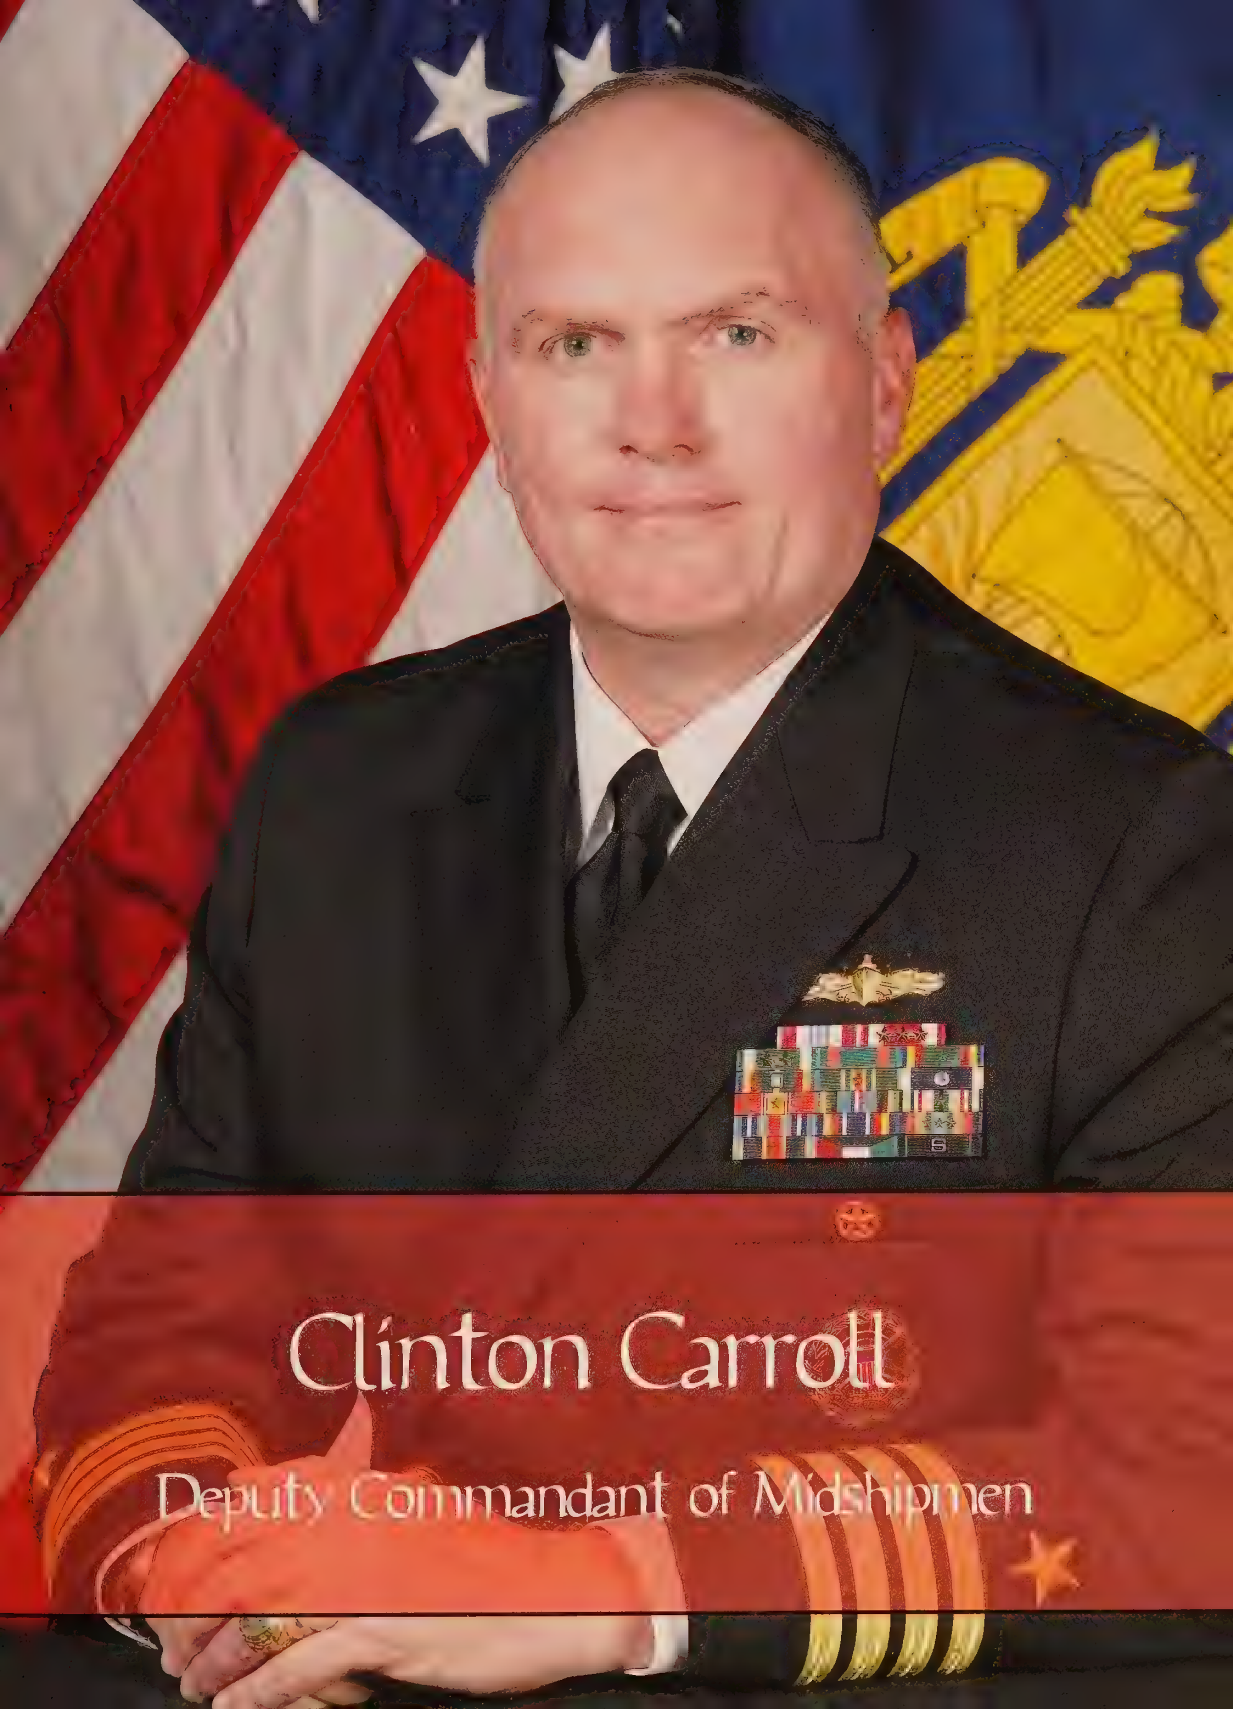


Michael Miller

Superintendent of Midshipman

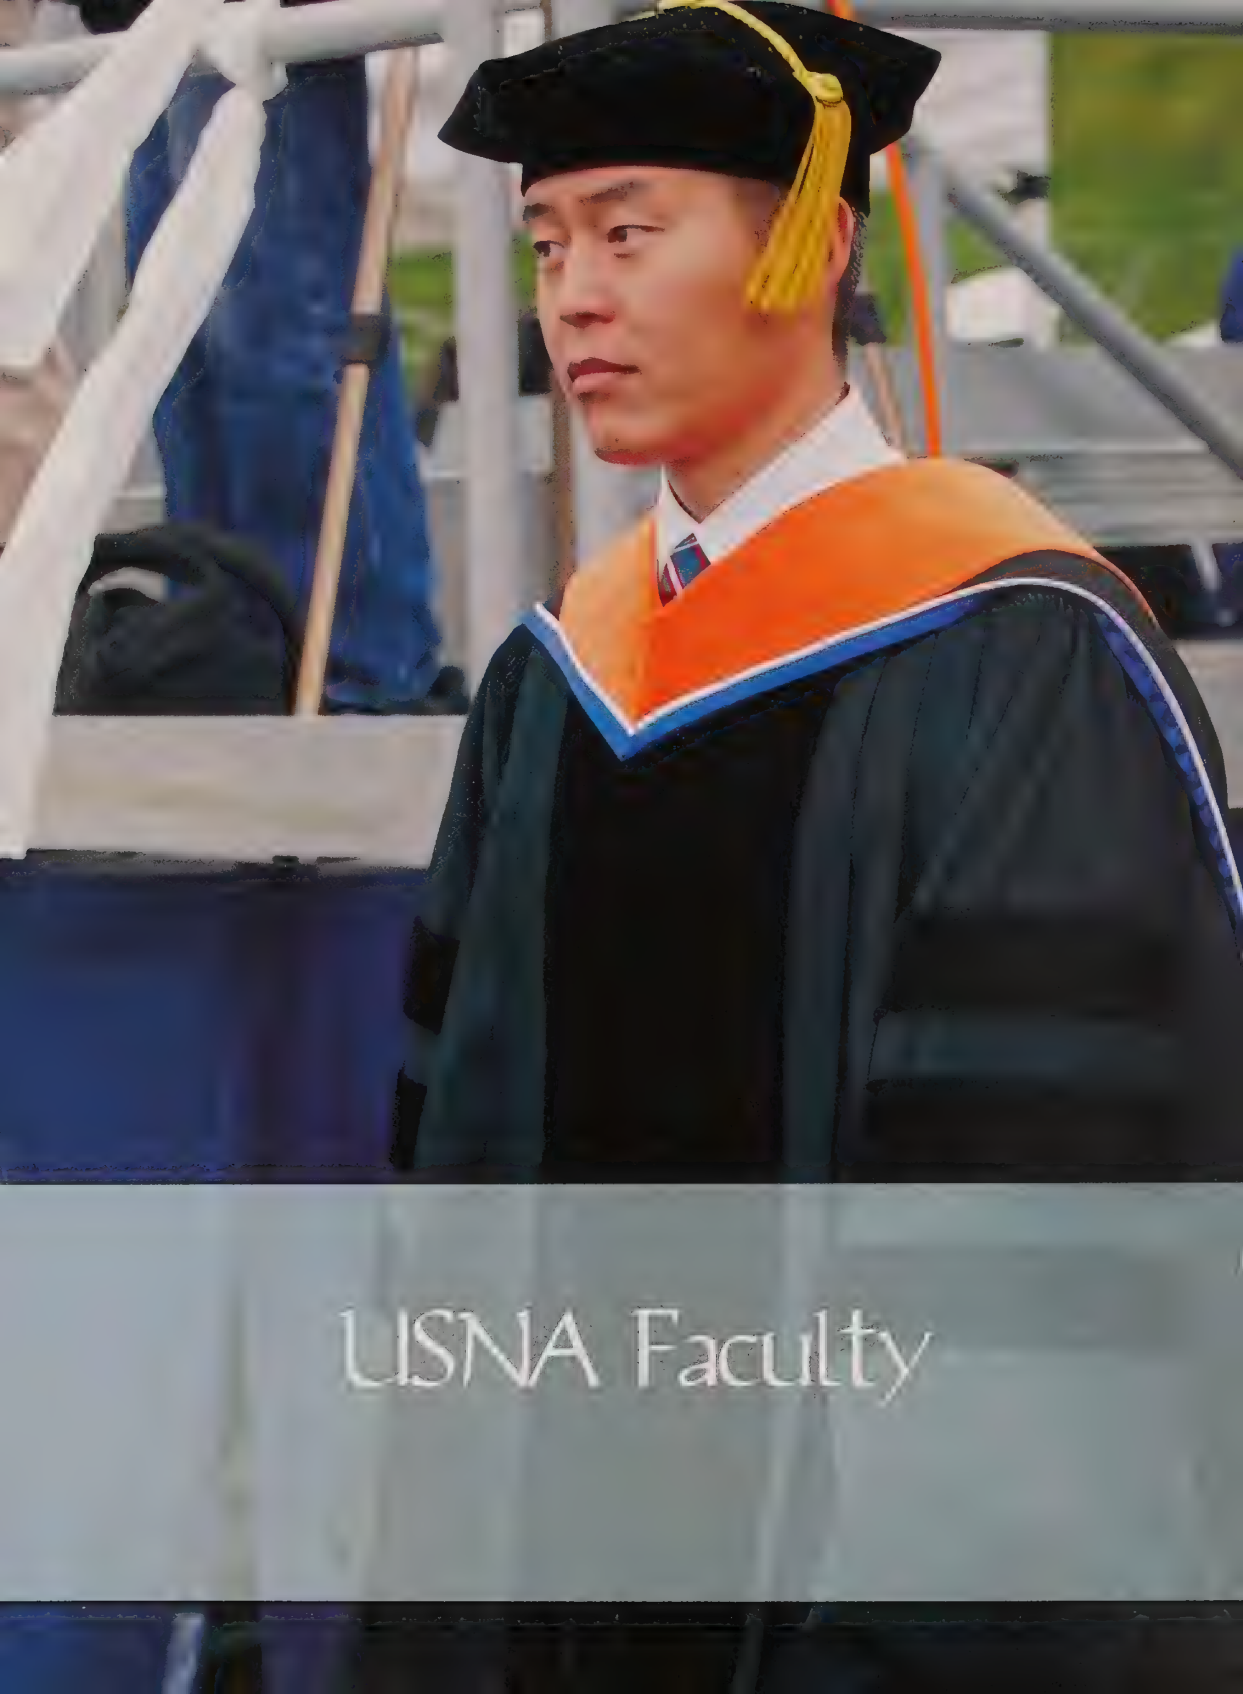
Robert E. Clark II

Commandant of Midshipman



Clinton Carroll

Deputy Commandant of Midshipmen



USNA Faculty

"For in this modern world, the instruments of warfare are not solely for waging war. Far more importantly, they are the means for controlling peace. Naval officers must therefore understand not only how to fight a war, but how to use the tremendous power which they operate to sustain a world of liberty and justice, without unleashing the powerful instruments of destruction and chaos that they have at their command."

Admiral Arleigh Burke, CNO
August 1, 1961, Change of command address
Annapolis, MD

Dr. Steve Miner, Professor, Department Chair, CDR Kevin Blenkhorn, USN Senior Instructor, Associate Chair, CDR Michael Bilzor, US
Permanent Military Professor, Dr. Christopher W. Brown, Associate Professor, Dr. Nate Chambers, Assistant Professor, Dr. Frederick Crabb
Professor, Dr. Adina Crainiceanu, Assistant Professor, LCDR Chris Hoffmeister, USN, Instructor, Dr. Luke McDowell, Associate Professo
Dr. Christopher S. Marron, Visiting Professor (NSA), Dr. Donald M. Needham, Professor, Capt Pedro Ortiz, USMC, Master Instructor, Ca
Joni Pepin, USMC, Instructor, Dr. Daniel S. Roche, Assistant Professor, Dr. Kay G. Schulze, Professor Emeritus, Capt Matthew Sikora, USA
Senior Instructor, Associate Professor Emeritus, Dr. Dave Stahl, Professor of Practice, Dr. Gavin Taylor, Assistant Professor

Computer Science

O'Brien, Timothy, Professor, Department Chair, Fermo, Deborah CDR, USNR, Senior Instructor, Associate Chair, Albaugh, Kurt LT, USN, Instructor, Writing Center Director, McWilliams, Mark B. Associate Professor, Honors Advisor, VGEP Advisor, Shaffer, Thomas J. Associate Professor, Senior Academic Advisor, Allen-Emerson, Michelle Associate Professor, Beckman, John A. Associate Professor, Berman, Neil D. Professor, Booth, Allyson A. Professor, Bushnell, William S. LCDR, USN, Master Instructor, Clark, Audrey Wu, Assistant Professor, Cone, R. Temple, Assistant Professor, Drew, Anne Marie, Professor, Fetrow, Fred M. Professor, Fleming, Bruce E., Professor, Gilliland, C. Herbert, Professor, Growney, Patrick LCDR, USNR, Master Instructor, Hill, John M., Professor, Johnston, Eileen T., Associate Professor, Koss, Erika, Adjunct Professor, Larabee, Mark D., CDR, USN, Associate Professor, Permanent Military Professor, Loggins, Vernon, Assistant Professor, Mace, Nancy A., Professor, MacLean, Aaron, 1stLt, USMC, Instructor, McGhan, Jillian Danback, Nolan, Charles J., Professor, Parker, Michael P., Professor, Rainey, Thomas, LT, USN, Instructor, Ryan, John, LCDR, USN, Junior Permanent Military Professor, Salinas, Jason, LCDR, USN, Master Instructor, Stanlake, Christy L, Assistant Professor, Steimsma, Shaun, Adjunct Professor, Ward, Thomas, Assistant Professor, Wickham, Micheal, LT, USN, Instructor, Wright, Edward, LT, USN, Instructor

English

Martin Libicki, Vis Distinguish. Prof., Roger Little, Professor, Frank McDonald, Visiting Professor, Melinda Miller, Asst Professor, Clair Morris, Professor Emeritus, Ahmed Rahman, Assoc Professor, Pamela Schmitt, Professor, Katherine Smith, Professor, Joe Smutz, LT, Agnieszka Strzelec-Noel, Visiting Prof., Kurtis Swope, Professor, Karen Thierfelder, Professor, Khalilah Thomas, Maj, USMC, Thomas Zak, Assoc Professor, Janet Tard, Administrative Assistant

Economics

Fujimura, Clementine, Chair, Professor, Mottaleb, Ayman, Gwara, Joseph J., Senior Academic Advisor, Professor, Garth, Todd, Senior Academic Advisor, Associate Professor, Rey, Heidi E., Educational Technician

Language & Clutures

Alevras, Alexis, Andre, Peter, Bailey, Craig K., Baker, B. Mitchell, Bosché, Kerry LT, USN, Brock, Timothy, LT, USN, Buchanan, James L., Colgary, Katie, LT, USN, D'Archangelo, James M., Davis, Frederic I., Davis, Kirsten E., DeLooze, Jason Devoto, Anthony, LT, USN, Ehler, C. W., Foraker, Jay, CDR, USN, Fowler, Gary O., Gaglione, Anthony M., Garcia, Sonia M., Gentry, Sommer, Gloor, Phil, Greene, Devon, LT, USN, Gutzler, Jay, CDR, USN, Hanna, Charles C., Herzog, Martin D., Hetherington III, Noble, LCDR, USN, Hoffman, Michael E., Jabin, Joshua, CAPT, USMC, Joyner, W. David, Kidwell, Mark E., Knitt, Matt C., LT, USN, Konkowski, Debbie A., Ksir, Amy, Lara, Blanca, CAPT, USMC, Liakos, Anastasios, Lockhart, Jody M., Lockhart, Robert B., Loehr, Nicholas A., Logue, Thomas, CAPT, Malek-Madani, Reza, Matthews, Peter, McCoy, Peter A., Medynets, Kostya, Melles, Caroline G., Messenger, James P., Messing, Fredric, Michael, T. S., Minut, Aurelia, Moen, Courtney H., Moulis, E. John, Munson, Brian A., Nakos, George, Nikolov, Margaret C., Ooi, Teng K, LT, USN, Parks, Joe, Pennington, Brian R., LT, USN, Phillips, David, Popovici, Irina, Price, Geoffrey, Raghupathi, Mrinal, Rasmussen, Amanda, CAPT, USAF, Ruth, David, CDR, USN, Sanders, Thomas J., Shivok, Linda, Spencer, Hite, CDR, USN, Traves, William N., Uhan, Nelson A., Van Joolen, Vince J., CAPT, USN, Wakefield, Max, Wang, Eric, Withers, Wm. Douglas, Zarikian, Vrej

Mathematics

Edmondson, Charles A., Department Chair, Professor, Lomax, Andrew, Associate Chair, Commander, USN, Basu, Raj, Assistant Professor, Bishop, Gary, Physics Lab Manager, Cimpoiasu, Elena, Associate Professor, Correll, Francis D., Professor, Elise, Albert C., Professor, Emery, John D., Major, USAF, Engle, Irene M., Professor, Ertel, John P., Associate Professor, Finkenstadt, Daniel K., Assistant Professor, Fontanella, John J., Professor Emeritus, Frigo, Nicholas J., Michelson Professor of Physics, Hahn, Matthew J., Lieutenant, USN, Hartley, Daryl J., Associate Professor, Huddle, James R., Associate Professor, Ita, Eyo, USN, Assistant Professor, Katz, Debora M., Professor, Korman, Murray S., Professor, Larsen, Jeffrey A., Associate Professor, Lee, Raymond L., Jr., Research Professor, MacLeod, Chelsea, Assistant Research Professor, McClanahan, Ted, Adjunct Professor, McIlhany, Kevin L., Associate Professor, Mikulski, Paul T., Associate Professor, Miller, Grant, LCDR, USN, Montgomery, Steven R., Associate Professor, Moore, Dave, Electronics Technician, Morgan, Christopher, Assistant Professor, Mungan, Carl E., Associate Professor, Murphy, William P., LT, USN, Ouimet, Sean P., Lieutenant, USN, Riebel, David, LCDR, USN, Shivok, Timothy, LCDR, USN, Smith, Billy R., Adjunct Professor, Sullivan, Michael P., Lieutenant, USN, Tankersley, Lawrence L., Professor, Tucholski, Edward J., Assistant Professor, Commander, USN, Vanhoy, Jeffrey R., Professor, Walbert, Jeff, Engineering Technician, Weaver, Dawn, LT, USN, Wintersgill, Mary C., Professor, Witt, Richard, Assistant Professor

Physics

David Smith, Associate Professor, Chair, Emil Petruncio, CDR, Associate Chair, Brad Barrett, Assistant Professor, Richard Constantian, CDR, Peter Guth, Professor, Shawn Gallaher, LCDR, Carl Hager, CDR, Gina Henderson, Assistant Professor, Raymond L. Lee, Jr., Research Professor, Michele Morgado, Adjunct Instructor, Andrew Muller, Associate Professor, Patrick Murray, CDR, Deputy Director, Division of Mathematics and Science, Suzanna Ribblett, Adjunct Instructor, Elizabeth Sanabia, CDR, William Schulz, CAPT, Joseph Smith, CDR, Cecily Steppe, Associate Professor, Megan Thomas, LT, John Woods, LCDR

Oceanography

Kiriakidis, Kiriakos, Professor, Department Chair, Hurni, Mike, CDR, USN, Assistant Professor & Associate Chair, Harting, Will, LCDR, USN, Instructor, O'Mara, Duncan, Master Instructor & Integrated Weapons System (IWS) Chair, Avramov-Zamurovic, Svetlana, Professor, Bishop, Brad, Professor, Broussard, Randy, Associate Professor, Connett, Brian, LCDR, USN, Junior Professional Military Professor, Dawkins, Jeremy, Assistant Professor, DiFranco, Tony, LT, USN, Instructor, Dobie, Ryan, LT, USN, Instructor, Doney, Kevin, CDR, USN, Instructor, Esposito, Joel, Associate Professor, Feemster, Matthew, Associate Professor,, Gamble, Tom, CDR, USNR, Master Instructor, Gray, Gwen, Adjunct Instructor, Knowles, Ken, Professor Emeritus, Kutzer, Michael, Adjunct Instructor, Landon, Chris, LCDR, USNR, Adjunct Instructor, Lee, Yonggon, Assistant Research Professor, Nicholson, Jack, CAPT, USN, Assistant Professor, Noble, Sarah, Assistant Professor, O'Brien, Rich, Professor, Parikh, Sarangi, Assistant Professor, Piepmeier, Jenelle, Associate Professor, Piper, George, Professor, Rice, John, CDR, USN, Master Instructor, Rohlin, Kristina, LT, USN, Instructor, Thorp, Owen , CAPT, USN, Assistant Professor, Webster-Giddings, Allison, Senior Lecturer, Went, Allison, LT, USN, Instructor, Williams, Anthony, LT, USN, Instructor, Zivi, Ed, Professor

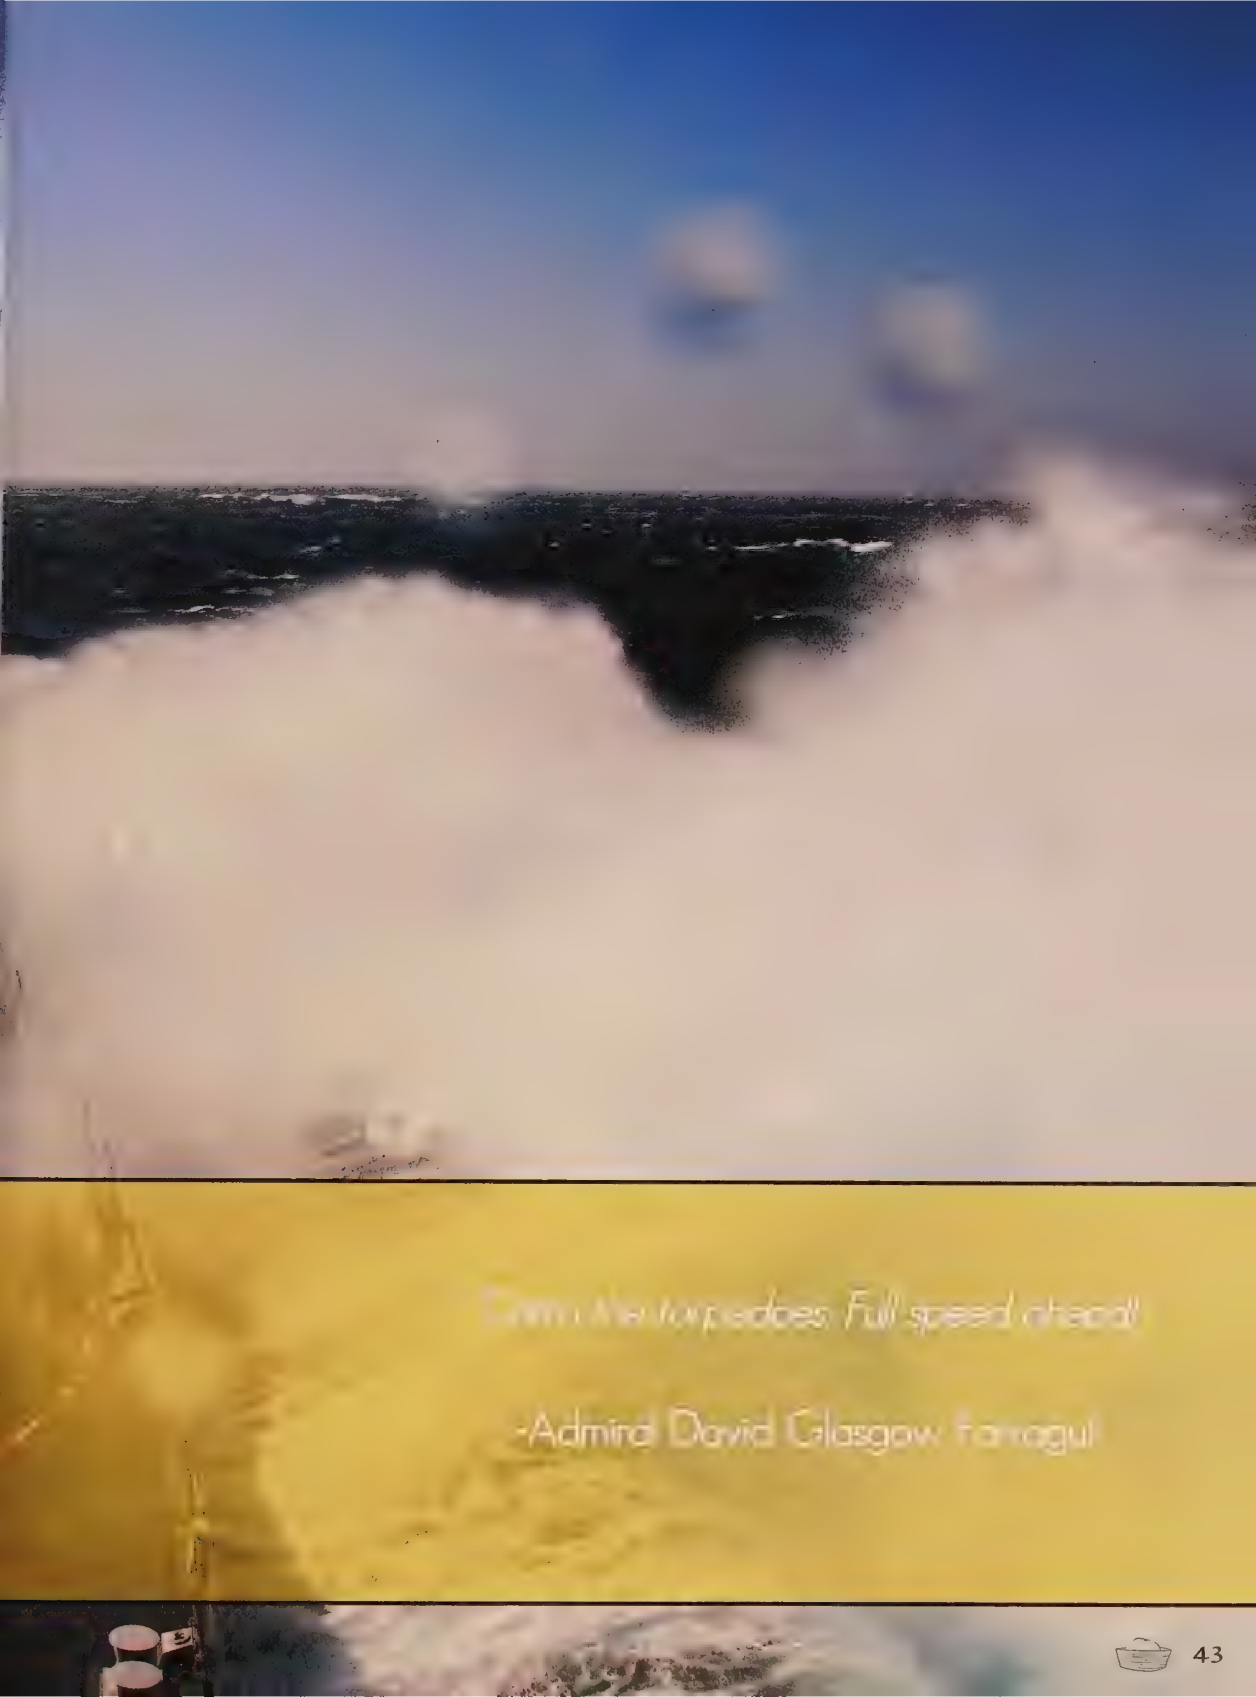
Weapons Systems

MICHELSON HALL

Gregory J. Bodemer, Lieutenant, USN, Douglas J. Brown, Commander, USN, E. Kate Brown, Assistant Research Professor, Robert L. Calhoun, Commander, USN (Associate Chair), Mark L. Campbell, Professor (Senior Academic Adviser), Ginger Chateauneuf, Assistant Professor, Graham T. Cheek, Professor, Christine L. Copper, Professor, Gene T. Coryell, Lieutenant, USNR, Eli Dabich, Assistant Professor, Debra K. Dillner, Professor, Katherine Dozier, Lieutenant, USN, Dave Durkin, Lieutenant Commander, USN, Sarah Durkin, Assistant Professor, Mark L. Elert, Professor, Robert F. Ferrante, Professor, Jeffrey P. Fitzgerald, Professor, Matthew Foley, Assistant Research Professor, Clare E. Gutteridge, Associate Professor, Theron Hamilton, Lieutenant, USN, Judith A. Harrison, Professor, JudithAnn R. Hartman, Professor, Luke Haverhals, Assistant Research Professor, William B. Heuer, Associate Professor, Daniel D. Isaac, Assistant Professor, M. Quarmrul Islam, Assistant Professor, Pamela Keating, Assistant Research Professor, Lawrence Kennedy, Commander, USN, Christopher M. Kinter, Associate Professor, Shirley Lin, Associate Professor, Joseph F. Lomax, Associate Professor, Dianne J. Luning Prak, Associate Professor, Amy Roy MacArthur, Associate Professor, Roy E. McClean, Associate Professor, Daniel P. Morse, Associate Professor, Daniel W. O'Sullivan, Professor (Chair), Wayne H. Pearson, Associate Professor, Brian J. Rehill, Associate Professor, Kathleen Ryan, Assistant Research Professor, Jamie L. Schlessman, Associate Professor, Maria J. Schroeder, Professor, John W. Schultz, Professor Emeritus, Joyce E. Shade, Professor, Ronald L. Siefert, Associate Professor, Jane Smedley, Assistant Professor, Virginia F. Smith, Associate Professor, Charles R. Sweet, Assistant Professor, Melonie Teichert, Professor, Paul C. Trulove, Professor, Joseph J. Urban, Professor, Keith Van Nostrand, Assistant Research Professor, Boyd A. Waite, Professor, Associate Dean for Faculty, Craig M. Whitaker, Professor

Chemistry

Midshipman Life: Summer

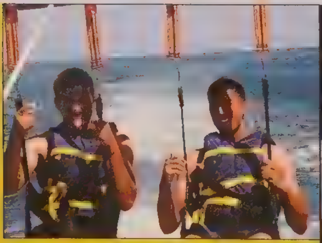


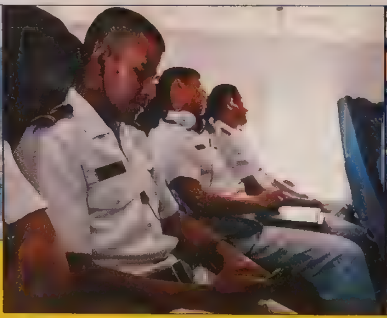
Damn the torpedoes; Full speed ahead!

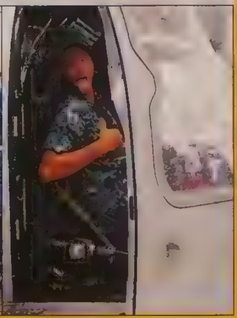
-Admiral David Glasgow Farragut

1/C Summer

As their last summer rolls by, and the final year approaches, 1/C Midshipmen disperse throughout the fleet and at various Academy training evolutions. Plebe Summer remains a pivotal training opportunity, as do the numerous cruises and internships Firsties have the chance to experience.

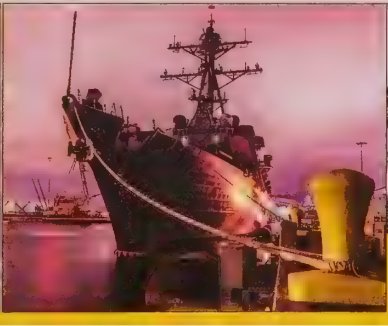






Leading YP cruises is yet another responsibility of the 1/C during their last summer, and they are essential in completing effective training and rewarding cruise experiences for the underclass onboard. The weeks at sea also provide important insight into life underway

Training incoming classes is always a highlight of 1/C Summer, as the Firstie class help form their legacy.



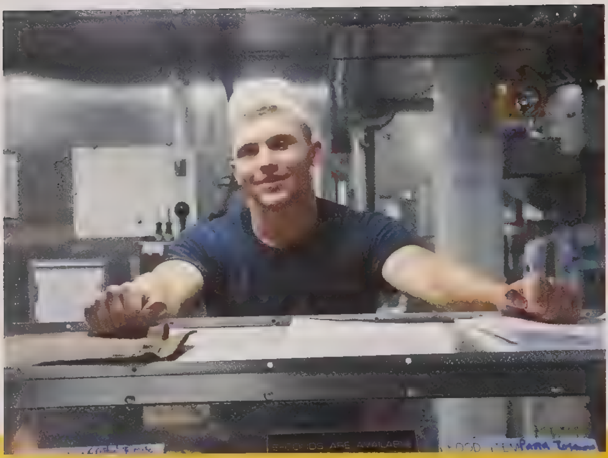
2/C Summer

Second Class Summer, otherwise known as Protramid, is the summer of a lifetime for most Mids. During this training block, midshipmen are provided with the opportunity to visit each of the major service selection categories: Marine Corps, Submarines, Surface Warfare, and Aviation. Not only is this summer training everyone's favorite, it also helps many make the final decision on what they want to service select for their future in the United States Navy.

From living on board a ship to shooting an M4 to getting ready to take off, these Mids are ready for anything during Protramid.

Protramid is amazing for the exposure it provides of the different warfare communities During aviation week, Midshipmen had the chance to suit up and fly aboard a helicopter and even a jet in some cases. During submarine week, Mids were able to see what it is like living in such a small and vital space. Marine Corps week allowed Midshipmen to shoot guns on the range. Surface Warfare week gave the chance for Mids to get aboard some of the worlds largest ships. Overall, the 2/C had a time to remember and learned a lot along the way

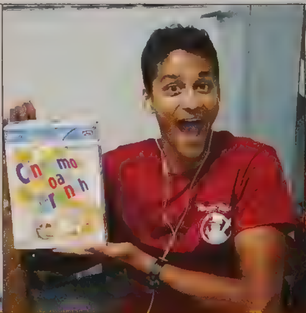
Midshipmen all suited up to fly and braving the waves of the ocean.

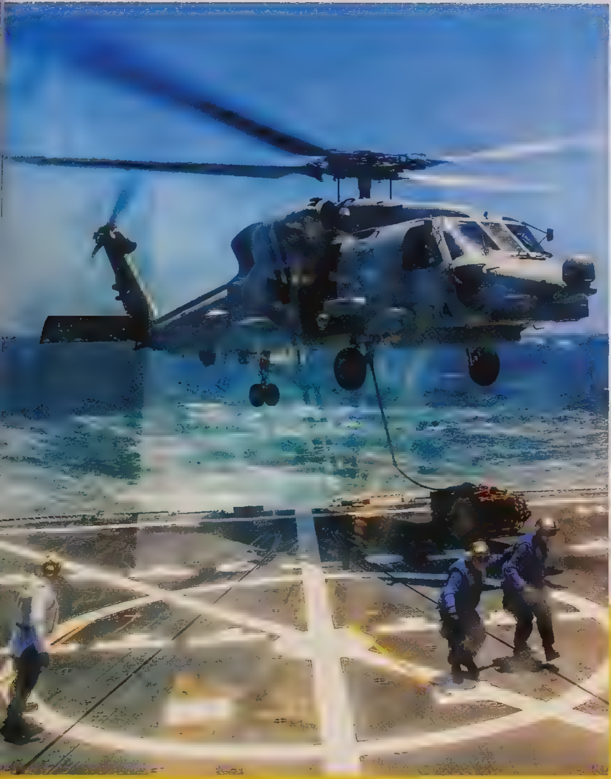


3/C Summer

The class of 2015 experienced a multitude of types of training over the summer including cruises and internships, to name a few. This is an important experience for the class. Having just completed plebe year, they experience true life out in the fleet, particularly through the eyes of the average enlisted sailor. These are the same individuals whom they will be leading in a short three years.

Midshipmen took part in various drills and training scenarios under the helpful supervision of the many qualified sailors.



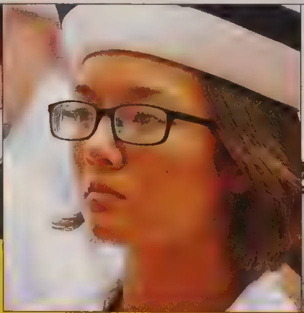


Newly appointed youngsters enjoy the hospitality of the U.S. Navy's Surface Warfare community. Living aboard ships of various platforms, midshipmen shadowed enlisted sailors, experiencing the culture and necessary dedication of enlisted sailors.

Plebe Summer

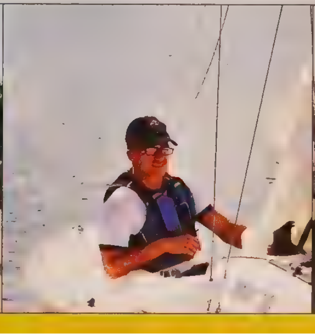
Plebe Summer is the initial indoctrination period for Fourth Class Midshipmen that is conducted over the last seven weeks of the Brigade's summer training cycle. During this rigorous training, the Fourth Class, or "Plebes" learn how to perform the most basic of Midshipman tasks, by being constantly tested on their rates, participating in Physical Education Period (PEP), practicing rifle drill and marching, as well as basic military and Seamanship lectures.

Fourth Class Midshipmen participate in many activities, such as sailing, the obstacle and endurance courses, and traversing the Tarzan assault course.



Top Left and Middle Left: Plebes Participate in introductory Damage Control training, which will prepare them to combat equipment casualties on naval vessels when they go out to the Fleet during their Youngster Cruise Below: Plebes receive instruction in basic martial arts, swimming, rod climbing, and boxing

Plebes participating in rock climbing, damage control training, the endurance course, and martial arts class.



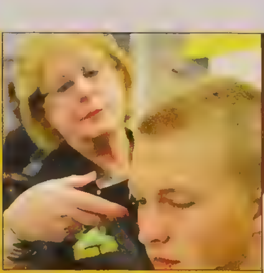
After saying their goodbyes to mom and dad, one by one the Plebes of the class of 2016 marched into the doors of Alumni Hall

CKHURST
OTBALL

I-Day

While some more nervous than others, none knew what to entirely expect. Following the never-ending yellow line from one station to another, the soon-to-be Plebes found that their situation was becoming more and more real. With their "eyes in the boat" and left elbows at a 90 degree angle, they learned how to read Reef Points. They were issued their first military uniform and told to put all their civilian belongings in a duffel bag that they would soon turn in for a large white canvas bag.

REEF POINTS



RESTROOMS
CONCESSIONS

U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY
ANNAPOLIS

After the completion of the Indoctrination Day, Plebes were gathered to Tecumseh Court to take the oath in front of family and friends. This was the official start of their Plebe Summer and final goodbye to their former lives.

It was at this point, that they realized, their lives would be changed forever.

August 8-11, 2012

Plebe Parents' Weekend

During Plebe Summer, Plebe Parents Weekend is time allotted to the new class of plebes to see their families for the first time in six weeks. The excitement is palpable as the Plebes share their new experiences and home with their loved ones. Plenty of tears, laughter, and love is apparent all over the yard and Annapolis during this week.

USNA
USNA DAD

Midshipman Life: Fall

"It follows then as certain as that night succeeds the day, that without a decisive naval force we can do nothing definitive, and with it, everything honorable and glorious."

-President George Washington
November 15, 1781

Foreign Exchange

The foreign exchange program at the United States Naval Academy encompass more than simple studying abroad opportunities offered by civilian colleges. The Midshipmen that have qualified to attend the Naval Academy in place of their respective country's officer training program will graduate from the Academy and then serve their commitment to their home country. Many of these Midshipmen have been able to distinguish themselves in one way or another.

DONT GIVE UP THE SHIP

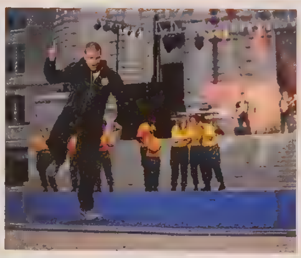
International Midshipman eating in Dahlgren, running around the Yard, and at the I-Ball Dance.

Some of the countries that have participated in the foreign exchange program within the past year include Spain, Bulgaria, Indonesia, Philippines, France, and Thailand.

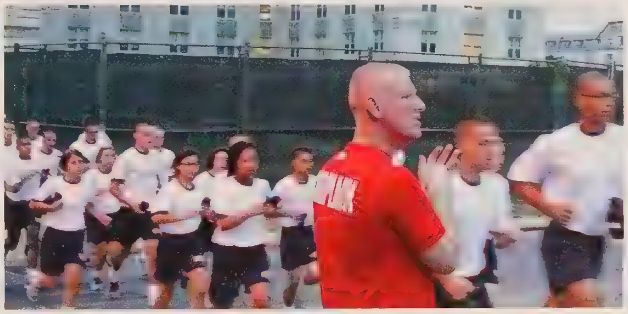


Chaplains

THE PEOPLE WE DEPEND UPON THROUGH THE UPS AND DOWNS OF LIFE

The Chaplains play a vital role in delivering the moral and spiritual guidance necessary for the development of Naval and Marine Corps Officers. From being present on the Pep field during Plebe Summer to facilitating worship services, the Chaplains are present in most areas of Midshipmen life. After three of serving the Naval Academy, Senior Chaplain CAPT Parisi will now be serving the Pentagon to be the Chief of Staff for the Chief of Chaplains.

The Chaplains assist in carrying out the religious missions of Midshipmen of all dominations.



Chaplains helping from everything like Plebe Summer worries to putting parents at ease to leading weekly worship services.

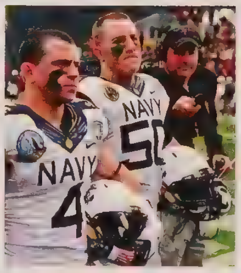
Bowl Game

2012 Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl Participants

Navy played six bowl eligible teams in the regular season (counting Penn State, which did not go to a bowl due to NCAA sanctions) and compiled a 3-3 record against the six programs. The Mids defeated Air Force (6-6), Central Michigan (6-6) and East Carolina (8-4) and lost to Notre Dame (12-0), Penn State (8-4) and San Jose State (10-2). Navy opponents went 2-3 in their bowl games.

Navy has attended 9 bowl games in the last 10 years, amassing a total of 18 bowl game appearances.

NAVY
21
SURFMEPP



N
NAVY
ASU
NAVY

FEAR
THE GOAT

NAVY
21

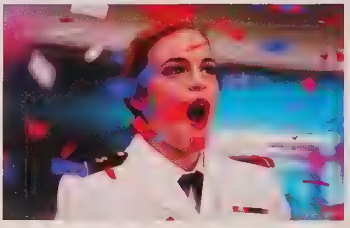
52

8

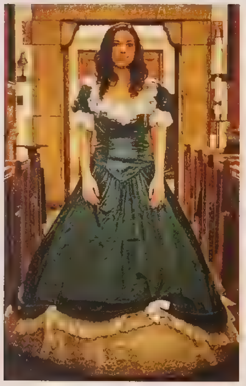
NAVY
21

Phantoms of many types made appearances both before and during the show. The iconic phantoms flank a bride who lost her love on her wedding night.

At the end of the performance, a kind-hearted angel thanked everyone for attending

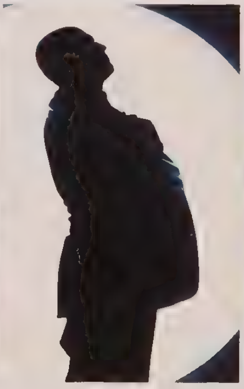


3/C Amber Lowman sings her heart out during the chorus of The Battle Hymn of the Republic



Scarlet O'Hara

A Wandering Zombie



Alfred Hitchcock

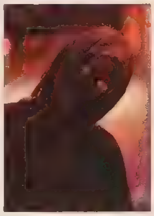
An audience member feeds a hungry moving statue to pass the time while waiting in line.

Halloween Concert

It was a dark and stormy night when the organist once again rose from his coffin to enchant the audiences of the Naval Academy with music and theater

The Halloween Concert at the Naval Academy is a widely popular annual even that sells out very quickly once tickets open. Taking place close in time to its namesake, displayed during the even are an array of costumes from every corner of literature, film, and dramatic production. The voices, instrumental talent, dancing ability, and acting are all showcased by members of the Brigade for the enjoyment of the audience. This year's production included many well-known pieces of music from The Phantom of the Opera. Beauty and the Beast, and even The Pink Panther. The show this year saw many returning faces and many new ones, and it thanks especially those behind the scenes and the firsties for making the experience that much more memorable.

Outdoors before the show were acting ushers to entertain the waiting audience members and inside (middle) Casper was performed on stage



The opening from The Adams Family is performed with choreography

From moving statues to lounge singers, teapots to Scooby Doo, the evening was full of loud, outrageous antics

Air Force

An Overtime Victory

Four quarters weren't enough to decide this year's contest between the Air Force Falcons and Navy Midshipmen, as the Midshipmen prevailed in overtime, winning 28-21. Offensive lineman Jake Zuzek scored Navy's decisive touchdown in overtime, recovering a fumble by Keenan Reynolds, giving Navy a 28-21 lead. The Falcons had a chance to respond. Facing a do-or-die 4th-and-6, Connor Dietz threw a pass to Chris Jordan. The pass, however, was broken up by Wes Henderson, sealing Navy's upset win over Air Force. Air Force jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, when Connor Dietz connected with Drew Coleman on a 35-yard touchdown pass, capping off a quick four play, 75 yard drive that took just 1:29 off the clock. Navy bounced back in the second quarter, scoring ten unanswered points headed into halftime. Noah Copeland's 5-yard touchdown run gave Navy a 10-7 lead -- Navy's first lead of the game. Cody Getz, who finished the game with 204 yards rushing on 29 carries, put Air Force back on top in the third quarter, when he scampered for a 14-yard touchdown run, giving the Falcons a 14-10 lead. After a Navy field goal, Air Force extended its lead to 21-13, when wide receiver Dontae Strickland threw a 54-yard touchdown pass to Drew Coleman. Navy tied the game up with 6:35 left to go in the game, when Keenan Reynolds ran for a 15-yard touchdown. Copeland ran the ball into the end zone for the two-point conversion, tying the game at 21-21.

DOWN TO GO
TOL BALL ON QTR

20
DOUGLAS O'BOYLE
83

34
1
4 70
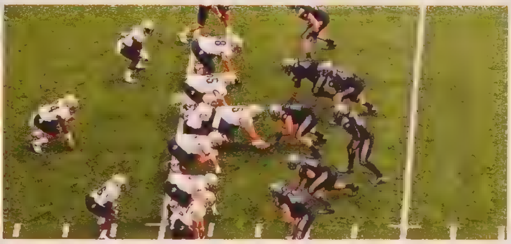
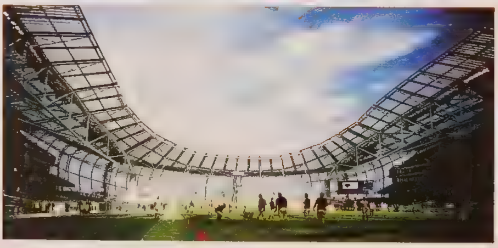
88

48

81
NAVY
60

NAVY





Notre Dame

Navy's Trip to the Emerald Isle

Notre Dame routed Navy 50-10 in the 2012 season opener in Ireland. A crowd of 49,000, mostly visiting Americans, filled Dublin's Aviva Stadium for the first U.S. college game in Ireland since 1996, when the same two teams played in the Emerald Isle Classic. Navy appeared to be heading for its first touchdown on the ensuing drive, but backside pressure from Notre Dame defensive end Kapron Lewis-Moore spurred a clumsy fumble from Navy quarterback Trey Miller. Navy managed a 26-yard field goal before halftime and opened the second half with a nifty three-pass drive capped by Shawn Lynch's 25-yard grab to make it 27-10 but could get no closer. Navy coach Ken Niumatalolo said he could take plenty of positives from his team's trip to Ireland. "We received unbelievable support from the people of Ireland," he said. "Everything that happened outside of the white lines on the field was great. Unfortunately for us, everything that happened inside of the white lines wasn't as great." He said the three-day trip "was a great experience for our young men," but the team faces "a lot of work to do."

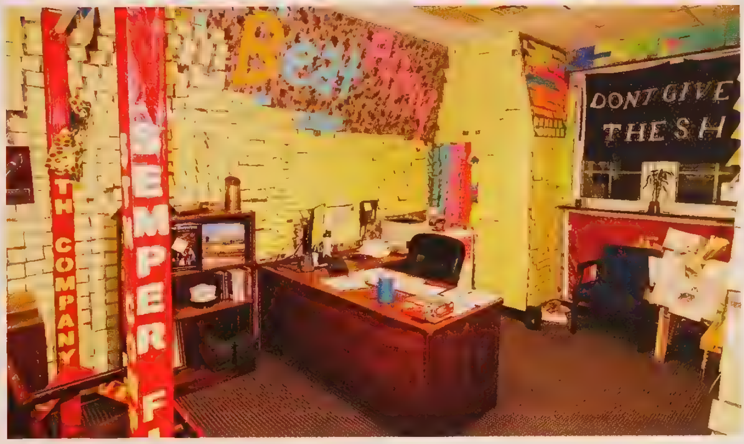
Beat Army

Pranks on Pranks on Pranks

Traditionally, at the United States Naval Academy, the Army-Navy football game is precedented by a week of prank-related activities. These (usually) harmless attacks are the perfect way to dig into your most-hated Training Sergeant, or annoying roommate...or maybe you just need to blow off some steam from failing your most recent Thermo test. Regardless of your situation, from Plebe to Firstie, Army Navy Week provides the perfect means to wax glitter into someone's floor. On the other hand, this week provides the perfect circumstance for Dorm Rats to live life to the fullest with sleep-ins every day and canceled formations.

Leave it to megalomaniac midshipmen to use an oversized bonfire to symbolically defeat those Army Mules.

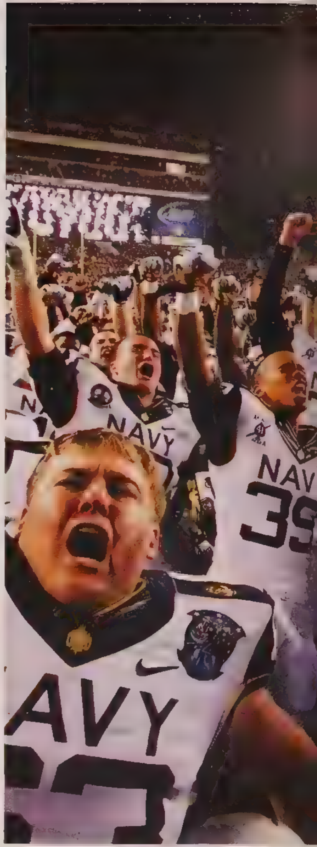
Shaving cream, soapy water, and mundane mixtures of liquids are in abundance during Army Navy Week.



It seems even those motivated, locked-on, square-jawed..you get the picture... MOTIVATORS know how to have fun during Army Navy Week. Semper Fi!

This is not a 3rd World country, but actually a common sight inside Bancroft Hall during Army Navy festivities. Don't worry, they'rre cleaned before Melwood comes back to work.

The infamous Army Navy trophy is in the right hands-still.



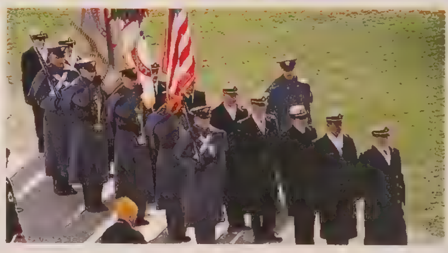
Midshipmen returning from a semester at Westpoint on exchange run across the field.

The team runs onto the field at the opening of the game.

'Dant Clark gives a thumbs up to Navy.

The Navy Football Team performs the traditional singing of Blue & Gold at the conclusion of the game.

Even though they are on horseback (silly Mules) at least Army and Navy can unite when it comes to the colors.

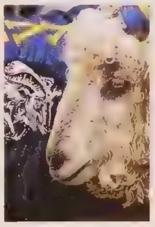


Beat Army

EXCELLENCE

Keenan Reynolds extended Navy's dominance against Army, scoring the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter in a 17-13 victory in the 113th rivalry game Navy beat Army for the 11th straight time and won the Commander-in-Chief's Trophy awarded to the team with the best record in games among the three service academies. Army and Navy each beat Air Force, putting the prestigious trophy up for grabs in the regular-season finale for the first time since 2005. The Black Knights came close, but Navy recovered a late fumble, and Reynolds' 8-yard rushing score made it 17-13. In front of 69,607 fans and Vice President Joe Biden at Lincoln Financial Field, Navy caught a break when Army missed a late field goal attempt. Reynolds quickly found Ejay Turner down the sideline for a 49-yard gain. Reynolds then escaped a rush and followed with the 8-yard touchdown run with 4:41 left in the game. Unlike previous game over the last decade, the Black Knights were in this one until the final drive. Army had driven to the 14 when fullback Larry Dixon fumbled on a sloppy exchange. Navy recovered and the Midshipmen went wild and rushed the field. The CIC trophy was coming back to the Naval Academy for a record 13th time after a two-year stint at Air Force. Before Navy started its 11-game winning streak, the longest one in the series, started in 1890, was only five games for either team. The Midshipmen gathered at midfield and posed with the trophy while their classmates in the stands celebrated the win. Navy not only won 10 straight but pretty much dominated the Black Knights, winning games in 2007 and 2008 by a combined 74-3 score. Navy's 27-21 win last season was the tightest margin since the winning streak started.

Bill the Goat brings good luck to many of Navy's Football games.



While the proposal of a football player to his girlfriend at his game was quite the buzz at the academy, this smooch is SO much more romantic.

Parades

The Perfect Combination of Power and Elegance

Middle Top Picture: A Company Commander makes a desperate sprint for freedom

"Pass, in, review!!!" This is the best and most anticipated command that all Midshipmen wait for during their countless parades every academic year. Before every parade, every Midshipmen dawns their oppressively hot and uncomfortable FDB or Full Dress Blue uniform, grabs his rifle or sword, and forms up with their respective company or staffer wedge. These defenders of freedom make the sacrifice of comfort and heat to entertain the countless tourist on the yard and honor the honorees of the parade. These honorees stretch from retiring professors at the academy, to members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. After the seemingly never ending parade finally ends, and all the companies have passed in review and been dismissed, the Midshipmen quickly scatter as Midshipmen have never been fond of parades.

The first semester Brigade Commander, MIDN CAPT. Poole and his Staff.

Right: A staffer wedge. This formation is comprised of the top Firstie Midshipmen of the Brigade. These Midshipmen hold leadership positions in the Brigade and are charged with the responsibility and honor of leading the Brigade.

Members of the Brigade at various points of a fall semester parade.

One desperate dash for freedom and sanctuary from his plebes.

The United States Naval Academy Color Guard Marches on the Colors during a parade.

The Naval Academy Color Guard

The Drum and Bugle Corps proudly marching in a parade.

Midshipmen officers carry swords in parades.

Far Left: It is a time honored academy tradition to throw the Company Commander in to the Severn River after the last parade of the semester

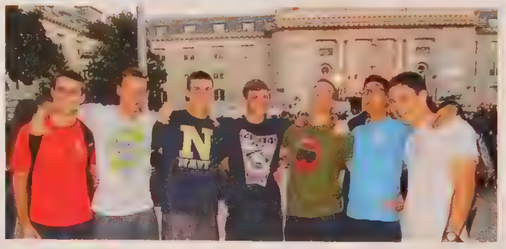
2/C Joe Jackson with his family during 2/C Parents Weekend.

BELLEAU WOOD
PEARL HARBOR
WAKE
PHILIPPINE SEA
PELELIU
LEYTE GULF

A typical sight: midshipwomen spend their evenings eating ice cream together-even in Parents Weekend!

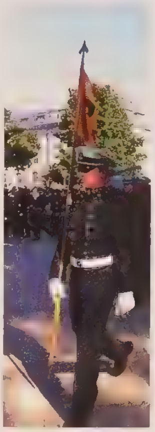
2/C Zachary Powers gives good ol' dad a EE rundown.

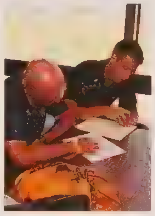
Members of 4th Company band together during 2/C Parents Weekend.



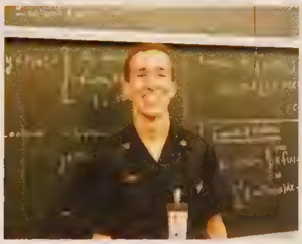
2/C Parents Weekend

2/C Parents' Weekend offers an exceptional opportunity for parents to visit with their midshipman in the historic surroundings of the Academy and town of Annapolis. They are able to expand their knowledge on the traditions, atmosphere, and academic life of midshipmen. Scheduled events included lunch in King Hall, a full dress parade, a home Navy football game, and a Glee Club & Gospel Choir Concert. This weekend is the second and final time in a midshipman's four-year career in which their family is able to enter Bancroft Hall to tour midshipmen rooms.





Students are typically grateful for the watered-down lesson that occurs to kick off Parents Weekend.



2/C Alex Mund is among the many midshipmen who bring their families in to class to experience a full day of life as a 2/C midshipman.

Pep Rally

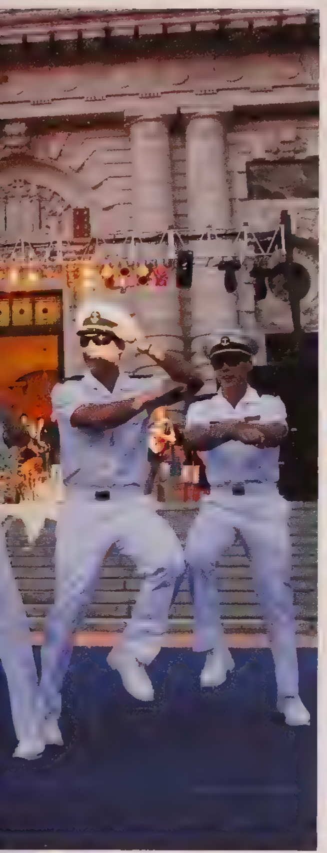
The new and improved "mando fun"

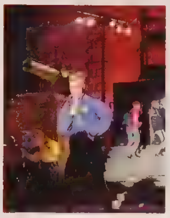
Yep, even white guys with blonde hair and blue eyes were allowed to "break it down".

To the average Midshipman, a Pep Rally means "mando fun" and THAT simply means no formation and pulled pork sandwiches for dinner. While the Plebes appreciate the break from memorizing a menu, upperclass tend to avoid Pep Rallies like the plague (unless you're THAT guy). However, this year (in light of the well-known optimism characteristic to Midshipmen), Pep Rallies evolved into something much more. Throughout the year, pep rallies included Chick-fil-a (a new mid favorite), dance-offs, contests, decades nights, concerts, fireworks, and another excuse to procrastinate. Who would have thought "mando fun" could be so...well...fun!

Thankfully budget concerns didn't affect any fireworks displays at the good ol' USNA!

Evidently, "Gangnam Style" has become well-respected at the United States Naval Academy.





Maybe the Academy will offer performing Arts degrees in the coming years...

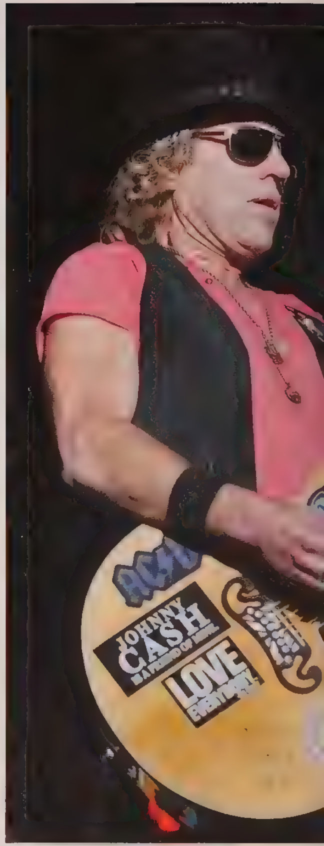
Pep Rallies were held with performances both inside Dahlgren and outside in T-Court.

Who needs beer kegs when you've got this?

Live entertainment provided by the Brigade, for the Brigade: Just another excuse to don female attire as a "midshipwoman"!

Onesies and quite possibly the most annoying sound heard in Goat Court became increasingly popular with the new and improved Pep Rally.

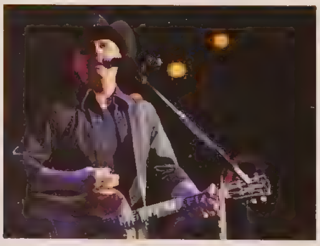
With the patriots who perform at a discounted price for the Mids, one wonders who enjoys it more.

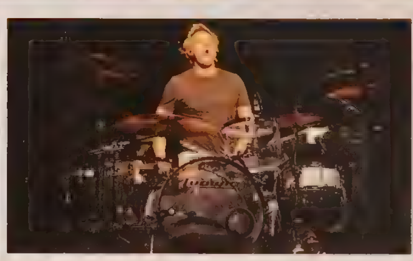


AC/DC
JOHNNY CASH
LOVE EVERYBODY

THIRD EYE BLIN

Another luck Mid reaping the benefits of the Academy.



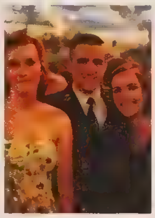


Concerts

Train, Big and Rich, Zac Brown Band, and Third Eye Blind

The Midshipmen Welfare Fun (affectionately known in the hall as MWF) is responsible for allocation of funds in different areas to benefit midshipmen such as discounted movie tickets, concert tickets, and discounts to amusement parks and other such things in the area. These are the nicest little ladies you'll meet in Bancroft and man do they do their job well for putting up with us! Traditionally the Brigade has two concerts annually at a ridiculously low price: one per semester. This year, the Brigade voted on the combination of Train and Big and Rich for one concert and Zac Brown Band and Third Eye Blind for the second semester. Contests are typically used to determine which midshipmen will get the opportunity to meet the band beforehand.

The Academy boasts its wide range of cultures accepted which also means an eclectic taste in music from the Brigade.

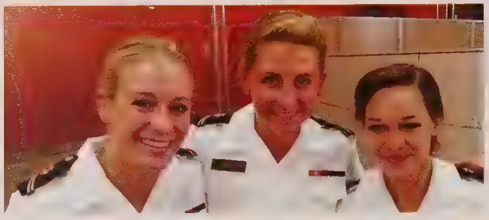


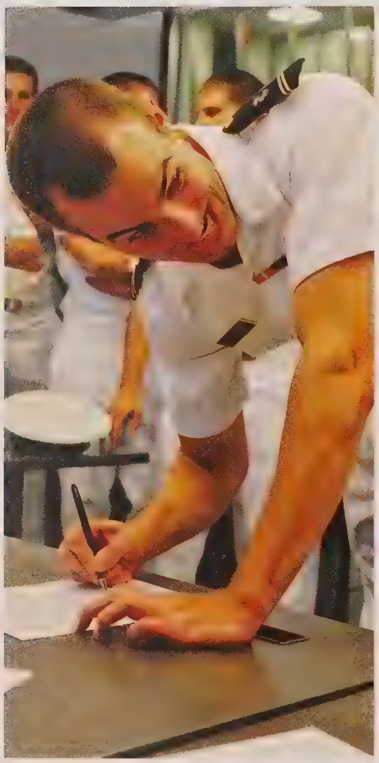
LOVE
EVERYBODY

Midshipmen from varied backgrounds take advantage of the cheap tickets and great performances.

Both midshipmen and their covers always end up on the stage eventually. Every time.

Roommates from 23rd company sign their lives away together!



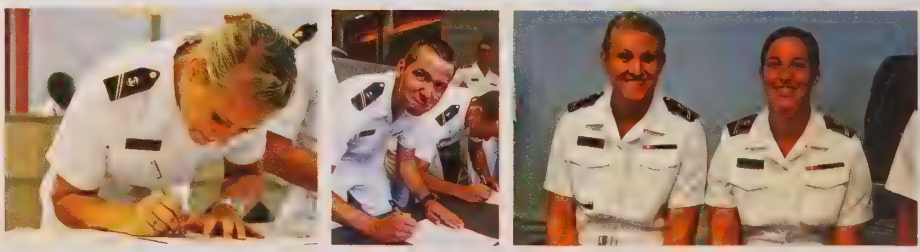


Some are more excited than others...

A rising 2/C signs her 2 for 7 prior to starting classes for a third time.

While a select few actually take time to read this significant document.

After signing their "contract," all rising 2/C sign a scroll with their classmates.

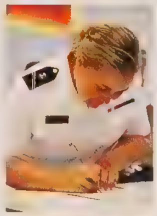


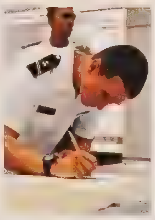
2 For 7

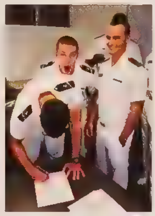
"The Point of No Return"

When midshipmen begin their first day of class during 2/C year, that have officially agreed to seven years of service for the remaining two years at the United States Naval Academy, hence "2 for 7" (or at least that's what Congress says). The signing is more of a ceremonial, not legal, acknowledgement of this agreement upon Reform of the Brigade prior to classes beginning. All 30 companies rotate and breeze through the Laboon Center within a mere couple hours. I mean really, who needs to read a document of such little significance anyway?

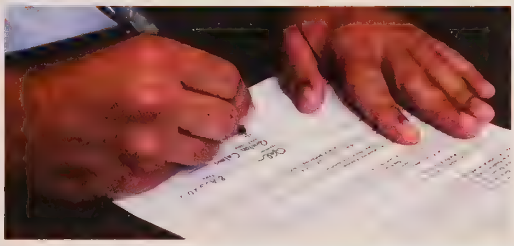
All 30 companies rotate through within a few hours to sign this symbolic agreement.







Company Officers and SELs administer the 2 for 7 signings.

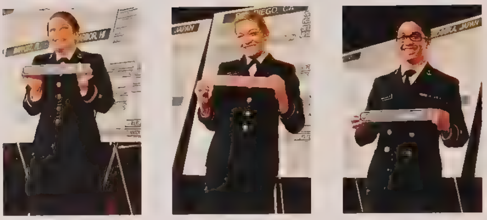


WONDOLOWSKI '13
MAY2016

Midshipman Life: Spring

"I have not yet begun to fight!"

-Captain John Paul Jones
September 23, 1779

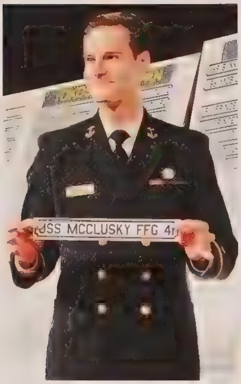


1/C Mackenzie Bowden, 1/C Kristen Jarrel, and 1/C Julian Abellar (from left to right) pick their homeports.

S LAKE ERIE CG 70
USS MOBILE BAY CG 53

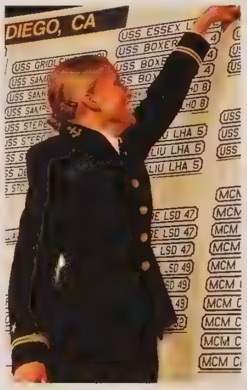
1/C Natalie Schimelpfenig and 1/C Chris Combado are going to Pearl Harbor, HI and San Diego, CA respectively.

2nd Company 1/C Dustin Longhenry, Keegan Bixler, Alex Balandran, Ashleigh Share, Shane Martin, and Mary Cox celebrate.



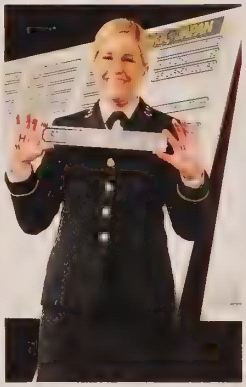
USS MCCLUSKY FFG 41

1/C Kam Wright picks his ship

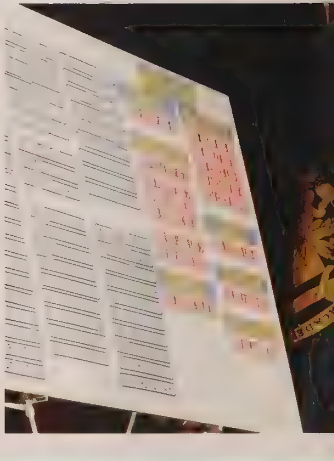


DIEGO, CA
USS ESSEX
USS BOXER

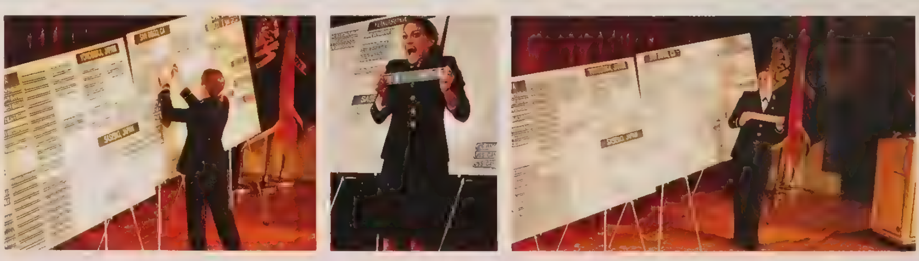
1/C Chloe Stabb is going to San Diego.



1/C Katie Ellefson picks her ship.



1/C Christina Carson, Kim Muirhead, and Claire Fletcher celebrate their chosen ships.



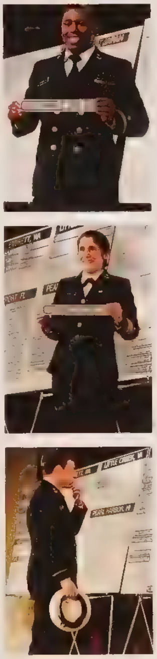
USS HALSEY DDG 97

SWO Ship Selection

Future SWOs pick their ships and homeports.

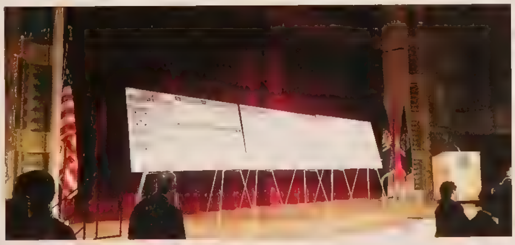
The class of 2013's 253 Surface Warfare Officer selectees gathered in Mahan Hall on January 31st to determine their future homeports. This year's ship selection night was rippling with excitement for not only the regular seven homeports but for the four ships changing their homeport to Rota, Spain, adding another overseas port to the two in Japan. Admiral Ferguson began the night by congratulating the class of 2013 on their achievements so far and recognized Sean Philbin, the first SWO selectee by rank, who picked USS HALSEY out of Pearl Harbor, HI. Pearl Harbor proved to be most popular homeport of the night leaving the board first at number 138. The last port chosen was Norfolk, VA which began the party upstairs in the Hart Room. Congratulations class of 2013. Fair wind and following seas.

1/C Malik Harris, Jennifer Jones, and another 1/C midshipman select their future homeports.



1/C Sean Philbin picks his ship out of Pearl Harbor, HI and is congratulated by the keynote speaker, Admiral Fergunson.

PEARL HARBOR HI
USS MAHAN DDG 72

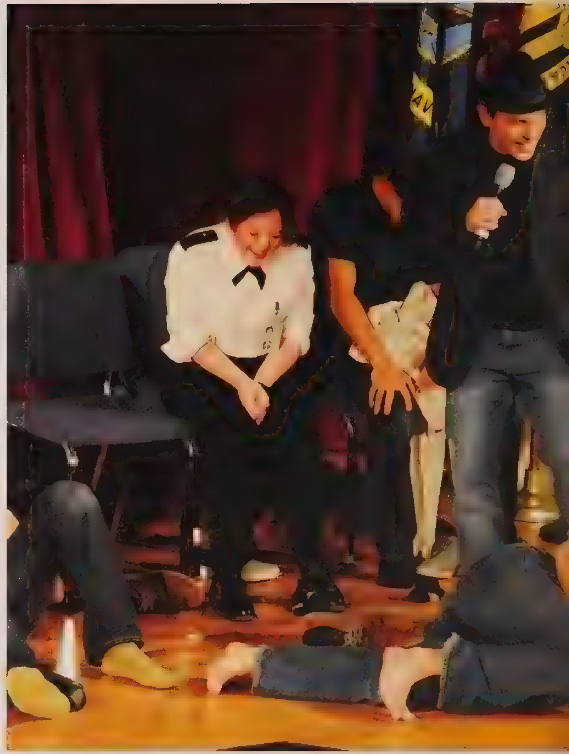


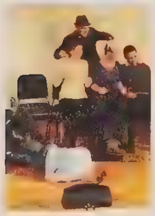
1/C Terrie Williams strikes a pose for the press after picking her ship in Norfold, VA .

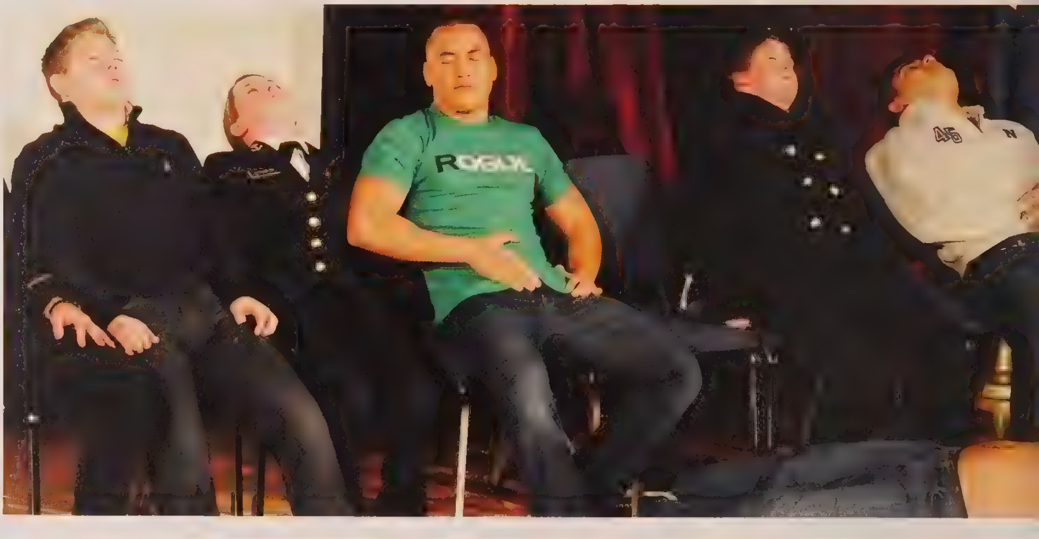
Beat The Dark Ages

USNA Lightens Up!

Everyone on the Yard knows that after the return from winter break midshipmen find themselves a little down. Luckily, there's always a way to Beat the Dark Ages! Whether through the ingenuity of elegant King Hall specialty dinners, or a quick visit to the hypnotist, the Brigade gets its sense of humor back just in time for the start of spring.





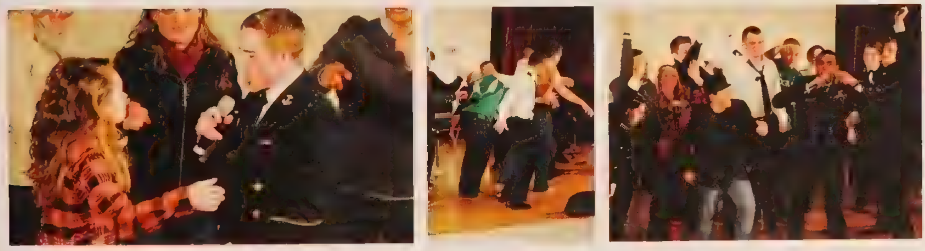


Be it through a musical debut, back-up dancing, or some other ridiculousness, these mids helped lightened up the Dark Ages for their classmates.

Getting a few laughs is always a great way to beat the Dark Ages!

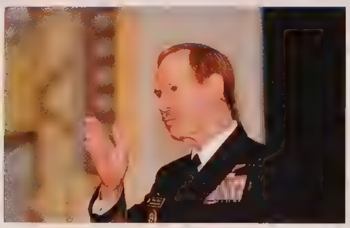
Midshipmen courageously volunteer to be hypnotized.

... Few managed to stay awake for very long.



Midshipmen exhibit musical talents they'd previously been unaware of!

Staff and students of the Naval Academy attending a speaker's presentation in Mahan Hall.

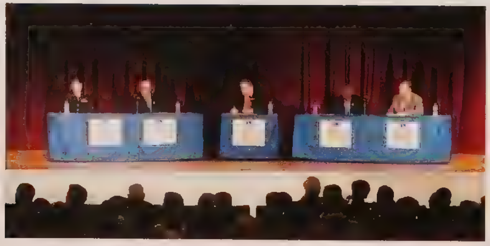


The Superintendent of the Naval Academy, Vice Admiral Micheal Miller, USN.

USNA

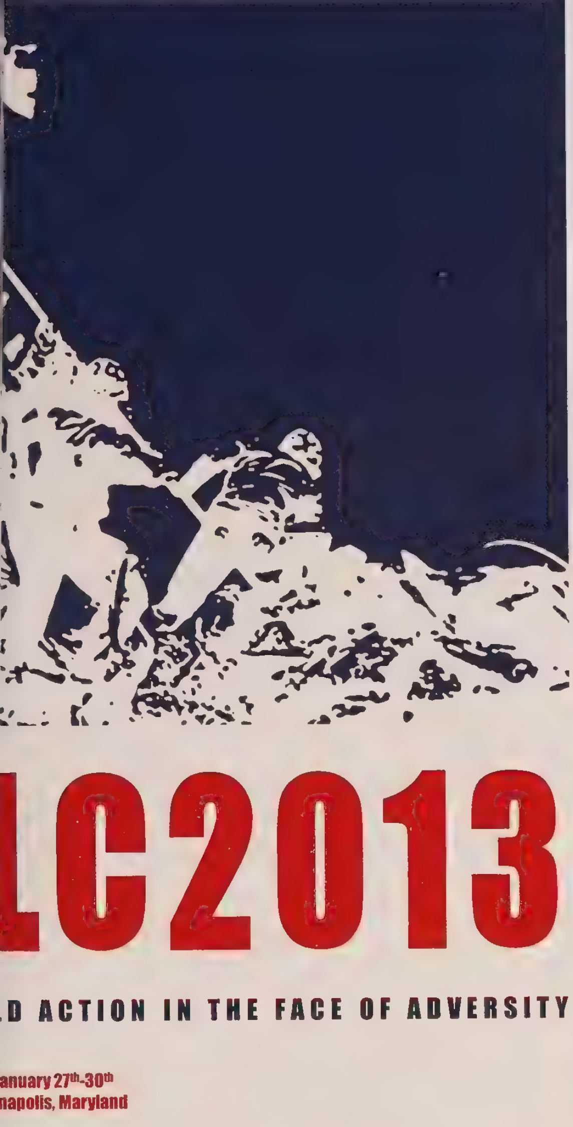
COURAGEOUS LEADERSHIP: B

Panelists in the middle of discourse



Since 1984, the United States Naval Academy has been hosting annual leadership conferences to include students at all of the service academies, military leaders, and business leaders.

"The air was thick with blood"



Leadership Conference

The United States Naval Academy hosted several distinguished guests for three days of leadership panels, lectures, and gatherings. Some of the important guests were Susan Chambers, Colonel "JV" Venable, Commissioner Salvatore Cassano, Maegan Flannigan, Sergeant Major Carlton W. Kent, Ronald Spears, Craig Malloy, David Gardner, Dr. Rodrigo Canales Lieutenant Colonel John Nagl, and LT Brad Snyder

We havent even scratched the surface of success' Coach Dale Brown

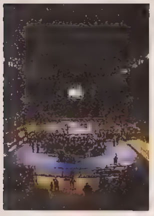
Far Left 2 C Ferrara
Left Three midshipmen from the great 14th company relaxing at the conference social 2 C Coreth 1 C Staorn 3 C Blana

Brigade Boxing Finals

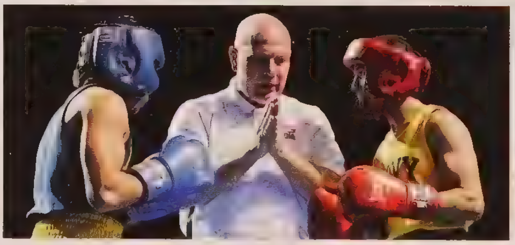
The 72nd Annual Brigade Boxing Finals: A Night to Remember

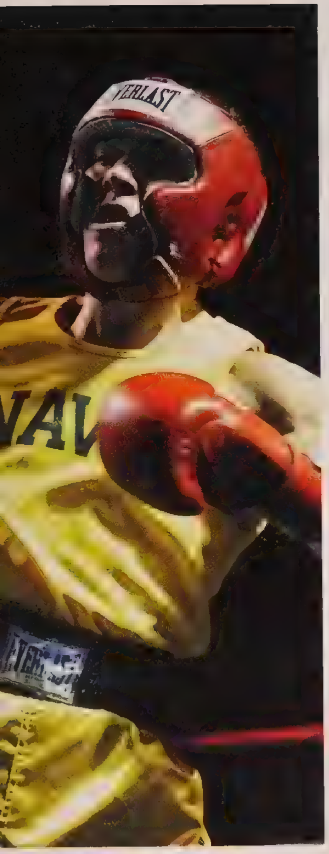
A Naval Academy tradition since 1941, the Brigade Boxing Finals is one of the most anticipated events of the Spring Season. Every year midshipmen come out to fight in their weight category. Each fighter wants to bring home the title of Brigade Champion. This year, the boxing was as intense as ever, with many fights resulting in bloodshed. New to the Brigade Boxing Finals this year was the presence of an all-female fight. Those competing this year were: Jose Rojas and Richard Gonong (119 lbs), Dan O'Neill and Hlan Thaw (132 lbs), Jim Lawson and Justin Suen (139 lbs), Mike Mourafetis and Andrew Moorehead (147 lbs), Noah Weintraub and Kellen Lewis (156 lbs), Sean Hunt and Mike Birnbaum (165 lbs), Angelo Lonero and Jourdan Looney (175 lbs), Anthony Alexander and Cody Cordero (185 lbs), Keon Briscoe and Max Goldwasser (195 lbs), Matt Brewer and Beau Haworth (Hwt), and Sam Glaesar and Abby Khushf (Women's). The Midshipmen gave it their all. In the end, one champion was named per weight class, each of whom;s name will go down in boxing history at the academy.

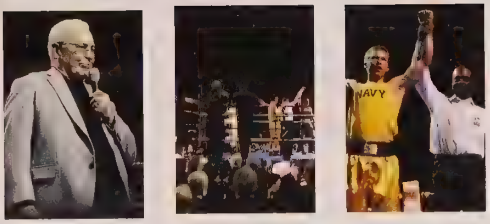
A bloody match resulting in a nose bleed, Alumni Hall transformed into a boxing stadium, and the glory of winning a match.



A match about to be started by the referee and Midshipmen watching from the stands as they cheer on their company mates and friends.







The announcer calling this year's Brigade Boxing Championship to an open, boxers resting between rounds, and a champion being announced.

The middle of a round of intense fighting between these two midshipmen.

The mid in Navy receives a blow from the Gold in the final round.

Being named winner has no better feeling for this Mid.

Boxer being presented his plaque

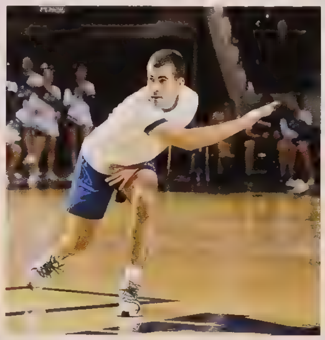
This boxer is getting ready to fight his opponent

Midshipmen in every process of the Boxing Championships: winning, starting, and fighting. In the female match, this female plebe is fighting against her plebe summer detailer. In the battle of bragging rights, the plebe is victorious.

Senior Enlisted Leaders and Company officers in a heated game of dodgeball. Midshipmen win.

The USNA Dance team performing in front of the brigade

3rd Batt Staff



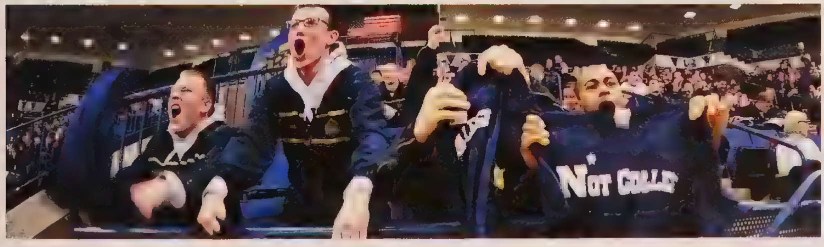
1/C Justin Aleshire, Submarine Motivator

Coach losing his cool on a hot, hot game.

Battalion Spirit Nights

Overcoming the "Dark Ages," one hoop at a time...

How better to break up the "Dark Ages" than to sit back, relax, and watch some basketball? The 6 battalions in the brigade of midshipmen hosted various spirit nights throughout the Spring semester with events ranging from basketball, student versus staff dodgeball, and even the Harlem Shake. Not to mention the great food... nom, nom, nom.



Midshipmen cheer on the USNA basketball team and display school spirit.

Easter Egg Hunt

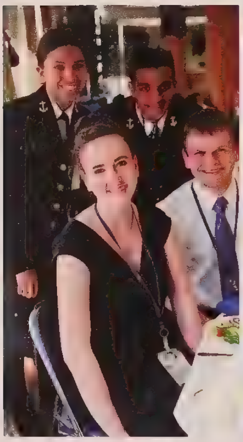
It's not Easter without an Easter Egg Hunt! This year, the USNA hosted an Easter Egg Hunt on the Yard for children. The kids had a great time searching for eggs, meeting the Easter bunny, and socializing with each other. Several mids lent a hand with hiding eggs and encouraging the kids. Even Bill the Goat stopped by to make an appearance to the delight of the children and adults alike!

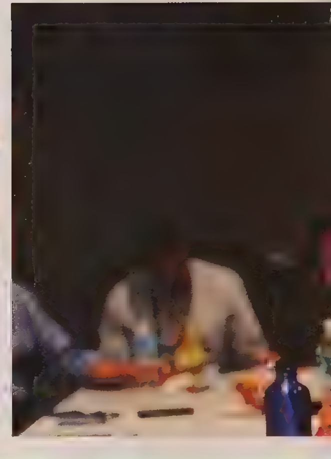
Time was also given to any mid who wished to attend Easter Mass or any other religious services.

Fiddler on the Roof

A highlight of each year is the USNA Glee Club Winter Musical. Produced in true Broadway style, it is a fully-staged, costumed, and choreographed production with live pit orchestra. This year's performance was an adaptation of Joseph Stein's Fiddler on the Roof. The story centers on Tevye, the father of five daughters, and his attempts to maintain his family and Jewish religious traditions while outside influences encroach upon their lives. He must cope both with the strong-willed actions of his three older daughters—each one's choice of husband moves further away from the customs of his faith—and with the edict of the Tsar that evicts the Jews from their village. Six sold out performances ran over two weekends from February 22 to March 3, 2013.

Midshipmen gain strength and confidence by performing for senior officers and their classmates.





This year's conference ran from April 9-11, 2013

NAFAC

Examining the dynamics of civil-military relations and the numerous military conflicts across the globe.

Each year since 1960, the U.S. Naval Academy has hosted a gathering of undergraduates from around the United States and the world who come together in the spring to discuss a theme from current global affairs. The conference has grown to be the leading undergraduate conference in the country. It has welcomed delegates from thirty countries in each of the last five years and it has heard speakers as notable as President George Bush and Secretary of State Defense Robert Gates. The conference provides an outstanding opportunity for the midshipmen to come to understand the global forces that may project them into duty in Afghanistan, the Middle East, Korea, North Africa or Latin America. Good officers need a sophisticated understanding of current affairs; this conference puts them together for a week with their civilian counterparts as well as with young officers and civilian delegates from about two dozen countries for conversations in which they can develop that understanding. The conference also offers an excellent occasion for the midshipmen to show off the Academy and the Navy at its best. Each year they produce an impressive event, handling without a visible hitch the many logistical difficulties of transporting, housing, feeding and entertaining scores of guests, some of them of flag rank or international reputation. As one former midshipman director said. "The Naval Academy aims to provide a laboratory where we can learn and practice the skills of leadership. Putting on this conference was the toughest leadership and logistical exercise I have faced here yet." The conference has grown in reputation but not in size. It is kept small – no more than one hundred fifty delegates in order that the discussion groups which are at the heart of the conference retain a good seminar atmosphere. These round table discussions include ten university delegates, two or three foreign delegates, two midshipmen delegates, a midshipman moderator and two senior advisors

This year's moderator was Wall Street Journal Editorial Board member, Mary Kissel.

This year's speakers included:
ADM William McRaven,
Richard Armitage, SES,
William J.A. Miller, and Dennis Ross.

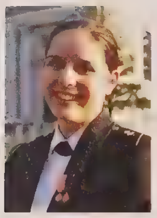
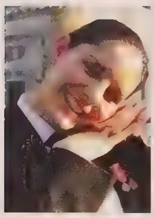
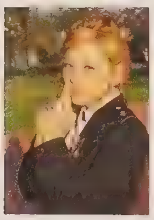
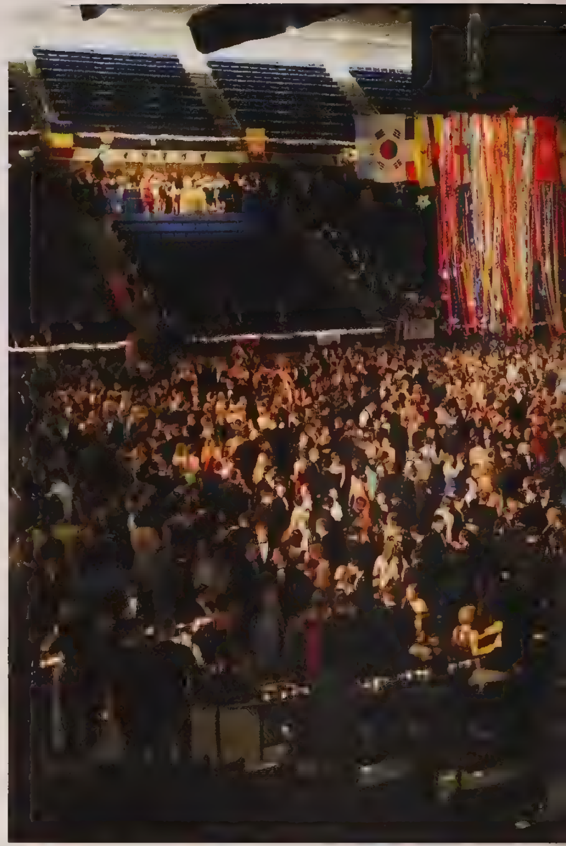
International Ball

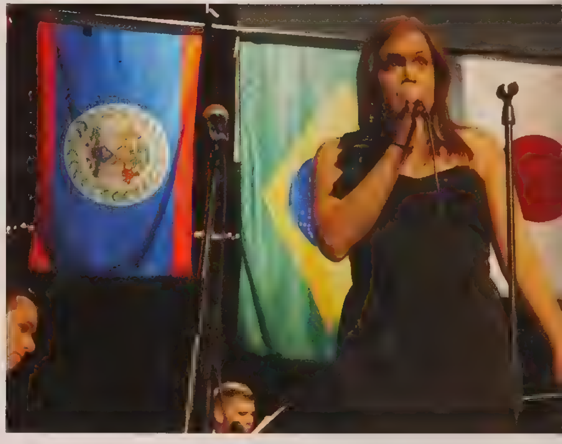
Midshipmen gladly take the opportunity to celebrate the many different cultures represented within the Brigade, and by the numerous visiting diplomats for this fabulous event. Kicking the night off with some incredible dance performances by midshipmen, guests soon followed suit by crowding the floor for a great night. Music was offered by several different Naval Academy groups, all of which made for a spectacular time on the dance floor. A wonderful night for socializing, and broadening horizons with intercultural interactions.





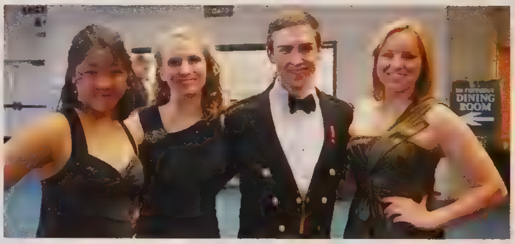


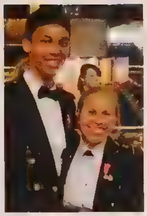




3/C Amber Lowman graces the ball with a performance.

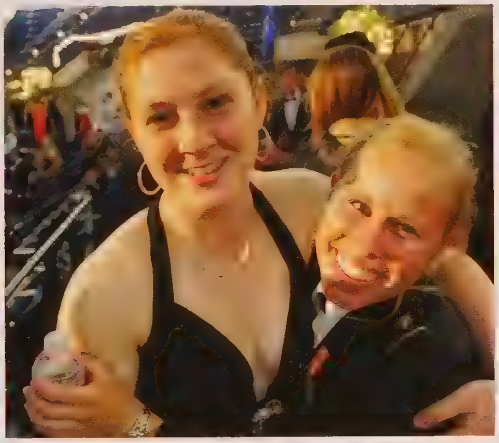
After working all semester on their dance routines, the many different clubs and teams perform for an enthralled audience.

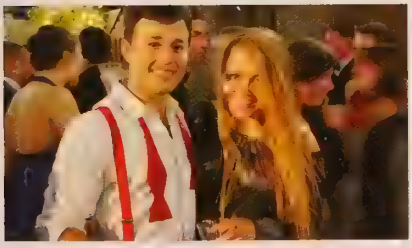


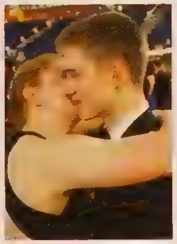


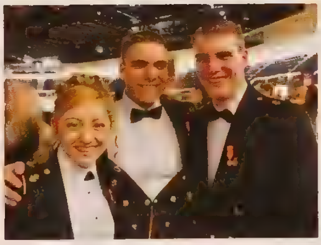
Nothing like classing it up for a night of dancing and friends!

A little photo shoot never hurt anyone.









Some hovered on the sidelines, but most milled about sipping — or guzzling — champagne, beer or a vintage wine

Picnics were spread out on blankets or on tables set with silver and crystal.

MIDN Tom Ferrara, USN (Ret), and a Midshipman friend enjoy the splendid afternoon.

Croquet

Navy Wins 31st Annual Annapolis Cup

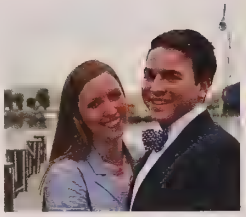
A croquet match between St. John's College and the U.S. Naval Academy—always promises superb intercollegiate competition and a festive lawn party where watching the spectators is as much a sport as croquet. Since the contest began more than two decades ago, the Johnnies have dominated, winning 25 matches out of 30, but this year, it was the Midshipmen who came out victorious, winning handily, 4-1. This marked Navy's first win since 2005. Now the coveted Annapolis Cup — which for years was kept at the old Little Campus Inn on Maryland Avenue, then Galway Bay Irish Pub at the same address — will be held by the Mids. And the Johnnies will set about to win it back in spispring14.

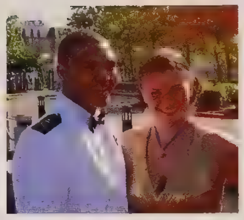
The Johnnies and the Mids met on April 20, 2013 to renew the 30 year rivalry.

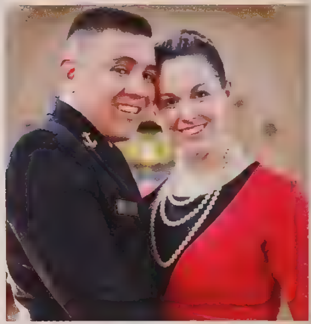
MIDN 1/C Kyle Coffey and Kate Hussmann dressed in their finest and enjoying a tasty beverage.

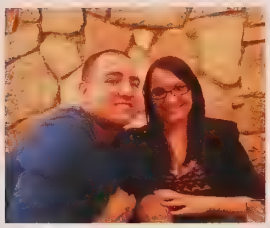
The throng of onlookers, few of whom could really be called croquet fans, approached 2,000.

From Left to Right:
Dean Zettler and Sarah Stimpert;
Nicholas Hancock and his girlfriend; Steven Kempa and Amanda King



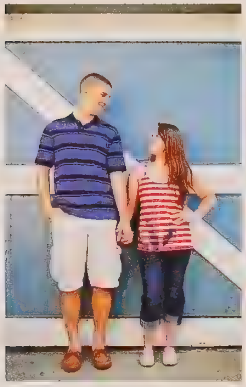






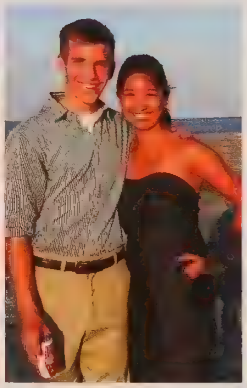
Angel Morales and Sarah

Cristen Odom and Anthony Sickal

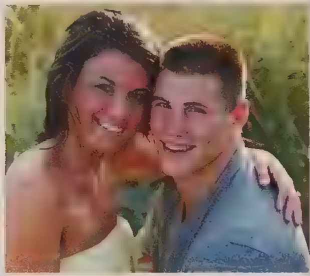


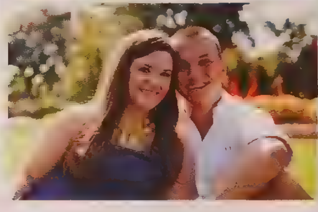
Geoffery Desena and Luisa Pauna

Gharbi Souhaiel and Ben Saad Khawla; Darin Hess and Tiffany Farnum

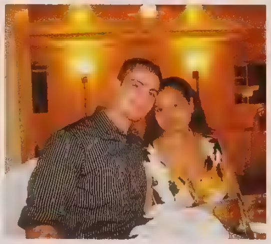


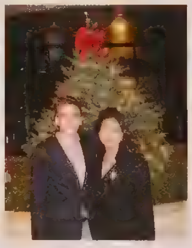
Austin Toombs and Tara Ruiz

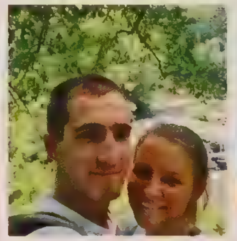


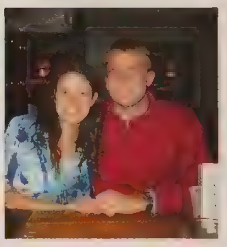


From left to right: Adrian Bosch and Cher Waight ; Austin Toombs and Tara Ruiz; Collin Grier and Justine

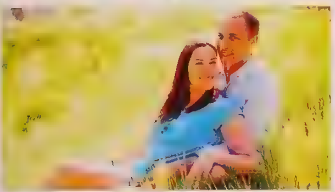


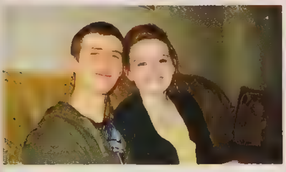


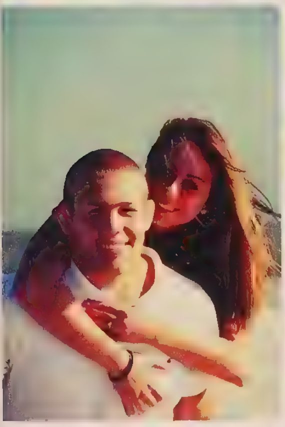


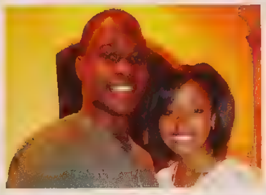


2% Club



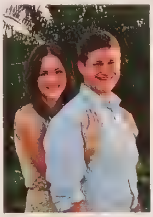


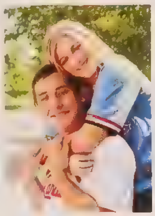


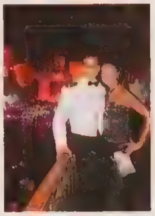


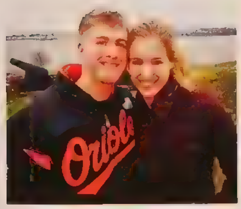
The 2% club was born from the stereotype that 2% of the relationships that begin before plebe summer will actually survive the 4 years while at the Naval Academy. Against all odds, these couples have made it all the way through! Their relationships have endured through plebe summer and all of the goofy love notes scribbled on "I'll find out" notepads, through the frustration of EE and all of other equally as painful mandatory classes, and even through service selection which will determine many of these couples futures together. Through it all, these lucky midshipmen have always had a shoulder to lean on. And their significant others? Well, they have a military man, or woman, to help them overcome any obstacle. What's better than that? Good luck lovers of 2013! We're all rooting for you.

From top to bottom:
Samuel Smith and Rachel Masin;
Robert Broadhurst and Amanda Stygar;
Jeremy Gray and Cortnee Ryan



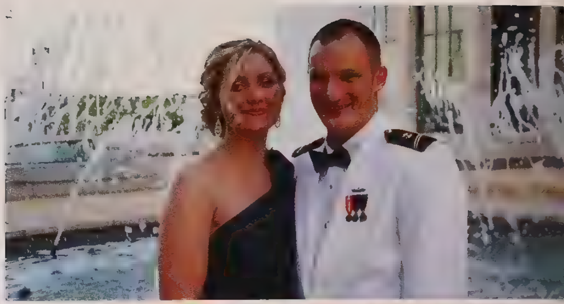


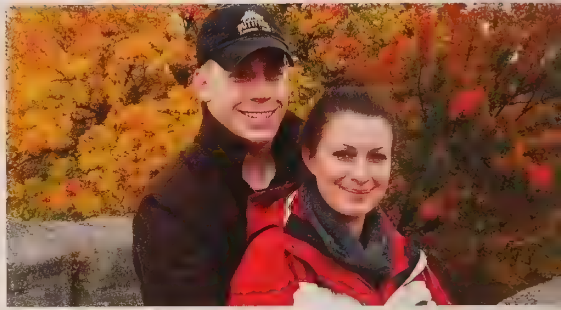


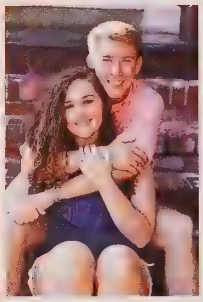


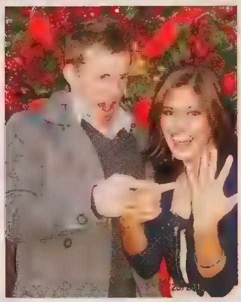
From Left to right:
Tim Cadigan and Julia Button;
Philip Williams and Becky Rickford

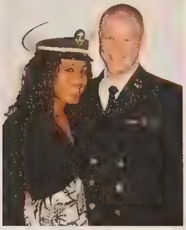
2% Club

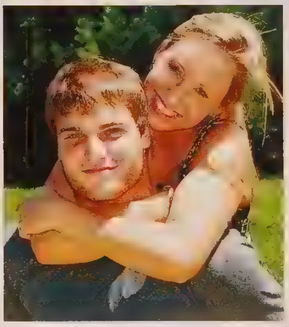


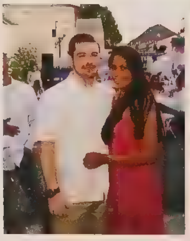


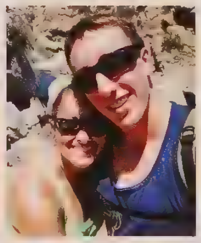


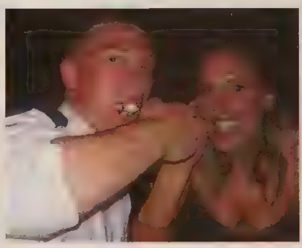










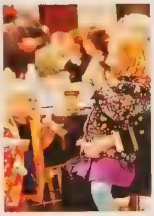


Sponsor Dinner

Appreciating those that do so much for us!

The Sponsor Program offers members of the Annapolis community an opportunity to meet Midshipmen and to learn more about the Naval Academy. It also provides Midshipmen an opportunity to develop and benefit from informal exchanges with civilian and military members in Annapolis and its adjacent communities. This dinner was started to show sponsor parents where their midshipmen eat in King Hall and to show how much those midshipmen appreciate them. The Academy also provides a small string band to complete the experience. After the dinner, the midshipmen and sponsor parents are invited to enjoy the ambiance of Smoke Hall and continue the evening in good fellowship. The relationships formed as a result of the sponsor program last a lifetime.

A small string band plays throughout the evening for all to enjoy.



This year's dinner was held in King Hall on February 1, 2013 at 6:00pm.

Forrestal Lectures

Professional and Leadership Lessons Tought by True Leaders

This year's lineup of Forrestal Lecturers was, as per usual, full of distinguished names.

9/11/12 Commander of EUCOM
ADM James G. Stavridis

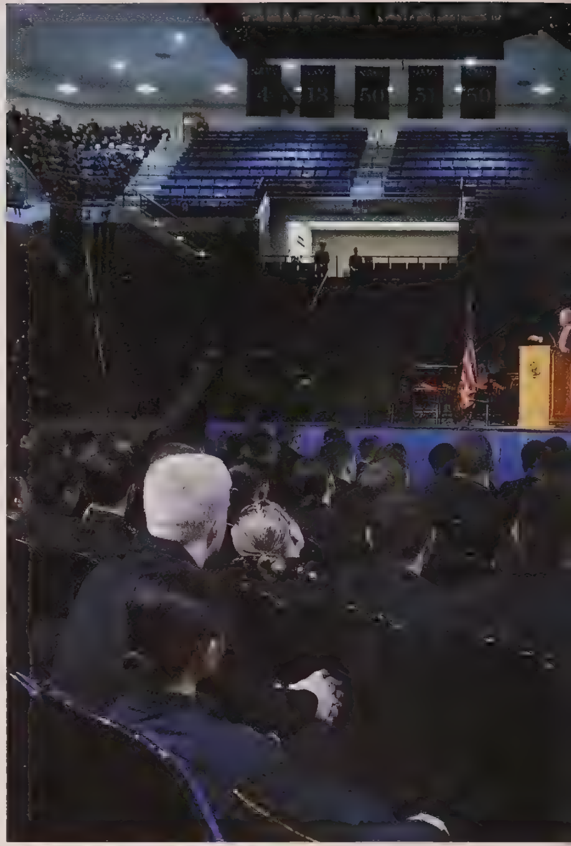
10/01/12 Secretary of the Navy
Ray Mabus

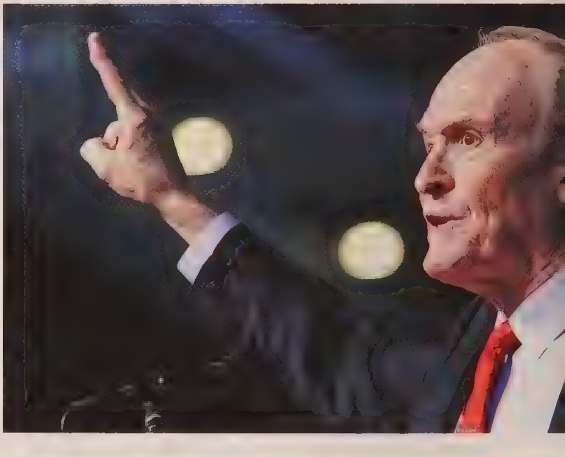
11/05/12 Board CEO of Bank of America
Charles O. "Chad" Holliday

01/28/13 Author, speaker, & retired Hall of Fame
Basketball Coach for LSU
Dale Brown

02/19/13 Commander of PACCOM
ADM Samuel J. Locklear, III

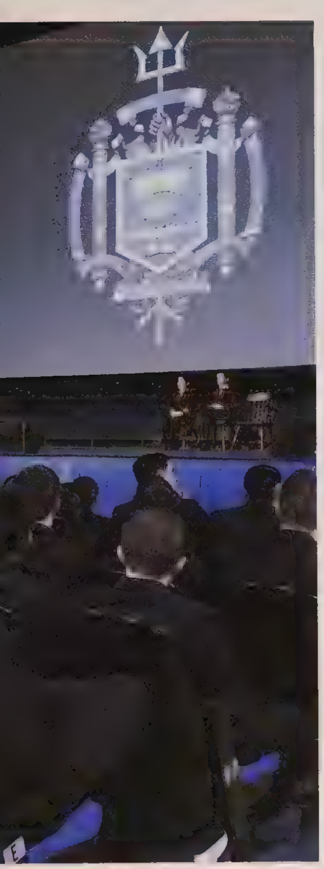
04/10/13 Commander of USSOCOM
ADM William McRaven

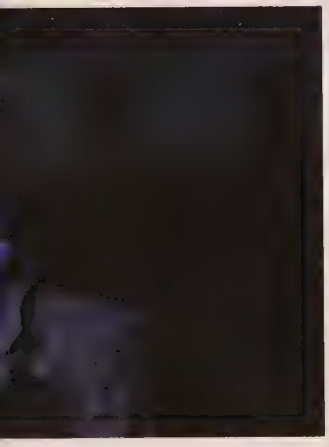




Every lecture is recorded and often used for teaching in the Leadership department.

In addition to having the opportunity to listen to esteemed leaders speak, attendees also often have the opportunity to pick their brains in a smaller setting before or after the lecture.

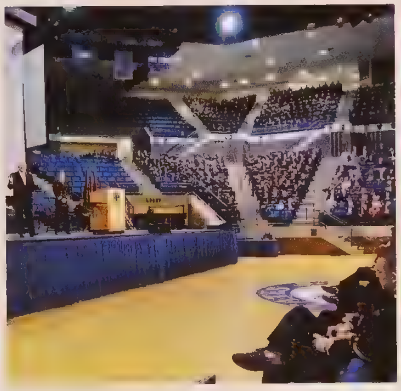




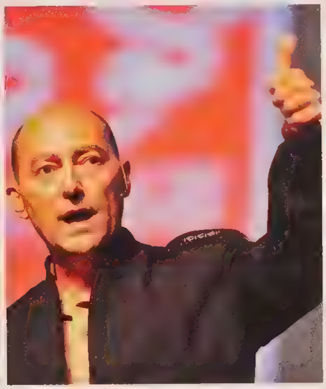
Each year, the lecture series includes leaders from both the civilian and military sectors. This provides midshipmen to compare and contrast the importance and differences in leadership of both worlds.

Speakers usually opt to utilize a powerpoint presentation which is a great opportunity for mids to learn about public speaking.

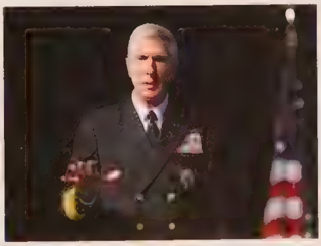
The Forrestal Lecture series is supported by many people both in planning and execution both in logistics and technology.



Much planning goes into the preparation of each lecture to include carefully picked speakers.



ADM James G. Stavridis gives a thumbs up to the Brigade of Midshipmen.

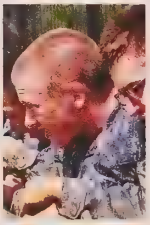


While many midshipmen often complain about the email invitations to mandatory events, most will agree on the benefits of listening to such fine leaders and such rare opportunity.

Sea Trials

The Final Stretch

There's no way flutter kicks and crunches could be that hard...unless of course you're wearing boots and have your arms linked with other people.



Prior to Herndon's "Plebes No More" the Plebes go through a rigorous full day of mental and physical exertion. They are awoken at a non-publicized time of zero dark thirty to begin "Dark Phase." This phase typically consists of bodyweight exercises and maneuvering oversized tires and navigating through barbed wire. After completing dark phase, having also listened to a motivational speech, the real fun begins. Upperclass lead Plebes throughout the day; Squad leaders are comprised of the Youngster class while the company and various stations are run by the training 2/C. "Perseverence through teamwork" is the theme of the day and if a Plebe hasn't learned it by then, Sea Trials will surely instill this ideal in their mind. Following the day's rigorous activities, the Plebes enter Dahlgren to hear the announcement of the highest ranked company in performance. This company is the company that will have first contact with Herndon. Following this ceremony, Plebes typically take the most longed-for shower of their lives before they disappear into deep slumber.

It turns out holding push ups after a workout is harder than it looks.

Ah yes, "wheelbarrows." It's best to find someone of similar weight or you'll both suffer.

Hey! No smiling! Isn't Sea Trials supposed to be, oh I don't know, hard or something? Looks like you could use some "log PT."

A demonstration that the O-Course is definitely doable. But, why is he so clean?

An upperclass demonstrates the proper technique to get along on the rope.

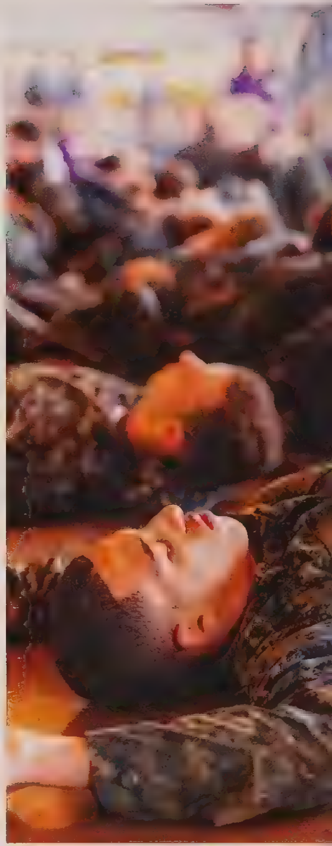
This is no Vietname but barbed wire s still "a pain." Ha, see what I did there?

The O-Course

"The Supe" is bright and cheery, per usual, having seen yet another class "survive" Sea Trials.

Geez, that was exhausting! Everyone files in (half-conscious) to hear the announcement of the highest ranked company of Sea Trials

By the end of the day, euphoria surrounds the idea of a long, hot shower.



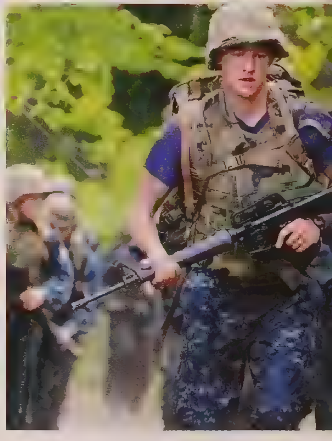
Sea trials bearings everyone together through (pain in) teamwork.

Thankfully the weather cooperated just enough for the inclusion of the O-Course in its entirety.

Luckily for this Plebe, a football helmet and flak jacket seems to have been enough to prevent injury.

There is much controversy surrounding who a "buddy carry" is more painful for.

It looks like the upperclass here are more than happy with their roles in Sea Trias..not sure if that's good for the Plebes.

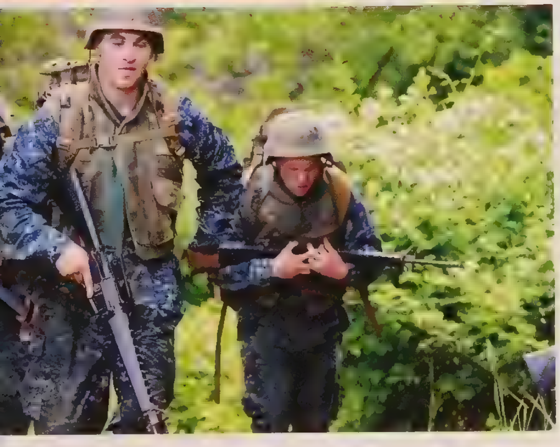


Leave it to Midshipmen to find a way to make seemingly easy tasks very difficult. Here, a "squad pushup" is being attempted.

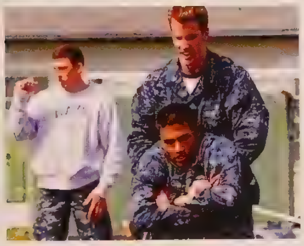
Sea Trials

The Final Stretch

It's a wonder who enjoys Sea Trials more, the underclass or the upperclass..."enjoy" is a relative term.



Months of planning goes into Sea Trials to ensure that it's just the right amount of difficulty.

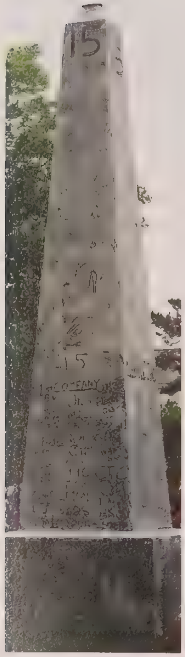


Slightly more exciting is the Pugil Sticks station. Much more injury occurs here as, inevitably, a football helmet and flak jacket can't protect from every injury.

Herndon

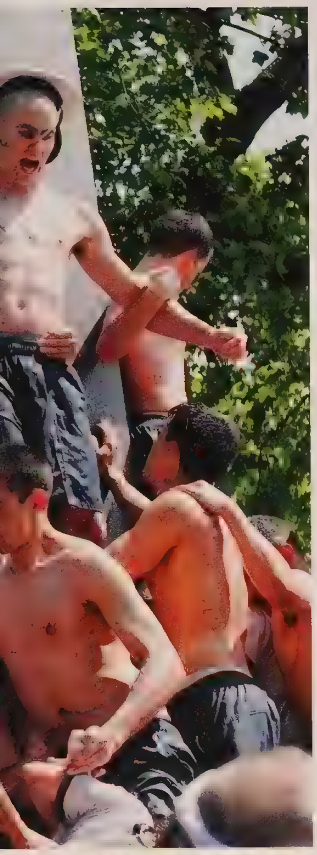
"Every class has a plan, but it usually just turns to chaos."

Plebes began climbing the Herndon Monument in 1940. Around 1949, the upperclassmen began smearing the obelisk with lubricant.



One hour, 32 minutes and 43 seconds, and they are plebes no more. Patrick Lien had the honor of emerging from a pile of plebes and putting a midshipman's hat atop the greased Herndon Monument. The Orlando, Fla., native reached as high as he could, gently tossed the hat atop the monument and saluted a crowd of hundreds on the academy's Yard with a victorious left fist-pump. Each year, nearly 1,000 freshmen, or plebes, form a human pyramid around the base of the lard-coated 21-foot-tall granite obelisk. The goal is to knock a plebe's "Dixie Cup" hat from the top and replace it with a midshipman's hat, known as a cover, ceremonially morphing the group from plebes to midshipmen. The Class of 2016 completed the task faster than any group since the class of Class of 2010 —not counting the Class of 2013, which faced a considerably easier, grease-free, Herndon climb. That group scaled the monument in barely more than two minutes. Lien said he was proud to carry on Herndon climb tradition. His father climbed the monument with the Class of 1981. Covered in sweat and lard, Lien said he had no expectation he'd be the one to top the monument. At one point, he said, he sat out for a little bit to get some perspective. Then he made his move. "It just kind of happened," Lien said. "I'm speechless, to be honest ... I don't think (my dad's) going to believe me."

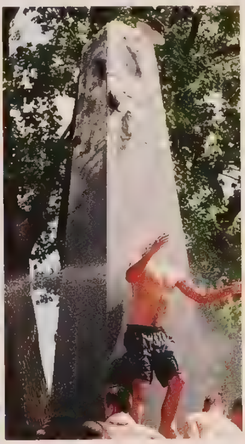
The academy started recording times — the first was 12 minutes — in 1959. A midshipman scaled the monument in 1962 in only three minutes, by using a cargo net. Such devices have since been banned.

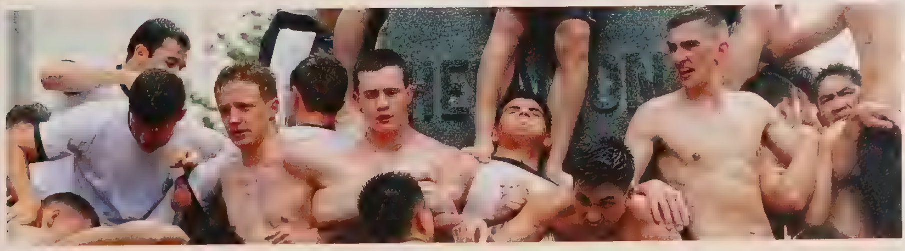


Midshipman 3rd Class Andrew Craig, of Tulsa, Okla., was the one who topped the monument last year. He was one of the first to greet Lien after the climb.

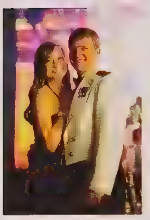
T-shirts and socks helped the plebes wipe the grease away from the monument, making it easier to grip.

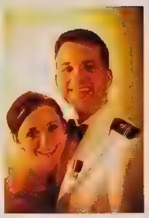
As the plebes continued to climb and fall, mothers and fathers in the crowd suggested different strategies.

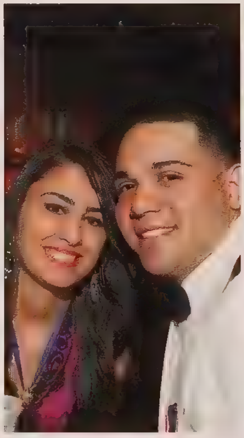


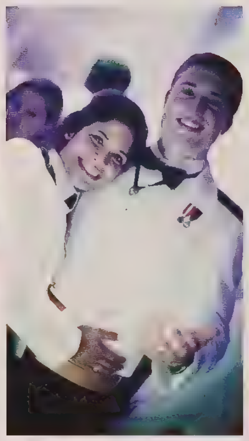


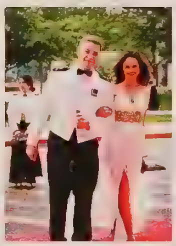
The longest time, according to Naval Academy records, was four hours, five minutes and 17 seconds, recorded in 1995. Last year, the Class of 2015 finished the job in two hours, 10 minutes and 13 seconds.





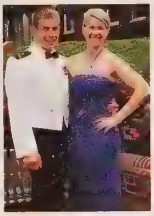


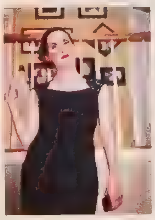




2/C Ring Dance

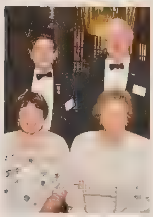
The Ring Dance for the Second Class is as much a right-of-passage as Herdon is for the fourth-class. At this very special event, Second Class Mids officially receive their class rings and have them blessed by dipping them into the "waters of the seven seas," a bowl of water collected from all seven seas. As the tradition now unfolds, Navy chaplains gather and mix water from the seven seas, then dip each ring into this water which symbolizes the mids being "wedded" to the Navy. It is a solemn tradition that the midshipmen take very seriously. Here, at this formal dance at the end of their junior year, Second Classmen are officially permitted to wear their class rings. The Ring Dance itself is more akin to a "dining-in" than a prom, although if you have never been to a dining-in, a prom is a close analogy. The dance is a formal affair. Anyone in attendance will see the midshipmen at their spit-and-polish formal mess-dress best. The gowns worn by the ladies are breath-taking--very elegant and sophisticated. The dance begins with a dinner (with entree choices like filet mignon, chicken breast, grilled tuna, or grilled portabello mushrooms). After dinner there is the dipping ceremony and dancing. If weather is favorable, the dance is held outside on the landing between Rickover and Nimitz . If the weather is not cooperative, it is moved inside of Dahlgren Hall. To conclude the dance, they have a spectacular fireworks show.





2/C Ring Dance

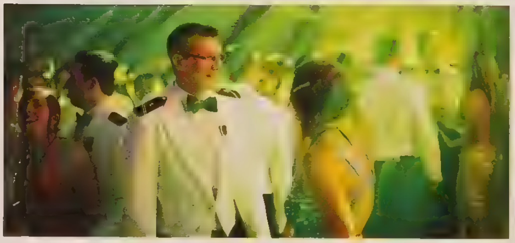
The food and decorations were spectacular the the event. From chocolate fountains to an open bar, it was any PAO's dream.

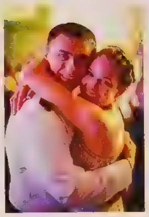


Although midshipmen order there rings months prior to Ring Dance, this event signifies when they can actually begin to start wearing these rings. Dates are brought in from all aspects of life. Male midshipmen are known all too well for asking infamous women via creative YouTube videos. This year's most publicized was 2/C Freedman's successful invitation of Crossfitter, Christmas Abbott via a youtube fitness challenge. As mids battle for the most prestigious dates, it can be noted that many will not even remember the sequence of events occurring on this night-unless they are one of the poor souls who have yet to turn 21 by Ring Dance 2/C year.

The place settings were beautiful, on par with the formality of a well-done wedding.

The theme for 2014's Ring Dance was a James Bond style Casino Royale...didn't the movie just come out?

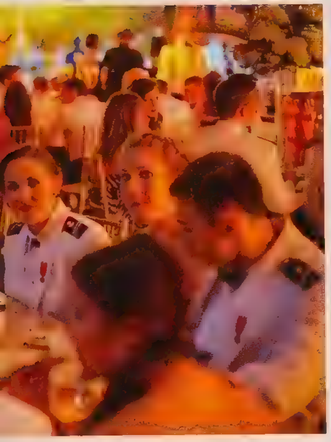




Attendance included a wide range of ages and consisted of civilians, former grads, current military, and (of course) midshipmen!

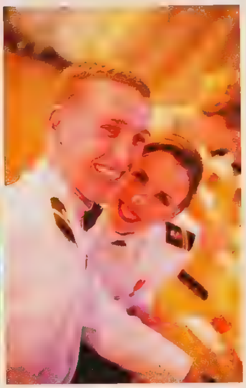
And just like that, sleek Bond turns into a crazy Casino Royale.

CDR Herb attends with his wife.

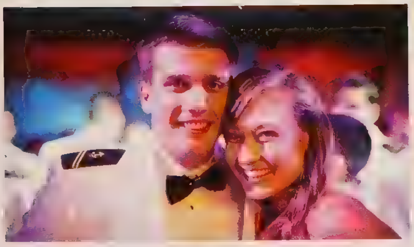


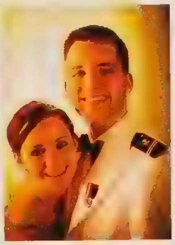
Some 2/C opt to take their sponsor's offspring...sucks to suck!

Traditionally, a midshipman gives their ring to their date to wear during the festivities.



2/C Logan Wilk doesn't let the uniform prerequisite trample on her fun! No siree!

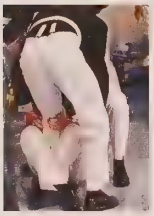


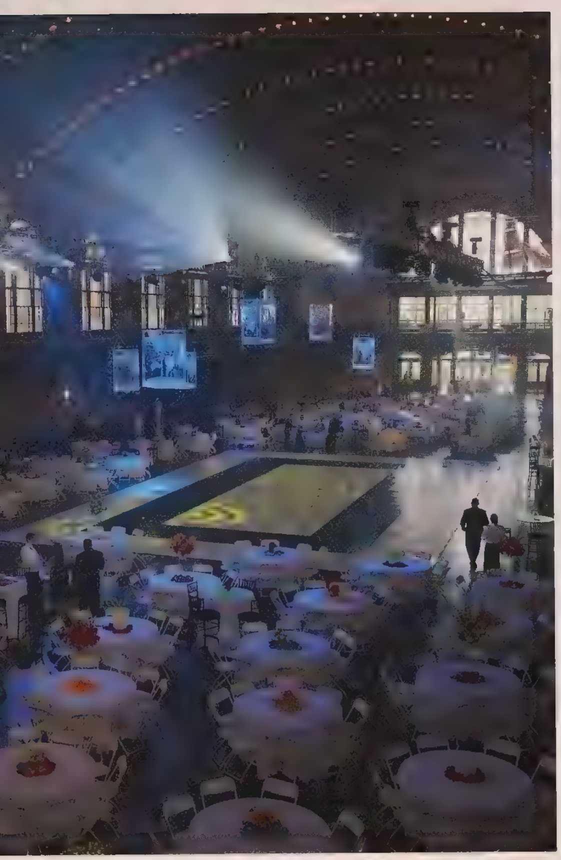


The extravagant lighting, the delicate curtains, and the high-class appeal pull off the James Bond theme perfectly.

Color Parade

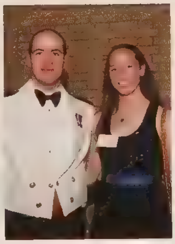
The academy's annual Color Parade, honoring the fall and spring color companies was held on Worden Field, on May 23, 2013, at 11 a.m. Mr. Roger M. Natsuhara , Assistant Secretary of the Navy – Energy, Installations & Environment, Naval Academy Superintendent Vice Adm. Michael H. Miller; and Commandant of Midshipmen Capt. Robert E. Clark, II reviewed the parade. The midshipmen of 20 th Company have earned the honor of being designated as the spring 2013 color company through their accomplishments during the last semester. The Color Parade is the oldest parade at the U.S. Naval Academy , a tradition which began in 1867. Midshipmen anticipate this parade as their last full dress parade while at the academy. The highlight of the Color Parade is the formal presentation of the color company pennant to the company that has excelled in academics, athletics and professional accomplishments.

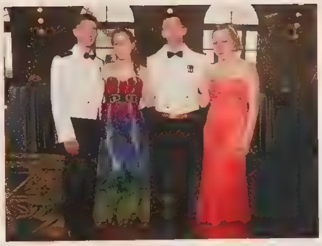




Grad Ball

The 2013 Graduation Ball was held, per usual, in Dahlgren Hall. This year it took place on the evening of Wednesday, May 22-just two days prior to the actual graduation, or "Commencement," ceremony. Similarly to 2/C Ring Dance, Graduation Ball is a highly formal event. Although everyone is ecstatic about the class which will soon "commence" their career, the atmosphere is quite different from Ring Dance. Although Naval Academy Alumni and distinguished guests attend both functions, Graduation Ball consists of an abundance of families and is, as a result, much more social with much less...indulgencce. It's amazing how much difference a year makes (or perhaps the presence of parents). Nonetheless, Graduation Ball is one final festivity the congratulate the class which will soon leave behind the convenient lifestyle of midshipman life as well as friends and family.





Graduation

Congratulations Class of 2013

On May 23, 2013, The United States Naval Academy graduated 1047 midshipmen under an unusually cool Memorial Day weekend. 764 were commissioned as Navy Ensigns, 264 as Marine Corps 2nd Lieutenants and 3 commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force. There were 16 foreign national students graduating from Belize, Georgia, Guatemala, Korea, Lebanon, Montenegro, Panama, Philippines, Poland, Singapore, South Africa, Taiwan and Tunisia. The top graduate is Christopher Dean Galvin of Austin, Texas who was a mechanical engineering major. He will be commissioned as a Navy Ensign and will train as a submariner. Pres. Barack Obama addressed the graduates at about 1020am. The president was joined on the rostrum by Maryland Gov. Martin O'Malley, Secretary of the Navy Ray Mabus, Vice Adm. Michael Miller Superintendent of the Naval Academy, and Capt. Bob Clark Commandant of midshipmen among other military and political officials.

Graduates celebrating four years of hard work.

President Obama taking approaching the podium.

Midshipmen file into the stadium as students for one last time.

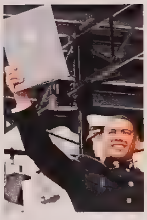
This is the 163rd traditional graduation ceremony. Since 1845, approximately 79,900 midshipmen have graduated from the Naval Academy. Since 1980, more than 4100 women including the class of 2013 have graduated from the United States Naval Academy.

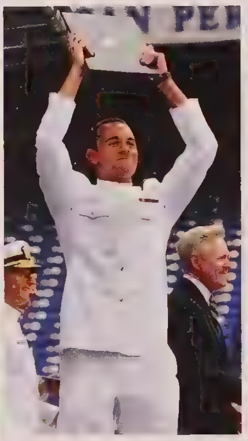
Secretary of Navy, Raymond Mabus addresses the graduates.

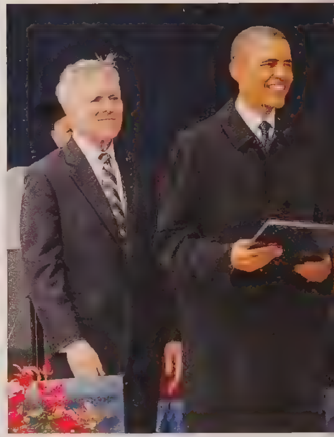
The Presidential Helicopter: Marine One

Midshipmen eagerly await their name to be called.

"And you've proven yourself physically," President Obama said. "Last month I welcomed Coach Ken and the team back to the White House because you beat Air Force, you beat Army, and you brought the Commander-in-Chief's trophy back to Annapolis."



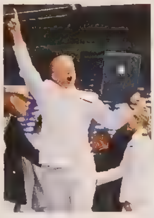




Graduation

"Today, each of you can take enormous pride, for you've met the mission of this Academy. You've proven yourselves morally, living a concept of honor and integrity -- and this includes treating one another with respect and recognizing the strength of every member of your team. You're the most diverse class to graduate in Naval Academy history. And among the many proud young women graduating today, 13 will serve on submarines. You've proven yourselves mentally. Now, I know that some think of this as just a small engineering school on the Severn. You've not only met its rigorous standards, you've helped this Academy earn a new distinction -- the number-one public liberal arts school in America. So, Class of 2013, in your four years by the Bay, you've met every test before you. And today is the day that you've been counting down to for so long. You will take your oath. Those boards and gold bars will be placed on your shoulders. And as your Commander-in-Chief, I congratulate each of you on becoming our newest officers -- ensigns in the United States Navy, second lieutenants in the United States Marine Corps."

-President Barack Obama
Commencement Address
May 24, 2013



Graduates cheer at conclusion of U.S.N.A. commencement at the Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium. May 24, 2013.

NAVY
61
NAVY
89
AVY

Varsity Sports

"In the end, it's extra effort that separates a winner from second place. But winning takes a lot more that, too. It starts with complete command of the fundamentals. Then it takes desire, determination, discipline, and self-sacrifice. And finally, it takes a great deal of love, fairness and respect for your fellow man. Put all these together, and even if you don't win, how can you lose?"

-Jesse Owens

Navy Football

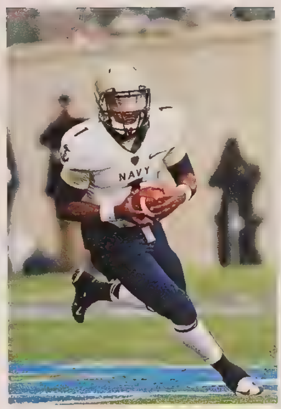
1. MIDN 1/C Ben Snelson with an reception
2. The team rushing the field before a game with MIDN 3/C Don Pearson and MIDN 3/C Devin Crayton carrying the American flag
3. A Navy running back evades two Texas State defenders.
4. MIDN 1/C Marcus Thomas catching a pass
5. A mid about to take down a San Jose State receiver
6. MIDN 3/C Kwazel Bertrand making a tackle
7. The offensive at the line of scrimmage before the snap

SCORE BOARD

Notre Dame	L	10	50
Penn State	L	7	34
VMI	W	41	3
San Jose State	L	0	12
Air Force	W	28	21
C. Michigan	W	31	13
Indiana	W	31	30
East Carolina	W	56	28
Fla Atlantic	W	24	17
Troy	L	31	41
Texas State	W	21	10
Army	W	17	13
Arizona State	L	28	62

The team qualified to play in the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl in San Francisco, CA.

5

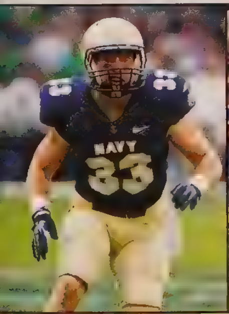


The Navy Football team had a successful season. Their overall record was 8-5. Some big highlights of the season were winning the Commander-in-Chief's Trophy, The team beat Air Force 28-21 in close game with one over time period. The team beat Army in a close game with a score of 17-13. The team also qualified for a bowl game this year. President Obama honored the team at the White House this spring for winning the Commander-in-Chief's Trophy. Head Coach Ken Niumatalolo was featured in the Navy Sports Magazine. The team is looking forward to another good season next fall. They hope to hold on to the Commander-in-Chief's Trophy and qualify for another bowl game.

6

7

The team beat Army for the 11th year in a row and is looking to make it 12 years next fall.



The team had a great season. Stephen Moore, Dave Milanes and Greg Dupell were all voted on the first team for the All-Patriot League Baseball Team. Joel Rinehart and Kash Manzelli were voted to the second team for the All-Patriot League Baseball Team. Johnny Schoberl was named to the Academic All-Patriot League with a 3.25 CQPR as an Oceanography major. The Mids went into the Patriot League Tournament with the 2nd seed. Their record going in to the tournament is 28-21. The Mids get to host the semi-finals against Army. The winner of this game will get to go to the finals and face Bucknell or Holy Cross.

Roster: Dylan Wheeler Robert Currie Stephen Moore Patrick Juen Drew Hayes Ryan Moody David Wiedeman Greg Dupell Johnny Schoberl Sam Sorenson Brad Borosak Ryan Turner Jonathan Huggins Conner Adamski Luke Gillingham Brendan DelMonte Dave Milanes Anthony Parecki Craig Veech Chris Cannon Matt Kilby David Norman Andrew Barter Charlie LaMar Connor Deneen Blake Coffey John LaPoint Ben Nelson Jack Meier Brandon Beans Joe Rinehart Chris Campbell Kash Manzelli Stephen Geiss Dallas Redden Coaching Staff: Paul Kostacopoulos - Head Coach Matt Reynolds - Assistant Coach Ryan Mau - Assistant Coach Bryan Stark - Volunteer Assistant Coach

2

3

Five Mids were places on the Baseball All-Patriot League Teams this spring.

Navy Baseball

1 M.DN 2/C Brandon Beans running the bases after a hit

2 Seniors on the team

3 A member of the team trying to get the ball back to the base.

4 A player watching the ball after he hits

5 one of the men on the team making moves to get to the next base

6 MIDN 3/C [illegible] a left handed pitcher throwing a pitch

7 MIDN 3/C David Wiedeman at bat

4

5

7

Senior pitcher Johnny Schoberl named Academic All-Patriot League.

SCORE BOARD

Norfolk State	W	4-3
Norfolk State	L	7-6
Norfolk State	W	13-1
Coppin State	L	10-8
Air Force	W	3-1
Air Force	L	8-7
Air Force	W	3-2
Air Force	L	13-3
C. Connecticut	L	7-1
C. Connecticut	W	3-2
C. Connecticut	L	4-2
C. Connecticut	L	6-4
LIU Brooklyn	W	12-0
N. Dakota State	L	5-1
Valparaiso	L	7-1
Indiana	L	4-0
Miami (Oh)	L	6-0
Yale	W	6-5
Delaware State	W	12-10
Princeton	W	8-2
Princeton	W	2-1
Princeton	L	10-4
Princeton	W	5-4 (11)
UMD E. Shore	W	9-4
Army	W	7-1
Army	W	4-2
Army	W	15-4
Army	L	14-7
Towson	W	5-3
Bucknell	W	2-1 (11)
Bucknell	L	8-4
Bucknell	L	3-1
Bucknell	L	16-10
Coppin State	L	7-6
Holy Cross	L	3-0
Holy Cross	L	10-7
Holy Cross	W	5-1
Holy Cross	W	7-1
UMD E. Shore	W	13-2
Lafayette	W	4-3 (10)
Lafayette	L	7-6 (10)
Lafayette	W	1-0 (9)
Lafayette	W	7-2
DE State	W	7-2
Lehigh	W	[illegible]
Lehigh	W	6-1
Lehigh	W	4-2
Lehigh	W	12-5
GW	L	5-2
Army	L	4-2
Army	L	[illegible]

Men's Basketball

1 Going up for a lay up
2 Playing defense against West Point
3 The team playing some man on man defense
4. MIDN 3/C Brandon Venturini moving the ball up the court
5. MIDN 2/C Brennan Wyatt looking to make a play
6. Plebe Kendall Knorr at the free throw line after being fouled
7 Some of the team members singing Blue and Gold after playing West Point

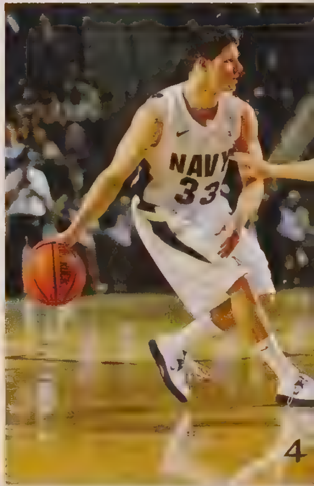
1

2

SCORE BOARD

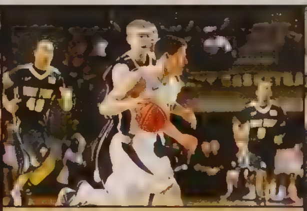
Slippery Rock	L	79-56
Marymount	W	75-48
Siena	L	54-49 (OT)
Binghamton	W	75-52
JAB	L	82-63
TCU	L	47-45
Prairie View A&M	L	42-40
Delaware State	W	63-53
IPFW	W	54-49
Tulane	L	51-41
Monmouth N.J.	W	85-66
Mount St Mary's	L	72-65
Bryant University	W	69-59
N. Kentucky	L	55-46
Albany	L	71-61
IPFW	L	68-63
Norfolk State	L	74-68
Lafayette	L	64-47
Holy Cross	L	62-47
Army	W	59-50
American	L	72-49
Colgate	L	70-56
Lehigh	L	71-49
Bucknell	L	59-54
Lafayette	L	70-47
Holy Cross	L	66-57
Army	L	56-55
American	W	50-44
Colgate	L	59-46
Lehigh	L	72-43
Bucknell	L	62-46
Bucknel	L	58-42

3



4

MIDN 3/C Kevin Alter won two awards this season the most on the team for the season.



5

Though the team had a rough season this year, there was definite improvement. These season marks one of the highest defensive records for the team. They finished 2nd in the Patriot League in defense. Turnover rate for this season was the lowest on record. Some aspects of the game they was going to work on next season are the offense and rebounding. The Navy Men's Basketball team was ranked 2nd in attendance in the Patriot League. The freshman class this year is really strong and the team is looking forward to improving as a team next year.

Roster: Will Kelly, Kendall Knorr, Brennan Wyatt, James Loupos, Kevin Alter, Tilman Dunbar Thurgood Wynn, Earl McLaurin, Ryan Spadaford, Worth Smith, Donya Jackson, Phil Guglielmo Brandon Venturini, Jared Smoot, Jerome Alexander Coaches: Ed DeChellis - Head Coach Dan Earl - Associate Head Coach, Ernie Nestor - Assistant Coach, D.J. Black - Assistant Coach, Aaron Goodman - Assistant Coach, Kendrick Saunders - Assistant Coach

7

Head Coach Ed DeChellis was inducted into the ETSU Athletics Hall of Fame during this season.

The Navy Lightweight Crew team had a rough season. In the beginning of the seasons, they had some top finishes at the Occoquan Challenge and the Navy Day Regatta. After that the team suffered some lower finishes at some regattas and loses in head-to-head regattas. Despite having a rough seasons there were some up sides to the season. Senior Eric Washkewicz was selected to receive the Gates Cambridge Scholarship. He was selected from a field of about 750 applicant across the country. He is the 11th person from the US Naval Academy to receive this prestigious award.

NAVY CREW
DONT GIVE UP THE SHIP

MIDN 1/C Eric Washkewicz was select as one of 39 students in the US to earn a Gates Cambridge Scholarship.

Lightweight Crew

Roster: Austin Bentley, Patrick Dods, Phillip Ellsworth, Anthony Holl, Evan Kolodziejczak, Christopher Leigh, Liam Moffett Patrick Shaw Philip Song, Jordan Spear, Conor White, Bret Anstett Joseph Hussey, James Kluxen, James Laughridge Gregory Nadal, Capshaw Nagel, James Saylor, Andrew Tresansky, Eric Washkewicz, Timothy Dixon, Seamus Fish Matthew Huffman, Michael Madrid David Matasic, Thomas McElwee Krystyna Nowakowski, Sahil Patel Cyle Schultz, Nick Connelly, Jake Felton Chris Kent, Patrick OBoyle, JC Russell, Alex Yachanin

The Navy Lightweight Crew team finished 1st at the Navy Day Regatta.

SCORE BOARD

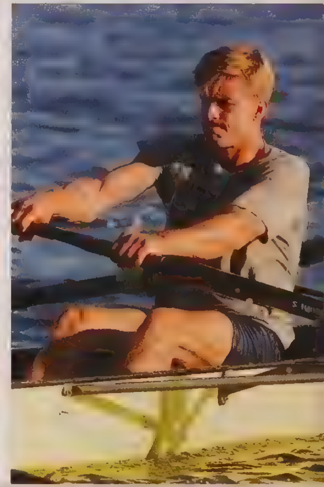
Occoquan Challenge	2nd
Navy Day Regatta	1st
Head of the Charles	8th
Princeton Chase Princeton	7th
Yale	L
Columbia	L
Georgetown	L
Harvard	L
Penn	L
	0	2

Heavyweight Crew

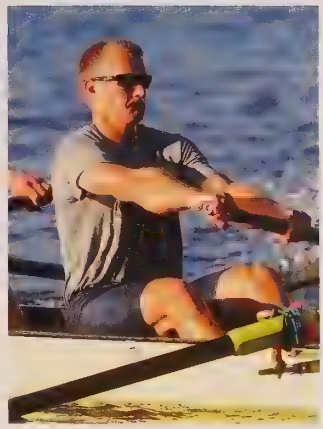
Roster: Frank Agli, Ted Baumgardner Anthony Blazevic, Kevin Borough, Donald Bowers, Jordan Bowman, Kyle Browne Robbie Bruss, Tim Cadigan, Chris Chang Gabe Charette. Nick Denney. Tim Denning, Bryant Eng, Ian Fisher, Nick Fowler, Christopher Gear, Thomas Jefferson. Andrew Gorie. Alexander Hayano Stanley Hollins Austin Huckeba Bo Joost, Jonathan Kappel, Alexander Kornick. Ben Kosman. Alex Lizotte. Will McGee. John Minahan Michael Norman Ethan Palmer, Stephen Patane, Eric Peart Ryan Peterman. Colton Peterson. Will Race William Roberts. Zachary Ryan. Wes Sadler, Scott Sanders, Cody West, Danny Whitsett, Conor Wilkes. David Woods

SCORE BOARD

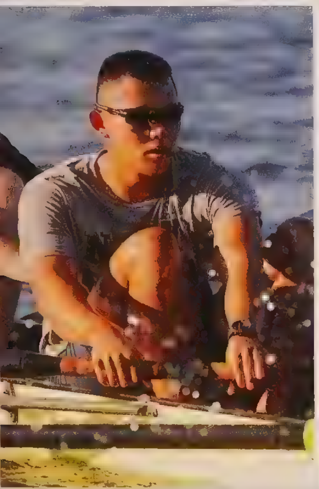
Navy Day Regatta	1st
Head of the Charles	15th
Princeton Chase	6th
Princeton	L
George Wash. Invite.	W
George Wash. Invite.
Goes Trophy	2	0
Adams Cup	2	0
Columbia	0	2
	2	0



The Navy Heavyweight Crew team came in 1st the the Navy Day Regatta.

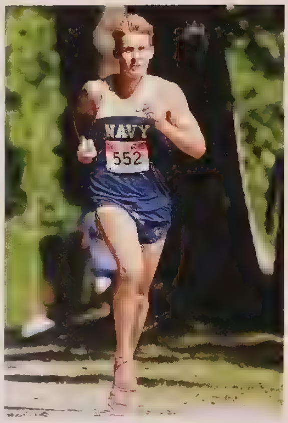


The Navy Heavyweight Crew team had a successful year. The team had some top finishes at the beginning of the season. They won the Navy Day Regatta and finished 6th out of 49 boats at the Princeton Chase. They also did well at some of the smaller events they competed in. The team won their third consecutive George Washington Invite title. The team added a new coach, John Flynn, to their staff this year. There are still a few events to compete in this season. The team is looking forward to competing in the EARC Sprints and the IRA National Championship.



John Flynn was added to the Heavyweight Rowing coaching staff this fall. He has 20 years of various levels of experience.

The Men's Cross Country team had a very successful season. The team had top finishes at many different events throughout the year. They came in first at the Navy Invitational. Sadly, they came up just short of winning the Patriot League Championships. The 2nd place finish still qualified the team to compete in the NCAA Mid-Atlantic Regional Championship. They finished 6th out of 25 teams. Members of the team were recognized for the effort in competition. Members of the team won weekly Patriot League honors. Chris Galvin was voted the Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Twelve members of the team were named to the Patriot League Academic honor roll. the team earned USTFCCCA All-Academic team honors.



NAVY
378
379
374

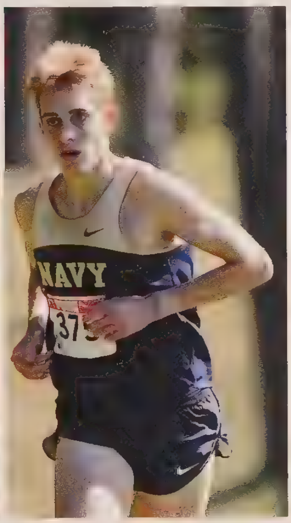
NAVY
379
378
382

MIDN 1/C Chris Galvin and MIDN 3/C John Sweeney, were both named to the Patriot League All-Academic team this year.

NAVY
374
379

Cross Country

UMBC
568
NAVY
558
NAVY
559



Roster: Drew Anderson, Tony Baldessari Greg Bohmke, Chris Burns, Drew Calcagno Kyle Davis, Brian De La Mora, Tom Delaney Dan Drew, C.J. Elward, Jacob Fox Christopher Galvin, Zach Hebda, Ryan Kelley, Weston Kennedy, Justin Maguire Anthony Malatesta, Alex Merrall, Chris Miller, Tom Moore, Shane O'Donnell, Nick Palermo, Robert Patterson, Sam Peckham Sean Rynning, Kyle Satterwhite, Steve Schroeder John Sweeney, Cody Thompson Jeramy Triplett

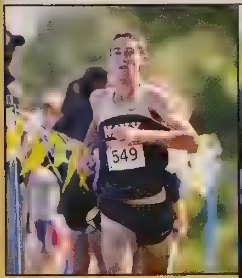
NAVY
PUMA
371

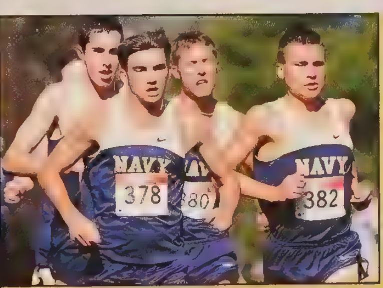
NAVY
373
ARMY
347
NAVY
375
ARMY
357
NAVY
381

Plebe Steve Schroeder was named the Patriot League Rookie of the Week two weeks in a row.

SCORE BOARD

Harry Lang Invtl.	2nd of 11
Harry Groves Invtl.	4th of 9
Navy Invtl.	1st of 7
Notre Damn Invitl.	17th of 20
Army	W 20-43
PLC	2nd of 8
NCAA Mid. Atl.	6th of 25





NAVY
378
80
NAVY
382

Navy Golf

1. Plebe David Won watching his shot after taking a nice drive
2. A picture of the team
3. MIDN 2/C Drew Selby lining up a putt
4. MIDN 1/C Chris Reed taking a putt
5. MIDN 1/C Pat Collins watching his shot after taking a drive
6. MIDN 3/C Staton Pruitt waiting to take his next shot
7. MIDN 2/C Bobby Keating waiting his shot after making taking a drive

Roster: Pat Collins, Brad Elder, David Hall, Chris House, August Jonas, Bobby Keating, Bryce Keene, Cody Lederer, Garrett Moyer, Sean Murphy, Staton Pruitt, Chris Reed, Drew Selby, Zeke Shaffer, David Won, Robert Zieser-Misenheimer Coaches: Pat Owen - Head Coach, Mike Burke - Associate Head Coach

1

2

SCORE BOARD

Navy Fall Classic	6th/15
Army	L 8.5-2.5
ECAC	2nd/5
Philadelphia Big 5 Classic	11th/19
Service Academy Classic	3rd/3
Charleston Shootout	11th/12
Whiting Turner Invite.	9th/24
Princeton Invite.	9th/14
Navy Spring	7th/21
Pat. League Champ.	2nd/7

3

4

MIDN 2/C Chris House was named NAAA Athlete of the week.

5

The Navy Golf team had a tough season. They participated in multiple tournaments throughout the season. The one head-to-head match they had was against Army, which they lost. During their tournaments, usually their first day was very good. However, on the second day, the team usually struggled. Despite having a tough time there were still high points during the season. The team finished 2nd at the Patriot League Championships. Chris House was named Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the year and got to represent the team at the NCAA Tournament.

6

MIDN 2/C Chris House takes Medalist Honors at the Patriot League Golf Championship and the Mids finished 2nd overall.

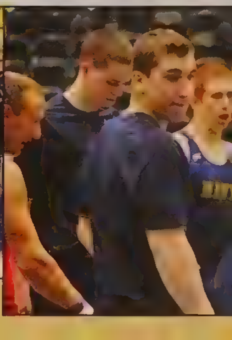
The Mids had a very strong season. Junghans, Steves and Goodell earned All-ECAC Honors this season. Five members of the team were selected to complete in the NCAA Qualifiers. Chris Junghans, Thomas Goodell, Mitchell Larios, Joshua Steves and Andrew Potts got the chance to compete in the National Qualifiers at Penn State. Junior Chris Junghans advanced to the NCAA Championships in the all-around competition after producing a score of 82.3 at qualifiers. Junghans took 12th in the All-Around at the NCAA Championship. Overall, the Mids had a great season. With a strong team, they are looking forward to competing next season and sending as many Mids as possible to NCAA Qualifiers and the NCAA Championship.

1

2

3

MIDN 2/C Chris Junghans took 12th place in the All-Around finals at the NCAA Championships at Penn State University.



Gymnastics

5

1 Thomas Goodell performing on the bars
2. A team photo from this year including the coaching staff and the Officer Rep
3. Members of the team getting chalk before they compete
4. Chris Junghans performing on the pommel horse
5 Eric Poletti performing on the rings
6. Josh Gong performing on the rings
7 Jacob Moses performing on the floor

Roster: Trevor Carson, Zac Ceroli, Michael Dorsey, David Frick, Josh Gong, Connor Gonzales, Thomas Goodell, Ian Grinaski, Alex Hoersten, Chris Junghans, Mitchel Larios, Cameron Morgenweck, Eric Morrison, Jacob Moses, Eric Poletti, Andrew Potts, Jeff Sauers, Joshua Steves, Eric Viscardi, Connor Westrick
Coaches: Dr. Sho Fukushima - Head Coach
Craig Holt - Assistant Coach

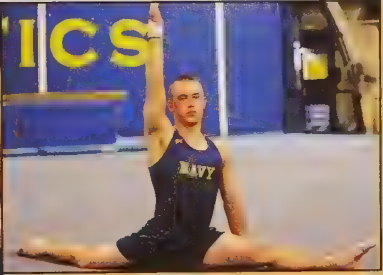
6

7

Four members of the team earned USAG All-American honors at Nationals.

SCORE BOARD

Navy Open	4th
W&M	L, 412.85-398.45
Westpoint	5th
All Academy	3rd
Army	L, 414.0-407.05
W&M	L, 420.5-407.05
W&M	L, 417.05-401.65
Temple/Army	2nd
USAG Champ.	3rd
ECAC Champ.	6th



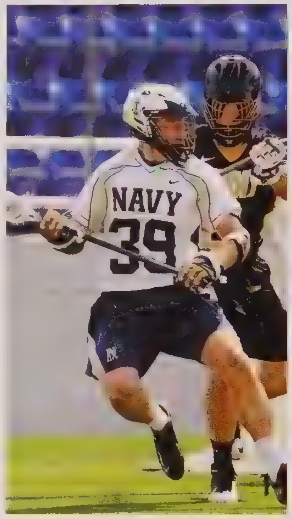
Navy Lacrosse

1 MIDN 2/C Tucker Hull trying to scoring point
2 Plebe Kevin Wendel passing the ball to one of his teammates
3 The team huddling after rushing the field with the American flag
4 MIDN [illegible] Austin Miller carrying the ball up the field
5 The team rushing the field before a game with Plebe [illegible]ndino carrying the American flag
6 MIDN 1/C Nolan Hickey protecting the goal from the other team
7 The Firsties on the team

Roster: Nik Mullen T J Hanzsche Pau Zimmerman Bryce Dabbs Ryan Everson Troy Gargiulo Brye French, Erik Hoffstadt Austin Miller Tadd [illegible] Gabe [illegible] Pat [illegible] Connors [illegible] Jack [illegible] Brendan Lewis Chris Talarico Jay Christopher [illegible], Harrison Chaires Patrick [illegible] Sean Price Pat [illegible] Sam Jones Kevin [illegible] Brendan [illegible] Evan [illegible] Alex [illegible] Tyler [illegible] Justin Adams Beau [illegible] Patrick Menezes Pat Menezes [illegible] Matt Morrison Beau [illegible] Matt Steffens [illegible] Ben [illegible] Brendan [illegible] [illegible] Morgenthaler Sean Perry Ted Dennis Zach Hirsch Trevor [illegible] Henrich Peter Rogers Kevin Wendel Aaron Zimmerman [illegible] Hargett Coaches: Rick [illegible] - Head Coach [illegible] - Assistant Coach [illegible] Peppard - Assistant Coach Mikey Tarbox - Volunteer Assistant Coach Mark [illegible] - Director of Physical Education [illegible]

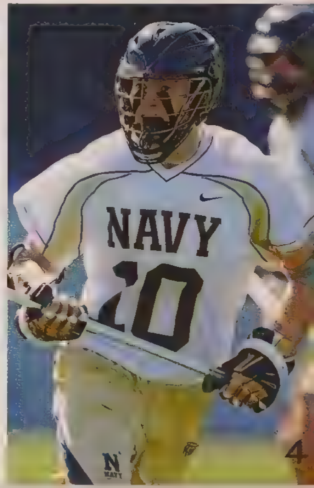
SCORE BOARD

VMI	W	20	7
Detroit	W	11	7
Fairfield	L	9	10
Georgetown	L	8	9
Bucknell	L	2	10
Lafayette	W	12	11
Towson	L	7	8
Holy Cross	L	5	7
Colgate	L	3	11
Lehigh	L	7	12
Maryland	L	8	11
Army	L	7	14
Hopkins	L	4	15



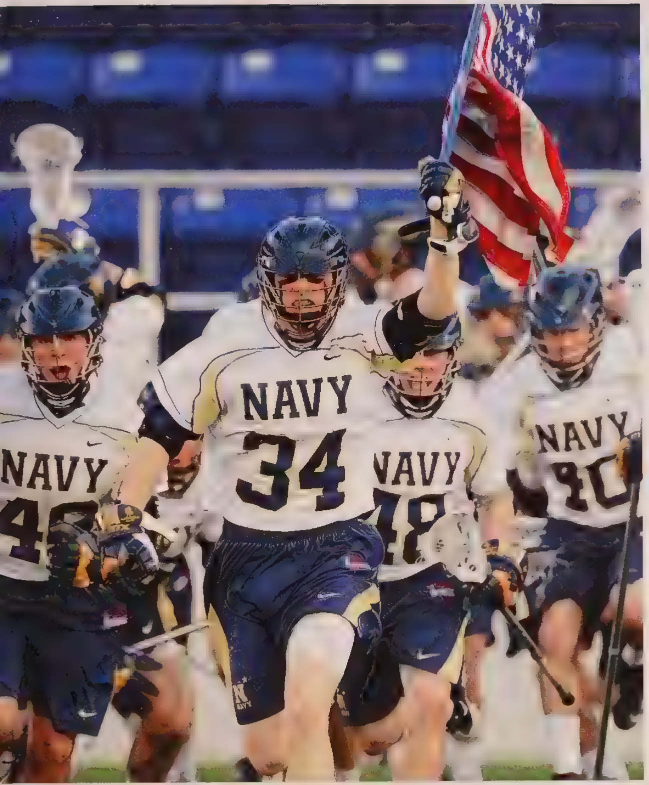
2

3

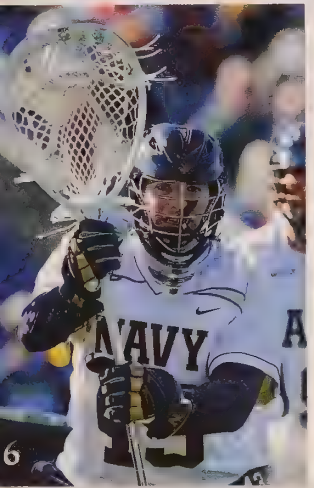


4

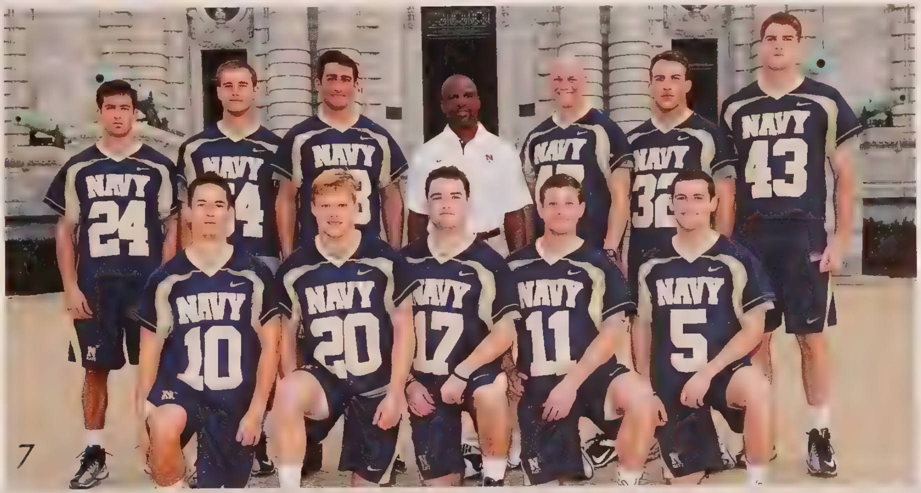
MIDN 2/C mid-fielaer Erik Hoffstadt was voted to the Academic All-Patriot League team.



The Navy Men's Lacrosse team had a rough season this year. Their overall record was 3-10. They played a lot of tough teams this spring. Most of the games that were lost, were very close games. Despite having a tough season, the team had success off of the field. Pat Kiernan and T. J. Hanzsche earned Patriot League Weekly Honors. Junior Sam Jones scored his 100th goal during the game against Army. He is the 31st player in Navy history to make it to this milestone. One member of the team was voted to the First-Team All-Patriot League Honors. Another member of the team was voted the Academic All-Patriot League Team with a 3.97 GPA. The team is losing a few valuable players this year but looking forward to a strong season next spring.



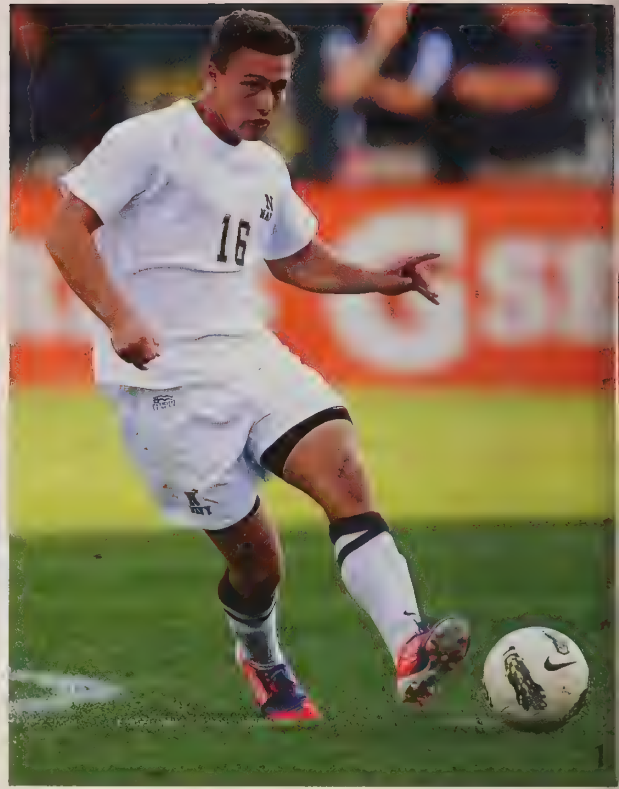
6



7

MIDN 2/C Pat Kirname was a three-time Patriot League Defensive Player of the Week and earned First-Team All-Patriot League Honors

The Navy Men's Soccer team ended the season with a 7-7-3 record. This year, they faced a tough schedule and had a lot of close games. Four games went into overtime, three of the went into double over time. Off the field, the team had a lot of success. Derek Vogel and Nick Dubee were both voted to the Second-Team All-Patriot League. Vogel was honored as the league's Rookie of the Year. The spring season was successful for the team. They had a 2-2-1 record against some tough teams. Looking into next year, coach Dave Brandt thinks that the team will work out any issues from this year to have a good season next year.



1

2

Freshman Derek Vogel was named to the CollegeSoccerNews.com Freshman All-American third team.

Men's Soccer

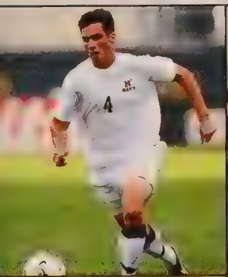
1 MIDN 3/C Grant Valenstine passing the ball
2 USNA Mens Soccer team and coaches
3. MIDN 1/C Alex Wilson driving the ball towards the goal
4 MIDN 1/C Gavin Snyder keeping the opponents from scoring a goal
5. MIDN 3/C Thomas Shiiba driving the ball up the sideline
6 MIDN 2/C Geoff Fries waiting for the ball to come to him
7 MIDN 2/C Joseph Greenspan trying to score a goal

Roster: Jackson Morgan, Aaron Dupere Thomas Shiiba Donny Burton, Patrick Coprio Jamie Dubyoski PJ Quess Dave Arnold Nick Dubee Derek Voge Zach Davis Geoff Fries Grant Valenstein Michael Lemonick Joseph Greenspan Martin Sanchez Thomas Shiiba Guy Stord Blake Busse Michael Parker Sawyer Gilmore Mara Guvin Gavin Snyder Alex Wilson Coaches: Dave Brandt - Head Coach Nate Baker - Assistant Coach Dustin Shambach - Goalkeeper Coach

The Navy Men's Soccer team placed 10 Mids on the Patriot League Academic Honor Roll.

SCORE BOARD

Old Dominion	L	0	4
Robert Morris	W	2	0
High Point	L	0	2
Delaware	T	1	1
Richmond	W	5	0
George Mason	W	2	1
Lafayette	W	4	2
Pittsburgh	W	3	1
Army	T	1	1
Bucknell	T	1	1
Lehigh	L	1	2
UMBC	L	1	2
American	L	2	3
Longwood	W	3	0
Holy Cross	L	1	2
Howard	W	3	1
Colgate	L	2	3



Sprint Football

MIDN 1/C Michael DeLong punting the ball down field

2 – team huddle after rushing the field before the game

3 Plebe Dan Gilmore making an impressive one armed catch

4 MIDN 3/C Quarterback Lewis Correale passing the ball before getting taken down

5 The team getting a motivational speech prior to the start of a game

6 MIDN 3/C Alexander Horton running the ball up the field

7 The Spring team including the coaching staff and all of their military support

Roster: Adrian Montecinos, Alexander Horton, Alec [illegible] David Williams, Matthew Hite, Eric Wiemann, Jake [illegible] Dan Singleton, William Hampton, Lewis [illegible] Tran, Daniels Brady, [illegible] McGlaughlin, Noah [illegible] Harris, Dan Gilmore, Ryan Montgomery, Brendan [illegible] Garcia, E.J. Hooper, Matthew [illegible] Zac Blanchard, [illegible] Collin Ascher, Carter Redding, Chris Miles, Matt Chavez, Brian [illegible] Anthony [illegible] Marquis White, Billy [illegible] Jarrett [illegible] Bryan [illegible] Mark Feuser, Michael Grantham, Stanton Johnson, Ryan Keyes, Richard [illegible] Vinnie [illegible] Owen Ball, Joshua Escobar, Ben Pope, Glen Harris, Patrick Ewald, Nick Laurel, Michael Buck, Warren Rooney, Jesse Holian, Craig Weniak, Daniel Meaney, Micah Dose, Christopher Mershon, Jarrett Brant, Robert Atkinson, Jon Moyle, Julian Jerzerick, Dylan Etzel Coach: Maj Kavan Lake, USMC

27 members of the Navy Sprint Football team were named to All-League Teams.

SCORE BOARD

W	38	27	Coppin
W	62	13	Princeton
W	37	14	Post
W	11	3	Cornell
W	48	7	Mansfield
W	44	10	Penn
L	18	21	Army

The Navy Sprint Football team had an extremely successful season this year. Their overall record was 6-1. Their conference record was 4-1. The Navy team was very strong within their conference and were dominate. Despite how dominate the team was, there was one huge upset for the team. This upset came when the team lost a close game to Army for the CSFL title and their Star Game. This was the only game they lost during the season. Off the field, the team had an equally impressive performance. Four players were named to the All-League First Team. Ten players were named to the All-League Second Team. Thirteen players were named to the All-League Third Team.

Adrian Montecinos and Michael DeLong were named to the CSFL Special Teams Player of the Week during this season.

The Navy Squash team had a very strong season with and overall record of 25-9. The team had a very impressive home record, 14-2. The start of the season went really well for the team. They went 15 straight wins to start the season. After that the season was all over the place. They played some solid matches and had some tough upsets. In the end the team qualified for the CSA Team Championship. During that tournament, the team faced tough losses to Columbia and Bates College but defeated Brown. Two members of the team qualified for the Individual CSA Championship. Sophomore Andrew McGuinness and Sophomore Jim Kacergis played in the No. 1 and No. 2 spots for the Navy team. McGuinness made it to the round of 16. Kacergis made it to the round with 32.

1

2

3

The Navy Squash season ended with Andrew McGuinness and Jim Kacergis representing the Naval Academy at CSA Championship.

Navy Squash

4

5

1 Plebe Bill Kacergis returning the ball
2 The Navy Squash team and coaching staff
3 MIDN 1/C John Richey returning the ball
4 MIDN 1/C John Richey returning a high ball
5 MIDN 1/C Cotter Walker returning a low ball
6 Plebe Carson Craig returning a low ball
7 MIDN 3/C Jim Kacergis returning a low ball

Roster: Hunter Abrams, Colin Barry, Hunter Beck, Mitch Bottini, Hunter Bouchard, Carson Craig, John Hsu, Bill Kacergis, Jim Kacergis, David Koenig, Andrew McGuinness, John Richey, Jack Shinnick, Cotter Walker Coaches: Craig Dawson - Head Coach, Ted Berger - Assistant Coach, Casey Garwood - Assistant Coach

SCORE BOARD

Barb Tourney	W	3-2
Virginia	W	9-0
Bard	W	9-0
Bucknell	W	9-0
Swarthmore	W	9-0
Boston U	W	9-0
Sewanee	W	9-0
Washington	W	9-0
Kenyon	W	9-0
Hopkins	W	9-0
Hobart	W	9-0
Washinton (Mo.)	W	9-0
Denison	W	9-0
Georgetown	W	9-0
Hamilton	W	9-0
Colgate	W	9-0
Bates	L	5-4
Middlebury	W	8-1
Dartmouth	L	6-3
Tufts	W	8-1
MIT	W	9-0
Penn	L	8-1
Drexel	W	7-2
W. Ontario	W	5-4
Fordham	W	9-0
Columbia	L	8-1
GW	W	6-3
Conn. College	W	9-0
Yale	L	9-0
Wesleyan	W	7-2
St. Lawrence	L	9-0
Franklin & Marshall	L	8-1
Columbia	L	6-3
Bates	L	5-4
Brown	W	7-2

6

7

The head Squash coach Craig Dawson, was featured in the Navy Sports Magazine

Swimming

1 Tom Duvall after finishing a long distance free style event
2 Riley Mita swimming a distance free style event
3 The Firsties of the mens swim team
4 Sean Murphy in a team huddle before a meet wearing this years Navy Mens Swimming and Diving Beat Army shirt
5 Luke Hoffer starting a breast stroke event
6 The Mens and Womens team standing at attention for the National Anthem during the pre meet
7 The mens team after winning the Army Navy meet

Roster: Sean B[illegible]gent, Dain Bomberger, Ben Bondurant, Dan Bowden, Conor Campbell, David Carlson, Hugh Dawson, Jonathan DeBaugh, Billy Draves, Tom Duvall, Joe Esposito, Andrew Feeney, Ben Freedman, Ben Fry, [illegible], Andrew [illegible], Ben [illegible], Tom Herze[illegible], Luke Hoffer, Frank Love, Nolan Martin, Will [illegible], [illegible] Erikson, Ma[illegible], Riley Mita, Sean Murphy, Alex Nickel, Chris [illegible], Robbie Parmer, Mike Peribonio, D.J. Principato, Danny Quinn, David Silver, Joseph Stark, Nathan Stinson, Kevin Stoddard, Brian Sweeney, Justin Vagts, Brendan Walsh, Seth Watlington, Riley Weber, B[illegible] Young Coaches: Bill Roberts, Head Coach, 10th Season, Chris [illegible], Assistant Coach, Fifth Season, Joe [illegible], Diving Coach, 35th Season

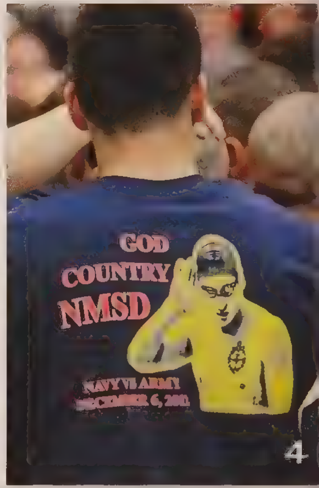
SCORE BOARD

Geo. Mason	W	155	134
Loyola	W	184	104
UMBC	L	144	156
Virginia	L	124	162
American	W	208	81
Bucknell	W	187	108
Nike Cup		3rd
Army	W	190	109
Princeton	L	115	182
N. Carolina	L	124.5	175.5
Penn State	L	112	188
Columbia	L	122	178
Hopkins	W	130.5	129.5
PLC		1st
ECAC		2nd

1

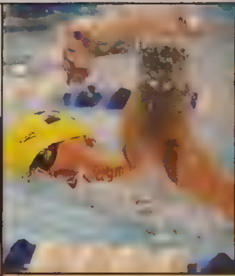
2

3



4

The Navy Men's Swimming team won the Patriot League Championship.



The Men's Swimming and Diving team had a very successful season. Coming off a very strong season last year were 13 members of the team qualified for Olympic trials, they were looking very strong coming into this season. The team had top finishes at some the different joint meets that they swam in. they beat Army for the 22nd time in a row. The team also went on to win the Patriot League Championship. After that, they went on to finish 2nd at the ECAC. Out side of the pool, the team earned honors. Members of the team earned Patriot League weekly honors. Some members were also featured in the Navy Sports Magazine.

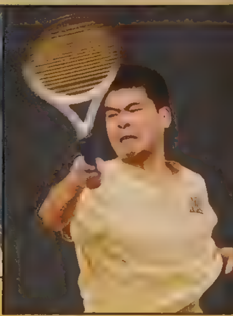
The Navy Men's Swimming and Diving team beat Army for the 22nd time in row

The Navy Men's Tennis team had a rough season this year. Their overall record was 17-12. Their in conference record was 3-2. Despite their record the team still advanced to the Patriot League Tournament. Their first match against Colgate was easy with a W, 4-0. Their semifinals match was not a easy but the team came out with a 4-3 win over Army. In the Patriot League Finals, the team faced a tough lose to Lehigh. A highlight match of the season was against Colgate. The team had the 1st and 3rd place doubles teams and had the 5 single players. Off the court, some of the team won honors. Calvin Mark and Peter McDonald were names the First-Team All-Patriot League.

2

3

Assistance Coach John Moreland has been named the coach of the Mid-Atlantic Section team how will compete at National Team Championship



Men's Tennis

5

1. MIDN 3/C Peter McDonald getting ready to return the ball with a back hand shot
2. Plebe Austin Jones returning the ball with a nice overhand
3. Plebe Alex Gaines returning the ball
4. MIDN 1/C Nicholas Gutsche returning the ball
5. Plebe Austin Jones getting ready to return the ball
6. MIDN 1/C Nicholas Gutsche returning the ball with a nice overhand
7. A team huddle at the start of their matches

Roster: Tyler Burnett, Blake Daniel, Alex Gaines, Nicholas Gutsche, Austin Jones, Calvin Mark, Peter McDonald, Alex Sisk Coaches: John Officer - Head Coach (28th Season), John Moreland - Assistant Coach (12th Season), Jim Laitta - Vol Assistant Coach (Third Season)

7

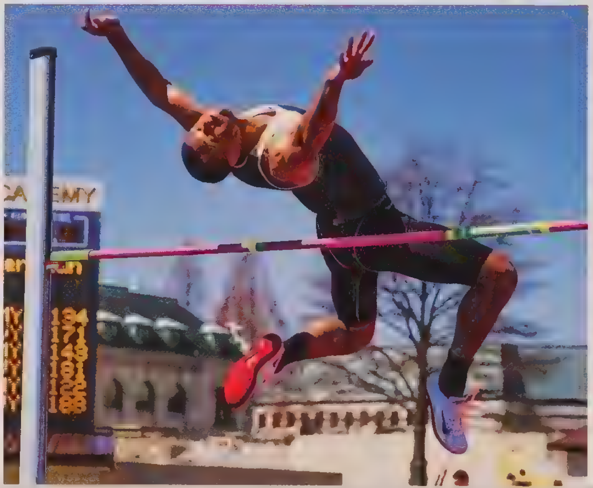
The Men's Tennis team beat Army 4-3 during the Patriot League Semifinals

SCORE BOARD

Old Dominion	L	0	4
Robert Morris	W	2	0
High Point	L	0	2
Delaware	T	1	1
Richmond	W	5	0
George Mason	W	2	1
Lafayette	W	4	2
Pittsburgh	W	3	1
Army	T	1	1
Bucknell	T	1	1
Lehigh	L	1	2
UMBC	L	1	2
American	L	2	3
Longwood	W	3	0
Holy Cross	L	1	2
Howard	W	3	1
Colgate	L	2	3

Track & Field

Roster Charles Alrasd Drew Anderson Austin Batiste Brett Boggara Greg Bohmke Tom Buffone Christopher Burns Jeremy Cadiente Drew Calcagno David Capote Alec Comito Mike Davis Brian De La Mora Matthew Deisner Thomas Delaney Josh Drablos Zach Duncavage Max Dunn Jeremy Duruji CJ Elward, Kyle Fortney Chris Fowler Christopher Galvin Ethan Genco Rico Goldstone Jeremy Granderson Jordan Gruber Caleb Haney Glen Harris Nathan Haynes Zach Hebda Dane Hubert Kai Hinton Jesse Horan Jeremy Jones John Kameen Evan Keele, Kolton Kempe Nestor Kerner, Joshua Kinasand Ryan Korkert Hans Leslie Logan Losee Justin Maguire Jes Manes Pat Mate Brandon McLain Alex Merrall Chris Meyer Andrew Might, Chris Miker Pand Montermin Tom Moore Cameron Morris Shane O'Donnell Ryan Pajor Nick Palermo Dane Park Robert Patterson Sam Peckham Derrick Petett John Rice, Sean Rynning, Nicholai Sarpy Jordan Sartor-Francis, Kyle Satterwhite, Steve Schroeder Isaac Sears Joshua Shaw Eric Shinkle Mitch Simmonds Kai Stell Tom Swanson John Sweeney Brandon [illegible]nder Jeremy Tripett Chris Troche Ron Vaughn Adam Vetere Mark Vetere Andrew Vondrak Aaron Zaic Coaches: Stephen Cooksey Head Coach Al Cantello - Assistant Coach Chris Lampone - Assistant Coach Jason Grimes - Volunteer Assistant Coach, Dave Larish - Volunteer Assistant Coach Rory Quiller - Volunteer Assistant Coach



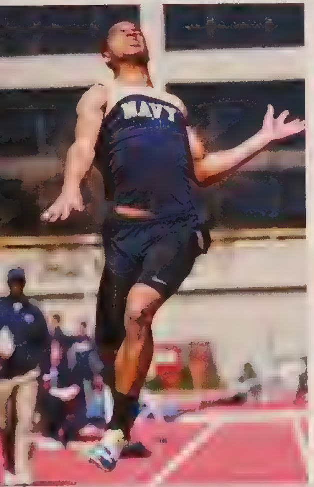
The Men's Track and Field team won the Indoor Patriot League Championship.

SCORE BOARD

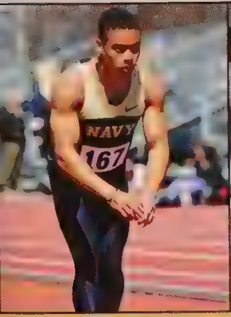
Princeton	W	91	89
Joint Meet		1st
Joint Meet		1st
Army	W	93	88
PLC		1st
IC4A		27th
Joint Meet		1st
Army	W	105	97
PLC		3rd

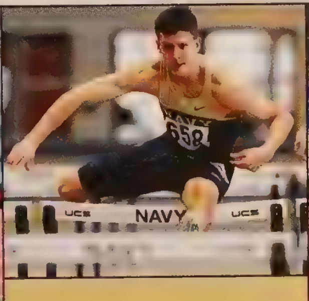
116
NAVY
182
124
NAVY
166
NAVY
183

The Men's Track and Field team had a wonderful season. The team beat Army at both the indoor and outdoor star meets. They also had top finishes at different Joint Meets throughout the season. Winning the Indoor Patriot League Championship, set them up to do well during their outdoor season. The team did equally well in the outdoor season. Outside of the scores, the team did well, in terms of earning honors. After the first day of the Outdoor Patriot League Championship, they were in 1st. However, they dropped to 3rd by the end. Multiple members of the team won weekly Patriot League honors. Some men on the team were honored by NAAA. Senior Christopher Galvin is a recipient of the NCAA Port-Graduate Scholarships. Sophomore Mark Vetere broke the schools pole vault record.



The Men's Track and Field team came in 3rd at the Outdoor Patriot League Championships and look good going into the Outdoor IC4A





The Navy Water Polo team had a very successful season. Their overall league record was 23-6. The team was top seed going into the Southern Division Tournament. Regrettably, they lost to Bucknell in the Semifinals and then Princeton to finish fourth. Going into their CWPA Eastern Tournament but did not get very far. Out of the pool, the team had a lot of success. Mladen Stanicic was promoted to Associate Head Coach. Senior Paul Pedrotty was named Honorable Mention All-American. Eight members of the team earned Academic Honors. The team is losing a lot of valuable seniors but it looking to have a great season next year.

1

2

3

The Navy Water Polo team earned the CWPA South Regular-Season title, with an overall record of 21-2.

Water Polo

4

5

1 MIDN 3/C Ari Heggeland trying to move the ball up the court

2 MIDN 2/C Pat Seppo avoiding a defender trying to pass the ball to one of his teammates

3 MIDN 3/C Thomas Patterson moving the ball up the pool

4 MIDN 2/C F. J. Taylor looking to move the ball away from the opposing team

5 MIDN 3/C Vikram Kanth protecting the goal

6 MIDN 3/C Lucas Maclellan trying to move the ball up the court to score

7 MIDN 3/C Carpenter Warren looking to pass the ball to one of his teammates

Roster: Eugene Chang Tyler Barker Ben Bondurant Vikram Kanth Beau Bayless Caleb Lintz Joseph Rodgers Garrett Labesky Jared Griffin Jackson Hummerdorf Andrew Lacosse Sean McDonald Tommy Schafer Taylor Setness Scotty Snowden Jack Finch Patrick Geer Matt Newby F. J. Taylor Thomas Allen Carl Dowzicky Steven Erdael Kiel Hoenig Lucas Maclellan Robert Sutherland Richard Thomas Carpenter Warren Ari Heggeland Coaches: Mike Schofield - Head Coach Vlader Stanicic - Associate Head Coach Lt. George Haughton - Vol. Assistant Coach

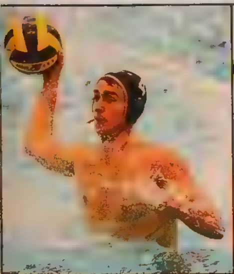
SCORE BOARD

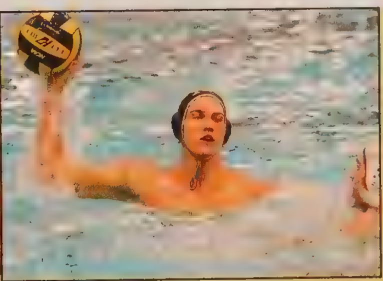
Gannon	W	25	5
Iona	W	18	13
Notre Dame (OH)	W	22	8
Cerritos	W	22	9
Notre Dame (OH)	W	26	7
Conn. College	W	25	7
Toronto	W	21	6
Penn St. Behrend	W	17	5
Fordham	W	19	6
Wash. & Jefferson	W	28	4
Bucknell	W	11	6
Princeton	W	13	10
Long Beach St.	L	15	7
Whittier	W	14	8
La Verne	W	19	6
Claremont-Mudd-Scripps	W	14	13
Redlands	W	17	14
Hopkins	L	14	13
GW	W	14	8
Princeton	W	14	13
Bucknell	W	17	11
GW	W	12	7
Hopkins	W	12	5
Gannon	W	14	4
Bucknell	L	13	11
Princeton	L	10	7
St. Fancis (NY)	L	14	10
MIT	W	21	9
Brown/Harvard	L	9	8

6

7

The Navy Water Polo named top seed for the Southern Division Tournament.

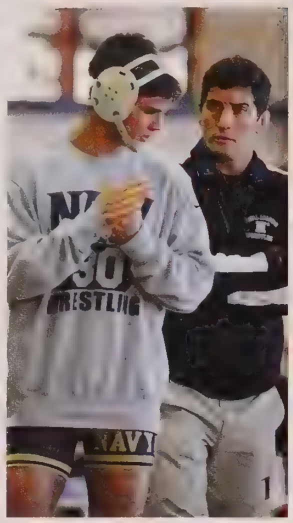




Navy Wrestling

1. Johnny Watson with Assistant Coach Brian Antonelli
2. MIDN 2/C Robert Davis at the beginning of a match
3. MIDN 2/C Jericho Jimenita during a match against George Mason
4. MIDN 2/C Patrick Prada in ready position
5. Praying in front of the Goat
6. Johnny Watson getting ready for a match
7. Firsties on the team

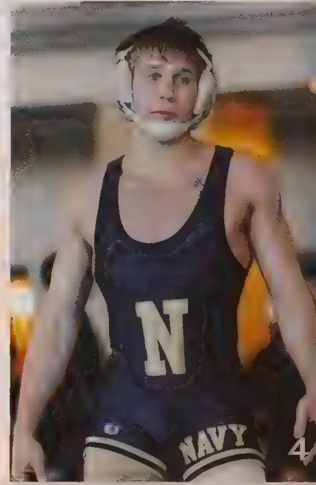
Roster: Gary Albright, Mason Bailey, Bobby Barnhisel, Zach Batten, Raymond Bura, Bobby Bura, Jonathan Clemente, Dylan Cook, Connor Coyle, Matt Cusack, Robert Davis, Trey Duncan, Mike Fox, Ryan Hedgcorth, Ben Hunter, Oscar Hunter, Matt Jackson, Alex Johnson, Zach Johnson, Brendan Kohler, [illegible], James Kerna, Morgan Kruk, Quentin Leadbetter, Ryan Lewandowski, [illegible], Michael Love, James Manner, Thomas Manning, Kevin Marvel, Jamie Marvel, Matt McCray, Dan Miller, Mathew Miller, Aaron Miller, Blake Peek, Patrick Prada, Paul Panus, Triston Rasche, Chance Rauscher, Luke Schaefer, Jake Scrivens, Albert Schultz, Isaiah Jordan, Matthew Summers, Jericho Jimenita, Tristan Van't Hof, [illegible] Wade, Fletcher Walsh, Sam Warner, Johnny Watson, Trout Watson, Zach White, [illegible] Wolfe Coaches: Bruce Burnett - Head Coach, Brian Antonelli - Assistant Coach, Mike Letts - Assistant Coach



SCORE BOARD

Navy Classic		2nd
Cliff Keen Vegas Invl		20th
		10th
George Mason		33	4
S. Scuffle		11th
		12th
Lehigh	L	19	15
Maryland	W	22	18
N. Carolina	L	27	6
Rutgers	W	19	15
All Academy		1st
American	W	32	9
Army	W	22	10
EIWA		2nd
EIWA		2nd
NCAA		T51st
NCAA		149th

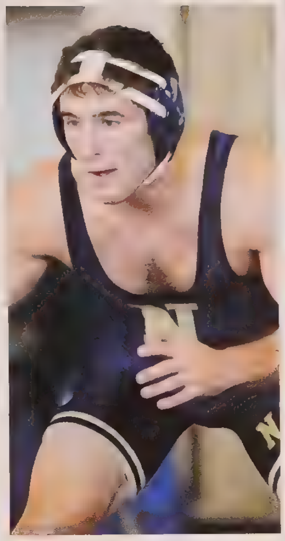
NAVY
MASON
3



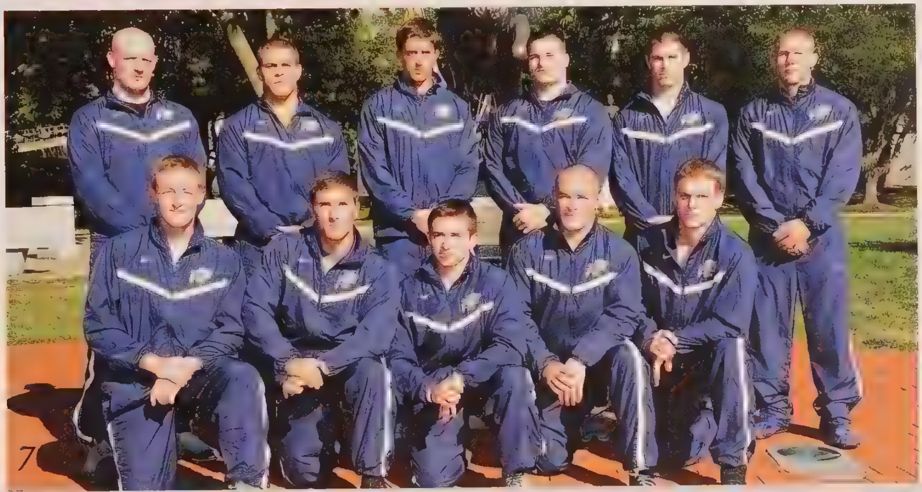
The Navy Mids won the All Academy Championship for the fourth year in a row.

5

The Navy Wrestling team a had very strong season. They had top finishes throughout the season at tournaments they participated in. They beat Army 22-10. They defended their All-Academy Championship for the fourth year in a row. They came in 2nd at the EWIC Tournament earning a bid to the NCAA Tournament. Off the mats, the team had alumni of the team earn huge honors. Ken Berger and Joseph Schmitz was inducted into the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.

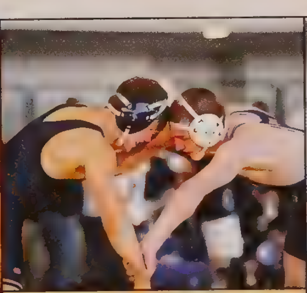


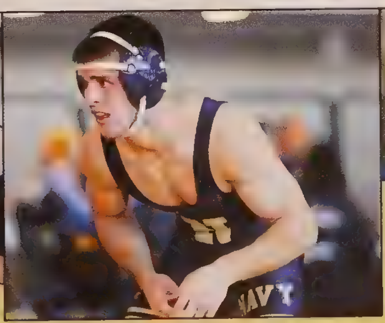
6

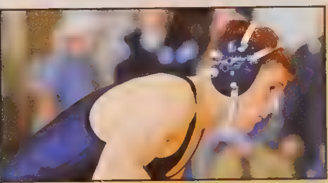


7

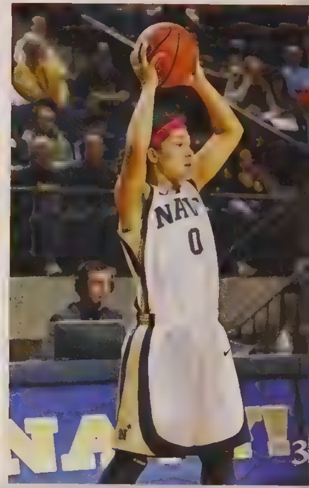
The Mids got 2nd at the EIWA Tournament, earning a bid to the NCAA Tournament where they placed 49th of 72 teams



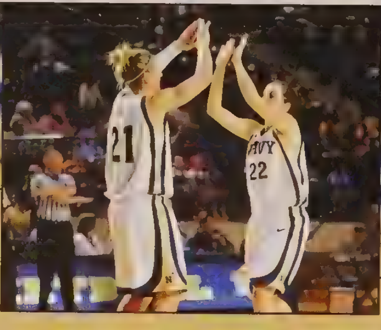


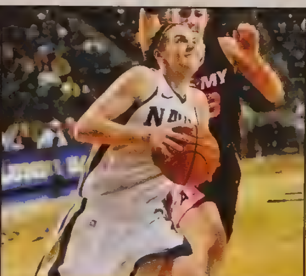


The Women's Basketball team had another successful season. In the last three years the team has had strong showing throughout the season. They have won the last three Patriot League Championships. They have also qualified for the NCAA Tournament in two of the last three years. This is a huge accomplishment. Though they have not made it past the first round in the NCAA Tournament, it is still very impressive. Going into next year, the team will have a lot of strong players on their roster. They are looking to make it four Patriot League Titles and earn a bid to the NCAA Tournament.



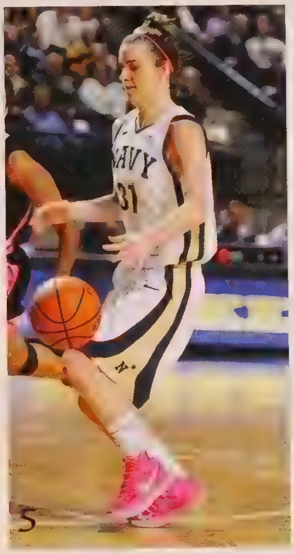
The team won their third consecutive Patriot League Championship earning a bid to the NCAA Tournament.





Women's Basketball

4



5

1. MIDN 2/C Mi Morrison getting [illegible] the ball when trapped [illegible] Army players.
2. The team gathered for some coaching.
3. MIDN 2/C [illegible] Membreno trying to get the ball in bounds.
4. A picture of the team singing Blue and Gold after competing a game.
5. MIDN 2/C Erin Meador moving the ball up the court.
6. MIDN 2/C Audrey Bauer moving the ball up the court.
7. The team in a huddle.

Roster: Ali Membreno, Ajia [illegible], [illegible] Berna[illegible], Rebecca Richmond, [illegible], Audrey Bauer, [illegible], Chloe Stapleton, Theresa Terry, Mi Morrison, Erin Meador, [illegible] Pollinger, [illegible] Himlin Coaches: Stefanie Pemper, Head Coach, [illegible] Harrington, Assistant Coach, [illegible] Harris, Assoc Head Coach Recruiting Coord, Alison Montgomery, Assistant Coach

SCORE BOARD

Iona	L	74	64
Stony Brook	L	44	40
St. Peter's	W	64	53
Loyola	W	71	60
UC Davis	L	66	63
Jackson St	W	72	48
Air Force	W	60	36
E. Carolina	W	57	48
High Point	L	63	47
William & Mary	W	69	64
Mt. St. Mary's	L	53	45
Marquette	L	73	65
Marshall	W	67	51
Richmond	L	65	59
Princeton	L	70	50
Lafayette	W	62	44
Holy Cross	W	60	47
Army	L	53	42
American	W	61	42
Colgate	W	59	43
Lehigh	W	72	47
Bucknell	W	61	40
Lafayette	W	60	52
Holy Cross	W	59	35
Army	L	48	40
American	W	52	42
Colgate	W	63	48
Lehigh	W	49	34
Bucknell	L	55	48
Lafayette	W	59	55
Bucknell	W	60	48
Holy Cross	W	72	53
Kentucky	L	61	41

6

The Navy Women's team was sent to the Big Apple for March Madness.

Women's Crew

1 Ensign Mikey Briotta being carried by MIDN 2/C Katherine Ashton and Catherine Oakey

2 MIDN 1/C Lauren McCann, plebe Alison Kennedy, MIDN 2/C Rebecca Frenchter and Plebe Darby Nelson rowing in an eight

3 MIDN 4/C Jessy Turner, MIDN 2/C Anastasia Ioane, MIDN 4/C Shelby Taylor and MIDN 3/C Kaitlin Deppe rowing

4 MIDN 4/C Katie Dunn and Ensign Kerri Bortz enjoying a workout on the water

5 MIDN 1/C Lauren McCann rowing on the Severn [illegible] and plebes Jenny Burger, Emily Philips, Taylor Georgia, Kristen Carpenter and Becca [illegible]

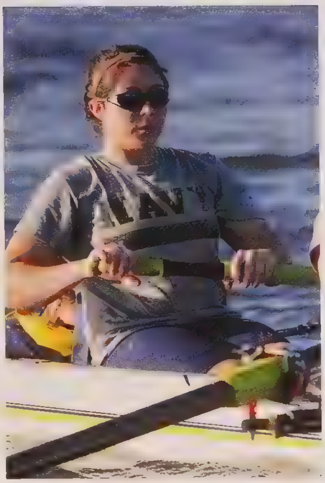
7 The team posing on the hanger

Roster Katherine Ashton, A[illegible] Bennett, Michaela Briotta, Kerri Bortz, Virginia Brodie, [illegible]aron Bryant, Heather B[illegible], Jacqueline [illegible], Kaitlin Deppe, Frances Defree, Hannah Elaine, Jacqueline Fisher, Rebecca Freinchter, Molly Hanna, Emily Hornberger, Anastasia Ioane, Alison Kennedy, Brooke Macinc, [illegible] Master, Lauren McCann, Marina Narantowich, Darby Nelson, Katherine Oakey, Jacqueline Penicher, Katie [illegible] Tifton, Camila [illegible], Jessy Turner, Shelby Taylor, [illegible] Veenberg Coaches Mike Hughes, Head Coach; Nicole Thompson, Assistant Varsity, Head Novice Coach

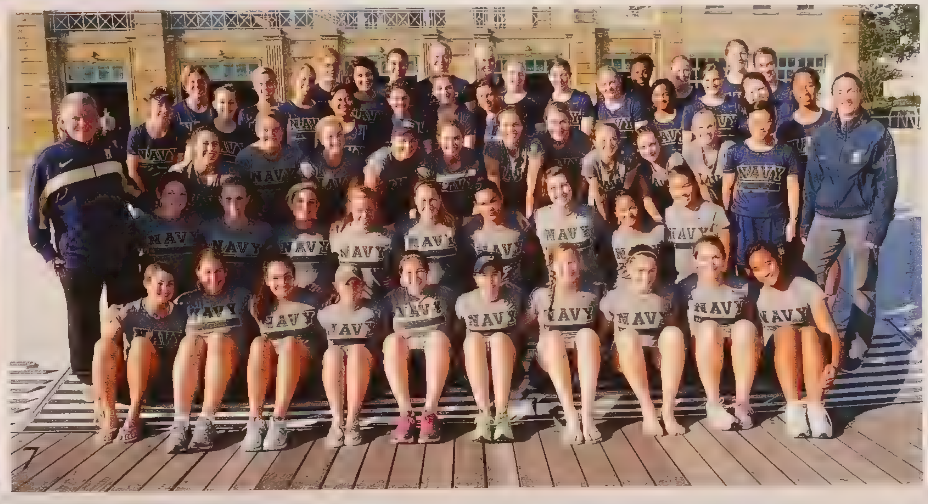
SCORE BOARD

Navy Day Regatta	1st
Head of the Charles	37th
Head of the Schuylkill	2nd
Head of the Occoquan	2nd
Murphy Cup Regatta	1st
Occoquan Sprints	1st
George Wash. Invtl.	2-0
St. Joseph's, Rutgers	2-0
EAWRC Sprints	4th
Patriot League Champ	1st
NCAA Champ	20th

The girls putting the boat in prior to racing, carrying up oars after docking and huddle together after a win

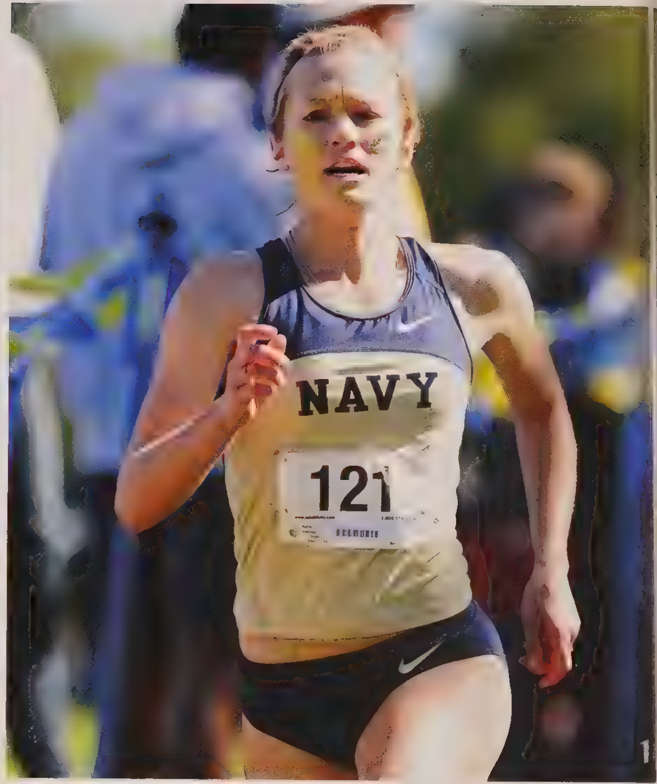


Navy Women's Crew has performed the best it ever has. From 4/C to 1/C, we have never been faster or stronger. The focus and unity of this team derives from the strong foundation of support and friendship between every rower and coxswain. Our hard work and dedication during the fall and winter seasons and training trip during Spring Break have prepared us for our spring championship season. We decide to get faster everyday and know that we are Patriot League Champions.



The women hanging out after a race in Washington DC and celebrating a first place win afterwards.

The Women's Cross Country Team had a successful season. With having strong showings throughout the season, the team set themselves up well for the Patriot League Tournament. The team won the Patriot League Tournament. The team went to the NCAA Mid Atlantic Regional Tournament and placed 7th. Sophomore Annie-Norah Beveridge received a bid to the NCAA Cross Country Championship. Many members of the team received awards throughout the season. Twelve members of the landed on the Patriot Academic Honor Roll. Team members also won other various awards during the season.



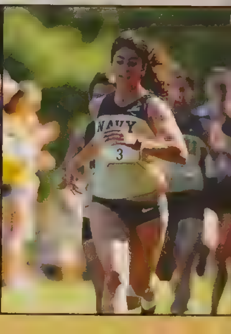
1

PATRIOT LEAGUE

2

3

MIDN 1/C Brigid Bryne was named Patriot League Women's Cross Country Scholar Athlete of the Year.



Women's Cross Country

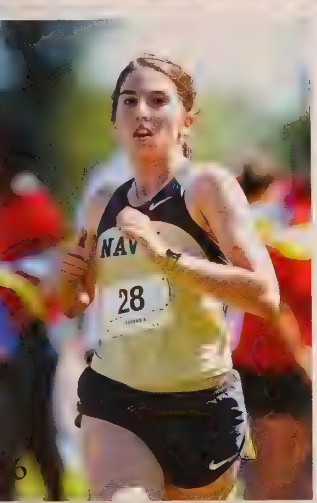
4

5

1 Plebe Amanda Mulkey coming into the finish
2 The team after winning the Patriot League Championships
3 MIDN 3/C Nikki Funkhauser during a race
4 Team picture with the coaching staff and military support
5 Huddled up before the start the Patriot League race
6 Plebe Chloe Whitworth during a race
7 The girls coming down the home stretch
Roster Maria [illegible] Amone, Annie-Norah Beveridge, Jacqueline Blackburn, Christina Blan[illegible], Aimee Brenner, Brigid Byrne, Samantha Carl, Shannon Cuthbert, Margo Darragh, Nikki Funkhauser, Autumn Grebis, Meghan Harvey, Emily Jenner, Mary Jordan, Ashley Krulik, Dale Lescher, Joanna M[illegible]o, Paige M[illegible]e, Amanda Mulkey, Michelle Nelson, Morgan [illegible], [illegible], Kelley Robinson, Rachel Slater, Catherine Stark, Zofia Stark, Ashley Welker, Chloe Whitworth Coach: Karen Boyle - Head Coach

SCORE BOARD

Harry Lang Invtl	3rd
Harry Groves Invtl	3rd
Salty Dog Invtl	1st
Toledo Bubble Invtl	10th
Paul Short Invtl	10th
Army	W 20-40
Pat. League Champ	1st
NCAA Champ	7th



6

7

Brigid Bryne and Annie-Norah Beveridge were voted to the Academic All-Patriot League Team

Women's Lax

MIDN 3/C Casey Browne moving the ball up the field

2 Firstie Charlotte Hauser clearing the ball after saving it

3 MIDN 1/C Beth Young running onto the field after getting announced for the starting team

4 Winding up to take a shot

5 MIDN 2/C Jill Coughlin running onto the field after getting announced for the starting team

6 The girls on the sidelines during practice

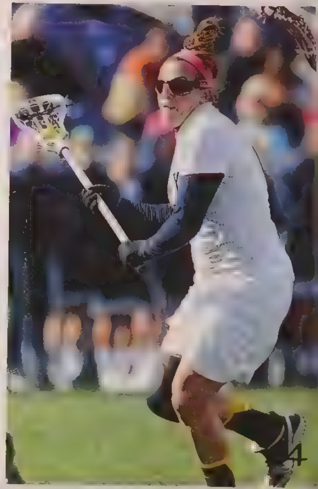
7 The team, coaching staff and military support

Roster Reese Henshaw, Alex Pizzo, Casey Browne, Jess Fellows, Molly Doyle, Lindsay Rheiner, Cori Muller, Kim Dennis, Karan George, Miranda Beal, Meredith Martin, Lizzy Rutan, Loren Gener, Molly Hamilton, Morgan O'Brien, Emily Meyer, [illegible] Jasmine DePompeo, Erin Walsh, Aimee Bennington, Katie Gallagher, Kelsey O'Brien, Lauren Hanover, Beth Young, Alexis Ewing, Melissa Steller, Molly McNamara, Cara Pastrana, Jill Coughlin, Annie Foley, Danielle Abad, Sara Nardone, Kathy Young, Brijet Mall, Charlotte Hauser, Cassidy Chaney

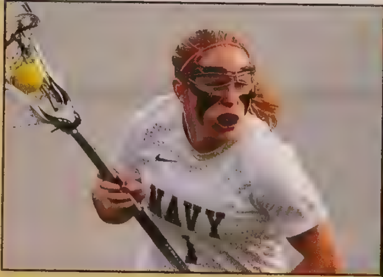
Coaches: Cindy Timchal - Head Coach, Allison Fondale - Associate Head Coach, Corey Donohoe - Assistant Coach, Kristin Atkinson - Volunteer Assistant, Liz Schattner - Director of Lacrosse Operations

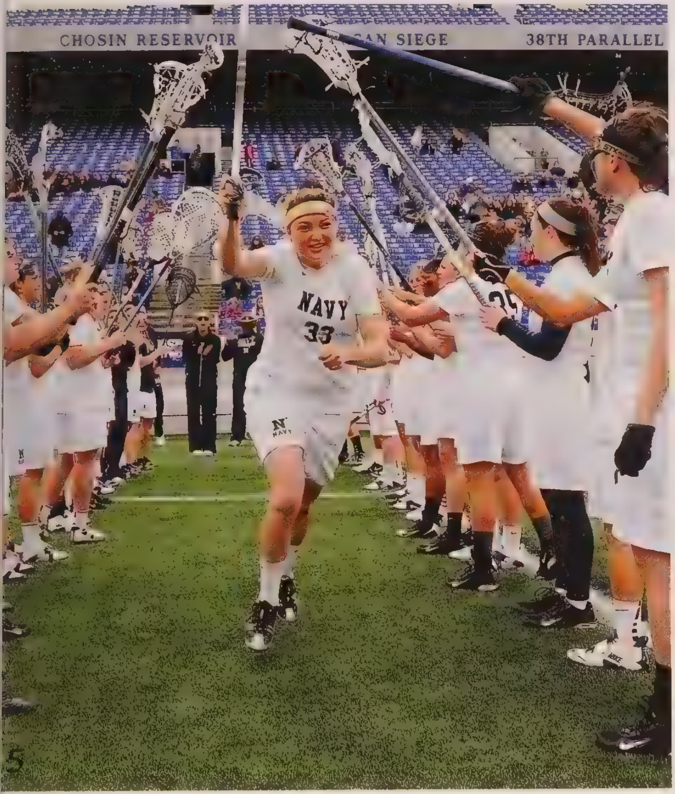
SCORE BOARD

Japan	W	16-12
Winthrop	W	23-4
Liberty	W	15-7
High Point	W	15-6
Monmouth	W	16-4
Richmond	W	12-8
Lehigh	W	14-4
Northwestern	L	15-12
New Hampshire	W	11-10 (OT)
Bucknell	W	9-3
GW	W	9-6
Lafayette	W	15-8
UC Davis	W	19-11
Longwood	W	19-9
Holy Cross	W	15-5
Colgate	W	12-6
Jacksonville	W	13-12 (2OT)
American	W	11-10 (2OT)
Lafayette	W	9-8
Holy Cross	W	14-4
Monmouth	W	12-6
Duke	L	10-5



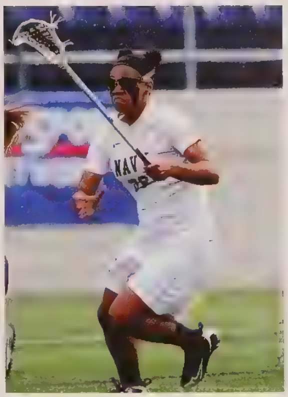
MIDN 1/C Jasmine DePompeo was named a Tewaaraton Award nominee first in Navy history





5

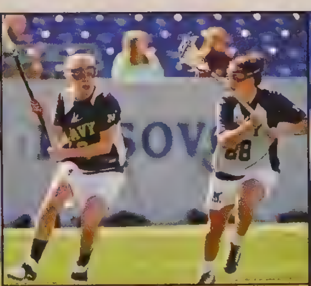
The Navy Women's Lacrosse team had a very successful season. With a strong showing throughout the season, the team won a regular season title. This earned them a seed to the Patriot League Tournament. The team went on to win the Patriot League Tournament and earned themselves a seed in the NCAA Tournament. Some other highlights of the season were when many members of the team and coaching staff earned awards. DePompeo, Foky and Coach Timchal earned Year-End Conference Awards. Multiple players earned Patriot League Weekly Honors. DePompeo was named a Tewaaraton Award Nominee. The team looks very strong going into the NCAA Tournament.

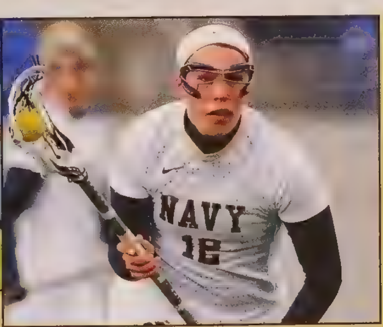


6

7

The team won the regular season title and claimed their fourth straight Patriot League Title





The Navy Women's Soccer Team had a very successful season. Their regular season record was 18-1-1. They went into the Patriot League Tournament with a strong chance of winning the tournament. In the first game, Perexe's hat trick sent the team to the finals. In the finals, the team fell to Colgate in a very close game. Though there was disappointment during the tournament the team had a strong showing off the field. Coach Carin Gabarra was named the Patriot League Coach of the Year. Elizabeth Hoerner was name Patriot League Goalkeeper of the Year. Jade Seabrook was named Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year. The team earned NSCAA Team Ethics Award. Eight members of the team were placed on the Patriot League Academic Honor Roll.

2

3

Elizabeth Hoerner was named to the NSCAA Scholar All-East REgion First Team and received NSCAA Scholar All-American Honors

Women's Soccer

1 Plebe Kaylie Davidson fighting for a header
2 The team, their coaching staff and military support
3 MIDN 3/C Morgan Dankanich moving the ball up the field
4 MIDN 2/C Elizabeth Hoerner protecting the goal
5 Plebe Caprice Kelty trying to avoid a side tackle
6 MIDN 2/C Emily Wilkin moving the ball up the field
7 MIDN 3/C Jade Seabrook getting ready to pass the ball

Roster: Elizabeth Hoerner, Alexes Lopez-Shaw, Rache Hunter, Amy Pearson, Kelsey Learned, KD Woolard, Sam Niewhaller, Lili Kraemer, Sarah Martella, Ashlynn Spreiner, Emily Wilkin, Lizzy Fullar, Kaylie Davidson, Taylor Bintye, Julie Schumacher, Paloma Perez, Jade Seabrook, Brittany Frum, Caprice Kelty, Lexi Ricketts, Morgan Dankanich, Nikki Peterson, Britta Vizard, Fullar Puppolo, Kahra Kelty, Jayne Woolard, Gabby McIntyre, Kalli Schulz Coaches: Carin Gabarra - Head Coach, Rob Blanck - Associate Head Coach, Dustin Shambach - Assistant Coach

6

7

Elizabeth Hoerner and Jade Seabrook earned Womens Soccer All-Region Honors

SCORE BOARD

Maryland	L	0-3
UMBC	W	2-1
USC Upstate	W	6-0
George Mason	W	3-2
Jacksonville	W	2-1
N. Florida	W	5-3
Rider	W	3-0
Towson	W	2-1
James Madison	W	3-2
VMI	W	5-0
Boise State	W	2-1
Howard	W	3-0
American	W	1-0
Mt. St. Mary's	W	5-0
Lafayette	W	3-2
Lehigh	W	1-0 (OT)
Colgate	T	1-1
Army	W	1-0
Holy Cross	W	2-1
Bucknell	W	1-0

Patriot League Tournament

Lehigh	W	4-1
Colgate	L	1-0

Women's Swimming

1 Keilie Darmody swimming backstroke
2 The entire women's team after receiving the trophy for winning the Army-Navy meet for the 24th year in a row
3 The team after finishing a tough Saturday morning circuit
4 Konnor Rist, Morgan Nassif, Lauren Baguley at the Army-Navy meet
5 The Firsties of the team
6 Ange Sawick after finishing a distance freestyle event
7 The team posing for the team poster

Roster: Jenn Abbott, Lauren Baguley, Brianna Bilunas, Melissa Boughton, Ellen Bradford, Sam Brennan, Emily Brown, Cat Cortesio, Keilie Darmody, Katie Davidson, Kristine Doan, Rachael Dudley, Laura [illegible], [illegible] Hernandez, [illegible], [illegible], Lundgren, Maddie Macfarlane, Zoe Macfarlane, Morgan Nassif, Patricia Neno, Jordyn Nicholl, Haley Nowak, Toni Paruso, Colleen Randolph, Danielle Reminger, Megan Reutzer, Konnor Rist, Stephanie Ross, Emily Saitta, Ange Sawick, Keely [illegible], [illegible] Skaggs, Kirstin Spann, Amanda Thach, Maria Thompson, Sarah Truskot, Rheanna Vaughn, Katie Young Coaches: John Morrison - Head Coach, Rob Lias Jr - Assistant Coach, Joe Suriano - Diving Coach

1

Score Board

George Mason	W	192	96
Loyola	W	196	95
UMBC	W	164	136
Virginia	L	118	168
American	W	220	61
Bucknell	W	185	113
Nike Cup-1		2nd of 6
Nike Cup-2		3rd of 8
Nike Cup-3		4th of 8
Army	W	207	93
N. Carolina	L	84	213
Penn State	L	107	185
Johns Hopkins	W	127	93

Patriot League Championship

PLC-1	1st of 8
PLC-2	1st of 8
PLC-3	1st of 8

ECAC Championship

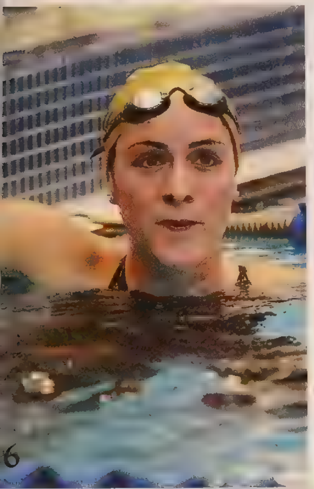
6th

3

4

The Navy Womens Swimming team won the Patriot League Championship

Navy Women's Swimming had a really great year. Despite the pool closings, we still had a reason to cheer! From Loyola, to Virginia , to Chapel Hill you know they'll be running when Navy yells "kill!" Another win over Army to make it twenty four. And as Patriot League Champions we ran up the score. Along with the score, other things 'ran' too, from our legs, to our noses, even the ceiling pipes...ew. Sprints, distance, hypoxic and power-towers. All at frigid temperatures and early morning hours. Fantastic 1/C lead our team through tough times. Their guidance and hard work made our team shine. The team is quick, curious, playful and strong. These Ladies of Lejeune know where they belong. Together we do more then just swim. A family, sisters, there's no way we can't win.



6

7

The Navy Women's Swimming team won the Army-Navy meet, beating Army for the 24rd year in a row

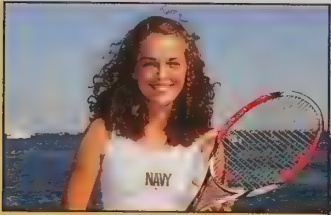
NWSD
NWSD
NWSD

The Navy Women's Tennis Team had a great season. Coming to the end of regular season they had an overall record of 22-4. This record was a tie to the school record for most wins. The last match of the season was against Loyola and there was a 7-0 sweep. With a strong record, the team earned the No. 2 seed for the Patriot League Tournament. the team headed to Patriots in search for their first League Title, having come in second the last two years. In the first two rounds the team came out with victories. In the last round, against Army, the team lost 4-1. Senior Emani Dequir was named the Patriot League Women's Tennis player of the month. Dequir and DePompeo were featured in the Navy Sports Magazine.

2

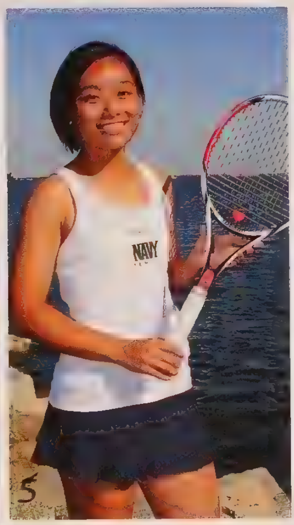
3

The Navy Women's Tennis Team set a new school record with 23 victories surpassing the record of 22 victories set in 2011.



Women's Tennis

4



5

1 Plebe Tracy Thorsell after returning the ball
2 The team with the coaching staff
3 Plebe Logan Antil getting ready to serve the ball
4 Plebe Mikaela Carlson returning the ball
5 Plebe Vivian Chau
6 Plebe Katie Forter
7 Firstie Emani Dequir returning return the ball

Roster: Logan Antil, Mikaela Carlson, Vivian Chau, Diye Das, Emani Dequir, Jan Droop, Cassandra Fisbeck, Noelle Kaufmann, Carrie Laskey, Katie Forter, Lauren Sears, Erin Snook, Tracy Thorsell, Stefanie Tan, Gabby Winter, Kristy You Coaches: Keith Puryear - Head Coach, Alessandra Pedergnana - Assistant Coach, Carmen Jackman - Vol Assistant Coach

6

7

MIDN 1/C Emani Dequir was named March's Patriot League Women's Tennis Player of the Month.

SCORE BOARD

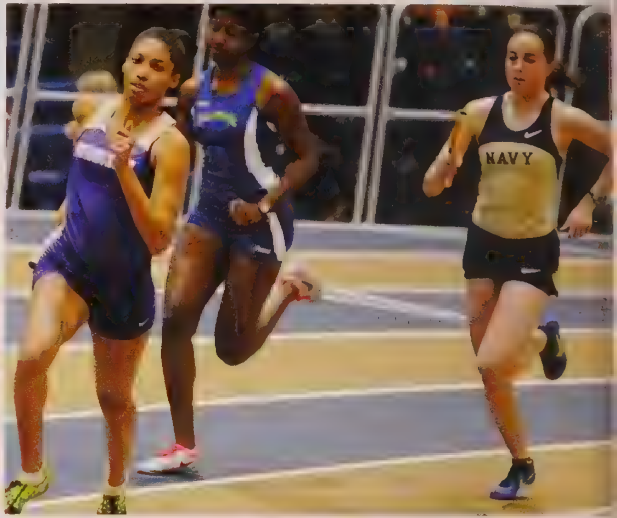
St. Francis (PA)	W	7-0
Virginia Tech	L	6-1
St. Joseph's	L	5-2
St. Bonaventure	W	7-0
Syracuse	L	6-1
Villanova	W	5-2
George Mason	W	7-0
Morgan State	W	4-3
Longwood	W	6-1
Coppin State	W	7-0
Manhattan	W	7-0
Richmond	W	6-1
James Madison	W	4-3
Drexel	W	4-3
Seton Hall	W	4-3
Howard	W	5-2
Jackson State	W	6-1
Quinnipiac	W	4-3
Swarthmore	W	6-1
Delaware	W	5-2
Bucknell	W	7-0
Colgate	W	7-0
Army	L	6-1
Towson	W	6-1
Lafayette	W	7-0
Lehigh	W	6-1
Loyola	W	7-0

Patriot League Tournament

Lafayette	W	4-0
Bucknell	W	4-0
Army	L	4-1

Women's Track

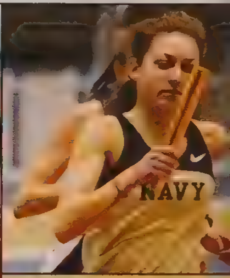
Roster: Lindsey Adams Lauren Allam Maria Arnone Sarah Barnum Sarah Bernhardt Annie [illegible] Beveridge Jacqueline Blackburn Christina Blair Katie Braun Aimee Brenner Teronda Brown Brigid Byrne [illegible] Angie Cleveland Shannon Cuthbert Margo [illegible] Mara [illegible] Natasha Druggar Veronica Ffrench Caitlin Fine Anna Funkhauser Frankie Gale Amanda Graham Maressa [illegible] Meghan Harvey Sarah Hutchinson Sam Irsik Emily Jensen Mary Jordan Jordan Kronshage Ashley Krulik [illegible] Leary Dale Lescher Kristen Liggett Arabia [illegible] Breeda [illegible] Kristan [illegible] Alix Membreno Paige Miller Amanda Mulkey Michelle Nelson Samantha Newhaller [illegible] Beth [illegible] Stephanie Payne Kathryn Quandt Jessica Ridgway Kelley Robinson Elizabeth Rodes Ashley Ross Eli Rubin Christina [illegible] Rachel Slater Melanie Sluzewicz [illegible] Smith Michelle Soto Marissa Stewart Ashley Walker Katie Whitcombe Madeline Zeti Coaches: [illegible] - Head Coach Karen Boyle - Assistant Coach Steven Sarigiannis - Assistant Coach Rory Quiller - Volunteer Assistant Coach



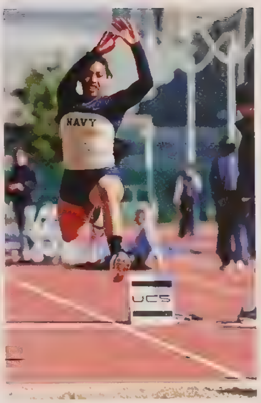
SCORE BOARD

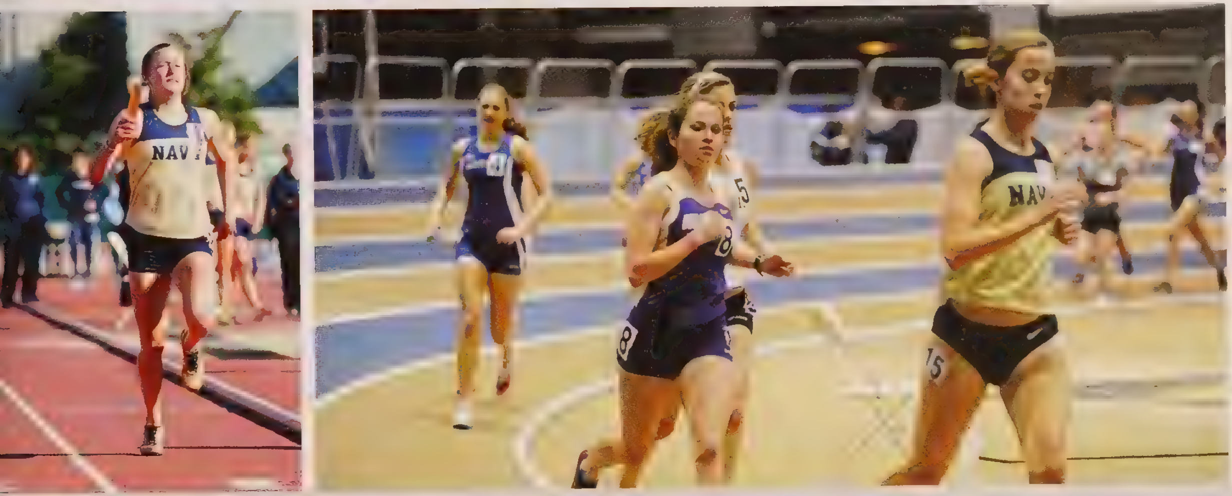
Navy Lid Lifter	1st of 8
Navy Invtl	1st of 6
Army	W 97-84
Navy Madness	1st of 5
Patriot League Champ
PLC	5th of 8
PLC	3rd of 8
PLC	2nd of 8
PLC	3rd of 8
PLC	2nd of 8
ECAC Championship
ECAC	T-27th
ECAC	T-51st
ECAC	T-18th
Army	W 107-96

MIDN 1/C Brigid Bryne was selected as the Patriot League Womens Track and Field Athlete of the Week

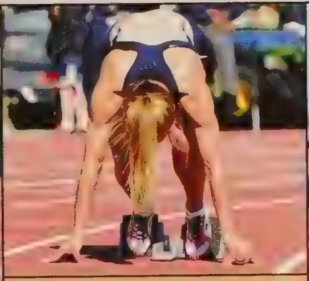


The Women's Track team had a very successful season. They has top finishes at The Navy Lid Lifter, the Navy Invitational and the Navy Multi-Madness during the Indoor Track season. To finish off the season they placed 2nd at the Indoor Patriot League Championship and tied for 51st at ECAC. Going into the outdoor season the team came in 2nd at the Outdoor Patriot League Championships. They also had a few Mids earning honors at this meet. They beat Army at both the indoor and outdoor star meets. The team looks very solid going into the final few events of the season. Coming up the team with be competing at ECACs, NCAA Regional and NCAA Champs.

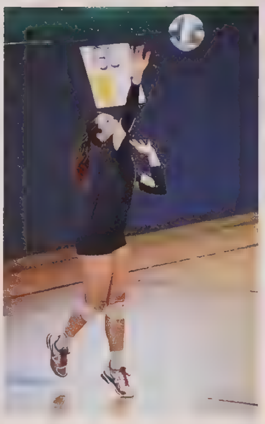




Brigid Bryne and Alix Membreno won titles on Day One of the Patriot League Outdoor Championship

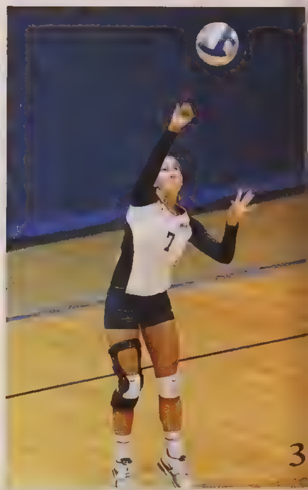


The team had a tough season which they fought all the way to the end. There were ups and downs through out the season. Coming towards the end of the season, they were tied for 4th in the Patriot League. It came down to the last game in which Colgate beat Navy. This prevented the team from making it to the Patriot League Tournament. However, there were some ups in during the season. Freshman Alex Karika was awarded the Molten Patriot League Rookie-of-the-Week award. Junior Erin Fortner earned First-Team All-Patriot League honors. Alex Karika received Second-Team All-League honors. Erin Fortner was named to the Patriot League All-Academic Team.



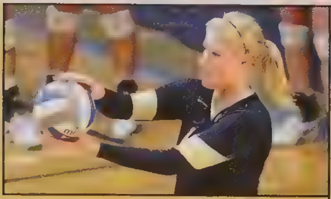
1

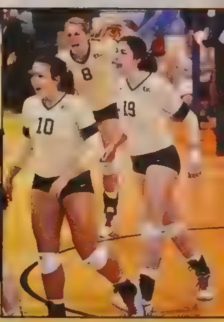
2



3

Eight Midshipmen were among the 71 volleyball players were named to the Patriot League Academic Honor Roll.





Navy Volleyball

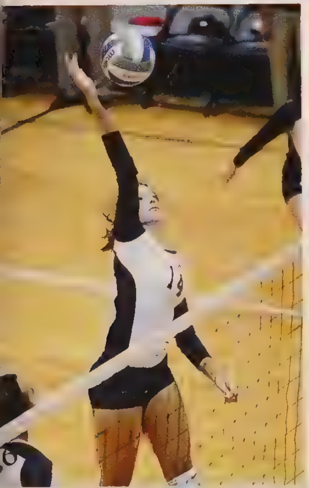
5

1 Another Navy Volleyball victor
2 Some last minute coaching before starting a game
3 Plebe Jamie Francona serving the ball
4 A picture of some of the girls celebrating after winning a point
5 Bumping the ball to get it over the net
6 Plebe Star Steele clearing the ball over the net
7 Plebe Alex Karika setting the ball for her teammate

Roster Christy Papp, B Loomis, Olivia Teager, Eleanor Deroun, Carolyn Ewert, Star Steele, Jamie Francona, Kelsey Owen, Maeve Drummey, Alex Karika, Brett Lesko, Erin Fortner, Camille Condit, Alex Cassel, Mallory Shelton, Frankie Emanuele, Caroline Jacobs, Tase Trimble, Katie Szarowski
Coaches Larry Bock - Head Coach, Matt Hazard - Assistant Coach (Second Season)

SCORE BOARD

Hartford	W	3-2
Norfolk State	L	3-1
Nebraska-Omaha	L	3-0
Niagara	L	3-2
West Virginia	L	3-0
S. Carolina	L	3-0
George Mason	W	3-1
Air Force	L	3-2
Denver	L	3-1
The Citadel	W	3-1
Temple	L	3-0
Central Conn.	W	3-0
Holy Cross	W	3-0
Army	L	3-1
Lehigh	W	3-2
Lafayette	W	3-2
American	L	3-2
Colgate	L	3-0
Bucknell	W	3-0
Army	L	3-0
Holy Cross	W	3-0
American	L	3-1
Lafayette	W	3-0
Lehigh	L	3-0
Bucknell	W	3-2
Colgate	L	3-1

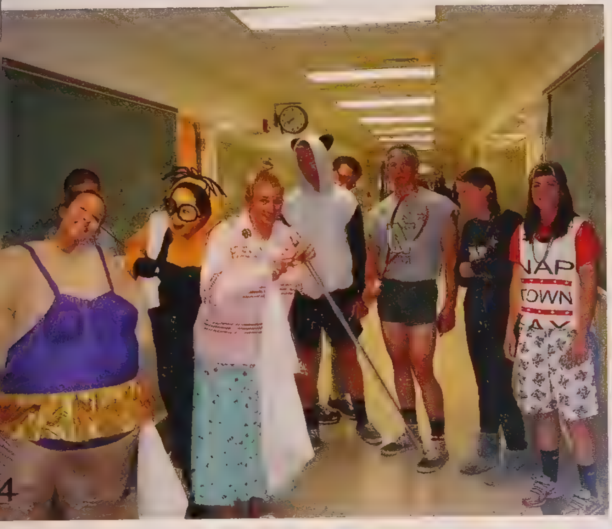


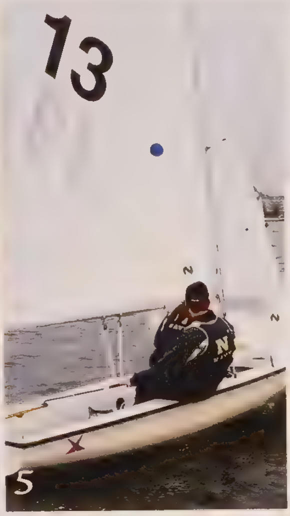
Plebe Alex Karika and MIDN 2/C Erin Fortner earned All-League Honors.

The Intercollegiate Sailing team has had a great year. To start off the season, the team sent ENS Jason Carminati, Taylor Vann, Killian Corbishley and Phil Youngberg to France for the World University Games to represent the USA and USNA. They sent two Mids, Marissa Lihan and Mary Hall, to the Women's Singlehandeds National Championship. They qualified for all three spring national championships; Women's, Team Racing and Coed. Jocelynn Knudsen, Michael Grove, Glenn Mckenna and Mary Hall were voted onto the All-MAISA team. With solid finishes throughout the season, the team looks great going into their national championship regattas.

The Coed team is ranked 14th in the country for fleet racing and 9th in the country for team racing going into nationals.

Intercollegiate Sailing





1 MIDN 3/C Mary Hall and MIDN 2/C Glenn McKenna sailing B division at Trux
2 MIDN 1/C Jocelynn Knudsen and MIDN 2/C Michael Grove starting a roll tack
3 The Womens team at the US Coast Guard Academy for the Emily Wick Trophy
4 Some of the team members dressed up and trick-or-treating for Halloween
5 MIDN 2/C Michael Grove and Firstie Jocelynn Knudsen sailing in A division at Trux
6 MIDN 3/C Mary Hall and MIDN 2/C Glenn McKenna sailing in B Division for Trux
7 The Firsties posing in front of a boat for their senior picture

Roster: Alex Asuncion, Sara Blake, Killian Corbishley, Markus Edegran, Alyson Eng, Emma Ferris, Michael Grove, Mary Hall, Connor Hend Megan Hough, Aaron Hull, Marissa Linan, Glenn McKenna, Laura McKenna, Julie Miller, Elizabeth Morrison, Charlie Peck, Michael Popp, Samantha Rosales, Chelsea Smith, Connor Timmins, Karen Vargas, Philip Youngberg Coaches: Ian Burman - Head Coach, Brendan Healy - Assistant Coach, Lt Ben Herring USN - Assistant Coach

The Women's team goes into their national championship ranked 3rd in the nation.

Offshore Sailing

1 One of the Navy 44s going up wind getting ready to raise a jib

2 A Navy 44 bearing off to set a spinnaker

3 A Navy 44 sailing downwind with a crew hard at work

4 Another Navy 44 Sailing downwind

5 A Navy 44 sailing downwind in the Severn River

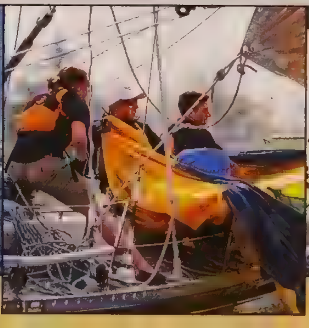
6 A Navy 44 bearing away after setting the spinnaker

7 A side view of a Navy 44 going upwind with some of the crew sitting on the rail

Roster Marc [illegible] Andrew Berner Alex Bledsoe Michael Calnan Alexa [illegible] Brandt Clemons Cameron [illegible] Aaron Dougherty, Jonathan [illegible] Josh Ferragas Gregory Gerrish Zach Gober Lauren Hoke Nathan Howe Charlie Johnson Ethan Madison Duncan Marner Tyler Martenstein Chris [illegible] Howard McNabe Paul McCoy Neil McMahon Nigel Mosley Kevin Nunez Padraig O'Brien Stefan Schmidt Barney Schmidtke Samuel [illegible] Gabriel Tang Roscoe Thomas Max Tucker Trevor [illegible] John [illegible] Andrew Woods Coaches: John Tihansky - Head Coach Pete Carrico - Assistant Coach Nancy Haberland - Jr. Coach LT Doug Weatherhead - Operations Officer

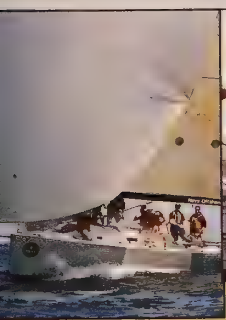
The Offshore Sailing Team did a wonderful job as the parade back drop for the fall and the spring.

Navy Offshore Sailing
Dolphin



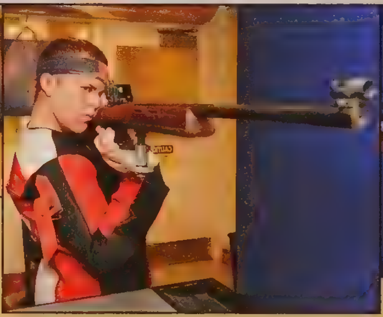
The Offshore Sailing team had a very successful year. The team competed in many events throughout the summer, fall and the spring. They sent a team to compete at an event in France. A 7th place finish at the Port of Los Angeles Harbor Cup against other college sailing teams. A huge accomplishment of this season for the team was having their coach, Jahn Tihansky, being named USNA Foundation Fall Coach of the Year. The team is looking forward to a good summer of sailing and getting ready to compete at many different venues.

The team is looking forward to coming in the fall to compete against other college sailing teams for the Kenneay Cup.



The Navy Rifle Team had a tough year. The season started off strong with a 1st in the MAC Tournament and beating USP. After that they had tough time with a 3rd in the President's Trophy. Then there was a lost to the No. 2 seed Kentucky. Getting some steam back they went on to win 2 matches against USP. After that the team faced a few rough teams. With close loses to Army and Ole Miss. The last meet of the season was the NCAA Qualifier. With a win over John Jays at the NCAA Qualifier, the team has a shot at the NCAA Championship. Regrettably, they did not make the cut. However, there were some ups in the season with members of the team winning NRA and All-Conference honors.

MIDN 1/C Ryan Williams and MIDN 2/C Steven Frazier were named first-team All-Conference in both small bore and air rifle



Rifle Team

4

5

1 Plebe Jodi Cui-Host
2 MIDN 2/C Steven Frazier
3 Plebe Joey Kendrick
4 Plebe Shawn Cleary
5 Plebe Andrew Kim
6 Plebe Chris Krupczynski
7 Plebe Dan Ecker

Roster: Alex Berry, Shawn Cleary, Jodi Cui-Host, Dan Ecker, Steven Frazier, Zach Gibson, Joey Kendrick, Andrew Kim, Chris Krupczynski, Brandon Thompson, Britney Thornton, Ryan Williams Coach: [illegible] Kelley

6

7

Firstie Ryan Williams and MIDN 2/C Steven Frazier were both named NRA All-Americans.

SCORE BOARD

MAC Tourney	1st
USP	4623	4334
W. Virginia	4613	4710
Pres. Trophy	3rd
Kentucky	4591	4697
USP	4610	3854
USP	4618	4303
Army	5755	5822
Ole Miss	4617	4622
NCAA Qualifier	4603	4187

CLUB SPORTS

"Winning isn't everything, but wanting to win is."

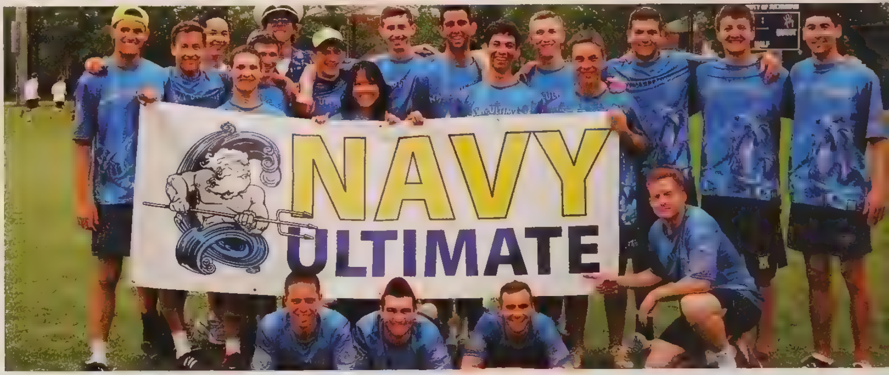
-Vince Lombardi

ULTIMATE FRISBEE

It's a fun and different kind of sport

Ultimate Frisbee has not been around for a very long time. It became an official sport about two years ago and the group has grown. This group of people love to play and although it might be tough at times they always work together. They are always trying to jump a little higher or get the disc just a little bit farther. Practice always makes perfect even with this different kind of sport. You always have to take the weather into account when playing because the wrong type of throw in certain weather conditions can cost you the game. You also have to know how to throw and be ready to run for the next pass. You have to think at least 3 steps ahead or else the other team is going to get the better of you.

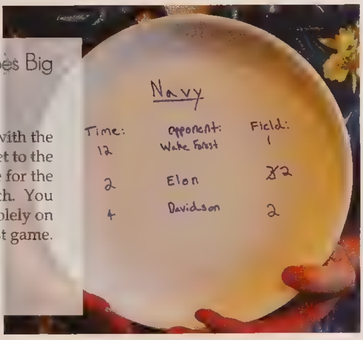
Not just a team but a family that always works and strives to be better.



HAVE FUN

Navy Goes Big

You got to go with the punches and get to the next field in time for the next match. You cannot focus solely on the last game.



Navy

Time:	Opponent:	Field:
12	Wake Forest	1
2	Elon	~~3~~ 2
4	Davidson	2

NAVY
ULTIMAT

Alright I have to flick it really hard or else it's not going to make it. Concentrate!

Remember to smile for the camera, especially when there is a cute puppy dog with you.

Hmm who to throw too? Decisions, decisions, well I guess I have all day no one is counting me.

Nice wide stance ready for any throw that might come his way. Look out for the magic feet.

Always remember to catch the frisbee like an alligator. Chomp down as hard as you can and you will catch it.

Dang it's pretty hot I guess its okay if I show the other team my amazing six pack.

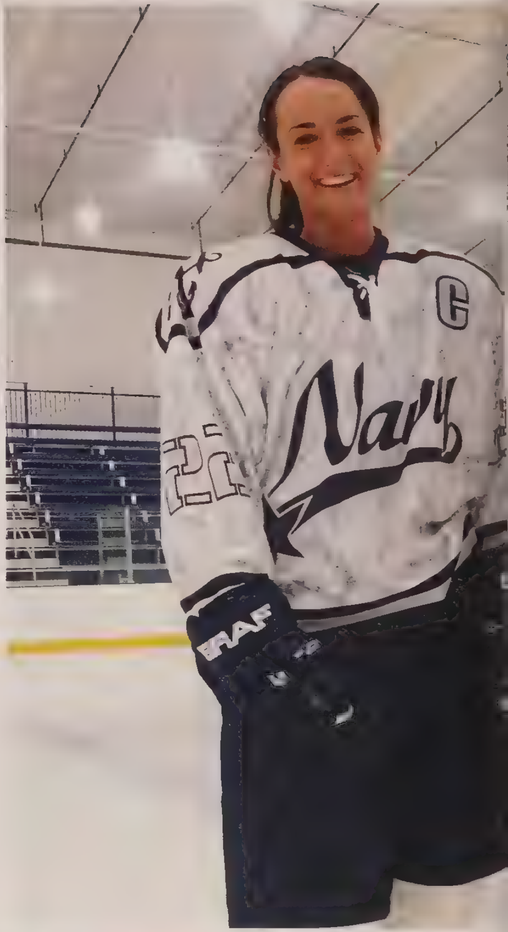
Even with all the stresses of playing the game they still know how to have fun and help other kids have fun. They are always ready to laugh at a moments notice.

Photos by Margaret Powers.

WOMEN'S ICE HOCKEY

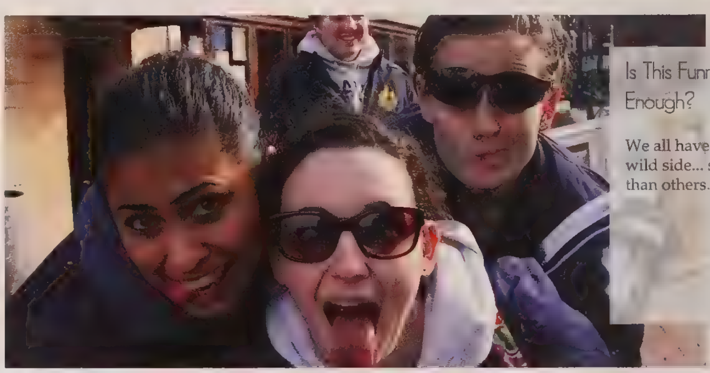
Skate Together Friends Forever

This years Women's Ice Hockey team was full of an amazing group of girls, who were not deterred by the five a.m. morning practices. That is enogh to make anyone in their right mind cringe. Waking up before the rooster has even finished dreaming. These fantastic women had a phenomenel year beating anyone who crossed their path. They worked they tails off all year long in the cold ice hockey rink. There is even a person on the team who is from california and had never stepped foot inside of an ice rink let alone seen any snow. Yet she that amazing person worked hard and fell hard multiple times. She was then accepted by her teammates and made plenty of jokes and faces to lighten the mood. That being siad there was a lot of very talented women on the team too. That led Navy to victory multiple times. Even though they were serious most of time they still found ways to laugh and be human. This years team was one of a kind.



13

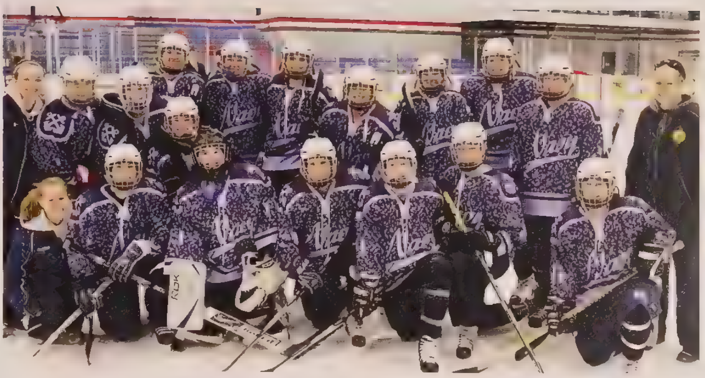
Best Group of friends anyone could ever ask for and the ones you wouldn't think to ask for.



Is This Funny Enough?

We all have a crazy wild side... some more than others.

JUST SITTTING



Roster: Christy Dullnig, Jacqui Drew, Nancy De Avila Alvarado, Katie Otano, Katie Chambless, Abby New, Abby Chek, Fran Canelon, Emily Buzzard, Ally Strachan, Nicole Breen, Sammie Leyva-Yelverton, Moose Pauwels, Emily Cooper, Tina Byrne, Sarah Blake, Danielle McKnight, Alex Freeman, Becca Chamberlin, Kalena Hammond Head Coach: Mike Stapleton, Assistant Coaches: Paige Johnson, Maria Powell, Cory Schweitzer, Mike Iff, Officer Representative: Captain Emily Naslund, USMC, Enlisted Representative: MMC Eric Eldridge, USN, Faculty Representative: Beth Mutch, Public Affairs Officer: Ray Feldmann, Team Manager: Deigo Kleckner '16

I think I might just skate around a bit and see if we score a goal.

Alright listen up ladies this is the new strategy, we pummel them into the ice until they quit.

GO NAVY HOCKEY

Nothing Like A Pyramid

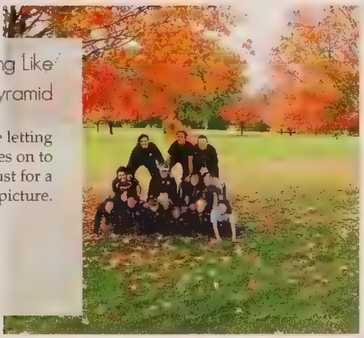
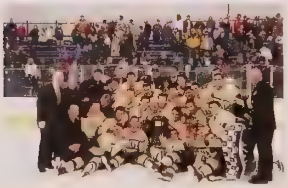
Talk about close letting your teammates on to your back just for a picture.



Ah, nothing like a face off in a hockey game. Plenty of pushing and hitting and it's all legal.

Pass me the bisquit I'm open for the break down the ice, no one is covering me.

Roster: Behr Anthony, Buckley Thomas, Caine Matt, Crumbish Eamonn, Day Chris, Derderian Tyler, Fleming Aaron, Franklin Travis, Frawley Derek, Givens Gil, Harrigan Cameron, Hermberg Nick, Huey Karl, Kearney Conor, Knopf Steven, Kolden Ryan, Krysl Thomas, Lulow Trent, Maetzold Cole, Mantz Nick, Metzdorff Matt, Mills Andrew, O'Hear Daniel, Oberlander Dustin, Pinedo Joe, Reed Tommy, Poche Paul, Sears Thomas, Stanley Lucas, Steveren Charlie, Swezey Doug, Truninger Matt Coaches: Mike Fox - Head Coach, MIDN Ben Berkey - Director of Hockey Operations, LCDR Rob Bolton - Assistant Coach, Brendan Curley - Assistant Coach, CDR Tom Gamble - Assistant Coach, Scott Steele - Assistant Coach, Evan Eicher - Strength and Conditioning Coordinator, Brian Somerville - Athletic Trainer



BEAT ARMY

The Army Navy rivalry got just a little richer this year as Navy faced off for the first time in history against West Point's club hockey team, ultimately winning by a final score of 6-4.

Navy Hockey competes in Division I of the American Collegiate Hockey Association (ACHA) as a member of the Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association (ECHA)

MEN'S ICE HOCKEY

BETTER EVERYDAY

After a long, successful season, in which Navy won an historic amount of games and compiled a 28-4-1 record, the 2013 season ended in a heartbreaking loss to Rutgers, 5-3, in the opening round of the ACHA Men's D1 National Tournament. The Mids still had plenty to be proud of this year- twenty-eight wins, defeating Army for the first time and being seeded 15th in the country in the national tournament. A 15th seed is impressing in itself; however, this also marked the first time in school history that the Navy Men's Hockey team went to the American Collegiate Hockey Association Division I National Tourney. Navy claimed their first bid to Nationals by virtue of their top 20 ranking and by becoming the regular season champions of the Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association. Initially ranked #24 at the beginning of the season the Midshipmen rose to as high as #11 in the coaches poll before settling into the #15 spot by the end of the regular season. This news came on the heals of winning a 3rd consecutive Crabpot Championship, the first time this has been accomplished by a Navy team in the 36 year history of the tournament. On Saturday, January 9th, Navy defeated Towson University 4-0 to take this year's title

Commandant Clark showing his unwavering support during a game.

A GREAT SEASON

For the first time in program history, the Navy Midshipmen (28-4-1) headed to the American Collegiate Hockey Association Division I National Tourney as they clinched the #15 seed in the country.

The Mids took down Army in front a sold out crowd at McMullen Arena in Annapolis on January 25, 2013.

15th SEED

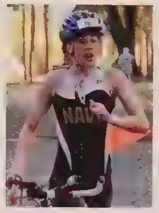
TRIATHLON

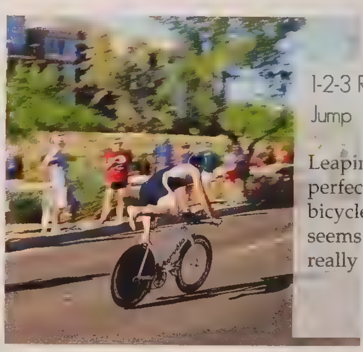
The sport where if it hurts you just have to keep pushing

You have to be crazy to want to put yourself through hell and back. That's exactly what it feels like to do a triathlon. If you think doing a marathon or a decathlon was hard then you have never done a triathlon. It is the most energy consuming sport their is, not only do you have to run, but there is swimming and biking too. If your legs are not completely shot by the end of the race, there is something wrong and you should see a mental health physician.

You know I'm hard because I am wearing a wet suit and thinking about swimming.

Just have to push myself a little farther and then I can ditch this bike.





1-2-3 Ready Jump

Leaping off a perfectly good bicycle, that seems like a really good idea.

Your teammates are your family and constantly push you to do better and be better. They are your family and family always sticks together.

FIELD HOCKEY

Not a sport for the weak of heart

Not too many people know that the Naval Academy has a field hockey team. They work hard every day to get better at their sport. They love to laugh and have a good time just like anyone else, but when it comes time to be serious there are no smiles or laughs only straight hardened faces. Those faces strike fear in their opponents through their masks and their beating sticks are a great deterrent to any opponent.

Focus and Determination

Gotta line up that shot perfectly. Swing and visualize that ball going into the goal.

That's what I'm talking about, gotta get excited about those shots.

This ball is mine. Nobody is going to stop me.

Work Hard Play Harder

KARATE

Leave nothing behind

Ka;rate takes a lot of time to train and practice. Time needed to learn the basics of defense, whether that be in a competition or in real life. Karate is not only a sport, but a life skill that is invaluable.

USNA
KARATE-DO TEAM

NAVAL ACADEMY KARATE TEAM

Form is everything and stance is the key to inner power. A stance can make or break a person in a fight.

COMMITMENT

Snapping Boards

Have you ever tried snapping a board with your head or foot? Well it does not look very pleasant.

COMMITMENT
USNA

JUDO

Not to be taken lightly

Judo seems like a lot of work. Your always pulling on something to throw someone. Good thing hair is off limits or some of the opponents might not be too happy. In a more serious note this year the Japanese Olympian Maki Tsukada came to visit and work with the Navy Judo team. She practiced with the team and taught them some valuable moves that she herself considers her favorites. Must have been a sight to see her throwing around guys like they were nothing.

UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY
JUDO
N

Where The Badge

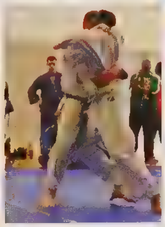
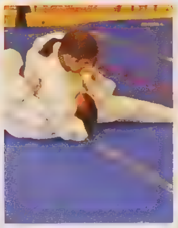
Everyone wears a badge, some are just cooler than others.





Smell my armpit. That is the smell of defeat for you, hope you like it.

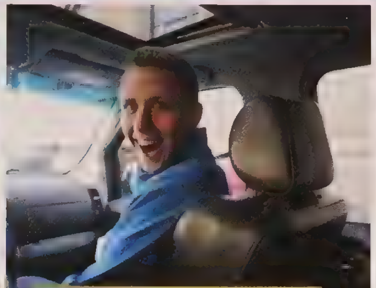
Throwing people around is always fun. Especially when they fly through the air and land on their faces.

SKI/SNOWBOARD

Last one to the bottom is a rotten egg

The Naval Academy Ski Team has been sporadically active for a number of years. Currently, the team is very active with a large number of talented athletes. They also like to play around in the snow and have a good time flying down mountains.

USCSA
126
USCSA
99



I think its safe to put him on our shoulders, it's not like we are wearing things that are meant to slide on the snow.

Does this ski helmet make me look quizzical or ponderful?

National Team Results

SL: 13th
GS: 10th
Combined: 12th
Skiercross: 3rd

Working as a team to get to the bottom of the mountain is what life is all about.

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Sometimes you just have to know when to spike

The men's volleyball team seems to be brand new this year. They have come out with a whole new look from the awesome shorts to the what were you thinking glasses. They worked hard every day to perfect their skills and to prove to everyone they deserve to be called a club sport. They have made a lot of progress getting their club recognized by the dant.

No One Can Block My Shots

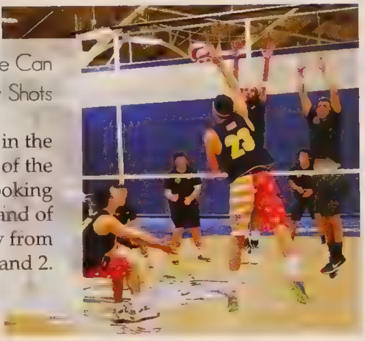
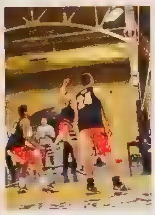
I'll just hit in the direction of the weakest looking player and of course away from bozo 1 and 2.





Maybe if I raise my leg really high they will be afraid to hit it in my general direction.

Do these goggles make me look awesome or what?

Sometimes the floor just feels really nice and you wonder why your buddy is lying next to you.

CYCLING TEAM

Push through the burn because it feels good

Cycling is definitely not an easy sport. Your legs will feel like jello after every race and practice. If they don't then you didn't push yourself hard enough. Not too many people know that there is a lot of strategy to cycling, it's not just about pedaling harder and faster. You have to know when to take off and when to just glide with the pack. You have to be careful though and access your opponents closely. They may be holding back or trying to draw you out, so that you will tire before they do. The trick is to outsmart them and show them just how much stamina you possess.

U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY
U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY
U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY

U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY

13

You have to have a motto or a mantra in order to keep your self sane when racing. Something along the lines of "Just Keep Swimming".

RUDY
U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Shades

No self respecting cyclist leaves home without the proper sun protection. You can never be to careful, the sun is a dangerous thing.

Just Keep Pedaling

You Shall Not Pass!

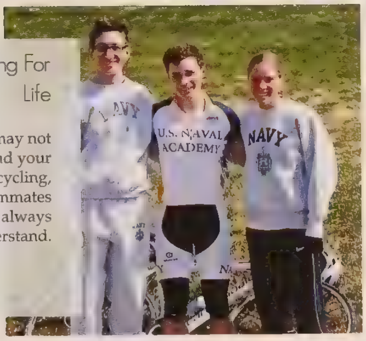
Keep up with me if you can guys because I am like the flash.... where did you guys come from?

Step 1: Smile
Step 2: wear obnoxious headphones
Step 3: Race your heart out

I love turning because you can just use your momentum to push you forward.

Cycling For Life

Your friends may not understand your obsession with cycling, but your teammates will always understand.



Okay everybody form a straight line and we will play follow the leader.

You just have to lean into the turn and hope for the best.

Hey you guys ready to leave everybody in the dust?

BOXING

Keep Your Guard UP

Navy Boxing was founded in 1865 under the direction of Admiral David Porter. Intercollegiate boxing flourished between 1920 and 1941 with 6 national titles. The well known Brigade Boxing Championships were started as the team transitioned from intercollegiate to club status.

NCAA NATIONAL CHAMPIONS
U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY
NAVY
BEAT ARMY
NAVY BOXING
EVERLAST

13

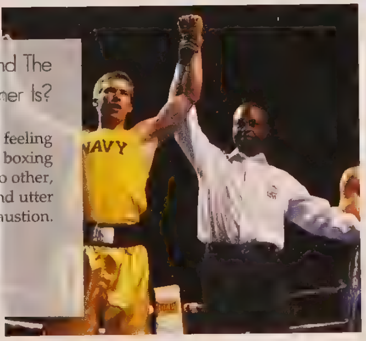
Boxing is definitely hard work. Training everyday and trying to always one up your opponent. You always have to be on the alert and keep your guard up. Your guard is your saving grace without that you are doomed to fail.

Look For the Opening

When you have the chance to knock someone out you better take it because they may not be stupid enough to give you a second chance.

KNOCK OUT

NAVY
BOXING



And The Winner Is?

That amazing feeling after winning a boxing match is like no other, complete and utter exhaustion.

It's incredible to be surrounded by so many people and still be able to focus on your opponent.

CLUB WATER POLO

The real fight is below the surface

You always have to be careful when playing waterpolo because it is one of the only sports where drowning is legal. You also have to watch out for guys with razor sharp toe nails, man that is gross. All that aside it is a really fun sport to play with a group of buddies. That is why so many people flocked to the team this year. They wanted to play a sport where you have to egg beater for your life for about 10min and not to mention defend yourself from being pulled under. After all that you have to try and score a goal.

One Love

Brother's in arms fighting underneath the water where the ref can not see.

Great group of guys who love the sport and love playing to the best of their ability.

SOFTBALL

There's no crying in Softball

Softball is unique and fun sport to play. The comrade of the girls on the team is unparalleled. They work hard and strive to do their best every practice and every game. They also know how to have fun throw that huge ball with precision. I do not know how that huge ball fits in their hand or how they can throw it so well. You would think since the ball is so big it makes it easier to hit it, but somehow these girls are able to throw it so fast that it is hard to see.

Jump Higher or Throw Straighter

These are some of the thoughts that go through a first basemen's mind, because no one seems to be able to throw it straight.

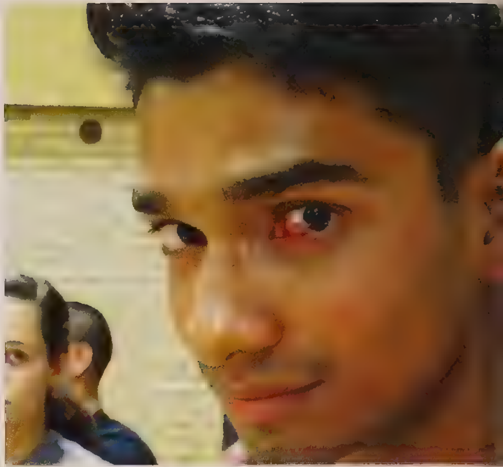
You have to carbo load after every game to get all your energy back after the game.

Look at the arm, how is it still functional. She must have amazing ligaments.

Smiling, catching, and comrade these are just some of the traits that this amazing group of ladies possess.

POWERLIFTING

Roster: Ethan Albrecht, Rolland Al-Ahmar, Curtis Allen, Breanne Aronin, Cameron Benner, Jesse Burroughs, Hardy Davis, Manu Elias, Ben Etringer, Joseph Francisco, Justin Fratantuono, Christian Freudenberger, Jon Garcia, Evaristo Garza, Conor Hozey, Alexis Kelm, Michael Klunder, Derek Lovely, Kevin Maradiaga, John Martin, Chris Martinez, Omar Messallam, Leah Moore, Jack Morrow, Brendan Perry, Jay Price, Amanda Ragan, Jonathan Sharbo, Valerie Tucciarone



Ben Etringer earned the overall best lifter award given to only one of all males in the meet.

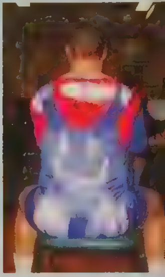
13

The team dominated regionals at Penn State this year with numerous awards including individual awards up to first place in several weight classes.

USAPL Collegiate Nationals

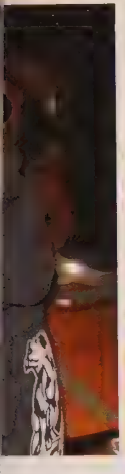
Numerous members of the team flew out to Killeen, Tx this past year after qualifying for the USAPL Collegiate Nationals Powerlifting Meet.

aint nuthin' but a peanut



Rolland Al-ahmar, an international midshipman.

Funny guys Buddy Garza and Jesse Burroughs.



The females of the coed team with O-Rep LT Lorenz.

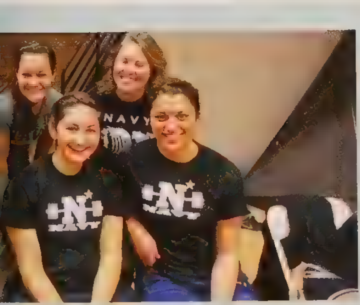
This past year, USNA hosted the annual Army-Navy Powerlifting meet with help from midshipmen and faculty volunteers along with paid judges from USAPL.

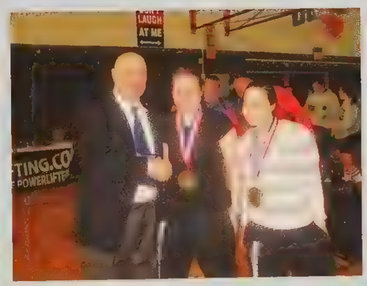
Big Numbers

Youngster Jack Morrow opened at a whopping 235 kg at the USAPL Men's and Women's Collegiate Nationals.

TITAN
ATE NATIONALS

This year the Powerlifting Team got a new volunteer coach, Master Chief Schroeder.





A USAPL judge congratulates some winners of the regional Penn State Meet, a great precursor to Nationals.

Brothers united for a cause. That cause to pummel anybody in their way.

Can keep me back. I'm going to drag you across that line if I have too.

Get off of him! Gotta stay on your feet and keep pushing forward.

Dog Pile! Jump on his back and get that ball.

Man this mouth piece is killing me.
Bro you alright, you need me to fix your teeth?

Reach For the Sky

Sometimes you just have to build a mountain of dudes in order to get anywhere in life.

I think he is going to be down for the count. Foot and arm way up in the air, nice take down.

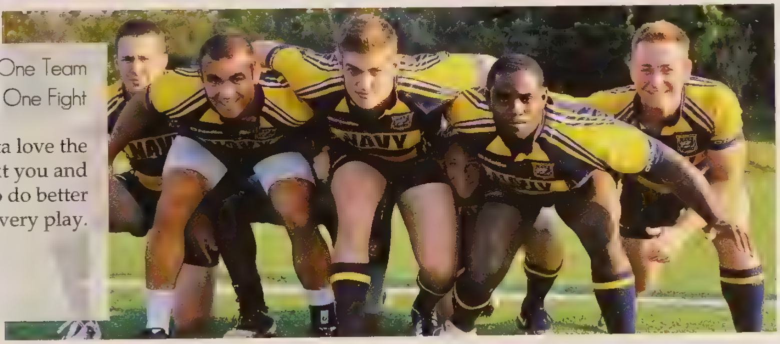
MEN'S RUGBY

It takes guts to do what these guys do without pads

It's hard to take hit after hit and keep pushing along like nothing ever happened. Add on top of that, they are not wearing any pads whatsoever. You really have to make your body tough and leave the tears at the door. Every hit is going to hurt and every tackle might cause some damage. The trick is knowing how to accept that pain and push it out of your mind. That pain is your weakness because it stops you from pushing through just a little farther. The enemy on the field is not the other team, but your own body. That is why these guys train constantly to make their bodies like rock, so that they do more damage to the other guys and walk away just fine. They may even smile a little bit when they are hit by the other team because they have been practicing for much harder hits than that. These guys are tough and they know how to get the job done right.

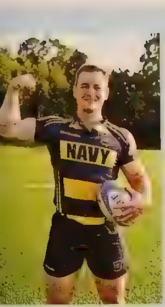
One Team
One Fight

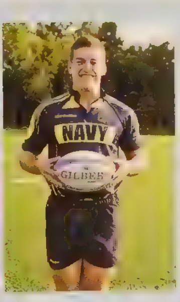
Gotta love the guys next you and strive to do better every play.



13

This group of guys is hard and always ready for a challenge.





Stand
Pretty

WOMEN'S RUGBY

LOVE THE LEGACY.

Loving the legacy meant so much more this year. Phoebe, Tommy, and Ammo lead the team with open hearts and iron fists.. The team began learning and competing in 7's; a challenge faced with grace and poise. The team won the first 7's tournament they ever competed in. Overall Navy Women's Rugby went 13-and-3 and won conference. The team was offered the big to represent USA in the World Games taking place in Russia over the summer.

The team owes much of their fighting spirit and work ethic to a beloved Alumni, teammate, and coach. Navy Women's Rugby will forever remember the energy that Chas Dunnaville brought to the pitch. She taught class of '15 most of what they know about fierceness and fearlessness. She always brought the good out in everybody and the team always looked forward to playing with her and seeing her smiling face at practice. Chas touched the hearts of everyone she met, never gave up, and gave everyone a bit of motivation to continue on with their battles. We will forever be inspired by her work ethic and love of people. Never forget. Love the Legacy.

13

Navy Women's Rugby will continue to strive for excellence in all things-WINNING is just a by-product.

Blood, Sweat & Tears

We do it not for ourselves but we do it for the ladies to our left and to our right. We do it for those who have represented before us and we do it for those who are yet to come.

BALLS OUT

You have 80 minutes to lay every ounce of yourself out on the pitch, you walk off with your head held high and your teammates by your side.

No matter how many times you braid your hair, it will be Phoebe-lion-mane-style by the end of your first ruck. There is no hope.

On the pitch, these ladies become more like soul sisters than classmates.

Fitness is a key component of Navy Women's Rugby philosophy. The fitter we are, the better we become.

Rugby Jerseys are earned at that week's practice and given out in a pre-game ceremony. The new jersey's this year remind all to remember those who have gone before us.

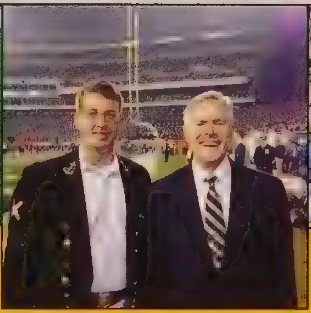
CLUBS

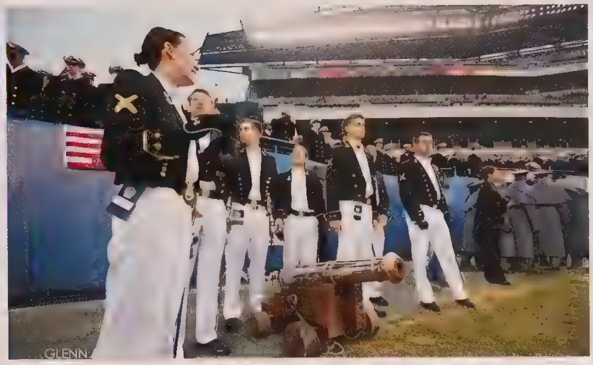
"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So throw off your bowlines. Sail away from safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore, Dream, Discover."

-Mark Twain

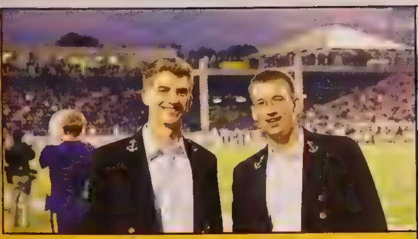
Cannoneers

The Cannoneers proudly serve in support of the Brigade of Midshipmen. Their resounding volleys are heard at every formal parade and Navy football game. The ten members of the team fully embrace the mission of the United States Naval Academy and are selected only after proving their dedication to professionalism throughout Plebe and Youngster year. They seek to preserve the traditions of the Naval Academy and honor all those who have marched them.





Clockwise from top center: MIDN 1/C Jim Giesemann fires off a cannon during an Navy home game; the Cannoneers stand by during the Army-Navy Game; gunshots are fired during a formal parade; Cannoneers pose for a picture during a home football game; MIDN 1/C Tangen shakes hands with Vice Admiral Miller before the Army-Navy Game; more gun shots during a formal parade.

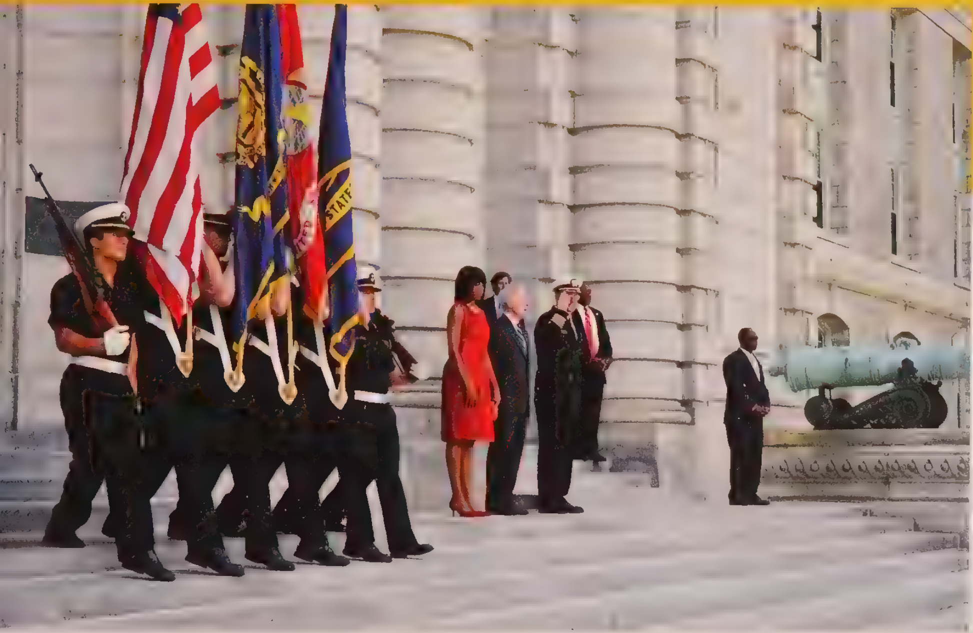


Members of Color Guard during Pass and Review at a fall parade, walking down the street towards Worden Field, and standing on the field at the Navy-Marine Corps Stadium prior to the football game.

Members of Color Guard walking down Worden Field and visiting the Guinness Beer Factory in Dublin.

Color Guard

Color Guard is one of the most seen ECAs on the Yard. These Midshipman tried out during Plebe Summer. Then, after an extensive selection process, the best of the best were chosen. These Midshipmen are responsible for carrying the colors at every major Naval Academy event and parade. The members of Color Guard also travel to other events around the area, representing both the U.S. Navy and the Naval Academy in the process.



Color Guard parading the colors while the First Lady of the United States (FLOTUS), Michelle Obama, visited the United States Naval Academy.

CORAL SEA
ALEUTIANS
MIDWAY GUADALCANA

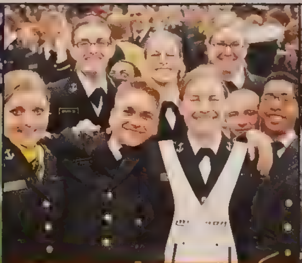
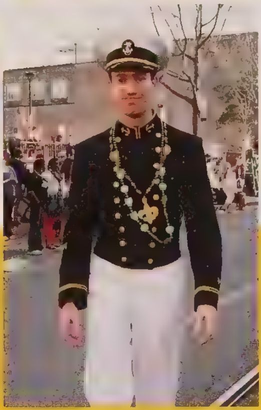
Drum & Bugle Corps

The United States Naval Academy Drum and Bugle Corps is the oldest active Drum and Bugle Corps in the nation. This year they continued the long tradition of providing support for the brigade in many different events including following the football team to their Bowl Game in San Francisco, California, traveling to Ireland for the Navy vs. Notre Dame Emerald Isle Challenge in Dublin, Ireland and representing the United States Naval Academy by marching in the Mardi Gras Parade among other musical groups and acts hailing from around the country. D&B was also present at most of the basketball games for the Men's and Women's teams and followed the Women's team to Queens New York for their shot at the championship. As the year comes to a close, the Drum and Bugle Corps extends its thanks to the leadership of the Naval Academy, the excellent instructors and event planners it has had the pleasure of working with and the Brigade of Midshipmen for their continued spirit and support. The Drum and Bugle Corps would also like to acknowledge our firsties that will be leaving us soon to join the various communities of the United States Navy: Brandon Martin, Tina Nelloms, Chris Humber, Joel Tidd, Giancarlo Palazzo , Ray Tracy, Andy Rice, Taylor Cooper, Phil Rouse and Patrick Costello; Their leadership and friendship during their careers in D&B have been invaluable to the organization and they will be missed

Right-1/C Giancarlo Palazzo volunteers the use of his snare to an inspiring drummer in New Orleans, Louisiana during the parade. Far Right- 1/C Joel Tidd ad 1/C Patrick Costello pose for a shot during the Mardi Gras parade.

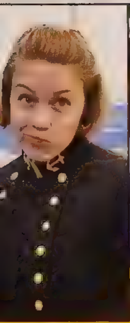
The friendships made during the course of this year will last for a long while. Once in D&B, always in D&B

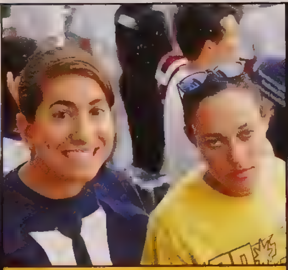




Far Left- Drum and Bugle Corps Director Jeff Weir attends a Navy Football game, as he always does, encouraging the members of D&B the whole time. Right- The Full-Corps picture of D&B taken after their last parade of the school year.

The Drum and Bugle Corps had the opportunity to participate in a variety of events this year and had a fun time.





Clockwise from bottom left: Titus Andronicus (Michael McPherson) returns home from war and addresses the Roman people. Queen Tamora (Jamie Moroney) and Aaron the Moor (Mike Foster) enjoy a secret moment in the woods. Emperor Saturninus (James Frevola) oversees his kingdom. Lavinia (Katie MacVarish) expresses her anger as her husband is killed. Marca (Jenn Underhill), a council tribune, offers her brother the Roman crown. Brothers Chiron and Demetrius (Eric Lies and Mike Donovan) celebrate their new positions as princes of Rome.

Copyright 2012 ROGER MILLER

Lucius (Daniel Ulerio) convinces the Goths to help him claim the throne.

ROGER MILLER

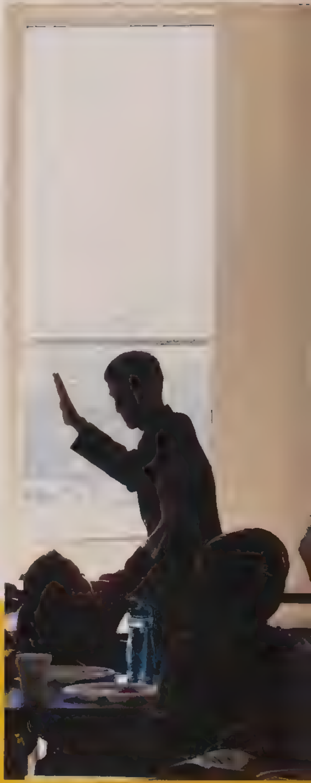
Masqueraders

The oldest and one of the most celebrated ECA's on the yard, the Masqueraders are a group of midshipmen who come together to put on some of the Naval Academy's best productions. Every year they share their love of theater and performing for not only the entire Academy, but anyone who wishes to see a great play. This year's production was Titus Andronicus- "Shakespeare's first and bloodiest play." The peformances ran from October 26-27 and November 2-4 at Mahan Theatre on campus. For the past eleven years, The Masqueraders have been directed by Assocaite Professor, Christy Stanlake.

The fierce Goths (Blair Mason, Chris Hudson, Dryn Dubois) prepare to wage war on Rome and help Lucius claim the throne.

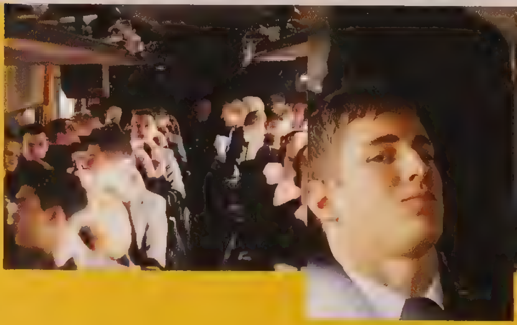
Men's Glee

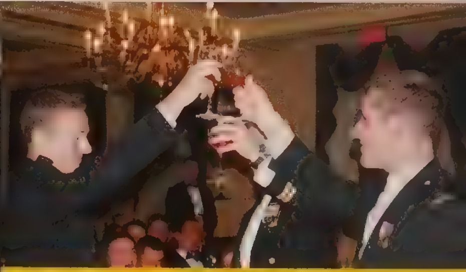
The United States Naval Academy MEN'S GLEE CLUB, under the direction of Dr.Aaron Smith, is the most active of the Naval Academy's musical organizations and has achieved national prominence as one of America's premier men's choral ensembles Recent appearances on network television include The Kennedy Center Honors (CBS), The Today Show (NBC), The Early Show (CBS), Christmas in Washington (NBC and TNT), and Good Morning, America (ABC). The ensemble has been seen performing in San Diego's Copley Symphony Hall, New York's Avery Fisher Hall, and Washington's Kennedy Center. It has performed extensively throughout the U.S. and abroad including Chile Argentina, and multiple European tours with performances at St Peters in the Vatican, cathedrals in Brussels, Wells, Winchester Salisbury, and St. Paul's in London. Performing masterpieces of choral-orchestral literature with many of the nation's leading orchestras, the Men's Glee Club's most recent collaborations include Boston Pops Orchestra, Charlotte Symphony, Phoenix Symphony, Columbus Symphony, and Nashville Symphony. In addition to the Academy's annually sold-out concerts of Handel's Messiah with the Annapolis Symphony, symphonic repertoire has included Orff's Carmina Burana, Requiems by Brahms, Dvorak, Mozart, and Verdi, Haydn's Creation, Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, and Vaughan-Williams' A Sea Symphony among many others. Recent notable appearances include the Inaugural Concert "We Are One" performed on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial for a live audience of over half a million and an internationally televised audience, the dedication ceremony of the National Pentagon Memorial, the Ronald Reagan Freedom Award, the Commissioning of the George H. W Bush Aircraft Carrier (CVN-77), numerous concert tours, a joint performance with Chanticleer, and a newly released CD

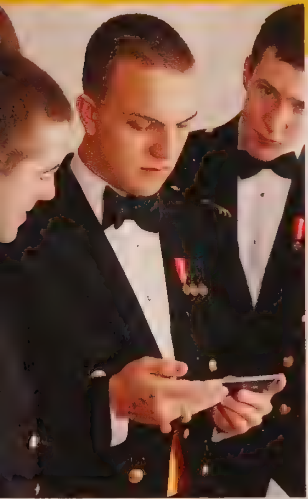


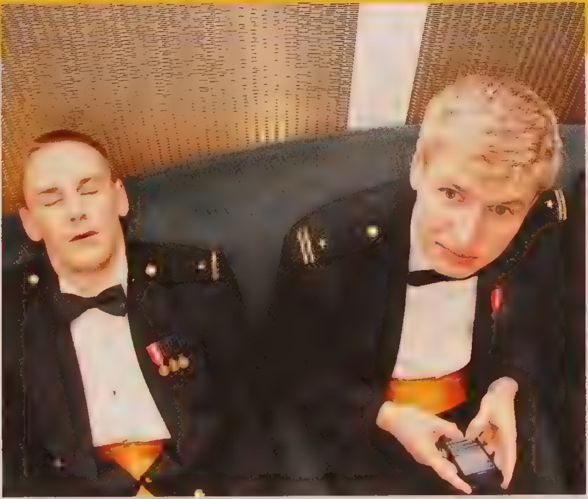
Men's Glee is so active, even the news wants to be involved!

Men's Glee is well-known, not only for its multitude of talent, but for it's selfless involvement in the community.



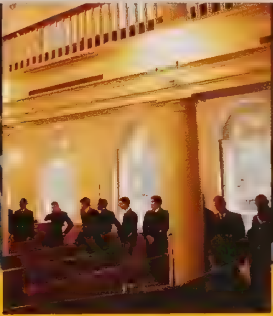


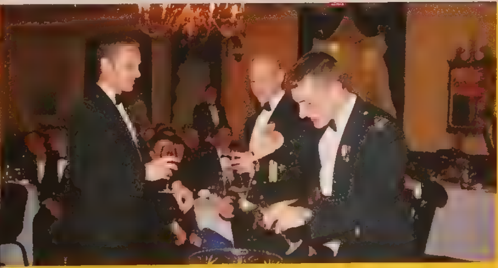




This group of very talented gentleman is comprised of the best. They are known for their specialty groups the anchormen;clanshave; and skivs.

"Work hard, play hard!" is a motto these guys know well...





Above: The Women's and Men's Glee Clubs, joined by the Annapolis Symphony Orchestra, standing with the Superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, Vice Admiral Miller, after their performance of Handel's Messiah. Right: The Youngsters apart of the club posing for a picture after a successful performance.

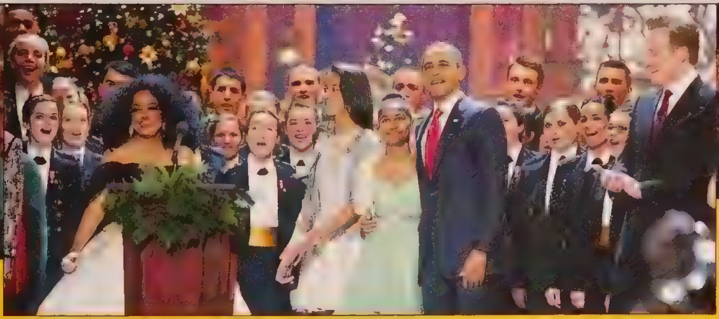
The ladies of Women's Glee Club sitting down with students from the Westminster Christian School and posing for pictures before they go on stage to perform.

Women's Glee

The United States Naval Academy WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB was founded in 1976 when women first entered the Naval Academy. Under the direction of Ms. Cindy Bauchspies, the ensemble performs a diverse repertoire which includes classical, sacred, folk, patriotic, popular, and Broadway music. They have performed across America and internationally, including recent tours to Florida, California, Hawaii, New York, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas, Virginia, Rome, and London. In addition to the Academy's annually sold-out concerts of Handel's Messiah with the Annapolis Symphony (often nationally and internationally broadcast), the Women's Glee Club performs masterpieces of choral-orchestral literature joining with the Naval Academy Men's Glee Club. Recent repertoire has included Orff's Carmina Burana, Requiems by Brahms, Mozart and Verdi, Haydn's Creation Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, and Ralph Vaughan-Williams' A Sea Symphony among many others Recent notable appearances include the Inaugural Concert " We Are One" performed on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial for a live audience of over half a million people and an internationally televised audience, the Official National Dedication Ceremony of the Pentagon Memorial, concert tours of Miami Fort Lauderdale, Orlando, FL, and numerous performances at the Naval Academy. Their official visit to Brazil this past spring has been hailed as providing, "more positive results for the relations of both countries than that of a mighty aircraft carrier visit."

At every Navy home football game, the Women's Glee Club joins the Men's Glee Club and Gospel Choir in the honor of singing the country's National Anthem.

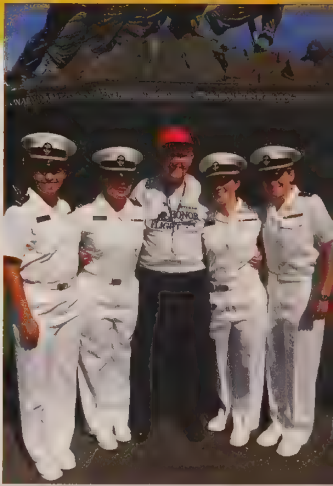
The singers are enjoying their night out on the town, singing for President Obama, and goofing off on camera after performing.



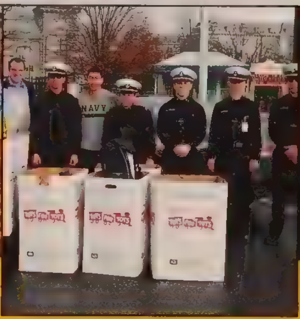
Midshipman Action Group

Known throughout the Brigade as MAG, the Midshipman Action Group is the largest ECA on the Yard, and for a good reason. Established in 1992, MAG serves as a community service based program offering Mids an opportunity to reach out to the local community. It's goal is to provide Midshipmen with a means to develop their peer leadership, teamwork, and character, while helping out those around them. In coordination with the Annapolis, Baltimore, and DC areas, MAG is involved in numerous projects including Girls on the Run, Toys for Tots, Mids for Kids, Honor Flight, and the Special Olympics.

MAG holds many community service events that even non-members can participate in. The Honor Flight programs is one of the most popular among Mids, who are able to meet with veterans of WWII on their trip to see the WWII memorial in DC.



Midshipmen all gather to listen to the stories these war heroes have to tell. The Mids also stand by Toys for Tots bins, full of collected toys for young children.



NAVY
PONCHO PTAK
NAVY

START MILE
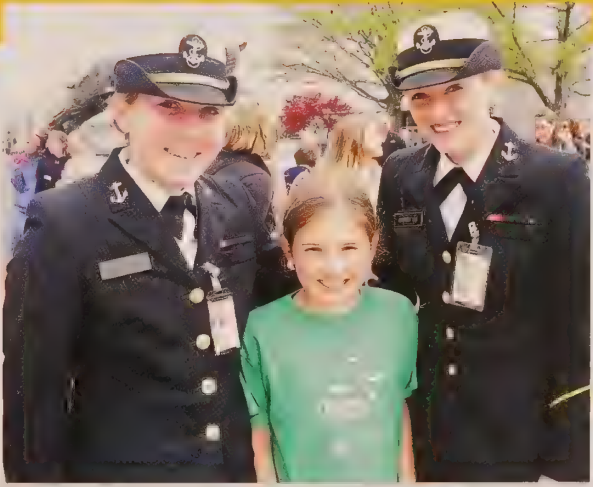
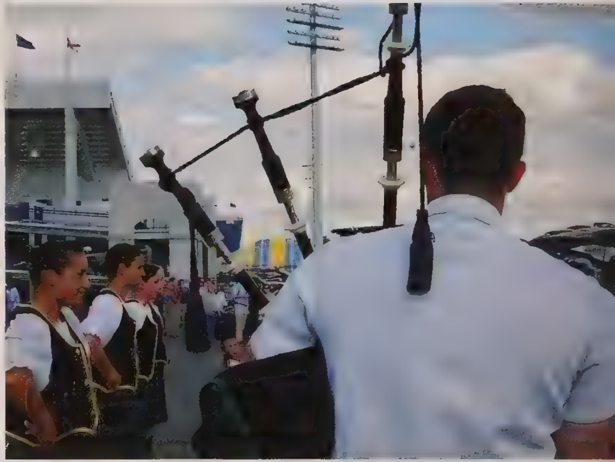
2



Left: MIDN 2/C Meghan Connor and MIDN 2/C Margaret Gilroy participating in one of MAG's community service projects, Girls on the Run. It is a program where midshipmen females help young girls develop a positive body image and healthy lifestyle through running.

Each year, Midshipmen team up to help run the Special Olympics; the Mids also help organize and set up the local 5k Ripley Race



Fall Semester:

President - Taylor Boosmann
XO - Becky Watson
Ops - Kristian Dominguez
Treasurer - Jay Thomas

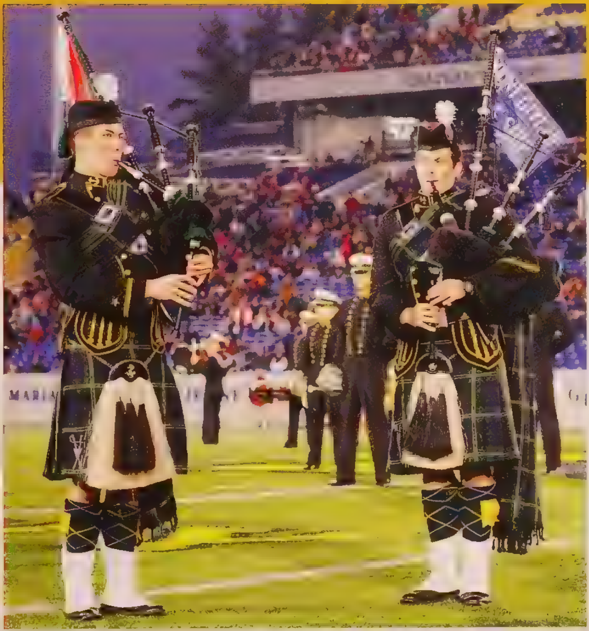
Pipe Major- Megan Lewis
Drum Sergeant- Will McShane
Head Dancer- Erin Bacon
Drum Major- Marc Austria

Admin - Tahira Steen
PAO- Kendra Cypher
Webmaster- Susannah Johnson
Logistics- Heather Willis
1st LT- Shin Ho Jung
Uniform Manager/Pipe Sgt- Jeremiah Fulton

The Pipes & Drums is a team of midshipmen with diverse performing arts talents and interest in Scottish and Irish culture.

Pipes & Drums

The U.S. Naval Academy Pipes and Drums is an organization that spends a majority of their time supporting the Brigade. It is easy to find them performing at home football games, parades, and noon formations. This year they ventured to Dublin, Ireland to support the football team during their game against Notre Dame, and they also made their way up north to visit our friendly neighbors at the Royal Military College of Canada. Their Winter Concert this year commemorated the Bicentennial of the War of 1812, and for their Spring Concert, they showcased the progression of Celtic music - celebrating both Scottish and Irish backgrounds.



The group, like many others at USNA, is a high profile collection of midshipmen.

Spring Semester:

President - Kristian Dominguez
XO - Becky Watson
Ops - Marcus Lewis
Treasurer - Shin Ho Jung

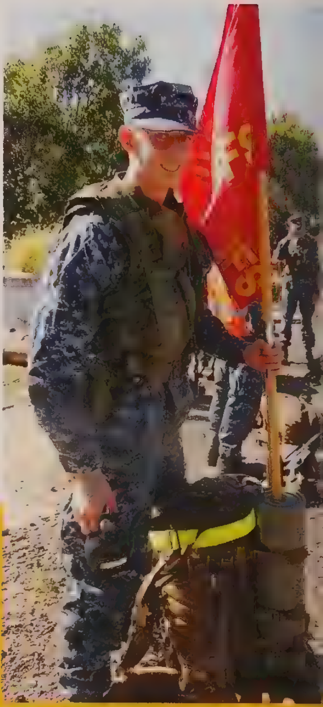
Pipe Major - Megan Lewis
Drum Sergeant - Will McShane
Head Dancer - Kendra Cypher
Drum Major - Marc Austria

Admin - Tahira Steen
PAO/'61 Rep - Jay Thomas
Webmaster - Bill Campbell
Logistics - Heather Willis
1st LT - Sam Geerling
Uniform Manager/Pipe Sergeant - Jeremiah Fulton

DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP

Semper Fi

The Semper Fidelis Society will train, educate, and motivate the Brigade of Midshipmen in the Marine Corps ethos and represent the Naval Academy at Marine Corps events and military skills competitions in Order to provide interested Midshipmen a structured year-round avenue to explore interest in the Marine Corps.



Right: Midshipmen and Captain Maclean celebrate the birthday of the Corps in the Marine Corps Birthday Run in November.

Below: Midshipmen participate in Range Day and the USMC Birthday Run.

Above and Top of Opposite Page: Intro and Spring Field Exercise (FEX) allow Midshipmen to experience a bit of the Marine Corps.
Left: Captain Maclean is awarded the Bronze Star with Combat V.

Below: Midshipmen enjoy the Marine Corps Ball with Captain Perez and Major Wisherd.

VT-NA

VT-NA is composed of members of the Brigade who are passionate about aviation. The staff has worked diligently alongside the club's officer representatives to increase the Brigade's exposure to Naval Aviation and have made tremendous strides over the past year! The club founded a weekly Aviation Newsletter, coordinated aviation socials for midshipmen to interact with aviators on the yard, and established the Naval Academy Flight Team that, through hours of practice and their performance at regionals, earned an invitation to Nationals. VT-NA prides itself on being a resource for the Brigade; it offers ground school instruction for those who are interested in taking steps toward their private pilot's license and it also provides Saturday Morning Training opportunities with the flight simulators.

VT-NA Staff

Commanding Officer: 1/C Jacqueline Penichet
XO: 1/C Michael Reindl
Treasurer: 1/C Michael Simpson
PAO: 1/C Alejandra Dorado
Safety: 2/C Nicholas Padleckas
Flight Team Captain: 1/C Daniel McClellan
Operations: 1/C Jordan Chmielewski
Ground School: 2/C Matthew Schaidle
Training: 1/C William Gureck
MISLO: 2/C Michael Burgoyne

VT-NA Officer Representatives

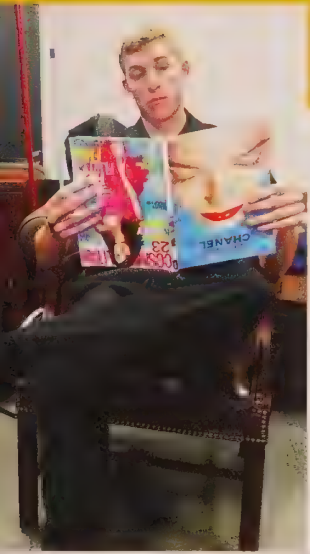
LT David Rosa, USN
CDR Hartley Postlethwaite, USN

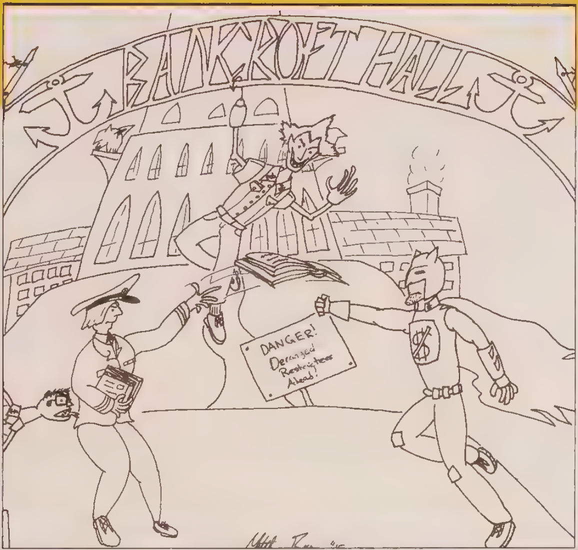
Right: the Naval Academy Flight team poses with awards won during the National Intercollegiate Flying Association's regional Safety and Flight Evaluation Conference Oct. 13 in Elizabeth City, N.C.

Below from Left to Right: Midshipmen looking to begin earning their private pilot's license attend Ground School; simulators are used during an Aviation-themed SMT.

The Log

"Go quietly into the nomaintenancebub, and remember the comfort there may be in having a place amongst the chaos. Avoid the quiet and the placid, unless you are in dire need of a nap. Treat everyone you meet as if you have secret information that they are about to become extremely rich. Speak well of those greater than yourself and heed well their advice, even though they may be peacocks speaking poppycock. Know that two wrongs do not make a right, but that three lefts do. In the face of disillusionment and despite the changing fortunes of time, "there is a big future in computer maintenence." Know yourself. If you need help MIDS has everything. Gracefully surrender the things of your youth--8 hours of sleep a night, good cartoons and hula hoops--and let not the sands of time get in your lunch. With all its hopes, dreams, promises and urban renewal, the world continues to turn, and reflect that whatever misfortune may behold you, it could only be worse at West Point." -Mike Ebeling

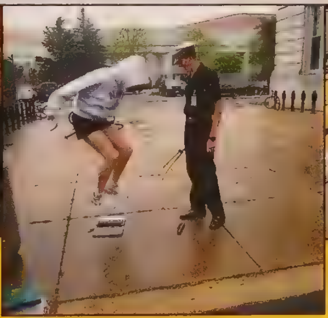


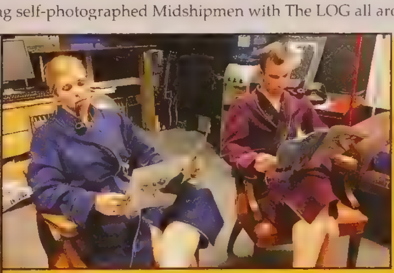


LOG Magazine Staff of 2012-2013

Editor-in-Chief: Katelyn Davidson '13
Business Manager: Lindsay Boyd '14
Layout Editor: Michael Ebeling '15
Content Editor: Hannah Bobell '15
Contributing Editors: Kyle Hatcher '13, Matthew Brook '15, Richard Wheeler '16, Joshua Mokracek '16 '15,

The LOG Magazine had many talented contributions throughout the year from the Brigade, including self-photographed Midshipmen with The LOG all around the globe.





AIAA

To educate midshipmen on the past, current, and future developments in the aerospace industry in order to provide graduates with a fundamental understanding of the developmental side of aerospace technologies, of which they will operate in the Fleet and Marine Corps .

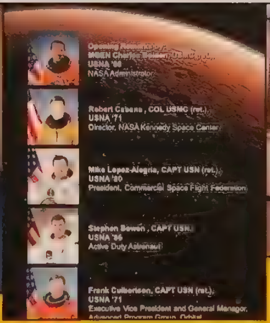
2012-2013 Events:
Astronaut Convocation
Annapolis Aerospace Day
AIAA Student Conference

2012-2013 Staff:
Officer Rep: LtCol Lou Camardo, USMC
President: 1/C John Paquette
Vice President: 1/C Matthew Disher
Treasurer: 1/C Austin Toombs
Admin: 2/C Samantha Seitz
Operations: 3/C Ian Maloney

Top: Guest lecturer, Maj Rob "Munchbox" Dyer talks about his combat experiences as a Forward Air Controller (FAC) for some of America's elite special operators.

Middle: The USNA Chapter of AIAA poses during Annapolis Aerospace Day.

Below from Left to Right: Annapolis Aerospace Day; AIAA President and VP John Paquette and Matt Disher; Astronaut Convocation Speakers; Maj Dyer.



Opening Remarks
MGEN Charles Bolden
USNA '68
NASA Administrator

Robert Cabana , COL USMC (ret.)
USNA '71
Director, NASA Kennedy Space Center

Mike Lopez-Alegria, CAPT USN (ret.)
USNA '80
President, Commercial Space Flight Federation

Stephen Bowen , CAPT USN
USNA '86
Active Duty Astronaut

Frank Culbertson, CAPT USN (ret.)
USNA '71
Executive Vice President and General Manager,
Advanced Program Group, Orbital

American Nuclear Society

The American Nuclear Society was launched in the mid-1950s, a time of growing interest in employing peaceful applications of nuclear science and technology for bettering the lives of people in the United States and around the world. Today, ANS has made, and continues to make, important contributions to the use of nuclear science and technology, and consequently to the larger society beyond ANS. It achieves this through its many products and services including meetings, publications, standards, outreach, honors and awards, scholarships, teachers workshops, Organization Members, and representation in Washington, D.C

American Nuclear Society Members pose with the bust of Hyman Rickover in Rickover Hall.

ANS continues to be a professional organization of scientists, engineers, and other professionals devoted to the peaceful applications of nuclear science and technology. Its 10,500 members (in 46 countries) come from diverse technical disciplines ranging from physics and nuclear safety to operations and power, and from across the full spectrum of the national and international enterprize, including government, academia, research laboratories, and private industry For Midshipmen, ANS provides insight into the past and future development of the Nuclear Navy's Fleet of Submarines and Carriers, in addition to modern day nuclear technology. We seek to bridge the gap between civilian and military professionals and foster the growth of nuclear energy, radiology, and nuclear security and safety. Under the guidance of our Faculty Representative Professor Martin Nelson and our Officer Representative LT Joshua Mueller ANS hopes to expand its offering of internships, guest lectures, and courses to all Midshipmen in the coming years, most notably with the introduction of a Nuclear Engineering Major for the Class of 2017 and beyond.

Astronomy Club

The USNA Astronomy Club is comprised of stargazers, ranging in major and experience, but equally curious about the cosmos. In the 2012-2013 academic year the club took a trip to the United States Naval Observatory in Washington, DC, entertained 3 inquisitive batches of "Astro-Kids," hosted Star Shows for the Brigade, instructed an astronomy lesson fieldtrip for the Naval Academy Primary School, and enjoyed the less-freezing nights of stargazing at organized star-parties. The club also held lunchtime talks, given by astronomical researchers and Professors, on topics such as gravitational microlensing of quasar systems and Wolf-Rayet stars. Looking to the future, the club hopes for clearer night skies and more public observing nights at the Clark Telescope, as well as finding out a bit more about the cosmos.

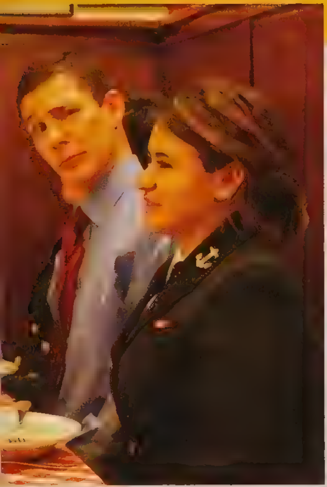
Club member looking through a telescope at the observatory.

Club officers (Jon Williams, Jessica Klusmeyer, Caitlin Fine, James Kennington, Ben Etringer, and Bailey Miller) gather for a picture and the club works with local kids in the area.

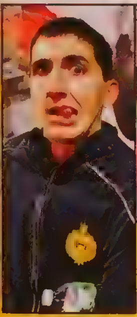
Catholic Choir

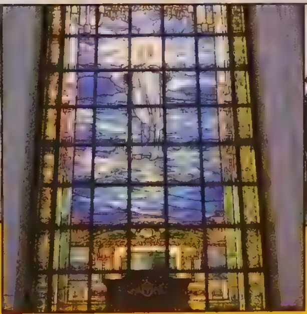
The United States Naval Academy Catholic Choir is dedicated to providing musical accompaniment to the Catholic Masses held every Sunday. The choir is an opportunity for Midshipmen to express themselves spiritually and develop close friendships along the way. Under the leadership of Co-Presidents Pat Costello and Eric Peart, faithfully led the Naval Academy Catholic community in song throughout the school year. Thanks to Monte Maxwell, director of chapel music, the the choir was always well rehearsed and ready to sing hymns of praise every Sunday morning. Movement Orders to Philadelphia and the Seton Shrine helped the choir to bond and prepare for the music filled Easter season.

The members of the Catholic Choir out on the town, eating dinner and sharing laughs.



Catholic Choir does not get to travel often, but when the annual trip to Philadelphia comes around, everyone enjoys themselves while learning important music for Lent





Chinese Culture Club

The Chinese Culture Club is a group for Midshipmen who are interested and passionate in learning about the Chinese history, language, and culture. Midshipmen experience the Chinese culture through movies, food, and activities. The uniqueness of the Chinese writing style, tonal language, and longstanding history makes discussions and lessons at meetings always informative and enjoyable.

Top: Midshipmen Monica Hernandez, Cat Cortesio, Kristine Doan and Resfa Latigo pose in front of the Friendship Archway in Washington, D.C.'s Chinatown.

Middle: Club members pose before watching Jet Li's Fearless for a movie night.

Below: Midshipmen 4/C Alec Comito and Walter Glen enjoy the sights.

Combat Arms Team

The Combat Arms Team is one of the most prestigious clubs on The Yard. Accepting only four new members each year, all Plebes, it is also one of the most selective. These sixteen members train weekly to hone their tactical and shooting skills. They participate in numerous competitions every year, including the Joint Service Academy Weapons Competition. These competitions are a test of their physical, mental, individual, and teamwork abilities. In order to win, the Combat Arms Team has become proficient in M4 carbines, pump and automatic shotguns, service pistols, and machine guns

This year, the team is led by William Karditzas and made up of:
1/C: Colin Bruton, Bennett Thomas, Jonathan Alston, and Jeremy Orton
2/C: Andre Moorehead, Robert Brubaker, Shane Quinn, and Ian McGraw
3/C: Hunter Bloy, Christopher Whippo, Daniel Bird, and Colton Oviatt
4/C: William Johnson, Wesley Guidice, Chad Rogers, and Ryan Chang

The team holding onto the Joint Service Academy Combat Weapons Competition trophy. The competition was held at Smith and Wesson Academy. Bennett Thomas won first, Daniel Bird was 6th, Colin Burtin was 7th, and Shane Quinn was 8th overall.

The team in Florida for Spring Break; the firsties holding the Service Academy trophy with their coach; the team posing in Memorial Hall.

CRU

CRU is a community of people whose lives have been transformed by Jesus Christ. We are passionate As a ministry, our mission is to transform hearts on the Yard and to send Christ-centered laborers out into the world. CRU meets every Tuesday night in the Laboon Center from 1900 to 2000 during the academic year, so come on out!

Top: Members of CRU enjoy dinner at the 2012 Radiate Conference.

Middle: CRU Members enjoy an 80's themed party. So much neon.

Below from Left to Right: Fall 2012 Retreat; Dominican Republic Mission Trip.

Filipino-American Club

Mabuhay! The Filipino-American Club is one of the most active ECAs on the Yard and embodies the spirit of the American Filipino community. It allows Midshipmen with Filipino lineage to come together to enjoy the simple pleasures which give way to the term "Pinoy Pride." The Filipino-American club is open to anyone who has an interest in this proud Asian-Pacific culture, whether you know a Filipino or just love the food.

This USNA group is also active with the East Coast chapter of the Filipino Intercollegiate Networking Dialogue, or FIND for short. FIND is a student-led organization dedicated to promoting unity and cooperation amongst Filipino and Filipino-American students. From flag football and basketball to picnics and fomals the USNA Filipino-American Club digs deep to embrace its roots in the Filipino community and welcomes anyone and everyone interested with open arms.

The Fil-Am Club is active physically, culturally and socially.

Formula SAE

The USNA Formula SAE (FSAE) Team is an engineering capstone team comprised of Mechanical, Aerospace, and Systems Engineering students who combine to produce a small formula-style prototype race car for evaluation as a production item. The team travels to Michigan International Speedway every May to compete against 119 other collegiate FSAE teams in a competition hosted by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE). The 2013 team is advised by CAPT Len Hamilton, led by Nick Gfeller, and comprised of Tyler Faris, Dan Deland, Ryan Pangborn, Josh Pangborn, Wynn Van Norman, Ryan Benroth, Katrina Lintz, Ethan English, James Rocha, Zach Basich, Andy Musselwhite, Mark Rintz, and Eric More.

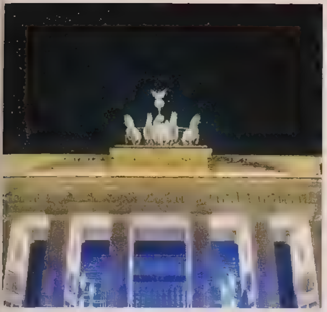
The Formula SAE Team posing for a team photo, and member Zachary Basich in the cockpit of one of the team designed race cars.

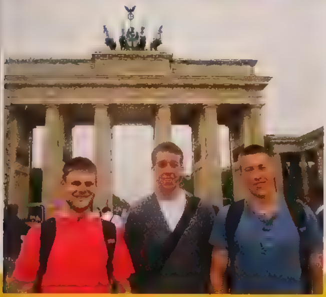
NAVY
racing
FORMULA SAE TEAM

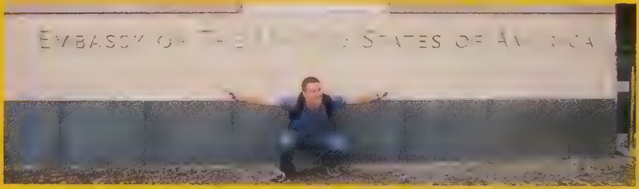
The team by the seawall for a picture, a member working on the car, and an example of the team's hardwork and dedication paying off, resulting in the construction of a car.

German Club

The German Club focuses on language and culture events, and provides Midshipmen the opportunity to broaden their cultural horizon through visits to the German Embassy, traditional German dinners, speaking hours and presentations. The Club also hosts exchange cadets and supports Midshipmen abroad. This year, through the combined effort of 1/C Alison Reed, Club President, and Fregattenkapitän Weber, Officer Representative, the German Club has been the most active its has been in recent years.







The German Club is full of cultured and well-traveled members who seek education on more than just the German language.

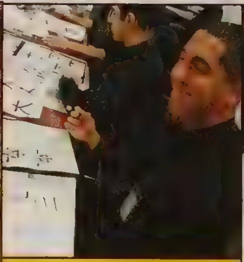
Above: German Club members visit the German Embassy in Washington, D.C. during the Spring semester.

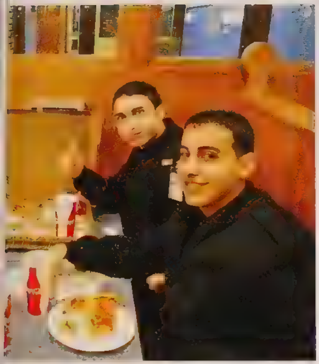
Japanese-American Club

The US-Japan relationship is one of most unusual history and circumstance. Nonetheless, the two navies are now closer than ever before. At USNA, the Japanese-American club does their part to contribute toward building upon this relationship and is committed to strengthening the ties between the two cultures. By enabling Midshipmen with opportunities to explore the Japanese language, tradition, and culture, others are helped in learning more about our "tomodachi" (friends) across the Pacific.

Midshipmen grabbing food at one of the club's meetings, posing with the Japanese flag and an umbrella, Midshipmen smiling next to two Japanese American Club guests.

Below: Under the cherry trees, learning origami at the International Week celebration, practicing to write Kanji, and posing with an Japanese officer.





International Midshipmen Club

The Brigade of Midshipmen is composed of a diverse body of people with ties to all parts of the globe. Each year about 10 international midshipmen are accepted to the USNA. As a result, the Brigade of Midshipmen represents not only the 50 states of the Union, but also more than 30 foreign countries. Those who attend the Academy for 4 years, have to wear the U.S. Navy uniform and undergo typical training as the regular midshipmen. However, one can see many on the yard who wear foreign uniforms. The distinction is that these students if attending the institution, are semester exchange students

The International Midshipmen Club strives to foster international relations. The club members travel to the West Point or Coast Guard Service Academies in order to meet with colleagues from other countries or visit friends from the same country. This leads to the learning of customs and courtesies, militaries, and foods and cultures of foreign countries

International midshipmen posing for a group photo in the rotunda, standing with one of their sponsor mothers, eating pizza at the club's pizza party and two international officers looking at a football trophy.

The International Midshipman Club's firstie gathering together for a group photo and goofing around during the holiday season.

Knights of Columbus

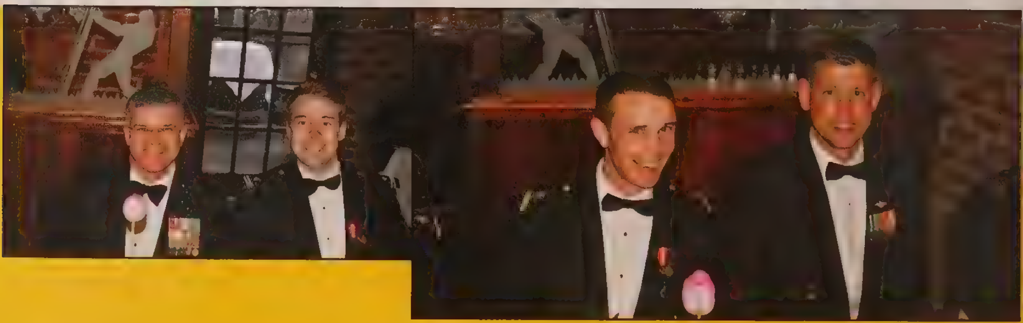
The Knights of Columbus is a Catholic fraternal organization that strives to help strengthen the Catholic community at USNA through fellowship, education, and service projects. The organization originated to assist low income Catholic immigrants but has, in its many years, expanding its philanthropic efforts into the world's largest Catholic fraternal organization. This ECA is just one of many community service based groups that exist at the United States Naval Academy.

Grand Knight: 2/C Scott Oberst

Top Right and Middle: The Knights participate in a service project at the Missionaries of Charity convent in Washington, D.C. The convent also serves as a hospice for the poor who are suffering from terminal illnesses.

Right: The Knights pose in front of Gate One on the night of their formal dining out, with Father Parisi as the Guest of Honor

Below from Left to Right: Former Grand Knight 1/C Karl Knight with Father Michael Parisi, CAPT, USN, and Grand Knight 2/C Scott Oberst with Father Thomas O'Flanagan, LT, USN.



Korean-American Midshipman Association

KAMA is a group made up of a diverse group of individuals. Korean Americans, Republic of Korea midshipmen and Korean culture lovers make up the club. Our mission is to create a loving, family atmosphere, centered around a shared passion for the Korean culture, that facilitates the development of its members into outstanding Navy and Marine Corps officers through mentorship, leadership opportunities and volunteer activities.

President - Joshua Sohn
Secretary - Joyce Kim
Treasurer - Yohan Bae
Business Manager - Timothy Walters

Members of the KAMA posing for a group picture in the Rotunda and preparing various foods prepared during a luncheon with the club.

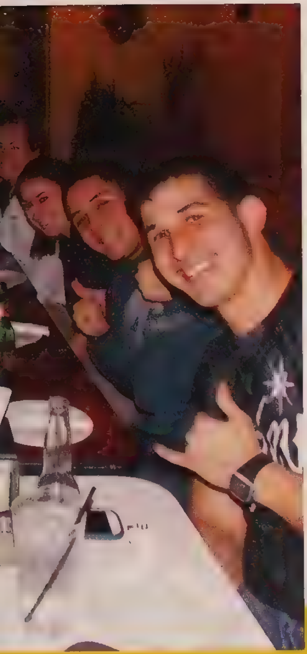
Midshipman gathering for a time of good food, laughs, and bonding over games and a shared cultural interest.

Labyrinth

The Labyrinth is an annual publication of the creative genius of the Academy's Midshipmen as expressed in poetry, prose, art, and music. Midshipmen design and edit the magazine, with guidance from the English Department's Faculty, and publish the annual edition of the Labyrinth. We publish in book form, but also online at usna.edu/Labyrinth. We were proud to host monthly Open Mic Nights, featuring musical and comedic talent from all classes; sound support is provided by Navy Beats. We are proud to support the creativity of the Brigade, and to publish it!

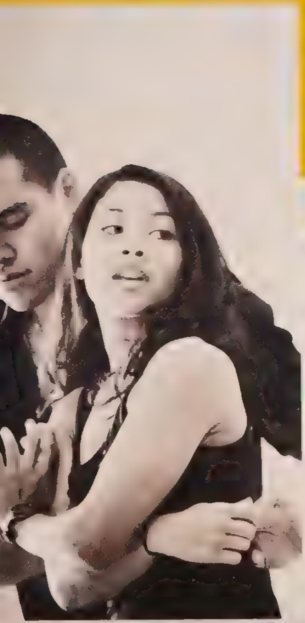
The Labyrinth staff. Pictured left to right: Erin Bacon, Erica Leinmiller, Marissa Lihan, Susannah Johnson, Virginia Burger, Heather Bui. Not pictured: Jorge Garate, John Williamson, Raymond Sudduth, Paige Ward, Olivia Yeager.

Labyrinth staff's most popular event is Open Mic Night, , where the Brigade comes out to watch as many Midshipmen demonstrate their musical talents.



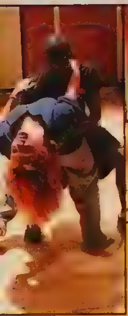
Latin-American Studies Club

The Latin-American Studies Club is dedicated to helping Midshipmen learn and understand the Latin American culture. They achieve this in a variety of ways, including the Latin-American Dance Club that performs at major Naval Academy events, such as I-Ball. This club is also involved heavily in community service. They try to inspire at-risk children and help them determine the number of options the future holds. Latin-American Studies is a wonderful club to be a part of. Whether just for fun or for the community service opportunities, come on out!



The Latin-American Studies Club meets with some of the less privileged youth in the community, practices for upcoming dance performances, and poses with Major General Angela Salinas, USMC.

Dancing is a large part of the Latin-American culture. It is no surprise that his club embraces dancing to the fullest .



Navy Equestrian Team

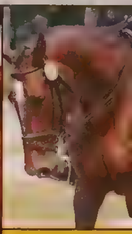
The USNA Equestrian Team was reinstated this year and had several active members including it's President, Brittany Love; Vice President Elizabeth Corcoran; a foreign exchange student, Nana Marleike; and the team Secretary Savannah Stafford. Each team member comes from a different background but we all have one thing in common; HORSES! There are many different riding styles but we came together as a team to develop our skills as riders, people, and friends. The team looks forward to many more years of friendship and a love and passion of horses while giving back to the community.

Right: Frankie Gale jumping in a competition.

Far Right: Tara Cutner poses with her horse

Right: A great day for ring work on the farm; Brittany Love and Nana Marleike enjoy an afternoon on their hoses.

From Left to Right: Dressage; Brittany jumping Koda; Nana and Roadrunner; Melissa Sinar and her horse Sammy; a horse at Dressage.



Model United Nations

The Naval Academy Model United Nations Club participates in academic simulations of the United Nations that seek to discuss and explore possible solutions to current events and topics in international relations. Midshipmen in Model UN have the opportunity to convene with like-minded individuals from a variety of universities to participate in mock United Nations Committee Sessions. They role play as delegates to the United Nations in order to debate and attempt to solve the world's crises, from the issues in Palestine to human trafficking to drug trade. The midshipmen travel to conferences hosted by other colleges on the east coast. This year, led by President Eric Davids, USNA Model UN traveled to UPMUNC XLVI in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania which was hosted by the University of Pennsylvania.

Left: 2/C Eric Davids, 1/C Matt Disher, and 2/C Cody Anderson meeting with local high school Model UN clubs as community outreach.

Below Left: 2/C Austin Dahmer looking very dapper between committee sessions

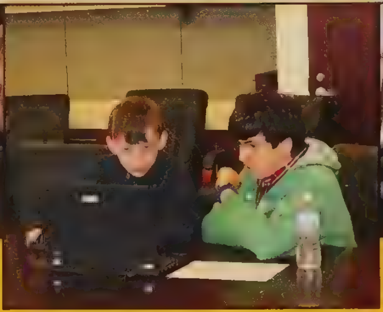
Below Right: 1/C Chloe Staab in heated debate as the delegate from Bulgaria.

MSTEM

MSTEM is an organization based primarily on spreading the influences of technology and science amongst both the local community and abroad. Throughout the past school year, the organization has held numerous opportunities for Mids to get involved both on and off the yard One of these opportunities in particular was the Sea Perch ship building program which equips students and teachers with the resources to build ian underwater Remotely Operated Vehicle (ROV). MSTEM was also involved in hosting science fairs, LEGO and bridge building competitions, and USNA tours for Girls Scout Troops and middle school Students.

©CHRIS LINDER

MSTEM Midshipmen helping out with STEM competitions and exhibits.Through programs such as Sea Perch, Midshipmen had the opportunity to travel to places such as Frnechtown, Montana to represent the Naval Academy's STEM program.



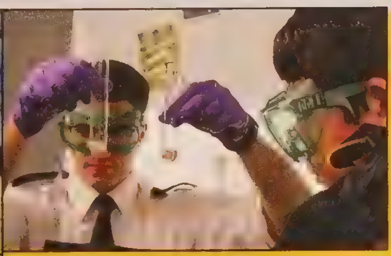
BARROW HIGH SCHOOL

Electronics

National Eagle Scout Association

National Eagle Scout Association, otherwise known as "NESA," prides itself on giving back to many local Boy Scout Troops in the area. These acts of philanthropy include merit badge days, guided tours of the yard, and STEM programs. The organization also hosts several outings and functions throughout the year for its members to enjoy.

Shown are NESA Midshipmen helping out with the organization's annual merit badge day. The organization hosts troops from all over the country in order to help scouts complete merit badges, one of the many requirements to reach the rank of Eagle Scout.



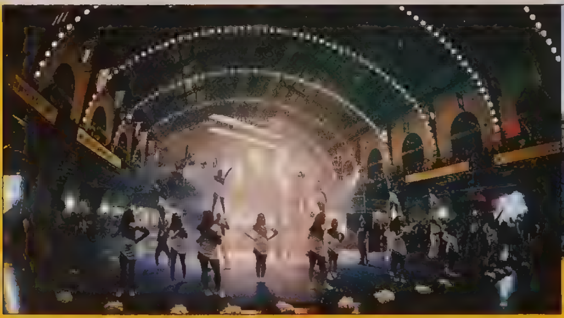
Navy Cheer

The USNA cheerleading program is a constantly growing program, always looking for ways to improve itself. Focused on both supporting the Brigade and competing, the Navy Cheerleaders raise the morale of the fans and midshipmen at many sporting events the Academy participates in. The cheerleaders can be seen taking an active role in leading the Brigade's spirit at all the football games, all home men and women's basketball games, the Pride Bowl (Sprint Football-Army vs Navy). However, the cheerleaders' roles go beyond the field. You can witness their enthusiasm at all the Pep Rallies pre-game tailgaters, many Spirit Activities, along with several visits throughout the year to important Armed Services locations such as the Pentagon. The cheerleaders, both male and female, put in as many hours as other varsity organizations on the yard. The cheerleaders practice at minimum 2 hours a day from August to May, along with all their performances and games. On top of cheerleading activities, they participate in all military obligations including formations, meals, watch standing, spring drill and upholding the regulations and traditions of the Academy. They also participate in many other company activities and ECAs.. Many cheerleaders boast very respectable CQPRs (Cumulative grading scheme that includes GPA, military performance and physical standards of readiness) and are on the Superintendent's and Commandant's Lists. In a few short years, each cheerleader will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree and receive their commission in the United States Navy or Marine Corps.

BEAT
ARMY
NAVY
NAVY
NAVY
NAVY

GO NAVY!
BEAT ARMY!

Pep Rallies have become a new venue for Navy Cheer.



NAVY
NAVY
NAVY

The USNA Cheerleading Team has traditionally been visible at mainly Football games. This year however, the team has done a great job at expanding its presence to other sports such as Lacrosse.

The happiest mids on the yard...

Navy Parachute Team

The mission of the Navy Parachute Team is: To develop a capable contingent to represent the United States Naval Academy at inter-service and inter-collegiate skydiving competitions; including the United States Parachute Association Collegiate National Championships. To train selected midshipmen from the Parachute Team to demonstrate precision freefall and parachute accuracy skills on-campus, at Navy-Marine Corps stadium, or any other venue where exposure to the public of contemporary Academy programs may enhance it's image and progressive nature.

Captain
Dan Murphy

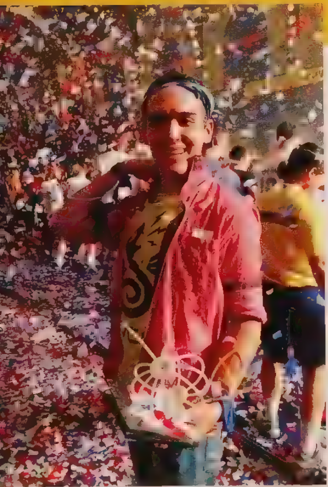
Co-Captain
Zach Tatum

Sam Prescott
Mitch Graves
Nick Hardesty
Elise Lagergren
Josh Whitt
Nick Aufderheide
Brian Halloway
Cait Chrans
Matt McKeen

The trust relationship required in the practice of this exhilarating pastime is crucial.

Lucky Bag

The Lucky Bag Yearbook is dedicated to providing the Brigade of Midshipmen with volumes of their experiences during their time at the United States Naval Academy. For over one hundred years, the yearbook staff has coordinated with photographers and publishers to make professional, lasting chronicles of the rich history of the Academy. Located in their workshop atop the Rotunda, the dedicated and committed yearbook staff works year-round to continue to document the history of this high profile, patriotic institution.



MATERIAL ONLY

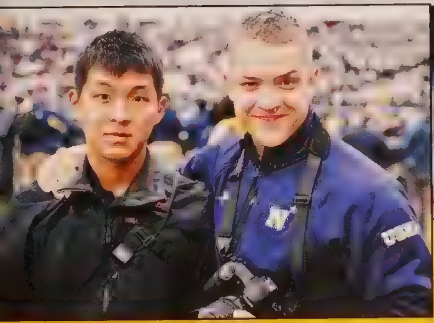
Lucky Bag Staff:

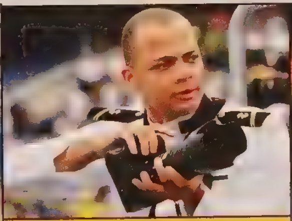
President - Valerie Tucciarone
Head Photographer - Josh Ramey
Secretary - Jeff Martino
Treasurer - Anton Eckman
1st LT - Tymescia Chase

Section Editors - Natalie Schimelpfenig, Brian Ma, Killian Corbishley, Tanner Anjola, Christian Reagan, Justin Versteeg

Contributors - Nick Aufderheide, Erin Bacon, Laura Burzenski, Nathalie Pauwels, Sheelby-Wayne Williams, Naticha Jamordee-Connor, Victoria Rand, John Remy, Cynthia Nestor, Cameron Smith

Photographers: Brian Fitzgerald, Vytautas Drejeris, Yoseph Yoo, Jeff Martino, Kurtis Khol, Tom Ferrara





20 13
USNA
CEDIMUS NIHIL

"It is wonderful to be able to celebrate this incredible Class of 2013."

President Obama
USNA Commencement
May 24, 2013

Class of 2013 History

2009-10
Plebe Year

The year we became friends, and beat the Herndon climb record.

Having been touted as the best class to ever come through the U.S. Naval Academy, we established ourselves early in formation. We were the most intelligent, diverse and (soon to be) most infamous class. Furthermore, our NAPSters were not only the last "true" NAPS class; it was also this most infamous NAPS Class which set the tone for our own future reputation at restriction musters.

While Plebe Summer was difficult and challenging for a few, despite what anyone wants to admit, we set our first record at the Naval Academy when we lost fewer people than any other class during Plebe Summer. Some might say we were just a hardened class.

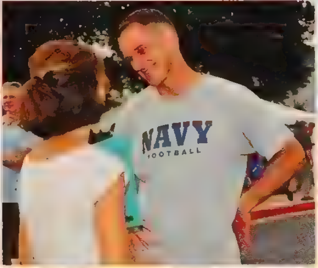
As we moved into the Academic year we were "Klunderstruck" with free weekends and a happy morale. Needless to say, we were blissful Plebers.

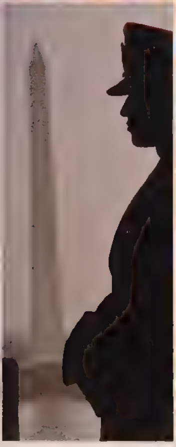
As the year grudgingly progressed we all persevered through what was the most miserably cold winter for many us. We trenched through the mounds of a snow storm, the most legendary snow storm in Naval Academy history... "Snowmagedon." Memories of snowball fights, football games, and other snow storm activities are fond memories to all of us.

As the year came to an end, we had our greatest challenge ahead of us: Herndon. However, in typical Class of 2013 fashion we had to be different and the administration felt the same. We climbed Herndon so fast that we completed it nearly as fast as any other class in Naval Academy history. While many Classes have given us grief, the truth is that they are just jealous that they did not find a way to work smarter, not harder.

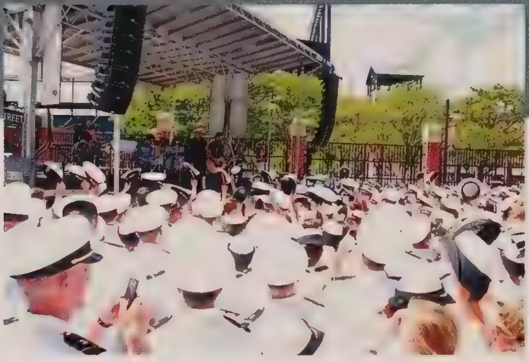
Our greaseless Herndon; 10th Company's Plebe Summer portrait; a snow covered window from inside Bancroft Hall; 4/c Aaron Van Driessche receiving his 3/c anchor after Sea Trials; "Snowmagedon," an international student receives the Oath of Office on July 1st, 2009; 4/c Uziel Ladaw hugs family members on I-Day; 4/c Joshua Ramey hugs his mother on I-Day; 4/c Angel Burgos visits Washington, D.C. on an S.M.T.; 4/c Byrne on I-Day with her father, a future USNA Commandant; 4/c Brendan Hanlon on CMOD at 0400; 4/c Drew Van Heest on I-Day; Captain Klunder at a football game, and us plebes "chopping."

Plebe Year is always the longest; but it gets quicker every year onward.

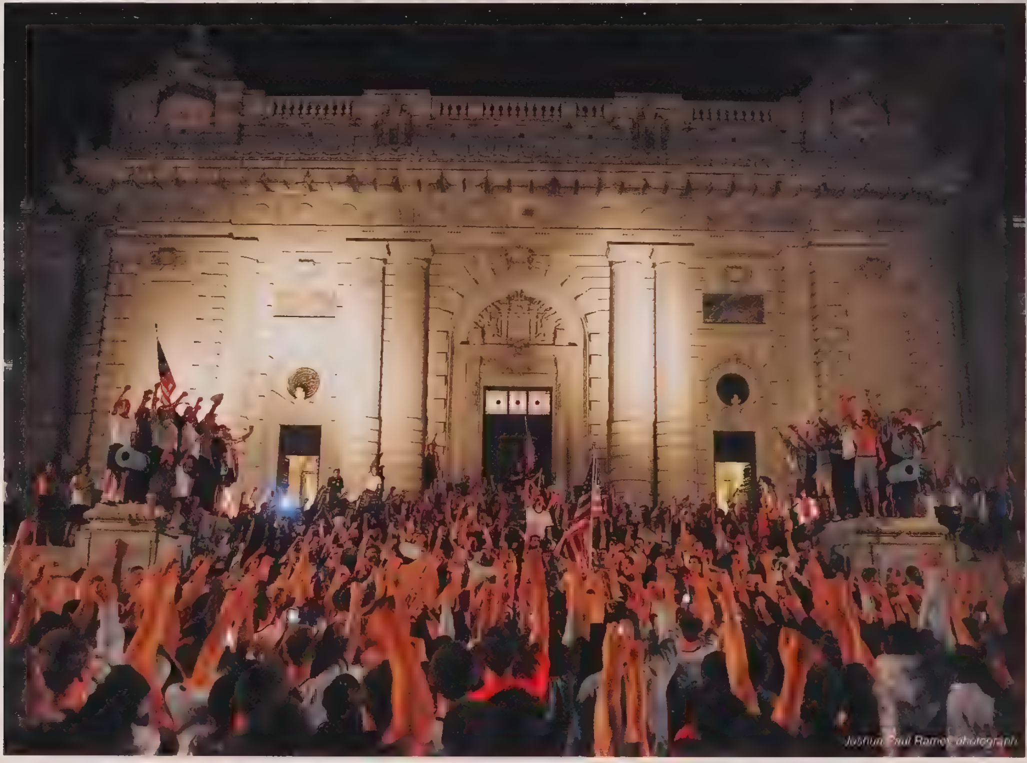




3/c Alison Reed on her thrilling YP cruise; the Brigade at the Montgomery Gentry PEP rally; the Goo Goo Dolls performs for the Brigade; the "Osama bin Laden's Demise" photograph, captured early in the AM in front of Bancroft Hall at after the announcement concerning the Navy SEALs was made; Capt. Jim Lovell, USN, Apollo 13 commander as a Forrestal guest speaker; a classmate during colors duty in the dead of winter; Herndon climb 2.0 on May 2, 2011 (perhaps making up for the one our Plebe year); and 3/c Chris Arndt and 3/c Michael Newton as Midshipmen Fleet Admirals, USN (ret.).



Youngster year was faster than the last, and we don't remember much from it either.



Joshua Paul Ramey photograph

Osama bin Laden's Demise

2010-11 Youngster Year

The year we recovered from our first, and reached the halfway point through NOT COLLEGE

Unlike most 3/c years, our Youngster year was full of some very interesting events.

We started the year off with too many Midshipmen in the Brigade and who better to make live in random places with other Company Spaces than the Class of 2013? However, there would soon be a surplus of empty racks in Bancroft Hall as Physics, Calculus 3, and Statics left their mark on the Class of 2013.

Nevertheless, we were Plebes no More, and "Friday" by Rebecca Black was on repeat.

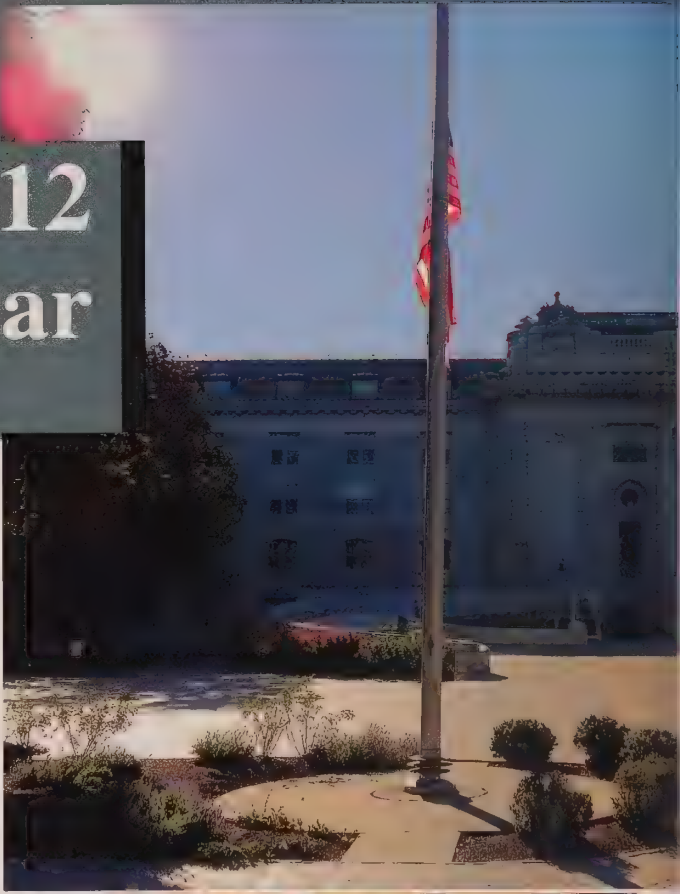
Later, one of America's most respected musicians, Toby Keith, performed a great concert and in the end encouraged us to never apologize for being patriotic!

In May, justice was served. Osama bin Laden's demise was truly a night we would never forget. We even climbed Herndon a second time and paid a visit to DTA at 2am.

May 2, 2011 put things into perspective why we chose the Naval Academy, and took an oath to protect the American way of life!

2011-12 Junior Year

The year we signed our lives away, and received our class rings.



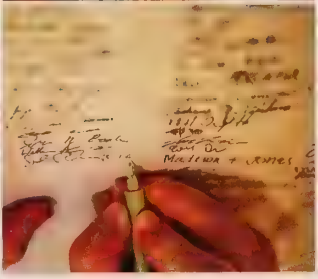
With the momentum of bringing justice to Osama bin Laden and a great time at Protramid (for all of us who did not get caught doing something restriction-worthy), we were all anxious to sign our "2 for 7s." Once arriving back to the Academy, our lives were set in stone for another 7 years to serve this great nation that we all love; there is no better group to do it with than the Class of 2013.

With the academic "rigors" of Youngster year over with and all other shenanigans to recover from, we came back equipped to lead a new crop of Plebes. Neither hurricanes nor earthquakes would stop us that year. We even beat Army for the 10th year in a row – a "Decade of Dominance." That fall also marked the 10th anniversary of 9-11-2001, the event which single-handedly motivated many of us to join the military. Soon enough, we all began making more mature decisions and we were ready to assume leadership of the Brigade.

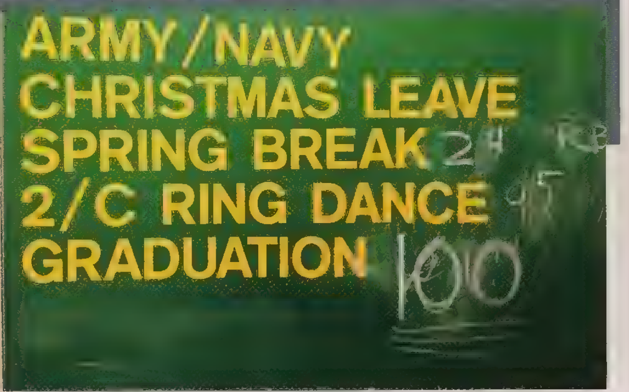
The year came to an close in May of 2012 with the party of our lives, or at least the best party while at the Naval Academy: 2/C Ring Dance. It was a historic night, even if the official glasses we were given said "May 19, 2013" on them. From that night onward we could officially wear our rings, something that bonds us for life!

Flag at half mast on September 11th, 2011; an honorable guest speaker at the 10th Anniversary of 9-11 ceremony in Memorial Hall; 2/c Brian Fitzgerald and his fiance at 2/c Ring Dance; "That 3/c Guy" kisses Katy Perry at one of our Brigade concerts; the dance floor at 2/c Ring Dance; picking our rings out in October; 2/c Sarah Beth Rupp and 2/c Kelsey Owen's choose their USNA Class Rings; 2/c Commitment Dinner table; 2/c John Rex Spivey, the 2013 Class President, speaks with a 1963 Class President; "2 for 7" signatures; Admiral Mike Mullen, USN, the CJCS displays his moustache from his JO days; and 2/c Quinn Sloan on a summer quest.

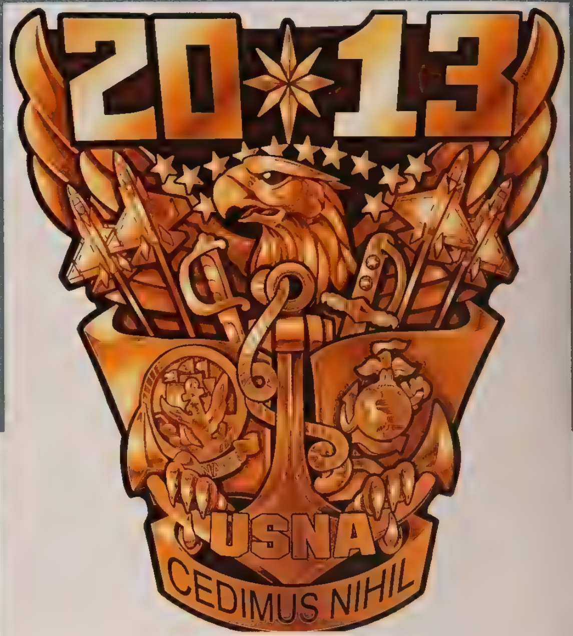
The year we were allowed to wear "civies," and braved EE together.



"The Days" on the company chalk board; our 2013 Class Crest (above); our final wax stripping for the Spring Alpha Inspection; classmates toss their old MIDN covers in the air; our miniature pins; the 4/c attempt to shave the heads of USMC selects; 1/c Mary Senoyuit receives her ship selection; a brave classmate plays croquet to defeat St. John's College for the first time in 8 years; antics during our Halloween Dinner in King Hall; 1/c Stanley at formation during Plebe Summer; Tecumseh painted up for our Commissioning Week; 1/c Victoria Cannon at a Formal Parade; and the football team celebrating their 11th win against Army.

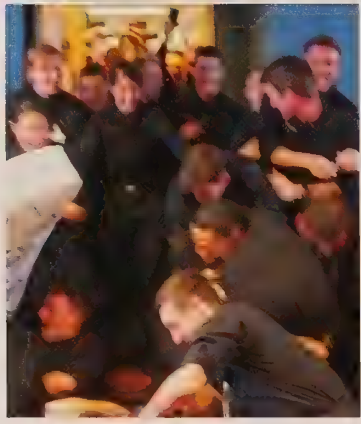


ARMY / NAVY
CHRISTMAS LEAVE
SPRING BREAK 24
2/C RING DANCE 45
GRADUATION 100



20 13
USNA
CEDIMUS NIHIL

Firstie year was by far the fastest. We will soon miss those days together.



USS ELROD FFG 55

COMMISSIONING WEEK
2013
CEDIMUS
NIHIL

2012-13 Firstie Year

The year we received our service selection, and finally graduated from Severn University.

Our final year was one that simply flew by. At one moment we were training a new crop of 4/c in Plebe Summer, the very next we were receiving our commission. While there were significant events in between, Firstie year was by far the shortest. At least we will all look fresh with our new Character Capstone suits.

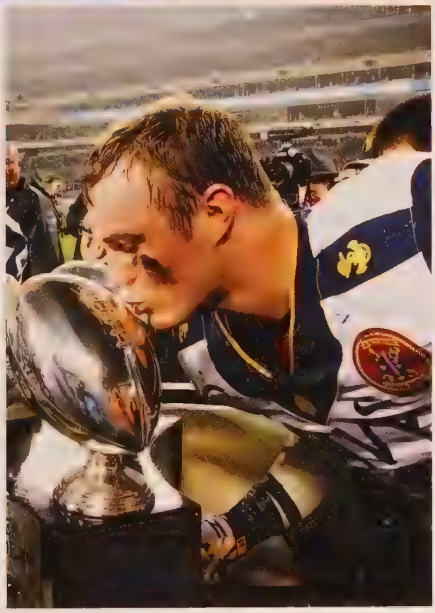
In November, we finally found out on Service Selection night our future for years to come. The anxious waiting came to an end; our celebration brought a fun filled evening of food, drinks and fellowship with great classmates. The night was capped off by singing "Wagon Wheel," smoking cigars, and drinking a nice cold beer in the cigar tent outside Dahlgren. It was a night that none of us would ever forget.

In December, we experienced our last Army-Navy game together, making it 4 for 4 in beating Army during our stay at the Academy.

Ultimately, the highlight of our time at the Academy came when we received our diplomas and commissioning from the President of the United States on May 24th, 2013. It was freezing cold, rainy, and frankly miserable - but we can certainly all say it was a day of relief, peace and joy.

Undoubtedly, the Class of 2013 left a great mark on the Naval Academy and we will go on to do great things. Our sense of humor, personality, initiative, and courage will take us far. We had a great time while at the Academy, in fact such a good time that we reportedly served more restriction than any other class in USNA history. What can we say…we weren't there for a long time, but it was a good time.

From here onward, we shall progress to do great things for this world, and we will forever be tied in unity as the great Class of 2013.



Class of 1963

Link In The Chain

The group of young men who arrived in Annapolis, Maryland, "...where Severn joins the tide..." on 7 July 1959 and the 876 who graduated on 5 June 1963, forever linked.

The Class of 1963 was inducted on 7 July 1959, numbering 1,205 young men comprised of appointees from 48 States (no member from North Dakota), the Territory of Hawaii (not yet a state), the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone, and six foreign countries. We were the only class inducted under a 49-star U.S. flag.

We were the last class to wear detachable collars with our white dress shirts; the last to have our names stenciled across our white works uniforms; and the last to wear cloth cap covers and cape-style "rain gear."

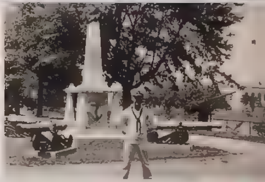
We were the last class to enjoy "Exchange Weekend" with West Point, where all 2/c Midshipmen, in successive small groups, spent several days at The Point, stepping into the life and academic schedule of a counterpart cadet while cadets did the same in our places at Navy.

At our commencement on 5 June 1963, Vice President Lyndon Johnson presented diplomas and commissions to a class whose ranks numbered 876.

Subsequent to graduation, members of the Class served with distinction in all the services during the years of the Cold War, Vietnam, and the first Gulf War. Thirteen graduates were lost in Vietnam and two were held as POWs. Another 15 died in the line of duty over the years. Classmates serving in combat were awarded three Navy Crosses, one Army Distinguished Service Cross, and 15 Silver Stars.

The Class established a Foundation to provide educational assistance to the children of deceased classmates, and also founded the Class of 1963 Center for Academic Excellence at the Academy.

Twenty 1963 graduates achieved flag rank. Class members not serving a career in the military achieved notable success as physicians, actors, dentists, writers, artists, educators, jurists, clergymen, scientists, lawyers, and leading business executives. It is an established fact that the Class of 1963 had the last true Plebe Year.

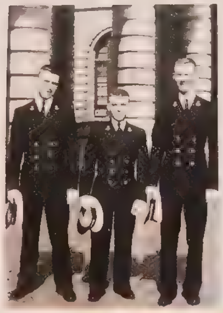


4TH COMPANY

The Class of 1963 and 2013 have been splendid "Link In The Chain" partners.

US NA

1963



THE USNA BRIGADE

Fall Brigade Staff

Midn CAPT JONATHAN POOLE	(08) COMMANDER
Midn CDR NICHOLAS HUTCHINSON	(16) EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn CDR KATIE WHITCOMBE	(21) CHARACTER ADVISOR
Midn LCDR TAYLOR CALIBO	(01) OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LCDR ERIC WASHKEWICZ	(15) TRAINING OFFICER
Midn LCDR ANDREW OWENS	(28) ATHLETIC TEAMS COMMANDER
Midn LCDR ALEXANDRIA GENTRY	(11) SHAPE COMMANDER
Midn LT KATELYN DAVIDSON	(30) ADJUTANT
Midn LT RILEY HARSH	(21) NAFAC MIDSHIPMAN DIRECTOR
Midn LT DAPHNE WILLIAMS	(24) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN
Midn LT ANDREW PRICE	(23) APTITUDE AND CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn LT COLIN BRUTON	(25) PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)/INTRAMURALS OFFICER
Midn LT JOHN CARLOS	(30) ASSISTANT OPERATIONS/SUPPLY OFFICER
Midn LT DAVID TOWLE	(09) ASSISTANT OPERATIONS/ACADEMIC OFFICER
Midn LT JOSHUA SOHN	(27) SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LT JACK HILT	(13) ANTI-TERRORISM/FORCE PROTECTION (AT/FP) OFFICER
Midn LT ZACHARY DERRICK	(11) SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE (SAR) GUIDE
Midn LT TYLER LEDOUX	(20) YP SQUADRON COMMODORE
Midn LT BENJAMIN WATSON	(24) ASSISTANT CHARACTER ADVISOR
Midn LT JOHN ASELTON	(12) ADEO/CMEO
Midn LT KELSEY RAGSDALE	(09) PROTOCOL
Midn LT WILLIAM ZAPALA	(03) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LT MATTHEW YATES	(22) MIS LIAISON OFFICER
Midn LT TYLER COLEMAN	(22) MIS LIAISON OFFICER
Midn LT MATTHEW DAUGHERTY	(12) MIDSHIPMAN ACTION GROUP PRESIDENT
Midn LT MICHAELA BILOTTA	(22) PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICER (PAO)
Midn LT JORDAN TIMMRECK	(21) 1ST LIEUTENANT
Midn LT ASHLEIGH SHARE	(02) ASSISTANT ADJUTANT/ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER
Midn LT JOHN CROW	(07) SHAPE EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LT SAMUEL STRELKOFF	(14) MEN'S GLEE CLUB PRESIDENT
Midn LT ASHLEIGH SHARE	(02) WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB PRESIDENT
Midn LT GREGORY MCMILLAN	(14) GOSPEL CHOIR PRESIDENT
Midn LTJG PATRICK COSTELLO	(18) RELIGIOUS PROGRAMS OFFICER
Midn LTJG DANIEL QUINN	(08) ASSISTANT ADJUTANT (LIFEGUARD COORDINATOR)
Midn LTJG RILEY HARSH	(21) NAFAC EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LTJG SARA SANCHEZMALDONADO	(15) SHAPE OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LTJG NICOLE BREEN	(14) SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE (SAR) EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LTJG NICOLAS LEBOVITZ	(07) ASSISTANT TRAINING OFFICER
Midn LTJG CHARLES JOHNSON	(01) YP SQUAD VICE COMMODORE
Midn LTJG EMANI DECQUIR	(19) ASST ADEO FOR ATHLETICS
Midn LTJG TROY TAUBER	(27) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE VICE CHAIRMAN
Midn LTJG CAROLINE LOPEZ	(11) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LTJG BRITTANY FRUIN	(30) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE LOGISTICS OFFICER
Midn LTJG MICHAEL DELONG	(28) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE CURRICULUM OFFICER
Midn LTJG SEAN SWEENEY	(01) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE TECHNOLOGY OFFICER
Midn SMAJ B UMBACH - 2/C	(09) SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT A NUNES - 2/C	(08) DRILL SERGEANT
Midn SGT D WILLIAMS - 2/C	(27) CHARACTER SERGEANT
Midn SGT B BERKEY - 2/C	(19) TRAINING SERGEANT
Midn SGT S QUINN - 2/C	(01) ASSISTANT PMO

Spring Brigade Staff

NA 36
VALIANT

Midn CAPT JENNIFER JONES	(14) COMMANDER
Midn CDR BENJAMIN PUTBRESE	(28) EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn CDR GIIEHTI CHRISTIAN	(01) CHARACTER ADVISOR
Midn LCDR MARK CARRION	(18) OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LCDR FRANCHESKA SOTO	(25) TRAINING OFFICER
Midn LCDR ANDREW OWENS	(28) ATHLETIC TEAMS COMMANDER
Midn LCDR ERIC WOOTTEN	(22) SHAPE COMMANDER
Midn LT ANDREW SHEA	(04) ADJUTANT
Midn LT RILEY HARSH	(21) NAFAC MIDSHIPMAN DIRECTOR
Midn LT DAPHNE WILLIAMS	(24) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN
Midn LT VICTORIA CANNON	(10) SEA TRIALS COMMANDER
Midn LT CLAIRE FLETCHER	(17) APTITUDE AND CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn LT CHRIS FUSSMAN	(01) PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)/INTRAMURALS OFFICER
Midn LT MATTHEW WRIGHT	(09) ASSISTANT OPERATIONS/SUPPLY OFFICER
Midn LT ALLISON MAHER	(26) ASSISTANT OPERATIONS/ACADEMIC OFFICER
Midn LT JOSHUA SOHN	(27) SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LT JACK HILT	(13) ANTI-TERRORISM/FORCE PROTECTION (AT/FP) OFFICER
Midn LT NICOLE BREEN	(14) SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE (SAR) GUIDE
Midn LT CHARLES JOHNSON	(01) YP SQUADRON COMMODORE
Midn LT JUSTIN MUELLER	(01) ASSISTANT CHARACTER ADVISOR
Midn LT JOHN ASELTON	(12) ADEO/CMEO
Midn LT KELSEY RAGSDALE	(09) PROTOCOL
Midn LT ANTIONNE WINSTON	(12) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LT TYLER COLEMAN	(22) MIS LIAISON OFFICER
Midn LT MATTHEW YATES	(22) MIS LIAISON OFFICER
Midn LT MATTHEW DISHER	(24) MIDSHIPMAN ACTION GROUP PRESIDENT
Midn LT CAITLIN FORAN	(13) PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICER (PAO)
Midn LT JORDAN TIMMRECK	(21) 1ST LIEUTENANT
Midn LT ADRIAN BOSCH	(08) ASSISTANT ADJUTANT/ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER
Midn LT NICHOLAS BONSALL	(21) SHAPE EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LT SAMUEL STRELKOFF	(14) MEN'S GLEE CLUB PRESIDENT
Midn LT ASHLEIGH SHARE	(02) WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB PRESIDENT
Midn LT RHONDA BANKS	(02) GOSPEL CHOIR PRESIDENT
Midn LTJG CORY LEVITON	(18) RELIGIOUS PROGRAMS OFFICER
Midn LTJG FERNANDO LOPEZSOTELO	(01) SEA TRIALS EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LTJG JACQUELINE PENICHET	(19) SEA TRIALS OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LTJG NICHOLAS CAMPBELL	(29) SEA TRIALS LOGISTICS OFFICER
Midn LTJG DANIEL QUINN	(08) ASSISTANT ADJUTANT (LIFEGUARD COORDINATOR)
Midn LTJG SCOTT ROWE	(22) SHAPE OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LTJG JULIE DIGIOVANNI	(21) SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE (SAR) EXECUTIVE OFFICER
Midn LTJG MICHAEL ODRISCOLL	(11) ASSISTANT TRAINING OFFICER
Midn LTJG EMANI DECQUIR	(19) ASST ADEO FOR ATHLETICS
Midn LTJG TROY TAUBER	(27) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE VICE CHAIRMAN
Midn LTJG CAROLINE LOPEZ	(11) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE OPERATIONS OFFICER
Midn LTJG BRITTANY FRUIN	(30) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE LOGISTICS OFFICER
Midn LTJG MICHAEL DELONG	(28) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE CURRICULUM OFFICER
Midn LTJG CHLOE STAAB	(14) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE SCHOOLS OFFICER
Midn LTJG CHARLOTTE HAUSER	(25) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE SPEAKER OFFICER
Midn LTJG SEAN SWEENEY	(01) LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE TECHNOLOGY OFFICER
Midn ENS ADAM FLOYD	(04) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS BENJAMIN SCHMIDT	(05) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS DAVID NYGREN	(07) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS RAQUEL SMITH	(12) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS THOMAS ELLWOOD	(21) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS DANIEL KIM	(24) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn ENS JEFF LENTZ	(26) SEA TRIALS PHASE COMMANDER
Midn SMAJ M SCHAIDLE - 2/C	(16) SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT A NUNES - 2/C	(08) DRILL SERGEANT
Midn SGT J BROWNING - 2/C	(10) CHARACTER SERGEANT
Midn SGT M GILROY - 2/C	(21) TRAINING SERGEANT
Midn SGT C TIMMINS - 2/C	(01) ASSISTANT PMO
Midn SGT D PIEKUT - 2/C	(05) SEA TRIALS SERGEANT

Fall First Regiment

Midn CDR LOGAN BAKER	(01) CDR
Midn LCDR ALEXANDER KORNICK	(14) XO/CHARACTER ADV
Midn LCDR KEVIN ROTH	(04) HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LT HANNAH DILDINE	(10) OPERATIONS
Midn LT MATTHEW BAGLINI	(04) HONOR ADV INVTS
Midn LTJG CHRISTIAN SMITH	(05) PROTOCOL
Midn LTJG HOUSSEIN CHAWICHE	(13) PROTOCOL
Midn LTJG ANTIONNE WINSTON	(12) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LTJG BRYAN BERNREUTHER	(14) ADJUTANT
Midn 2/C JUSTIN WHITE	(04) SGT MAJ
Midn 2/C AIMEE GENNARO	(05) SPORTS BOSS
Midn 2/C JEFFERSON TALICURAN	(05) DRILL SERGEANT

Spring First Regiment

Midn CDR JOSEPH ECONOMOU	(13) CDR
Midn LCDR BRADLEY NYE	(07) XO/CHARACTER ADV
Midn LCDR KEVIN ROTH	(04) HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LT DERRICK SIMONS	(10) OPERATIONS
Midn LT MATTHEW BAGLINI	(04) HONOR ADV INVTS
Midn LTJG CHRISTIAN SMITH	(05) PROTOCOL
Midn LTJG LESLIE BEATRICE	(08) PROTOCOL
Midn LTJG WILLIAM ZAPALA	(03) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LTJG HAROLD HICKEY	(03) ADJUTANT
Midn 2/C ROBERT ANDON	(03) SGT MAJ
Midn 2/C ANDREW GEISLER	(07) SPORTS BOSS
Midn 2/C JEFFERSON TALICURAN	(05) DRILL SERGEANT

Fall First Battalion

Midn LCDR KNUDSEN, JOCELYNN S	(03) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT DRAKE, CATHERINE E	(04) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT RINTZ, ERIC L	(03) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT WONDOLOWSKI, ANDREW J	(05) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG LASALLE, NICHOLAS R	(04) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG RADEMAKER, BLAKE E	(02) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG SCHIMELPFENIG, NATALIE M	(01) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG BUTLER, EDWARD J	(02) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG CHRISTIAN, GIIEHTI D	(01) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG SAYLOR, JAMES P	(05) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG HOOD, CHRISTOPHER A	(05) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG TATUM, ZACHARY S	(02) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG SONNENBERG, IAN J	(01) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG FREITAG, WILLIAM F	(03) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG HOOPER, DEWAYNE B	(04) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG ASDAL, KIRSTEN A	(01) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ NOWAK, HALEY A - 2/C	(04) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT ALLAM, LAUREN E - 2/C	(03) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT UNDERHILL, JENNIFER M - 2/C	(01) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT VASQUEZ, JEREMY O - 2/C	(05) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring First Battalion

Midn LCDR	MUSSELWHITE, STEVEN A	(05) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT	WATSON, REBECCA E	(02) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT	BARBARO, ZACHARY M	(04) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT	WONDOLOWSKI, ANDREW J	(05) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG	IANNACONE, KEVIN M	(05) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG	MELLIN, EMILY M	(05) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG	RADEMAKER, BLAKE E	(02) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG	TOTTA, ANDREW M	(03) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG	CARO, JONADEL R	(05) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG	EIKENBERG, JENNIFER N	(05) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG	ROSS, EDWARD T	(03) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG	PHILBIN, SEAN H	(03) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG	SANTOS, LAVONTAY R	(01) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG	ROOFNER, BRIAN A	(01) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG	KRAMPEN, GENE A	(04) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG	HOOPER, DEWAYNE B	(04) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG	MCKENNA, ERIN K	(04) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ	REYES, SABRINA - 2/C	(02) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT	MILLS, JAMES A - 2/C	(01) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT	EHRHART, EARL D - 2/C	(05) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT	HOOKER, ALLAN J - 2/C	(01) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Fall Second Battalion

Midn LCDR MCCARTHY, SHANNON M	(07) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT RAWLS, MICHAEL T	(06) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT CLEARY, TREVOR M	(10) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT GONZALEZ, VICTORIA E	(06) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG KELLY, KYLE L	(08) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG BORTZ, KERRI L	(08) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG CORNES, DAVID W	(07) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG OJARD, JOHN H	(08) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG DODENHOFF, MICHAEL R	(09) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG SLOAN, QUINN T	(10) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG BEATRICE, LESLIE C	(08) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG AUSTIN, JOHN V	(06) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG STANLEY, ANDREW J	(10) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG NYGREN, DAVID C	(07) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG DUGAN, CHRISTOPHER	(07) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG SLACK, PATRICK R	(08) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG DICKHAUS, TIMOTHY J	(07) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG CHAMBLESS, KATIE L	(09) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ FOGLEMAN, SARAH A - 2/C	(08) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT CHRISTOPHER, GARLAND R - 2/C	(10) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT POWERS, JOHN E - 2/C	(07) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT FRON, CHRISTOPHER T - 2/C	(10) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Second Battalion

2ND BATTALION
6
7
8
9
10
USNA
2ND

Midn LCDR YONKINGS, DAVID M	(07) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT SWITANEK, KILEY A	(09) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT BARRY, ANNIE R	(08) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT GONZALEZ, VICTORIA E	(06) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG DREW, JACQUELINE A	(08) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG CAPUANO, HOLLIS A	(10) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG CORNES, DAVID W	(07) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG AMEDIA, SAMUEL I	(06) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG BRANNON, MCKENZIE L	(06) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG REMINGER, DANIELLE C	(07) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG YOUNG, ELIZABETH A	(10) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG SCHWACKE, CHRISTOPHER S	(10) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG ENGLISH, ETHAN L	(08) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG CLEARY, WAYNE R	(06) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG CHARETTE, GABRIEL R	(07) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG DICKHAUS, TIMOTHY J	(07) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG KEELING, KRISTINA M	(09) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ DODSON, SAMUEL S - 2/C	(06) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT LARSON, MICHAEL E - 2/C	(09) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT MACKOVJAK, JAMES M - 2/C	(08) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT FRON, CHRISTOPHER T - 2/C	(10) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT
Midn SGT ARELLANO, AARON - 2/C	(06) BATTALION SEA TRIALS SERGEANT

Fall Third Battalion

Midn LCDR LOPEZ, CAROLINE E	(11) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT CHAPMAN, JUSTIN M	(12) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT MURPHY, CHRISTOPHER T	(11) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT ASELTON, JOHN A	(12) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG DISHMAN, RYAN C	(12) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG RIOJAS, GEORGIA A	(14) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG DANIELS, TIEARA M	(14) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG ESPARZA, AARON W	(11) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG DOWD, THOMAS J	(14) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG CUOMO, MICHAEL J	(11) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG JONES, JENNIFER L	(14) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG KRAMER, MATHEW R	(14) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG MOORMAN, MICHAEL A	(14) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG HANSON, COLTER J	(12) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG ANSTETT, BRET M	(13) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG MACK, JARRED M	(14) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG WASHINGTON, MICHAEL J	(14) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ WILSON, KEVIN M - 2/C	(15) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT MACPHERSON, ANDREW D - 2/C	(15) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT LOCKHART, KEATON T - 2/C	(15) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT CHAUVIN, DANIEL J - 2/C	(14) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Third Battalion

Midn LCDR MARTIN, KEVIN M	(13) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT STEVENS, CHRISTOPHER J	(11) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT THOMAS, MATTHEW J	(11) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT DESOTO, ROSS B	(14) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG HILLROGERS, BRANDON	(15) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG ENGLE, KATHLEEN S	(15) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG DANIELS, TIEARA M	(14) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG LEE, PHILIP S	(15) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG HANSEN, ROLAND J	(11) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG HOOKS, DENNIS J	(14) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG CHAWICHE, HOUSSEIN	(13) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG LAVELLE, SEAN M	(13) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG MOORMAN, MICHAEL A	(14) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG STRELKOFF, SAMUEL F	(14) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG DAUGHERTY, MATTHEW E	(12) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG MCCULLOUGH, JORDAN B	(11) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ COZZA, HAYES M - 2/C	(15) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT HOLLINS, STANLEY E - 2/C	(14) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT ZHONG, ELAINE - 2/C	(12) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT CORETH, ARIEL G - 2/C	(14) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Fall Second Regiment

Midn CDR ALEXANDER DONALDSON	(17) CDR
Midn LCDR KAMERON WRIGHT	(27) XO/CHARACTER ADV
Midn LCDR HANNAH LEGLER	(24) HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LT PHILIP WATTERSON	(29) OPERATIONS
Midn LT RYAN HICKEY	(20) HONOR ADV INVTS
Midn LTJG TYLER LEDOUX	(20) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LTJG GEOFFREY DESENA	(20) ADJUTANT
Midn 2/C CHRISTOPHER LOWMAN	(30) SGT MAJ
Midn 2/C SAMANTHA SEITZ	(20) SPORTS BOSS
Midn 2/C CAMERON CROWELL	(29) DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Second Regiment

Midn CDR	IAN EISENHAUER	(18) CDR
Midn LCDR	LAUREN CARPENTER	(29) XO/CHARACTER ADV
Midn LCDR	HANNAH LEGLER	(24) HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LT	GLENDON BARTLETT	(22) OPERATIONS
Midn LT	RYAN HICKEY	(20) HONOR ADV INVTS
Midn LTJG	TYLER LEDOUX	(20) DRILL OFFICER
Midn LTJG	ROBERT CRUTCHER	(19) ADJUTANT
Midn 2/C	JEANLUC CURRIE	(19) SGT MAJ
Midn 2/C	SILAS GROSCH	(26) SPORTS BOSS
Midn 2/C	CAMERON CROWELL	(29) DRILL SERGEANT

Fall Fourth Battalion

Midn LCDR GURECK, BRIAN R	(16) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT RINTZ, MARC W	(17) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT PENICHET, JACQUELINE M	(19) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT KERRICK, JAMES R	(19) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG ALSTON, JONATHAN D	(18) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG JAEGER, SARAH L	(20) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG BILLMAIER, STEVEN J	(20) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG PRITCHARD, EDWARD K	(17) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG CRUTCHER, ROBERT M	(19) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG PITCHER, BROOKE L	(20) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG MAGUIRE, PATRICK O	(20) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG ESTRADA, JANAE M	(16) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG BENROTH, RYAN W	(19) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG LEVITON, CORY M	(18) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG ALLEN, RONALD Q	(19) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG SIMMONDS, MITCHELL D	(17) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG WALKER, SCOTT R	(16) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ OLSEN, CAITLIN S - 2/C	(17) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT SPENCER, DYLAN K - 2/C	(17) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT MASTELLER, PAUL F - 2/C	(20) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Fourth Battalion

Midn LCDR	CRAWFORD, JOSEPH W	(20) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT	BRENNER, AIMEE E	(18) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT	VARGAS, DAPHNE A	(17) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT	JOSEPH, NOAH M	(19) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG	MILEWSKI, ELIZABETH A	(19) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG	PAQUETTE, JOHN M	(17) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG	BILLMAIER, STEVEN J	(20) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG	COSTELLO, PATRICK G	(18) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG	TODD, KYLE S	(20) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG	ABBOTT, PATRICK J	(18) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG	LEPTER, MOLLY L	(17) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG	DESIMONE, JONATHAN K	(16) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG	BENROTH, RYAN W	(19) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG	CARWILE, MELISSA L	(20) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG	KOTLIKOFF, PHOEBE M	(16) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG	SIMMONDS, MITCHELL D	(17) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG	CUEVAS, DYANNA R	(19) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ	KEYES, RYAN P - 2/C	(20) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT	LYNCH, JORDAN C - 2/C	(16) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT	MCDONALD, PEYTON L - 2/C	(16) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT	MASTELLER, PAUL F - 2/C	(20) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Fall Fifth Battalion

Midn LCDR	KONYK, DANICA M	(22) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT	ELLWOOD, THOMAS M	(21) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT	KIM, DYLAN T	(22) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT	WILLIAMSON, JOHN M	(24) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG	HARRIS, MALIK X	(23) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG	ROBERTS, DANIEL P	(24) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG	FESSENDEN, MICHAEL D	(23) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG	SO, WILLIAM J	(25) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG	YOUNG, KATHERINE A	(23) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG	LAYUG, CHRISTINE J	(25) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG	BRAY, KATHERINE A	(23) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG	BRYANT, JAKE V	(25) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG	NGUYEN, PETER K	(23) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG	BARTLETT, GLENDON J	(22) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG	AMOROSO, BROOKE A	(21) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG	DISHER, MATTHEW R	(24) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ	BUSICK, MATTHEW S - 2/C	(22) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT	CALLAHAN, JACQUELINE R - 2/C	(22) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT	KEARNEY, CONOR J - 2/C	(21) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT	RAFFELS, MICHAEL J - 2/C	(23) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Fifth Battalion

Midn LCDR VAGTS, JUSTIN W	(24) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT WOODS, CAMERON P	(23) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT DICKSON, CODY S	(24) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT WILLIAMSON, JOHN M	(24) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG HALL, DUNCAN A	(25) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG ONEILL, BENJAMIN P	(24) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG FESSENDEN, MICHAEL D	(23) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG BILOTTA, MICHAELA N	(22) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG PARUSO, TONI A	(25) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG GREGORY, TREY M	(21) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG HARRIS, MALIK X	(23) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG HARDESTY, NICHOLAS E	(21) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG NGUYEN, PETER K	(23) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG COLON, DAVID N	(24) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG KELLY, SAMUEL J	(22) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG AMOROSO, BROOKE A	(21) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG TAYLOR, KENNETH J	(23) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ STABILE, JULIE B - 2/C	(24) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT ASHCRAFT, RYDER H - 2/C	(24) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT NIEMIEC, PIERCE J - 2/C	(25) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT RAFFELS, MICHAEL J - 2/C	(23) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Fall Sixth Battalion

Midn LCDR BRICCETTI, ANGELO J (26) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT GERALD, TODD A (30) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT GRUBER, JORDAN S (27) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT MONTGOMERY, RYAN D (27) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG DORRIETY, WILLIAM H (27) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG YUN, HANNAH (27) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG STAMER, SCOTT M (29) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG FOLEY, HARPER E (28) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG KOTLER, JOSHUA A (29) BATTALION ACADEMIC Midn LTJG GRAVES, MITCHELL R (30) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG HOWARD, GRACE B (29) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG MERKERT, KEEGAN P (26) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG SIMPSON, MICHAEL W (28) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG ELAM, KYLE A (26) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG TOOMBS, AUSTIN J (29) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG SMITH, JOHN R (30) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG STOOKSBURY, ANDREA G (26) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ FISHER, CARA E - 2/C (26) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT PEREZ, MARCUS R - 2/C (29) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT NGUYEN, VICTOR H - 2/C (30) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT CHEPURKO, KRISTINA L - 2/C (29) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

Spring Sixth Battalion

Midn LCDR KOTLER, JOSHUA A	(29) BATTALION CDR
Midn LT HARRIS, WILLIAM R	(30) BATTALION EXEC OFCR
Midn LT BENITO, RYAN M	(29) BATTALION TRAINING OFCR
Midn LT MONTGOMERY, RYAN D	(27) BATTALION HONOR ADVISOR
Midn LTJG TESKA, CHRISTOPHER J	(27) BATTALION OPERATIONS
Midn LTJG MERKERT, KEEGAN P	(26) BATTALION ADJ
Midn LTJG STAMER, SCOTT M	(29) BATTALION 1ST LT
Midn LTJG CURTIS, LAURA M	(28) BATTALION PHYSICAL MISSION OFFICER (PMO)
Midn LTJG HOWARD, GRACE B	(29) BATTALION ACADEMIC
Midn LTJG GENTRY, ANTHONY J	(30) BATTALION ADMIN
Midn LTJG CARLOS, JOHN M	(30) BATTALION PROTOCOL OFFICER
Midn LTJG SPIVEY, JOHN R	(28) BATTALION ADEO
Midn LTJG SIMPSON, MICHAEL W	(28) BATTALION DRILL OFCR
Midn LTJG ELAM, KYLE A	(26) BATTALION MISLO
Midn LTJG FOWLER, NICHOLAS R	(29) BATTALION SAFETY OFFICER
Midn LTJG SMITH, JOHN R	(30) BATTALION ATFP OFFICER
Midn LTJG OLECHOWSKI, CLAIRE C	(26) BATTALION APTITUDE/CONDUCT OFFICER
Midn SMAJ FOSKETT, ANDREW W - 2/C	(29) BATTALION SERGEANT MAJOR
Midn SGT WORTHINGTON, WAYNE R - 2/C	(26) BATTALION INTRAMURAL SPORTS BOSS
Midn SGT FRITZ, BRIAN A - 2/C	(26) BATTALION ADMIN CHIEF
Midn SGT CHEPURKO, KRISTINA L - 2/C	(29) BATTALION DRILL SERGEANT

U.S.

Company

1

Nathan A. Arnold

Submarines

Hailing from South Bend, Indiana, Nate, AKA Dirtbag, AKA Natertot, AKA Narnold, AKA The Man Arnold was never afraid to let his concerns be known. Whether it be his need for space, the plebes general suckiness, yet another brief to attend, or summer training on the USS Kearsarge, everyone always knew what Nate was thinking. However, on his semester vacation to West Point, Nate learned that there are worse places than Annapolis. As an ex-hockey bench rider Nate went from being Chicken Little to a workout fiend in just four short years. When he gets fat and old from eating Chipotle for every meal, he will look back on this time and remember being in the best shape of his life. As long as he can stay awake, Nate has a very successful future in front of him. Semper Deep. Hooah.

Kirsten A. Asdal

Surface Warfare Officer

Kirsten Anna Asdal is the QUEEN of abbrevs (for those who don't know, abbrevs are just more efficiche… you know, short for efficient? ways to speak!). She is a natural leader and future SWO who keeps herself very organized and loves engaging in intellectual conversations. As a plebe she was destined to be Company Commander with her mighty loud chow calls and highly motivated socks. Nowadays, she is basically the ambassador to China, oftentimes heard singing to herself the little "ni wa wa" Chinese rhyme for practice. A New Joisey native who insists that Jersey is not dirty, but clean and green! Don't mess with her because she's got great aim and will outmatch you in any shooting contest. She is, after all, a four-time National Pistol Champion. Shoot 10s! Perf! Birs!

Logan K. Baker

Naval Aviation

Logan Baker, call sign "Grandpa," has been a valuable member of 1st Company for the last four years. When he showed up on I-day, he had already scored two years of education on the Navy's dime, and was poised to get six more. Well played indeed. In just a few of those years, Logan ascended from lowly Plebe to "kicking this trash" as Plebe Summer 1st Platoon Commander. He then rose even further to Commanding 1st Regiment against its longtime nemesis, 2nd Regiment. In the meantime, Logan reunited a Squadron at the Air Force Academy, built a bunch of super-duper-top-secret airplanes in the bowels of Rickover, and lost track of his girlfriend numerous times at Ring Dance. You might be wondering, "What could be his secret to such success?" Coffee. Logan has consumed enough of it in the last four years to destroy a mortal man's kidneys several times over. In the few years he has remaining before reporting to the nursing home, Logan is sure to enjoy success and many accomplishments. Semper Fly.

Juan Barajas

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Taylor K. Calibo

Submarines

Taylor Calibo. The only Midshipman who tried to go to Leatherneck after early-selecting Submarines. Expert marathoner, biker, photographer, knife-fighter, triathlete, barista, fashionista, debater, wrestler, baseball player, Brigade-staffer and jiu-jitsu warrior. The best of men - definitely better than the sweaty mustache man – and he knows it. A connoisseur of fine jackets, Taylor has spent many a night roaming the canals of Georgetown with his leather brother and canvas cousin turning beautiful Priuses into nightmares. Future profession: Lawyer. Or maybe Astronaut. Why settle for one option when you can dream about them all?

Giiehti D. Christian

SEALs

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Melanie P. Cleveland

Navy Pilot

Melanie "LT" Cleveland comes to us from sunny Murrieta, CA, not Cleveland, OH as some would like to assume. Over plebe summer, Melanie quickly promoted herself to the rank of LT as her thought of the day memorandum format demonstrated: From LT Cleveland, To LT Cleveland, Via LT Cleveland. With her new promotion in mind, she decided to make her Irish heritage proud and ended up serving some restriction for the last few months of plebe year. Forever rebellious, later on in her academy life, she decided to bring a piece California with her to the Academy when she adopted a pet Beta fish Pedro, which she surreptitiously kept hidden in a glass boot from the infamous Chief Seals for an impressive full year. Melanie will make a fantastic navy pilot, guaranteed not only by her competence, but also by her love of hanging out at the beach.

Kyle D. Coffey

Navy Pilot

No one really likes Kyle Coffey. All of his "friends" merely feel sorry for him; we dedicate thankless hours to maintain this facade. Kate, his wife, pays us a pretty penny for this plight. The information we have acquired about Kyle is that he is not cynical about the Naval Academy, he gets "cold" on Florida beaches, has an immaculate British accent, and never forgets anything. In reality, Kyle is pure gold. He has a generous soul, loves Jesus, loves Kate, and is a true man — fully deserving of his impeccable relationship with her. His classmates pray blessings upon him for a prosperous career and marriage. [bites lip]

Jorge L. Corona

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Alan R. Cybulski

Surface Warfare Officer

I am William Cybulski's older and less attractive brother. I listen to vinyl records, eat untraditional foods, and don't own a smart phone. "I am the literary equivalent of a Big Mac and fries." –Stephen King

Zachary N. Dahlke

Navy Pilot

Zack "THE DAHLK!" Dahlke has been a highly motivated part of 1st Company since I-day. He spends most of his time "On Deck," "Running this damn ship." In his free time, he likes to follow the rules, scavenge large quantities of food from King Hall, and deter his sister's potential suitors. Highlights from his Midshipman career include: spending a semester at West Point, skipping a formation on purpose (yes, you read that correctly), serving as Alpha Company Commander ("I love the smell of crushed souls in the morning."), and service selecting Naval Aviation. Zack has been a valuable friend and company mate for the last four years, and is sure to be successful in his future endeavors. Unless, of course, they involve making tea in a Nalgene bottle.

April O. De La Cruz

USMC Ground

April Odeña De La Cruz is a diamond within these rough walls of Bancroft hall. Her personality matches everything that surrounds her pink and sparkles. But don't let this fool you, as a future Marine, April is sure to lead her men in the right direction, all she needs is an iPhone compass and she is unstoppable. Additionally, if you're in need of a new profile pic, follow Ape through the streets of DTA you'll be sure to get a FEW masterpieces. If you can't find Pril on the streets of DTA then you are guaranteed to find her getting down n dirty at the softball fields. A member of the #2 club, she and her beau (ßthat's French), Derek J., are planning to tie the knot soon. It is a true misfortune if you never had the opportunity to meet this Milpitas native. Whether you need someone to listen or laugh, you can always count on her to be there for you. So look out Marines, you have one hell of a 2nd Lieutenant headed your way. Rah. Yut. Kill.

Jennifer N. Eikenberg

USMC Ground

Jenn Eikenberg... wow, what to say about the girl with the trademark cackle laugh? Well, for starters she grew up just a few hours away from good 'ole Bancroft in Bel Air, Maryland and played on the women's lacrosse team for a couple years. However, that wasn't enough for her, so she picked up track and had some fun there. Fun fact: she's so intense with her running that she looks like she is about to plow someone over! For her latest endeavor, she ventured into the depths of MacD to become a muscle grindin' gym rat with better lifting form than most of her fellow NARPs. In all seriousness though, Jenn is one of those few, rare friends that just makes things come together for everyone around her. It's hard to explain: she's the life of the party in DTA, but also someone that is trustworthy and truly cares for those around her. Whether it be late-night advice chats on a variety of topics to the ultimate DTA battle buddy, she has been an awesome person to grow close to while at USNA, and knowing her has made my USNA experience so much better. Good luck in the Marine Corps, Jenn - crush it!

Chris R. Fussman

Submarines

When you first lay eyes on Chris Fussman, it can be hard to know where to look first. Is it at his hair, bequeathed to him from the very gods themselves? Is it his chest, forged in the depths of MacD? Anyone who truly knows him, however, will answer that you should first look at the creases on his painted-on shirt. Chris has an unswerving commitment to excellence, as demonstrated both by his uniform and his work. He did not start perfect, but after finding himself in a pile of woodchips, he smoothed out his eyebrows and plowed forward to become the good friend and fashion devotee that we will all remember him as. Chris, good luck out in the Fleet, you're ready for the next step.

Harrison H. Haley

Navy Pilot

Contrary to popular belief the Cro-Magnon species is not extinct, Harrison is living proof. His pronounced brow line facilitates his giant brain, which he puts to good use during his long nights in the bowels of Rickover Hall. People close to him will tell you that he is a kind, outgoing guy. People even closer to him use different descriptors like untamed or rambunctious, but nonetheless they will all describe him as unremittingly loyal. Harry will party harder than you. This is fact. Generally Harry's inopportune bouts of nausea will determine when the night is over…so you think. He will press on without you. His perseverance will serve him well as a pilot, but he won't need it. He was born to fly.

Richard C. Hanrahan

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Weston N. Henderson

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Alexander J. Herbelin

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

A man of many self-given names, Alex "Captain Foresight" Herbelin is second to none when it comes to challenging the conventional standards imposed on most midshipmen. A battle scarred hero, Herb-Slice is definitely a must-have team member when it comes to disarming mines…or better yet, hostile college kids who cut in front of lines at Georgetown Pizza Joints. "Meat-Locker" is a veteran of two separate screeners and two separate Majors at the Naval Academy…but "Ragamuffin" still has a soft spot for those around him and is often called "Hefty Richard" on extended weekends with the ladies, or better yet "the enabler" when tutoring those in the hall. So what is next for "Danger-Close" Herbelin? A 40-rack, a beach, and robots…lots of robots.

Charles S. Johnson

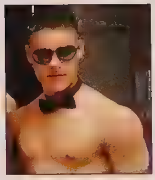
Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Gordon D. Law

Surface Warfare Officer

So hoist our colors, hoist them high, And vow allegiance true, So long as sunset gilds the sky Above the ocean blue, Unlowered shall those colors be, Whatever fate they meet, So glorious in victory, Triumphant in defeat.



Joaquín R. Leal

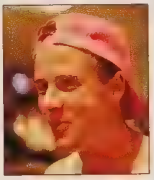
USMC Ground

Joaquin is like a wa wa. He is a train-o that rhymes with lame-o, but he is a friend that is a starvin marvin. He is always the first to correct people, but he always means well. He would always come up with workouts that I liked, but didn't actually want to do. Either way, I would suck it up (most of the time) and do it with him. And if not, Sea Trials meetings were the perfect excuse to get out of them when I really didn't want to do them. He did have a temper though; just ask his team on FIFA. Those little soccer players would play their hearts out, but it would never be enough to satisfy Joaquin's thirst for the "W." If he was playing FIFA, I could not rest my eyes because I would be woken up to his terrible coaching techniques. You would almost think that the club would relieve him but I guess they didn't have the same courage as Rutgers did. According to a certain Fourth Class we won't be friends past TBS but I'm sure we can prove a lowly plebe wrong. He is a loyal friend and will be an outstanding Marine. Be sure to look for his name on promotion lists well after most of us serve our minimum obligations.

Fernando Lopez-Sotelo

USMC Pilot

Fernando, a guy you can always count on to have something smart to say about having to attend mandatory Commandants Calls and Forrestal Lectures. Unfortunately, there are few who can make out what he's saying, and even fewer who actually care. As an aspiring Marine Aviator, Fernando often sacrificed his precious study period polishing up his flying skills by playing "Carrier Landing" on his phone. This of course was for the betterment of his future Marines. An ambitious "sea lawyer," Fernando is quick to reference the UCMJ against any minor offense, to include malingering and being a "mouth breather." A Marine through and through, the Corps is lucky to have such a hard charger in their ranks. Good luck in the Fleet Marine Force, brother.



William B. McGee

USMC Ground

Scholar McGee, a gentle-spirited and good-willed being, would never hurt a fly… that didn't have it coming. A colorful product of the South Carolina Public School System, "the Browser," as he is known throughout Bancroft (and sometimes in DTA—under the right conditions) is a connoisseur of fine whiskey and cigars. The pinnacle of everything that is man, his future aspirations include refining Ron Swanson's Pyramid of Greatness and finding a way to move beyond his current station in life as the "first man" of the Brigade. Apprentice to Ellen, and veritable wrecking ball of the rowing team, McGee's Marines had better stand by… McCoy! Brotherhood

Holly M. McKimmins

Navy Pilot

Holly McKimmins came to the Academy from the farmlands of Utica, Ohio. Wide-eyed and bushy-tailed, she was ready for anything. The grind of life at the Acads tried to break her (and it did break her knee, twice! cue fist swinging motion), "why I oughta…" but it could never overcome her upbeat attitude and kind heart. One summer she found her first love: Nigel McCruz. He wasn't an elephant, but he was too cute to resist. He was even there for her while she gained some serious street cred 2/C year. Guys who manage to get past her friend zone are keepers for sure! To the many who have failed, I'll tell you a secret…the way to her heart is PB sandwiches, oh how she loves her peanut butter! Give her a pair of glasses and a webcam and watch out, you'll need a tranquilizer to calm her down. Holly is an awesome friend… She's always ready for a good laugh and can brighten anyone's day. We love you!

Andres F. Monramírez

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Gregory D. Moore

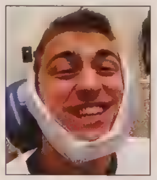
USMC Pilot

If you've ever talked to Gregory "G-Mo" Moore for more than 5 seconds, then you know he is from Texas, and isn't sorry about it. The best Dallas has to offer, G-Mo sleeps every night protected by his massive Texas flag. A world traveler, his spring break destinations have been varied, as have his experiences –he knows how to get value for a dollar. Greg is what Chuck Norris looks for in a bodyguard, is the definition of Swag (his is never OFF) and caused global warming ("Goodness gracious Great Balls of Fire!") Greg is extremely down-to-earth, constantly seeking self-improvement and new leadership opportunities-he started out 2nd Semester as the "FIRST" 1st Company Commander, but changed his mind halfway through, because he can. Greg ends his USNA career under the water as the Scuba Club President and will start his Marine Corps career in the woods, then in the air.

Justin D. Mueller

Submarines

There must be something in that Montana water. The man that stands at 6' 4'' can stack his shoes up three times that height. However, his obsession of shoes cannot be topped by his hate of the east coast. We will be lucky if he can be convinced to ever come back to the sunny, traffic ridden, extremely crowded town of Annapolis from his horse riding, fair skinned city of Missoula, Montana. Justin passed stats, moved baskets, and cleaned laundry better than anyone else the Navy Team Family (Basketball for those not in the know) has ever seen. As First Company Commander, he will be remembered for his great escape of the plebes after the last parade of the fall. Nothing else besides that. A great friend to everyone, those traveling to Charleston will be lucky to have him by our side another year. GO GRIZ!



Nathan J. Noel

Navy Pilot

Nathan James Noel started off his three years at the Academy playing Sprint Football. Tired of looking like Smeagol, and after hiding with the 'commies' in Ukraine for a semester, he decided to take to professional NARPing, which he succeeded in beyond the average midshipman. As an English major, he enjoyed thinking of beautiful literature to write before drifting off to sleep during sports period. Unfortunately, he would always forget it when he woke up three hours later. At least he will be well prepared to take on the challenging Naval Aviation requirement of eight hours of sleep before every flight. Also, as a man of theories, Nathan was always questioning the world around him. Sadly, his ideas never fully developed due to his favorite procrastinating activities, including, but not limited to: Cat Saturday, watching random movie clips, turning on blaring music but then instantly walking away, and of course, taking long naps in his rack.

James M. Renaldo

Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Brian A. Roofner

NAVY MARATHON TEAM
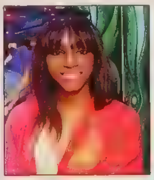
A12065

Submarines

Brian Roofner, a.k.a. Roofie, is the only guy I know who punishes himself over the weekends with marathons and acts like nothing happened come Monday. During the day, you can find him arranging all of the events for the Marathon Team as their team president; at night, you can find him on the 3rd deck of Michelson sitting in front of computer-code filled screens and helping out others at MGSP. With his dedicated nature, two majors, and a 4.0 28 credit hour semester to his name, he was inevitably selected for submarines. And if that wasn't enough, he was even selected to attend dive school to become a Navy Diver! To one of the best friends I know, the person who gives the best advice, and the person always making time for his friends: I know that he will succeed in absolutely anything he puts his mind to.



Camille N. Ross

Nuclear Surface Warfare

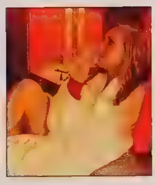
Ms. Camille Ross is a proud member of first company, dedicated participant in Mids for Kids, and devoted president of NSBE. A native of St. Leonard, MD, she has a wonderful family who has loved and supported her career here at the Academy. After graduation, Camille will be joining the Nuke SWO community in Yokosuka, Japan on board the USS Mustin. Camille has always been a hardworking young lady, always striving for perfection in everything she does. She has the courage, dedication and motivation to achieve anything that she sets her mind to. She has tremendous strength and willpower, and I know that she will be an invaluable officer on board her ship. She is a pure joy to be around, and I know the moment she steps onboard her ship, her crew will see the same light I saw in her the moment I met her in plebe summer. Thanks for being a true friend all these years and I wish you all the best in the Fleet, Camilleee!"

Lavontay R. Santos

USMC Ground

Lavontay took his time getting to Annapolis. A proud upholder of the six-year plan, Lavontay spent time in Rhode Island and New Mexico before settling down in Maryland for "four years by the Bay." The quintessential motivator, Lavontay always wanted to be a Marine "when he grew up." And all of his really good friends knew it too. From his random HA-YUUUUUTs and extravagant display of the EGA in his possessions to the ultra-motivated hairline on top of his head, Lavontay's only choice could be the Marine Corps. But what a fine officer they will inherit. Known for his fierce loyalty to his friends and tenacity to meet any challenge, Lavontay will make a positive impact on the Corps.

Natalie M. Schimelpfenig



Surface Warfare Officer

Natalie Schimelpfenig has been plagued by the same problem since her childhood. She has an impossibly hard last name to pronounce. Ms. Schimpfliganflagi or Ms. S for short has had a very fulfilling career at USNA. She was sought after by almost every club at the academy to include Glee Club, Protestant Choir, Women's Crew and Women's Hockey. After contract negotiation failures with these groups, she finally found her calling as an editor for the Lucky Bag. Natalie was always known as the innocent and friendly one. She always went out of her way to make friends and talk to people even if they didn't want to be bothered. After much deliberation she finally decided on going SWO without any outside influences whatsoever. Ms. Schimpflemlsnon….. you have the conn.

Ian J. Sonnenberg

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Sean A. Sweeney

Submarines

Sean Sweeney, AKA Sweendog, AKA Four-time Halloween Costume Champion, hails from the "town an hour outside of Philly" known as Downingtown and is the current primary stockholder of Sweeney's Weeneys. His powerful connection to the company assisted him in his Midshipman career, as he received a letter of recommendation from the CEO for his application to USNA. Sean is renowned for going through a whole semester with no front teeth, his mom's famous buff chick dip, and his undying love for the Phillies. He took a semester long vacation at the Air Force Academy learning the intricacies of local bars and ski mountains. Upon his return to USNA, he assumed the mantle of responsibility as 1st Company wardroom officer, treating the company to mountains of Fruit Barrels at Drill Chill, and grilling great food while dressed as a mustached hot dog. He is proof that the submarine draft is real and while this may not be his first choice, Sean will use his great work ethic to become the best Submarine and Engineering Duty Officer that he can be.

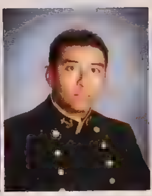
Maria C. Wesley

USMC Ground

Maria Wesley is a hardworking and dedicated individual that I have been proud to call "Shipmate" during my time at the Naval Academy. Maria is a fierce warrior and her war cry can be heard around the world, but you will not see her coming. By the time you do, you're most likely already dead or maybe it's fact that she is really short (No, seriously.). If Maria is not in her room studying, check the gym. If she is not in the gym, she's probably on the track. If she isn't there, look behind you because she is probably busy having your back. What Maria lacks in height she makes up for in heart. If Maria can be there for you she will move mountains (Realistically, small mountains, but that's not the point.) to help you in your time of need. The Marine Corps is gaining a great leader who will accomplish the mission, inspire her people, and look good doing it. What can I say? The girl has style. Oorah, Yut Yut, Motivate, Devil Dog. If you don't know what that says, ask Maria.

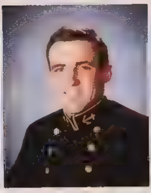
Class of 2014

Eric Abordo



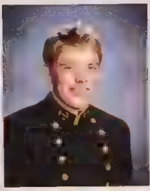
Max Allen

Katherine Ashton

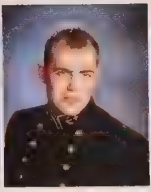


Nicholas Beasley

Lindsay Boyd

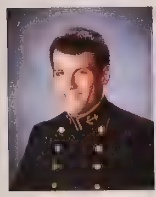


Christopher Burns



Jason Burns

Samantha Carl



William Chilton

Paul Daly

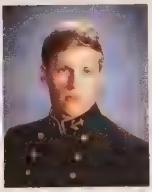
Christopher Dinelli

Tanner England

Eric Graham

Christine Guerrero

Allan Hooker



Tucker Hull

Ryan Hurtz

Joseph Jackson

Zachary Johnson

Jonathan Kappel

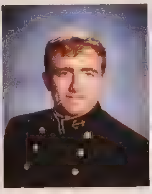
James Lights

Kacey Liscomb

Gregory Lowhorn

Eric Mahler

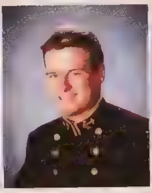
Christian McClure



Glenn McKenna

Daniel Meaney

James Mills



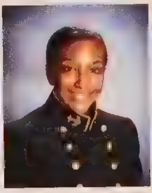
Daniel Ojard

Zachary Powers

Shane Quinn

Skyler Raybin

William Rodin



Darien Sears

Guy Skord

Connor Timmins

Jennifer Underhill

Class of 2015

Kyzle Baker

Sarah Behm

James Benner

Travis Benson

Alexander Brecht

Christopher Cannon

Michael Chang

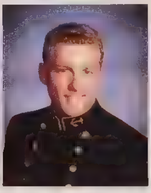
Aaron Davis

Matthew Dukleth

Molly Dundon

Nicolette Estrada

Wesley Frazier



Raymond Frederick

Jorge Garcia

Kevin Hawxhurst

Anthony Holl

Christian Holleman

Diwakar Joshi

Roberta Lee

Jacob Long

Matthew Lord

Chelsea Macgriff

Tucker Marberry

Ryan McGee

William McShane

Liam Moffett

Michelle Morneault

Abigail Noonan

Shane O'donnell

Lonnie Richardson

Jarod Scott

Isaac Snapp

Richard Stieger

Shelby Taylor

Brandon Thompson

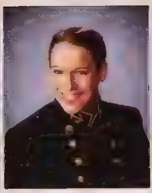
Brandon Venturini

Frederick Wood

Aaron Yallowitz

Class of 2016

Alexandria Alvarez



Alexandria Baker

Harrison Barnes

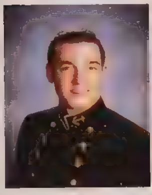
Dylan Bonitz

Jamie Bush

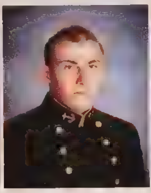
Johnadrian Castro

Nighel Cobb

Peri Curtis

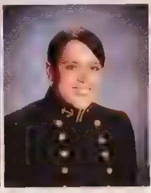


John Dalbora



Nicholas Demass

Anthony Devera



Ashley Eves

Melissa Felman

Daniel Fernandez

Jorge Garcia

Rory Gross

Cullen Hanks

Wyatt Horner

Katherine Inge

Benjamin Jacobsen

Timothy Keena

William Kelly

Dale Lescher

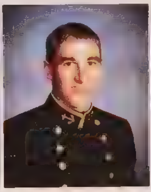
Alejandro Maldonado

Brissa Medina

Chase Munoz

Eric Peterson

Jason Punsalan



Jonathon Riggers

David Roy

Edward Royds

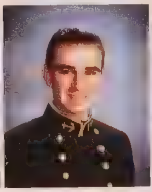
Jason Sherwood

Cameron Smith

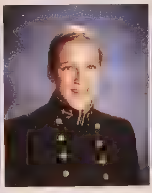
Nathaniel Stern

Laura Stromback

Ben Tamburello



Benjamin Wattay



Ashley Welker

Marquis White

Matthew Worosz

U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Company

2

Yosef E. Adiputra

USMC Ground

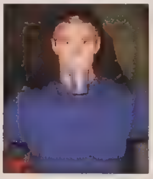
Have you ever wondered what it was like to run over 100 miles and be able to do an iron cross on the rings, well wonder no more! Yosef has conquered both of these feats! If he isn't watching a scary movie or run marathons during sports period for fun, he can be easily found in his room puuurrring away to fat cat videos puurdd or in his rack snoring so loud you can feel the walls shake. Besides his freakish running ability, Yosef is also a gentleman and a scholar. He possesses the ability to out think you in Engrish, Chinese, Indonesian, and some dialects of tabby cat. Puurrdd! He will not impose upon you with the need of assistance for a keg stand, he will simply bust out a hand-stand while undergoing the task of chugging. To further elaborate upon his chivalry, after a night of heavy drinking he will offer his bed to someone in need and will happily take the grass in pain…just don't mention mimosas to him! However, any sort of chivalry stops once he gains entrance into Pussers. A transformation takes place in which he switches over to a combination of an asian Casanova, an archeologist, and an explorer…especially in dark corners. Puuurddd!

Alfredo J. Arredondo

USMC Ground

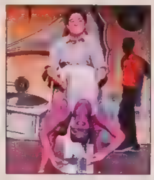
Sir Knight Alfredo Jesus Arredondo, also known by his classmates as Dondo or AJ, hails from the closest place to the border without going over. A simple man, his needs are very simple. A pull up bar, coffee, his truck, and the open road. He doesn't do things like you and I, he prefers the slow and steady route, and is more than willing to wait until eternity for what he wants. He is the most loyal person I know, and within reason will do anything for you. His favorite Naval Academy past times are working out, going to honor boards, and sleeping. At any point during the day, you can enter his room and find him passed out on his desk. Most think he never actually sleeps but just rests his eyes often. His voice reminds you of the melodic man himself, Yogi Bear or Boo Boo depending on the day. His dancing reminds you of someone in the old Scooby Doo tv shows, and his music preference reminds you of the most typical Texan. You may not understand him the first, second, or even third time you meet him; but if you take the time you will realize the true friend you have found in him. He has grown a lot over the course of his time here at the academy, (not necessarily physically), but in terms of growing into a great man of character and faith, and to his platoon of Marines, you will be getting one of the most unconventional leaders you have ever met, but dammit don't ever doubt that he will not do everything in his power to put you all first, and he cares about you all more than himself. Love ya big guy.

Richard M. Bailey



Navy Pilot

Would be Olympic wrestler and deadly computer hacker, Mason Bailey has spent 4 years at the Academy setting standards too high for any future Midshipman to reach. A Marine Corps selectee look alike, Richie M has complained about all 5 formations he has attended and almost passed out at the single parade that he marched in. The town of Fairmont,West Virignia couldn't be prouder of their favorite son considering the entire town attended every sporting event, uniform inspection, final exam and the one noon meal formation he attended while obnoxiously yelling "Let's Go Bub!" The future Navy Pilot will be leaving the Academy for finer pastures and haybales with his mail order bride Natalie and roommates following closely behind.



Alejandro J. Balandran

Surface Warfare Officer

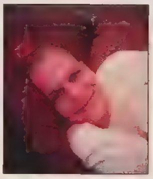
Alejandro Joshua Balandran hails from the great state of California. Supporting his Mexican heritage, he spent most of his childhood years chasing the elusive chupacabra and boosting Taco Bell profits nationwide. His acceptance to the Naval Academy made his parents extremely proud, most notably Ms. Leticia Balandran. Hit me up Leticia, you know who this is. Alex is known for his generosity, sharing everything including the elderly and occasionally plump women he meets in good old DTA. Luckily upon graduation, he will have the pleasure of sleeping in a bed that is much closer to the ground. God knows his face can't take another beating. With his tremendous drive, Alex has been able to reach almost every goal he has set here at the Naval Academy…as long as it wasn't on the top shelf. The Navy is lucky to have a person like Alex joining their ranks. He has the ability to light up a room no matter the company or the circumstance. Good luck my boy, your best days are ahead of you.

Rhonda T. Banks

Surface Warfare Officer

She is pure a joy and a breath of fresh air to whoever she comes across. She's thoughtful, caring, selfless and wondrously strong....a truly virtuous woman. I envy her strength as I wish to grow and be just as strong as her one day in the near future. She deserves nothing but the best and I wish her the utmost success as she embarks a new journey as a Naval Surface Warfare Officer. Good Luck Vegeta! lol...

Robert G. Barnhisel



USMC Ground

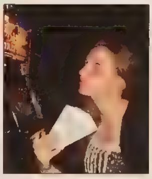
Robert "Rah" Barnhisel, Fleet General USMC, was born and raised in the prairie dog lands of Chicago, Illinois. A lover of steerage pizza, even when drinking it through a straw, Booby owns the plebe world record for consecutive hours playing Call of Duty, an attribute worthy of a devil dawgg. The training officer has always preached honor, courage, and "long term" commitment, and exemplifies it himself on a daily basis by not attending any daily obligation. Father of the 2.0, Bobby never saw an AC Board he couldn't pass. Due to his love of wrestling, Bobby's social outings were limited but always eventful, just ask his keyboard, and phone, and floor under his desk, and Allen's hand, and the 3118 shower. The Marine Corps is lucky enough to be getting not one, but both the King and Queen of Beers, even if he didn't tell anyone. Bobweiser will surely be missed as the Academy's top hooligan and bottom dwelling midsquishman, although his yuts will still be heard from Quantico for years to come.

Keegan D. Bixler

Surface Warfare Officer

Amidst the vast abundance of words appropriate for the description of one Keegan Dale Bixler, the term "Renaissance Man" immediately arises to the forefront of the minds of those who have had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of this fine young gentleman. Throughout his time here at the United States Naval Academy, Keegan has consistently shown himself to be an individual of many talents. His relentless dedication to academics has earned him a scholarly reputation which has been unfailingly supported by stellar grades. His commitment to the physical mission has caused his name and face to be known and feared in the MacDonough Hall gym. His rhetorical prowess and uncanny ability to string words together into scintillating lines of verse have allowed Keegan to become quite the respected hip-hop artist amongst his peers. Keegan Bixler—a connoisseur of fine queso and smokeless tobacco, a proud son of Illinois, and a vehement enthusiast of unprejudiced politics—has most certainly carved out a place for himself at this fine institution. As a Surface Warfare Officer, he will immediately make apparent his wide range of abilities to those above, below, and around him.

Taylor M. Boosmann



Submarines

Taylor. Taylie. T. Boosmann. Boosie. Tayl. Tank. All of these monikers describe the most wonderful person that I have luckily known for the last four years. When we first met, on that fateful day called I-day, I'll admit, I was not the nicest. But nonetheless, she didn't hold it against me and soon we were laughing at the littlest things like we were two kids. By the end of plebe summer, I'd say we were pretty darn close. I knew that this was a friendship that was going to last forever. Sure enough four years later, after crazy cab rides in foreign countries, concerts that ended with sleeping in the wild and bruises, bowl games, late night steerage runs, jumping the wall and sprinting our guts out, Pipes and Drums concerts with crazy plots, and making complete fools of ourselves, this girl is the best friend I got. But all these crazy adventures never deterred her from our ultimate goal of graduating and she's not only graduating but she's making her own mark by going to grad school way before the rest of us. Not only is she smart, but she is caring, easygoing, and someone who is never upset or mad (unless you eat that last chicken nugget.) Taylor, the fleet is going to be lucky to have you and I cannot wait to see your name as the Commandant's wife someday (hehe) or better yet the Commandant. I'm going miss you sooooo much but don't worry, we'll still find time to have some more crazy times together. LOVE YOU! Love, Your partner in all scandalous, mischievous, and just downright silly crimes. Dye

George F. Bowman III

Surface Warfare Officer

George Bowmen III has a very bright future ahead of him as Surface Warfare Officer. Always struggling to make improvements to current policy and helping to improve the lives of others, George goes the extra mile in the perseverance of excellence and to help others in need. Active in many ECA's and Midshipmen groups, every program has benefited from his leadership and work ethic. If there is an athletic event, or pep rally you can rest assured that he will be among die hards cheering on Navy. As the President of Team Awesome, the brigade's center for school spirit and excitement, he continues the tradition of supporting the Football team, Lacrosse teams, and Basketball teams to name a few. Rhythm and music runs deep in his blood. George can often be found during the evening instructing future Salsa dancers as they learn how to dance for fun or for performances during the International Ball held annually in Alumni Hall. While burning the midnight oil is customary for many, during the four years within the halls of the Naval Academy, it has become an everyday reality. It is with little doubt that George's unyielding spirit of excellence, optimism, and energy will propel him onward into a bright and admiring naval career.

Edward J. Butler

Submarines

Hailing from Richtown, USA, Edward Joseph Butler III, can often be seen commanding his family's fleet of sailboats in his father's clothes down the Atlantic Coast. If it weren't for the massive lip that he permanently keeps in his mouth, his smile might seem appealing to few individuals. While he's probably the smartest person to come through this place, the smartest thing he's done for himself is find his amazing girlfriend, Taylor Boosmann. We hope she will make Ned the man he needs to be. If he's lucky, takes a lot of notes, and pays attention, she might just help him become an even better drinker (hopefully one day keeping down more than a shot) and the best dancer he can possibly be; there's hope for you yet, Ned. While at the Academy, Ned has come across four exemplary role-models: Alex Balandran, David Walker, Matt Warrick, and Kenson Dera; through all of their hard work, we know Ned will be a great submariner after grad-school. We wish you the best of luck in all of your future endeavors, and if you ever need help, just think: WWADMKD?…"What would Alex, David, Matt, and Kenson do?"

Christofer A. Combado

Surface Warfare Officer

Christofer Combado is better known as "the mini-mid's older brother." After four years of working hard to get out of his little brother's shadow, he has finally achieved some notoriety. Two years into his time in Bancroft Hall, he decided that changing companies would put him in the spotlight again because first company was becoming much too challenging of an environment to let his leadership abilities show. He was also very dedicated to his dream of going MARSOC…until he found out that you had to run more than a mile and a half to become a Marine so the SWO path stood out as an excellent alternative. Still not quite able to outshine his brother, he looked for every opportunity to take his shirt off in public. His chip and dale's impersonation still scars many today. These four years, Chris has learned from most of his mistakes and looks forward to days of drinking coffee and eating donuts all day long.

Brendon M. Connor

USMC Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Taylor W. Cooper

Navy Pilot

Few souls have had the opportunity to truly know the woman that is Taylor Cooper. Hailing from Fremont, CA, she is a juxtaposition of random awesomeness. When she's not rocking the pit for D & B, she can be found in her room, attempting to learn physics by osmosis (banging her head on the book), or watching something with Nathan Fillion. A most fascinating girl, she avoids bright light, choosing instead dim places flickering with graphics from the latest video game. But if you dare venture into her game cavern, you will find a loyal friend with a big heart. She's the one that will never let you down, no matter how many times you accidently kill her playing co-op for Portal 2 (sorry!). Have fun in Pensacola, babe. Love your BNFF (Best Nerd Friend Forever), Ash.

Annis M. Cox

Surface Warfare Officer

Hailing from Columbus, MS, 'Ann' sweetens up the military lifestyle at USNA with her southern debutante charm. A member of the Offshore Sailing Team, Mary moonlighted during her time here as boat work magician. Many wondered if she was indeed a mid and some say she actually sailed through the Academy all while chasing hurricanes around the Caribbean, island hopping, living life to the fullest, and racking up time on the injured reserve list. In her spare time, if she wasn't studying (more often than not), she could typically be found playing out on the bay in anything that floats or at the local watering hole, the Boat Yard. Her passion for the sea has placed her in a prime spot as a proud SWO-selectee and she will be headed out to live on Island Time for a while on DDG 93, the Chung-Hoon in Pearl Harbor. Aloha y'all.

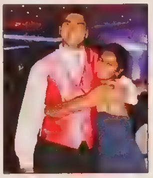
Erik M. Dahl

Navy Pilot

The title "Salty Seaman" would be an understatement for this fine individual. Erik is known for his outstanding inebriated dinghy driving while in the Virgin Islands and his attempts to drag a dock along with 20 other boats behind him. He is a huge fan of cold cuts and wouldn't be caught on a camping adventure without them. Excessive bowel movements are a vital part to Erik's everyday lifestyle, and have provided some of his most memorable life moments. "Get it back now! Where you goin?!" E-dog lives forever in our hearts.

Dyuti Das

Nuclear Surface Warfare



Dyuti "Double-Bang" Das, the biggest country fan ever to come out of Cherry Hill, New Jersey's Bengali Cultural Society, was most famously known as the YP Commodore whose YP ran aground. But don't worry, I'm sure she'll do better when she's in charge of an air craft carrier as a Nuke SWO. She had an appetite for switching majors, Francesca's and Chipotle, and could most often be found publicly humiliating herself with her best friend and partner in crime, Taylor Boosmann. She was the type of friend who, when necessary, would go get you food, spoon feed it to you in your rack, and then bring you a cup of water to brush your teeth, all while you were wearing the clothes you "borrowed" from her closet. Her inability to ever put her needs in front of her friends' or tennis teammates' needs will earn her devotion and friendship in the fleet, and might even make her a great doctor some day. Good luck Dye, I looooove you!

Kristian W. Dominguez

USMC Pilot

Coming from the sunshine state of Florida, Kristian may have been more prepared than any of us for the wet, smelly humidity of Annapolis summers. A man with the highest physical prowess, Kristian can be found doing push-ups in front of his mirror, finishing his set and giving one more for Chesty Puller. Kristian, never shy with upholding others to standards, maintains himself at the highest of standards. Kristian has maintained the plebe habit of wearing motivated socks, issued whitey tighties, tucked in blue-rim, and USNAs to nearly all workouts in Mac D or otherwise through firstie year. Never quick to compliment King Hall, as any midshipman is hesitant, Kristian always consumes his fair share of king hall nasty frequently returning from meals complaining of eating way too much and remaining bloated the rest of the evening. Burning the midnight oil, Kristian was always up later than any of his roommates studying/raging to bands like Mastodon, Cradle of Filth, and similar death metal 'artists', only to spend his off periods, mouth agape, sleeping in his chair. His spring and summer breaks are frequently filled with techno music festivals and raves in sunny Florida; events which he habitually relives and references until the next one arrives. Kristian, with his insistent perseverance and tremendous friendship, will succeed with the Marines and whatever he pursues following his military career.

Micah D. Dose

Submarines

With the initials of M.D., Micah most definitely has an IQ to match his doctoral counterparts. A resident of the infamous room 1138, he is the chief contributor to natural methane gas and other air pollutants in the spaces. When he is not creating origami dragons and cows out of used candy wrappers, you will often see him engaged in a variety of activities, including hot tub diving, playing dress-up, and to the delight of his roommates, grinding coffee beans in the early morning. While it is a rare sight to find Micah away from his studies, you will most likely find him sporting his fashionable 'Jesus sandals'. On any given night, Micah is adamant on demonstrating to his roommates the meaning of "PDA", and graciously provides live theological debates for the room. Need an answer to a problem? Well look no further, because M.D. Dose has the right prescription. Whether it be a systems engineering problem, or advice on how to properly lose weight without starving yourself for weeks to play varsity sprint football, Micah is your go-to guy!

Frank J. Goldstein

Navy Pilot

Ironically hailing from the "city of brotherly love," Frank has never met a person whose name he did not want to change or movie he could finish. Frank G's gross misinterpretation of the English language is only rivaled by his impatience for the stock exchange and love of playing video games only with himself. Five alarms has never been enough for Grandpa G, nor has less than three phone calls, sixteen emails, forty seven text messages, ninety six tweets, and seven snap chats to his mother a day. The future aviator is always getting his feet wet, particularly in the distance it takes to get from the shower to his desk. Martha's cleanliness was found lacking only in the case of his tighties. The revolving door of women for Stain is attributed to his high standards and intricate tastes with one glaring exception: too big ____, too small ______, too crazy, too nice, too perfect. Dad has always looked out for the Sons of the Severn, and will continue to do so for the Gentleman of the Gulf, with Mason's approval of course.

Richard A. Hoyt

Navy Pilot

A man of many names: Ricky, Dick, Dickster, Big Dick, Peter Rabbit, "Working Hands," etc...; Ricky is known for his impeccable track record of eating in King Hall only once a week, his work on cars, his handle on the languages, and avoiding any and all mandatory events (he was at practice.) Ricky may tell you that the Academy was not a good thing for him, but let's be real, he now knows what "nachos con queso" are because of Plebe Summer. Ricky is dedicated to the cross country and track teams so much so that when he was cut, he decided to volunteer to manage those teams. He discovered both the positives and negatives to spell check, asking intramural captains for "interracial scores" in a CDO email among other spelling catastrophes. Between his con-locker and his beat-up '98 Ford F-150, he has enough tools to supply 1st regiment, making many repairs unbeknownst to the 1st LT. When it came to service selection, Ricky made his preferences using the "lesser of evils" approach. He realized over his experience at Leatherneck, that the Corps was not the lesser of any evil, so despite getting sick in nearly all small aircraft, he chose Navy Air. Ricky will go far into whichever field he chooses with his outstanding people skills and outstanding use of resources, especially if it involves Craigslist or eBay.

William C. Hughes

USMC Ground

Some men were said to have been raised by wolves, not William Charles Hughes III. Growing up in the back country of Idaho, he was raised by his alpaca mother, Blue Arctic Moon, who molded the young man that entered plebe summer so furious for action inside the walls of Bancroft. Incessantly fascinated by the wonders of the computer; of course I mean The Chive, Tapiture, and Guild Wars; Will made damn good use of sports period. His taste in music depends on the week you ask him. Some people like variety in their music. Will prefers repetition. When "Call Me Maybe" came out last year, it took Will only 5 months to rack up upwards of 4500 plays on Itunes, surely a record. Will's love life is great; he loves his labrador puppy more than anything in the world. As 2nd Company Commander, well, he did a good job babysitting the youngsters. After graduation, Will is off to Call of Duty, I mean TBS; but don't tell him that.

Muhammad H. Khan

Naval Flight Officer

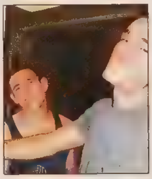
"Always east, never west" – wise words from a wiseguy who earned notoriety on the plebe summer rifle range and spent the next four years doing everything he could to maintain it. From Las Vegas to Annapolis to New York City, if there wasn't a party, Khan would make one. Always armed with a mischievous smile, a sharp wit, and in some cases, a little sleight of hand – "Khan Wayne" was the one to spend a weekend with if you wanted to tell a new story that your friends will never believe. As he moves on to bigger and better things, there is no doubt that Pensacola will never look the same. May he fly high, party hard, and never again have contact with extra terrestrials!

Jacob T. Lethbridge

Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

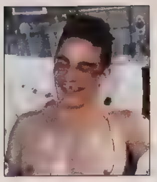
Shane L. Martin



Surface Warfare Officer

From Plebe Summer Cheezits to Starstruck plebe roommate brawls, Shane endured plebe year only to be asked "Hey, did you borrow my credit card?" "Uh, no." he responded, as if it were a stupid question. "I have my own." A trip to the aquarium revealed that a dolphin's skin feels like a stupid tire. Youngster year alternated between Old Faithful and 3-Round Ladders, resulting in no neck for our Arizonan brother. No better way to wrap up the year than crawling under the Wall at 3:30 am. "What if the cops show up?" "Don't worry," Mix reassured, "we'll show them our ID's." "Oh, ok." With his steadfast compatriot otherwise obligated 2/C year, he roamed the Hall looking for a new compadre. However, a screener and cruise later, they remained best of friends, despite his LBS brother. No better time did they prove this than the rifle range over Plebe Summer. White Russians led to Sly Fox stumblings, but not at the Army-Navy dinner with the 4-star. May Frank never be forgiven. Bros for life. Double high-fives.

Zachary C. Mix



SEALs

The man, the myth the legend: Zach Mix. Lost one of his front teeth from upper decking too many lips of Copenhagen. Once crashed his bike and knocked himself out just to get a helicopter ride then hit on the nurse at the hospital. The silver-tongued devil who convinced Jade Write to go to ring dance with him upon the completion of the Zero Block Tri-Rock he founded. The culmination of his engineering education led to the construction of a pull up bar in his room. No one can forget his admiration, dedication, and commitment to his company LT. Master of turtling on a Cervelo in many different ways. The drunken maniac who once rode his bike full speed through Hawaiian mountains to reach his extract helicopter. Just ask him about any of this. He will probably respond with something like, "Thats right man, I gotta rash."

Mark S. Palmquist

Submarines

"What is that on your shoe?" Senior chief angrily asks, "Um, hydrochloric acid." Using the aliases Quist, PQ, Palmtree, Palmsquid, Coach, or simply Mark, you can find him in the basements of Michelson congregating with fellow chemistry majors in a chemical mixing frenzy. Mark is a man of extreme dedication, dedicated solely to playing basketball, skiing, and watching ESPN. While his double monitor computer may give off a vibe of academia, Mark has managed to balance his priorities of schoolwork to no-work, in a 1 to 99 ratio. When not in the hall, you can find PQ freeloading off his sponsors, whom also share the same dramatic burden known as being a Twins fan. If Adrian Peterson doesn't get him hot and heavy, then a game of Mac-D pickup will, which consists of him shooting endless three's all game. Make way Submarine corps, the Palmtree is coming.

Blake E. Rademaker

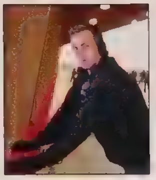
Navy Pilot

B-Dog, known for his charming looks, his rocking body- from his daily trips to MacD, and his flirtatious personality. Blake is an aspiring rap artist, as proven through the many GB- Grootinism festivals. Although he has now found true love, he had a great run in the bachelor world- ballerinas, mid sisters, questionable women from Hopkins, Jabba the hutt from a country bar in Fort Worth and even Punta Cana "angels." Blake is a great guy to be around and an even better dancer. Prior to mandatory brigade events such as parades, Blake can often be found bouncing around to his pump up music in transformer underwear...mentally preparing himself for the events to come. Blake loves the PRT..and taking short, concise 2.5 naps on a consistent basis. His most memorable quote-"You Don't Say That About My Friends!" We'll see you in the fleet B-dog. It's time to "Turn Two."

Denzel T. Reina

Surface Warfare Officer

I met Denzel, while in swim remedials back in NAPS class of '09. I remember him and Kenson Dera "floating" at the bottom of the pool during our flotation test. Luckily, we didn't learn how to swim after leaving NAPS so I had the fortune of having him in swim class again during plebe summer. That's when I found that not only does he sink like a rock, but his back stroke reminded me of a t-rex trying to do jumping jacks, no matter how high he tried to raise his arms, they just couldn't get past shoulder height. Denzel never let his lack of height keep him from playing football and dancing with taller girls in DTA. Although he was waist height, he would still happily dance...but what I mean by dance is two-step and fist pump to EVERY song. But my man has swag like that! And over the years I've learned to love and appreciate all his silly little moments. He is truly a joy to be around and an awesome guy. He will always be my best friend and I wish him all the best in the fleet. I know he will succeed in everything he sets his mind to. So keep smiling Mighty Mouse, never settle for mediocre, and always be pissed of greatness!



Andrew D. Rice

Naval Flight Officer

Hailing from the corn-husking state of middle-of-nowhere Nebraska, Andy Rice ended up at the Naval Academy primarily as a result of him not getting into Air Force. In his defense, Air Force State College would have been a blast; he still dreams of his exchange 2nd semester 2/C year However, we all know Andy made the right choice. He was in the prestigious Drum & Bugle Corps all four years, blowing that horn like there was no damn tomorrow. At least he sounded halfway decent, being one of the few that joins D&B with actual musical experience. Anyhoo, I'm sure he won't regret all the trips to New Orleans, Florida, every football MO, the list goes on... However, it would be a grand injustice to only associate Andy's time at the Academy with those fools. Just ask all of his exes. Andy has been quite the lady killer, having no fewer than 4 serious relationships during his time here; all of whose families seemed to get progressively richer each time. It is only appropriate because being a man of sophisticated taste, Andy would only court the local women whose parents could actually afford to satiate his expensive standards of recreation One gave him the hair on his chest, the next gave him $1000 skis, and the one after gave him the best gift of them all, a constant and steady supply of food every week. Unfortunately for all of his exes, they just couldn't handle his corn. It is worthy to note that Andy also has become quite the fashionista, rockin' his Clarks, a pair of American Eagle Jeans, and a plaid shirt (often accessorized by a $300 cashmere sweater) wherever he goes. A weekend warrior for tennis, this prior state champion player could also be found slaying NARPs all over the 8th wing courts. When asked why he never chose to play for the Academy he responded with, "Intramural street hockey is my true calling in life."

Scott A. Sabbatini

Surface Warfare Officer

If you ever thought you had bad grades, at least you're not Scotty Sabbatini. A virtuoso in the art of being UNSAT, you can always count on him to keep you company on the weekends. Some familiar scenes in the life of Scotty include endless browsing of TheChive (especially cat Saturdays), running around with live fireworks, Friday night TAPS runs, and conducting unspeakable acts on tropical islands. Puurrrd. Wait, Scott how much did you spend on your ring? Ok well compared to your Camaro, I guess it's pretty cheap. Scotty also possesses a number of charming physical attributes, including a missing right pec muscle, an eye that's never sure where to look at, and super model beach abs sculpted by years of racking out and pill popping. Despite all of this, Scotty has managed to hurdle (or stumble) across all obstacles to remain a part of the Brigade. His outgoing spirit and cheerful demeanor can make any grumpy cat smile. Puurd.

Ashleigh M. Share

Surface Warfare Officer

Her name is Ashleigh Share. She don't actually know how to spell "Ashley" correctly so this interpretation is a good explanation of just how complicated she is. Ashleigh is from Idaho; one of the ten people who have ever left. Since her state still runs on bicycle generators, she figured she'd major in systems engineering so she could bring more advanced technology to her people. Ashleigh's time spent here at USNA was filled theatrical activities ranging from Glee Club, the Halloween Concert, musicals, and One Act plays. Though she enjoyed a good roll around the stage, her true passion is "nerding out". Her weekends were spent moonlighting with Russian dinosaur arms, or sneaking out from underneath famous Baltimoron's beds. Her final farewell to the academy is "I'm gonna finish this like a cheesecake." Crushed this! Love your favorite tiny person

Clyde M. Shavers

Submarines

If you think you've heard the most ridiculous thing a person could say, you haven't met Clyde, the always unpredictable big man talking the big talk. Expert on every chick flick ever made, Clyde worked as a double major in Poli-Sci and Chinese and spent a whole summer and semester abroad in china trying to become even more Asian, if that were possible. Clyde is the undisputed captain of the varsity rack team, never missing a chance to sleep all afternoon. He needed all that rest to stay up until 2 AM every night talking about nothing with his mythical, 2% club girlfriend Hana, whose existence could be debated. When he finally did decide to do some work, Clyde got good grades and he will be applying his work ethic to Nuclear Power School on his way to the submarine service.

Michael V. Short

Navy Pilot

Mike Short. Prefers to be called Miles, though nobody knows why. If he's not rock climbing or bowling, you'll find him singing his little heart out with the USNA Glee Club, or Anchor Men, or Chamber Choir or the local Jonny Craig Tribute Band. A modern day Casanova, appealing to ladies both young and old, he's had a difficult time staying single for the better part of the past four years. Although he came to Annapolis desiring to be a submariner he found his calling in the Naval Aviation community and will be heading to flight school in Pensacola upon graduation. If his time as Company Commander (which brought his fondest memories of his time here) is any indication of his future in the fleet, he will be a shining star there as well. An excellent Midshipman, leader, and best friend, he's got the brightest future ahead of him that one could ask for.

William L. Shuttleworth

Navy Pilot

William, Lawl, Bill, Boo Boo, Bull, PB...nothing more. But really, Billy Boy is known around the Academy for his technology prowess, hometown sports teams that are somehow located all around the country, his cy young performance at the Coast Guard Academy and his famous sweater that he has not taken off for the past 4 years. Hailing from beautiful Burlington, Kentucky, home of nothing, Bill sleeps more in a single day than a hibernating bear does in a year. Ending his Naval Academy career as the record holder for most torn hamstrings within a week of the PRT, this future flyboy leaves the boat school with a major void in discipline and knowledge. Come September, Mr. Shuttlehousen will be cruising on down to Pensacola in his Purple 2nd Class loan, looking for the nearest Holiday Inn Parking lot to settle down in. For this Ghostrida, the pattern is never full.

Zachary S. Tatum

Naval Flight Officer

The "Pud" of all Pudboys. He loves skydiving, being cheap, and pursuing different hobbies from everyone else. Pudboy is the hippy of USNA. If he's not pursuing foreign women, he can often be found shouting profanities around DTA, wrestling gate-guards, and being difficult. Zach is an essential item to a group of friends though. He brings personality, attitude, and a stomach for consuming beverages. Pudboy is a hard worker...he also loves hygiene and wafting his feet in the air to dry them off after his daily shower. When Zach gets out of the Navy, he plans on enlisting in the army to join the Army-Skydiving Team. If he fails out of boot camp from failing to comply or obey the drill instructor, Zach could most likely be found up in the mountains living the "natural life." Good luck Pudboy! Fairwinds and following seas sailor...they'll make a man out of you!

Matthew V. Warrick

USMC Ground

Matt Warrick. You may have heard of him before. Yeah, he's the guy that made that game-winning sack against Army in 2011, and that same guy whose 4th quarter tackle in the backfield led to a Navy victory over Air Force in 2012. Yeah...that guy. But Matt hate's being known for just his countless accolades as a 3-year starter at linebacker for the Navy Varsity Football Team. There's more to him than that. For instance, Matt enjoys purchasing protein powders from the internet. He also enjoys lifting very heavy weights and watching videos of other people lifting very heavy weights too. He enjoys flexing his big muscles. He enjoys watching videos of other people flexing their big muscles. So whoever told you this guy was a meat-head was surely mistaken. In his free time, Matt can most likely be found mastering a new hobby that he has recently become addicted to. Matt is pretty picky with his music, if it isn't Mumford and Sons or it doesn't have a constant, brain vibrating, bass line being played at volume level 100, then he probably won't listen to it. Matt is one of those guys that it is imperative that you keep a tight leash on, because, let's just say, he's kind of a party animal. Next year, you will be able to find Matt as a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps, where no one will disagree, that this kind-hearted, irreplaceable friend will make one damn fine Marine.

Rebecca E. Watson

Navy Pilot

Scratch the surface of Becky Watson and what will you find? A love of Vineyard Vines, crab cakes, and fluffy animals. You'd never guess she's from Bowie when she seems 100% Annapolitan. But look beyond her endless collection of Sperrys and J Crew cardigans, and you'll find a loveable, loyal friend with an "addicting" personality. While Becky has had many sleepless nights sponsored by Starbucks in order to excel as a chem major, she still managed to find time to be a dancer for Pipes and Drums, get her private pilot's license, and have a social life. Basically, she's Super Woman. Pensacola-you better watch out because this girl is on fire. Love, your eternal roomie, Ash Pash.

Terrie S. Williams

Surface Warfare Officer

Dear Ter, As your twin, people assume that we're automatically friends. But that's not always the case. We've had our ups and downs, but always pulled each other through. I don't regret the fights we've had because they've made me stronger. You're a natural leader and always first to help those in need. It has been a unique pleasure…and I mean unique to have shared this experience with you. Without you, I would not know when to humble myself, laugh out loud, or appreciate the little things. "Stop searching forever, happiness is just next to you" - Random fortune cookie. Boy am I glad you weren't sitting next to a homeless man when you read this. Love, Ton

Class of 2014

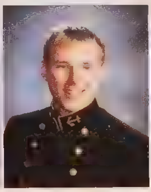
Gabriel Acevedo

Haley Adams

Gary Albright

Mario Avila

Lauren Baguley



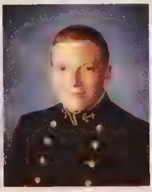
Justin Betz

Anthony Broll

Michael Burgoyne

Brandon Carter

Chihsuan Chu



George Davis

Umberto Fournier

James Gimbert

Maressa Guynn

Lucas Hoffer

Jonathan Jackson

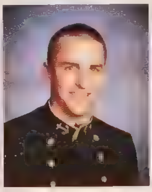
Matthew Jackson

Jackson Jones

Andrew Kinsella

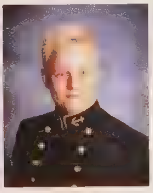
Kitti Kopar

Soon Kwon

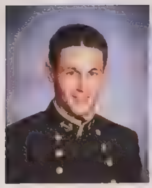


Kyle Lynch

Kirkland Malcolm



Kirby Mansberger



Montana Marsh

Timothy McHale

Ashley Miller

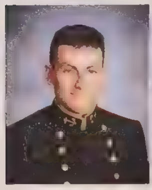
Derrick Petett

Jonathan Powell

David Principato

Christina Pung

Sabrina Reyes



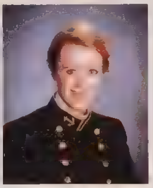
Matthew Riloff

Remington Roth

Benjamin Sampson

Nicholas Szczepaniak

Brendan Walsh



Daphne White

Class of 2015

Didarul Alam

Jonathan Bangsal

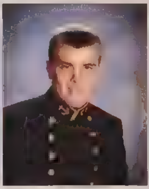
Warren Benfield

Charles Bongiovanni

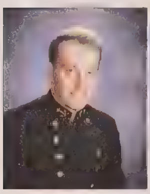
Wesley Clark

Maria Correa

Eamonn Crumblish



James Dankle



Andrew Delo

Frances Depree

Anthony Diorio

Brendan Dudeck

Ryan Everson

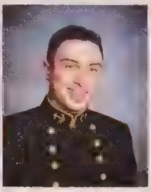
John Frey

Joseph Gallet

Matthew Guerin

Ron Helms

Michael Johnson

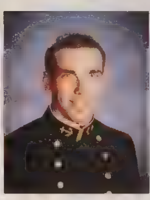


David Kaye

Lillian Kraemer

Ian Leszczynski

Megan Lewis



Joshua Malone

Paul McCoy

Thurman McNeil

Theodore Miller

Riley Mita

Molly Nantz

Christopher Padgett

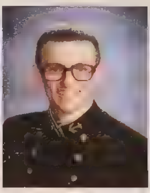
Alexander Ramos

Sara Reynolds

Lauren Riffle

Shakir Robinson

Paul Roche

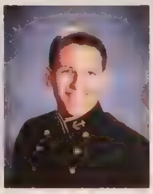


Stuart Shrum

Matthew Sommers

Zachary Speirs

Patton Taylor

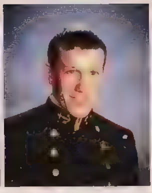


Andrew Woods

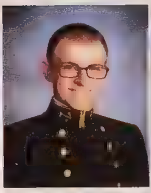
Class of 2016

Dax Ansley

Allyson Baker



Anthony Behr



Jonathan Buterbaugh

Jonathan Debaugh

Theodore Demiris

David Didier

Ashley Dodd

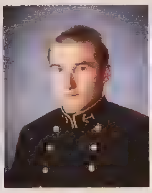
Trey Duncan

Brendan Durkin

James Gaines

Alexis Gamarra

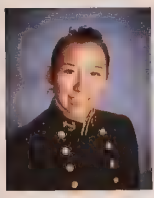
Zachariah Gibson



Ian Gilliam

Wesley Giudice

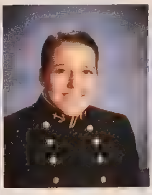
Joshua Harrelson



Kristi Hashigami

Nathaniel Haynes

Jacob Jepsen



Alexandria Karika

Jacob Kotlarski

Sean Leahy

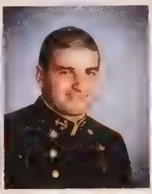
James Lee

Charles Lindinger

Jiles Maness

Anthony Mayes

Ian McKenzie



Marc Meier

Yanjie Ng

Morgan O'connor

Nicole Peterson

Wilbert Presley

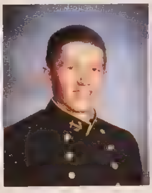
Amanda Ramirez

Konnor Rist

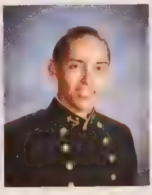
Michael Scaccia

Thomas Shiiba

Tasha Talbot



Jordan Thomas



Rex Warnert

Scott Whitley

NAVAL ACADEMY

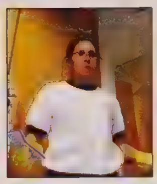
Company

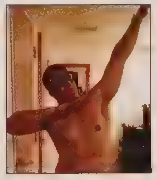
3

Stephanie A. Benitez-Strine



USMC Ground

Midshipman 2/c, upper-half, Stephanie Benitez-Strine embodies all traits that the Naval Academy works to instill in each midshipman and future leader. She loves this place SO much, that she hasn't left in seventy days. And while this wasn't a voluntary extended stay, she has become a modern day Chesty Puller. Incredibly salty. Stephanie has the fighting spirit, notice the scar below her bottom lip, the commitment (to Wawa mashed potatoes at three am), and the courage to take on the most taxing of positions within the brigade: MIDN 2/c Strine is, after all, your spring semester Head-Restrictee. She wears her two diagonal stripes proudly as she brassos her 2013 name tag. And while she made the cutest Ocsar the Grouch, the green of the Marine Corps uniform will be her best look yet!



Curtis R. Bolinger

USMC Pilot

Curtis Bolinger, known to most as C-Bo, did not come to the Naval Academy choosing the Thug life, but instead, it found him. Spending most of his free time in the weight room pumping iron and listening to Nickleback's greatest hits on repeat, he is known around the brigade to be amongst the top physically, but also academically where his academic strides often have him mistaken with the likes of Einstein, Gallelieo, and Hawking. Curtis has had much success in his time here, but ultimately his life here has been and will be defined not just by how great he is on the outside, but the respect and trust he has earned by being the best true friend a person could ask for. His humor, smarts and strength are greater than most, but the true friendship he has given over the past four years make Curtis stand out, and that is what makes his Marines lucky to have him lead them one day.

Travis L. Bush

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Andrew J. Campos

Surface Warfare Officer

Now college men from sea to sea, May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we, To hoist a symbol hue? For sailor men in battle fair, Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear, The Navy Blue and Gold.

Thomas H. Coffey

Naval Flight Officer

Let's be real, if there's anyone that personifies the 'fratastic', 'bro' and preppy persona of a lax enthusiast, it's Thomas Hector Coffey. Style seems to be something that was genetically implanted in him, especially when you see him strolling down in slacks, a Vineyard Vines button up, Clark's shoes and his flow perfectly tamed. He's a real life most interesting man spending his time plucking away on his guitar or keeping himself up to date on pop culture. Thomas is destined for great things, if only to set himself up to settle down in England and find a beautiful 'Mick' to marry so that he can enjoy 'elevensies' and five course meals for the remainder of his 'jolly' good life. Cheers Tom!

Boyd R. Crofton

USMC Ground

Throughout his 4 years here, he has achieved academic excellence posting a near perfect UNSAT record. But did he let that discourage him, NO, he simply put in a lip, kicked his feet up, and put forth great effort into coming up with arguably some of the most popular Facebook statuses ever created. Many important milestones marked the USNA career of Boyd Crofton. Plebe year, he lost nearly thirty pounds, all from a combination of sweating through plebe summer and sweating through plebe chemistry but he made it. Youngster year was made famous by his first introduction to the outside world during spring break where unleashed all that is Boyd Crofton and the venerable Chainsaw on the free world. If you don't know what that is, buy him a beer or two and you might just get lucky enough. Second class year saw the development of one of the worst sleep cycles in the history of man kind as well as a vast network of tobacco indulging individuals to which Boyd came to their rescue late in the week. Firstie year was supposed to be the easiest year possible, where the ACDEAN himself, a close personal friend of Boyds, had mandated that he cannot hold any leadership billet. He graduated as a two striper and Company XO. It wasn't pretty but he got the job done and in the end, that is all that matters. Here's to four years as class mates, room mates, and most of all, best friends.

Cameron A. Dann

Navy Pilot

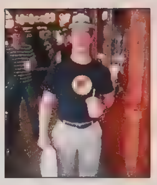
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

John H. Davenport

USMC Ground

Four years together by the Bay, Where Severn joins the tide, Then by the Service called away, We've scattered far and wide; But still when two or three shall meet, And old tales be retold, From low to highest in the Fleet Will pledge the Blue and Gold.

Colin E. Day



Surface Warfare Officer

Colin Eugene Day is pretty much the most interesting man in the world. However, most of his exploits are not appropriate for this medium and the list of his endeavors is much too long. What can be said is that he was born in London, England and has made his presence well-known in many territories. At heart, Texas will always be his home. Continuing in the tradition of the proudest Texans, Colin has unfailingly made even the smallest occasions large, and the larger occasions catastrophic. Some of the areas of interest that he has dabbled in include: passionate movie critic, amateur receipt artist, avid water skier, fashion icon, Captain of the War-wagon, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces, King of the Crab People, and affectionate owner of a penguin named Archibald. If you ever have the privilege of meeting Colin "The Machine" Day, you can try and move him but he's all mass. As loyal a friend that can be asked for, Colin will continue his legacy in future ports as a Surface Warfare Officer.

Douglas A. Dietrich

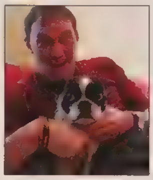
SEALs

Hailing from the swimming pools of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Doug was a little confused when he arrived in Annapolis. Recruited for his ability to push lots of water very fast with his giant hands, Doug quickly found himself all out of sorts, and migrated over to the Brigade Sports Complex where he discovered that frozen water was where he felt most comfortable. Much to the chagrin of unnamed company mate, Doug quickly made a name for himself in Navy hockey, so that the coaches were always calling, "Give me Dietz!" even after Doug had long since retired to the locker room at the behest of the referee. And a hockey player he remained for the rest of his time at the Academy, earning the honor of team captain as a senior for his work ethic, his no-nonsense attitude, and his fierce loyalty – except for this one time where he ditched his best friend on his birthday to hang out with some UMD girl! He never did find love at UMD…or UMBC…or ECU…or DTA…or Bancroft for that matter. No, the closest thing Doug found to love was over at the BSC. Still, his ingenuity in scheming ever new and inventive ways of finding companionship for the weekend should help when he enters the challenging and unpredictable world of Naval Special Warfare. A dedicated son, a loving brother, and an unbeatable friend, Doug was born to lead, and will no doubt be incredibly successful wherever his life takes him.

Kevin A. Farley

Naval Flight Officer

"You drive a truck? I drive a Jeep. We're gonna be friends" Kevin Farley knows only one thing: The laws of physics can be violated. He drives a jeep, a bike, and anything with a wheel on it. He wanted to be a SEAL for a little while and one cold night 2/C year, I asked him what happened to that. He said, "I came here to be a pilot, by God, I'm gonna be a pilot" then he put on a Top Gun shirt and cruised out on a fixie. Kevin Farley is a good man, a great friend, and a limitless person. I can promise that you will read about him someday, maybe when he ejects from a multi-million dollar aircraft just for the thrill of it or does something great. I feel safe calling in danger close with this guy overhead.



William F. Freitag

Naval Flight Officer

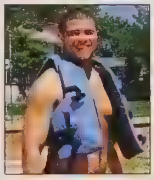
Will Freitag, AKA "Wild Bill", AKA "DJ Cheese Cubes and Bacon Bits," is without a doubt one of the most interesting people to have ever attended this institution. Known for his ability to blend in with any social group, Will could be found on his weekends having dance-offs in clubs in DC, wearing Justin Bieber shirts, crashing mopeds in the Bahamas, or just straight up accumulating random junk to bring back to "The Rat's Nest." An avid lover of music, Will dabbled in DJing parties as well as attending Mumford and Sons concerts. Considered by many to be the funniest member of 3rd Co as well as an extremely reliable friend, this kid would do anything for his boys and was always able to make those around him laugh. Pensacola has no idea what's in store for when Freitag shows up.

Lance O. Gonzalez

Naval Flight Officer

Now college men from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailor men in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Jordan M. Goodman



USMC Pilot

Hailing from the small town of Sherman, Texas, Jordan Goodman was born and raised to be the soul of rugged masculinity. A towering and overpowering figure of man he can be found on the rugby pitch, unless it is a Monday or raining, then he is the afternoon ruler of his rack. The perfect southern gentleman, he has been known to slay many a mids heart often joking that he has had more girlfriends with alpha numbers than roommates. He is a connoisseur of the finest of white meats. A history major by trade he will be the first to ensure you that he has earned every part of his Bachelors of Science and you will be left with the impression of his BS. A future Marine Corps Aviator, he is the embodiment of leadership and really knows how to Enjoy A Fine Day.

Harold B. Hickey

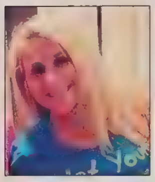
Surface Warfare Officer

From the Halls of Bancroft, To the Shores of Severn, we have spotted this Puerto-Rican Gorilla outside of his natural habitat numerous times. Time after time, he was told to clean his room. After almost 50 room failures in his career at this majestic institution, one would think that Har'ld's immediate ancestors were the Homo rhodesiensis. But after listening to this man's singing ability and his overuse of Murray's Pomade, it is quite possible that Elvis Presley is in his direct blood line. Long story short, no one quite understood this beast of man who was strikingly good-looking, unpredictably smart, and most definitely a stud. For all those who ever got on Har'ld's case…shame on you! In spite of his denial of every infraction on his behalf, it is your fault for abusing this rare beast. One should definitely check on MIDS to ensure that Har'ld is, in fact, supposed to graduate considering he served two valiant years as a Youngster as a result of some pretty bad luck with Grandpa's cough medicine. To everyone else, three-point will be remembered as planet Earth's most interesting mammal. Only by the good grace of the Flying Spaghetti Monster has USNA been so privileged to have such a fine lad.

Christopher E. Humber

Navy Pilot

Chris hails from Nashua, NH. During his four years at the Academy he devoted himself completely to the Drum and Bugle Corps, performing as a soloist on many occasions. His hard work and skill did not go unrecognized, as he was selected to lead the Corps his 1/C year. Chris also worked hard academically, choosing to pursue a degree in Oceanography. All of Chris's efforts paid off in the Fall of his 1/C year, when he received a highly coveted aviation billet. His hard charging attitude and work ethic promise a long and successful career, and will serve him well in the fleet.



Madison E. Jones

Surface Warfare Officer

1/C Madison Jones has proven throughout her four years at the United States Naval Academy that a little bit of Texas is the best medicine for any rainy day. Whether it is in the water or dancing on a dry dock, 1/C Jones is a loud, proud, Blonde one of a kind whose positive outlook on life will surely be a blessing in the fleet. Look out big Navy because this two steppin' Woodland bred Texan cannot wait to serve her Country!

Jocelynn S. Knudsen

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Matthew J. Lassen

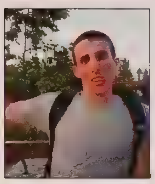
Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

James D. Laughridge

USMC Pilot

Let me give you some advice: "You don't tell James Laughridge what to do." Many have tried; none have succeeded (and many who tried have had their throats ripped out). You can tell James that he has go [insert less desirable service selection], and he will end up as a Marine Aviator. You can tell James not to consume a dozen chocolate glazed donuts after winning the National Championship in the Lightweight 4+ (and two days before heading to Leatherneck) but he will, because James Laughridge is a goer. What is a goer? A goer is somebody who brings a pair of boxing gloves to a race and has a bottle of Jameson with his name engraved on it. You can tell James Laughridge that the Second Amendment is bunk, and James will gladly show you how versatile his custom built AR-15 is. Many have tried to tell James that "he needs to meet with his company officer. He needs to recognize that storage lockers are a bad idea. He needs to be sensitive to the needs of others, and that he should not 'get weird' or 'F the Brass'," but in the end… You just don't tell James Laughridge what to do brother. And that's all I have to say about that.



Jacob B. Levin

USMC Ground

Jacob Brooks Levin hails from the quiet suburbs of New Jersey. In order to compensate for his giant head and goblin-like grin, his diet consists of massive amounts of protein that have transformed his image into that of a disproportionately, jacked goblin. When he isn't admiring his physique in the mirror or pumping iron, Jake engorges his brain with massive amounts of information that have allowed him to continue on to Georgetown University to further his education in security studies. Always the model Midshipman, hard worker, and caring friend; Jake will continue to set the standard for excellence and lead from the front as an Officer in the Marine Corps.

Nora D. Momani

Navy Pilot

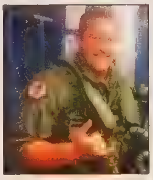
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Johnathan C. Parin

Surface Warfare Officer

Now college men from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailor men in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Damon K. Pescaia



Navy Pilot

Watch out everyone Kahikolu Pescaia is destined for greatness. This kid is going places. You'd never know it from his cool, calm, and laid back attitude but Kahikolu is one of the hardest working people I know. Whether it's on the field, in the weight room, or at a bar he's always down to work hard and have a good time (even though he still can't out-bench his roommate…someday maybe). You can always count on this multi-talented 'brah', with his carefully manicured flow, to jam to any kind of music (although you can't take the island out of the man), take a few pointers on how to chill, throw up the shaka. Shoots.

Sean H. Philbin

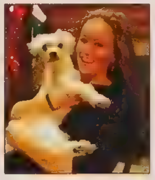
Surface Warfare Officer

Known as the "Rain man" of classic rock, Sean can always be found reminiscing the 80's in his French made Vuarnet shades and listening to a little Van-Halen. If you ever wanted to make a 100 on any project, Sean is the man for you. If nobody else would do the work, Sean would burn through 10 pads of engineering paper before taking a "B" on any assignment. Style, he's got it. Brain's, he shows it. An infatuation with blonde-headed, blue-eyed German girls….yup, he knows it! This good ole Yankee wanna-be carpetbagger from Warren, Ohio is the epitome of hard work, dedication, and a great friend. In 10 years I wouldn't be surprised if this guy was married to Kate Upton cruising in his yacht down the French Riviera.

Christina M. Rapp

USMC Ground

Christy Rapp is the most beautiful and loving person one could ever have the blessing to meet. Her strength radiates from her deep and unconditional love of God; a strength she shares with those around her. Christy's smile is contagious and brightens every room she walks into (it can even break the locked-on bearing of her roommate). Over the past four years, she has been devoted to her friends by being a shoulder to cry on, listening to rants about astonishing stupidity (and adding her own two cents), and selflessly sharing her beloved macaroni and cheese. You go girl!



Catherine M. Reed

Surface Warfare Officer

Catherine Mary Reed is a Tippecanoe, Ohio native who will always be known for her positive attitude, good looks, charisma, and charm. She has that perfect smile that spreads joy to everyone that she comes in contact with. Catherine has an amazing sense of humor coupled with an infectious laugh drawing everyone around to join the conversation. On the golf course Catherine is extremely friendly and competitive at the same time. Catherine once helped her opponent look for a ball for over 5 minutes and she was quoted saying "Don't worry about it. Lance Armstrong lost a ball and he did great!" Catherine is the best friend anyone could ever ask for. Her incomparable personality and work ethic have set her up to be an exceptional Surface Warfare Officer and even better wife. Catherine is destined for success in everything she puts her hands on. Norfolk isn't ready for you!!

Eric L. Rintz

Naval Flight Officer

The older twin, the taller twin, and (thinks it but doesn't say it) the better twin. Slick, fast, strong, and handsome--and that's just his car. Armed with unwavering determination and an even less wavering bedtime, Eric will settle for nothing but the best. Yet with all the best things in life, all this Naviator wants to know is, "what's up, boys?" All the rest of us want to know is, "where's your squad, Rintz?"

Zachariah R. Rocco

USMC Ground

Ever find yourself walking down the hall and hear obnoxiously loud rave or house music? The source is most likely Rocco! If you go inside you will discover him doing some epic fist pumping! If you are lucky he will be dancing to his theme song..the thong song! When he is not getting yoked in the gym or styling his hair, he can be found pretending to study in the library. He has many hidden talents which include but are not limited to: killing zombies, being a lightweight, getting bad grades, running faster than the wind, and of course being a guido. He is also a man of many shades. He can be a bad-boy on restriction for kisses and his first memorable PSU trip, a scholar by "volunteering" to repeat calculus I&II, an athlete through his room wrestling matches, an adventurer by his king hall night raids, and a true friend through his selfless acts of kindness. He has many different names to go with his alter-egos such as: renato, the Italian Stallion, rockem sockem rocco, mighty mouse, rocco dash, and of course mr. UNSAT! When he is not saving babies from shark attacks or bombing hills on his longboard, he enjoys touring Europe with his fiancé Jordyn Nicholl.

Edward T. Ross

USMC Pilot

Edward "Cool Eddie" Ross is the Naval Academy's most eligible bachelor. As a member of the Men's Glee Club, Barbershop Quartet, and an avid pianist, Mr. Ross embodies all that is desirable in a well-rounded Midshipman. Furthermore, as a future Marine Corps aviator, his good looks will not be his only deadly weapon. This Brooklyn, Connecticut native and Pomfret School alumnus is sure to make his God and country proud. His moral strength is only matched by his ability to take a punch to the gut. Don't believe me? Just ask his Ring Dance date. Actually

Edward "Cool Eddie" Ross is the Naval Academy's most eligible bachelor. As a member of the Men's Glee Club, Barbershop Quartet, and an avid pianist, Mr. Ross embodies all that is desirable in a well-rounded Midshipman. Furthermore, as a future Marine Corps aviator, his good looks will not be his only deadly weapon. This Brooklyn, Connecticut native and Pomfret School alumnus is sure to make his God and country proud. His moral strength is only matched by his ability to take a punch to the gut. Don't believe it? Just ask his Ring Dance date.

Theresa G. Sanchez

Navy Pilot

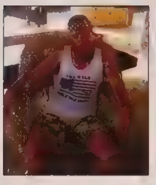
This girl turned out to be one of the best blessings a roommate could ask for…From the first day she made eye contact with those around her through those big, beautiful BCG's to always offering a comforting shoulder to cry on, she has truly made everyone's time here a joy and an adventure. Between her procrastinating sessions of doing homework (aka writing her entire 30 page capstone paper in 2 days), she can be found chowing down on pepperoni pizza, shopping on line, or ranting about the stupidity of people at this place. One might be surprised by the last statement due to her incredibly sweet demeanor and giving heart…Theresa is the only person who was ever able to teach her very selfish roommate how to share. This was achieved due to her great generosity…but also by her begging for some late night snacks. She has truly touched the hearts of those who know her, especially the ones closest to her. The greatest gifts Theresa gave to people during her time were her unconditional love and everlasting friendship…she will never leave the hearts of those who met her.

Robert M. Simpson

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Clinton L. Spencer



Submarines

"Southern cookin, Southern women, Southern livin. This Lake City Florida native puts the class in classy. He's that fine Southern gentleman the girls flock to, smooth with the tools to satisfy. If it ain't American made, it sucks. If it ain't Bud Heavy, get it out of his face cause he's not drinking it. One of the best Ocean Engineers at the Academy Monday through Friday afternoon. But the weekend…hell no, cause every weekend is a Guy Harvey t-shirt Costa del-Mar sunglasses kind of event. Knows how to be a great friend and treat the ladies right, but can't remember his jacket at Sly Fox or Pusser's to save his life…as Forrest would say, "It happens." 100% Southern, 100% Country, 100% Playa

Cheng H. Tay

Singapore Navy

As an International Student and Officer from Singapore, Cheng Han Tay was well prepared to take on the challenges of the Naval Academy. Throughout his four years at USNA Tay was always quick to impart his knowledge upon a fellow Upperclassman or "fix" a Plebe who thought they could avoid his swift Tae Kwon Do kick when not following their rates. A true artist at heart he was quick to draw on your favorite pair of shoes and never missed a moment to create a new masterpiece. The time that Tay has spent at the United States Naval Academy has benefited not only himself but everyone around him and he will undoubtedly be a vital asset to the Republic of Singapore Navy when he returns to continue his duty as an Officer. Cheng Han Tay has been a great roommate and the best friend anyone could ask for.

David M. Walker

Surface Warfare Officer

David Michael Walker claims his roots from Georgia and has the reputation of rooting for losing college sports teams. Luckily, he makes up for his poor judgment with his great personality. He is extremely charismatic, funny, and compassionate. Big Walk was born to be a SWO Daddy and was one of the few midshipmen to volunteer for YPs two years in a row! When he isn't dreaming about life at sea, he devotes his time to swimming (simulating "abandon ship" drills) and Navy Men's Rugby. Let the record show that while docile and teddy bear-like off the field, David is a huge terror on the rugby field. Grown men have been brought to tears when having to go up against him face-to-face. In his prime, David hurdled (literally jumped over) a would-be tackler… twice! David has had an illustrious naval career to date and will only make more of a name for himself in the Fleet! GO DAWGS!

Ryan A. Williams

USMC Ground

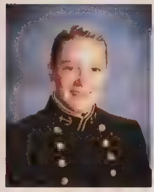
Born and raised in the great state of Ohio, Ryan Williams is the Browns fan that won't quit (for some odd reason). He is not only a dead eye shooter, but has the knack to help others with the sport as well, making him a perfect team captain. If you've witnessed his antics in PCB or SPI, you know that he is a party animal for sure; but Ryan's heart, drive, and strength are what will make him an amazing Marine. He's been a great teammate, and an even better friend. The USMC is privileged to have this fearless leader joining its ranks.

William R. Zapala

Naval Flight Officer

William Raymond Zapala, or better known as Billy Ray, was a hard charging Midshipman. He had the mindset of most Aviators, work hard, play harder and love everyone...except the French, long story. Not even the Sequester could keep Will from his passion to fly, JJ the Jet Plane will be good enough for Will at IFS. He joined the Navy to see the world and upon graduation will be returning home to the great state of Florida. Will has never and will never be wrong which will one day make him a great president. His first campaign promise is to appoint all his Academy friends to cabinet positions and to have an open bar party in the White House for his friends. "Bob" relies heavily on the fact that he is left handed to win his campaign, knowing that his Political Science degree from an engineering school will do him no good in the real world. Will is known among his friends for his extreme dedication to marching like a boss, drinking flying mooses, and having the ugliest Christmas sweater. Should he fail at everything else in life he knows he can always come back to the circle where his friends will hire him as their personal Spanish interpreter and tour guide.

Class of 2014



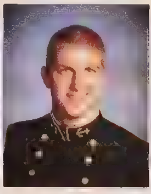
Carolyn Adkins

Lauren Allam

Robert Andon

David Azhocar

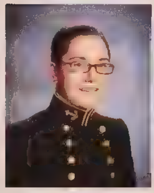
Brittany Bly



Jeffrey Canclini

Brandon Cespedes

Andrew Cooper



Lindsey Darling

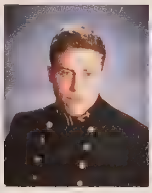
Kevin Deese

Samuel Eby

Daniel Fisher

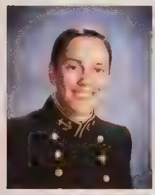
Christian Freudenberger

Dwayne Gammage



David Hansen

Lauren Hendrix



Brittany Henley

Maximiliano Herrera

Xavier Jimenez

Marshall Liu

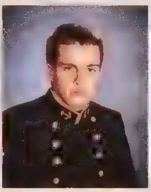
Joseph Locksmith

Alexes Lopez Dearriagashaw

Michael Madrid

Awad Mohamed

Tyler Mulloy



Andrew Nesselroade

David Ochy

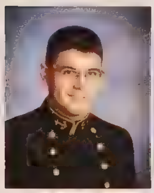
John Parks

Audrey Petro

Matthew Piotrowicz

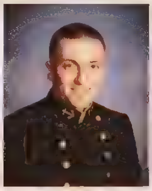
Ramiro Robles

Andrew Roche



Austin Taylor

Patrick Taylor



Ian Weston

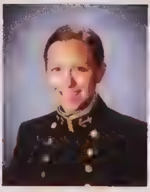
Jonathan Wev

Jared Wilson

Paul Zimmerman

Class of 2015

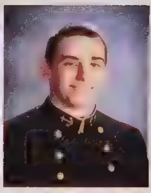
Rolland Alahmar



Alexandra Asuncion

Gregory Bartlett

Alexandria Berry



Zachary Blanchard

Dominique Carey

Kevin Crush

Brian Delamora

Moises Diaz

Leonard Dunovant

Zachary Eissler

Bradley Elder

Zachary Eskew

Brett Evans

Michael Flatter

Jonathan Formella

Yoshiro Grubbs

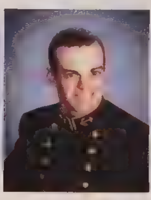
Joseph Huggins

Donya Jackson

Lauren Jarreau

Anthony Juker

Caprice Kelty



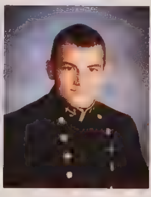
Christopher Kent

Christian Klouda

Grant Laterza

Katherine Macvarish

Erin Manners



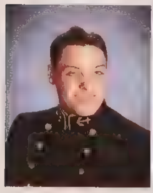
Thomas Manning

Evan Nicholl

Daniel Norris

Maika Polamalu

Brandon Rabun



Dallas Redden

Candace Ross

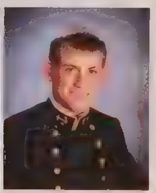
Daniel Ryan

Stefan Schmidt

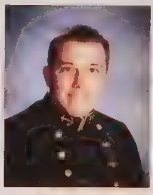
Jared Smoot

William Trettin

Jared Wilkins



Terry Woxberg

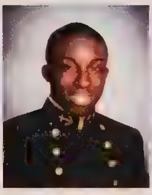


Aaron Zack

Jake Zuzek

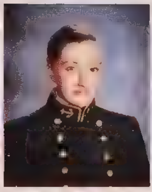
Class of 2016

Quincy Adams



Kevin Afriyie

Dantaun Bernstein



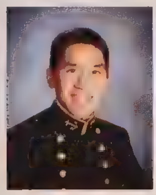
Karah Brown

Tyler Burke

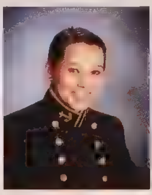
Cody Cordero

Jeanfelix Defournoy

Erin Devivies



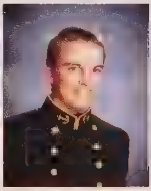
Quoc Duong



Tasha Eisenhower

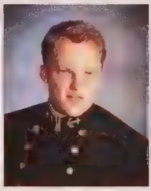
Alejandro Fernandez

Alfred Garvey



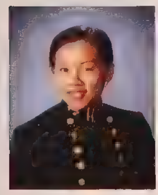
Luke Gillingham

Daniel Grocki



William Huntsman

Jacob Kelly



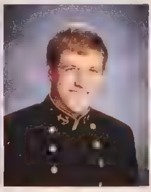
Erica Le

Ryan Lewandowski

Anson Liu

Eduardo Malca

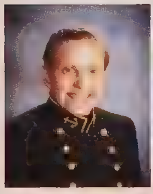
Christian Mellos



Joseph Merki

Kyle Mortensen

Oliver Nelsen



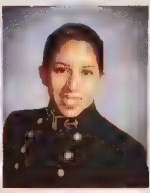
Patricia Neno

Kevin Norris

Trenton Pache

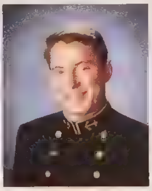
McLean Phillips

Carter Reading



Samantha Rosales

Alina Sanders



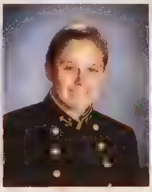
Orris Sloan

Travis Smith

Benjamin Sowerby

Renee Sweeney

Reid Toombs



Anna Wade

Benjamin Weisberg

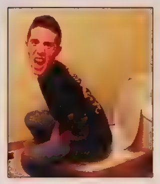
Emmett Whalen

4

Company

4

Matthew E. Baglini



Naval Aviation

Matt comes from a small town no one has ever heard of called "Rhode Island." He claims it's a state but there is no one else to help prove such a ridiculous claim. He hates Maryland for its southerners and Republicans. Little does he know this is not the true south. When Matt isn't in the process of getting a speeding ticket, going to court for a speeding ticket, or at defensive driving, he is probably drinking copious amounts of Guinness to prepare for his application as an Irish citizen. Slowly but surely we will convert him to our ways with country music, homestyle cookin', and some good ol' southern love. Before this can truly happen I'm sorry Matt, you have to accept the fact that you aren't Batman, and wearing the same shirt out every weekend won't change that.

Zachary M. Barbaro

USMC Ground

He is a giver to the local community, single handily assuring that local businesses like Armadillo's, Federal House, Pusser's, and Castle Bay could stay afloat during the national recession. A drama enthusiast, he always assured it was present and if not he'd make some, even if he had to become James Bond and "leap out the window." He loves the light and always ensured its presence no matter the time of day. Through numerous tests and relentless research he found that his best school work was done under the cover of night well after his current season of Burn Notice was complete. As a future Marine Officer, Zach ensured that he was at his top physical peak, leaving behind the life of a NARP and joining the few and the proud, the Men's Volleyball Team. To enhance his physical prowess he insured to consume more than the daily "recommended" dose of anything.... Do a push up, drink some protein, run up the stairs, finish off with some protein, climb into bed, drink some protein. His daily diets would be capped off with a dinner fit for a King... of every nation. Feasts from mounds of sushi with a side of an entree of General Tso Chicken Dinner to not one, but two Homewrecker Burritos from the Moe's fine dining establishment, then drink some protein. Overall, Zach has transformed from a boy to a man of many hats, meals and not to mention, many rings, but there will always be only 'one to rule them all'. Good Luck in the Marines, Love ya bud! Take care! Fair Winds and following dust storms...-Spin

Sean P. Brown

USMC Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Jeffrey C. Christopher

Navy Pilot

If Cletus isn't dead by the time you are reading this, then he'll live forever. Jay "Cletus" Christopher is going to terrorize the sky as a Naval Aviator. When he wasn't marching tours, picking a fight, or standing in front of the Superintendant, he was with his boys living life to the fullest. He is a devoted son, brother and teammate around the clock. After his military career he is going to write masterpieces, hunt big game, ski untouched slopes, open a restaurant and have his own bush pilot company. If you never hear from him again, don't take it personally. A true conqueror of the gnar.

Alicia L. Crawford

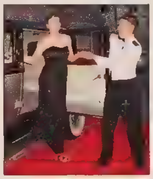
Surface Warfare Officer

Alicia Crawford, A.K.A. Alicia Crawfish to the social media world, is a funny, loving, passionate individual, or at least that's what she would want to hear. For the most part though, it's true, unless you wake her up from sleeping, or try and have a conversation while she's working out. Alicia's years at USNA can best be described in phases: her soccer phase, her lacrosse phase, her scuba-diving phase, her no-alcohol phase, her long-boarding phase, her Buddhist phase, her vegetarian phase, and the list goes on. Though none of these phases have particularly stuck with her, they do help to define the person she is today. Let's start with funny. Alicia is funny, well not really, but she is fun to be around! She is always up for having a good time, even if it means skydiving or going to the movies by herself. Alicia is also a loving individual. Though she has proven to be a capable fighter in martial arts, Alicia prefers to stick to the motto "peace, not war," and she seeks to make valuable friendships with everyone. Lastly, Alicia is extremely passionate. She will undoubtedly be the face of an upcoming save-the-dolphins campaign in the Pacific. As for the future, Alicia will remain Swotivated for at least the next five years, or until her next phase.

Andrew S. Davis

Naval Intelligence

He is known as "the Animal" for the time he spent volunteering at places such as the Annapolis Humane Society. At the ER, dog bitten victims are grateful for his one on one counseling. Few can contest with his attendance at church. This stallion used his free weekends to spread the word of our lord Jesus Christ, our savior while he visited civilian schools in the surrounding area. His sobriety, purity, and humility, would make any mother proud. His willingness to put his friends first makes him the true jamboy of jamboys. "I'm a freaking champion you peasant." –Andrew Davis



Catherine E. Drake

Navy Pilot

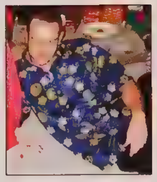
1/C Drizzy Drake, a.k.a. Heartbreak Drake, from Washington STATE came to the Naval Academy with a determination that has only grown throughout the years. While she hasn't sat in the front three inches of her chair since the end of youngster year, her motivation level is still at an all time high. In addition to being the perfect midshipman, Catherine has always been a kind and caring person. She's always willing to help a roommate find her missing ID or volunteer her time with numerous charities. In addition to the insane workload of the mechanical engineer, Catherine shot down the competition as a member of the national champion pistol team. The challenges of the Naval Academy only strengthened her determination. She has been an inspiration to all whom have known her and no doubt the best is yet to come for an outstanding person!

Gregory M. Dupell

Navy Pilot

Greg Dupell, also known as Dupe, Nine, Niner, and the hook. When he's not busy making terrible decisions in women, he can be found on Terwilliger Park trying to go yahtzee on every live pitch. Notorious for his personal hygiene, hairy everything but his head, run ins with Gunny, Sturdy donations, and baseball advice. Famous quotes, "I'm just trying to clash my clan, bro," "Sturdy!", "How do you hit the curveball? You don't, you hit the fastball.", "Dude, you'll never guess what Costi did today!", "Somebody better wake up Beans, before I smoke him in the face!", "Papa Dupes is not happy..." All jokes about Dupes excessive behavior and recommendations for change aside, he is an exquisite piece of our dysfunctional friendship and will be forever remembered as the goofy best friend with endless baseball stats and terrible movie quotes. Pals

Andrew K. Feeney



Submarines

Commander Andrew Kevin Feeney, eskimo brother of many a Chief from Rhode Island, recipient of USNA's Best Skin Award three years running, and whose premier athletic accomplishment includes a bathroom encounter with The Rob Gronkowski in Aruba. Navy Men's Swimming Training Seargent and known for his hot temper, Andrew ruled with an "Iron Fist," that occasionally connected with the jaw of a sassy 2/C teammate. At times, Feeney was ruled by his alter ego named Veenom, who fed him Natty T and Dirty Girl Scouts…encouraging him to make questionable decisions on the Pussers' dance floor. He aspires to be the future CO of Nuclear Powers' "Top Gun Airborne Submarine Prototype" Program, and wishes to retire with his friends and family at the Oasis Goodtime Emporium. The women of Charleston will soon know the pleasure that is Andrew Feeney.

Michael J. Fiorelli

Navy Pilot

Mike Fiorelli, known to his friends as Fonzarelli, Yarkuscorelli, Fonz, or Fio, arrived here from the great state of Virginia, where he preferred bracing up and doing push-ups to rates and rack races. A man of many words and little meaning, Mike always cared for the well-being of his shipmates. If you can't find him seeking EI with Professor Niewoehner, Karpouzian, Camardo, Hallberg, Davids, or any Aero professor, you can find him flexing his jaw muscles in a blue rim in the varsity athletes only gym, Wesley Brown. After his debut on national TV, Mike resigned himself to a lesser career of rippin and tearin down the slopes. Although he can neither confirm nor deny his presences at Croquet 2013, Fio could nearly always be found working late hours in RI-213. A great friend, Michael imbued the highest ideals of study, study, and study. His consistent desire to complete the task at hand will serve him well as a Navy Pilot and beyond.

Adam A. Floyd

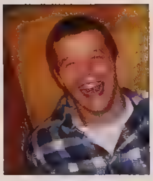
USMC Ground

Adam "the loud one" Floyd, the inspiration for Pink Floyd's "Keep Talking" is a unique character hailing from the state of South Carolina (despite his vehement passion for Texas). His passions include climbing shirtless, slack-lining shirtless, running shirtless, and hanging out in Rickover(usually shirtless). His major accomplishments are once lifting a car out of a ditch in the icy mountains of Colorado, punching a seagull in the face, and living his entire life by eating only red meat. Once Adam leaves the military he hopes to become a beach bum in Hawaii where he will meet his future 300 pound fe-mid wife.

Evan M. Gordon

Navy Pilot

Goggles Gordon always love a good "scooooop." He also took twice as long to get ready than your average girl, but still managed to look like he bought his clothes at the toilet store. On any given day his room was 600 degrees and smelled of ignorance. He lived a secret life on the weekends, with many of his conquests yet to be discovered. He was at best a below average volleyball player, but became captain by default when he was the tallest (and only) senior on the team. Ladies of the brigade can be quoted saying "Gordon ya big stud, take me to bed or lose me forever." Needless to say, he won the same number of times Al Gore did presidential elections. If he ever does manage to fit inside an aircraft, the Navy will be lucky to have him as an officer and an aviator.



Sean R. Greiner

Navy Pilot

"Annnnnnnd have you met our friend Sean? He has six wives. Yea, he's a Mormon. Isn't that weird?" This stormin' Mormon hails from the high mountains of Ogden, Utah and came to the academy having never drank a beer or touched a woman. In four short years we have turned him into a bona fide lush and father of many mulatto children. He really should've gone on that mission looking back at it… All sarcasm aside, Sean Greiner is one of the most respectable, genuine and considerate people you will ever meet. Whether he was racing on the slopes throughout the northeast or wearing a t-shirt on the top of an open tour bus across the Golden Gate Bridge in December, Sean always made his presence felt in his quiet, unassuming way. He is one of the best friends you can ever have, and some 16 year old girl out there will be fortunate enough to marry him someday soon. We look forward to seeing Sean fly for the Navy and fully expect him to have a long and successful career. If you haven't met Sean yet, go out of your way to befriend this young man, because the next time you see him he'll be flying the blue and yellow one. We love you Seaners.

Pamela L. Guízar Castillo

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Dewayne B. Hooper

Navy Pilot

Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them. "But what of mediocrity?" asks DJ "How do I achieve that?" Valiantly serving as the Battalion ATFP Officer, he apprehended no less than 20 terrorists and diffused at least 13 bombs. While he has a fondness for all females, he is especially drawn to ones wearing uniforms, especially Whites (although he would never turn down a girl in SDBs). He harbors a deep respect for the rules, especially the ones concerning the ceremonial nature of Stribling Walk. Within minutes of meeting him, you'll be able to tell that he's a Nuclear Physicist (mostly because he will have told you). When DJ got to 2nd class year and gained the ability to wear Civies, Baby Gap saw a 40% jump in sales. A natural born leader of men, the Navy is lucky to have an officer as capable as DJ Hooper.

Jessica A. Klusmeyer

Navy Pilot

Often answering the phone in a Russian accent, Jessica Klusmeyer is one of those rare individuals who will make you laugh until you cry, tell you the honest hard true because she cares, and always has your back. Coming from a small town, she tackled the difficult combination of physics and Russian then humorously incorporated them into her life. When facing personal and professional adversity, Jessica's sense of humor and resilience proved inspirational. You knew when she had an upcoming test in Russian because she refused to speak English... Or she had one too many. More importantly, whenever a friend needed her, Jessica was there without fail. Her vibrant sense of life led to many laughs for "Squad One One, Fun Fun" during Protramid (especially for marine week) and jokes in the "Room of Opposite Feelings" during summer school. Byeeeeeeeeee!

Alexander Kovensky

USMC Pilot

For those who don't know Alexander "KoKo" Kovensky, he may easily be recognized by his love of Griz Wintergreen, as evidenced by the tin creases in his left back pocket. He clearly has an eye for style as shown by his signature attire when hitting the town - jeans and record player sweatshirt. The only exception to this outfit is when he pretends to be a cowboy and just replaces the sweatshirt for a black shirt and cowboy hat. KoKo epitomizes the physical mission and takes his job as a Varsity Basketball manager very seriously. His heavy dosage of napping and Youtubing top artists like Mike Stud and Chris Webby keeps him well rested and mentally engaged in aiding NTF. His strict diet of orange juice, Big Tex and Monster keeps this Bater in tip-top shape. Got 'em. On the weekends, KoKo enjoys throwing back a few with friends and is one of the chilliest partygoers around. However, an inviting dance floor may result in KoKo breaking out his Happy Dance. Obviously, with these skill sets, KoKo will make a fantastic Marine aviator and we wish him the best of luck in all his future endeavors. Friends 'til the End!

Gene A. Krampen

Naval Flight Officer

Gene, aka Caveman due to his uncanny resemblance in both physical features and vocal patterns, is one of Bater Nation's most decorated veterans. He came a long way from Plebe Summer, where finding the right color socks and remembering his Squad Leader's name was a challenge. Always a strong advocate for friendship, his heart-to-hearts are stuff of legend. Gene not only enjoys giving advice, but also is not afraid to seek it. Whether it's asking Gunnery Sergeants to help him because he "doesn't want to be like this" or classmates to help him decide "what to do now," Gene values the advice of his friends in trying times. Gene has also mastered the art of friend-zoning attractive females, a clever tactic to get personal cooks and discounts at local retail stores. Known for leaving surprises in his sponsor's den and his frequent nosebleeds, he is better remembered as a true Dependable. From Ireland, Jamaica, Bahamas, Colombia, and colleges up and down the East Coast, Caveman loves to travel and is always one to party once he arrives. And getting there is no problem, as evidenced by the large dent in his Jetta and the countless hours lost due to his poor navigational skills. How he and his passengers are still here today is one of life's great mysteries. Regardless, he is a true Bater and a great friend and we all wish him well in Pensacola and beyond. Friends 'til the End!

Kristoffer K. Larson

USMC Ground

True Washingtonian, i.e. the State, Kris has been dreading Surface Warfare since he got here. Luckily he managed to get Marine Ground, even thought both of his roommates ended up in the Nuclear Surface pipeline. A true trainer, he believes that everyone should "DO CHOW CALLS". In this day and age it is important to realize that Kris is not a Joe, he just wished everyone would talk with Knife-hands. Never afraid of the outdoors Kris invites all sorts of animals to sleep with him in his sleeping bag, even ticks. Kris will definitely be remembered for his steadfast dedication to developing himself to lead Marines, and his trustworthiness as a friend.

Nicholas R. LaSalle

Navy Pilot

Born to the gods of Mt. Olympus and gifted to Mama LaSalle Nick maintained his demi-god heritage by striving for nothing short of perfection. He joined the Navy with hopes of one day crossing the exosphere again to rejoin his ancestors. At the Naval Academy he suppressed prohibited desires with some success until a minor slip up with the Big Dog Daddy. In the summer months, the Sloth blessed the pink shores and an inhabitant of Bermuda with his divine nature, not once, but thrice. After developing an affinity for the local flavors, he left the island nation to return again one day to reclaim its elusive prize. We hope that Nick will continue to keep a Crystal clear view of his life goals and continue to be the Greek God he is today.

Nikkolas A. Linn

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Mark Livengood

Submarines

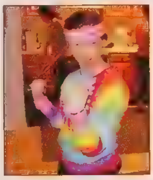
Known as Showtime among his teammates and closest friends, Mark never found a party he didn't like. Any given weekend, he could be found captaining Navy Ultimate to certain victory and then representing Bater Nation at a DC frat party that same night, as long as he could find someone to give him a lift. If he couldn't bum a ride, he'd gather up his crew and head to the St. John's Bench for a little pregaming and celebration. Mark's competitive nature combined with his love of dance increased his notoriety at Pusser's and other DTA drinking establishments. In Bancroft, Mark nurtured his entrepreneurial spirit and came up with several schemes, some more successful than others. Apparently smoothie makers don't work with certain citruses. Underneath his tough shell lies a man of many passions - Boston Terriers, Dagwoods, Ultimate Frisbee, and most importantly his friends. Those who are fortunate enough to call him a true friend are willing weather the bad (Steak Night) because the good times are unforgettable (Penn State, Woodsers, Jamaica, Europe etc.) A true Dependable and great friend, we wish Mark the best of luck in the Silent Service, though his personality is anything but silent. Got 'em. With the utmost sincerity, we are proud to be your Friends 'til the End.

Christopher R. Martinez

USMC Pilot

The Proteinez is what you should think of when you hear the phrase "man's man." Whether he's eating desiccated cow liver for protein or picking things up and putting them down, you can always count on him to be in the gym preparing for Spring Break, even in the week after Spring Break. His love for lifting is only outweighed by his love for eating. As a child, he was forced to eat his way out of a meat avalanche and it's been a formational experience ever since. Women- good luck competing for his love, for eating and lifting will always be more important than you!

Erin K. McKenna



Surface Warfare Officer

Erin McKenna excelled in so many areas of Academy life, whether conducting herself to sleep in Women's Glee Club rehearsal, ghosting midshipmen in the hallways, or challenging unwilling participants to impromptu Hunger Games battles. She loved to travel, and she never hesitated before throwing her things into her Luggage-Go-Baggage suitcase to jet off, most recently cashing in her one day, no night stay at Pebble Beach Golf Resort. Living the celebrity life as the daughter of Andy Reid, Erin often tried to escape the spotlight with her many hobbies; on any given winter day she'd be hitting up the ski slopes, most likely being carried down the mountain via piggy back ride to escape impending danger to herself. But at the end of the day, Erin always kept the greatest positive attitude, telling people to Roger Rabbit their way through life because everything was going to be "otay, otay, otay."

Eric R. More

Navy Pilot

"What was I doing when you walked in?" A common question from an uncommon man (ask him about Frisbee). Eric is a night owl. Mother B is not his home, Father Rickover is his home. He roams the halls of Rickover late at night fueled by straight espresso and Korean BBQ. Who needs sleep? Not Eric, he has too much to do and not enough time. He is the Best 4th Company commander that we have had, devoting endless hours to better the company and always putting his shipmates before himself. He is an Academic phenomenon, athletic midshipman and a great friend. And if you ask him what he wants to do he will respond with "I wanna fly the Blue one!" and don't be surprised if you see him up there one day, flying over the Navy Marine Corps memorial stadium for a graduation because when he puts his mind to something he gets it done.

Thomas S. Morgan

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Dreaming of being adopted as a member of Duck Dynasty, Thomas has always striven to regress further and further into the life of a redneck. This so called man of the woods loves to fish, hunt, and attempt a mean southern drawl. When deciding to bless the civilized world with his dashing good looks, Thomas is what many would classify as a Super SWO and potentially the second coming of John Paul Jones. Thomas is the best friend anyone could ever ask for, he will be an inspirational Naval Officer.

Benjamin A. Morris

Navy Intelligence

Ben-jamin "Koala" Morris was born and raised in the hideous state of Maryland. He enjoys manly things like shootin' guns, playing instruments, dancing in craft stores, etc. If you ever need a favor from Ben there are two things you need: bacon and fruit snacks. They are like crack to him (say crack again.... crack). He might even stop playing videos games or watching his latest tv show addiction for them... no promises though. Using his infinite Eagle Scout wisdom and vast knowledge of all things nerdy, there is not a problem he can't solve. I take that back, he definitely doesn't know the difference between blue and purple. #ColorBlindProblems. Ben is an amazing friend that will listen to you complain about not making it to Pusser's on your 21st, never let a love fern die, and laugh anytime Polenta is on a menu. Thanks for the great years and the many more to come.

Capshaw H. Nagel

USMC Ground

Apollo himself would stand in awe of the one that is named Capshaw. A wilderness man who was more at home in the bush than the quaint sailing village of Annapolis. He was drawn to the water and defied the native sailing culture, choosing to pull himself through the local waters than have the steady winds fill his sails. In fact his boat had no sails. All he needed was an oar. Off the water he was adept in the black art of economics and looking in the mirror. I have often overheard him asking "Mirror Mirror on the wall who is the greatest Capshaw of them all?" or something like that... The Marine Corps is getting a hardworking, loyal, and tenacious leader who can eat a hamburger, fries, and pot of coffee in three bites. Beware Fed House Burger, the Nagel is coming...

Darren C. Negley

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kelsey L. Owen

Surface Warfare Officer

Even a simple thought of Kelsey Owen crossing someone's mind can make them smile…from her infectious laughter and extreme loyalty to her goofy antics and capability to make any frown turn into a smile, Kelsey has truly blessed all those who know her. She should be awarded for having the biggest and most loving heart in the entire world. In between her time of helping others and always being there for her friends, Kelsey enjoyed making red neck mochas (her creation of coffee mixed with powdered hot chocolate), pulling all- nighters, socializing with anyone in sight, and dancing the night away with her top notch moves. She could usually be found fluttering and giggling through the hallways after eating a large meal or having some caffeine. Her sounds of laughter could be heard from the basement all the way to 4th deck. Kelsey mastered the art of finding joy in the simple things and spreading this joy to all those who received her smile. On weekends, Kelsey spent her time leading the volleyball team with poise, grace, courage, and complete selflessness. She will always be respected and valued for her beautiful heart and gift of friendship. Her bright, sparkling eyes and compassionate heart have made the Naval Academy a better place for all those who have known her…especially the one who had the privilege of being attached to her hip for four years.

Zachary M. Patrick

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Zach Patrick is a simple man with simple needs.

Andrew A. Paulmeno

USMC Ground

Now college men from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailor men in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Dorinda A. Pintos

USMC Ground

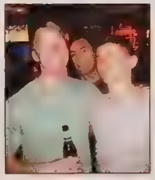
What does one best friend say to the other? Taekwondo? Where has she been for the past 2 weeks? random intervention till 4am, 2am nights for birthday week #ciara #whatagottapintosberry, pintosaurous acid #jurassicpark, death stare #puertoricanattitude, stained wifebeater #passedthesecrettest, so that's what they call it these days? Surprise Nigerian princess #heartattack, east coast protramid grenade #yourgonnadie! 2 for 7's #shittheygotus, Marvin Gaye and Chardonnay, No Hands, Dance, #that'smysong #IBEZA, #ESCAPETHISAWFULPLACE, brightening up rooms with Christmas decorations, you dance salsa? How about bachata? #whynotboth? help me on restriction, help you on restriction, Blood, Sweat, Tears and chugging all three during swimming. PASS done yet? Spring Break #Texas, Disney, Avatar. Back to school: papers, EE, Cyber, #partnersInCrime, A's and improved GPA's, #WeGotThis, West Point. Ring. Ring Dance. Nothin but a thang #Leatherneck, New York, Parking tickets, friend drama, family-time, CHEESECAKE FACTORY and video games in Bancroft #4/cdanny, USNA sucks, still succeeding #shitwegotTHEM, Storytime, Puppies! I guess what I'm trying to say about you is that you started from the bottom, now you're here. First USMC Officer in the fam, the most compassionate and generous person in the world, a true leader and champion. Don't let anything hold you back, the mind is your only limitation.

Dylon Porlas

Naval Flight Officer

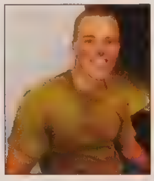
Dylon Porlas, better known as 619, is a Hawaiian sufer boy from Clairemont, California. Best known for his feisty Latina FBI agent of a girlfriend, Vanessa Swift, who can sniff out any imagined slights that have been committed within the confines of DTA. Not a man known to hold his liquor, and the sofest puker anyone ever met, Dylon just wants to do hood rat things with his friends. A man that loves his TV shows, shootin' bots, and the occasional adult beverage. Another well known Dockstreet wallflower, he enojys laughing at others expense, the Hulk (or just Lou Ferrigno), and standing awkwardly in pictures. A man who exercises his middle finger frequently in the most loving of ways, Dylon has remained an excellent example of Midshipman qualities to the underclassmen within the company. Not quick to offer advice because he believes that a man is going to do what he wants anyway, he measures his words carefully and is always backing his friends no matter what the odds. He is a fighter, a dog lover, and a guy who stays true to his friends and family.

Eric C. Provost



Submarines

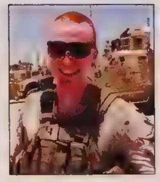
Two Scoops. That is how Eric "Bearclaw" Provost has lived his lift. I mean life…but lift is pretty fitting. Whether he is in the weight room or the class room, or even out in town, Bearclaw gives 200% effort. You may be wondering why he is called Bearclaw, and no, it is not because he is sweet like the pastry…although at times he can be. You don't want to get on his bad side and unleash the claw. If you do unleash the claw, make sure you aren't in the weight room or you may have some 100 pound dumbbells coming your way. Eric is a loyal friend that you can always count on, and is always willing to lend a hand. He is an inspiration and a role model to all, and will be a great asset to the submarine community.



Christopher C. Reed

USMC Pilot

Chris Reed is described by his friends as a man of many talents. Nobody is quite sure how he found his way to this institution. He emerged out of the backwoods of Ohio sometime in June 2009 with a tin in his pocket and a stage five clinger at his hip. The "Tiger Woods" of our class followed in the footsteps of his idol in more ways than one. He sure can swing a golf club, but his golf skills can't compare to his prowess on the Pusser's dance floor. When it came to girls Chris lived his life like it was a par 3 golf course and he was always shooting par. He's really good at math. This Devil Dawg, always ready for a good chase, will do great things in the Corps. We all wish him luck in his future career as a window blinds repairman… or a pilot. Chris is not only a great leader but a great friend. There is no doubt he will make a great pilot and Marine Corps officer.



Kevin A. Roth

USMC Ground

Kevin Roth is from Hold Up Your Hand and Point Here, Michigan. Oh and did you know that he has 4 stripes? Don't worry if you didn't, he'll be the first one to tell you. Other than his stripes, but to a lesser magnitude, he loves his Michigan Big Blue, MLK Day Celebrations, the United States Marine Corps and Thomas Patrick McKavitt. Oooh rah, Kevin Roth....ooooh. Rah.

Joshua A. Shaw

Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Andrew B. Shea

Navy Pilot

Andrew Baldwin Shea the First was born into a prosperous family whose Christmas card photos were stolen from the cover of the Brook's Brother Fall catalog. As a youngster Andrew spent a great deal of time mentoring plebe(s). He sailed until the salt content of his skin surpassed that of the Gorton fisherman. His rigorous late night nutrition studies in the Nimitz vending machines and hibernation were critical to his academic success. In a final act of self-sacrifice he joined the prestigious ranks of the Brigade staff to ensure the watch was manned in Bancroft hall. In his free time he went witch hunting at VA Tech. We wish Andrew best of luck in his quest to be an Admiral's personal shoe shine boy.

Benjamin M. Snelson

USMC Ground

Hailing from the great state of Texas, Bo has made a name for himself through the halls of Bancroft as the angry little man who isn't afraid to speak his mind. Easily one of the more popular Mids, Bo seems to know at least one person in every social circle at this institute. Where he lacks in height, and anger management, Bo makes up for it with humility, and loyalty to his friends. Regardless, Bo is the proud leader of the Dockstreet Wallflowers and always seems to be pulling his hell bent friends out of trouble. He enjoys minimal clothing at anytime of day and is never afraid to leave it all on the table. Bo has harnessed a reputation for his quick-wits, carefree attitude, and downright bold decision making when it comes to having a "good time" in DTA. Despite his rambunctious ways and impressive conduct record, Bo was an outstanding Captain on the football team and proved himself as a selfless leader on and off the football field. So if you ever see Bo Snelson making a fool out of himself in DTA, go ahead and ask him why he acts the way he does. He'll respond with, "I guess that's just the cowboy in me."

Michael J. Spinello

USMC Pilot

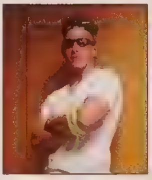
His teammates and him roll on the mats and fight hard, once he rolls out of the rack that is; the most common place he can be found whenever he's not in class. One of the most genuine people at the Naval Academy. Michael J Spinello the man with "bad" sports team tastes and even badder nerf gun skills, he's the quick draw Mcgraw of foam ballistics. He is always willing to lend a helping hand, an ear to listen, a quick high five or a smile that lights up the room. The wiry son-of-a-gun who could fight comfortably while tied up like a pretzel, and end up winning. Lived by the mantra, "Semper Fratres," putting all of his friends before him. When he graduates, Mike will join the elite yut-yuts and will continue to live by this mantra, inspiring others to do so as well. Keep the skies safe. From the FOCO Class of 2016: "Mr. Spinello was a type of leader that you wanted to be around as he was not the most hardcore or loudest of his class; rather, he succeeded at his leadership role through motivation and reasoning. He always wanted you to succeed and did what he thought was best for you at all times. Mr. Spinello reminded every plebe who was struggling or frustrated to "Never forget why you are here," in order to motivate them to get back after their long term goals. Mr. Spinello demonstrates the type of leadership that I want to display as a firstie and as an officer. The plebe class of 2016 would like to thank him for his efforts and devotion towards our class."

Collin T. Sturdivant

Supply Corps

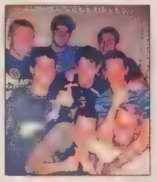
Young Colin is a man of many names. Sturdy, Study two Times, Colin Candy, Sturdiavelli, Sturdy Steal Your Girl, Sturdy Cheeks, CT, Dirty Sturdy, Dirty, and of course the Dirt Game Commander as dubbed by the Duval. Hailing all the way from Winston-Salem, Nerf Carolina, Sturdy is an avid sports fan and can recall useless facts from any sport as far back as the 1970s. A die-hard Tar Heel, this has stemmed many of the band wagon fans of both Duke and NC State that can be found across the yard. At times he's a quiet young man, so engrossed in his studies that no amount of annoying attention can bring him to reality. Other times though he is the guy that no one can get to shut up about whatever subject he has chosen to speak upon at that time. Hardly home but always repping, he can be found listening to Hot New Hip Hop to stay fresh on the dopest tunes, mumbling to his mom through his poor cell phone service, or wandering through DTA with his band of groupies. A defensive utility player throughout his four years, he has remind a constant rock of hard work and dedication through injury and position switch. The best unseen one liner and at any given moment maybe the funniest guy in the room. Despite his large stature all of his friends love him as their little brother and become extremely defensive of him whenever anyone thinks that the can tease him.

Benny L. Vann



Submarines

Benny Vann who is from Moburg Pennsylbama is all about fast cars and freedom! Benny gives meaning to the word "Ultimate" in Ultimate Frisbee as a dedicated 4th company intramural warrior! He is dedicated to excellence in everything he does and will go as far he wants in the Navy as a Submariner including CNO of the Navy! On liberty Benny can be found in DTA washing and waxing his Baby, or at the bowling alley throwing strikes! He and his Southern Belle are getting married after graduation and will have a life full of love and friendship and will most likely be the first couple from 2013 to have little ones running around!



Jesse K. Walker

Navy Pilot

Jesse King Walker.... You showed up homeless and never left the team room. Is that all you packed? Not too many people can accomplish going from a Plebe straight to a 2/C, but you did. Pit stop, New Orleans. "I'm hungry, let's go to Marshalls". You were probably craving fried chicken.... "What's that taste like?!?!" "Ladies and Gentlemen, let's take shots." "He's playing solitaire!!!" "They're my grandpa's shorts." The Great Chauffeur Son of Indiana Jones. Season's over Jesse, you don't have to practice anymore. From the Horse pills to the wall mart sandals, you're not paying for that. Ok, we're finally Dunn.

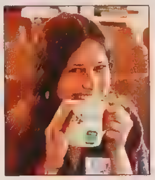
Anderson L. Walls

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Have you seen the Silver Ford Raptor around the yard? Have you heard it? Well it belongs to this guy, and it's his pride and joy. Anderson is the kind of guy who just wants to have fun. He will do whatever work you ask of him, but you better bet that when its done, he is off playing with some big kid toy. Getting all 4 wheels off the ground in the Raptor, Wakeboarding or tubing behind the boat, or finding a way to get the "Need for Speed" fix there will always be something fun to do when you join Anderson and his friends down in Norfolk. On a serious note, Anderson knows how to connect with people, and can get them to do just about anything when he asks. He will be a great SWO, hopefully learning how to drive a big ship well enough, so that he can drive his own little boat.

Emily J. Waugh

Surface Warfare Officer



Emily's pleasant countenance brights up anyone's day with her smile and kindness. As if straight from a Jane Austen book, Emily spends her time indulging in late night tea-parties, frolicking in the meadows, blasting soundtracks and Sinatra from her mini Cooper, Watson, and leaving pick-me-up sticky notes in her friends' rooms. Seldom will you see her without her books, Bible, and stash of Honest Teas and cranberry juice. During her time at the Academy, she has dedicated her time to Officers Christian Fellowship, softball, and being a full time friend. Even though time is her worst enemy, she always makes the time to make others feel good. But don't let her angelic qualities fool you... This ice queen has shattered many hearts of midshipmen, cadets…and construction workers. She has learned tough survival skills in the rugged wilderness of Alaska, as well as the gray ruggedness of West Point for a semester, mastering the art of online shipping from West Point's lack of civilization outside of its gray walls. Even when she's getting bricks thrown at her when she's having the worst of days, she always dodges the cynicism with a smile and her strong faith and love for Christ. Although she may not be destined to be a Marine Corps killa like that one time she thought after PROTRAMID, she will surely kill you with her kindness. The Surface Warfare Community will be lucky to have her because she is always a light everywhere she goes. NAM

Class of 2014

Carlos Alvarez

Jarrett Brant

Joshua Chester

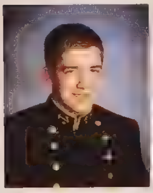
Daniel Claus

Barry Dabney

Austin Dahmer

Kirk Delrosario

Astrid Duran



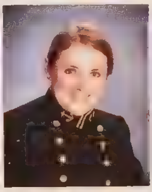
Scott Ebert

Joshua Elmore

Christopher Freeland

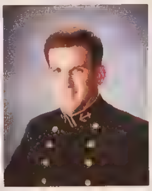
Caleb Gerard

Molly Ginnane



Sarah Glancey

Carlos Hargett



Jon Horton

Marian Jester

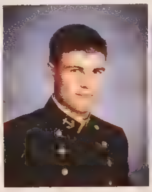
Weston Kennedy

Zatha Loewen

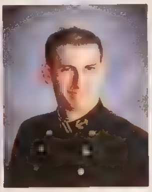
James Loupos

Nathaniel McCarter

Haley Nowak



Austin Patrick



Caleb Prox

Joshua Reyes

Ericka Sample

Robert Slye

Cody Stueve

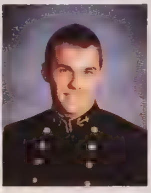
Alejandro Tavizon

Ryan Warner

Spencer Warren

Brendan West

Justin White



Connor Zeman

Class of 2015

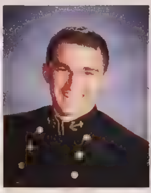
Brianne Aiken

Azure Augustus

William Berkey

Daniel Bird

Dain Bomberger



Anthony Borrego

Ryan Breznik

Travis Bryant

Nicholas Connelly

Andrew Craig

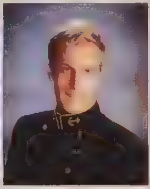
Patrick Dods

Nicholas Doeller

Joseph Esposito

Jordan Eubanks

Adam Fischer



Ethan Genco

Melissa Gfeller

Rico Goldstone

Joshua Gonzalez

Adam Gould

Julia Hardgrove

Emily Hornberger

Luke Jackson

John Kelly

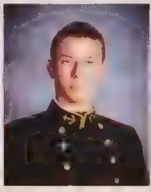
Taylor Lovelace

Devin Martin

Isaiah McElrath

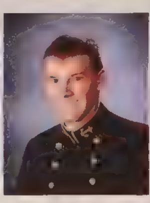
Jon Moyle

Thomas Patterson



Joshua Schmidt

Josiah Smith



Austen Suqi

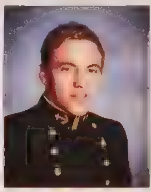
Ian Tello

Frederick Tidwell

Ryan Tran

Nathanial
Vallancey
Martinson

Trevor Voegele



Taylor Warneke

Kevin Williams

Jonathan Wu

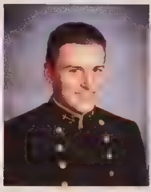
Class of 2016

Logan Antill

Madison Beiler

Ikechukwu Binns

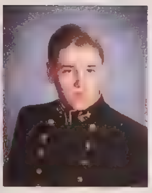
David Carlson



Shawn Cleary

Thomas Coffin

Nicki Deguzman



David Frick

Antonio Galli

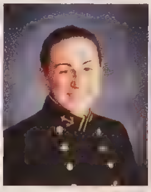
Bryson Garcia

Vianey Gomez

Connor Gonzales

Thomas Gruebl

Sydney Hemphill

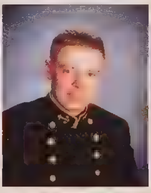


Samantha Irsik

Austin Jones

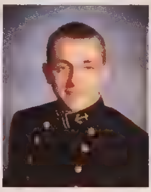
Eric Kellogg

Daniel Lamm



Nicholas Lane

Patrick Menezes

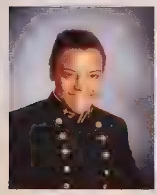


William C. Miller

Ryan Moody

Charles Morris

Eric Morrison



Erin Payne

Nicholas Picache

Kyle Plunkett

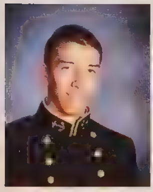
Bryan Prohaska

Isabella Schaffino

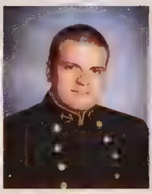
Alexander Shilakis

Alexandria Switzer

Seth Toski



Justin Trujillo

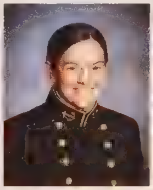


Stefan Tsarev

David Vanvleet

Paige Ward

William Weggeland



Jenna Westerberg

Thomas Wilcock

Company

5

Joshua B. Adelman

USMC Pilot

3rdLT Dude man Josh Adelwoman can be described in one word: BORING. This guy is as cool as a bag of rocks. IF you every see him in DTA, he will be in ACME because he tries so hard to be customer of the month, but the only problem is every night he ends up sucking face with a mop. When describing his perfect girl, he wants her to have the class of a stripper, but the mind of a blonde and is hoping to get married in his favorite place on earth: Space. He believes that he will someday be an Astronaut, but let's all be real here JOSH THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS SPACE!! Everyone is surprised to see the Whatever-man/rifledude graduate. Not because he isn't capable, but because he doesn't want to. He's a true midshipman at heart, and he kinda sucks.

Jordan K. Armstrong

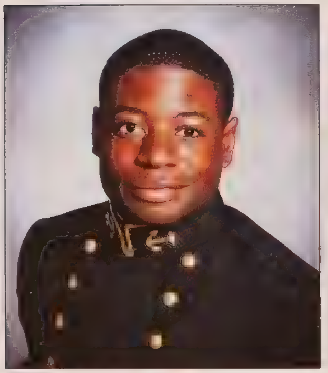
Navy Pilot

Jordan Armstrong, aka "Ja," aka "JoJo," is the toughest girl you will ever meet. You can find her anywhere from the track early in the morning to hitting the books and helping everyone she can with chemistry at night. Having spent four years slaving away in the basement of Michelson to earn her degree in Chemistry with a focus as a biochemist, she has developed an expansive knowledge of all the building blocks of life and the universe. Don't ever try to cross her. If you do, she'll probably kill you. She's a super athlete, softball stud, and perennial PRT-passer. She's so tough, she broke her own finger once…just to make other people cry. That said, if you ever have the pleasure of getting to know her, you'll find that she will have you laughing nonstop. Humor and loyalty are her strong suits. She will definitely be missed. The sky isn't big enough for this star! "I'm not here for a long time, I'm just here for a good time."

Ian W. Benninger

Naval Flight Officer

Ian is the biggest Peter of all the Peter's. He considers himself to be the Peter leader. Despite his many aliases, he prefers to be charmingly unconscious. If he has any free time during the day, you best believe he is going to bring the rain. However, once those spring birds start to chirp, "Awwww HELL they be bitin." Now, Ian is nothing short of a good time, minus the good time. But he is pretty short. At the end of the day, regardless of the anger he has for you, he just wants attention. He'll do anything to be one of the guys deaux. He sucks.



Ryan C. Betty

Naval Flight Officer

Ryan "King" Betty is a man who has earned his seat on the throne. With the demeanor that could be confused with Denzel Washington in Training Day you should buckle up when riding in the front seat with Betty unless you are a girl then he's a sweet heart. Hailing from Atlanta, Georgia (BETTY IS ACTUALLY FROM THE REAL ATL) haters don't hate, Ryan is no stranger to overcoming challenges and using street smarts. If Betty is not studying, leading a galactic attack on EVE, orchestrating the next bar hop around down town Annapolis or making his friends laugh, he is sleeping so he has enough energy to do it all over again the next day. Ryan is also known for his unmatched skills on the grill and his uncompromising duty as the Head Restrictee, which is the equivalent to Brigade Admiral or something like that… well it should be. We can expect great things out of Betty as he makes his way to the skies as a Naval Flight Officer.

Nicholas R. Callahan

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Jonadel R. Caro

Submarines

Between balancing President of JBHO and the Pilipino-American Club, and being a plank owner of the USNA Dance team, Jonadel Caro still finds time to major in the Honors Ocean Engineering program. She can best be described as spunky with a compassionate heart – always making time for whoever comes her way. Speaking of hearts, she is definitely fond of the opposite sex, and for a few years she had her eye on our very own Mr. Perfect himself, S.S. She is now settled down with her Sugar Booger, Rovie Riel. With all her man crushes, she still found room in that blood- pumping organ for the SHAPE program. With that, my advice to you is you better buy one of her SAAM t-shirts or she'll be out to get you. Trust me, she's feisty. On a serious note, Jonadel Caro is a hard worker, and the submarine force will be lucky to have her on their team.

Lizandro Castro

Surface Warfare Officer

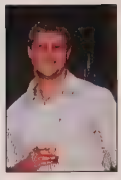
After surprisingly finishing high school, Lizandro decided to take his talents from South Beach to the sailing capital of the world. Upon arriving at the Naval Academy Lizandro realized his first name was too mainstream and has cycled through various nicknames; Paco, The Black Sheep, Rain Man, and TTR (Taller than Rocha). Paco works ferociously to meet the standard but work too hard, always saving time to relax. One of his greatest strengths is showing his attentiveness to detail and showing up to places just in time (excluding the PRT finish line). As a first class midshipman Paco has developed the courage to venture outside of his room to play intramurals and is occasionally seen walking around lost in Mac-D. Lizandro Castro cares deeply about his fellow midshipmen, and his caring and positive attitude will help him transition into an outstanding Naval Officer. His quick wit and good sense of humor will surely brighten up your day. Paco looks forward to transitioning back to a warmer climate and to tackle the challenges that await him as he begins his career as a Surface Warfare Officer.

Amelia F. Castro Mendoza

Surface Warfare Officer

Throughout Amelia's time at NAPS and the Academy, she has accumulated almost every piece of matching bra and underwear that Victoria Secret ever made. Between old records and books, I'm not sure if Amelia's 2nd class loan still exists. Delia found love was right across the hall, literally. She likes a good "Christian", and she "doesn't care who knows it!" She is loyal to those she loves and confident in what she believes. You better have your story straight if you want to argue with this girl! After a semester in Jordan, Melia came to the strange realization that Academy prison in the US is still better than being free in the Middle East. Need help justifying taking a nap? Amelia's your girl. Soon Amelia will be off to join the Castro Mafia on Club Sullivans. Watch out gingers, Amelia's got the Bridge! "You know what I mean?!"

Christopher D. Chipps



Surface Warfare Officer

The graduates who have come before us, have left us all with big boots to fill. From the very beginning of his academy career Chipps put on that boot. Young Chipps flourished with the help of his role models: "Big" Mike Ramsey, Liam O'lone, and John Lukenholter, but nothing could compare with the experience of having his own older brother lead him as a company officer. Chipps took to his title as Chaplain willingly, symbolically leaving behind his shoes and leading his flock to the promised land of DTA in the spirit of Friar Tuck before him. His ever-present grin, Appalachian charm, and undying loyalty to his friends made Chipps well liked by his classmates. "Until we meet again… DRINK TO THE FOAM!" God speed buddy!

Thomas M. Esposito

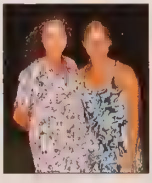
Navy Pilot

Tom Esposito - a great pilot, and an even better friend. I honestly wish I could've hung out with you more. Have a happy married life, my man. I'll miss you, best of luck flying, and I hope I get to see you around in flight school. 2nd Squad Rules! Cheers.

Caitlin M. Fine

Surface Warfare Officer

Caitlin Fine- synonymous with debauchery and debonair. Classy and fun, Caitlin Fine's wit and jest beautifully adds to the Naval Academy's atmosphere, much like her exceedingly accurate reads on the actual atmosphere. Caitlin Fine came to the Naval Academy for one reason: to show her father up. She has since exceeded our expectations, serving as 1st Batt Cdr for a record time of 8 days. When she's not marching tours, she loves to swing dance and take 2 day weekend trips to San Diego. Caitlin Fine is well known to oceanographers as a MATLAB genius. Her secret? Her diet of apples, brownies, and chocolate frosting, or maybe her long afternoons in Trident Scholar prison. MIR might have been the best thing that ever happened to Caitlin Fine. She will be at Colorado State for the next two years struggling to assimilate into civilian life and explaining her USNA sarcasm that no one else will get. Caitlin, it's been the utmost pleasure to know you these past four (for others five) years at the Academy. You're going to be the best METOC Officer the Navy has ever known!



Haleigh L. Fulmer

USMC Pilot

When you hear the name Haleigh Fulmer, there are several things that should come to mind: sweet tea, sun dresses, Robert E. Lee, and Alabama football. Likewise, those are the only things more southern than this Alabama princess. Other than long walks on the beach, this southern belle loves mullet fishing, shrimpin, and gators (use your best Swamp People voice for that last one). Don't let her innocent charm fool you, this girl can get dirty. From soccer, to flag football, to Leather-Nam, this young girl doesn't mind letting her hair down and getting some dirt under her perfectly manicured nails. If you need a history lesson on Alabama, this Satsuma co-Valedictorian and Azalea Trail Maid can school you. Mardi Gras, first hosted in Mobile. Battle of Mobile Bay, her back yard. She is destined for a life in the air and a house on the beach. She doesn't want no scrubs. She is a lady of class, intellect and southern beauty. She is, Haleigh Lind Fulmer.

James D. Giesemann

Submarines

Jimbo sure has grown during his time here along Severn's shores (and he's even grown up too!). Any man who can run a 50 mile race and then earn a coveted spot on Company Remedials is one to admire; this reveals both his extreme competence and dedication while showing where his true loyalties lie. Always one to be found in a suit on Sunday mornings going to church, Jim is one of the finest friends you could ask for and has always been there for anyone who needs him. Let's hope he can remember to be a Southern gentleman as he heads off to Monterey. Try not to party too hard out there (especially with former D&B'ers) and God Bless!

Christopher A. Hood

USMC Pilot

Christopher Allen Hood is the Academy's only native born Aborigine. Giving credit where credit is due, Mr. Hood has done a fabulous job adjusting to life in America. Aside from his skills with a boomerang, he is also a world-renowned back-sit-ball (basketball) player. Whether dropping soulful R&B/dubstep/ska tracks in his rum (room) with DJ Wick Daddy, or pioneering the newest way to chemically engineer muscle growth—he is a Chemistry major after all—Brudder (brother) is a man's man. He once killed a buffalo simply by thinking about it. Poor buffalo. Word on the street is that he once saved a helpless kitten from a burning building, just so he could eat it. Equally as impressive is his ability to lose and gain weight at will. Last Tuesday, he weighed 160 lbs. Today he weighs 240. Not to be confused with his twin brother from another mother (and father), Jordan Goodman, Chistopher would have been a great Navy Pilot. Oh wait, Marine Ground Officer. Oh wait, oops.

Kevin M. Iannacone

Navy Pilot

Kevin aka "Muscles Marina" hails from the great city of Freehold New Jersey. Yes, all New Jersey stereotypes are true and apply to this guido. Mr. Biceps lives his life by six principles, honor, courage, commitment, gym, tan, and laundry. He can commonly be seen in Mac-D stretching out his blue rims with his bulging biceps. His daily motivation and drive to succeed can be traced back into his glorious JROTC years. You can never carry on a conversation with him because his phone constantly beeps with New York Ranger updates which absolutely nobody cares about. Speaking of things nobody cares about, Kevin's voluptuous flow is perfectly pampered and gelled three times a day to impress the zero people that care. Following graduation, Kevin is looking forward to playing competitive beach volleyball, playing golf, cooking, and giving back to the community with free gun shows on the Pensacola beaches. His intelligence and high level of fitness will surely translate into a successful career. No matter whom Kevin is with or where he is, he is sure to have a whale of a time! "Friends don't let friends miss bicep day"

James J. Kluxen

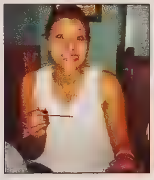
Surface Warfare Officer

Lovingly known as "Clown Shoes" by drill aficionados everywhere, Jimmy Kluxen made his mark on the Naval Academy in more ways than one. When not chained to the oars of the Navy's finest Galleys for the lightweight crew team or enjoying a leisurely 5:30 stroll with his rifle through the scenic smoke hall, Jimmy is found studying the military geniuses of the past, applying the lessons of Aegon the Conqueror to his own future Naval endeavors. Friday class ended at 1520, so by 1521 you could find Jimmy enjoying the wonderful world of DTA. Quick to laugh, easy to like, and quick with a story or a joke Jimmy never found himself lacking a group of friends. An all-around good guy, Jimmy will succeed wherever the Navy sends him.

Justin R. Lamascus

Navy Pilot

From the heights of Piston Peak to the depths of Rickover, Justin "who looks like that one dude from the Hangover" Lamascus, can be found honing his "leaderchip" skills or nose deep in an academic book. When not studiously pursuing educational endeavors, Justin is breaking faces on the rugby pitch. As a power house of Mechanical Engineering, we all look forward to seeing him be one of the first to receive his diploma.



Katrina M. Lintz

Submarines

Katrina Lintz will not shy away from admitting that she grew up as a Navy brat who was destined to earn some stripes of her own in her father's footsteps. The Navy brat title is one that she refused to shed as she tore her way through four years by the bay, one unpredictable altercation at a time. Lintz had a knack for finding trouble, be it through vigilante leadership of late night room raiding crews to maintaining her con locker pharmacy. In her case, however, the law won. With 1.5 years as a plebe, 1.5 years as a youngster, and 0.5 years as a Second class, Lintz understands the role of the follower and eagerly took on the leadership challenges of a First Class midshipman. She is excited to further extend these abilities as a Navy Aviator, however far distant this may be from the Submarines which she aspired to command. Hopefully this destiny does not lead her to mistakenly try to turn a jet into a Submarine.

Tyler P. Lynch

Naval Flight Officer

No words needed

Stephen C. Meidus

SEALs

Y'inz better believe that if there's anything absolutely ridiculous that needs doin, Boomer is all over it. Don't even think about getting in his way, cuz one on one, you'd lose. This quintessential blue shirt who is full-go, all the time lives off of nothing but chia seeds, hummus and Iron City. He is allergic to the following: socks, seafood, jelly, Bud Light and naps. Everything is either "the best" or "the dumbest thing ever" and don't even bother arguing. If Boomer and the Peter Leader ever have free time together, you best believe they be bringin da rain deaux. Boomer never wants saluted and really needs beat up. He sucks.

Emily M. Mellin

Surface Warfare Officer

According to @SherwoodForestGossip, Emily Mellin is going to San Diego! That's SWOOOOO cool! Don't let the plebe haircut fool you, this company commander means business. Em's got the best company PT attendance record without ever having done a pushup. Her favorite past times include 0530 restriction musters, vacationing in Norfolk, and keeping Kathy Young awake in class. I think we'll miss Nancy more than Smells, but heres to an Annapolitan whose heart is as big as her hair is curly! #USNAGossip #GoRavens #Toughasnails #CTTFW and no that's not Ray Lewis on the Pussers dance floor, that's just Emily Mellin.

Christian K. Metzler

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Bailey C. Miller

Surface Warfare Officer

Never seen without her Go Pro, this outdoor adventure queen could teach Bear Grylls a thing or two. Simultaneously planning every company activity, "Bails" could lead you around Oahu blind folded after flying you there with her own private pilot's license, take you scuba diving with dolphins, and star gazing from volcanoes. Succumbing to the charms of C/O 2011, Bailey had her fair share of in company lovin, but then again, who hasn't? 2/C year, she soon found her Achilles heel at Castle Bay: tall, tan, and…Australian. We all live vicariously through her Hawaiian, Costa Rican, and almost Turkish adventures. Truthfully, Bailey's dedication and perseverance will serve her well far into the future. Despite enduring every possible physical ailment known to mankind, Bailey still managed to service select aviation. She's heading down to sunny Pcola… but watch out Aussies; she's just that much closer to the Land Down Under. Cue: Somebody that I Used to Know.

Steven A. Musselwhite

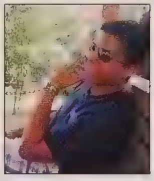
Submarines

Andy Musselwhite came to the Naval Academy from Hartsville, South Carolina, the greatest state in the Union. If you were unaware Andy was from South Carolina, spending five minutes with him would remove all doubt. Constantly dressed in an unfashionable South Carolina belt and matching Croakies, Andy speaks with a fake southern drawl and constantly reminds his peers of the shortcomings of every other state. Self-proclaimed as having more stripes than friends, Andy is a fearless leader that is able to tackle any challenge. His intelligence is unparalleled and as such he will have no problem succeeding in the submarine force. Andy is looking forward to returning to South Carolina to reunite with Mrs. Musselwhite (sel.) and to continuing his lifelong dream of naval service at nuclear power school. Andy Musselwhite is a great friend to all, and the fleet will certainly benefit from a man with his high ethical standards and moral courage. 'Murica!

Morgan C. Oblinsky

Submarines

Ah yes, the boy with the same four leaf clover tattoo on his shoulder as his sister. Ironically seeing more foreign ports as a child than as an enlisted sailor, Morgan has traveled around the world. Fast forward a few years, a few loosey goosey girlfriends, a brief vacation at Great Lakes, and this holly jolly prior with the massive chin was at NAPS. Not to be out done by other priors, Morgan could usually be found at pubs or at the Pineapple Inn for a brief one-night stand. Fast forward again a few years, a few less pounds, a jaw surgery, and a few more females later, you might not recognize this person. This boy with steel city roots found himself trying to decide between two loves: money (subs) and a false bravado to match his ego (Marines). Seeing those dollar signs (and a misplaced few grand in the bank account) won his heart over. A hell of a drinker and a fickle lover; everyone should look forward to reading the news lines in America in 2040: Vote Morgan Oblinsky for your Democractic Presidential Nominee.



James A. Rocha

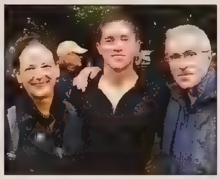
USMC Ground

The hard-working ladies' man that dedicated his 4 years here to the Mechanical Engineering program. He always looked forward to the Monday morning golf sessions to prepare him for a long week of working on the Naval Academy's Formula SAE Race Team. As a future Marine Officer, James will apply this carefully learnt work ethic in the pursuit of greatness for his Marines and Country. Like his academics, James loves cars. In fact, one of his favorite activities is driving HyundaiCoupes, even in questionable/wintery road conditions. Godspeed James "Napoleon" Rocha!

Joseph J. Savo

Surface Warfare Officer

Joe Savo escaped from his oar-propelled slave vessel on July 1st, 2009 and he washed ashore on the banks of the Severn River in Annapolis. After stumbling across a vast wasteland, he was handed a uniform and shown a bed. In between getting stuck in trees, helping out his friends, hunting, trips to the movies, and varied experiences saving his novice-drinker roommate from himself, Joe managed to learn a thing or two about the economy. When asked to comment on his area of study, Joseph can almost always be heard saying "this is so stupid!" A true economist in the making. Here's to you, Koala Joe. May all your pistols shoot straight and all your trains run 15 minutes late.



James P. Saylor

Surface Warfare Officer

Born and raised a stone's throw from Annapolis, James Saylor was bred to be a Midshipman, surprising classmate and detailer alike by knowing his rates on the first day. The soul of patience and tact, Saylor often found himself at the wrong end of a one-way conversation. For most of his time as a Midshipman, if he wasn't rowing, he was either marching tours as the sun was rising or frequenting one of many local watering holes. He is one of a small, prestigious group to attend his own 2/C Ring Dance as a youngster. A good friend and a connoisseur of National Bohemian and other frothy libations, he has been the focal point of many fond memories by the bay.

Benjamin J. Schmidt

Navy Pilot

A highly dedicated Midshipman, Ben spent hours laboring at his desk every night. Hours of "California Dreaming" about his girlfriend in Sunny Monterey, deliberating painstakingly over which cat video was actually the funniest, and singlehandedly funding the Annapolis Sushi industry. Sometimes Ben even found spare time to work on academics! Ben amazingly enough has pulled down outstanding grades (Naval Architecture must weight knowledge of Cat videos highly!), in addition to being well liked by his classmates. One of the best friends you could ask for, may you be blessed with fair winds and following seas wherever you go!

Christian M. Smith

USMC Ground

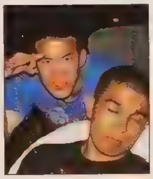
In more ways than one, Christian Smith is a stellar example of a Marine officer: handsome, intelligent, aggressive and much to his chagrin, naturally prone to a very short (and increasingly shorter) haircut. As a midshipman, Christian transitioned from boy to man, restrictee to 44 skipper and plebe to firstie, to name a few. Transition is defined as a process of change, key word being "process." Although the change is evident in the person who walked across the stage, the process is where the real story lies. The friends he has made at the Academy know and were a part of this process, and will always be a cornerstone in his life's story. The officer and gentleman, however, does not miss a chance to party. Whether it is in the woods of McLean, the waters of Sea Cliff, the bars of Adams Morgan, or the walls of the Washington Hilton, Christian always seemed like going the extra mile for more fun. Christian is an example of a stellar Midshipman and I am very honored to have worked (and partied) with this savage. I think that he will rise to become the incarnation of John Paul Jones, but with a great sense of humor.

Seth R. Stewart

USMC Pilot

Seth's claim to fame is his band Me You and Maybe Stew. Me You and Maybe Stew may just happen be the best band you have ever heard. Or they may have never even rehearsed. Known on the street as "mushed" potatoes, Seth may or may not dabble on the dijurido, and plays lead for the band. Though one may be initially intimidated by his dubious stature, do not be afraid. He is as soft as tempur-pedic koala bear. When asked about his band, do not expect a reply for he is currently inculcated by a 7-year vow of silence. When he is not busy exfoliating his pores, he can be found rehabilitating cats suffering from snow-blindness. In the end, his future as a rifleman looks bleak. He will [probably] fail out of grad school once he falls in love with the girl from the projector room. Moral of the story: he sucks… though not as much as Beyinger.

Justin M. Suen



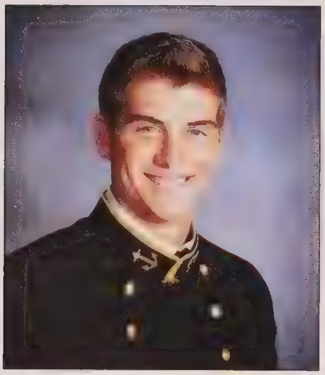
Naval Flight Officer

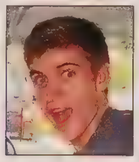
Raised on the streets of Queens, NY, Justin Suen came to the Naval Academy with plenty of ambition. While he wasn't the most studious mathematics major, he did dominate in the boxing ring. Some of his accomplishments in and outside of the ring include wrestling with an alligator, tussling with a whale, handcuffing lightening, throwing thunder in jail, murdering a rock, injuring a stone, hospitalizing a brick and making medicine sick…at least that's how we remember it. His friends and peers know him for his dogged determination, constant willingness to lend a helping hand and ability to make everyone in the room laugh. As he presses on from his home by the bay, Justin will join the aviation community as a naval flight officer. But we all know he won't be goose to a maverick. Let's just say we expect great things from the great Justin Suen.

Christian G. Talarico

USMC Ground

Christian Talarico knows no limits. An avid tanner and weight lifter he lives life on the edge! If you've ever encountered him you've come to know and love his lively personality. Nothing comes between him and his passion for Lavalet, New Jersey. If he's not preparing for his time on the boardwalk he's busy hanging with the boys! You cant spell fun without Crazy Man Talarico.





Scott C. Tangen

Navy Pilot

Easy Breezy, as he is affectionately referred to, hails from the great state of Minnesota. Scott's unrivaled commitment to Minnesota sports is truly impressive. He excels at wearing flight suits, firing cannons, and just looking darn good. The self-proclaimed "hottest Mid in the Brigade" is quite the NARP: he has led the 5th Co. Intramural Soccer team to three Brigade Champion titles and two victories over Army. He can often be found playing poorly-made flash games, or napping. His alter ego has emerged on rare occasions "Chad" to be seen galloping around DTA. Scott will be taking his talents down to Pensacola this summer, where he plans on playing beach volleyball, sporting dog-tags and impeccable body on is way to fulfilling his dream of being a Navy pilot.

Adam J. Wickerson

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Benjamin J. Wolf

Surface Warfare Officer

Gifted with all the pride, etiquette, and decorum of a Russian Admiral, Midshipman Ben Wolf has been a faithful roommate and tried-and-true friend for all four years of his time at the Academy. When not spending time with his girlfriend in Annapolis, Ben has enveloped himself in his studies, focusing primarily on the subtleties of the Russian language and the tactics of ancient defense. Ben is a very kind and easy going person whose relaxed professionalism brings much to the table of leadership; a table at which we will be alright as long as we all sit down together. Ben has been a great role-model and a true comrade to all of us. His commitment to kindness and his good-guy approach to life will bring him nothing but success in his pursuit of command at sea. Fairest of winds and the best of luck friend. Go get 'em Seawolf!

Andrew J. Wondolowski

Nuclear Surface Warfare

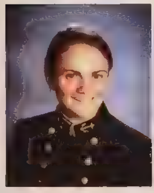
Andrew Wondolowski came to Annapolis from the top of the food chain at Saint Peter's Boys High School. President of his class, Captain of the football team, and an Eagle Scout for Troop 77; he strolled into the Academy he was floating on cloud nine… His life changed that hot sunny afternoon of July 1st 2009, his pride torn from his fingers, and now in a position that seemed respected less than the dirt on a man's shoes, or in his case "the nastiest plebe [some have] ever seen". He somehow made it through plebe year, especially Chemistry class, by what would seem like an act of God. He always had his beautiful "2% hopeful" Katie Yuen to help boost his spirits through the rough times. He learned early that what he thought was engineering was actually some form of an alien language and found his calling and special talent at putting words together to form sentences and paragraphs. Time flew by at what seemed like ludicrous speed from those lowly days of plebe and youngster year and somehow the guy that received "the lowest D possible" in Chemistry is on his way to be a Nuke SWO. May you have a son after all of the radiation you are about to absorb and live a long and happy life. Love you brother.

Lisa M. Worsham

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Lisa Maree Worsham; what can I say, the girl is an all-around incredible individual. I do not use the word individual lightly; she truly is one of a kind. She insists she is introverted, however, I would say the only evidence to support that is her avid reading; most everyone would agree with me when I say her lighthearted and excitable personality makes her a social expert. If you ever need a good laugh or a crazy adventure there is no need to look any further. Don't let her small stature fool you, everything she does, she does with insurmountable intensity. Whether it is a task involving her mathematical ingenuity, PTing to her hard core metal music, providing compassion and comfort to her friends and family, or using every day as an opportunity to develop her faith, she does it wholeheartedly. She will make an excellent Nuke SWO Naval Officer.

Class of 2014



Ruth Bates

James Breuer

Laura Burzenski

David Calderon-Guthe

Quinton Calmus

Conor Campbell

Vytautas Drejeris

Earl Ehrhart

Seamus Fish

Gregory Forrester

Aimee Gennaro

John Godfrey

Alexander Goulette

David Harrelson

Daniel Johnson

Patrick Kiernan

Evan Ladner

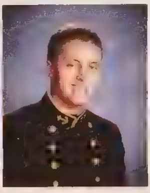
Crystal Lunkwitz

Katelyn Macdonald

Stephen Picchini

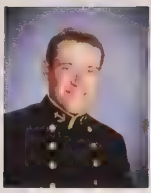
David Piekut

Nicholas Pillari



Jake Reid

Wave Ryder



Alexander Scott

Kelis Secrest

Cassidy Simmonds

Jefferson Talicuran

James Thomas

Johnathan Thornton

Jeremy Vasquez

Graham Vickers

Logan Wilk

Class of 2015

Robert Allen

Melanie Artis

Conley Brown

Matthew Carothers

Jeremy Cody

Samuel Cogar

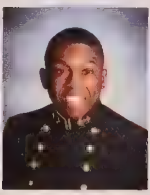
Gabrielle Dimaapi

Michael Eden

Ryan Erps

Joshua Farr

Kelli Freer



Corey Grey

Michael Harden

Nathaniel Haynes

Kenny Ho

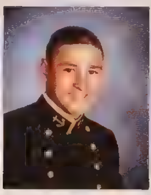
Alexander Jabaley

Bryce Keene

Jack Keller

Zackery Kim

Ryan Kolden



Michael Land

Ian Lowry

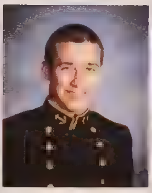
Jacob Marburger

Earl McLaurin

Christina Misch

Marcelo Narciso

Jedidiah Nohre



Nicholas Olson

Nathaniel Otto

Ryan Pajor

Togasii Peko

Kent Sayre

Jordan Spear

Andrew Sullivan

Andrea Thornethomsen

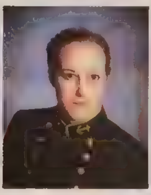
Catherine Trimble

Daniel Ulerio

Cody Vernon

Gabriel Voumard

Grady Weber

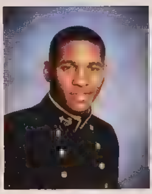


Alexandra Westberg

Class of 2016

Daniel Alcantor

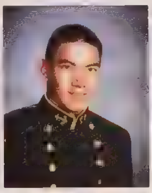
Ciro Alegria



Lorentez Barbour

Robert Burns

Kenneth Byrd



Gordon Carroll

John Cathcart

Vincent Chu

Radu Crisan

Samuel Crockett

Robert Currie

Margo Darragh

John Davis

Timothy Fisher

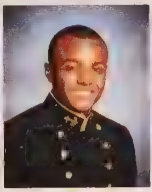
Sean Flounlacker

Taylor George

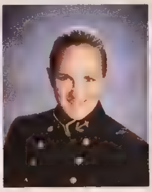
Daniel Gilmore

Peter Goodwin

Anton Hanton



Treye Harrison



Audrey Head

John Henrich

Ashley Krulik

Rebecca Loyal

Lucas Maclellan

Robert Mason

William D. Miller

Carlos Moreno

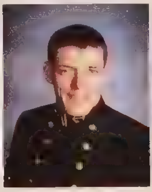
Christopher Morgan

Ethan Munoz

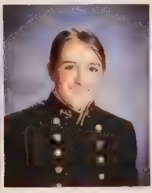
Morgan Nassif

Patrick Negus

Marlene Perez



Steven Rice



Christina Shawver

Konrad Skarpnes

Matt Truninger

Jamaal Williams

Brian Wistner

Jayne Woolard

Company

6

Samuel I. Amedia

Air Force

Samuel "a.k.a. swag in da boof, a.k.a. toothless" heartbreaking Amedia was born in Youngstown Ohio into a fight club, and raised in Miami by the yeyonese. Samuel is young cheetah full of energy, and ready for a scrap. Speedo Sam is known by his famous dance moves, his imaginative brain, comical wit, and as a founder of the Club Water Polo's success. Sam always manages to have a great time, even if it means blowing fat stacks, performing redneck dentistry on himself, or destroying his clothes. No matter where you go with Sam he knows people there. Big Meech Amedia is cross commissioning into the Air Force as a combat rescue officer. Be sure to ask about his future career as much as you can.

Stephen E. Anderson

USMC Ground

This strong islander came to the Academy weighing in at under 120 pounds ready to begin his transformation into a true double-jacked, triple-stacked Marine Corps officer unchained (do you even know what's in those supplements?) Steve is best known for his fast run times, extensive knowledge of history, and you can't forget his beautiful mocha skin... because even if you try to forget it, he'll remind you over and over again. For those of you lucky enough to know Steve understand his gifted ability of wooing women of the international community. He is a great friend who will stay by your side even if it means getting stranded on a dangerous, foreign island. The Marine Corps will never be the same once this hard-bodied young man finally graduates from Georgetown University.

John V. Austin

Navy Pilot

So what is there to say about this one Filipino man? Hailing from the all too awesome west coast of the great U.S. of A, John comes from the sunny and Marine Corps motivated town of Oceanside, CA. Being the son of a Marine Corps Master Sergeant can definitely get you motivated. How can you tell who John is between all the other too few Filipino looking folks out there? He's the one who is either asleep before the party even begins and/or wearing the all too nice clothes. This is one of the guys that you wouldn't expect to be a mid by looking at. No Sperry's or running shoes in civies for this guy. If he's not slaving away over some type of engineering assignment because of the all too smart decision of becoming a Mechanical Engineer, you can find him back in his room catching up on the Walking Dead or living out his dreams of becoming a Spartan Sniper in any of the Halo games. John has a great head on his shoulders, and is not the guy who delays in getting anything done. He works hard and his enthusiasm and caring attitude are contagious to everyone around him. There's no doubt that he wouldn't have become a Navy Pilot, and he'll definitely be making God and his family and friends proud of his accomplishments!

McKenzie A. Bowden

Surface Warfare Officer

They say everything is bigger in Texas. Look at Mckenzie Bowden, and you'll see this isn't true. When she turned 12, she stopped growing altogether. She is 4' 10" and ¾" and trust me when I say that ¾s is of the utmost importance...she'll smack you if you say she's only 4' 10". But while she's not the biggest Texan, she's proof that big things come in small packages. The real yellow rose of Texas, she came here from Fort Worth and knew nothing of the world outside of the boundaries of the Red River. She thought the Naval Academy was a good chance to show these Yankees what a real Texan looks like. I'm not sure if singing and dancing is the Texan way, but Mckenzie has got that down. However, after four years of musicals, Halloween Concerts, and Glee Club she's lost many of her Texan ways. In fact, her parents are considering disowning her for her portrayal of both a Russian Jew and an interracial romanticist from Baltimore. Maybe she's just become more cultured out in the surface fleet… nah! Love you babe and thanks for the memories (glemories?) ~Glashleigh

McKenzie L. Brannon

Intelligence

Hailing from the small town of Rockhill, South Carolina, Kenzie brought her Southern Belle accent and attitude to Plebe Summer. Her current best friends admit to writing her off as the "home-schooled girl" and thought she'd be weird. Now we are sitting here struggling to capture her beautiful nature into a few words. Those who know her would say she's delicate, calm, and modest. But we know her for her unseen self, an indestructible and playful superstar. It seems to be her personal goal to avoid typical military pastimes, as she dedicates her time to Navy cheerleading, the school musical, the dance team…and her side pony-tails. But, what we cherish the most is how her spiritual leadership has carried us throughout our few years here. Kenz, we just wanted to write three words, but as per usual you wanted more. And we love you enough to do it. "Best friends, you are my freakin' best friends, seriously, this is the best song ever".

Caralyn D. Broyles

USMC Ground

Caralyn Broyles… aka B-Money..aka Trucklyn..aka Car is the epitome of the Marine Corp and has been since Plebe summer. This tan Hawaiian's short stature does not limit her in any way as any obstacle she cannot go over she simply goes through. Maxing PRTs, O-Courses, PFTs, and CFTs, along with running and beasting the E-course with an infected foot Car maintains physical readiness throughout her time at USNA, with little effort (that B*tch!) Car's amazing personality has led to her overall success at the Naval Academy, to include Plebe Summer squad leader and Company XO Ma'am. This Brigade Boxing Champion can be found dancing in the ring or on the floor participating in all four International Balls for the Salsa Club. Car's dedication and loyalty to her friends make her "no better friend, no worse enemy."

Wayne R. Cleary

USMC Ground

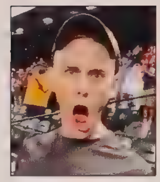
Wayne R. Cleary, also known as the dinosaur, Trey and many names we dare not put in this bio, is specifically known for his ability to play video games but when he's not pwning noobs on the net he can usually be found solving our company's internet and printer troubles. His words of wisdom: "google it" or "turn it off and on" are the cornerstones for all our electronic needs. A programming genius and physical specimen Wayne R. can also be seen around the confines of the Naval Academy's premier lifting establishment, MacD, judging young lifters on their form. Bro, he does lift. Wayne R. will be leaving this prestigious institution to join the fine US Marine Corps. We wish you luck Trey we know you will do well out there. Strength and Honor.

Christopher A. Dendor

Surface Warfare Officer

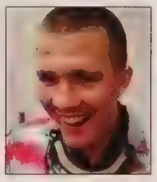
"Fire!" shouted the Colonel. Chris Dendor's unwavering loyalty and creatine hardened abdominal muscles made him the first man to be retroactively named after a Civil War Ironclad vessel, "Ole Dendy Ironside" and become the only Colonel in the United States Navy. Dendy has developed a natural habitat which can only come from a man with delicate taste. If only his signature combination of post-Corn Nut breath and Redd's could be harnessed, man would never need another cologne. If he is without a red solo cup, you can trust he will ask to "snag a light." Whether it be in the virtual reality of "FIFs", NHL, or on the real live street hockey blacktop, Dendy's fierce competitiveness and will to win constantly embodies his figurative Midshipman rank of Colonel. (Hey Josh, you want it?) Dendy is a true connoisseur of Wal-Mart apparel and has a closet fully stocked of camouflage, fish hooks, and jeans he will be sure to wear with tennis shoes. Always remember "practice what you preach."

Patrick D. Dillow



Submarines

Dillybean, the hipster from Tacoma, WA, is known across the Brigade for his angelic voice and snarkyness, just don't mess with him in the morning or interrupt his naps. Pat will always be fondly remembered as a great friend to those who know him. He is a Naval Architect with an appreciation of anything that floats and is a talented musician, especially as a member of the Men's Glee Club. Dilly brought diversity to the 6th Company leadership as Company XO and was especially known by the 2/C for his genuine compassion. Showing true dedication, he began preparing for the submarine service early on by receding his hairline as a plebe. Fortunately though, he won't get blown away by the wind deep underwater. The Bastion and Giant Bryan will live on! ...as long as his mom keeps sending his roommates "scotcharoos."

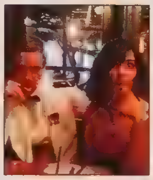


Sean C. Divoky

USMC Ground

Sean Divoky is a Native of Tracy California whose hobbies include duck hunting, land navigation, and dipping. Matter of fact, he will even have you know that he goes through about a log of skoal straight long cut a week! Don't be too intimidated...Although this guy sounds tough, he's truly a sensitive and understanding guy who isn't afraid to shed a few tears. From iPods during plebe summer to forgetting his cover at the Army Navy game of 2012, this guy can be very emotional; just ask his fiancée Meaghan! All jokes aside Sean has been an amazing friend and confidant and will make an outstanding Marine Corps Officer.

Alec D. Emerling



USMC Ground

If you know Alec Emerling, then all of your problems are solved. With the wisdom of Dr. Phil and the knowledge of Charles Darwin, he will tell you how to get your life back on track... or at least out of his breathing space while he is getting his fix of videogames. He is without a doubt going to be one of the most successful gentlemen coming out of the United States Naval Academy, not because he service selected Medical Corps, or because his grades are spectacular, but because he is a very well-rounded, and versatile individual. With his cultural background being sculpted by the band Phish, he made it known where he stood politically in his conservative class of Plebe Government. He never missed out on an opportunity to go to a Phish show, even if it required him to drive to New York by himself and sleep in his car. To compliment his love for music, he is an outstanding athlete. His calf and trapezius muscles are the biggest you'll ever see on a man, and they take up 95% of his 6' 4" body. But we must not forget his capacity for love. He always seems to find the most unique personality type of woman to fall for, whether it is a book thief, or a girl who loves flowers and dead animals. Alec Emerling is America's number one bachelor, and I wouldn't be surprised if he ends up curing cancer.

Jerad Fehr

SEALs

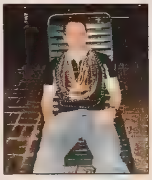
Raised by a family of Mormon wolves, Jerad 'Romulus' Fehr, grew up in the sparsely populated woods of Utah. Recruited by the Naval Academy for his athletic and physical prowess alone - he joined the great NAPS class of 2009. Mentored by the wise Caleb Lucas, Jerad became an important member of the football team beating Army four consecutive times. His love for country music and big trucks is only rivaled by his affinity for showing off his ripped and mysteriously tan body. If you're looking for him in the future - you can likely find him running marathons on the Coronado beaches, stealing unnecessary amounts of cereal from King Hall, or leading SEAL missions into communist Russia.

Michael T. Franco

USMC Ground

Born in the Deep South, Hendersonville (The Ville) North Carolina, Mike "The Meatball" Franco has been a man amongst boys since setting foot on this planet. Globally known for his barrel chested posture, superb chest hair brilliant enough to make the Dos Equis man jealous, intense workout programs (#MikeFit), love for the Pack, and his subtle yet scary Italian temper, Mike is undoubtedly one of the finest Jackalopes to ever roam 5-0. The fear Mike instills in opponents on both the Intramural Fieldball and Flag Football field is unrivaled but don't let it fool you, this man still enjoys long "walks" on Stribling during the wee hours of the morning as well as an occasional Seared Ahi Tuna Salad. A long shot for the Company Commander position at one point, Mike fulfilled his true underdog story and brought back the "Jack"ed in Jackalopes the second semester of his 1/C year, inspiring all with his brilliant public speaking skills and impeccable high yet floppy haircut. This man has undoubtedly come a long way throughout his four years at the Naval Academy, a transition only analogous to Miki-Siku in the late 90's hit film Jungle 2 Jungle. If you ever find yourself in a shanty Mexican resort, in the hills of North Carolina, or the United States Marine Corps, and hear a sound similar to that of a Hyena's cough, just know that Mike Franco is near (most likely occupied at the moment) and all is right in the world.

Timothy A. Goins



Submarines

"I try soooo hard." Allen Goins' undying determination will serve him well in every aspect of life and has even gotten him into trouble from time to time. Hailing from the great state of Kentucky, his time at the Academy was only further supplemented by his leadership in the esteemed Drum and Bugle Corps and their righteous parties all over the world. He can usually be found in classy attire teaching young lasses the proper footwork to the Salsa, Tango, Foxtrot or Bernie. Allen has always been known for his upstanding character and will be a great contribution to the submarine force. We wish him the best of luck in the future.

Victoria E. Gonzalez

Naval Aviation

When Victoria Gonzalez walked into the room on induction day freaking out about her lost calculator… we never imagined we be friends. With her Pennsylvania childhood and all-girls private school diploma, we didn't have much in common. But now, despite her hardheaded and often irrational antics, we couldn't live a day without her. We've never had a friend that is so honest, and so invested our lives. After a few unfortunate brushes with the conduct system, Victoria became a great example of how to use past experiences to set and achieve goals in the future. We've witnessed her dedication and sense of fairness as our Battalion Honor Advisor; she's even her boss's favorite:) We love you Victoria, can't wait to watch you do big things…don't crash.

Skyler M. Hawkes

Surface Warfare Officer

True to his Midwestern roots, Skyler Michael Hawkes (aka Sky Meat, aka Chief) loves his meat and potatoes, Budweiser, and a good bar scene. Skyler's body is truly a mystery—he has the nose of a bloodhound, his sweat glands work overtime every time, and he has christened his bed in Bancroft with the elixir of DTA on many occasions. His love affair with the infamous Greg Cummins is surpassed only by his enchantment with the charming Brazilian plus-size model, Sharlene. Though Sky Meat's jovial personality allows him to get along with everyone, there is one person that can bring out the wild boar inside—Colonel Dendy Ironside. Ole Ironside and Sky Meat have had their ups and downs to say the least (see Park City, Utah and Lake Tahoe). Nevertheless, Sky Meat is always down for a good time and always ready to get weird. From exotic dancing in Binghamton to "seal"ing the night in Annapolis, adventures with Sky Meat always have a story. Skyler will take a good back tat and derriere over personality any day of the week. Despite Skyler's boisterous lifestyle he is destined to be one of the best SWO's in the illustrious class of 2013. His love of the high seas, salty Chiefs, and Harley Davidson's has solidified his future in the Surface Warfare community. The six-man of 5121 and 5051 will never forget Sky Meat and all his glory, and we are certain he will find success as long as he heeds the thought- provoking advice and wisdom of Chief Ragland—good luck out there young buck.

Jeremy D. Jenkins

Navy Pilot

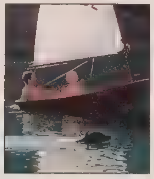
Jeremy Jenkins, otherwise known as the Django of our generation. You can usually find him sporting his quilled, ostrich skin boots, Texas belt buckle, camel skin jacket, and cowboy hat down at ol' Middletown tavern, where he has a suspiciously close relationship with the bartender Frank. When not in DTA, Jeremy is probably acting as the world's best non-official flight instructor teaching one of his friends touch and go's, stalls, or how to properly fly through a snow storm. If you plan on doing a summer cruise in the near future, take this man with you. He will convince you to spend more at the craps table than you actually paid for the cruise, but with that comes the best wingman known to man. He has been known to spend entire days hanging out with a mom, in order for a friend to make moves on her daughter. He stresses that it was because he thinks of others before himself, but we all have a sneaking suspicion that he enjoys the company of mothers twice his age. Anyway, Jeremy is one of the most charismatic guys in the brigade, and an awesome friend that will never let you down. Having more flight time than many of the naval aviators that teach here, he will surely excel as a Navy Pilot, even if he does choose Greyhounds.

Aaron R. Jones

Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Hubert S. Lenczowski



Surface Warfare Officer

Hubert Saint James "the Lizard King" Lenczowski hails from Lafayette, California. Tales are told and ballads are sung throughout the brigade for his this gentleman's extreme sense of national pride and his tireless dedication to the ideals for which this great institution stands. An erudite student of economics, James is often found burning the midnight oil as he contemplates our nation's financial future. Some see Hubert as the United States Naval Academy's unofficial ambassador to Washington D.C. During his frequent trips to the capital, this noble emissary was the ideal face of the Navy. It is rumored that the phrase "One Hundred Percent on Watch" was inspired by this warrior's watch standing capabilities and commitment to keeping the deck safe. The USS Iwo Jima will never be the same. Fair winds and following seas to you, kind and gentle Hubert.

Samantha R. Leyva-Yelverton

Surface Engineering Duty

Though Sam and I do not always agree, I cannot tell you enough how happy I am to have her in my life. We've gotten each other through a lot of hard times and I wouldn't have it any other way. From NAPS to our firstie year, she has helped me grow and shape myself in the leader I want to be. Besides running into fire hydrants on the street to get back to the hall on time, she is a hard worker and has stronger morals than anyone I know. In three words: compassionate, spiritual, driven. Stay that way. Love you always.

Victor Lodato

Supply Corps

March of the Penguins is one of the greatest movies ever made and Morgan Freeman is a national treasure. I enjoy the films of Michael Bay as well, even though I acknowledge they lack plot or character development.

Mikhail Machablishvili

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Meleah L. Martin

USMC Pilot

Meleah and I took Spanish together so I just want to say to her and to everyone here -- She isa character and a best friend unlike any other. She has uncanny charisma, unparalleled discipline, and impeccable bearing. She was tireless in her selflessness in honor, phytoplankton, Murrna, and eventually Barbie. I think we stay who we are and maybe grow a little bit but you're gorwing then you're changing but as the person you are which you will always stay as -- but either way I am grateful to have done it alongside both Minona and Monina. We are limitless. Dep. TBC. BIB. Absolutely.

Matthew K. McVay

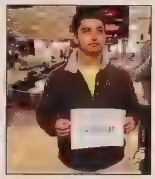
Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Daniel D. Murphy

Navy Pilot

Murphy grew up on his family farm in Wisconsin where he mastered working hard and causing trouble. After acing his ASVAB Murphy was selected for aircrew and trained to work on P-3s. It was at this job Murphy learned all about naval aviation realized that he would give his first born child in order to fly jets. Luckily Murphy's chief at the time realized he was a perfect candidate to go to the Naval Academy and ensured/forced him to apply and accept his appointment. When he arrived at USNA Murphy began his career as a professional badass by joining the parachute team. A natural leader, his charisma and perfect teeth made him many cherished friendships. Although he had many great moments at the academy, none compared to service selection day where he openly cried tears of joy after being selected for Navy pilot. Now he is on his way to flight school where he hopes to live out his lifelong dream of flying F-18s, but with such perfect hair and a strong sense of OCD, how could he not achieve his lifelong goals.



Joshua M. Otto

Submarines

"One ring to rule them all...." It's crazy how someone that could recite the whole Lord of The Rings movie from memory could get stumped by plebe rates but somehow Josh found a way. Josh Otto aka "Chili Bean" was not a normal Midshipman he spent most of his first two years at the academy being a goalie of one of the greatest lacrosse teams that never existed. Whatever time he had left over it was spent perfecting every single one of Dave Matthews Band's Songs. Then beginning second class year, he dropped lacrosse for his two true loves Jordan Kronsage and Dave Matthews, and still no one knows who he loves more Josh is an avid Steelers fan but only when they play the Packers. He is the most financially savvy person you'll ever meet never being afraid to take a loan from papa Otto especially when Ms. Goldstein needed it. With all that extra money the first thing that Josh would do is repay his roommates any owed debt and spend the rest on his up and coming musical career. The only thing that Josh ever wanted, besides the love of Buster, was the love from everyone in the company, knowing that he never needed to return it. The only way to sum up his illustrious Naval Academy Career is "Whats mine is mine and what's yours is mine." -Josh Otto

Christopher H. Parr

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Michael T. Rawls

Submarines

Michael "the Mohican" Rawls is truly a special human being. Hailing from sunny San Diego, before his parents were forcibly moved to the hive of scum and villainy known as Norfolk, Virginia, Michael Rawls could be found surfing the waves of California's finest beaches while simultaneously seducing the world's finest women with his long, dark and mysterious features. He is a man of tremendous character and a man with a tremendously deep voice. His classmates in 6th company will miss him dearly. Always bringing the heir of awesome and totally radical to every outing, Michael Rawls is the genuine article. We love you Michael Rawls go "little big horn" on the submarine community for us big guy.

Michael J. Reindl

Naval Flight Officer

Mike hails from the beautiful rural countryside of America's dairy land, a place called Saint Nazianz, WI. Here you will find cheap beer and….well that's about it. Though Wisconsinites will always greet you with a smile and a wave, don't let Mike's congenial nature blind you from his tenacity. He is a quiet professional and an avid objector of bullsh*t. He has many and varying interests, but most of the time you can find his head turned skywards. While you were worrying about when your feet would touch the floor, he was worrying about reaching the rudder pedals. After spending his first two academy years at sea in faraway places with the dri…sailing team, he decided he would rather fly the airplanes instead of build them and took up golf and engineering, generally speaking. Thus, leaving him with much more time to explore the local Annapolis establishments and prepare himself for a well-rounded life in Pensacola. He hopes to lose less golf balls and that the beer will be cheap there too.

Richard Rodriguez

Surface Warfare Officer

Life at the Naval Academy is not easy for anyone, and Ricky Rodriguez knows that well. Ricky Rod aka Jennifer Lopez's #1 fan aka lil Joel Osteen is a true friend and a scholar. He brought D&B back to life with his conducting energy! This Texas boy cannot wait to have his own place so he can ornament the place with Finding Nemo decorations! When he's not busy cycling, he can be found watching YouTube clips of Ellen. Ricky Rod is the most uplifting person I have had the pleasure of knowing. There is never a dull moment when he's around. From watching him with others as well as my own personal experience, it is clear that he truly cares about others. All will miss his genuine love and compassion for everyone. There is no doubt he will be a great asset to the fleet. Because of Ricky Rod, "I wanna dance, and love, and dance again. "

Douglas M. Smith

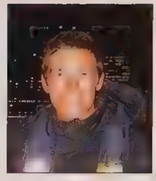
Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Zachary M. Walz

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Bryan M. Weisberg



Navy Pilot

Who's rack is this? Weisberg's? Tell him this is UNSAT...I think we all know who this is Bryan. Although you lack some of the roommate qualities that revolve around cleanliness, you far exceeded your role as a positive role model and encouraging friend to me. Like most of our conversations, I bet you thought I was going to be completely sarcastic and joking, which would ultimately end up with me besting you in the argument, or Master Murphy pummeling both of us at the same time. But you were wrong. Look, I can be nice! Got you good Reginald. On the more serious side, thanks for all the great memories and good times that we had in The Bastion. I couldn't have asked for a better roommate and best friend. I hope everyone who reads this knows that although you may come off as a quiet and average person, you truly are a blithe and clever individual with a ridiculous brain and quite a sense of humor (I wish I could put some puns in here, but I'm not nearly as good as you at that). Good luck up there in the skies, and know that I'll always be waiting below, ready to annoy and bug the hell out of you.

Tonnie R. Williams

USMC Ground

If the rest of the brigade knew what truly lies behind Tonnie Williams' flawless exterior…she wouldn't have nearly as many friends. But despite the bizarre inner workings of her mind, we have enjoyed every minute of our friendship with her. As a band geek turned cheerleader and aero-major turned English major, she has skated by with flying colors and rouses so elaborate we've at times turned green with envy. She is an all-too-proud native of Edgewater Maryland…though her best friends never saw the inside of her house until senior year. But in all seriousness, Tonnie is a powerful leader and friend we could not live without. She has an incredible heart for the underdog and we can't wait to see the impact that she will have on those who come to know her. Tonnie, we love you, and feel so blessed to have been a part of your life.

Jordan J. Wingate

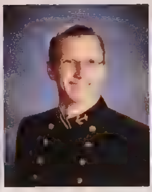
Submarines

From Sierra Madre,CA, Jordan chose Navy over an ROTC scholarship to Embry-Riddle or Notre Dame. At USNA, he fought for the Navy Jiu Jitsu team until he injured his knee at the end of Plebe year. After that, he became an intramural warrior helping 6th Company attain several championships in both Flag Football and Field Ball. He studied Aerospace Engineering with the hopes of becoming a pilot and eventually became one of the members of the Design, Build, Fly team that creates their own UAVs and demonstrates their capabilities. As well as engineering, he obtained a minor in Japanese, becoming active in the language department, culminating in his election and the PAO for the Japanese-American Club. During his time at USNA, he also participated in the Latin-American Studies Club and the Civil-Military Relations Club. After serving as a squad leader during Plebe Summer Detail, he severed two more iterations as a squad leader during the academic year. He was eventually selected to become a Submarine Officer and managed to earn a spot at Dive School prior to starting Nuclear Power School.

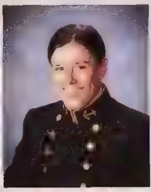
Class of 2014

Justin Adams

Aaron Arellano



Ian Balczewski



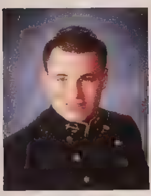
Taylor Batye

Caron Bryant

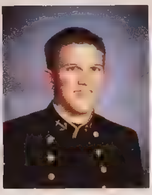
Nathan Burt

Thomas Cowhey

Carinne Deleon



Luke Diaz



Samuel Dodson

Austin Drayton

Nicholas Dubee

Ryan Duffy

James Ellerbe

Sean Finney

Samuel Johnson

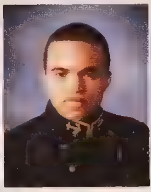
Corbin Judstra

John Kania

Shanon Lavin

Shawn Lynch

John Mackovjak



Nicolas Martinelli

Delano Martins

Zachary Motter

Michael Murphy

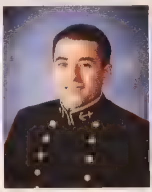
Kendall O'neill

Timothy Perkowski

Daniel Ramos

John Reader

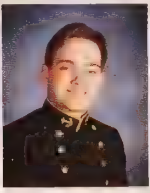
Amanda Shade



Drew Shaut

Michael Tauskey

Michael Watrol



Tyler Westover

Robert Yerkesmedina

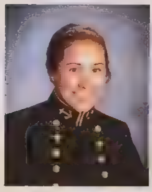
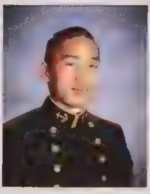
Class of 2015

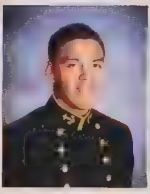


Melissa Boughton

Logan Burchett



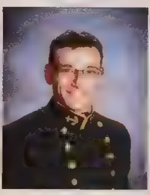
Lawrence Cen



Manuel Delacruz

Philip Deturck

Keaton Dille



Brian Disalvo

Dominick Diserio

Meghan Ford

Cory Franklin

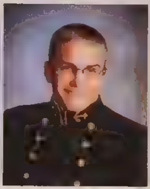
Juan Gomezverduzco

Christopher Griggs

Molly Hanna

Radix Harris

Ryan Hill

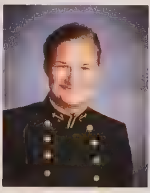


Justin Ipema

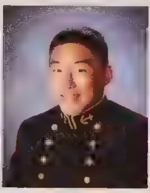
George Jamison

Colin Jester

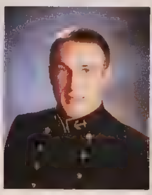
Safouane Lachgar



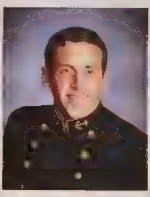
Emily Lamanna



Francis Lee



Ryan Lynch



John McAuliffe

Samuel Murphy

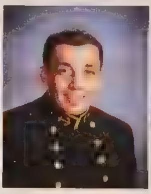
Bryan Newkirk

Miles O'brien

Caitlin Petrofes

Patrick Prada

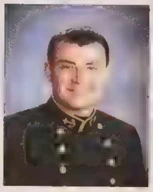
Karl Rebholz



Roy Richardson

John Sisk

Thomas Sledge



Bridger Smith

Matthew Sweeney

Christopher Szymanski

Stephen Wistner

Kristy Yau

Class of 2016

Colton Abeling

Cooper Ansell

Connor Chroman

Connor Coyle

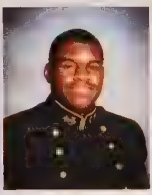
Devin Crayton

Eric Dement

Connor Deneen

Brett Deters

Gregory Dykstra



Gregory Eason

Garrett Enslin

Cameron Field

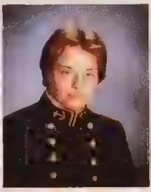
Jesse Fine

Mason Galat

Sean Gallagher

Michael Granthom

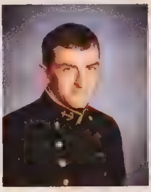
Christopher Hanson



Amanda Jackson

Jourdan Looney

Rosa Lopez

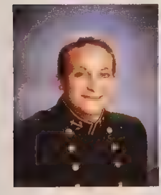


Nicholas Martin

Taylor Mauney

Benjamin McAllister

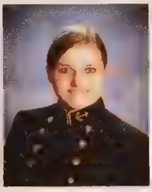
Ryan McDonnell



Alexandra McIntosh

Christopher Meyer

Riley Miller



Katie Moore

Codi Mullen

Cynthia Nestor

Herman Pfaeffle

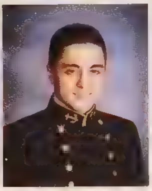
Zachary Philiph

Adela Rivera

Esteban Salazar

Thomas Sears

Tracy Thorsell



Robert Vachon

U.S.
NAVAL ACADEMY EX
TRIDENS

Company

7

Jordan B. Brickman

Supply Corps

As our sentence here comes to an end it is time for the king of the MacD weight room to pass on the crown to another aspiring candidate. One lesson that must be passed on is that the first scoop of protein is to make your summer whites shirt look like under armour while the second scoop is to stink up the whole room for the night. Another lesson is that the only thing that matters is the bench press and only the bench press. As an R&B artist in another life, you've shown these walls and the people in them that true soul can't be held down by restriction. You've got talent and determination both on and off the court and the Navy will be better off with the type of heat that you bring to the table.

Brigid M. Byrne

Surface Warfare Officer

Is that Hermione Granger? No, it's someone much more magical—our very own Brigid Byrne. She's a California girl by way of Virginia… and Florida…and Guam. When she wasn't running at lightening speeds for the Navy XC and Track teams, Briggie-boo could be found with a book in her hand sipping some tea. She is a wonderful listener, music aficionado, honest friend, and has a huge heart for helping others…some even call her Lionheart! As the oldest of five siblings, BB never missed a beat. She was always bustling about the room to finish her checklist for the day but never forgot to drop her Nalgene, slip on the floor in her socks, and cook a full meal all before 0600 (putting the famous "Emeril Live" to shame). From her tie dye towels to her elephant trinkets, Brigid is a great friend to all who have had the pleasure to meet her. It's back to SoCal for this Swo mama, but we know her light will shine no matter where she goes!

Jason R. Case

Nuclear Surface Warfare

A true "man of mystery," Jason Case has never burdened anyone with the trivial details of his personal life, preferring to remain strictly professional in even the most lackadaisical of circumstances. When he's not out running, he can be found puttering around the Systems lab in his lifelong quest to build his perfect soul mate. His ideal meal consists of Mountain Dew, Cheez-Its, and powdered donuts, which combined make up the ideal pre-workout nutrition for a sub-eight minute PRT run. With a chill to pull ratio of nearly 1:1, Jason is without a doubt one of the sickest bros on the Severn. His unique sense of humor and unwavering friendship have truly made these last four years a pleasure. No matter where our paths take us, be it San Diego, Pensacola, or somewhere else around the globe, we will always be brothers, brought together by the unique bond that only four years in Annapolis can create.

Christopher M. Ceconi

Naval Flight Officer

You are a man of many talents. You are a good golfer, a better surfer, the best at striking a gargoyle pose, and you can always find creative uses for pizza boxes. The two things that you were not good at were grades and boxing... it seems like you broke your nose doing both. You saved up your entire year's worth of Plebe pay to buy a new long board only to break it as soon as you got in the water with it. On weekends you could be found at Acme feasting on your preferred diet of wings and Bud Light. Rooming with you for four years has been a pleasure and we wish you the best of luck as a NFO.

Gabriel R. Charette

Naval Flight Officer

Fell in love on the Jersey Shore, at least for a weekend. The gentle giant, Gabriel has fought the good fight, sacrificing his jawbone to defend the honor of a downtown annapolis woman. Despite several in depth conversations with Coach Friedrich, we are all glad that he ended up finishing with all of us. Brotherhood.

Douglas C. Chico

Navy Pilot

Doug Chico has a very bright future ahead of him as a Naval Aviator. Hailing from Florida, Doug has a unique personality which is sure to lighten up any atmosphere. While sometimes considered a talkaholic among his friends, it is a valuable trait as spends his free time pursuing his passion of finance. He is sure to take his financial know-how and improve any situation into a profitable one. Over the years Doug has overcome numerous challenges and obstacles which have only served to improve his character and leadership skills. Active in many ECA's such as VT-NA, Doug gave many hours of his time to improving the skills of future pilots. He also founded the Investment Club which has given valuable insight to many midshipmen about the perils and rewards of investing in the stock market. As a dedicated intramural warrior, he never missed a single match, rain or shine. Holding many leadership positions such as a supply officer, Doug has gained valuable leadership skills useful for the fleet. Fly on!

David W. Cornes

USMC Pilot

Dave Cornes, may come off as aggressive to some but in reality all he ever wanted to do was go to sleep in the cross walk on dock street. When he wasn't out tearing up Annapolis he was tearing it up on the Ju-Jitsu mats, until... he became a power forward and force to be reckoned with on the street hockey team of 7th company. Dave's true passion lies in snowboarding, but we all know he would give it up in a heartbeat for his corgi's. We all wish you the best on your journey to becoming a Marine Aviator and know you will continue to succeed just as much as you have during your years here by the bay.

John C. Crow

Surface Warfare Officer

If conformity is something from which you want to shy away If you feel like your friends misunderstand everything you say If you're happier surfing on a wave than standing on flat ground
Then let me introduce you to the coolest SWO around. His name is John "Juan-ton" "King-Kong" Charles Crow What part of China is she from? He's just the guy to know. Yes, John's got game that can't be matched no matter who you are but keep an eye out or he might just leave you in a bar.
But John's got brains and he's got heart, that much is surely true and though he may complain about it, he'd do anything for you They broke the mold when they made John, there isn't any doubt but Johnny, you're one amoeba we might have figured out.

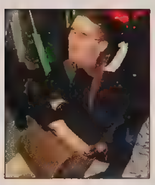
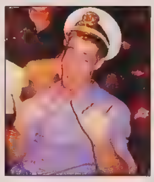
Max T. Cutchen



Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Our little ghetto ghangsta, we were so happy when we first learned your true name, White Chocolate. From Max the old man to max the hipster, you have made us laugh with your wide plethora of diverse stories. We will miss your alarms that randomly go off at all hours of the day and night. Your coffee/matte party's got us through this place. Thank you for your exercise influence, waking us up countless times for intramurals. Try not to get too lost without us, especially on your way to Target! You will always be a brother to us Maxi Pad, Max-a-Million, Maximus Aurailious. You will be the best damn EDO that this Navy has every seen!! Oh and 7th Company, did you know that Max has a Dadmiral?



Timothy J. Dickhaus

Navy Pilot

Much can be said about the six-man member from the Midwest. He lives by the creed of the assassin. He sleeps without regard for time, space, or class schedule. His name can be re-arranged more than a dozen offensive ways. He has more women lined up than he has any clue what to do with, except harmless pranks. When not doing laundry, Timothy trains hard for life as a Naval Aviator by logging endless hours on his flight simulator. Timothy, an avid baseball fan, cares enough about the Reds to plan his class schedule around his deep depressions after their many losses. What's great about Tim is that he's such a family man-loving, protective, and supportive of his sister, yet so adept at balancing family life with Sunday night volleyball. Timothy is a printer friend to all, and someday, after a career of naval service, dreams of opening a Kinko's of his own with his spring break 2013 casino winnings. You keep dreamin' little guy. Tim's a true tornado-watcher, and has been a loving babysitter to our friends through thick and thin, in sickness and in health, and in and out of Puddsies. Tim is indeed a great friend, and if he thinks you've forgotten about your own chores, he'll give you a friendly reminder: "Guys, have you ever checked your dirty laundry and wondered…?"

Christopher Dugan

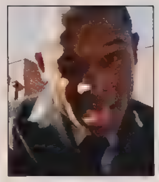
Surface Warfare Officer

Chris is the epitome of level headed decision making. Having started at the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Newport, Rhode Island, he has pushed ten long semesters and has finally attained his goal. Though Christopher has poor choice in football teams, his command presence and work ethic will undoubtedly guide him to success down the road. There is probably no other person I would rather go to when I'm in need of a reality check, or need to discuss uncomfortable topics. There's no way I could've made it to graduation without Chris as my roommate. Sadly, he may not see any Super Bowl Titles in his near future. However, his diploma and his commission will be enough to keep him warm for the time being.

Tyler R. Faris

Navy Pilot

There is a firstie on 5-2, with a rack that's tight and a desk that's clean books aligned from tall to small, and leather shoes with a silky sheen clothes all folded per midregs, and whitey tighties from I-day WVU stickers on his car, and everything done a certain way. You know you've found this mountaineer when you hear a rebel yell when you hear the twang of dental floss and lemon pledge is all you smell. This engineer is Tyler Ross, but you can call him "Baby Snake" give him a taps sheet and shelf and just watch what he can make. Though he got here on Country Roads, his eyes are always towards the sky. Whether on an air-bike or an F-18, that boy was born to fly. Yes SAE keeps Ty-Ty busy, but when he leaves the shop he will always take time with his friends for carrot cake and coffee.



Michael A. Foster

Surface Warfare Officer

MIDN 1/C Michael Foster, where to begin? Well, is it the scars? Want to know how he got em'? Losing in madden to the Eagles and Ravens! Mike is one of the most caring souls that have gone through this institution. He truly is a dear friend that will be missed, not just from his roommates but from others in all classes. Whenever he is not overcoming our daily challenges as a midshipman, he spends his time primarily by lending a hand to others to the best of his abilities. As a member of the U.S.S. Hate, Mike has, in the face of adversity, valiantly contributed to our environment of constant good vibes and smiles through the worst of times, even when told to control our volume on multiple occasions by several OOWs, SDOs, SELs, COs, and disgruntled classmates and upperclassmen. He will find success in the Navy because he has found success in life. Stand true to yourself, trust in God, and never stop pushing forward. DING DING, DING DING CMC DEPARTING!

Nichole L. Frantz

Navy Pilot

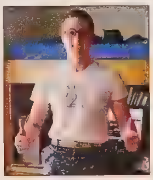
Nichole Frantz or to her friends Nick! Geared up and ready to go, you will either find her shredding on the slopes with Brian or trying not to laugh as she teaches Jackie and Jamie to snowboard. She is always up for a good time and is the life of the party no matter where she goes. A world traveler, she has seen it all. Now she is taking her journey to the sky as she answers her true calling as a Navy Pilot. She is going to fly high! Nick is one of kind. A true friend, she is always looking out for others and has a huge heart. Anyone who knows her is lucky to have her in their life. Afraid of nothing, she is ready to take life on and soar high!

Travis M. Keating

Navy Pilot

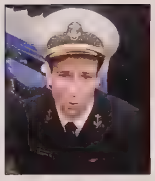
Travis hails from the great state of Texas (and the even greater town-THE WOODLANDS). When Travis wasn't at football practice, he could be found leading plebes, doing calf-raises, making a protein shake, flying over Annapolis, or having friendly conversations with the Academy gate guards. Travis excelled in everything he set his mind to- and everyone knew it. Clocking in at 4.63 in the 40 yard dash (without stretching), he is a mesomorphic freak. Travis took the time to make everyone feel special. He was the most affectionate roommate anyone could ask for. Best of luck to you and Haley. Love, Jason and McLean

Caleb J. Knapp



USMC Ground

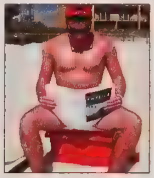
Raised from birth to be a perfect Marine, you can count on Caleb to always have a moto haircut and a sharp knife hand. Rainman without the good at math part, this math major could always be found up after 0200 reading some archane text devoid of all numbers. With a few chocolate covered coffee beans, he could study for days. When not trying desperately to stay SAT, Chesty Knapp was an adventurous guy who was always willing to try something new. From a frostbitten challenge to adventure races to the EOD screener for fun, he enjoyed getting kicked in the throat. His 5 minute-to-EOL returns to Mother B kept his roommates guessing—gotta optimize that liberty! He always kept a sword or two nearby for some latenight drill. And he would never fail to share his perception of the world through the convenient educational tool that is MS Paint.



Nicolas M. Lebovitz

Navy Pilot

Nico is from Los Angeles. This is one of the first things you will learn about him when you first meet him. This is not the only thing that makes him so amazing though. His intelligence is beyond comparison; as we all know, Nico is Never Wrong. He knows every quote to every movie ever made, and is constantly testing you so that you may one day be as smart as him. He also has the coolest car on campus, it's American, and would love to talk to you about his sweet, new rims. Little known fact about Nico: he is classically trained in dance appreciation, and knows a good dancer when he sees one. He's saved 15% or more on shampoo by switching to bald, and if he's not on a quest [or a sidequest] he's always happy to help. Especially if you're that one girl- she's so mean. And despite all these things, he manages to stay humble about his many talents. In all seriousness though Nico is a great person that anyone would be lucky to call "friend." Anyone lucky enough to have that privilege knows this, and he'll never let you forget it.



Christopher A. Leiby

Navy Pilot

Oh the experiences that have been had. After a few drinks get down his gullet, the "Tornado" is sure to cause chaos. He is a Midwestern boy with a Midwestern charm and a heart the size of his Panama City lover. Avid Justin Bieber fan who isn't afraid to show it. He has been a shepherd to his over-sized and absent minded roommate since day one. Toph is a man that is much more interested in warming a room with his jovial disposition than icing it with complaints.

Dylan S. Maya

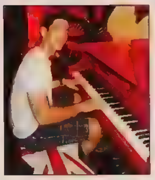
Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Shannon M. McCarthy

Surface Warfare Officer

From the very first moment we met our upbeat friend from the Dirty Jerz, we knew we had found a special one. Not only did Shannon make it through Plebe Summer with a smile on her face, but she even created some new and improved lyrics for "The Goat is Old and Gnarly" (we like her version better). The better you know her the more you love her, as we learned after four years of growing accustomed to her quirky ways. Don't talk to her before 7am, don't tell her the 5th Wing vending machine ran out of Diet Coke, and don't even THINK about touching her pillow (but feel free to buy her an aromatic Yankee Candle, let her borrow your fruity lip balm, or stay put when she pats the top of your head). Teeth are teeth, Shannon...teeth are teeth. With the quick wit of an English major and the unfailing loyalty (and gorgeous blonde hair) of a golden retriever, Shannon got all of us through our four years together here at USNA, and we know that she will take those same quirky traits that we love out into the real world with her. You are our rock, Shannon, and we know that you'll do amazing things no matter where life takes you.



Jack R. McKeon

Supply Corps

Known in the realms of Warcraft and Call of Duty as "The Ruthless Panda", you can catch this endangered beast mercilessly casting spells or calling in infinite amounts of killstreaks. When he isn't feeding on helpless souls in the cyber world, you can observe this creature in his natural habitat: the MacD weight room. Women and children are not allowed within 100 feet of this two-legged animal when he roams from bench to bench, constantly looking for the heaviest weights to devour. But legend has it that one Spring Break at a location that remains unknown, possibly an island south of North Padre… this half-Korean, half-Irish combo meal found a green-eyed lady. Rumor has it that he cast the strongest spell he knew, and the two have been inseparable since.

Christopher P. Miller

Surface Warfare Officer

Christopher Pendleton "God bless the great state of Texas" Miller is quite a bashful young man. He can be caught buried within his calculus and physics books on any night, and usually keeps to himself. One thing that will get his blood pumping is if you strike up any conversation of sports. He's quite the quadruple athlete—football, baseball, basketball, and lacrosse are where he calls home. Astros, Rockets, Cowboys, and Longhorns, my God, the man loves him some Texas anything. Once he comes off his ESPN high, he'll return to the library like the hermit crab he is. He'll return to his lonely corner, counting either threads in the carpet, or stars in the 1974 space almanac.

Brett E. Morris

Submarines

Brett, the most interesting Mid in the room, spent more time bartending on Farragut than in any DTA establishment. Could front squat over twice his body weight, but only in 7th Wing Prison. During intermittent breaks in his 4 year video game marathon, Brett penciled in double CE/EE majors, just for fun. School was an interesting pastime; he used black magic and grid paper once to out-write a class full of English majors, and Atticus's closing remarks in his JAGMAN. His loyalty to country is unwavering so long as the Union is allowed to remain part of Texas. A child at heart, you may find him wandering the Hall in footie PJ's, and if you say anything bad about pandas he might tell you "Omae wa mo shindeiru!" He doesn't always eat in front of Plebes, but when he does he prefers candy, candy canes, candy corns, and syrup.

Bradley S. Nye

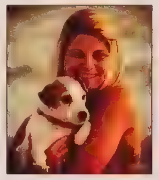
Submarines

Brad is a very reserved, quiet, and calm person. Always modest and caring, the animal that best symbolizes Brad is a big, harmless, fluffy bunny: you just want to pick him up, cuddle with him, and just eat him up. But enough about this side of Brad, his alter ego: BRAD BRO CHILL, is someone completely different. His volume dial is turned to 11 and testosterone levels rival an angry rhino after accidentally stepping in Elephant poo. The gentle giant bunny turns into more of a howler monkey. Howler Monkey howls can be heard up to three miles away, but it is said Brad can be heard from farther (or at least the distance from Sly Fox to Puddsies). Brad is loud, like a howler monkey, but not many know that howler monkeys howl to defend their turf. Brad, too, defends his turf in this way. And in this case his turf is his friends and family, who he constantly cares for while maintaining maximum decibel levels. He always lends an ear when you need one (if you can get a word in between his), a shoulder to lean on (he'd want me to say it's a big muscly shoulder at that), or a spot at the gym (if he has time between his many cardio sets). Both of these animals together make up brad. He's his own species: the Howler Bunny. A friend, brother, and integral part to so many lives. Keep howling, Brad.

David C. Nygren

Surface Warfare Officer

Dave- David "White Flash" Nygren is USNA's paler version of television supernerd, Steve Urkel. The brains, the glasses, the build, and the voice, Dave was the epitome of your typical genius. Hailing from the mean streets of Dayton, Oregon, he prided himself on succeeding in the world of Academia, managing the Men's Track and Cross Country teams, balancing a double major, and mooching rides from GAP, since he only has his tractor operator's license vice a driver's license. Due to budget cuts from sequestration, his capstone project of programming his holographic girlfriend to be his holographic wife would be put on hold indefinitely (though he is still determined to make it happen). He will go on to become an excellent SWO and save the world via computer soon after. He's the kind of guy you'd have to admit taking Second Place to...whether it be in the classroom, in a footrace, or on the dance floor, Dave is pretty much a champion at life. From his super motivating war cry to holding the record number of "Ma'am Sandwiches," Dave will always be proudly remembered as one of the most distinct members of 7th Company. Godspeed, White Flash....KILL!



Elizabeth M. O'brien

Surface Warfare Officer

MOB as she is affectionately called by all, is sincerely loved for her innocence and passion for life. On the lacrosse team she served the team by asking ALL the questions so that everyone was on the same page. This trait of curiosity will help her as she continues on her journey of life in becoming the best SWO-mama ever because she is thorough and caring for those around her. She leaves a lasting impression on NWL for her dedication and always pushing everyone to give it their best one hundred percent of the time.

Katie M. Otano

Naval Flight Officer

Princess Katie was wearing a blue rim before she could walk. Our Fab Fillie hails from Colleyville, Texas where she was born and raised with Blue and Gold spirit. Whether on the ice with the women's hockey team or busting a move with the Mother B Boys, Katie could be found with a smile on her face and a bow in her hair. Her nights were spent slaving away over Systems homework (with an occasional YouTube video thrown in there...a few times). Katie May is an avid movie watcher, master organizer, and most importantly, a sweet and thoughtful friend. Best of luck in Pensacola training to become a NFO- we know that you will dance your way into their hearts just like you did into ours!

Giancarlo A. Palazzo

Naval Flight Officer

Giancarlo Palazzo A.K.A GAP A.K.A POP A.K.A King Baby. He eats, he sleeps, he whines, he poops. Every time something doesn't go his way the wham-bulance shows up. He went to Catholic school and he says goddamn it more than anybody else at the Academy. He must have that special connection to God to be able to damn anything he wants. The only clean space he has is the unfortunate paucity of hair follicles on his head which is complemented by the cornucopia of them elsewhere. His go to playlist is every one hit wonder imaginable, reminding you why they were left in past generations. Sometimes gets an uncontrollable urge to play the bass, poorly. However, all his flaws can be overlooked when his parents have sent a fresh supply of treats for the company. You cannot ask for a more loyal friend or someone more willing to help in a time of need.

Donald M. Panter III

Surface Warfare Officer

Donald McLean Panter III, born October 14, 1906 in a small wooden shed somewhere outside Collierville, Tennessee. McLean came to the Naval Academy to be a Surface Warfare Officer on a Battleship, patrolling the high seas and protecting America from the Nazis, Japanese, and Aliens. After he realized that World War II ended over 65 years ago, he quickly shifted his focus to conflicts in the Middle East. His first year taking Arabic went extremely well, so well in fact, that he decided it was his last year taking Arabic. He is now a Spanish minor, destined for the USS Howard in San Diego, ready to translate any Mexican food menus for the CO and XO. He is a man with a taste for the finer things in life. This Renaissance man effortlessly strums enchanting guitar melodies, whittles miniature ships from beach wood, and shaves with his issued striper sword. Most mornings you could catch him enjoying his invigorating coffee, brewed from the beans he harvested near Triton Light. McLean is one of the most impressive men you'll ever have the chance to meet. His selflessness, morality, and willingness to help others are always present in his daily routine. On top of that, he is one of the more talented critical thinkers you will come across. McLean is the kind of man you would want your daughter to marry, and we are thankful for having the privilege of living with him since Plebe year. Love you Donnnnyyyy, Travis and Jason.

Zane W. Pluhar

USMC Pilot

"I have two guns; one for each of ya."-Doc Holliday

Danielle C. Reminger

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Joel T. Rinehart

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Rarely seen by the rest of the company because you were either on the road for baseball or in Rickover for a Mech E lab. Being a true Southerner, during Youngster Year you tried to get away with a growing a mullet... unfortunately you were successful. He claims to be a five and diver but we all know that twenty years from now he will be the CNO. You were a great roommate through these four years and we wish you the best of luck after we graduate.

Jemuir T. Rivers

Navy Pilot

There are some mysteries that cannot be solved; such as Stonehenge, Atlantis, and Sasquatch. Many people argue that the place Jemuir is actually from should be added to this list. He lives in Colorado, but claims to be a Braves fan and brags about surviving the rugged Alaskan environment. Over his four years in Annapolis, Jemuir has transformed his body into something that resembles an inverted Egyptian pyramid. His religion is lifting, while his church is MacD and bible is the bench. His physical strengths should be applauded, but let's not forget about his mental strengths. His ability to continue his spring break after the unfortunate "passing" of a "grandparent" illustrates his courage to keep pushing. Jemuir has been a excellent roommate and an unforgettable friend to all of us over these last four years and will be forever remembered in our hearts as Jamooch, Baby-D, Meerkat, and Jimmy.

Andrew K. Snell

Navy Pilot

Responsible for the Six Man's most prized possession: Lovechild Tyler Bear. In many ways, Andrew is similar to Lovechild, whether it's the fantastic hair, the silent wisdom you can tell he possesses, or the vacant look in his eyes. Andrew, like Lovechild, also loves to be cuddled so don't hold back when you see him because he loves to be touched. Andrew is the epitome of confidence too. He sweats success, brushes his teeth with excellence, and combs the failure out of his hair every morning, which consequently is his most prized asset. Andrew's hair has its own personality and often is a better friend than Andrew is himself. Andrew's business cards simply read, "I'll call you." He once started a fire with dental floss and water. But Andrew is not arrogant or conceded, he understands the quality of everyone around them and never fails to lend a hand when necessary. Mewtwo summed it up best: "The circumstances of one's birth are irrelevant. It is what you do with the gift of life that determines who you are." Mewtwo also said that Pokemon and Humans could never live together, and we all know how that turned out... Either way, if you asked Andrew for advice he probably couldn't hear you through his headphones, so you'd ask four or five more times to no avail and eventually figure out what you needed on your own, but you could tell his heart would've been in the right place and that he was teaching you the valuable lesson of making your own decisions. Andrew is definitely the kind of friend you want in your corner, though, because life is an ugly, dark place not to have a best friend, and Andrew this is what Andrew excels at, being that good friend.

Molly A. Solmonson

Surface Warfare Officer

Hailing from the snowy town of Anchorage, AK, we never thought our very own Eskimo would make it through the sweltering Annapolis heat during Plebe Summer. Not only did she make it through, but she proved to all of us how tough she really is (don't challenge her in ground-fighting…or at Sly Fox). Throughout our four years together, she didn't let a broken femur, a bloody nose, leaky kidneys, or torn ligaments stop her from rocking skyscraper heels. Whenever we needed a shoulder to cry on, a good laugh, or a shopping buddy, Molly was always there for us. Ms. Solomon, Solomonson, Salamander…will anyone ever get it right? Probably not. Can you fit a pink body pillow, three comforters, and an animal print blanket in a state room? Molly will find a way. Wherever her path takes her, we know that Molly will live life to the fullest. Best of luck, SWO mama!

I AM THE STREET DREAM!
I AM THE STREET DREAM!

Noah K. Tobias

USMC Ground

When Noah arrived on I-day, gone were the days of wearing flip flops, drinking coronas, and taking in the beautiful sunset of the Virgin Island's scenic beachfront. Instead, he was tossed into Bancroft, where rap music and memories of the street life were his escape. Noah was quickly introduced to innumerable things he had never seen before, like Gatorade, country music, Burger King, and dress shoes. During the first few months at the academy, he developed a close relationship with Jeezy and 50 Cent, claiming they would even wake him up every morning. After overcoming 48 hours of anxieties, Noah soon earned the nickname "The Street Dream," and his callsign stuck with him through the highs and lows of the next four years. Leading the company from the front as Academics Officer, he knows a thing or two about studying hard and studying often. You could even spot him reading his textbooks on the Mac D elliptical instead of going to class. Over the years, Noah has mastered the perfect balance of Netflix and schoolwork, though he suffered through many a weekend in nothing but his underwear... 'Bear Grylls style,' Noah has also learned to survive on little sustenance for up to three days at a time, eating only the hot wings he can scrounge from the trashcan. On any given weekend, you could find Noah and his trusted friend Nick Harding making sure any woman on the east coast above the age of 40 was completely satisfied. Noah and Nick were inseparable, it was if they were the same person providing love and laughs for all; truly a daily revelry. In the end, this kind hearted island boy obtained his dream job. Through it all, he was always willing to sacrifice himself for others, no matter what the level of grime. Noah Tobias is a perfect fit as a leader in the Marine Corps.

Scott K. Wood

USMC Ground

He comes from a land far far away. A little place that some people call Okinawa. Exiled for scoring too many goals with the Okinawa Sniperz, he left his motherland along with the only woman he ever truly loved, his monster Godzilla. He traveled to the US of A to resurrect the bender riddled hockey rinks of America. With a big long black Bauer hockey stick he could turn any open puck into pure net. He spent four years spying on the taller species, sleeping through boring classes, and figuring out his real name. He decided to stay in America and join the few, the proud, the Marines. Ha-yutt!

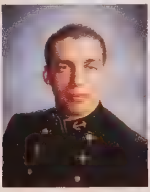
David M. Yonkings

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Built in a secret factory mere days before I-Day, the YonkingsBot2000 took USNA by storm. For someone that cannot remember anything before Academy life, he is quick to bring up potentially embarrassing moments of others. A machine of many talents, he aces class, rocks the bench and dominates the League. However, his firmware has only a partially complete knife fighting update. This makes him unexplainably attracted to knives, but incapable of using them properly. Thankfully, his targeting computer was correctly calibrated, so he's not that bad at shooting. He will enjoy life controlling other machines in the EOD community, so long as those Foster-Millers don't ostracize him for using only tuna and protein powder as fuel; at least he'll always have some C-4 handy. If so, he's set up for a follow-on career, as he's well "studied" on NCIS operations and procedures, and enjoys making PPTs for fun.

Class of 2014

Wesley Althaus



Bradley Andre

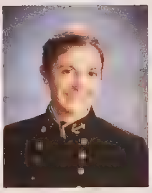
Brett Beeson

Cameron Benner

Teronda Brown

Beatricejoyce Cayaban

Derek Deeb



Cassandra Fach

Jorge Garate

Roberto Garcia

Andrew Geisler

Randall Gregorius

Shane Hass

Aaron Hill

Elizabeth Hoerner

Steven Jordan

John Karam

Dylan Kelly

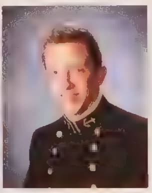
Ann Kitzmiller

Christian Link

Eric Markovich

Connor Murphy

John Powers



Mark Powers

Christopher Reynolds

Thomas Schofer

Colin Schuhlein

Jonathan Shepherd

Mark Steblein

Emily Strong

Ian Sugg

Zachary Tingley

Jason Torres

Christopher Voss

Erin Walsh

Johnny Watson

Timothy Winkler

Yoseph Yoo

Class of 2015

Daniel Antoun

Tyler Barker

Adrian Barnaby

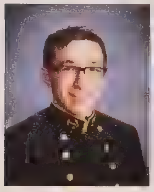
Jillian Benson

Brianna Bilunas

Thomas Buffone

Donald Burton

Anthony Covington



Dominic Deganutti

Ivan Delacruz

Nestor Diazordaz

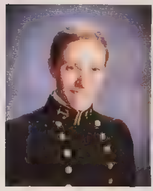
William Eisenhauer

Enrique Ferrez

Angel Garcia

William Hampton

Michael Hayes

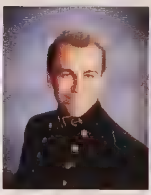


Erica Hippe

Demetrious Jackson

Stanton Johnson

Gee Jorde

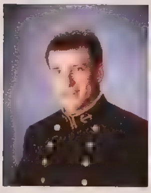


Vincent Larocca

Charles Lauer

William Lavis

James Magno



Robert Mather

Brian Mihaljevich

Dennis Morral

Luke O'hara

Conner O'neill

Thomas O'neill

Zachery Rafter

John Ruck

Angelique Sawick

Chelsea Schifferle

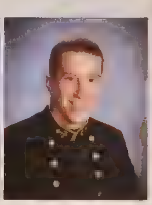
Jakob Stoner

William Strauss

Kyle Thompson

Joseph Tom

Thomas Udan



Colby Wagner

Class of 2016

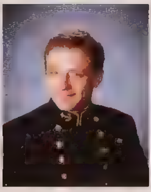
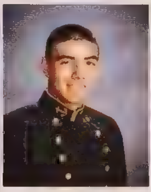
Brandon Ah

Daniel Alcorndominguez

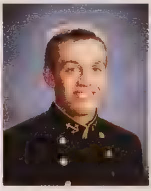


Thomas Armistead

Samuel Baker



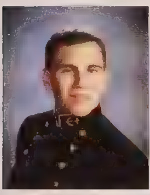
Jacob Brown



Samuel Bruce

Angela Carandang

Samantha Casey



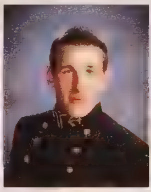
James Cooke

Dean Corbett

Dryn Dubois

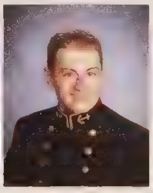
Ryan Escobedo

Sarah Fink



Jonathan Fleming

Susan Funk



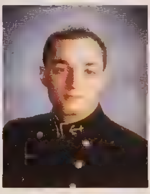
John Givens

Peter Guo

Kathleen Heinbach

Brock Hightower

Matthew Hite

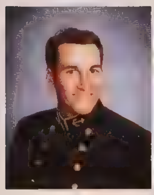


Karl Huey

Aaron Hull

Jamence Jenkins

Jacqueline Kennedye



John Lapoint

Alexander Lee

Hans Loewen

Jonathan Lomberg

Jeffrey Martino

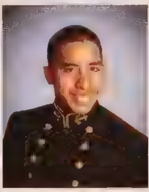
Naomi Ngalle

William Ostic

Austin Prettyman

Sean Reaver

Jose Rojasrodas



Austin Sanchez

Alexander Sha

Weldon Shaffer

Nathaniel Webb

Company

8

Audrey C. Arvin

Surface Warfare Officer

Indeed, though you are handsome, your good sense is worth even more. God never made such a wise creature, nor one so noble in spirit. When I have you near me, I would not give a marble for the whole world. You are my delight and my diversion. You are my solace and my comfort. You are my robust chortle and my most treasured friend. I knew from the moment I spread onto thy holy, untouched floor of 5-3, all of thou's deeply treasured belongings in honor of the holiest of holy days (plebe indoc) in 2009, the year of our Lord, we would become the dearest of friends. If I had to sum up in words what I imagine when I think of Chey Arvin, I would have to say... yoooooo! Basketball killa. Galway Girl. Indiana (Children of the Corn). Scene It? Domination. Emergency Brake. Scary thriller movie obsessions. Colm Wilkinson. There ain't Nothing 'bout You. Harmonica=Jurassic Park. "I moustache you a question but I'm shaving it for later." Merlin. Tripping Cody to the floor at deck plate. Loud. Great smile. 36-24-36. Pun champion. Doing stuff in the WORK TRUCK. Run, You fools! LIVE LOVE MEOW. USS Shiloh! South of Heaven, West of Hell. Steerage Pizza. Boston Crème Pie, Sharing optional. Hurricane swim in the Severn. Jafar, Jafar He's our man, if he can't do it GREAT! Obi-Wan Kenobi and Qui-Gon Jinn... or is it Ewan McGregor and Liam Neeson? We're all a little weird and life's a little weird, and when we find someone whose weirdness is compatible with ours, we join up with them and fall in mutual weirdness and call it LOVE. Can't wait for Japan and our next three years together! Semper Fi DO OR DIE!

Zak E. Baker

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Annie R. Barry

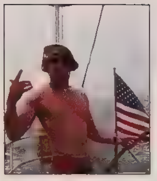
USMC Ground

Annie Rae Barry is our resident Southern Belle and Confederate sympathizer (The South will rise again! Right guys?). After disappearing from 9th Company under umm… mysterious circumstances she joined the illustrious 8th Company. But being a true Pirate at heart she could be found plundering 5-3 for its booty on a regular basis. A romantic at heart, she could be found many a weekend admiring the stars of Annapolis (or the boots of her friends) on her sponsor's dock. Her early developed affinity for ingesting questionable pineapple flavored lab experiments gone wrong and her mad scientist side led her to find a home in the Chemistry Department here at USNA. Her extreme motivation and strict "adherence" to the rules placed her on the fast track to be commissioned as an officer in the Marine Corps. We will miss her colorful video gaming insults and we wish her the very best as she ventures off into the Corps. Go Cats!

Leslie C. Beatrice

Surface Warfare Officer

When she's not putting on mascara in the mirror (or putting it ON the mirror), Leslie Beatrice can be found almost anywhere but her room. A hard charger even firstie year as a plebe summer company commander, member of regimental staff, and President of both the Chinese Culture Club and the Joy Bright Hancock Organization, Leslie truly put Rosie the Riveter to shame. For four years, the giggles have been endless in our room from the Milky Way Battles to trying to hack into Rats of Rickover. There are, however, some things about Leslie that will remain a mystery for the rest of time, including her ardent Bieber obsession, fear of placing her backpack on the floor, and the zillions of all-nighters she has pulled. Well, our little French Fry Connoisseur, it is sad to part ways after four fun years, but the Surface Warfare community is truly lucky to have such an organized, hard charger serving in it's ranks. Til we meet again...

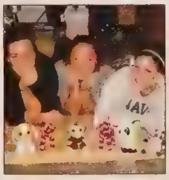


Michael P. Birnbaum

Submarines

Michael Philip Birnbaum's love of the Naval Academy burns brighter than Triton Light. He became the most involved midshipman within the company, maybe even the brigade. Training, heck yes. Chow calls, better do 'em. Chopping, 'oorah. Mike decided that SEALs or EOD would have been too easy for him. Instead, he will rebrand the submarine officer as a hard running, bench pressing, sweaty palmed, beast of a man. A year from now you will find Mike using EM3 Smith as his partner for buddy squats while he stands watch in maneuvering. Michael will not forget his time at the Naval Academy because he plans to get a tattoo of the crest and the following words, "Running shoes and Mother B, my only friends." Mike is a great friend and will make a great officer.

Kerri L. Bortz



USMC Pilot

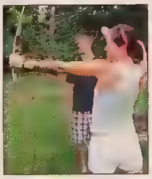
Despite the "Bortz Candy Curse," Kerri Bortz continues to rise to the top and shine as a perfect example of character at the Naval Academy. She's so productive, her roommates often hope she'll even delve into their own assignments. Kerri is one of the most selfless and kind-hearted people at USNA, but what really sets her apart is her positive attitude and great sense of humor. It is hard to imagine our sweet Kerri will learn how to kill (YUT!) but we know she will be successful. If you are ever lost in the woods, pray it's not alone with this young motivator, and, furthermore, do not expect her to kill a critter for food. In fact, Kerri much prefers trail mix and dark chocolate, and the occasional hairy peanut butter egg. Lasagna night is NEVER a joke. We love you Kerri and we wish you all the best as a Marine Corps Pilot.

Patrick G. Collins

Submarines

"Two things people don't want to hear about themselves… lies and the truth" -Patrick G. Collins. Pat Collins suffers from small calves and an obsession to do biceps everyday in the gym. He is the epitome of an "ATHLETE."No really he's a golfer, a true specimen of athletic prowess. He expresses his love for his team, wait "Team… What team?" by describing them as a collective group of individuals who happen to compete against one another. While most men enjoy watching action thrillers or even horror films, he prefers to watch romantic comedies in his room with his bros. He is truly a profound individual. If you could check his tweets you will find quotes like "No one said it was going to be easy" and "only God can judge me." He strongly believes that his quotes have a deep philosophical meaning, with the hope of one day to truly inspire someone (which will never happen). If you're ever trying to find him on a Friday or Saturday evening, the first place to check is Acme. He may not be the most talented individual, but he definitely has the most passion and heart of anyone on this planet.

Jacqueline A. Drew



Navy Pilot

Jacqui Drew was an outstanding Midshipman at the Academy, where she will be graduating with an M.D. in self-medicating her many sports ailments. Jacqui will always be remembered for her glee-club winning smile, even while getting slapped with food products. With her stealth and ability to withhold information, she has the potential for a second career in the FBI working undercover at Jackie's Packie down on Route 34. While not on the field or the ice, she moved to challenging strangers to Hunger Game scenarios and ghosting tournaments… Spoiler alert…. she always wins… b#$$%.

Sarah B. Early

Surface Warfare Officer

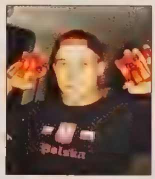
Sarah Burnes Early is the definition of "swo-mama." From sailing the high seas during YP summer training, to conning for the Chinese, she's done it all. Most at home at Cancun Cantina, Sarah lives for the dancefloor and "Gettin You Home". She can often be seen sitting at a King Hall table, talking to her besty long after everybody else has left. If you don't catch her there, chances are that she's standing on 5-1, still with her besty, discussing the political state of this great nation. She's one of the hardest working and most sincere people you'll ever meet. However, if you insult her Gamecocks, be prepared for war. We've been through some crazy times, but there's not a single person I'd rather have as my BLESTY.

David A. Fernandez

USMC Pilot

David "El Gorilla" Fernandez hails from the beautiful country of Texas. A stellar plebe during plebe summer, he was never on time to any evolution earning him the name "Last Plebe". As a prospective Marine Corps Aviator, David gives true meaning to Drake's lyrics, "Started from the bottom…now we're here". Throughout his career at the Naval Academy, David has been the president of the Latin/American Studies Club, 8th Company PMO, an exceptional salsa dancer, and an up and coming rapper (insert video here). When "El Gorilla" is not out being the face for Latin dancing across every poster in USNA and DTA, you can find him in his room constantly surrounded by food watching his favorite TV show 'Archer' on full blast, which is where his Marine Corps Training takes place. Once you get to know David, you will see that he is more than a multi-talented Latin/American superstar. Dave is truly a loyal, caring, kind, trustworthy, respectful, and generous friend. He puts people before himself and understands the importance of friendship and hard work. His optimism and respect will carry him far in life and make him a great leader in the Marine Corps. Thank you for being a solid friend and someone that could be relied on. Semper Fi, brother!

Eric E. Filipowicz



Submarines

Eric "EDWIN" "Flip" "Flippy Floppy" Filipowicz, the true Movie Buff of this generation. "Seriously," everyday with this guy is like a recap/reliving all of the best movies and lines. Master of the gaming world. Out of 591 friends, he has only three true friends- computer gaming, drinking, and occasionally pretending he is a beat producer. He even knows the differences between a quarter beat, a half beat and other beats... whatever that means. He is so dedicated to these three ideals that he will even neglect general cleanliness that a normal roommate should have. Years from now people will praise his genius for creating the ultimate shirt folding machine. He's great with playing hide and seek in the hall and will always wins when playing chicken on highways. Sleeping is not an option for this man unless it's after a goodnight's worth of reading the finest novels of Marvel or DC Universe. Other than this, this guy is a talented dancer and can be caught making dance videos in FLEETERS DANCE STUDIO. Once you get past all of this though, you generally will find a loyal friend whose always down to do anything and will always have your back. Look out for this guy in the SEMPER DEEP community! Good! GGGGG GGGG GGGGOOOOODDDD!

Bryan P. Fleischer

USMC Ground

From flasks to tats, priors to friends' Ring Dance dates, Paul Fleischer has a knack for a good story. SoCal born and bred, the East Coast, and anything associated with it, is no match for Bryan's superior standards and style. Team Captain of General Science majors (IT just wasn't cool enough), Paul is one of the more rested individuals in the Brigade of Midshipmen. That is not to downplay his work ethic, however, as Bryan has the sculpted muscles of a Greek god. Paul reaches this conclusion himself on a daily basis after admiring particular muscle groups in the mirror for no less than one hour a day and then ensuring his roommates partake in the ritual. As honest as they get, Paul will tell you if he doesn't like you. For most of us, this is the case. For the proud few that he dares to associate with, he is as loyal as it gets until particular occassions like Ring Dance, International Ball, or a bad nap day. Even with the chiseled jaw line and lifted Jeep of the most stereotypical Marine, Bryan once dabbled with the idea of being a pilot. Concluding his hairline just wouldn't cut it, he decided to join the Few and the Proud where he will remain until a spot opens up for a PE teacher at the local elementary school.

Darien C. Green

Surface Engineering Duty

Darien "Slick Dome" Green, a descendant of Steven (Samuel L. Jackson in Django), may be one of the sloppiest Midshipmen in history. But seriously, if you have ever met him, you have wondered how and why his head is so shiny. His head has twice the amount of grease as a steerage pizza. If during your encounter and you weren't blinded by his forehead, you probably realized the disgusting food stains on his Ike jacket. Darien needs to realize that "she may be the best it's going to get for him, but he is definitely better off alone." Darien Green always looks out f8or "the man in the mirror" because if he doesn't, nobody else will. If you weren't able to catch Darien in the hall, you may have seen him on the Rugby field, frequently getting stripped or being run over by dudes half his size. If you're lucky enough to catch this lazy Midn out on liberty, look no further than the herd of buffalo in the room. His standards are low, and hischicks' weights are high. If you walk over and listen to his conversation, you will probably hear him telling the beast he just met that he's 27, a test pilot for NASA, recent graduate of MIT, and that he loves them. People often have obsessions and/or addictions, but nothing compares to Darien's 2010-2012 peanut butter craze. Frequently ate jars of peanut butter on several occasions. In all honesty though, Darien is a great friend and will always lend a helping hand. Unless whatever you need costs anything, in which case you are screwed. Love you brother.

Conor C. Hozey

Surface Warfare Officer

Conor Hozey is the hardest working person at the Naval Academy. His work ethic has been described by some as "lacking," "incredibly abhorrent," and "non existent." Never before has such praise been said about a midshipman. Conor did not take Nav II three times because he failed ROR. The real reason was because he needed to teach the Japanese Instructors how things were done in 'Murica. When we received our 2/C loans, Conor took it upon himself to give us all a financial responsibility brief (being the 4.0 econ major that he is). The most important thing he told us was, "buy a reasonable car." Conor's beefed up F-150 4x4 that gets an impressive 6 miles to the gallon is a perfect example of his prose. Without a doubt, Conor will always be remembered for coining the phrase, "I'm out of standards because the standards aren't good enough for me."

Kyle L. Kelly

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Karl K. Knight

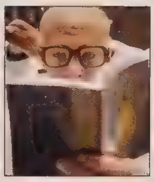
Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Joseph L. Livi

USMC Ground

Hailing from the vibrant metropolis of Fairlawn, New Jersey, Joseph (emphasis on the JOE) Livi believes in three things: a balanced Paleo-caveman-diet (assuming cavemen were able to go to Whole Foods), the fact that one can never have too many (or too big) knives, and owning a larger tire than Tosh. As a valued member of the Infantry Skills Team, Joey has trained his body and mind to physical and mental perfection. This perfection did not come without effort; it took countless hours of log PT, ruck runs, tire flips, and more. It didn't stop there - this dedicated young sea warrior continued his training in the deep recesses of his mind by recreating war scenarios or shouting out commands to hoards of magic rabbits in his sleep. This all-around stud, who'll have the sickest flow in the Corps, will make use of these skills learned here at the good ol' boat school and bring great credit upon himself and the Marine Corps.

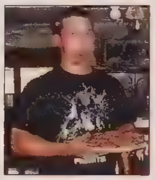


Jarrett S. Loftis

USMC Pilot

Jarrett Loftis's zest for life is impressive to say the least. He wakes up every morning as the hard charging devil dog that he is. Sadly, this zest fades after an hour or two requiring Jarrett to climb into his rack no less than four or five times a day. Besides being a successful wrestler and fighter, he has also been described as a man of diction and rhetoric. His version of the English language is a thing of beauty, "da dirka durr, da dirka durr, dey took r jerbs." A proud southern boy, Jarrett, will make a fine Marine Corps Officer and will always be a loyal and truly great friend.

Angelo A. Lonero II



Navy Pilot

"Lowman" is a true stallion and the biggest Jabroni to ever have resided in Bancroft Hall. He hails from "the Bay Area" and reminds anyone who will listen. He survived NAPS 09 by eating burritos and using his Italian charm to court his brother's wife's sister, Kim. His fantasy teams are always the best and his pick'em picks are always right. Master of the midnight vending machine. He shovels burgers and wings into his mouth and scares innocent bystanders in DTA yelling, "I'm a monster". When not pretending to be some marathon runner on the East Coast he enjoys being back home in San Jose to hang out with stray Poodles and go to biker bars to fit in with the local A's fan base. Angelo will be a great asset to the Aviation community and will surely give pepperchini burns to any enemy he finds in our skies overhead.

Luke P. Lumsden

Surface Warfare Officer

Lumsden Lumsden bo bumsden banana nana fo dumsden, fee fie co-comesdin…Lumsden! A man who hails from the tropical island of Jamaica (unless he likes you enough to tell you otherwise), a compassionate man who always has time to help out a friend…when he's not trying to find his sense of urgency. Never had good bearing, especially when faced with a Mexican hot pepper, but he will surely return the favor of holding a house party for him by inviting you to a College-Park run at 2330 with six other dudes in a tiny car (fail). Europe for Christmas? You got it! Remember breaking the chair at the squad leaders' dinner… in the MIDDLE of the guys speech (cuz the rest of us do)? The first and last football MO with you in North Carolina, walking MILES to the hotel, stranded with nothing but a cab to a deserted club for an afterparty (another fail). The Duke of 'Dillo's, the Prince of Pussers for all of your countless nights of partying, including a make-up 21st Birthday bash for a married companymate. Caught me tryna sneak out of The Devil Inside. Insanity with two other dudes behind closed curtains, sweating, panting, grunting…good times. Keeping me updated with Beyonce's recent photoshoots, music videos, and other celebrity events. Warning friends about bad women and being 8th Company's relationship counselor after seeing us mess up. Paying attention to the small things. Inviting the forgotten everywhere. Compliments, compassion, craziness, music and Bancroft dance moves. Realizing true friends for life the last year and making sure this shit don't end with USNA…Fair winds and following seas partner. Japan's about to have a blast!

Patrick G. McCrary

Naval Flight Officer

Garrett “Tunechi” “McCarthy” McCrary. This man rocks like a wagon wheel. He’s a ghetto cowboy that rolls deep from North Carolina. His rhyming lyrics spit hot fire and jump shot descends from the heavens. His music playlist will rock you to sleep in the late hours of the night. In the end, he has the best uniform, the cleanest room standards, and is always right. To challenge this man’s Southern hospitality, will result in a tongue lashing comparable to that of Lil’ WWWEEEZZZYYYY. Garrett "G" McCrary is always quick with a retort. Never afraid to speak his mind at any opportunity, his Southern accent is unmistakable. He's the most fun person to go out with and is open to most ideas. You can find him on the dance floor shakin what his momma gave him, or on the mic spittin hot fire. He will NEVER BACK DOWN from a challenge. Whether it be a straight shot of fire water or the Tough Mudder, he doesn't say no. He wakes up an hour before any morning, snoozing his alarm at least 10 times before actually getting up. He always makes sure the trash is taken out, even if he has to drag you out of bed to do it. Look out for this brand new NFO down in Pensacola.

Connor C. McCubrey

USMC Ground

Connor went from Varsity Soccer player to overweight NARP. His career at the Naval Academy was like looking at an evolution poster backwards. During Plebe Summer, he bragged to his squad of his high school sweetheart who lived down the hall, but unfortunately she desired someone with more upperclass privileges. Always the romantic, he moved on from this love to another whose nickname shall never be repeated (shame on you Connor)...He was the baby of the room that stayed together all 4 years, and was by far the smartest. His intellect and maturity took him to Georgetown where he continued to excel...and wife hunt. He truly is a middle age man stuck in a young man's body, he has set the standard for maturity, Godliness, and eating habits in our room. He will be a great addition to the Marine Corp and will surely bring wisdom and discernment. We love you baby Cube...BF and DQ. Semper Fi Devil Dog!

Jacob I. McDaniel

Submarines

Being the wiz-kid that is Jake McDaniel aka Prince Yacob aka Mc deezy is, has lead him through an awesome Naval Academy Career. Jake's love for the stars is only out shined by his love for his three roommates, Joe, Mike, and most of all Roa. Spending many hours studying astrophysics and playing portal, this bright young scholar has honed his social skills and earned his place in Admiral Rickover's great nuclear fleet.

John Michael Nurthen II

Civil Engineer Corps

John Michael Nurthen... or is it John-Michael Nurthen. Who knows! Not even he. However, those who know him best, affectionately know this Malvern, PA native as "Nur". Not your typical meathead, Nur is also an avid thespian/musician/dancer. Sound too good to be true ladies!? Judge for yourself. Born in the wrong decade this hairmetal-rockstar-to-be started down the wrong path, as he was never afraid to throw on the good ol' mud flaps. The epitome of modesty, Nur would never be caught in any vain act, especially in three day old undies in front of the mirror... There's no doubt, however, when he puts his mind to it, there's no one in the world who works harder than Nur. He is a great roommate, teammate, and an even better friend. We'll miss those long nights watching Entourage and Dexter. Hey Nur, turn off the toilet! L.V.D.E.V.D.

John H. Ojard

Navy Pilot

If you heard something moving around in the hallways at 4 in the morning, chances are that was John Ojard! Johnny boy Ojard, OJ da juiceman, Juice, tree, brosidon, bromigo, duder, broticus and bobiganush are all common names when referring to this stud. John was a member of the Men's Swimming and Diving Team. Being a part of this elite group of guys meant complete dedication of mind and body, and countless number of torture sessions, also referred to as practice. If you think that took up his entire life and time, you would be badly mistaken. Juice was also a Systems Engineer major. But it continues, he also has the body of an Abercrombie model, so ladies watch out, this guys is smart, an athlete, and looks like a roman god (triple threat). Besides swimming miles every day for fun and studying to build his very own time-machine, OJ da juiceman can be found watching a countless number of movies and eating more steerage and sushi than you will in your entire life! John is a great friend who would go out of his way to help someone. He is a dedicated, committed, caring, funny, and outgoing dude. Brosidon is pretty much a boss in every aspect.

Francisco J. Perez

Civil Engineer

Francisco Perez hails from the sunny tropics of Puerto Rico, though judging by his impeccable English you'd never guess it. Perez may seem somewhat introverted (he referred to most of his classmates as "this guy" until 2/C year) but his weekend excursions into DTA are the stuff of legend. You can find him any Friday-Sunday wearing all-black, tight-fitting clothes fresh off the boat from Milan. He has a way with Latina au pairs, who comprise his entourage and he isn't afraid to pour excessive $$$ into Annapolis' finest dining establishments. Perez lives for the weekend, so much so that his week is devoted to sleeping, eating vegetables (only), and blasting contemporary Spanish Pop (which none of his roommates enjoy or understand). Where next, you might ask? Francisco is headed to L.A. for work as a Civil Engineer- but we all know that the only thing he'll be engineering out West are more club extravaganzas than you could imagine.

Michael J. Pollard

Submarines

Michael Pollard, AKA Dogcatcher, AKA Dirty Mike, but affectionately known by all as simply Mike, will go down in history as one of the most racially confused people to ever graduate from this fine institution. We'll never be sure what the exact figures are, but we know its somewhere in the low 90s for white percentage. If you can't find him in Rickover working the Human Powered Submarine or in his room crying about all the homework he has to do, you'll be sure to find him at Pusser's (his favorite bar in DTA) sucking down Long Islands. Many a night Mike has spent diligently scrolling through Facebook, or video chatting with his lady friends, but make no mistake, this man knows how to get his work done. Whether that's drinking out in DTA… or in College Park… or in Georgetown… or at George Mason… Mike is a man of concrete work ethic. Mike is a dedicated and loyal friend. There is no one more dependable. He has excelled while at the academy, displaying the rare ability to both get good grades and find time to hang out with friends. He even showed us how musically talented he is. (Yea we didn't forget about that little one year stint with D&B, you aren't fooling anyone.) Mike is someone you can count on to help with homework and plan the baddest Ring Dance weekend anyone's ever been a part of. We all look forward to seeing you again at the reunions and hitting the bars… let's just stay away from Looney's from now on…

Jonathan S. Poole

Surface Warfare Officer

Jonathan Simes (have you ever heard a name like that?) Poole hails from the uppity town of Yarmouth, Maine. Held back through pre-school, 1st grade, and 9th grade (?!), it's no wonder that Jon (a former student at Trinity College) took so well to Navy. Yes he could really take one on the chin- no really he has a big chin. This combined with his dogged determination made him the Brigade Commander during the Fall semester. Despite this and other major achievements, Jonathan unfortunately failed to achieve his highest goal: playing every sport the Naval Academy offers. Jonathan participated in crew, rugby, sailing, fieldball, marathon, club cycling, and intramural soccer- a noteworthy achievement. When Jon isn't tailing his two pals- the Commandant and Mike Birnbaum- he can be found studying for his major- theoretical mathematics: aka fantasy number rearrangement or simply gibberish. Some other hobbies include- wood furniture, Joshua Chamberlain, spending time in the friend zone (he's done this for years), not lifting, making friends with "scrambled eggs", and neglecting Brigade Commander responsibilities for "How I Met Your Mother". A true Mainer, Jon will take to the seas as a SWO based out of Everett, WA. We wish him all the best!

Daniel C. Quinn

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

LT Keefe is the only person uncool enough to like Danny for his personality. All his other friends are simply a result of Mama Quinn's Bacon-Bribery. Despite his grotesque, hairy body, he has managed to move through the water for four years while kissing up to Capt Jarrett enough to become the one who rules them all- the NMSD Team Captian. While his involvement in swimming was his main focus, especially when compared to academics, he broke the swimmer stereotype and found himself attracted to girls. He won over many an Irish lass- some were thin, but others were mids. The best were sisters of roommate's girlfriends...When he wasn't breaking hearts he could be found in a crooked front-lean-and-rest due to his limp wrist. All the while the wrist was enough to get him a seat amongst the elite with the Navy EOD. Hooyah! Danny carried his NAPster roommate through plebe summer (but will never know him as well as he could have...) and stuck loyally to his 3-man for all 4 years. His roommates lived in such constant fear of his impressive PRT scores that they allowed him to keep his pee bottles wherever he wanted, his snot rockets could remain on the sink, and they didn't even mind when he rummaged through his seemingly hundred of pills at 5:30 in the morning. Danny, the EOD community will be a better one with you in it. We love you-NMSD+BF and CM. Your triceps are small.

Antonio C. Roa

Surface Warfare Officer

Antonio Roa has several interesting nick names, such as "Casa-Roa," "Drunk-Roa," and the "SWOfather" all of which are well deserved for obvious reasons. Roa is a Brigade Boxing Champion. He's a lightweight both inside and outside the ring. He was only knocked out once, after pounding down two beers. Roa is the definition of Napoleonic complex, but at least he has a big heart. You might find Roa in the gym commanding his arms to grow, but in the end, Roa has no muscle definition at all. He's extremely Asian! Roa was born in Guam and is of Filipino descent. Roa is an Information Technology major, which means that he spends all his time watching movies, TV, and sleeping. It's a strenuous life, and Roa has been selfless enough to take one for the team. Everyone that has ever met Roa likes him, no matter how much they wish they didn't. Overall, Roa is someone you always enjoy being around and there's never a dull moment.

Samuel J. Ross

Surface Warfare Officer

Swotivated. That sums it up. Sailing was the passion, along with the "raccoon" eye tan. Never shy of adventure he had a "cutaway" after only 14 jumps, which he executed flawlessly, and then proceeded to get right up on the next available load. Out in Hawaii, Sam will be loving the beach, the surfing, the skydiving, diving, and sailing. Oh, and Sam will be thrilled to be patrolling the high seas and defending the flag.

Erich P. Schwamb

Navy Pilot

Schwamb Bomb. Never just right, it's too cold or too hot. Would you walk around your house looking like that?...Uh yeah. Grandfather clocks, no way, it's way too small there is no way we will all fit...Lets go to A's...carne asada taste as good coming up as it did going down?...Send a carrier pigeon...Let's go surfing, or fishing, or go to Europe...3-3! 3-3!...Sleep anywhere, anytime...Cupcakes on his birthday...didn't know it was his birthday.

Cody M. Smith

Naval Flight Officer

After traveling the world for years unsuccessfully as a nomadic tape recorder salesman, Cody Smith was lost and confused. That was all until Goose's ghost visited him in bed one fateful night, telling him he must become a NFO. The advice was all Cody needed for direction in his life. He showed up at the Naval Academy's Induction day for the class of 2013, unfortunately he was unaware that he actually needed to apply for acceptance. He was able to find uniforms from a dumpster and sneak into plebe summer. Indeed, there is no actual record of Cody Smith being enrolled at this institution; nonetheless he still learned many lessons during his tenure. Always naïve, Cody remains unaware that he is not enrolled, but being he is so innocent, the administration decided to go along with Mr. Smith's childish beliefs rather than break his heart. They managed to secure a slot for him at flight school and forged four years of school records on his behalf. It has been a journey for this young wanderer, but it continues to be a rewarding one. He has wanted this chance his whole life and shows great promise as a future officer in Naval Aviation. His family friends wish him the best and are proud of his accomplishments. Good luck in the fleet el Diablo!

Nathaniel B. Valaik

USMC Ground

Don't let his size fool you, 'Tater Nate' is not a force to be reckoned with on bench press. However, as he'll be quick to point out, his meticulously shaven legs are legendary. This self-proclaimed "womanizer" has spent his last four years stealing the hearts of men and women alike. He is as particular about the physical form of those he pursues as he is about his own form in the gym. He has been known to ask prospective women to wear sandals on their first date so they can be thoroughly inspected for cankles. As a committed Arabic Major, he was a natural to pick up new languages. He easily transitioned to Marine jargon, learning how to properly apply "Semper Fi Devildog, yut yut oohrah motivate me, trackin?" Often sought out for his engineering prowess, Nate went as far as to rewrite the laws of physics and prove that the acceleration of gravity does actually depend on the weight of an object. However, he is not limited to mere academic or physical excellence, as his automotive knowledge of the extremely rare "Fordchevy" pickup proves unattainable to even the most experienced automotive enthusiasts. With this culmination of scholarly and physical excellence, when combined with the real-world experience he picked up surviving on the brutal streets of suburban Naperville, this nation is indeed in good hands. An avid lover of Pop Tarts and Nutrigrain bars, Tater Nate is a man that anyone would be proud to call friend.

Nicholas S. Waugh

Naval Flight Officer

Nick 'The Workhorse' Waugh a.k.a.Waffle, a.k.a. Sticky Nicky. It's difficult to come across this guy as he is often found studying diligently. Never wasting time watching ridiculous documentaries or playing Xbox, this remedials vet breezes through the day like he does the PRT. It's hard to imagine, but Nick always finds time throughout the day to catch up on extra rest up in his rack, reflecting on the knowledge he has gained in class coloring and fitting those square pegs in their square holes. Leading the Def Lep Lounge in NTA (Nap Time Acquired) this Maryland native has overcome adversity and will bring his charisma, wit, and good looks down to the sandy beaches of Pensacola, Florida. Ladies (or 32 year old lawyers) beware, if his patented eye-roll doesn't make those panties drop then you'll just have to get to know this loyal, fun-loving, great friend for yourself.

Dylan J. Wheeler

Navy Pilot

MIDN Dylan Wheeler, AKA Dyran Reerer, is the man to go to if you have a problem with your homework (specifically technical classes) and a true stickler for the rules. Dylan will be remembered for his always perfectly quaffed hair and the trail of tears from the lady victims it has left behind in these past four years. A four year member of the Varsity Baseball team and a Patriot League champ, if not on the baseball diamond or gym, Dylan can be found kicking back in his luxury office chair enjoying some Rebelution or Soja (and/or contemplating ancient Chinese Lore… or Japanese… or some kind of Mexican like that, I don't know…). Thanks to his incredible mother Sue, the Def Lepp Lounge was consistently stocked with healthy snacks. A truly loyal friend, Dylan may not be the first person you go to for help in Thermo… or EE… or Physics…or Calculus…or Chemistry… But he is the first person you call if you have a problem that actually matters. Pensacola look out, because the Novato Ninja is cleared for take-off. And whatever you do, don't you dare let him catch you with your hands in your pockets!

Adrian M. Bosch

Belize Defense Force

When Midn Bosch is not busy fighting off the Guatemalans defending his countries rightful claim, he can be found in the control systems class rooms working on his labs in Maury hall. Ever so helpful, Adrian always offered help to anyone who needed it, unless it was to proof read an English paper… in that case you were not in luck. This crazy Belizean went wild on the weekends; he could be found shooting pool in Dahlgren hall or in his room playing oovoo games with his sugar momma Cheryl. The frigid weather during the winter months left Midn Bosch terribly sick for most of his time here in the frozen tundra away from his warm climate with which he is accustomed. You will do great things in Belize and they are lucky to have you. Good luck and remember, run every day, eat right, and make sure your roommates are asleep first.

Alex S. Lizotte

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

When he's not carousing around town picking up the local women in good ole DTA, Midn Lizotte can be found in the weight room hitting it hard trying to add some muscle to that tiny frame. If the ladies down town don't pan out then the cold shower normally does. Alex cares about the standards, nothing can be out of place and if it is he'll let you know. If he's stressed or the room is too messy his OCD kicks in and you can find him with a broom in hand, he's definitely a good catch for the women who seek a domesticated man. Always making sure his shipmates know he's not a joe, or a bro, yet a self-proclaimed pro, "professional" in all he does. You can find him blasting his music or up late at night talking about his lady problems over some pillow talk. Most importantly, Alex loves his family and friends, embracing the corps motto "Semper Fidelis." This gung ho devil pup will make a great addition to the corps once he trades in his USNA text books for an M16A2 service rifle.

Class of 2014

Johncurtis Andrews

David Arnold

Parker Bailey

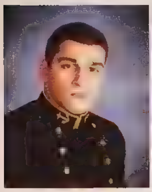
Jacqueline Barnum

John Blum

Elizabeth Corcoran

Daniel Cozad

Christian Dane



Zachary Duncavage

Michael Fineis

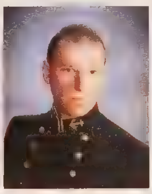
Sarah Fogleman

Robert Fusco

Gregory Gerlach

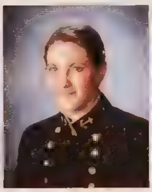
Kellie Hall

Brandon Hooper



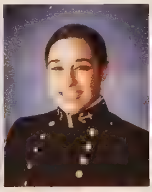
Alexander Kavall

James Mackovjak

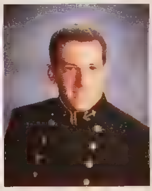


Shelby Mass

Luke Moragne



Saree Moreno



Kenneth Motsay

Arin Nunes

Brendan Obranski

Ethan Palmer

Tyler Pichard

Anthony Ramos

Grant Sawyer

Daniel Schneider

Matthew Sheeler

Spencer Wilson

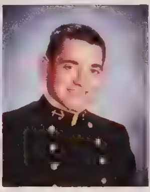
Julia Zook

Class of 2015

Paul Ahn

Kody Akers

Brent Aldridge



Shawn Allen

Jesse An

Gabriela Baez

Bradley Borosak

Nathaniel Brenon

David Capote

Justin Craft

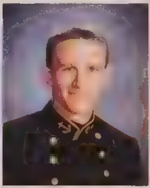
Jaret Darcangelo

Megan Delage

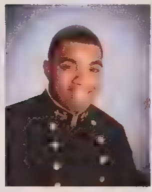
Marci Demyon

Joshua Denney

Patrick Diamond



Christopher Dunn



Christopher Ferguson

Michael Fuller

William Gurzynski

Samantha Himlin

Vicente Huerta

Jonathan Jackson

Andrew Kuo

Tilghman McCabe

David Parker

Norris Philleo

Graham Pugh

Timothy Sabean

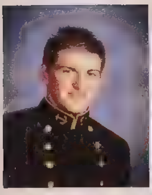
Tiffany Samia

Ethan Scully

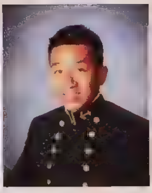
David Stevens

Douglas Swezey

Class of 2016



Zachary Adams

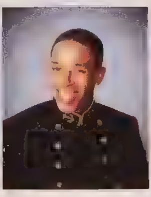


Charles Alcasid

Ian Anderson

Jake Barney

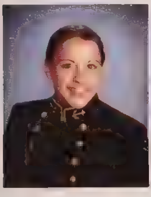
Garrett Boyce



Michael Brown

Robert Burg

Jonpaul Canclini



Christina Castro

Gary Coleman

Andrew Conn

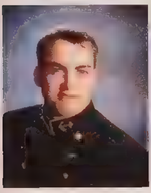
Addison Dishart

Carl Dowzicky

Courtney Fuller

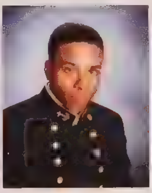
Kaitlyn Gallagher

Beau Gomez



Joshua Grace

Monica Hernandez

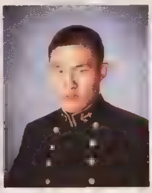


Micheal Hollar

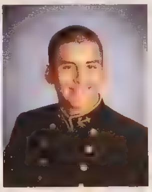
Nathan Johnson

Gabriel Knoll

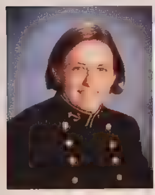
Christine La



Junmo Lee



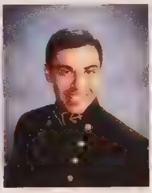
Aaron Loya



Danielle McKnight

Crystan McLymore

James McMasters



Ethan Metzler

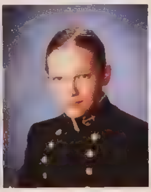
Devin Owens

William Parker

Jesse Pelletier

Nathan Ritter

Bernard Sarra



Sara Shea

Brian Starsman

Keith Wiegert

Jane Wissmann

David Won

NAVY

Company

9

Nicholas M. Amaral

Navy Pilot

Hailing from the Golden State, Nick Amaral was thrust into an unfamiliar world when he arrived in this place full of country music and sailing boats. The clean air surprised him too. But despite the initial shock, he was able to adjust to the strange environment and quickly duck under the radar. He was a dedicated Political Scientist, after he was told it was in his best interest to switch from a group one major of course. But he really did earn his degree even though his roommates would say otherwise (they were just jealous of his light workload). On the weekends, he made every effort to escape the Hall in an attempt to stay sane, though the time spent outside was hardly restful. However, he is looking forward to his government mandated sleep when he begins flight school in the fall.

Tyler D. Bruton

SEALs

Tyler Dane Bruton owes his success at the Naval Academy to his steadfast dedication to the rules. Tyler always wanted to be the best, so SEALs was the only choice. He could often be found studying the depths of YouTube or "schooling those darn n00bs" in Halo. In spite of his affection for Chief's office and the occasional imbibing of inebriating beverages, Tyler's smile and charm made it impossible to be mad at him for longer than 5 minutes. This success carried into service selecting SEALs, mostly due to his amazing ability to float in the water. Throughout his time at the Academy Tyler has always been a trusted and loyal friend who will gladly dedicate time to anyone in need… especially if he has any work that he should be doing instead.

Evan M. Campbell

USMC Ground

Evan "Earl" Campbell earned more nicknames in his college career than perhaps any other Navy football player in history. He's been fondly referred to on a daily basis as Snaggletooth, Earl, Captain Ahab, and Schlut, along with numerous combinations of the ones just mentioned. If you're lucky enough to be in DTA on a weekend you may witness the Earl hard at work whale hunting in Dock Street. August of senior year can probably best be summed up with the phrase: "I hope my ankle isn't messed up…oh crap, it is." Despite living only 20 minutes away for the last decade, Evan is perhaps the worst source of local knowledge about Maryland. His greatest accomplishment at the Academy was finally getting all his teeth again after an unfortunate "accident one night in Providence." Teammates claim this Devil Dog's future is filled with five daughters by a bossy little woman he'll meet while in Okinawa, but Evan would much rather prefer sons with a nice Australian woman. Like Father Like Son, FEBU, INAM, First Wave, four C's.

Katie L. Chambless

Navy Pilot

Katie Chambless a woman of many shoes and dresses. She can be seen lurking down to the Midstore parking lot at ungodly morning hours in order to let out her hidden aggression on a hockey puck instead of one her roommates. She is one hardcore party animal who will never pass up the chance to DD and strut her stuff in DTA or at the firstie club. As a political science major, she relies on cherry coke zero and monsters to help her get through writing whole papers the night before they are due. Just imagine if her Mormon beliefs did not prevent her from unleashing her full caffeine potential with coffee, she would be unstoppable. The aviation community needs to watch out for this caring-California-high-heel-wearing-dress-flaunting-blond.

Christopher C. Chang

USMC Ground

Rippin' shots, Foreign Cars, Expensive Steak, Walter, and guns. Lots of guns. That's all there really is to Chris Chang. Brotherhood. And he got ...

Justin A. Cruz

Surface Warfare Officer

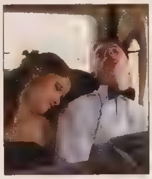
Justin hailed from Orlando Florida and came to the Naval Academy to fulfill his dream of becoming a Surface Warfare Officer. Justin joined the swotivated YP Squadron plebe year to finally get a taste of what being on a Navy ship was like. He quickly realized being a fly boy was his true calling in life. His laid back attitude and witty charm made him a great friend to have. As a roommate, there was never a dull moment to be had and laughter was always heard echoing from the room. His sheer dominance at racquetball and basketball defined his four great years of narpdom. His mark may have been left on USNA but that is just the beginning. Pensacola, here we come!

Tara M. Cutner

Surface Warfare Officer

Tara Cutner is a force that cannot be described in a mere few words, mostly because she would not know how to spell them. The brilliant mind behind the question "what is a dem-o-cra-cy?" and "where in the world is the Middle East?" she took the Political Science department by storm, scheduling a record amount of E.I., while maintaining a record low level of productivity and homework. Her sporty bohemian style could not even be stifled by the Deputy Commandant himself. On the weekends she can be seen sporting Lululemon on her way to either yoga, a health food store or some crazy rave, returning to the hall on Sundays magically tan and in need of crutches from dancing too hard. Never needing an excuse to make herself the center of attention, the SWO community needs to be advised that this herbal remedy junkie cannot be ignored. Did we mention her sporadic involvement in YP Squadron, Equestrian team, LDSSA, Catholic Midshipmen Club, and Debate Team? In short, the Tara-isms aren't going away and neither is she, make ready the boats she's coming aboard!

Michael R. Dodenhoff



Surface Warfare Officer

Mike is a country boy from the rough suburbs of Connecticut. His aspirations were set very high in high school and he came to the Naval Academy wanting to be a SWO Daddy. One quick semester with the illustrious YP Squadron changed that dream, and ever since he has had his eyes set on the sky and worked hard at setting himself up to be a Navy pilot. Mike always strived to set the best example possible during his time here, and he will continue to be a positive role model out in the fleet. His charismatic and comical personality will serve him well as a JO and beyond. He is rarely seen without a smile on his face and seems to always attract an equally lively group of close-knit friends wherever he goes. Flight school is the next stop for Mike, but the journey is far from over.

Jacob A. Fox

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Garrett L. Gray

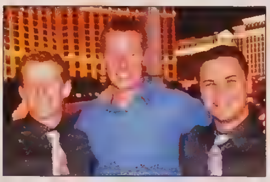
Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Garrett "G-baby" Gray is known for more than just his baby brother status among the class of '13 in 9th Company. Often considered one of the nicest guys to walk the planet, Garrett has been an essential part of the leadership and chill environment of 9th Company. Garrett splits his responsibilities pretty evenly between 9th Company, Baptist Collegiate Ministries, and napping, leaving little time for his Systems Engineering homework and Marathon practice. It took Garrett a while to figure out what he wanted to do with his career, but after painful screeners and long summer training events, he decided that playing with bombs sounded like a good life choice since he could focus on helping people rather than harming them. Good luck to ya Garrett; may your Bibles always be heavy and may you always choose the right wire.

Rebecca M. Guild

Naval Flight Officer

Becca is a loving and loyal friend who jumps at any opportunity to do a good deed for those who are closest to her. Her enthusiasm for life is inspiring. Academically, her devote studies in International Relations goes well beyond the classroom (typically resulting in monthly floral deliveries) and her studies often led her overseas. This Wisconsin native's love for her Green Bay Packers is only superseded by her passion for Oreos and keeping on the leading edge of all modern television series. This Spanish speaking Senorita with fiery locks will be heading to sunny Pensacola as a NFO. As her loving roommates, we can only hope she has enough sunscreen and access to cable television. XOXO.



Hunter C. Harrison

SEALs

Hunter "TAP" Harrison came to the academy for one reason, to be a SEAL. Wait, no cookies? Hoo-NO! Devil Dog all the way. Hunter embraced his inner Yut-Yut, imposing impossible standards on his inferior roommates, always wondering why they couldn't do just one more for Chesty, or pay him back the $1.73 for last semesters pizza. Hunter fully immersed himself in anything he started, and usually succeeded. 24 seasons of Top Gear? No sweat. Leadership in the brigade? Too easy. Become a firefighter? Check. Talking to women? Well…not so much. Gonzo throws everything he's got at any task in his way, be it telling a joke, ranting about capstone, leading Marines, leading midshipmen, leading his truck out of VGEP parking, leading… well you get the idea, or pursuing his great white buffalo Hunter will find a way to get it done. Enemies of America, beware the cookie monster.

Benjamin G. Hatef

Submarines

Four years together by the Bay Where Severn joins the tide, Then by the Service called away, We've scattered far and wide; But still when two or three shall meet, And old tales be retold, From low to highest in the Fleet Will pledge the Blue and Gold.

Abraham J. Hribar

Naval Flight Officer

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Kristina M. Keeling

USMC Ground

Future 2nd Lt A, Kris is a physical beast in pint size form. Don't let her blond hair and petite stature fool you. She gets her train on in the hall and in MacD, but when its the weekend, you'll find her all cozy next to a certain 12th company individual. Shes the only honors English major that wrote 100 capstones but still asks how to spell words. Here's to all the nights we were young, but couldn't set our room on fire. Kristina's honesty and trustworthiness makes her one of the best of friends that anyone could ever ask for.

Chadanthony H. Kenton

Surface Warfare Officer

After graduation, Chad will be going to our fleet as a surface warfare officer. Chad embodies the principles of what it means to be a true leader. He is a positive role model to his friends and he will continue to be a leader for his subordinates out in the fleet. Chad would definitely be considered a people person. This will help him in the fleet as he will be dealing with the lives of others on a daily basis. Chad is a great guy who can always be found lifting hard in the gym,socializing with his many friends, singing in the shower, or drawing up works of art. His talents will take him far in life, even after he leaves the Navy. He has worked tirelessly during his four years and will be a great asset to the fleet. He will leave a lasting impression on the academy and his future looks very bright.

Chun Liu

Taiwan Navy

Chun "Ben" Liu, 9th Company's Big Shark always has a smile on his face. From his first day of plebe summer until his last, he "didn't understand" a word of English and unfortunately could not answer any questions. Since then, he has adapted well to the American way of life and has left a little of Taiwan here in America and in our hearts. Always ready to go out on the town with his classmates after a successful day of napping, he can be compared to a panda bear that converts food into sleep and adorability. We'll never forget his stirring words about goldfish or his thoughts on soul food. Always willing to help his classmates with ironing shirts, folding clothes, Chinese or Thermo homework, and ask for help in every other course. Ben taught us all a lot about teamwork. For Ben most days in the navy were a "piece of cake." All in all he will be Taiwan's biggest officer if not their best and a great asset to their naval force.

Mark E. Moeller

USMC Pilot

Mark Moeller spent 8 years in the motivationally humid swampland of Camp Lejeune just to be able to say Annapolis summers are pleasant. A generally quiet and introspective individual, Mark sought solace in the vastness of the Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic Ocean on the pointy end of Navy 44s as a bowman on the Varsity Offshore Sailing Team. On the weekends, he either worked horses for the Equestrian Club (always in a questionable status itself) or drove back to Camp Lejeune to regain an appreciation for the Academy. Mechanical Engineering surely did not come easily to Mark. He shrugged off Thermo's incessant onslaught and then started an achievable Capstone project – building a mechanically superior desk for a professor (No, seriously). Assuming he's around, he'll put everything and anything aside to help out. The funny thing is, after TBS, Mark will probably be headed back to Camp Lejeune, and he couldn't be happier.

William G. Palm

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Eric L. Peart

Navy Pilot

The love of his life, the apple of his eye. So much love for Gatti. He became Bancroft's (almost) most wanted. Rock that sweater proudly, know you earned it. But not really. Bacon. Brotherhood

Christopher A. Porter

Surface Warfare Officer

Chris "Call Me Daddy" Porter: Athletic, attractive, intelligent, and (dare we say it?) perfect. His body was chiseled from granite and his brain was chiseled from whatever makes you really smart and stuff. These traits made more than one man question their sexuality. Too late fellas, he's a card carrying member of the 2% club after acquiring his gorgeous fiancé Taylor. Such a model midshipman came from meager beginnings though. But even after a brief affair with Tango Company, Chris bounced back and succeeded at every task he ever attempted, except service selecting SWO. The only man to ever be SARB'd twice, pilots saw his good looks and flow and knew where he belonged. But let's be honest, he's a child that wears superhero underwear and eats plain hamburgers, forever wondering why we won't let him eat Easy Mac three times a day (it's a square meal right?). We will hate to see him go, but we'll love to watch him leave.

Kelsey M. Ragsdale

Surface Warfare Officer

Kelsey Ragsdale defying all tradition, as is ironically tradition for her family, Kelsey came to the Naval Academy and fully embraced the Navy's watery ways. From Ocean Club President, to a skipper on the Sailing Team to Honors Oceanography, this Surface Warfare Officer has plenty of practice with sleep deprivation. While she struggled with waking up to the first, second, fifth, and seventh alarms, she somehow managed to make it everywhere on time, AKA 20 minutes early! Kelsey and her hair have come so far from her plebe nickname of BamBam to being the right hand woman to Ms. Anna Hart. As the constant supplier of music in our room, we are sure going to miss you, our Dance Parties, TAPS adventures, and Cherry Coke Zero.

Richard Rodriguez

Surface Warfare Officer

Rich Rodriguez a.k.a. Rich Rod or Ricardo, grew up in Puerto Rico, moved to Rochester, New York and went to NAPS. He spent his days resting so he could sleep well at night. Wherever two or more would assemble, he would bring the beer. No one thought that this Puerto Rican, who's English only he could really understand, would ever make it at the Academy. Honestly, everyone thought he was out next after Blair, Powell and Zavala. His skill set ranges from having his shit all over the place to getting lost in his own hometown. When he did get lost you could find him getting at Dock Street or passed out at the closest Burger King. He spent his four years at the Academy leisurely working for the football team while waiting for away games, Friday nights and long weekend trips. He finally made it to the comma club his senior year. He will likely say thank you to everyone who in any way helped him with his BS since he would have not been able to do it alone. Manager 4 Life.

Arthur H. Sakamoto

USMC Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kiley A. Switanek

Navy Pilot

Kiley- Kiley is so classy her garbage is too fancy for the trash. She is constantly singing Disney and every song before it hits the radio. She is the queen of Oreos in all its forms and variants. She takes the longest time to get ready but its always worth the wait. She's fun most of the times except when she drags her roommates out running. The aviation community is gaining a true sapphire with addition of one of the most loyal and caring friends USNA has to offer.

Michael W. Thorsen

Navy Pilot

Hailing from the great state of Florida, Michael "I've never seen that on Google!" Thorsen made a name for himself within the first week of Plebe Summer by his quip to his squad leader's question, "Squad, does anybody else know anything interesting about me?" He could always make light of a situation by his Jim Carrey-like sense of humor. His Nordic physique has helped him win the hearts and minds of many ladies, only to become their best friend and piano teacher. A networking fiend, Michael somehow knew how to get some of the nicest gigs at the Academy. His determination, passion for aviation, and enjoyment of the occasional drink will serve him well in Naval Aviation.

David M. Towle

Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Ray J. Tracy

Naval Flight Officer

Ray "PLR" Tracy, master of the makeup PRT, Starcraft extraordinaire, part-time lovable hobo, and the most hilarious person you never knew. With his unequivocally quiet wit he is a ninja of the joke, waiting with one perfectly timed quip to set the night in motion. He was a talented member of D&B drum line and a less talented athlete, the PRT was not his friend… but really though. Ray is a hopelessly devoted member of the 2% club (who knew!) and we all look forward to the most awkward and quiet wedding ever to exist. As a connoisseur of fine cinnamon liqueurs, he reminds us all what 0-0-1-3 really means, Thanks Buddy! We wish him the best as he starts his naval career and we have faith that he will be the best NFO no one realizes is there.

James VanKirk

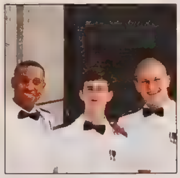
Submarines

James John Sommer VanKirk (So many names!). Hailing from the center of the middle of nowhere, our lovable mountain man arrived on I-Day to an environment completely new to him… one with electricity… and running water. Who knew that such wondrous technology existed? At the Academy James mastered exactly three things: sleeping, video gaming, and the sampling of fine whiskeys. However, he somehow snuck school work in occasionally, surprising us all with his smarts. With a high Systems Engineering QPR he graduated near the top of our class (well, mostly… for some reason his military QPR took a hit sometime Youngster Year). Despite a few bumps along the Service Selection road, James accomplished his lifelong goal of becoming a Submarine Officer. He's very excited. As the wittiest (and nuttiest) person in the Brigade, James was always willing to make you laugh. From halfway finished Spring Break adventures (you know what you did) to weekends at Nancy's, James was always the life of the party. James is a lifelong friend and a blessing to anyone who knows him. Here's to you, buddy.

Cotter A. Walker

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



Matthieu Wooden

Surface Warfare Officer

Matthieu Stephen Wooden, the lady-killer with no time for women because there is too much crime in Gotham and there are never enough minerals for a Zerg rush. He ever avoided the Restriction bug that plagues Bancroft but managed to boost his "street cred" through other means. But then again, who hasn't spent the night in jail? And after rejecting the sub community as too stuck up, he found his true love for the high seas on large gray vessels of surface might. He was always there to give you his opinion, for an hour, and the longwinded orator was anything but concise in his storytelling. But however classless his rants were, his refined tastes and impeccable style always carried the day. What else is there to say about a man who has already said it all himself? Well nothing but this: We wish you luck friend; fair winds and following seas you delicious ebony sailor.

Matthew L. Wright

Submarines

There once was a young boy from Oklahoma who stepped foot onto the grounds of the United States Naval Academy and dreamed of excelling as a political science major. Unfortunately he was attacked by sword wielding, yelling, knife handing animals during an unseen introduction ritual and was brainwashed into jumping head first into the electrical engineering department. Now when this man isn't picking at everything in sight, he can be found in the basements of Rickover solving the unknown mysteries of the fascinating mechanism we underdeveloped beings call a "light switch." A man of many talents, an unnaturally huge smile (and bite), and overwhelmingly passion and love for God and His Son Jesus Christ this Okie can be seen flying across campus with his unnaturally gazelle like stride. When he is not slaving away at solving the next step in energy for the world or contemplating how horrible he thinks plebes can be, he can be found roaming around King Hall serving the Brigade as the Supply Officer (though he probably should have cooked the eggs himself…). With a huge heart and desire to help others, Matt was always a forthright guy and was never afraid to express his opinions (no matter how blunt he didn't realize he was). He has always been such an amazing friend that anyone could count on. There was no doubt that Matt was going to become an awesome Submariner, and there would definitely be enough gizmos in those steel tubes for him to pick at. Last but not least, Matt has always been a spiritual inspiration to others around him, and leads others as an amazing brother in Christ, the Savior of us all.

Andrew C. Barker

Surface Warfare Officer

I am part of the fellowship of the unashamed. The dye has been cast! I have stepped over the line. The decision has been made; I am a disciple of Jesus Christ. I won't look back, let up, slow down, or be still. My past is redeemed, my present makes sense, and my future is secure. I'm finished and done with low living, small planning, smooth knees, colorless dreams, tainted visions, worldly talking, cheap giving, and dwarfed goals. I no longer need pre-eminence, positions, promotions, plaudits or popularity. I now live by faith, lean on His presence, walk with patience, am uplifted by prayer, and labor with power. My face is set, my gait is fast, and my goal is Heaven. My road is narrow, my way is rough, my companions are few, my guide is reliable, my mission is clear! I cannot be bought, compromised, detoured, lured away, divided or delayed. I will not flinch in the face of sacrifice, hesitate in the presence of the adversary, negotiate at the table of the enemy, ponder at the pool of popularity, or meander in the maze of mediocrity. I won't give up, shut up, or let up, until I have stayed up stored up, and paid up of the cause of Christ. I must go till He comes, give till I drop, preach till I know, and work till He stops me. And when He returns for His own, He will have no problem recognizing me. My banner will be clear. - Henry B. Eyring

Class of 2014

Logan Bridgewater

Michael Buck

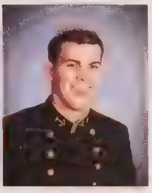
Jeremy Cadiente

Michael Carps

Ryan Dallas

Daniel Fallon

Jade Geif



Rowland Girling

Ganesh Harihara

Benjamin Hunter

Michael Larson

Christopher Lee

Joshua Lee

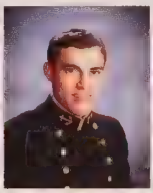
Sergio Logan

Cynthia McDaniel

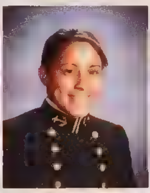
Bo Merritt

James O'boyle

Catherine Oakley

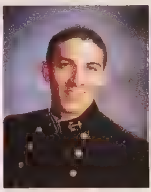


Stephen Perez



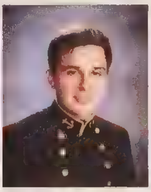
Paloma
Perezurena

Andrew Pfau

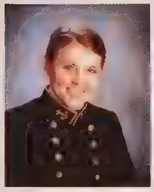


Alexander Pybus

Evan Rose



Martin Sanchez

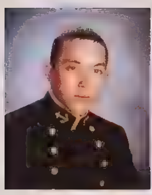


Brynn Umbach

Samuel Vonparis

Awangkuabdulrauf
Yusof

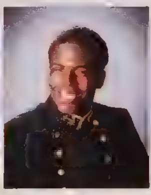
Class of 2015



Daniel Bohannon

Mario Botero

Hailey Brunette



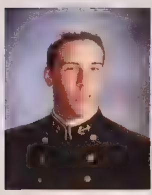
Gregory Bryant

Patrick Bunce

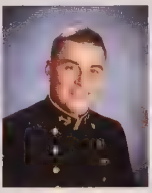
Andrew Canady

Avi Chatterjee

Cody Colyer



Kyle Connell



Lewis Correale

Kyle Durst

Derrick Garner

Bryan Hunt

Karen Jackson

Noelle Kaufmann

Joshua Kingsland

Ryan Le

Claire Longabaugh

Grant Lubeck

Frederick McDonald

Alexander Moll

John Morrow

Blake Nixon

Tyler Price

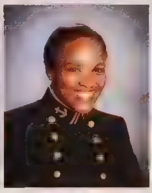
Paul Rands

Zachary Schmidt

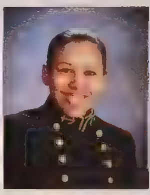
Park Seagraves

Michael Segalla

Stewart Throckmorton

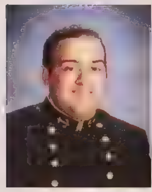


Jessica Tibbs

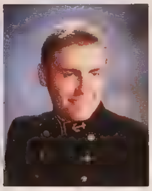


Danielle Torres

Matthew Wen



Matthew Wise

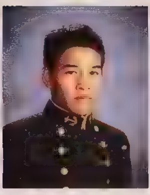


Douglas Wubbena

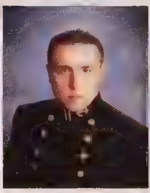
Class of 2016

Joseph Andersen

Samantha Baker



Paul Balleza



Andrew Bell

Domenique Braswell

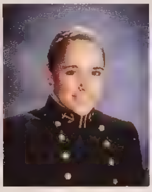
Brock Cremean

James Cullingford

Samantha Droop

Quentin Ezell

Matthew Finley



Frances Gale

Orlando Gannon

Patrick Hageman

Ethan Hamilton

Connor Higgins

Kendall Knorr

Alexander Kosaka

Joseph Labruzzo

Sawyer Langbehn

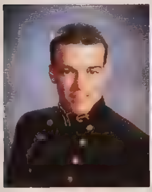
Francis Love

Jacob Mendelson

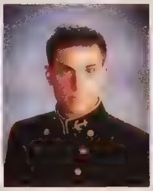
Kyle Muka

Katherine Mundo

Nathan Myers

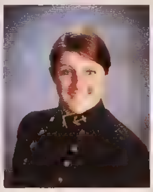


Brett Nellis



Nicholas Palermo

Donald Pearson



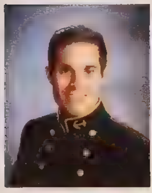
Samantha Robbins

Kendrick Salio

Michelle Soto

Christopher Swain

David Tauber



Travis Thorn

Olivia Trevorrow

Jonah Tucker

Charisse Villareal

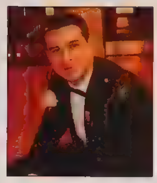
Craig Welniak

Zenas Yun

Company

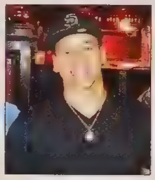
10

John R. Beach



Surface Warfare Officer

John Beach popped out of the corn fields of Trenton, IL and into the urban life of Annapolis, MD. From a diverse background of both music and the gridiron, he discovered his true calling in computing and swords. Though he journeyed through many clubs at USNA, none could compare to the spirit of swashbuckling. While tinkering with the Computer Science Department's uniquely named robots, this man picked up a sword and found his way into the fencing team to find rivals near and far and to strike fear into the hearts of many. A man who could boast of his accomplishments yet is still stuck behind his computer screen trying to either finish a programming project or finish off an opponent on some video game with a name that is lost in the archives of time.



Angel L. Burgos

USMC Ground

A wanna be marine from a very young age, after five years of battling, the oldest of 3 boys is finally following in his younger brothers' shoes. All can attest that Angel's road to the Corps has been long and filled with many trials but as a determined individual he defied the odds. This fantastic specimen of a midshipman followed "YOLO" with a passion, leading 10th Company with one of the most prolific conduct records in Academy history. This slick operator found love wherever he went, whether in Bancroft Hall, DTA, or while cougar hunting on Bourbon Street. Never one to pass up an opportunity, Angel managed to land a job as a triangle dinger on the D&B, entering stadiums across the nation with infinite swag. Though we might never fully comprehend his boisterous Spanglish, the life lessons and loyalty he taught his brothers on the Yard will be carried on by all his loud voice reached. A true friend till the end, Angel Burgos will become a great Marine Corps officer due to his never-say-die attitude and the love he carries for the people around him.

Victoria L. Cannon

USMC Ground

If you think you lack a filter when it comes to your actions in public, then you obviously haven't met Tori "Cannonball with Hard Sauce" Cannon. This girl, who I swear was under the influence for a month straight after her 21st birthday, will say or do whatever she wants, whenever she wants. Though her actions are typically followed by the phrase "Oops, I forgot we're in public..." Whether she was talking back to the diving coach plebe year, serving her two-year sentence as a Navy cheerleader, or terrifying the plebes of 2nd Battalion as Training Sergeant, Tori has managed to stay busy during her four years at the Academy. How does she do it, you may ask. Not to worry. Her "special juice is gonna help her win." But in all honesty, Tori Cannon is a tough, loyal, beautiful person who always has her friend's backs. And if you need someone to help you out in a tough situation, Tori is always there offering a shoulder to lean on.

Hollis Capuano

Surface Warfare Officer

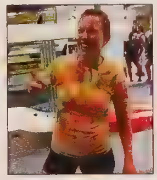
"Swotivated, Swotivated, down right motivated, ooh-ah I want to Moboard something." Honestly can't remember the cheer, but Hollis certainly can find some way to perfect it with her English dark magic. Up 'til 12 am watching her shows, you know the one's she loves, then dreaming of finding the perfect man, a combination of McSteamy, McDreamy, and that Sparatcus man, after, of course she writes 'til 2 am. Future Best-seller, a true lover, not fighter, trusting, loving, never denying, that what is meant to be, will be. Passionate, just, sometimes slightly judgmental but always staying true to herself, she will succeed in whatever direction she decides to steer. From plebe to firstie year, service selection, and birthdays, celebration never lacked that yum-yum chocolate cake and occasional ladies date. Ready for Japan, to get in the clear, to find her own adventure, knowing her friends will be near. Through thick and thin, fighting, crying, laughing, and loving, the bonds of friendship could never be broken, come distance or disagreement. A true friend for life.

Trevor M. Cleary

Submarines

Trevor Cleary is the jolly blonde giant. Just kidding, he is a wookie. All jokes aside, Trevor is one of the hardest working individuals at the Naval Academy. He spends his free time doing homework, helping friends do their work, or conducting some serious workouts. On weekends, he likes to go to the golf course and pretending to know what he is doing. He does have one major fault though, he cannot play Starfox to save his life. Hopefully, he can overcome this obstacle later in life. Until then, he will continue crush every other aspect of his life, leading to a successful career. Once Trevor gets to the fleet, he will undoubtedly make an excellent Submarine officer.

Hannah A. Dildine



USMC Pilot

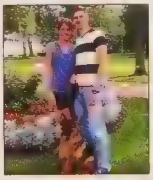
"Probably the most accurate description of Hannah would have to be, (and in her own words) 'OCD'". By far the cleanest and most organized person in 2nd Batt, and honestly, probably the Brigade. I don't know how she does it. Hannah's the girl who gets it all done. You'll never see her without a mop and broom, or making cleaning cards for the room. She is a true magician, no wonder she watches the entire Harry Potter movie series while doing her 5 billion page capstone project and topping off her 9th coffee with some peanut butter snackies. It's been a crazy 4 years together - literally the first person I meet on I-Day. A lot of fighting, a lot of silence, and too many laughs, but the most memorable is getting her obsessed on all my TV shows and staying up extra late on premiere nights. But most importantly, Hannah is the best person to vent to from time to time. She's fiercely loyal, a great listener, and the smartest person I know. The Marine Corps better prepare itself for a courageous leader comes their way. Best of luck!

Brian T. Fitzgerald

Submarines

Brian Fitzgerald, or Fitz for short, is 100% grade A Midshipmen. James Franco has nothing on this kid. From the gorgeous hair, red V8 Mustang with Texas plates, and the attractive civilian girlfriend who goes to the University of Texas; everything about him screams Awesome. No matter what he does, he instantly becomes an expert and has to be the best to include academics, weight lifting, video games, and photography. As an Ocean Engineer, you actually wouldn't find him spending time in Rickover and more time in front of his 37" computer "monitor" talking to his girlfriend Chelsi every night of the week. If not Google chat, than he is texting or talking on his cell phone probably discussing how to best spend the puppy support he sends her to help raise their adorable golden lab. His career aspirations started out like any plebes should with eyes towards the sky as a Naval Aviator. If not that, than he was sure to become a Navy Seal. However, the Siren cries of the Submarine community got the best of him with their promises of riches and bonuses beyond his wildest imaginations. It is for the best as Fitz's tastes in the finer things in life could not be quenched by any other warfare community. If it isn't shiny or expensive, Fitz probably doesn't have it. All in all, he was a great guy and model midshipmen who is sure to become an even more Awesome officer. Hopefully the submarine force is willing to share Fitz with his true love Chelsi.

Christopher J. Fowler



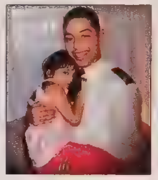
Navy Pilot

"Your in the midst of a war: a battle between the limits of a crowd seeking the surrender of you dreams, and the power of your true vision to create and contribute. It is a fight between those who will tell you what you cannot do and that part of you that knows - and has always known - that we are more than our environment; and that a dream backed by an unrelenting will to attain it, is a reality with an imminent arrival" -Anthony Robbins

Steven J. Glick

Surface Warfare Officer

Steven Glick is a proud native of Oklahoma and his arrival to the East Coast has been a pleasure for all involved. A connoisseur of random knowledge, he has been called "Glickopedia." Possessing the admirable quality of prudence, Steven once went an entire semester without a pillow, due to dissatisfaction with the Midshipman Store prices. Steven always knew how to use conspiracy theories, music, and hilarious YouTube videos to keep our room, "The Think Tank," entertained. We sometimes heard him utter classic phrases during his sleep such as "the championship bro.. the championship." Steven knows how to be a champion. Any deviation from the path to becoming a champion would yield one simple phrase: "No, No, NO."



Aaron K. Guerrero

USMC Ground

Aaron Kenneth Guerrero aka "Big Dawg" aka "el pequeño gato" has been in this game way too long. He started his "paper chasing" career at AFROTC to NAPS then to the Academy somehow managing to not get kicked out along the way. Coming from the sunny state of San Jose California, this brah does everything from catching monster johnny tsunami waves to bow hunting for the infamous la chupacabra. When he isn't making his tradition Mexican dishes, he's usually talking to his vatos in MS13 discussing the latest politics and hottest low riders. Behind his seemingly hard exterior lies a soft kitten like soul just waiting to be pampered with love and lactose beverages. From car trips down to North Carolina to ask a date to ring dance, just to retract the invitation within the week; to up to Rhode Island and literally kicking injured Midshipman Candidates while they're down, he's done it all and some. Whether you're looking for life advice or your missing laptop, he has it all and would be willing to let you in on it. For a relatively low price of course. "WOOOO" car trips noises then "WOOOOO" police sirens

Amber N. Haling

"A powerful Navy we have always regarded as our proper and natural means of defense; and it has always been of defense that we have thought, never of aggression or of conquest. But who shall tell us now what sort of Navy to build? We shall take leave to be strong upon the seas, in the future as in the past; and there will be no thought of offense or provocation in that. Our ships are our natural bulwarks."

President Woodrow Wilson, 8 December 1914

Brendan P. Hanlon

Submarines

Having breezed through the Academy at the top of his class, the most difficult exam of all for Brendan was the infamous piss test. Looking beyond that, he was easily one of the smartest guys around and readily lent a helping hand to anyone who was struggling academically – even if it was a class he had never taken, was outside of his major, or was a topic he had never heard of. He somehow knew the subject better than you did. While physics was his first love, many of us in group one would consider him an honorary engineer. He's certainly done enough of our homework to get the credits. Some believe he coined the phrase, "a good deed never goes unpunished". Brendan managed to stay awake in class, most likely due to him catching up on his sleep during all varsity sporting events. His dream is to ace Power School and Prototype, allowing him the coveted billet aboard the USS Jimmy Carter to do the spookiest of the spooky for our country, where we will never see or hear of him again.

SURPRISE ACT HERE

David K. Herrera

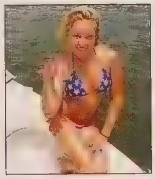
USMC Ground

Herrera to most, Boozer to his friends, it took months for anyone to even drag David's first name out of him. Always the first to volunteer for his classmates duty, he quickly proved that his "I don't care about others attitude" was all for show. From I-day on, he never wavered in his desire to go Marine Ground, even while facing down Captain Jarrett at his SARB. Lets be honest though, after puking on YPs, aircraft, and surface ships alike there weren't many options left! His weakness: Delirium Tremens, his favorite beer. Speaking of beer though, we'll always remember how the teetotaler plebe ended up with three weeks of restriction for underage drinking. In New Orleans. During Mardi Gras. After the Saints won the Superbowl. Yeah, don't think we can blame him for that one. The Marine Corps is lucky to have him. Rangers lead the way! Hooah!

Michael H. Humiston

USMC Pilot

Midn Michael Humiston brought with him to Bancroft Hall a curse. Upon his graduation, a total of five of his former roommates had been kicked out or left of their own volition. Apart from the curse, Midn Humiston was a disgruntled old soul. His happiness fluctuated with his physical distance from Bancroft Hall. In a feeble attempt to preserve his soul, he went nocturnal, believing the fewer interactions with other midshipmen he could have, the more likely keeping his sanity would be. If he slept until everyone else went to sleep, he wouldn't have to interact with them! On a serious note, the Academy gave him two things: 1.) the opportunity to meet his soulmate some 75 miles away, and 2.) some of the best friends one could ever want.



Kristen A. Jarrell

Surface Warfare Officer

Follow the trail of peanut butter and bread crumbs and it will lead you straight to this Asian eyed beauty. Having participated in the sport of diving, and cheerleading and serial dating this future SWOtivator finally settled with wobbling her way into people's hearts. She can often be found enjoying a cold beer or a fine bottle of cheap wine, but don't expect this girl to participate in the morning after group text, because she will proudly never own an iphone...Kristen always has a kind smile and a friendly word for all those that cross her path and it is always genuine most of the time. To have Kristen on your side in life is an automatic win, because her ability to encourage and support her friends cannot be surpassed by anyone.

Michael G. McPherson

Submarines

That picture on the side there? Don't worry, its not real. After four years in the Masqueraders (and practicing with his make-up every Halloween), Michael has had plenty of opportunities to dress and impress. Whether he's Carl Fredricksen (from Up, you illiterates) or the legendary Titus Andronicus (Shakespeare) he may have spent more time in character than out of it. Always the first to show his love of Shakespeare and the English language, he was loved by the USNA English Department. Too bad he was a Mech E, who spent most of his time and energy buried in the halls of Rickover. Even after four years of rigorous number crunching under the tyranny of "Ralphie," he still decided to sign up for the Submarine Corps. Heading down to Charleston with the beautiful Roslyn, he is sure to be happy in the land of stress, learning, and the 13:30 PRT.

Eric C. Mosher

Submarines

Michael used to be a joe. Ben can tap dance and used to have the most crooked glasses known to man. Beach loves candy. LOLT ruined graduation. Color Guard was awesome. Gunny Jordan was the man despite popular belief. I knew it from day one when my mop was stolen. Systems is the best department. Professor Piepmeier is a saint.

Akinseye Ogundipe

Naval Flight Officer

Morakinyo Akinseye Ogundipe, known as Seye (Shea), came to USNA from Dallas, TX. Upon entering USNA, Seye immediately became deeply involved with the Officer's Christian Fellowship, participating in several retreats every year and using his time at the Academy to develop his faith as well as morally, mentally, and physically. In support of his faith, Seye was a 4 year member of the USNA Gospel Choir, participating in numerous concerts and traveling to South Korea to represent the Academy. Seye was also a member of the USNA Karate Team, using his size and strength to dominate his opponents. After some difficulties with his eyes, Seye managed to snag a spot as an NFO. Following his dreams to spend his time in the air, he will be a great addition to the aviation community.

Jonathan A. Oster

Navy Pilot

"Jack Oster set sail for the shores of Mordor with enthusiasm but woke up unexpectedly at the Naval Academy. Originating from the streets of Rochester, he's a hardened thug. The subject of police brutality and no stranger to "prison." Jack knows all too well the hardships of growing up with the man trying to put him down. People often say to him that you "Can't scrap a lick, so I know ya got your gat" but he know that "G should know, I'm stackin and mackin and packin a ten" A mixture between Gandalf, Dr. Dre and the Phantom, Jack has a strong and promising future as a military officer, hedge fund manager, global leader or gangsta rapper in Middle Earth. A champion in "The Think Tank" he is a better and more loyal friend than any of us could have ever asked for."

Joshua P. Ramey

Naval Flight Officer

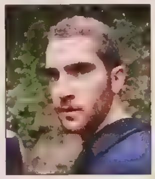
The Joshua Paul Ramey is a renaissance man. He was the Director of Photography for Lucky Bag, the "Voice of the Brigade," and is a musician to rival Mumford & Sons all in one. More blessed with photography than Annie Leibovitz, but still too humble to admit he could work for NFL Films (he has even filmed NCAA football for CBS), not a day goes by when Joshua does not talk about the differences between 35mm and IMAX film, his favorite cinematographer Robert Elswit, or how he waited 3 years for Schindler's List on Blu-ray. He did this all while loving Jesus, not getting too sunburned and making his best friend's fiancé their "third wheel." The Joshua Paul Ramey.

Paula C. Register

Navy Pilot

After a few hundred MID stalking sessions, several forced Facebook conversations, and a couple of neck tab photos Paula Register finally snagged her beau Jordan, formerly known as her "husband." The two are joined at the hip and can be easily identified with the common words "Jordan rub my back" and the trail Reese's wrappers. This future Naval Aviator has demonstrated her need for independence though and in her spare time has mastered the artistic dance of Destiny Child's Stronger and the ability to ask for the midshipmen discount from Nanos. Paula is easily one of the most loyal and sweetest girls to have gone to the Naval Academy. She would go to the end of the world for one of her friends just as long as their was a promise of a Milano cookie when she returned.

Christian M. Sandroni



Naval Aviator

The pride of South Bend, Indiana has certainly left a legacy here at the Naval Academy, as Christian Sandroni's accomplishments are vast and incredibly original. First, T-Rex Droni has the smallest arms in the history of the Brigade. USNA Tailor shop employees have been decorated with numerous medals and awards for fitting our short-winged friend in a number of uniforms. Later in his career, Christian tried his hand at door to door sales. His twilight tactics with compromised judgment proved extremely risky but he was able to make a great fiscal deal, one in which he can now save all his money because he doesn't have to go to grad school right after graduation. Droni will be best remembered for his far-reaching Navy Hockey write-ups that went to a vast readership of about eight, filling about every senior staff role in the 2013 NAFAC , only finding glory between the pipes in 4 on 4, and truly being one of the most honest, heart-felt , sincere Midshipman I've ever known. If you run into Droni sometime in the Fleet, buy him a drink and raise it in the air, knowing that even if his arms can't reach that high, his career as a naval aviator will undoubtedly soar higher than his little arms ever could.

Christopher S. Schwacke

USMC Ground

Few legends at the Naval Academy will compare to the ones of the "Schwackmaster" as he is so dearly called by his closest friends. The Long Island native enjoys doing engineering homework and sleeping on the weekdays. But on the weekends he indulges in the many pleasures that places like Federal House and Pussers have to offer. Spencer has spent his fare share of time on restriction and has earned the famed Black N for his efforts. But he will be long remembered for the nights spent in cities like Boston where he saved his friends and foreign officers from certain separation. Throughout the four years spent at Canoe U, Schwacke has given more than any friend can ask for, and will give the United States Marine Corps all that it can handle.

David Sidamonidze

Republic of Georgia

No matter if he is using one of his many aliases, "the Georgian," "Mr. Sida-ma-ahh-something," "Dato" or "Sid," Davit Sidamonidze leaves a mark wherever he goes. From the bulkhead of 5-3, to 5411, 5417, DTA, DC, NYC, and the beaches of the Caribbean, he left a raucous trail of laughter. Constantly the one to keep a situation from getting too serious, the ringleader of good times can be counted on to have a word of wisdom; "Stop freaking out, let life flow to you," "First I take shower," "STOP MAKING PLANS!" Always original, this great friend will bring success, happiness, and joy wherever he goes!

Derrick Simons

Submarines

Derrick Simons was the self-proclaimed most awesome person in the brigade and the frustrating part about this was he was often right. Whether it was in class, or out having fun on the weekend, all Derrick did was win. He was always able to surprise people with hidden talents that seemed to manifest on a daily basis. He consistently frustrated his roommate by never having to work and always doing an outstanding job. After graduation, Derrick is going to be taking his considerable skills to the Submarine Community where he will not only be one of the smartest officers, but also able to beat everyone at video games. It was a pleasure going to school with Derrick, and to anyone who knew him, he made the Academy suck that much less.

Eric H. Skogerboe

Surface Warfare Officer

Since he graced the Naval Academy with his presence, Eric set a reputation of true friendship and dedication. We knew early on he would make a great Naval Officer as he "helped" others learn USNA underwear folding standards or the admiration he received from Detailers for his conduct in King Hall. As we suffered through the struggles of engineering Youngster Year, he stayed true and dedicated, kind of. While preparing himself for the worst way to spend a weekend at the Naval Academy, he motivated those around him to physically improve. This guy is a true leader by example, who says it with his chest. You can count on Eric to give his absolute all, to whatever is in front of him, refusing to accept anything but success, while watching Netflix and drinking Monster. People around you will falter, you may even face failure, but Eric Skogerboe will succeed. Best wishes to an expedient SWO career.

Quinn T. Sloan

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Le fabulous Quinn Sloan always seemed to bring joy into the cynical world of 5-4. Quinn's dedication to the Glee Club wore this betch out so much that his daily NARP Naps were inevitable. A master of the game Bridge, homework was often disregarded in lieu of dominating whomever attempted him to a match in the wardroom. Looking past the annual summer dyeing of hair and the terrible British accent, Quinn was vivacious and refreshing. His closet friends will dearly miss their SWOTIVATED classmate. -____-

Kristin N. Smith

USMC Ground

Its been a long 4 years, but its finally here. Through leaps and bounds, to succeed and be the best was the only option. The beaming light of proud family and friends light the way to a bright and shining future. "Success is to be measured not so much by the position that one has reached in life as by the obstacles which he has overcome while trying to succeed." ~Booker T. Washington

Andrew Stanley

USMC Pilot

When things get hard, just quit, unless you were Mechanical Engineering, then it's ok. He stuck it out longer than most due to his determination, or stubbornness. Now, if he's not working on robots, its XBOX or Netflix. He's a man of two sides, a boy who kisses on the phone and watches clips of baby penguins and bulldogs, or a monster, throwing his phone, slamming his books, and swear up a storm, all because he couldn't finish his homework or he was getting beat in an innocent game of MADDEN. It's the little things that mean most to him; he will fit right into the Marine Corps. Andrew is a professional, but knows how to let loose. Ask his 4 friends that no one else likes but him, Jim, Jack, Johnnie, and Jameson. Andrew himself though is a great friend, someone to rely on, and someone to trust. Good luck with all future endeavors.

Andrew J. Vanheest

Navy Pilot

Don't let this nice cookie monster player trick you. What he lacks in fieldball skills he makes up for as Company Commander. Always eager to tag along to DTA he tries his best to keep up until his magic number, then someone better have a pillow nearby because it will become this gentle giant's bedtime. Proficient in history and sports he always has words of wisdom to pass, especially in the middle of the night, as he is asleep in his rack, in Spanglish. Though easily the nicest person in the Brigade, beware of bringing him a chit after COB. Nonetheless, through the movie nights of 5417, quality time in DTA, and the pursuit of the best burger ever made, no one doubts that this dedicated man will succeed at flight school and in his career.

Elizabeth A. Young

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

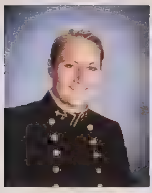
"Wait guys, I could TOTALLY go for a smootie right now!" Beth Young can do it all, from tackling attackers to tackling the down town scene with Tammy Lynn. She's so successful, you'd think there's two of her! Beth's keys to success: Avoid sleep, eat as much cereal as humanly possible, and when in doubt, go for the yellow card. While we won't miss Barnacle Beth's feet or her performances on the microphone, we will miss her infectious smile and ability to laugh at even the worst jokes. She's come a long way from her plebe summer uniform allergy to becoming a responsible upperclassman who only occasionally locks her keys in her car. This 10th company PMO will put her muscles to the test in the EOD community, uhh I mean EDO in San Diego! But if anyone asks, Beth picked her port and service selection before Kathy…Dance Party anyone? #CTTFW

David Zapata

Surface Warfare Officer

Do you know who Z is? No? Well, let me tell you, you're missing out! Although he was undercover for the first two years, the booming voice of this mini giant became an unforgettable sign of coming terror or laughter to all in 10th Company. Nowadays you can always find him in two locations: either, in his room on 5-3, sitting baretop in front of the computer wearing his "du-rag" while flexing on OovoO or in room 5408 annoying everyone with his obnoxious laugh while playing XBOX 360 and listening to 2 Chain! One of the most competitive people I have ever met, you DO NOT want to beat him in Madden or NCAA. He's a man who does not hesitate to tell you the truth straight to your face, showing the mark of a true friend. We will always remember him for his weight room prowess, tattoos and cheesy grin. All the way from Upstate New York, this self-made man has a promising future as a husband, Naval Officer, and leader of men.

Class of 2014



Allyn Bennett

James Browning

John Burns

Xiao Chen

Stephen Chiaia

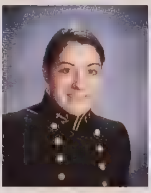
Garland Christopher

Justin Dion

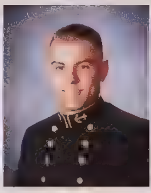
Alex Doolittle

Kelvin Edmonds

Jesus Figueroa



Alexandra Freeman



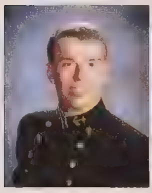
Christopher Fron

Caroline Jacobs

Samuel Jones

Katie Laderer

Derek Lee



Cameron Little

Christopher Maldonado

Jeffrey Matcham

Randon McKain

Katherine Moore

Alexander Mychalowych

Patrick Paap

Robert Platt

Scott Sanders

Daniel Shackleton

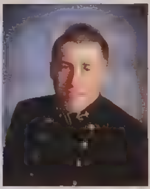
Tyler Sposato

Kyle Steenberge

Jamison Thornton

Michael Tuimavave

Ansley White



Benjamin Wisniewski

Sami Zahzouhi

Class of 2015

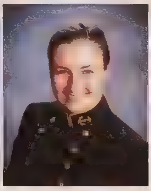
Robert Beydler

Stephen Burke

Sebastian Caliendo

Eduardo Delcarmen

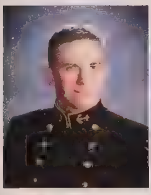
Kaylin Deppe



Anna Dilks

Sam Geerling

Andrew Grantham



Viktor Greve

Bradyn Heap

Ryan Hedgcorth

Christopher Johnson

James Kacergis

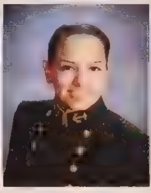
William Kang

Luke Klena

Violeta Lopez

Ryan Martinez

Joshua Miller

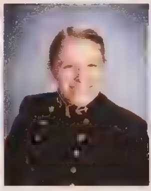


Paulet Moreno

Daniel Page

Lucas Papadakis

Kurt Payne



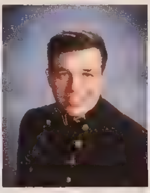
Jennifer Pendleton

Lindsay Rheiner

Julie Schumacher

Matthew Soper

Adrian Strecker



Joshua Stroud

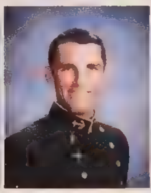
Amanda Thach

Andre Turner

Joseph Walker

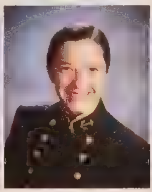
Brian Willi

Ethan Willings



Philip Youngberg

Jinhong Yu



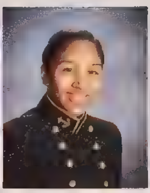
Madeline Zell

Georgiy Zotkin

Class of 2016

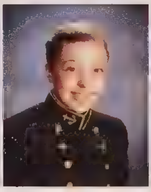
Samuel Badillo

Beau Bayless



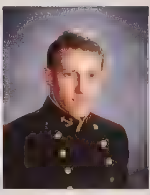
Katrina Bernal

Kyle Briggs



Virginia Burger

Thomas Castillo



Alexander Cinqmars

Bailey Colonwaite

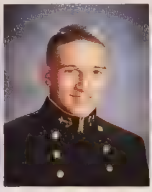
Lamar Cooper

Tilman Dunbar

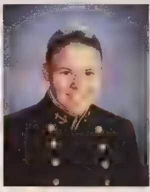
Uriah Eilinger

Andre Evans

Patrick Ewald



Dominick Fredericks



Whitney Heer

John Keck

Michelle Lee

Tyler Lehrke

Clint Livingston

Connor Martin

Darby Nelson

Samuel Peters

Donald Puent

Luke Riewestahl

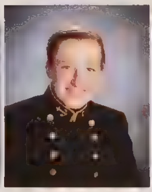
Michael Romano

Jacob Rothstein

Elizabeth Rullan

Alec Ruppenthal

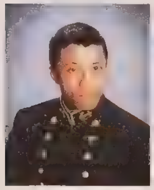
Michael Sappio



Mallory Shelton

Alexandra Sherenco

Thomas Toohig



Nafis Ujrat

Natalie Wallace

Cameron Woods

Timothy Wu

Edward Zhang

Company

11

Ayesha Ahmad

USMC Ground

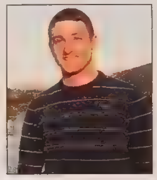
If you put Ms. Ayesha Ahmad in a room with two marbles, she would break one and lose the other; not because she's destructive but because she is so full of infectious positive energy that could aid in providing electricity to Bancroft in these times of sequestration. Aside from such a positive outlook on life, Ms. Ahmad prides herself in putting others before her. You can ask any of her squad members from plebe summer as they quickly referred to her as "Mama Ahmad." Don't let her golden heart fool you however, because she is also a fierce warrior and soon to be one of the few and the proud. Ms. Ahmad has left her mark among many of her shipmates with her selflessness and would never turn away anyone who needed a helping hand; just don't pronounce her name wrong ;)

Ebenezer R. Asmah

USMC Ground

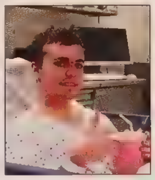
Ebenezer Roth Asmah is an overall great American hero and an example to us all. His Naval journey began at the Naval Academy Preparatory School where he was often found doing heroic actions such as dancing with his shirt off on top of his friend's car. Throughout his time at the academy, Eben participated in intermural sports despite his talent to compete at the varsity level. He has always had a heart for others and consistently put their needs above his own. Eben earned a leadership award for being ranked first in his battalion youngster year; it was ironic that he was serving on restriction the time the award was given. His humility and passion for others shows his true character. His devotion to people and to God is his life mission. Eben has fulfilled his dream by being selected to serve in the United States Marine Corps. Keep the faith my brother; I'm excited to see the blessings that God has for you in life.

Andrew B. Atwill



Surface Warfare Officer

From the shores of Camp Pendleton, to the halls of Bancroft, Andrew reported to USNA clueless of the culture in which he was about to enter. All he knew was that he had four years to try and do the "Navy thing" until he could return to the Marine Corps. With unforgettable memories and lifetime friendships made, those years have passed, but instead are ending with a prediction that seemed far from possible on I-Day: a crossover from green to blue. With no regret of his enlisted time or disdain for the Marine Corps, he simply seeks to expand his horizons and see more of the world. SWO life it shall be.



Andrew N. Beliveau

Submarines

Growing up in Seattle, Washington as a professional rapper, Andrew Beliveau was accepted to the United States Naval Academy as a top recruit for the Sprint Football team. Unfortunately, he was cut from the team due to drinking with his best friends in the baseball locker room as a Plebe. From that moment on he devoted his life to becoming a Submarine Officer, and co-starring with Macklemore under the pseudonym of Charles Qquinkle. With the help of his trusty sidekick Travis Probe, who was kind enough to switch dates with Andy at Ring dance, Andy no longer gets punched by his friends, pisses his bed, craps his pants, or has to spend countless hours behind bars. He has transformed into our top performing pledge, driving a sporty white car, despite his love for having multi-colored possessions, and dating a beautiful, tattoo-less Southern belle. Thanks for all the good times and great memories little buddy. You are an exceptional young man and we all know you are going to be extremely successful wherever life takes you.

Jonathan H. Binau

Surface Warfare Officer

When Jakers met Deon it was a match made in heaven. Deon would take Jake wherever his heart desired, but at what sick and twisted cost?...make sure everyone at school knew how chill he was. So Jake lived on is years in Annapolis bragging, throwing ragers and spreading the word of Deon. He was incredibly brave to carry such a burden. He's a hero.

Christopher B. Bowen

Surface Warfare Officer

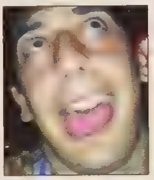
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Mark D. Bradley

USMC Ground

Mark "angry bear" Bradley hails from Eatontown, New Jersey and no one cares what exit number that relates too. Mark enjoys the finer things in life, such as waiting until the last minute to do homework, and well, everything else. He can be found serenading himself in his room in-between naps and Parks and Recreation. It is a mystery of why Mark is angry but according to one great American "I am sure someone tinkled in his Cheerios at some point." Seems to be legit reason. Mark has lived his life by only one quote "Crying is only acceptable at funerals and the Grand Canyon". The Marine Corps is lucky to have this baby-faced whiskey-neat drinking, lad in their midst.

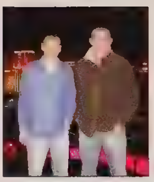
Robert C. Broadhurst



Surface Warfare Officer

Chedda Bob Beezy, as he is known by those who hate him most (his closest friends), may be the first and only individual to be genuinely enthused to select surface warfare. An avid Chicago Cubs fan, he can often be found staring at the T.V. mouth breathing with a velocity unknown to mankind with a cold Miller Lite in hand. This regular Casanova is known to be the playboy of 11th Company. Despite baring a striking resemblance to the town drunk and/or Quasimodo, he was able to somehow find the woman of OUR dreams. A true 2%'er and future CO of a YP, he is bound to make this nation, his family, and the entire Cubs organization proud. As possibly the gooniest goon to ever goon, he is as loyal as a German Shepard and as lovable as the Gestapo. It was nice knowing the final days of the unmarried Bobby Broadhurst, a man who is always ready to have a good time and will never be forgotten by his friends. May God have mercy on your soul.

Dallas H. Butts



USMC Pilot

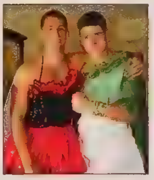
Dallas Henry Butts. Born out of a dream... when two people came together to create a child who would later prove to everyone that everything from Texas is indeed Bigger and Better. Dallas Butts, however, wasn't originally born in Texas, but he got there as fast as he could! Named after the great Texas city, because it fit his winning attitude, Dallas Butts was born in Las Vegas, NV to Dora and Peter Butts. Dallas is an exceptional student athlete and a gentleman, constantly winning the affection of all who come to know him. Not only did he develop a positive reputation in the classroom and on the playing field, his charismatic attitude and enthusiasm made his presence desired by all. No matter, as a son, brother, friend, teammate, cousin, nephew, or classmate, Dallas is a role model who is admired by everyone. He'll make a most outstanding Marine Corps officer, and his devotion and dedication to lead Marines will clearly reflect the esprit de corps so revered in the Marine Corps: Semper Fi, do or die!

Katherine M. Chlebo

Surface Warfare Officer

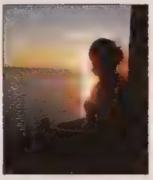
Katherine "Kitty Kat" Chlebo is one of the very few fire-haired females in the great class of 2013. She quickly rose among the ranks within 11th company to become the Spring 2013 Company Commander. She is well-respected and adored by her subordinates. Among her peers, she is most well known for her perfected grammar, precise estimation techniques, and superb athleticism. However, her close friends have come to appreciate the easily surprised, hilariously ticklish, and occasionally clumsy Ms. Chlebo. Always down for helping others before herself, some refer to her as "Momma Chlebs". Her endearing personality, disappointing reactions to interesting stories, and quirky sense of humor will be greatly missed as she embarks on the next chapter of her life serving her first SWO tour in Japan. --Jo (counterpart and RFL)

Michael J. Cuomo



Nuclear Surface Warfare

Michael Cuomo, a Georgia native hailing from the ATL, came to the Naval Academy with lofty dreams of becoming the next big pitcher for the Mids. In order to do this he maintained a steady diet of muffin tops over plebe summer and it paid off big time. Mike quickly realized he was far superior to other players and took his talents to the crew team. Mike has seriously enjoyed skiing with his best friend Chris Murphy and because of it they have bonded eternally. Mike is in love with the concept of love and is forever searching for his next girl. He also treasures Toby Keith concerts while enjoying a beer or two. Mike despises working out and has come to terms with the fact that he will forever be overweight. To compensate for his weight Mike spends countless hours adjusting his comb over. Dirty Mike and the boys have left many a memory on the victims of Ocean Shitty. His most famous performance was a duet titled the tub and the toilet, it was a rather smelly and noisy affair that lasted all night long. After a lengthy absence of spending time with the guys Mike had to rebuild old relationships and even tinder new ones. He earned true street cred while visiting Virginia Tech and is forever memorialized in Cell Block A. All of these wonderful attributes have lead Mike to the most exciting thing yet….accomplishing his lifelong dream of becoming a Nuke Swo.



Kendra P. Cypher

Surface Warfare Officer

"You can live a whole life time never being awake." ~Dan Millman

Zachary T. Derrick

Naval Flight Officer

Is it a train? No. Is it a plane? No. Is it a Volcano? Nope, it's Zack Sleeping. It's impressive how loud his bodily instrument of a nose can get. Zack can be found in one of 4 places. His rack, firstie club, Dillos or lost at night someplace in-between. Nonetheless he always makes it back to 5-0 and always with that sly smile of a successful night out. Despite the crazy number of hours Zack spends in his bed, he somehow has the highest CQPR in his room, he has found the Academy secret that grades are directly related to the amount of sleep one obtains in a given semester. Despite Zack's coordination on the intramural soccer field, he seems to lack any coordination while not moving. We have observed that he is not in fact clumsy though. It's just the floor hates him, the tables and chairs are bullies, and the walls just get in the way.

Evan B. Dowell

Air Force

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Robert A. Drummond

Navy Pilot

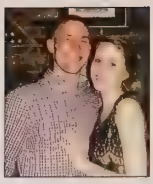
Andrew "Moose Knuckle" Drummond. Since day one your sweating and personality have become legend at the Naval Academy. From the farms of Indiana to the shores of PCB your choices in women have grown to become questionable at best. Including picking up the sloppy seconds of a fellow brother in arms as well as a certain love of the African culture. You have shown us all the proper technique of slamming Jim Beam, being big enough to punch anything in your way (except for your little brother Adam of course), and enlightening us on exactly why they call it a whack shack #chronicproblem. Probably your most noteworthy award would be the triple Eskimo brother campaigns that went from SMU, to Florida, and even managed to reach the illustrious dorms of American University. Since the day you displayed a remarkable performance in DC as a Lieutenant in the Marine Corps and introduced the world to their favorite ride "The Green Dragon" we have slowly grown to tolerate you. So diesel, drum dog, Brummond (look it up), you're a piece of shit, but sadly we all love you.

Aaron W. Esparza

USMC Pilot

Aaron Esparza grew up in Tucson "Two Peaks" Arizona where he played soccer and caught butterflies. He then came to the Academy to study Astrospace Engineering, or rocket science to the ladies of DTA, and minor in staying up late. He is Legendary among his League of friends and is feared by minions nationwide. Aaron is thankful that DADT was repealed so he could share his love of Landon Donovan with the world. He never mastered the comb over, but dreamed of flying, so naturally he gravitated towards Marine Pile-YUT. Snowboarding and skydiving are two things Aaron would do on the weekends if he knew how to… w hich he does. He is a converted Ravens football fan and can actually name their entire starting lineup if you ask him to. Thanks for many fun times and even more instances of turning to each other and asking "where the hell did Esparza go?" Wherever you go, we all know it will be far!

Timothy J. Flanagan



USMC Pilot

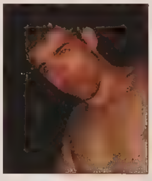
"Life is like riding a bicycle. To keep your balance, you must keep moving." - Albert Einstein

Alexandria H. Gentry

USMC Ground

Alexandria (NOT Alexandra) Gentry is named for the lovely city in her favorite state. She hails from Long Island and if you face the misfortune of making Alex angry she will undoubtedly unleash her knife hand and thick New York accent on you. Yes, Alex is known for her blunt personality and occasionally making plebes cry. Although ruthless at times, those who know her best have the pleasure of seeing a softer side of Alex, the side that has a weakness for cute babies, the elderly, and her penguin pillow pet. If you're lucky enough to call Alex a close friend, consider yourself blessed. She is the fiercest bodyguard and most loyal shipmate. Her compassion and feistiness make her destined for greatness in the Marine Corps and beyond.

Justin C. Gifford



Naval Aviation

Justin Case Gifford came to the Academy to be the best of the best. To date, he has never lost an argument, shouting match, or midnight fight against a stranger or roommate. Growing up in the mundane state of Texas, Gifford experienced life events before they should have happened to any other normal human being, from owning his own car, mortgaging his house, and finding true love with a 31 year old. When he's not touching himself to the Texas Rangers, sharing memes on Facebook, or thinking about riding a baby pig, you can find him doing "stuff", organizing trips or talking to his Brother Mark, rather than trying to find a solution to his thinning hair. We presume his uncontrollable loss of hair is due to his courtship of a jungle Princess, excessive Patron consumption, or failure to bathe after convincing women that he was a professional football player at The Atlantis. Gifford also has achieved Eskimo Brother status with several fellow Tigers, but would he rather just settle down with a chick with a bad ass set of tits? #Sho dafuq nuff!!!!!1 Like an old garbage truck, you can smell and hear him long before you can see him. Gifford, even when you are on your best behavior and wearing your nicest pair of boots, you are still a filthy bastard… literally.

Roland J. Hansen

Surface Warfare Officer

Paintball? We have a paintball team at the academy? The team's motto: "Family, Unity, Courage, Commitment." Yeah, and that was Roland's life until a certain somebody decided that this team was too good and had to be taken out of the collegiate league. From early mornings to road trips all over the East Coast with the guys, those are some of his best memories at the academy. From then on Roland was destined to be a SWO daddy. Though he always said he wanted to be a pilot, we all knew he secretly had desires of those grey hulls as the YP color company competition never seemed to elude him. As a native of San Diego and the 619, "West Coast, Best Coast" is his motto. Don't hate on his Cali Swag because he swears that once you've been to paradise you will never want to leave. See you in Heaven Austin Zalik, you were by far one of the best dudes I've ever known.

William F. Haworth

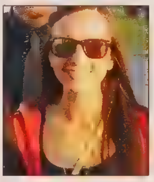
Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Michael C. Jones

USMC Ground

Mike Jones … who? He hails from the great state of New Jersey and is proud of it. And he has not seen a problem he can't run circles around. Just don't ever ask him to dance or sing because he will and you'll regret it. Outside of his lack of musical talent, Michael Jones is a man's man. He likes a good American beer or a strong Irish whiskey. He doesn't ever concede defeat in a battle of wits, only changes the rules. He always has your back in a DTA scrap and will take a punch or two when necessary. And of course under no circumstances will he ever ask for directions. Preparation is for pansies and we fly by the seat of our pants. That's when things work out the best, even if a few rules had to bend to get there. In the end just remember, the farther you fall the higher you can bounce back.



Caroline E. Lopez

Nuclear Surface Warfare

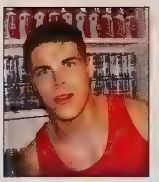
"Caroline Lopez… How do I begin to explain Caroline Lopez? Caroline Lopez is flawless. I hear her brain is insured for $15,000. I hear she does cheerleading… all over the US. Her favorite movie is Remember the Titans. One time she met Snoop Dogg at an airport… And he told her she was pretty. One time she made four plebes tango… it was awesome." I'm gonna miss your blue satin pillow and crazy San Antonio pride and I'll never look at Cheesecake Factory brown bread the same way again. Hopefully one day you'll have those 47 girls and 47 boys… in your department and finally get that Public Storage unit. There hasn't been a day that's gone by that I have regretted that plebe summer hand squeeze that started the best Uh-Oh Oreo in the world. Love you. "Ahkebdskfuid CNO!"

Jordan B. McCullough

Surface Warfare Officer

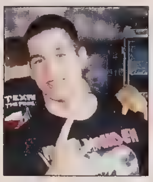
If you're looking for this girl, you'll hardly ever find her in the room. She never has any homework, so she spends all her free time in WesB. Not only is she in great shape, but Jordan is also a fierce and loyal friend. Friends by chance and held together by the "rubber band theory", we welcomed each other into our hearts, where forever we'll remain. As a San Diego SWO, Jordan will excel like no other. Her tenacity, strength, knowledge, and compassion will guide her through life, and mold her into a great Div-O, and an even greater DH. You, Jordan, are so loved by your family and friends, we are so proud of you and can't wait to see what you do with life"s challenges. Love Kat.

Christopher T. Murphy



Navy Pilot

Murph came to the Naval Academy after giving up on his dream to be the Tony Romo's next favorite target to overthrow. He spent his time drinking protein shakes, trying to maintain the proper amount of flow, and getting off to everything Kennedy. His fictitious senator's son party persona, Sydney Graham, was always generous, inviting people to party on his father's yacht. But before all of this, he was the notorious Durphy (defined on UrbanDictionary). On any given night in Ocean City, MD, one might spot the Durphy making it rain beer and teaming up with his Mexican compadre. Some of his favorite pastimes are PUNishing his friends with bad jokes and trying to stop at every McDonalds on the way back from a trip. Chris was always known as a ladies man, but has since been conquered by his girlfriend in the great state of Florida, where his leash will be shortened considerably in Pensacola. He has been quoted saying, "there are three things I love in this life: flossing teeth, getting big, going fast, and flossing teeth". Don't worry Murph, we will forever be "waiting on our classmate."



Michael J. Odriscoll

Navy Pilot

"Our doubts are traitors, and makes us lose the good we oft might win, by fearing to attempt."
-William Shakespeare

Travis A. Probe

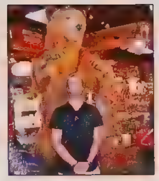
Submarines

While many Mids from Texas idolize Roger Staubach, Travis Probe, of Temple, TX, came to Annapolis with dreams of being the next David "The Admiral" Robinson. Unfortunately, his basketball career was soon cut tragically short due to size and skill related issues. So he left the hardcourt behind to focus on his grades; which was probably for the best because he is, as of this writing, the odds-on-favorite for Anchorman. While struggling with classes, especially Calculus I and II, Travis still managed to enjoy his four years by the bay. Travis has spent his days perfecting the art of the candid photo pose. While many had him pegged him as a motivated Marine from Plebe Summer, he shocked us all when he was selected to roam the depths as a Submariner. He will be truly missed by all of us. Please remember your friends at the Academy when you're filthy rich someday.

Matthew S. L. Sasai

USMC Ground

Matthew Sean Limtiaco Sasai AKA Sassy Pants AKA Island Man AKA Dragon Man came to the Naval Academy at the ripe age of 35. After graduating from high school in the mid to late 90's and leaving behind his three children on the exotic island of Guam, Sasai adventured to the mainland in hopes of becoming the greatest island snowboarder there ever was. Growing up, Sasai's father was an avid wine collector which proved to be advantageous during his time at NAPS. Being the oldest Midshipman ever, Sasai became known as the old wise man with sneaky ninja skills and a knack for mixing up some good ol' drinks. Many often confuse Manti Te'o for Sasai in public – but don't worry, Matt can actually get girls. Lots of girls. Like every last girl in the great state of Guam. On the weekends, Sasai can be found breaking hearts, puking in stadiums, and sleeping in bathroom stalls. No matter what, Sasai sees life in widescreen.....get it....he's "Asian". Supposedly, Sasai selected Marine Corps Ground in hopes to one day become the next ninja assassin. Sasai is as genuine and trustworthy as they come and we all can't wait to one day throw back a few drinks and enjoy dinner at his restaurant in Guam.



Daniel J. Schmerber

Navy Pilot

Better known as "Schmerb," Dan's the guy you can always rely on. Whether you need a quick definition or just a little friendly boost over the Wall at 2:30 in the morning (check scar), he's the guy to call. Once known as "The Home Wrecker", Schmerb can always be counted on in a tough situation; especially if someone tries to break up a party at 41 Stone. Dan has had an awesome journey during his time at the Academy and will continue to be successful throughout his career as a Navy Pilot. San Diego never knew what hit it, and neither did the back of Dan's head. Is that a nipple piercing? Nah, just a safety pin. He shows true passion in all that he does, even with his conventional Snorlax tendencies. Nothing but Bud-heavy for this true country boy. Need a hand out? Dan'll just roll you down the stairs.
-SweetDave

Samuel A. Smith

Submarines

Deep Sea Daddy! Everyone's favorite Dolphin Club President lives, eats, and breathes to prepare for life under the waves. His true passion lies elsewhere. Sam Smith has been secretly married to the love of his life since Christmas break of Plebe year but waited to make the announcement public until after spending his entire $15,000 submarine bonus on a rock that would make Dwayne Johnson jealous. He is a connoisseur of fine imported beers, and will not drink anything from the tap. When not digging holes in the fairways of the Navy Golf Course with his irons, Sam can be found powning noobs in video games, and staying up later than his roommates doing homework. Thanks for all the memories, especially you tarring the back patio in PCB before noon. He'll make a hell of a Submariner if he can keep the syringes out of his feet. "Science, damnit!"

Jordan D. Spivey

Navy Pilot

On any given Saturday night you can find Jordan James Spivey tearing up the dance floor with the infamous raptor moves, sleek smoking jacket and his hair on fire. But don't let his vineyard vines bow tie and Mazda RX8 fool you – his dad is enlisted in the Air Force so he knows the struggle (we love you Chief). Being a grand dragon Eagle Scout he has learned many survival skills, allowing him to survive Hurricane Squirtle in Ocean City. Standing at 6'4, 235 lbs, he proudly waves his terrible towel in the faces of all Ravens fans and specifically that murderer Ray Lewis. Jordan, a Delaware native and party boy, has used cigarettes to kick his HGH habit and pick up a myriad of women with his unfailing line "I'm a pilot, do you think that's hot?" To this date, Jordan is the only man to get cell service while getting himself serviced. But Jordan is beginning to change his ways. Sorry ladies, this emotional cry baby azz has found himself a nice Ice Princess with connections to the Mob and good Italian food. A significant step up from singing "Maria, Maria" and slowly "lacing his football" to the thought of Ben Roethlisberger holding the Lombardi trophy. Jordan, our Academy experience would not have been the same without you, but we have one last question: do the carpets match the drapes? (Survey says yes).

Christopher J. Stevens

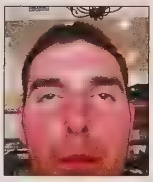
Submarines

Chris Stevens is a very loyal friend and member of the Armadillo's team. He is the only guy that can watch two different shows while solving Sudoku problems. Other teams shudder when he walks on the court for street hockey. He deals with the emotional roller coaster of being a Washington Capitals fan. There is always next year right? He enjoys the simple things like word searches , reddit, and Borgore. Nobody can make a sharp "toit" hospital corner like this guy. After four years, we made it bud. Congratulations! Dive, Dive ,dive!

Jared S. Taylor

Surface Warfare Officer

The standard against which we'll be judging everyone for years to come. Whether it's out in town or in whatever video game we're currently playing, when you're in everyone's having a good time... even if you don't know you're doing it, you're ragin'. You might want to cool it on the coffee intake - there's no need to make the hardened SWO's fear for their pots as soon as you show up.

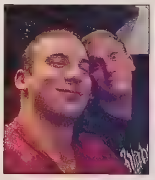


Matthew J. Thomas

USMC Ground

Summarizing the college experience of Matthew "Cameltoe" Thomas in one paragraph is nearly impossible. For starters, never trust a man with three first names. Secondly, when he drinks no trash can is safe and no object is inedible. Some of his favorite drunk munchies include: chest hair, coasters, cigarette butts, raw onions, and lead-based paint. An aspiring Juicy J hype man, he has been known to hurl out vastly inappropriate comment and derive pleasure from making those around him feel genuinely uncomfortable. A man of many faces, possibly a schizophrenic, he possesses many desirable qualities such as long flowing back hair (aka brown sugar), "break away from the cops" speed, and turning his second class loan into 80 million dollars in the bank account. Top that (#beenrichsincethe90's). This is a man that knows what he likes, primarily women covered in parmesan cheese. Matt, we know that there's no slack in your mac cuz there's cheese to be got, but we love you anyway.

Robert E. Van Winter



Surface Warfare Officer

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to be unstoppable, untouchable, and so sexy that when looked upon people stop in their tracks? Well Rob meets two out of these three qualities! Raised by a pack of white wolves, in the deepest parts of the Arctic is where Rob hails from. In these harsh conditions is where Rob learned to play hockey like none before! He was the Achilles of hockey, except he would be called ACL…having torn it three times in his academy career! This is where he falls short from untouchable, but that did not stop him!! Whether it be in summer school jumping the wall (after an ACL surgery) with Scotty Sabbatini, or getting tanked with a mamacita on a dock at 4 in the morning. Can't make it to gate one by 2am? That's what cars and parking lots are for! He could even get girls to iron his uniform while wearing his jersey! Rob is a man of many talents including but not limited to: expert putputter, professorial ACL breaker, gardener, and of course bartender most importantly! In all seriousness, Rob is an amazing friend who would go out of his way to help a friend in need, no matter the circumstance…even if that means getting someone to the airport in 12 minutes!

David J. Milanes

USMC Ground

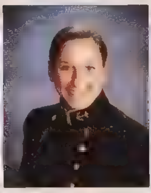
Dave Milanes, better known as Sweet Dave or simply, Monkey. While he hails from New Jersey, his heart is really in Miami with all the other Cuban immigrants. Dave's time at the Academy was split between being on the baseball field and being at Rutgers or Slutgers, AKA 41 Stone (RIP). Where are you going? To puke, where are you going? To puke. I'll share an upstairs pull-out couch and no blanket with you any day. A stone wall surrounding a certain institution has never held Dave back, and neither has the fence surrounding an officer's yard for that matter. My Inuit twin, sorry for waking you up and bleeding all over you, bring it in for a hug…nah, high five, bro.

Class of 2014

Daniel Anderson

Clayton Aronica

Marc Austria



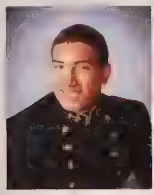
Erin Bacon

Yohan Bae

Alexander Barto

Lawrence Borja

Jordan Bowman

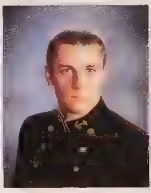


Anthony Cardon

Grace Dalton

Michael Delaisse

Joseph Doyle



Isaac Eickmeier

Juliana Everist

James Garcia

Gina Grabowski

Billie Greenwood

Lauren Hanover

Benjamin Herbold

Babak Khoshroo

Matthew Kilby

Polly Kisin

Thomas Kraft

Trenton Layne

Marcus Lewis

Eamonn McCarey

John McGlynn

Matthew McKeen

Robert Nefzger

Brian Rud

Samuel Sipe

Matthew Steffens

Rizalina Suriben

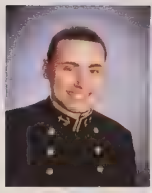
Hiram Tosco

Britta Vivaldi

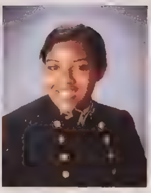
Barkley Walter

Alexander Wilson

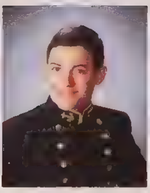
Class of 2015



Michael Acevedo



Sarah Barnum

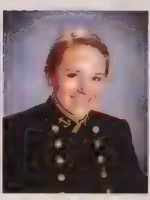


Rick Bravo

Christofer Burgett

Christopher Cawthon

Wade Cofer



Stefanie Cotner

Angelo Cross

Tyler Derderian

John Dillon

Jacob Featherstone

Samuel Friddle

Eric Gibbs

Michael Holland

Kevin Jasper

Charles Jordan

Rakhee Khambhati

Daniel Lim

Nicholas Loberg

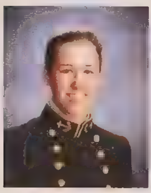
Mark Maloney

Andrew McDougall

Troy McKenzie

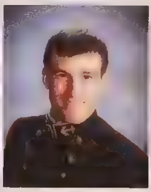
Paige Miller

Pieter Monteiro



Morgan Oswald

Joseph Palazzolo



Kyle Pawlowski

Ian Remillard

Cessily Skinner

Raymond Sudduth

Michael Tesluk

Peyton Walsh

Harrison Willoughby

Class of 2016

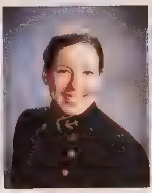
Caleb Anderson

Wyatt Bradbury

Rebecca Cabrey

Zachary Caldwell

Michael Dorsey



Rachael Dudley

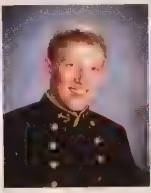
Ryan Foster

Zachary Gawboy

Austin Grebe

Christina Hardie

Nicholas Hermberg



Zachary Hirsch

Elizabeth Iorio

Jeremy Jones

Andrew Junio

David Kim

Kyle Koenig

Kamil Krupczynski

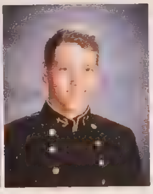
Jody Lamb

Shuntiyea Langston

Henry Lu

Nicholas Martinez

Ciera McCrary



Erich Nieberding

Jackson Niketas

Katelyn Orchard

Shradha Patel

Sean F. Reilly

Orion Rollins

Stephanie Ross

Garrett Sabesky

William Satre

Spencer Shabshab

Erik Shinkle

Sohrob Sullivandavachi

Cody Veatch

Simone Walker

Braves
NAVY
MALTA

Company

12

Andrew A. Almonte

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

John A. Aselton

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Jeffrey A. Beale

Surface Warfare Officer

MIDN Jeffrey A. Beale was a man known by many names to include, but not limited to, Jeffy, Jefe, the Brick Wall, and Big Boy Beale. His Naval Academy career was as hard as one can have, but his happily sarcastic, "what else could go wrong," attitude made all those close to him glad to have the honor to call him friend. In the face of adversity, Jeff took it head on and did not let it faze him in the slightest. He had no problem speaking what was on his mind, regardless of the consequences. On several occasions this attribute got all of his fellow plebes in trouble because he claimed, "We're only supposed to know 3 menus sir." He will always be remembered as crucial in the formation of the Academy's first and finest seven man room. He was the face of 12th Company intramurals, making sure a team was out on Hospital Point no matter the weather conditions. He organized weekly tackle football games, but his name did not rhyme with Neal. In all sporting events he took no mercy on anyone no matter their size or gender; he did not discriminate. Jeff was a staunch supporter of all Naval Academy policies, utilizing them to best suit his needs. If a parade or a lecture was occurring, one can be certain that he was unable to attend. At a school where consequences and punishments are served with every meal, the level of indifference he demonstrated rivaled the stoicism of VADM Stockdale himself. As a future officer in the Surface Warfare community he has all of the necessary attributes to excel in this fast-paced and demanding life of which he is about to embark on.

Benjamin S. Bondurant

Submarines

Benjamin Stuart Bondurant, a proud Atlanta native came to the Naval Academy in order to become a fish, a super-fast freaky fish with an insatiable desire for candy. Ben has met many milestones while at the Academy. He is part of the first room in Bancroft to have 3 members with the name Ben. You would think this would be confusing, but no, the ladies never wanted to see anyone else but that darn Bondurant boy. He swam on the Navy Men's Swimming and Diving Team for 4 long and painstaking years – long enough for his fingers and toes to become webbed. With more energy than 10 young children, he manages to function all day despite grueling practices and Ocean Engineering work. Ben loves the uniform. He loves it so much that he wears his working blues through the wee hours of the morning. He would sleep in them if provided the opportunity. His hard work and long hours have paid off with many first place finishes against top competitors around the country and for his last hoorah; he tied the record for most 1st finishes at the Patriot League Championship. Continuing his lifelong dream of becoming a fish, Ben will expose himself to nuclear radiation and remain submerged for many days at a time in the U.S. Submarine Corps. The Corps is lucky to have such a fine specimen as Ben. Ben is the guy who goes out of his way to get to know everyone in company and make sure each and every one is doing alright. A loving, intelligent, and doggedly-persistent man such as Ben will go far in this world and will inspire greatness around him.

Dane A. Boudreau

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Rock hard abs and breathtaking hair are only the tip of the iceberg when one describes Dane. Known for his competitive mindset, he excelled in multiple sports despite his major injuries and 5'10'' frame. His 'tip of the spear' attitude at the academy led him into challenging holes and situations, yet, revered him in the eyes of so many. Over the course of the semester and his summer training, Dane also became a sort of American ambassador while interacting with all of the diverse nationalities he encountered. His relationship with his study abroad Mexican sponsor and his mentorship of a young Japanese pen-pal are but a few examples of the cooperation of nations he will facilitate in the future. Dane Boudreau: friend, snuff, turtleneck, cone head, shy turtle, funnel-top, anteater, brother.

Justin M. Chapman

Nuclear Surface Warfare

"Grandpa Chaps" was quick in adjusting to new technology at the Naval Academy, including touch screens and email. In fact, 2nd Class year he even purchased an "automobile." His obsession with online shopping and anything to do with California or the American flag is out done only by his love of Seamanship and Navigation. After his early retirement from the handball fields, J Chaps can be found in the racquetball courts or on the debate team, brushing up on the finer points of MIDREGS. As he plans to move forward with his fiancé, he will always hold a torch for his first true love, the United States Navy.

Kevin O. Darby

Surface Warfare Officer

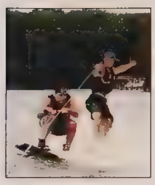
Darbs is from New York City, even though he was born in Baltimore and has lived his whole life in Lancaster, PA. He never shies away from telling it like it is and has an opinion on everything. Just read his Twitter page. He's edgy, fast-talking, and armed for conflict. A four-year Navy Basketball manager, Darbs could be seen as the only team member wearing his varsity sweater on game day. His favorite sports teams are the Mets, Jets, and Knicks -- teams with a combined zero championships during his lifetime. Darbs was always one to party with, from South Padre to Ireland, Munich to Honolulu, and in DC or DTA. You can't miss him -- he's the one with the prescriptionless glasses pretending to be Superman. A Political Science major, Darbs aspires to become a lawyer and Navy JAG, and maintains that "the world would be a smarter place if everyone listened to Kevin Darby." These persistent and needling traits have made Darbs into who he is today: a proud upholder of the Darby/O'Brien legacy, a loyal and compassionate son, brother and friend, and (God-willing) an effective and talented Surface Warfare Officer. #NTF

Matthew E. Daugherty

USAF Pilot

Matthew Evan Daugherty, I love this kid! Matt isn't quite the poster child of the Naval Academy; he revels in being sloppy in dress and room standards, his hair is usually borderline SAT, and he absolutely despises waking up in the morning. "Doc", as he is affectionately known, has tried in earnest to become nocturnal and his efforts seem to be working! In the darkness, Doc's specially oriented ears have incredible directional hearing and he is able to navigate by echolocation. That being said, he is one of the most affable creatures that you could ever hope to bump into in the dark. After getting to know him, he will undoubtedly become one of your best friends. Many memorable moments come to mind at the mention of his name: his escapades while clad only in a King Hall coffee cup, his time on restriction for bathroom artwork, Dagwood sandwiches, jam sessions with his fellow 12thCompany musicians, and that awful, I mean awesome, harmonica! His quick laugh, diligence in work, and lightheartedness will make him an asset to the Chair Force and a true friend to anyone lucky enough to cross his path. May he spread his wings and realize his true potential. We'll miss seeing you every day Docker Doodle! Peace and Love from your furry wolf friends <3

Ryan C. Dishman



Surface Warfare Officer

Born on a 14' fiberglass crabbing vessel off the coast of Maryland during Hurricane Isidore, Ryan Christopher Dishman entered the world with an O's cap on and a sense of confidence that immediately inspired all of those around him. He saluted his father as he escaped the womb and knew that one day it would be his duty to follow in his father's footsteps and become a Naval Aviator. As a two sport athlete, Ryan toured the country from state to state tossing the pigskin and swinging the lumber. Along the way, with Old Bay coursing through his veins, he taught his sisters Ashlyn and Sydney a thing or two about manhood: fixing motorcycles, swinging from tree limbs, how to defend against pesky boys, and how to wakeboard. Ryan was accepted into the Peddie School following high school, where he catapulted the football team to 3 wins as their starting quarterback. 3 more wins than they had achieved the previous 5 seasons. This proved Ryan was destined for greatness and the next July 1st he arrived at the Naval Academy with a smirk on his face and staunch critics awaiting his arrival. While at the Academy, Ryan excelled in Broceanography, sports (softball in particular), and falling in love with the wondrous Rachel Eversole who Ryan used to drive to school during his high school years. "The Dish" is ready to embark on his lifelong quest. He is the life-blood of social events and will not leave an event without giving a toast. He strives for nothing less than excellence. He is the epitome of all that is American.

Nicholas W. Eberhart

Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kathryn F. Ellefson

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Hailing from Afroman's own Palmdale, CA, Katie's a spunky gal who hates the unpredictable and/or humid Maryland weather and actually volunteered to be company adjutant. Known as "Snowflake" to her close friends, she enjoys Pomeranians, Halloween, and anything shiny. Katie spent her time at the Academy helping out whichever intramural team was missing players, and proving that the Little Mermaid is the best Disney princess movie. She gets very sick exactly once a semester, exactly when it's least convenient. She's the undisputed queen of Facebook stalking, and a more selfless, loyal friend could not be found. You'd be hard-pressed to find a more capable and motivated SWO-nuke Mama ready to rock the fleet.

Stephanie E. Gies

Surface Warfare Officer

Where to start with this lady.. hands down the most beautiful red head I, and most others have ever come across in life. We've been through many adventures since we first crossed paths at NAPS living next door and the rough four years at this place just brought us closer. She is witty, confident and her sincerity to see the best in others still astounds me to this day. She shares my love for Patron, boys, and food which is why we are going to live together as SWO-tivators in Norfolk. You've been on restriction for the past couple months, but I am counting down the days we can rage at firstie club and then friday, saturday, sunday funday. LOVE YOU STEPH. Cheers.

Charles E. Goodman

Navy Pilot

Charles Goodman...what a guy. He lives his life in a daily battle of contradictions. His rosy cheeks couples with an unfortunate 10 o' clock shadow. He wears his Texas pride on his sleeve, but instead of cowboy boots and denim, a vast collection of pastels makes his closet look like the inside of an Easter egg basket. Every summer he leaves the comfort of Dallas, Texas behind to go sailing in beautiful Chatham, Massachusetts. Charlie is a simple man however. Give him a soft bed and sleeping mask, a diet coke, a plain cheeseburger with fries and a side of ranch, and a weekly trip to Castlebay, and I'm confident he can die a happy man. Charlie was an intelligent midshipman who spent most of his class time misquoting movies in a mediocre Boston accent, yet walked away from each semester on top, never failing to point out that the Academy was lucky that he accepted such a late appointment. He is an athlete who has proven his worth in most every sport from racket ball, to intramural soccer, volleyball, and Club Lax (gone but not forgotten). Charles Goodman will be remembered as a scholar, an athlete, a southern boy with a heart in New England, a great friend, and even better lab partner. This man will undoubtedly see unmatched success in the future, accumulating great wealth along the way, following the long an illustrious tradition of his people. Now that's pretty Neat.

Nicholas W. Hancock

USMC Pilot

Coming straight from Da Grace, Nick "YurdDat" Hancock is a natural at tossing balls, rugby balls. He led the rugby team all the way to the final four and the game against Cal was a success, because he didn't get a concussion. His speed on the pitch will serve him well in the back seat of his $60M toys in the Corps. Yurd. He spent $5 plebe year and hasn't had to buy razors since as he grows facial hair at the rate of a 4 year old girl. But don't count on Nick to get out alive if there is a fire because he can sleep through an earthquake. Yurd. Snow bunnies love his High and Tight, and so do the plebes. Train on, spooning all the way. Yurd.

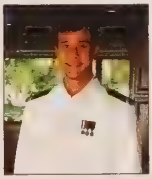
Colter J. Hanson

Submarines

MIDN Colter J. Hanson is in all regards the embodiment of the perfect Midshipman. Ever since gracing the Naval Academy with his presence in the summer of 2009, he has become a well-known and more often than not a well-liked individual. His interests are in themselves the perfect cross-section of the students of this institution. He is known as the, "King of Naps" while consistently staying up all hours of the nights and building his body's resistance to caffeine. The love of all Midshipmen varsity sports that he holds is unparalleled throughout the Brigade, consistently attending various meets, matches and games. A man among men, he has never been bested in one-on-one unarmed combat, having tree trunks for thighs and biceps that Hercules himself would envy. The only aspect that surpasses this physical prowess is his vast mental capacity. Often referred to as the Spaceman of our generation, he has never encountered a problem that he could not solve. In light of MIDN Hanson's mythic proportions, he will continue to thrive in a force built around great men such as him, the Submarine community. His time as an officer will be a great mark in the history of the United States Navy and in all his endeavors we pray for fair winds and following seas.

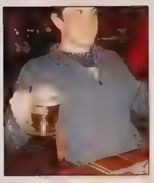
Eric D. Hinz

Navy Pilot



A man of untold subtlety and enigmatic seduction, Eric Hinz moved through his four years at the Academy with all the mystery and allure of a geisha. Standing at an imposing six feet and one inch, Eric's lithe frame demands an undeniable deference in every situation and maintains an irrepressible magnetic sensuousness. Eric starts every day early, in the Oriental tradition, with a strong cup of coffee and a rigorous callisthenic routine to maintain physical form and sharpen his mind for the day. This regimented approach to his physicality carried over to academics, where Eric stoically spent many late nights developing his mind, unwavering in his discipline. However, it is Eric's loyalty that distinguishes him most. Never has there been a more stalwart believer in the University of Nebraska athletic program, and no statistic or late-game score can hinder his faith. Eric shares this same loyalty with his friends, whom he will wrestle for at the drop of a hat or generously share his Eastern treats with. Eric accomplished much at the Naval Academy and loved many, both foreign and domestic, but that is only the start for this man. We are all privileged to call Eric friend, but the United States is blessed to have him in its service.

Joshua W. Hyland



Submarines

Sexy tight, Sir! What dietary options will help me keep my muscle mass? This dyed-in-the-wool devil dog, known affectionately as "The General," shocked the Brigade when he service-selected submarines. After graduation, the contemplative young ensign will attend dive school before reporting for nuclear power training in Charleston, SC. A man of many talents, MIDN Hyland involved himself in pursuits ranging from YP Squadron to Sprint Football. In between he found time to meet with the chess club, read the occasional novel, and smoke many a quiet pipe. Beloved by all for his easy-going personality and general "bro" mentality, this illustrious man will be sorely missed about Bancroft Hall, and is sure to make a splash wherever he winds up.

Joshua D. Jones

Surface Warfare Officer

SP, Josh, be a fish, just be a fish, and you were. Run like a cheetah and you did. Be strongggg and very courageous and you definitely made it happen. Four years at the Naval Academy, four years of struggles, four years of growing into a great man, you came in as a football player and student, but you are leaving an Officer. Not just an Officer, but a Gentleman. Never forget the obstacles, challenges and tough decisions… they have helped you become a better person, a person that people can relate to and love! Try to always keep your commitments in life, pray and look up to God! Family and friends are all extremely proud of you! I am proud of you! Ensign Joshua D. Jones, United States Naval Officer, sounds good! The Navy has gained a wonderful asset, and leader. -AS

Brian T. Ma

Navy Pilot

MAAAAAAA! This 23 year old, "social drinking, Nacogdoches Native knows how to train hard, but party harder-- still working on mastering El Toro though. Brian double majored in Asto and NARPing, but is always ready to leave the country at a moment's notice. Easy to spot in any picture, and always with camera in hand --> King Hall creations, online shopping, bamboo phone case, 50% roommate attrition, pink bowtie, sushi <3, class >> swag. Pensacola isn't ready!

Shan G. Mandrayar

USMC Ground

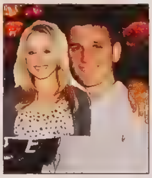
After four years, Shan has proven to be the essence of a man. A huntsman, 'Shan-the-man' could be found nearly every weekend perched in a tree picking off deer with hand-hewn arrows and recurve bow. On more than one occasion he has taken rod and reel to hospital point to catch and eat its wretched fish. To maintain the physical stature of a young CAPT Clark, Shan has been a constant weight trainer nd participant in a number of quirky diets. When not doing something manly, Shan enjoys singing Taylor Swift or any other song that happens to catch his fancy. Shan has been the model midshipman during his tenure at the academy: obedient plebe, scandalous youngster, unyielding second class, and admirable firstie. Most importantly, a loyal and true friend year-in and year-out.

Benjamin J. Nelson

Naval Flight Officer

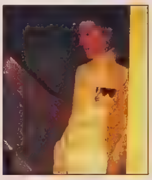
Could you find a more caring, lovable man than he? I dare say not, his compassion is surpassed only by his sage wisdom. "Ben-jamin-all-day" has mature perspectives on important matters while maintaining a child-like playfulness that is comparable to that of a soft puppy. A nature lover, he allowed for his own room to be turned into a bedbug sanctuary. Despite Benjy's cute nicknames and love of Disney movies, he has the body of a Gladiator. This man knows the meaning of pain, his corded physique is testament to his strenuous lifestyle and can-do attitude. The sculpted trunks that his torso sits upon are something to behold. Like twin pistons, his quad muscles pulsate with power and help him achieve those 90+ fastballs that devastate opposing soft-bodied batters on the diamond. No truer friend, no worse enemy, ladies and gentlemen of the fleet, I give you Ben Nelson!

Michael C. Owens



Surface Warfare Officer

"A craven can be as brave as any man, when there is nothing to fear. And we all do our duty, when there is no cost to it. How easy it seems then, to walk the path of honor. Yet soon or late in every man's life comes a day when it is not easy, a day when he must choose."-George R.R. Martin "A Game of Thrones"



Charles H. Piersall

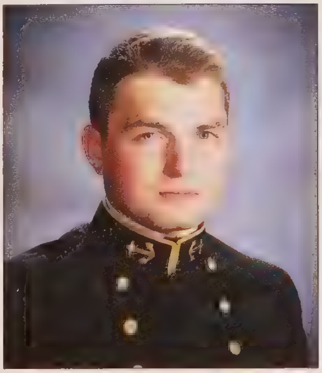
Submarines

MIDN Charles, "Chuck", Piersall will always be remembered by his shipmates as having the highest midichlorian count at the Academy. Known for his extreme sense of sarcastic humor, he is sometimes misunderstood by those who don't know him. "Seriously?" and "really?" are questions that will follow him 30,000 leagues under the sea as he uses his Force powers for the good of the Submarine Corps. "Work hard, play hard" is a life lesson that we are all sure Chuck has mastered. During his time at the academy he mastered the art of stealth and learned the ability to remain completely invisible to avoid any unnecessary confrontations. He used his sneakiness to avoid restriction on several shady occasions. In addition he also managed to avoid becoming section leader of a class all four years, an achievement few other midshipmen have ever accomplished. As an apprentice to a former master swimmer in his prime (the "torpedo"), he was able to make the cut for Dive School. Winner of the Best Wingman Award once Goose was finally gutted, "Iceman" is a great guy to bring to meet the ladies. "I swear to drunk I'm not God," he said to no one in particular after a good night on the town. But seriously, great guy to get to know. Just remember, "don't act like you know [him]." His commitment to hard work, dedication, and self-improvement that he has consistently demonstrated at the academy will prove to be a great asset in the submarine force, and which ever ship does land this catch will be all the better because of it.

George Planeta IV

USMC Ground

People are naturally attracted to George because of his genuine and sincere character. But sometimes, they just get caught in the gravitational pull of the planetary sphere that sits atop his neck. Regardless of whether the attraction to George is conscious or by sheer natural phenomena, he has never failed to affect people in positive ways through his charisma and kindness. His loyalty to his beliefs, values, and faith have forged and tempered the strength and quality of his character. George takes on life's challenges head-on. Alls you have to do is have an open mind to new experiences and a big heart to find strength and courage in order to push through any obstacle. In my mind, my adventures with George could never be the same than with anyone else. His ability and talent to read the wind will never fail to lead him to great adventures in his life. - Jill



Alison Reed

Navy Pilot

REEEEEEEEEEED! Every time you hear this in the Hall you know she's around somewhere. 12th Company's own Minnesota gangster, hailing from the mean streets of St. Paul, she learned how to party like a true German. A connoisseur of Panera and Jimmy John's, she looks for any reason to dine at these fine establishments or enjoy a fishbowl from El Toro. Reed, red, trader joes, fishbowl, pilot, schnitzel, holes in shoes, cheese curds, tortilla chips & salsa. It took her four years, but her hair is finally back to it's original length!

Annmarie L. Rey

Surface Warfare Officer

Annmarie Lynn Rey—also known as "Murs da best friend"—is an extra speecy Chicago, Illinois native who enjoys salsa dancing, arts and crafts, her rum cup, smells like pine needles and has a face like sunshine. I have this theory, that if you cut off all her hair she'd look like a British man! But that's beside the point…when she isn't busy hulk-smashing anything in her path, she can be found sleeping in her cave or in the arms of her hubby Michael Assveto-oh, that's prickly! She will frequently tell you that your curtains should be open because its civil rights…it's the 90's! Although she may seem to be in the wrong decade…you are! Whata kinda name is Stove anyway? Are you an appliance?? Marco…Melissa…shhhhh AHH! Cup, cup, cup…cup. She may not speak English very well, but she gets her point across. Don't mess with her because she is a part of the female fight club…they grease up and say "Surprise…were gonna fight!" and then, well, the rest is history! All jokes aside, Murr is an inspiration to everyone who has the pleasure of meeting her. She is going to make an amazing surface warfare officer upon graduation and I am blessed to have had the chance to have her as my best friend. With love…Mina

Anthony Robinson

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Peter Rogers

Surface Warfare Officer

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we
To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Melissa A. Sinar

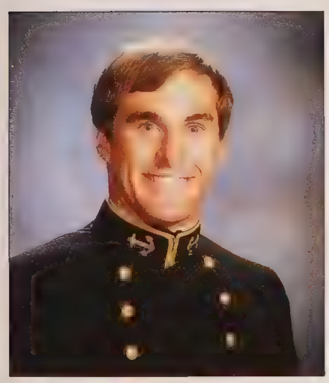
Surface Warfare Officer

Melissa "Don't Mess with Texas" Sinar will always be remembered by her love of horses, vast knowledge of country music, and astronomically huge collection of cowboy boots. Although she has the outlaw image, she is one of the kindest people you will ever meet. Initially a Marine Corps wannabe, this tough chick has a lot to offer the Surface Warfare community, of that being a proposal for a few ships in Texas, daily rations of Jack Daniels, and perhaps a Naval Cavalry Unit. We have shared some unforgettable moments and a lot of "firsts," but I can't imagine having a better sidekick. We can both admit that "mama tried" and you now know first hand "there ain't no good chain gang." I love you, you'll always be the blest!

Raquel A. Smith

Navy Pilot

Four years together by the Bay Where Severn joins the tide, Then by the Service called away, We've scattered far and wide; But still when two or three shall meet, And old tales be retold, From low to highest in the Fleet Will pledge the Blue and Gold.



Bennett L. Thomas

USMC Pilot

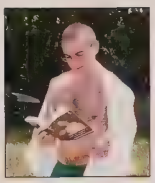
Originally born in Baltimore, Bennett decided it was time to leave his home in Dallas and return to the motherland of crabcakes and football in order to fulfill his ambitions at the United States Naval Academy. Being an all-around athlete, he tested the waters of sprint football, rugby, boxing and intramurals before finally finding the perfect fit. BLT has turned into an ol' Deadeye Darlin' after shooting with the Combat Arms Team for 4 years. After being awarded first place in both the SECNAV shoot and JSACW competition, officials are now requesting for him to shoot lefty to make things more interesting and fair. A few words that describe this physical specimen also known as the BLT sandwich are tenacious, audacious, brilliant, loyal, courageous and yes ladies, sensitive. Some of his fellow Mech-E's even refer to him as the 'Rainman' because of his incredible mind-blowing brain power. Others call him the green machine, most likely because of his performance during (AND after) the SEAL and EOD screener… You see, Bennett wasn't going to let something like an EOD screener get in the way of his 21st birthday, not never. Bennett's genuine character has left an everlasting mark on the walls of Bancroft and those who live within. The Marine Corps Aviation community will be quite pleased to have such a stand-up guy coming their way.

Joel A. Tidd

Submarines

This farm boy hails straight from of the heartland—Iola, Kansa—where he spends the ideal leave block hauling hay and sipping on A&W root beer floats. You may recognize Joel as the main man with the mace in front of the prestigious Drum & Bugle Corps at parades and march-ons. Off the parade deck, Joel is a loyal fan of Navy Basketball and has often shown off his shooting skillz to the amazement of Alumni Hall crowds. "Tidd the Kidd" also has the unique distinction of being the only member of the Class of 2013 to purchase a brand new French Horn with his 2/C loan. Although legally driving since age 14, he has never gotten used to the lack of open roads or fields in the Mid-Atlantic. A humble and devoted soul, Joel brings joy and his genuine smile to everyone who gets the pleasure of crossing paths with him—except in boxing class. His love of God, family and friends, and country is inspiring. Although he will soon be 20000 leagues under the sea, this Midwesterner's heart will always beat in Kansas.

Andrew C. Tresansky



Submarines

Andrew Tresansky (Tre) is a dichotomy of distinction and tomfoolery. He was the first youngster to be named a Trident Scholar, only because he was demoted for underage drinking over Christmas leave on a Team MO (he did win a national contest for his work on "lasers" though). He's an animal on the Erg and the Water, and can often be heard howling, hooting, or yupping from miles away. Actually, if you saw him at NOLS, in the wilderness, or just shirtless, you'd think he's an animal in general. As a true Jersey boy, he has a fondness for Traffic Jams, the Philadelphia Eagles, and tailgating with lots of meat… like a lot of meat, and Porkroll. Even though he's been dating this girl Anne for two years, he can't seem to stop touching JC and other guys in the locker ro… MEAT-HOOOOOK! D@#$ it Tre! Keep doing great things.

Keegan Wetzel

Submarines

The man, the myth, the legend…. The Keegan Wetzel. A.k.a "Keegs". A.k.a "Wetzel's pretzels." His accomplishments in the classroom and on the football field are easily over shadowed by his acts of loyalty and friendship. If you want to see a cute babe, look no further than under Keegan's arm. Keegan will long be remembered at the Academy for his exce'11'ence both on the field and in the classroom. He epitomizes the phrase "student-athlete" as he was strongly dedicated to his team and his academics. He won't hesitate to tell you his impressive weight gain over the day, but stumbles on the exact number of his 40 time. No matter what the future holds for him you would have to be a fool to bet against him in any of his endeavors. Keegs is a guy you always want in your corner no matter what the task ahead.

Philip M. Williams

USMC Pilot

Philliams is often an enigma to those whom meet him for the first time. You will most likely find him clothed in the finest cloth that Vineyard Vines or Banana Republic has to offer with a strong, yet extremely fruity drink in his hand. He will then attempt to draw you in with his love for musicals, as well as his personal experiences as part of the Glee Club... which apparently got a little weird. A small piece of advice - beware when he starts to talk about his days at "Prep." Just make sure you nod and smile and God forbid, do not mention anything about Gonzaga. In some cases, he has been known to break out into harmonious song. But finally, when you think you have Phil all figured out, he will start talking about the love of his life and wife-to-be, Becky. Philip is the master of many distinguished disciplines such as sleeping and fashion. When he is not looking at songs from the hit show Glee, or looking at clothes online, he can often be found napping away the hours in his rack. Yet what distinguishes Phil is his unwavering loyalty and dedication. Every goal he sets his mind to, he attains. And every time you find yourself in a rough situation, Philliams will be there to pick you up. We are all better people for knowing him and standing beside him these past four years. The Marine Corps will be lucky to call Philip Williams one of their own. And we are all blessed to call him a friend.

Antionne D. Winston

Surface Warfare Officer

Despite reasonable conclusion, Midshipman Antionne "Twanny" Winston was not the oldest person in the great class of 2013. However, he was irreparably foolhardy for a man of his age. Antionne changed his service selection preference more times than he burnt his hand on the stove as a child. A great milestone of an "aqua-rock," Antionne still found time to talk loudly about excelling in BUDS. And TBS. And Nuke School. And Starfleet Command. Talking loudly was a cornerstone of Antionne's absolute being; a conversation without his input was "one not worth having." The dark ages were actually named for when Antionne did not speak for a solid month because people made fun of his accent. His last words before that wrenched January were "If people don't like the way I talk, then I just won't talk anymore." Hyperbole aside, the Surface Warfare community is very fortunate to have Antionne as a future officer. He is honest, straightforward, level-headed, and possesses wisdom appropriate for his years. He has big plans in the Surface Navy: a proposal has already been sent up to create Service Dress Sweats. Real Dialog Doc- "Antionne, which is better? To be loved or feared?" Antionne- " Neither. It is best to be a leader"

Dean A. Zettler

Submarines

Dean "Deano" Zettler is a great man destined for great things in life. When you first approach a man of his stature you question, "Am I even worthy of his presence?" and the answer is most likely not. This man may have a gnomish appearance but do not let that fool you; he is a giant of a man in all other manners. On the Navy Mens Rugby team he was given the nickname "Cloudy with a chance of Zettler," which if you know anything about weather, it means get out of the way now! Say you decide to challenge him in a competition of wits; it would be like challenging Stephen Hawking… to a robot voice sound alike competition. Now apply that skill to the Navy debate team, yeah that's right he's a boss. Sure he's mediocre, for an Ohioan, but that's like being well-behaved... for a murderer.

Class of 2014

Jennifer Abbott

Colin Bogdan

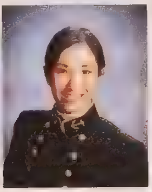
Jared Bramble

Tyler Breslin

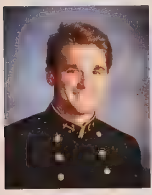
Nathanael Brown

Maria Canelon

David Carrasco



Melissa Chan



Caulin Collier

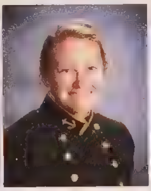
Jose Cordova

Ryan Daniel

Jesse Delangel

Aaron Demers

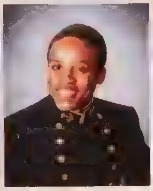
Johnvincent Deniega



Samantha Dennis

Aaron Dupere

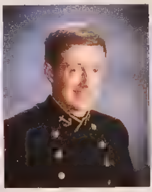
Joshua Emison



Lenue Gilchrist

Andrew Hayes

Jordan Heller



Tyler Jacobsma

Matthew Lanoue

Robert Lombardo

Isaac Losee

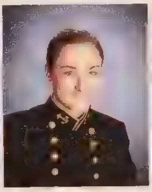
David Macfarlane

Riordan Nolan

Stephen Patricco

Cyle Schultz

Richard Selby



Kelsey Shevock

Katherine Smith

Jacob Snyder

Thomas Stone

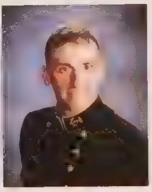
John Watkins

Katherine Woolard

Khalif Yisrael

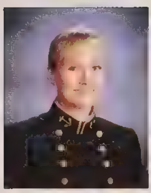
Christopher Zeleznik

Elaine Zhong



Michael Zittrauer

Class of 2015



Adagray Anderson

Paul Arellano

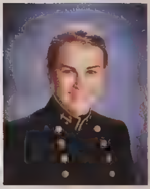
Andres Bole

Kevin Chen

Maxwell Chomic

Elliot Collins

Michael Crawford



Shannon Cuthbert

William Cybulski

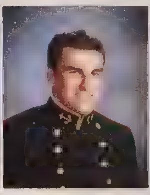
Lynsey Dry

Hayden Edwards

Jacob Felton

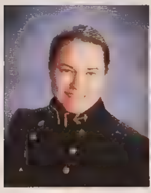
Aaron Fleming

Emily Freese



Brendan Gaine

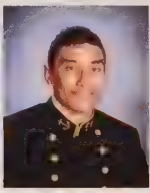
Richard Gonong



Kayla Grimmett

Rebecca Hill

Alexander Horton

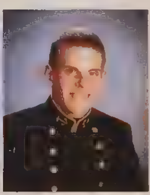


Timothy Howarth

August Jonas

Hannah Kidd

Jonathan Lucas



Kaleb McConaghy

Brandon Meek

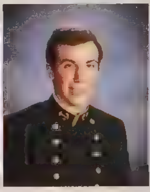
Christopher Mershon

Chall Montgomery

Nigel Mosley

Christopher Nurthen

Jason Roxey



Patrick Seipp

Patrick Shaw

Arthur Small

Eric Swanson

Christopher Troche

Chima Uwazie

Eric Viscardi

Cedric Wilson

Class of 2016

Julia Arnold

Mitchell Bottini

Howard Chan

Zachary Coffman

Camille Condit

Leith Daghistani

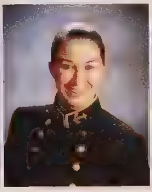
Jacob Dodge

Reuben Druckrey

Maeve Drummey

Kyle Egan

Haadi Elsaawy

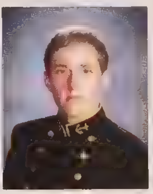


Allyson Franchi

Anthony Giancarli

Andrew Groves

Thomas Hanzsche



James Hoss

Jasmine Joseph

James Kang

Kirk Kostrzewski

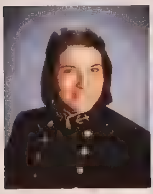
David Kramer

Chase Larosa

Trent Lulow

Barrett Mistele

Jacob Morris



Megan Musilli

Nicole Nordlie

Evelyn Rodasreyes

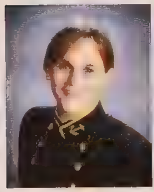
Jorge Rodriguez

Nicholai Sarpy

Evan Schwab

Frank Smeeks

Jack Smith



Siera Snapp

Samantha Thomas

Andre Truss

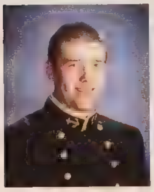
Ryan Turner

Tyler Valencia

Nicholas Vandiver

John Weckenbrock

Maxwell Wiechec



Travis Williams

Company

13

Franklin E. Agli

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Daniele D. Anderson

Surface Warfare Officer

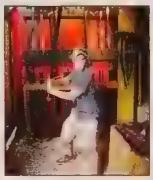
Where to begin with Daniele? Not early in the morning for one. If you pegged her the quiet type you must have seen her before 2200. This nocturnal Nancy fancies Rihanna, Vegas, Disney songs, and much more. If you want to see her in her natural habitat check Nimitz. She does aspire to become a librarian after being a SWO and NYC fashionista. Speaking of fashion, need style advice? Search no more! Come over to Daniele's Clothing Closet of Narnia. From leading Black History Month to being an amazing squad leader, Daniele never ceased giving passionately to others during her time at USNA. Thanks for sharing PB, headbands (R.I.P.), my high rise trousers/your high rise trousers (?), a room, your life with me throughout this incredible journey. I have learned so much from you; so will your lucky future Sailors. You sooo wise. Love ya Sis, God bless - Katey

Bret M. Anstett

Civil Engineer Corps

This guy rowed and he went to class.

"Every day is a good day, just some are better than others."-Ivan MacArthur



Caleb J. Bekemeier

Surface Warfare Officer

Caleb Bekemeier, proud son of Munger, Michigan, has graced all those who encounter him with his outstanding humor and companionship. From his plebe days as the Pokemon Master of the 7th wing basketball courts, where he brought laughter to his classmates to his firstie days in charge of the wardroom, where he bought new furniture (twice!), Caleb had a way to make people smile. The Friday Night Adventure Club (which has yet to get T-shirts) was his brainchild, and the journeys he lead, to haunted houses and theme parks or movies and milk shakes made many a weekend wonderful. He could often be found perusing eBay looking to procure a rare addition to his enviably expansive LEGO collection: there's not a midshipman around that could find a better deal than Caleb. And in the end, he may have the best deal of all: a new destroyer out of Japan, right after graduation. Good luck dude, and I'm glad I got to spend my time here with you.

Sean M. Blochberger

USMC Ground

Deep within the Womb of Time the creature thus be born. Part Irish Bard, part Wu-Kong, Mike's genetic makeup is as varied as his cultural affections. Mike could be equally content in the courts of Emperor Da Yinjing, the stone temples of Montezuma, or the palaces of Ras Tafari. Thankfully, he chose the halls of the U.S. Naval Academy. Under Mike's leadership as Company Commander, Thirteen couldn't have been luckier. A dedicated member of the Virginia Company, Mike's skills on the basketball court are only outshined by his heroic napping abilities, which have won him the title, "The Flaccid Koi." His Hobbit-like talent for music, oft displayed with a toot of his tin whistle or a blast of his bag pipe, was only eclipsed by his ability to twist stories that truly awed and astonished. To those of the Sweaty Frying Bog Pan, Mike will always be the Orkiest Boi, yet as a Marine Officer Mike's wit, loyalty, and credibility will be to the great benefit and sincere enjoyment of all those he will serve alongside. Semper Fi brother.

Robert E. Bruss

Submarines

Robert Bruss, a.k.a. "Robot-Bruss," a.k.a "Robert the Bruce" hails from the great northwestern territory of Oregon. Raised to have impeccable poise by Gwen and Larry Bruss, this brother of Don and Lauren Bruss (and sometimes adopted son of all-star sponsors Tom and Jill Webber), was the proud XO of Golf Company during Plebe Summer 2012, and then of 13th Company. A 4-year member of the Heavyweight Crew Team, this mountain of a man was not known for his propensity to have fun—in fact, on the one occasion he did, he permanently scarred his visage, earning him his fourth and final nickname: The "Crimson Chin." From the shores of the Severn, Robert will proceed to MIT, where he plans to woo many a fair maid, before taking his smarts to the depths of the oceans as a submarine officer.

Elías M. Cabrera

USMC Ground

Elias Cabrera, affectionately known as "Beans," may have four eyes, may be short, and may not speak the language you would assume that he should be able to speak, but inside this little bundle of joy is more motivation than most can handle. His selection as a Marine has been a long time coming whether he knew it during his Plebe year or not, it was his destiny. The Corps is strong with this one, and much like a young Jedi, this Marine is not afraid of the challenges to come. Just so long as no one expects him to eat quickly or tell time on an analog clock.

Timothy J. Cadigan

Navy Pilot

Tim may be short in stature but never in words. Utilizing his mastery of the English language, Tim coxed as a four year member of the heavyweight crew team, served as thirteenth company's wardroom prime librarius, and co-founded the finer things club with Will McGee. After his own plebe summer, he returned twice more: once as administrative assistant and again as regimental commander. As the thirteenth company ball run commander, Tim stunned the chain of command with his organization and charisma. A member of the 2% club and a devout Roman Catholic, Tim says he couldn't have made it without the loving support of his parents John and Connie and his siblings Mary, Billy, Michael and Susie. In September, he'll take to the skies over Pensacola. HATFIELD!

Houssein Chawiche

Lebanese Navy

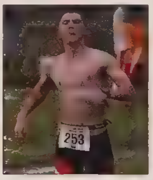
Midshipman Houssein Chawiche cannot wait to return to his home of Lebanon where he received all his strength, honor, courage, and loyalty from the milk that the ancient Gods of Phoenicia fed him. He will be at the tip of the spear for counter terrorism operations off the coast of Lebanon. Houssein looks forward to and will establish a foundation of long lasting relations between Lebanon and 'Merica! He prefers to go by Chewy because he is the youngest of the Chews. His friends remember him most for his contagious humor and energy he exuded. He excelled at in his role as the Lebanese ambassador to Armadillos' Bar and Grill, especially in the second half of his second semester, Firstie year. Whether it be the pistol team locker room or the Washington Hilton, Houssein has a knack for opening doors that are closed. I, along with all with friends, am fortunate for the meeting Chewy and look forward to remaining friends across time and wherever our divergent paths lead. Keep on being Habbebe, Chewy!

Natasha N. Druggan

Surface Warfare Officer

Running fast in circles is a specialty of Natasha Druggan. Though her volleyball and racket ball skills may dictate otherwise, Natasha is an incredibly accomplished athlete. Though some of her professors have their (unfounded) doubts about her academic ability (see Plebe chemistry), MIDN Druggan is incredibly adept of turning quality, procrastinated work. "When you wait 'till the last minute, it only takes a minute" is a motto MIDN Druggan lives by. Why procrastinate? Because that's how you get to bed at ten thirty every night, of course! Tasha was always a fan of napping, and even thought that 10 days of restriction was worth sleeping through racket ball class (at least, that's what she thought when she hit the snooze button). All joking aside, Natasha is a great friend, an awesome team mate, and a fantastic person. It's been a pleasure running with her for four years. She's going to make big waves in the SWO community (and literally while surfing in Hawaii!)

Joseph G. Economou



USMC Ground

Raised in Normal, Illinois but this future Marine Ground Officer is anything but simply normal. Here are just a couple of things that portray what is Joe. The Oasis. Enjoys sleeping in freshly washed bed linens. Mcgoogan breaking irons. Tossing out TVs out windows. Tossing water balloons on unexepecting Zoomies. Can't forget about Senior's Chiefs "catch everything" inspections. Gotta love those Friday night movie nights. YESTH! MEAT! Catching mice and disposing of the properly of course. 5am wake up calls by your local sanitation department. Hello Seattle Remake. Capt. Phil Harris. Navy Sprint. Toblerone? "Excuse me are you a teacher?" Pillow talk with the tripod, plus it's always good to get a women's perspective on things. Is that your sister or your girlfriend? Your girlfriend? I don't believe you. 5 stripes…sellout…you've changed.

Caitlin J. Foran

USMC Ground

She is affectionately known as "Cakes" and "Our Free Spirit." Katey is a hard charger who goes after her goals full speed ahead. She has an affinity for creepy kitties, waking her roommates up, and having conversations with you in her sleep. She is the most unique, manic, caring, excitable, loving, and faithful person you will ever meet. When she's not smacking in her sleep or eating the entire contents of the fridge you can find her involved in any and everything on the yard. Of her many accomplishments the one that stands out most is being a true friend and confidant. Late night talks about everything from race to religion; she always wants to know more. The Marine Corps is lucky to have her. –Proverbs 27:17 "As Iron sharpens iron, so one 'woman' sharpens another." Never stop walking with God, you will go far. –Love, Dani

Jonathan M. Gazaille

Supply Corps

Jack behind the mystery blanket. YESTH! But she’s kinda cute Jon…NO. Matt Damon. I caught a mouse; jump school, he’s still alive. Joe and Darrin coming back early from a road game, uh oh. “What did I just do?” The wonders the Superman blanket holds. “Darrin I need you, this is what brothers are for”. 21st birthday bash still searching for memories. Wanna grab chipotle? How bout WaWa? You be perfect. “Can I go pee now?” Pandora’s Box. “This TV is huge.”Health and Wellness 2011. Senior Chief room inspections. Jackie how’s that Spanish homework. What is under that 3 foot tall pile? Where are my clippers Jack? The Olympic Village. Real World 7th Wing. What’s that squeaky noise? Dock St. 17-13, 11 times. Getting huge. Time to go count hamburgers for the fleet. One last crazy summer. For the TRIPOD and Jackie.

Stephen Geiss

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Phillip A. Giammanco

USMC Pilot

Phillip Andrew Giammanco. GI. GI the man. GI Man & Co. Mr. Banco. GI, spanker of…MIDN Giammanco is a man of many names. He is also a man with many knives. They say that the pen is mightier than the sword, but Phil knows better. One look at the scars on his hands and you too shall know that the flashiness of a butterfly knife comes at a price. Let it be known that GI is also a man of strength. Who else could put a fully grown grizzly bear on its back with a single waft from his odorous feet? If Phil could warp the boundaries of reality (he claims to have majored in physics), then he would be found soaring through the skies on the back of an eagle with a well-cleaned rifle in hand, firing liberty and justice across the lands. If, however, you were to look at the genuine version of Phil, you would see a man whose intelligence is matched only by his humility. He is truly a remarkable person. You could never forget him. Or his feet.

Ernest J. Halton

Navy Pilot

The Man, The Myth, “The Clutch.” Ernest Halton, better known as EJ, is what many people would call the epitome of a true friend. From the early days of seeking wisdom from “Sensei” in Miami Beach, to multiple nights of blaring music through his headphones that could cause any ordinary person permanent ear damage, EJ has demonstrated how a person can be both a baller on the court and the life of the party. If you were to ask how one can be a true friend and still be able to rock mad game of You Got Served, look no further because EJ is all of that and more. It isn't easy being a humble intramural basketball champion while living amongst commoners, but he does it effortlessly. There is no doubt that if you come across EJ in the street, in the club, or out in the fleet your life will forever change. His loyal friendship and sincere compassion are unmatched, and for that your TPB brothers will always have your back.

Jack J. Hilt

USMC Ground

Jack Hilt is a wrecking ball of a human being. According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency he falls somewhere between a cyclone and a volcanic eruption. But one cannot be fooled by what is seemingly a lack of refinement. Jack is known to have exquisite tastes in wings, beer, and friends. All of which are complemented by a colorblind thirst for exotic women of all sizes and ages (17.5 years and up). A haus in the weight room and a friend of most if you run into jack you've run into a good time. Just be sure to wash your hands after.

Julian E. Jerzerick

USMC Ground

MIDN 1/C JULIAN JERZERICK, Senior Squad leader on the yard (3 consecutive semesters) is a dedicated athlete, leader and friend. He gives over 100% in everything he does even if he is just on the sidelines watching. Julian is willing to assist friends in any way, everything from an empathetic ear to lending his car out. He doesn't think twice about taking care of those around him. On the field Julian was a keystone and a leader for the Sprint Football's defensive line. Julian carries his effort into all other aspects of his life. Majoring in Computer Engineering, Julian has endured a highly technical and diverse curriculum and maintains high grades doing so. Julian will be a unique asset to the Marine Corps whether he serves in the air or on the ground. His contagious energy and dedication to excellence and others will serve him and those that work with him whenever he may go.

Shain A. Jowett

SEALs

Shain - What a guy. Any community would be lucky to have him.

Alexander J. Kersey

Medical Corps

Having been selected for the Medical Coprs, Alec Kersey is the man to talk to if you need a band aid, tourniquet, Neosporin, hug, or advice for midshipman problems, Alec Kersey is the man you need to talk to. Alec has a constant stream of female visitors that bring him tribute in the form of Greek yogurt and ice cream in exchange for his undivided attention. Being a chemistry major, Alec packs his weekdays full of study time, surfing the chive or sleeping in his chair/coach. On the weekends Alec can be found scaling mountains, jumping out of planes and snowboarding. His roommates believe Alec partakes in all these hobbies in an effort to pack more gear into the extra closet in the room despite his offer to share it with the rest of room. Alec is quite simply the most interesting Navy doctor in the fleet.

Hobart K. Kistler

Supply Corps

If you are going to talk about Hobart Kistler, make sure you get your sound bites right, big man! Hailing from the quasi-Amish encampment of Colyer, PA, "BRObie" is not your typical backwoods good 'ol boy. Indeed, there is something about this goose-stepping PA Dutchman that sets him apart from most Midshipmen… and anyone else who wasn't raised by veterans of Guadalcanal and the Bulge. Possessed of a flawless, perpetual comb over, and a voice that belongs in a 1953 instructional film on self-hygiene, his quest to find the perfect napping spot met with fruition in the very yachts of the grueling "sport" in which he excelled. In any field but engineering, his cronies look to HKK to cogently opine; for when not exploring the jungles of Costa Rica or Chile's Antarctic reaches, he has studiously absorbed every detail of each academic lecture. In spite of his affection for White Christmases, we are certain that our controversial "best pal's" dedication to the standards of the naval service, commitment to developing others, and patriotic enthusiasm will serve him well as he "guards the books" in the Supply Corps. CAAAAAW! –PSL

Pamela V. Lander

USMC Ground

It is a grave understatement to call Pamela the "Little Train That Could". Rather, she is a trail blazing MRAP that plows through all obstacles without slowing down and roars a war cry that quickly frightens the foe into the submission. Hell hath no fury like Pamela Virginia Lander. Pam has extraordinary strength, determination, and faith that only God could have bestowed upon her. God has proven that He can fill a small frame with sublime virtue and talent. She's not small. She is simply everything-that-is-wonderful-concentrate. If I was Yoda, she'd be my buddy-carrying Luke Skywalker. My adventures with Pam could never be the same than with anyone else. I could never have a greater friend than Pam; my partner in crime. - Jill

Sean M. Lavelle

Naval Flight Officer

Sean Lavelle's animal equivalent is a hawk. He clearly satisfies the level of intelligence necessary, as he's published multiple articles in Proceedings Magazine and earned a VGEP spot at Johns Hopkins. When granted leave, he sometimes migrates back to his nest in Philadelphia, PA. As a plebe, his sharp eyes never missed an opportunity to send a hilarious email from an unsuspecting account despite them being terribly blackened from the incessant punching they received at boxing. As a youngster, his long, warm wingspan coddled the plebes, providing the unfailing guidance they sought. As a 2/c, the class of 2015 fell prey to the shredding of his sharp talons. Sean truly became a hawk 1/c year with his dedication as a wingman and his service selection as a Naval Flight Officer. Soar on!

Philip S. Lee

Submarines

The day Phil Lee quit his lawn tractor and left dear-old Bolingbroke was, in fact, merely the first in a long series of physical activities from which he bowed out (a.k.a. quit), typically citing some freakish injury or dubious chit as justification to his incredulous classmates. While members of "da…Squad" marveled as his ability to actually complete a MCM, his intimates, having witnessed his four-year marathon of Aero homework, were un-phased. Finding calmer seas in the D&B and Rifle Team, this inveterate straight shooter often tooted his own horn at night, for all the Brigade to hear. As a Firstie, much to his pals' chagrin, he tragically mistook Taylor Swift's lyrics to read "When you're in Fifteen…" But ask this most patient, humble, industrious, sincere, (and, yes, cynical) of our chums to what he most looks forward in the Submarine Force, and he'll likely respond in near-perfect Japanese: "Ah….Yaysss." ~HKK

Benjamin W. Lloyd

USMC Ground

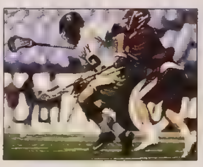
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kevin M. Martin

Submarines

The Naval Academy is a cocoon that takes caterpillars and turns them into butterflies. Kevin Martin came here as a butterfly, though, so it never really knew what to do with him. The Naval Academy issued him one monitor. He bought and used 5 more. The Naval Academy held interviews for people who wanted to be Battalion Commander. Kevin didn't want to be Battalion Commander but interviewed "just for the experience" and ended up having to be Battalion Commander. The Naval Academy taught him that submarines go underwater. Kevin tried to fly one off of a 30 ft platform. The Naval Academy didn't know what to do with him, but it will definitely miss him. "I didn't steal your sleepers." Congrats on the DGA.

Evan R. McGoogan



SEALs

Evan Robot McGoogan likes sleeping, eating, and lifting. This excellent chef enjoys cooking wearing nothing but an apron. His lumberjack look and his smooth ways learned from "the book" make him a favorite among the ladies. Evan is hardworking and a sincere friend who always has your back. He has earned the opportunity to go to BUDS and become a SEAL.

Brianna M. McLeod

Naval Flight Officer

Bri McLeod, a native of Kansas City, is more than “just any ol’ friend.” She is defined best my one word... Faithful! Yes, faithful. From reminding those around her that “friends don’t let friends skip leg day!” to dragging friends along when she does “insanity workouts.” This Navy NFO select, turned around all odds deciding to do an extra lap around the track as a super firstie with 2013. Originally a member of the Class of 2012, she took time off to bring into this world the cutie in the picture, “Junior,” the love of her life next to Christ whose unchanging hand has brought her this far and will continue to take her forward.

Dominic G. Montez

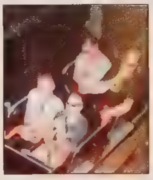
Surface Warfare Officer

Nick "Rack Monster" Montez is infamous amongst his classmates for his huge cannon camera and artistic photography style. He can be found on the sidelines of most Navy events documenting each moment through his unnecessarily large telephoto lens. During his free time, he can be found serenading the rats of Bancroft hall with his Spanish guitar playing or in the shop building his own six string from scratch. Nick will be commissioning into the SWO-IP community where his incessant video gaming skills will be utilized most effectively, and he wishes to spend many years in Japan. Nick has been an integral part of 13th company since the beginning of plebe summer and is an individual who will remain close in the hearts of all of his company mates.

Nicholas D. Patitsas

USMC Pilot

Patient. Mannerly. Refined. None of these words describes the entity that is Nicholas "The Merciless Consumer" Patitsas. A born fighter, Niko made a name for himself by placing epic Greek-style buttermilk beat downs on opponents in the Academy Dojo and by absorbing blows to the groin with the utmost stoicism. Other days, he spent sports period attacking stuffed animals in his rack like a truly "lazy, lazy guy." Favorite activities include squeezing ducks in DTA, Falcon-punching plastic cups at Pusser's, feeding with Fiddlesticks, and audibly devouring anything edible in his vicinity, much to the delight of his roommates. Do not, however, let his rich repertoire fool you; this Band of the Hawk mercenary has always enjoyed a high standing among his peers, as well as a deserved reputation as a principled and compassionate friend. After graduation, this future Marine pilot will bring his locust-like appetite to Quantico, where he will surely continue to make a positive impression on whomever he meets as a good-natured warrior and steady leader. Best of luck, buddy!



Chance M. Rauscher

Navy Pilot

When Chance Rauscher was born, like all Montanans, he was inspected. If he was small or puny or sickly or misshapen, he would have been sent back. From the time he could stand, he was baptized in the fire of combat… things like extreme outdoor survival, wrestling, and hunting dangerous game. During his time at the Academy, Chance worked diligently to excel in all things engineering. With an out of this world ability to do almost anything with MATLAB, Chance spent much of his free time modeling complex interactions of dynamic fluid flow when he wasn't busy building an actual rocket, or enjoying a pint o' Guinness (or 16) in Dublin, Ireland. His love of space and naval aviation will surely benefit him in his future endeavors, though. When humans finally step foot on Mars, expect Chance Rauscher to be one of the first, if not THE first to do so. –PSL

Joshua J. Reed

Navy Pilot

Whether it be late night homework sessions, late night aero sessions, or more likely than not late night video game sessions, Mr. Jack Reed truly encapsulated the NORDing spirit and all that it entails. Hailing from Arnold, MD, one would think he is a merely home-grown Naval Academian, which is slightly true as he is the the 11th family member coming from the Academy. However, he has been across the country literally from sea to shining sea, living in California and Maryland and a couple places in between. He is internationally renowned, living in England where he was huge hit with the ladies. Jack finally achieved his dream of becoming a Naval Pilot, and over the past four years has grown into a fine man and an even better friend to everyone. Whether it be taking over Gettysburg, tearing the slopes up in Vermont/Colorado, or building sand traps in the Bahama's, Jack always had a mischievous and adventurous side to him. Jack's prowess on the soccer field is renowned: he once defeated a Florida private college's soccer team single-handed. Jack's quick-wit, steady judgement, and affable charisma will make a superb pilot for the United States Navy.

Peter A. Roemer

Submarines

Peter Roemer: mathematician, Trident Scholar, epee fencer, and... Black N. Under his watch, the fencing team flourished. From presiding over the burial at sea of the fencing team's adopted mascot (may the Clam rest in peace), to the multiple conference championships the team has brought home, Peter's leadership has been indispensable to Navy Fencing's success. If he wasn't with the fencing team, Peter was "working" on his Trident project---- and he never forgot to let you know what a time commitment Trident was. Peter is privileged to count himself as one of the roughly 40% of the 2013 members of Poseidon's cutlery club (Trident Scholars) to have experienced major conduct trouble. As a seafork scholar, he spent the majority of firstie year pretending to work on his project, then realized in April that it was, in fact, due that month. His incredible ability to be productive at the last minute will serve him well in Nuke School and as a Sub officer.

PREVENT EROSION
DO NOT SHORT CUT

Ryan A. Ryman

USMC Pilot

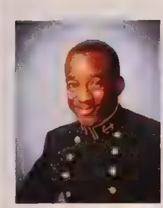
"No better friend, no worse enemy." It's a good thing that Marines are known by such a quote, because Ryan Ryman embodies this to the fullest extent. He may be cute and cuddly most days, but he will never hesitate to ground fight you into what some call submission and what others may call a UCMJ offense. Nevertheless, he is an all-around good guy. He hails from the great Midwestern state known as Kansas. [Insert comment about the Wizard of Oz here]. He also has the amazing ability of conditioning his body while playing video games, which explains why he can remain in tip top physical condition, despite seemingly doing no exercise. There are so many ways to describe Ryan. He is Thing 1 and Thing 2. He is his own evil twin. He is what comes out of Pandora 's Box. But more than anything, he truly is the best friend a person could have.

Jillianne D. So

Surface Warfare Officer

I remember meeting you on I-day and being intimidated by your great stature (All 6 feet of it to be exact), as I could barely reach your shoulders. But that didn't stop me from wanting to start a friendship with you. And what a privilege it has been to see our friendship grow. You taught me your ways, from religiously watching NCIS, The Big Bang Theory, and Chopped, to enjoying an eventful night of "beating" George at Mario Kart, to being a chips eating goddess, and to serving others through showing them God's compassionate ways through your actions. You have faced your obstacles head on and have built a greater foundation for yourself that will take you back to your "California Dreamin" state and to the world. Mahal kita, sis. "Thanks for the adventure. Now go have a new one." -Pam

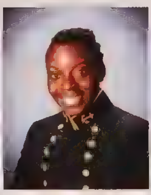
Class of 2014



Jonathan Charles

Zachary Cornelius

Tyler Cox

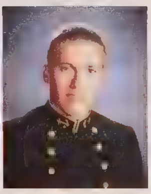


Rebecca Dolce

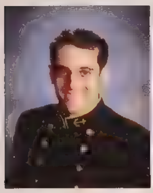
Christopher Frantz

Brianna French

Ethan Greco



Ian Hagen



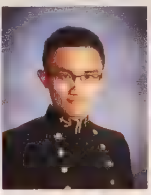
Cameron Harrigan

Wyatt Hill

Michael Huf

Eric Jacobs

Marissa Lihan



Yujen Lu

Andrew Mighty

Nicholas Moser

Tyler Nechanicky

Allen On

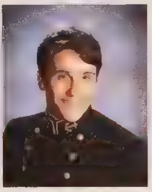
Akheel Patel

Ben Radford

Kareem Radwan

Gerald Rimmer

Kalli Schulz

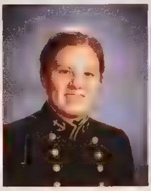


Taylor Setness

Rachel Slater

James Theodos

Christopher
Thompson



Rheanna Vaughn

Gabriella
Villarrealross

Tory West

Collin Wood

Class of 2015

Joshua Babb

Philip Bilden

Casey Browne

Mark Buck

Evan Davis

Siwen Dickstein

Catherine Eichhorn

Rebekkah Esquivel

Robert Fuentes

Zachery Hebda

Alexander Hoersten

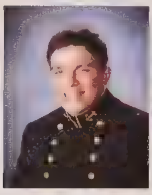
John Hogsett

Rachel Hunter

Alec Jarm

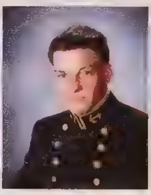
Michael Jones

Shin Jung



Jarrett Kleintop

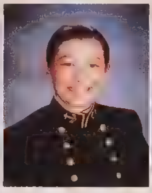
Andrew Kraft



Colby Lederer

Marcus Lewis

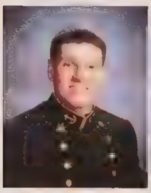
Eliud Martinez



Venus Molony

Abigail Nagel

John Nyaradi



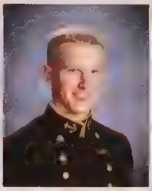
Logan O'shea

Louis Panek

Dana Petersen

Katherine Quinn

Daniel Ring

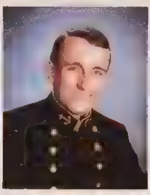


Jacob Sanborn

Nickolaus Seeberger

John Sloan

Wyatt Stone



John Stuy

Jeramy Triplett

Kaitlyn Tullock

Jonathan Wardadams

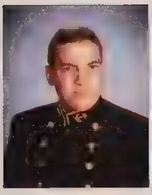
Brian Wasdin

John Wiemann

Eric Young

Jesse Yuan

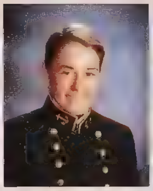
Class of 2016



Ricardo Atiles

Mark Brashears

Sarah Brown



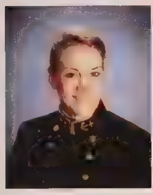
Renata Bucher

Sean Casey

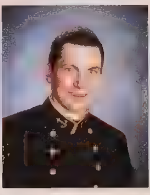
Rebecca Chamberlin

Joseph Chilbert

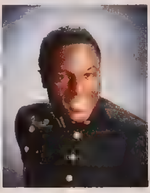
Michael Dennison



Francesca Emanuele

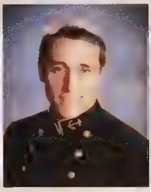


Steven Emde



Glendrevious Harris

Christopher Huynh



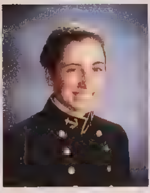
William Jones

William Kacergis

Matthew Kolinko

John Lee

Colin Magaro



Juliana Mellgard

Alexander Morales

Zachary Nelson

Sean O'donnell

Greggrie Ogarro

Jacob Plumb

Steven Reidel

Benjamin Rice

Rebecca Richmond

William Rose

Blaze Ryder

Keely Simonson

Nicholas Skeen

Victoria Spies

Kevin Strotz

Peter Suess

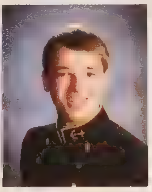
Brendon Troutman

Philip Villani

Nicholas Villemez

Jett Watson

Eric Wellmon



Nicholas Woods

ACAD

Company

14

Julian G. Abellar

Surface Warfare Officer

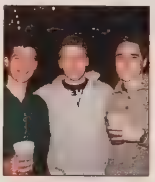
Addicted to higher education from an early age, Julian Gonzaga "JG" Abellar began his quest for a Bachelor of Science Degree on the hallowed grounds of San Diego State University. While the Southern California Sunsets and the exotic environment of San Diego will always be home to Julian Gonzaga Abellar, this son of Senior Chief Abellar could no longer ignore the call of duty after only one year at SDSU. Julian Gonzaga began his Naval Journey on the opposite coast at the prestigious Naval Academy Prep School in Newport, Rhode Island. After a year of intense academic study and limited liberty, Julian made his way to Annapolis for I-Day with the Great Class of 2013. After 4 years as the color-man and virtual Guide-On of 14th Company, ENS(sel.) Abellar will be joining the crew of the Navy's greatest Frigate, the USS Vandergrift. Julian was known, during his four years on the banks of the Severn, as THE standard bearer of the Naval Profession in the halls of 7th wing if not in the entirety of the Yard. Julian prides himself, and is held in high esteem by all of his company mates, for his intense level of compassion. For example, an animal lover from an early age, Julian Gonzaga utilized the "catch-and-release" method of catching mice exclusively and saved countless lives of Bancrofts most loved and revered residents. Fair winds and following seas sea warrior Abellar!

Justin P. Aleshire

Navy Pilot

MIDN 1/C Justin Aleshire (aka Jibba-Jabba, Beer-Hobbit, or the feared Black-shire) has made the most of his four years by the Bay. After picking the dark art of Electrical Engineering as his major and sacrificing small furry mammals in the basement of Rickover for four years, he will enter the Submarine Corps following graduation. One can only hope that his skills in the art of speech and articulation with allow him to clearly convey his orders, at least he can grow out that molest-ache again. In any case, Justin will be guaranteed a rack and not have to spend 30 days on the streets of Detroit, 7 of them without a blanket. For four years I have lived with Justin's borderline OCD and have come close to choking him as he decides to bravo his desk at 0230 on a Wednesday night, but through it all he has become one of my best friends and I am fortunate to know him. I know that he will serve his country proudly for however long he decides to stay in, and make his family and friends (note the lack of a significant other in this description because unless he stops telling girls that they have the same name as his sister before he even tells them his name and works on his liberty attire, 15 year old hoodies are not classy, he'll just stay married to the navy) proud. Go Wings.

Aric R. Allen



Navy Pilot

Aric Allen does, in fact, lift bro. When he is not in the gym getting huge you can be sure to find him around deck drinking pre or post workout, depending on his lift schedule. But what many people don't know is how many other teams he has been on before finally settling into his niche as 14th company lifting boss. Let's try golf, football kicker, or Battalion Softball for starters. And what about powerlifting and even the pistol team way back plebe year. Wherever he finds himself, you can be sure he will be going strong. He will take his friendly attitude with him to Pensacola for flight school where it will serve in conjunction with his study skills learned as a history major. To all the skeptics out there, Aric is actually "Sorry for Partying."

Bryan D. Bernreuther

USMC Pilot

MIDN Bryan Bernreuther, one of the Pillars of Rage, was born old. Over Plebe summer, "Old-Man Bernreuther" learned the four Weapon Safety Rules forward and backward, or was it backward and forward? His most challenging billet, doodle-crew commander pushed his organizational and culinary skills to the limit. His European tendencies came from extensive traveling in Western Europe, the land of his ancestors (the Anglo-Saxons, as he was born shortly after they migrated to the English Isles). He is a History major, an appropriate choice as Old-Man Bernreuther has been alive for most of it. On the soccer field, his strides earned him the nickname one-speed Bernreuther. Bernie selected Marine Pilot, his lifelong dream. Since then, he knows only the following phrases in various orders: "Oohrah, Devil Dog, Marine Corps, Yut yut." Bryan is extremely dependable. He will serve his country proudly. Americans can rest peacefully knowing Bryan is standing watch.

Nicole M. Breen

Navy Intelligence

Those who have had the pleasure of interacting with Nicole "Breenie" Breen while at the Academy can attest to her magnetic charm, radiating smile, and warm motherly love. She emits an aura of joy in even through some of the most challenging times here. To many she was just a smiling midshipman, but to those who really know her, she is more than that. She is someone who can be counted on to lend a helping hand or a patient ear, someone to turn to for advice or embrace for comfort. She is a classmate, a teammate, and most importantly a friend. The hallways will miss the joyful presence of Nicole Breen, but the fleet will be blessed with a wonderful woman, who will undoubtedly touch and influence the lives of many.

Kevin W. Crank

Surface Warfare Officer

As grand leader and spokesperson of the Nerd Triumvirate, Kevin "The Sea Lord" Crank is an integral part of 14th Company's Class of 2013. Often the voice of reason, Kevin was the last plebe of his class to begin skating media, waiting until nearly Spring Break to do so. And this was only the beginning of what will surely prove to be an illustrious career in the United States Navy. When he is not strictly adhering to the rules and regulations of Midshipmandom OR stepping up to take command of the company in the many absences of the Company Commander OR keeping everyone united under the banner of "JJ", the Sea Lord can be found Sinking the Bismarck, exploring the four corners of Middle Earth, fighting for the Starks, mining cubes of poorly rendered obsidian, becoming overly excited about extremely dry historical readings, or keeping his roommates on the straight and narrow (only occasionally getting swept up in their shenanigans). One day, Kevin aspires to be either an admiral, or the best board game designer the world has ever seen. Maybe both. Only time will tell. No matter what the future holds for Kevin, one thins is certain: without his unwavering determination and faith, the world would not be the same. Go Navy Football!

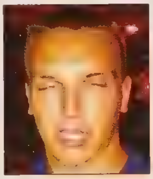
Tieara M. Daniels

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Tieara Monique Daniels enjoys the simple life of buying a lot of clothes and changing her hairstyle all the time. No seriously, sometimes it's long, the next day it's short, and the day after it's a different color. If not at the mall or the hair salon, she is most likely eating at her desk watching TV. Everyone is envious at how little she can work out, how much she can eat, and how she still stays in shape. She participated in every varsity sport at the Academy with the exception of swimming, but she spent enough time in the pool to put it down on her resume anyway. After 3.5 years of showing up to practice she finally retired to the life of a varsity racklete. If not napping during sports period, she can be found fixing all the problems of 7th wing. She also likes the Greek life and Infantry Fireteams.

Ross B. Desoto

USMC Pilot



Ross, Dechodo, Chodes, the Choden one, le choden un, Chodasaurus Rex, Master Chode, el chode. As wide as he is, Chodes has been plenty of fun over the years. The only member of the Broasis to make it as a 2%er, Ross was still always down for a good party. The glory days of Texas football soon left the Chode as he turned to seeing just how chodey he could get in his rack NARPing. Not to mention his "singing" in the shower for 30 minutes. Ross's care for those he worked with was unparalleled and will contribute immensely to his success as a Marine. DAJ MJW MNP

Shawn M. Donnelly

Information Warfare

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Thomas J. Dowd

Submarines

Though he hails from the City on the Bay, while at the USNA, Thomas is at home in the squash courts, playing Frisbee, or managing the 2006 San Francisco Giants from the comfort of his desk. He is an academic savant and master of Mandarin even known to tout his fluency in his sleep. Ethics threw him a Curveball but Thomas has shown his propensity as a leader of men; effectively preventing the breakout of WWIII over an incident on the streets of Tianjin. Ever selective in roommates he and Mike were always courteous to remind the third wheel that their stay was temporary. The last four years have been filled with exciting adventures from NYC to Lake Tahoe and the luxurious Shenandoah Valley. The Submarine Fleet is lucky to count Thomas as one of their own.

Adam A. Drucker

Surface Warfare Officer

Some call him crazy, others insane. Most, though, just call him Adam, usually while shaking their heads. Known best for his exploding closets, recycled civilian clothing, and wandering the halls of Mother-B while barefoot, Adam spends his free time playing video games, frantically writing computer code until 3 AM, and firing any one of his 15,000 firearms at the local range. He went from being the "nearly" silent phone talker plebe year to the sonorous Skype shouter youngster year, to the now cool, "I'll answer my phone when I'm damn good and ready" guy right before graduation. No one knows the Beers List at the Ram's Head better, no one makes a better guacamole from the comfort of his own computer chair, and you would be hard pressed to find a more loyal friend than Adam. After graduation, Adam wants to make the best of his Naval career, no matter how long or short it may be, be the best representative for his division possible, perhaps join the French Foreign Legion, and, someday, become the King of the Congo. He figures that being royalty can't possibly be any harder that being the Head 0530 Brigade Workoutee for the past three and a half years. There can be no doubt that 14th Company, the Brigade of Midshipmen, and the world as a whole would be a far less interesting place without Adam Drucker.

Nicholas J. Duesler

Submarines

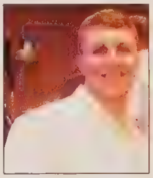
"DUESLER!" Who knew that when the detailers were calling for the only member of 5th Squad, they were addressing the future Commander of 14th Platoon? This beacon of hope for the Fleet is a true philosopher. An avid Ayn Rand expert with a classy taste in girlfriends and sweater vests, it was always clear that this man could grace the cover of GQ magazine…as long as you don't look too closely at the brand of "civilian" clothes he wears. A generous friend, Nick Duesler will always be there for us. After all, Duesler always pays his debts, especially on the toll roads!

Jacqueline I. Fisher

USMC Ground

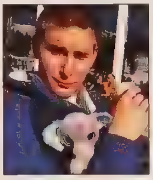
Jacqueline Irene Fisher should be given the title of "Unofficial Cheerleader" for most male sports teams at school. Sometimes she tries to follow a gluten-free diet – unless there is cake or cookies around. She spends all of her free time participating in a slave sport. Jay-kwel-in loves the Oceanography department… she does so much work and isn't even Honors! Navy Football better thank her for the hours she spent doing their homework. She loves her younger brother, who might be her twin (except for the age difference)? Jackie will be a valuable asset in the Marine Corps, she can fall asleep in the most uncomfortable situations, if she even needs sleep. Those interested in courting her can send your resume to her roommates; note that being a 4-year varsity athlete is mandatory. Good luck in the Corps, we know you will make a fine Infantry Officer! Love, Chloe and T

James B. French



USMC Ground

This snake eatin', beer sluggin', mustang wranglin', grid iron dominatin', sweet tea lovin', gun totin, Marine Corps selectin', stick weildin', lady killin', Hoover High Buccaneer is and has and will always be known as the curly wolf that would bulldoze any half sea'd flannel mouth or four flusher on the shoot, straight to the calaboose faster than you can say, "Dry gulch the Mexican Fandango".
ROLL TIDE But in all seriousness James Brye French is a man among boys. He is a physical specimen that dominated Navy athletics participating in four years of football and three in lacrosse. He is a hard nosed, trust worthy teammate who truly left it all out on the field. There is much more to Brye than physical prowess. He is a southern gentleman who knows maturity beyond his years, a determined student who earned his grades, and a lifelong friend capable of anything he puts his mind to.



Michael J. Gachowski

USMC Pilot

First to the fight, last one out—that is if you're talking about DTA favorites like Gallaway Bay or Ram's Head (even Fed house if you can run fast enough to miss the cover). Mike "Tree-Jeezy" Gachowski takes hard to handle to a whole new level. Whether it's on the slopes in Squaw Valley, a metal concert in DC, or Friday night in DTA, Dirty Mike and the BoysTM always go hard, especially when sucked into the vortex of rage. While maintaining a competitive QPR as a mech e, I don't think any of us ever saw him pick up a book. What did he do with all this free time you might ask? Take organic chemistry for fun and maybe a little Russian on the side—the only way he could keep from being bored. That's in addition to the over 3500 hours accrued behind the wheel of a tank, equating to over 12 days of his life. We're all glad to see mike going green side, although it's still a mystery as to how he managed that from the three-mile-club. Regardless, it's clear mike will do well wherever he ends up. Good luck from the rest of us in 14!

Christopher D. Galvin

Submarines

Chris Galvin does what Chris Galvin does because he is Chris Galvin. Whether it is being attracted to shiny objects, or spending hours in "The Tunnel", or dominating conversations in Philly, Chris holds the potential to accomplish anything he sets his mind to. But better than potential is accomplishment. Chris' resume' of internships, professional associations, superior academic performance, and commitment to physical excellence on the Cross Country Team are only outmatched by the conquered lands, created worlds, and tank battles won in his off-periods. The one-woman man from Austin devotes himself until the wee hours of the morning, much to the chagrin of his roommates. His fierce competitive drive, superb intellect, and physical prowess guarantee his success wherever he chooses to serve.

Dennis J. Hooks

Surface Warfare Officer

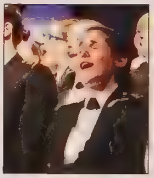
You may be surprised to learn that this student of English is more than just a Seattle hipster with a ritzy vocabulary, a gourmand's palate, and a humanities degree. Add to his list of accomplishments god of racket sports, crafter of incomparable improvised harmonies, world's biggest Navy Football Fan, and culinary mastermind. Here, ladies and gentlemen, is a man who – in a barren cell lacking stove or oven – can whip up a repast of steak, potatoes, asparagus, guacamole, and a wall of Cinnabons preventing you from doing your homework. Here walks a man of beneficence, benevolence, bounteousness, brilliance, and crippling side-jabs – if he even knows what any of those words mean. The genius behind the Marine Corps Fugue, Japanese Seder, and English as a real major, this Surface Warfare Officer will take the world by storm wherever he goes – be it Minneapolis, Ann Arbor, New York, Puerto Rico, or Estonia (oh wait...). Dennis Jeremiah Hooks – the man you need to add that little touch of class to all your social gatherings.

David A. Jackson

Submarines

David, DJ, Pontoons, Deej, THE Cobra Commander Himself. Whatever you call him you can usually find him prancing around with his arms out on the soccer field or sitting on the couch in his plebe issue underwear playing Fifa. Once an aspiring aviator, he took a bigger paycheck and decided to fly underwater as a submariner. Always a man of class you can find him on the weekend with his bowtie and pipe, drinking 'bout fo five for Dale until his teeth go numb and he's barkin' like a dog. Regardless, DJ will always have your back and might be the smartest in the Broasis for taking the money and running. RBD MJW MNP

Jennifer L. Jones



Nuclear Surface Warfare

Jenny Jones' accomplishments speak for themselves: Brigade Commander, Trident Scholar, Bowman Scholar, Field Hockey Defenseman, Glee Club Alto II, Esteemed Chamber Choir Member, Head Restrictee (Spring 2011), Corrosion Conference 2013 Singles Mingle MVP, Unofficial/Self-Sponsored/Self-Chosen/Not-at-all-asked Model for Lululemon, Brooks Brothers, Lily Pulitzer, J. Crew, Ralph Lauren, Vineyard Vines, and any other clothing company that outfits New England Prep Schools. In her defense, however, fashion is vital when voluntarily staring at yourself in the mirror twice a week during each Glee Club Rehearsal. With such a busy schedule, Jenny often needs to get away and relax, opting to sit back and enjoy some educational television and a nice Bloody Mary—extra spicy! Most people ask Jenny how she does it. It's simple really; she continually trains her mind....she even has calculus equations on her Toms! If someone tries to steer her down the wrong path she thinks "mmmmm better not". But Jenny's impressive success still leaves all of her friends matching pitch in sheer merriment and screaming "Aca-believe-it"!

Alexander K. King

Surface Warfare Officer

During Plebe Summer '09 we knew him as MIDN 4/C King-King-King-King. Our detailers, on the other hand, affectionately dubbed him Doofus Twin #2, his swim buddy being twin #1, a fact which Alex still recalls grudgingly. He spent a brief stint in the infamous Drum and Bugle Corps. He became the first of 14th Company's Plebe class to serve restriction due to D&B's timely visit to the New Orleans Mardi Gras while the Saints were busy winning the Super Bowl. Once an aspiring "two-percenter," Alex sorted through a series of 6-month "expiration dates," before finally finding the right girl during 1/C Summer. Some called him the Urban Cowboy on account of his civilian attire, until his fiancé sorted through his wardrobe. Despite being an English major, Alex speaks only Pennsylvania Dutch. He is a speed reader, and the kind of writer who could churn out a 5 page essay over lunch break, then turn it in the next period. He is obsessed with the horrific tales of H. P. Lovecraft, the drama of Shakespeare, and the suspense thrillers of Stephen King. Though Alex became a virtual wizard of GoogleDocs due to his Adjutant position, his most intensive Academy billet was 14th Company Dungeon Master. Among his best traits are friendliness and hospitality, opening his Pennsylvania country home to friends on many occasions. If you spend much time with the King family, it is clear that both of Alex's younger brothers look up to him, even though one of them happens to be a foot taller and fifty pounds of muscle heavier Alex King aspires to quickly earn his SWO pin, then transfer to the JAG Corps, and someday raise a family. If he shows the same passion in these pursuits that was evident in his time at the Academy, then he is sure to succeed all his aspirations.

Alexander G. Kornick

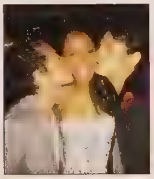
Submarines

With his incessant quoting of Star Wars, Michael Jackson dance moves and love for Katy Perry songs, Alex Kornick defies the mold of the average midshipmen. Alex displays his natural leadership skills through his unscrupulous manipulation of his friends, convincing them to scale waterfalls, ski off cliffs, and, most dangerous of all, challenge him to a game of Marco Polo in the diving well. Alex has put his physical fitness to good use, honing his skills on the intramural fields before rising to the international stage in men's crew. Nonetheless, his success in athletics has not always translated into success with the ladies (who can forget either Mariana or Marine?) despite taking every opportunity to flaunt his abs. Given his aviator's flow and love of the sun and outdoors, Alex shocked the world by going subs, proving that he is not all brawn and no brains. Alex embodies the true qualities of an inspirational leader and will undoubtedly extend his success into the fleet.

Mathew R. Kramer

USMC Ground

Mathew "Krame-dog" Kramer was shot out of the womb on the highest peak of the Rocky Mountains and shredded the gnar all the way down to the mountains base with a can of Coors in one hand and an M-4 in the other – not to mention a fresh zero fade. From that point on it was apparent to everyone that knew him, that Krame-daddy was destined for greatness. It seemed as though Krame-tron was always on the move. He was a master at balancing school with his jackedness. One may find him either slaving away in the quiet and lonely confines of Rickover or busting out ab-circuits like a freak of nature wherever there was space. As the proudest member of the 14th. Company family, in his spare time Pappa-Kramer serves his country proudly by guiding plebes down the path of righteousness with firm leadership and an even firmer knifehand. As long as there are plebes that need a'fixin, there will always be a Mathew Kramer. There is no doubt in my mind that MRK will be a great leader in God's Corps. Let us gingerly touch tips in brotherhood.



Arabia E. Littlejohn

Surface Warfare Officer

Arabia Essence AKA Rae Rae AKA LiLi AKA Pimpette AKA Arab Money$$ AKA MIDN Mayor. It's hard to find enough words that explain such an amazing roommate, friend, and even better person. Arabia Essence hails from Steubenville, Ohio (home of Dean Martin as she says). Fun, loving, and wild, Arabia's giggle cannot be mistaken with any other. A self proclaimed matchmaker, linguist (French, Chinese, and Jamaican Patwa speaker) AND notorious gossip queen, but she might take your secret to the grave if you promise her a new 18" weave. Arabia Essence is speedy on the track, a slick fast talker to the men, and accomplished twerker. While she loves driving her Mustang Convertible, her true passions are traveling the world, sailing (which led her into some trouble), and brightening up everyone's day with her beautiful smile. To the SWO community, here comes an ENERGY BOMB! You will never have a dull moment around her.

Jarred M. Mack

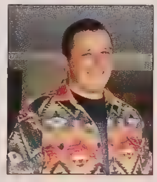
Supply Corps

Jarred McKinley Mack is the epitome of the word shipmate. He coined the phrase "See ya in the fleet" and "Everybody eats." He graduated having stood a motivational 13 days of restriction and a few demerits. He often escaped the conduct system via his wits, luck and one very forgiving Chief.(Do not use the elevator) He attempted the "Poli Sci and Fly" but ended up with Supply. From Houston, Texas he never hesitated to let everyone aware of it and even hung a Texas flag over his bed. Frequenting the local ice cream shops, he liked the soft serve the best. He didn't graduate first in his class but he was first in class.

Gregory R. McMillan

USMC Ground

Gregory R. McMillan, better known as Scrappy or Usher, is one of the nicest, most humble people that ever walked the face of the earth. As a young lad he was quickly cultured being raised overseas in Japan, Singapore, and Bahrain. Greg first entered the jaws of the U.S. public school system at the tender age of 15 after being evacuated from Bahrain. His cool, calm, collected composure eased his transition into the midshipman life we have all come to know and love. A Naps class of '09 Alumni and PT stud, Greg's "help one a day to keep the doctor away" attitude enabled him to touch many lives on USS Bancroft. As a double major in Science and Sleep, Greg excelled as an academic scholar while holding numerous positions in company and in extra circular activities. If Greg is not reading his Bible, spoiling his girl, or listening to a friend in need, he is most likely asleep. He loves to pass the time surfing Cynical Mids, Ifunny, or the Chive. Greg is a puppy lover and strives to defeat spring allergies along with the fifth level of cube runner. Greg is the epitome of service over self, on the fast track to become the next 2063 distinguished graduate.



Riley W. McSweeney

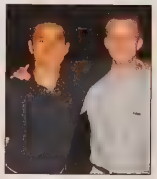
USMC Ground

Riley "Money Bags" McSweeney what can be said about him. Born on the West Coast he says it's the best coast but its obvious from his frequent trips to Houston firstie year that the Gulf Coast is best. Riley was a wealthy roommate in more than one way. He is always there to help a shipmate unless of course they ask him to pick them up a toothbrush while he is out in town. Riley really enjoys music and frequents artists such as Rome, Sublime, Bob Marley and of course MJ. His favorite vacation spot is Hawaii. He loves the beaches of Maui and the sweets at the Hokulani Bake Shop. Riley is one of the best friends someone could ask for.

Michael A. Moorman

USMC Pilot

Michael Anthony Moorman is of the highest Mexican-American caliber Midshipmen. He claims to have some Irish in him, but frankly that is just his excuse for literally knowing less spanish than a new born baby in Europe. Miguel prides himself on being the life of the party, he can often be found out in DTA with some sort of awesome shirt on and all too ready to buy the next round, the round after that, and quite possibly the next four rounds after that. While having a good time at all times is truly a staple of his demeanor, holding on to his credit card is not. He just has not been the same since he was back deep in the dark jungles of Nam. Miguel loves to also spend time in the gym, frankly we think he spends so much time in there so people focus more on his muscles and not the hitch in his giddyup he has while walking or running. Miguel also loves study hour which is filled with video games, movies, talking on the phone and eating all at the same time, who knew that the only thing he got out of a math major was being able to multitask better than anyone in the continental United States. While it is true that we lost Michael for some time to the slums of Baltimore, we are glad he got it out of his system and now he can focus more on hooking us up with his sister who clearly got the best looks of the Moorman clan. In short, Michael is a great friend to have and loves a good time, as long as he has a phone charged at full capacity to take neat instagram photos and leaves his shame and morals back on the yard. Luckily he is quite good at doing both.



Duc H. Nguyen

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Matthew N. Perry

Navy Pilot

Matt, Per-Bear, the biggest joe of the Broasis who did the best at disguising it with his flow. At any time you can walk into the room and find him kicked back in his issued chair sleeping in a position that would break lesser men's necks. When he wasn't sleeping he could be seen sitting next to a fire on his bear skin rug with a nice glass of cognac and a cigar caressing his aero books. Fortunately for Matt, his boyish looks have always played to his favor, especially when he started taking interest in high school sports... Perry's ever responsible presence (according to him) helped to always keep his friends out of the conduct system and will follow him down to Pensacola. RBD MJW DAJ

Matthew L. Raburn

Information Warfare

Originally from Memphis, Matthew Raburn commences from the Naval Academy into Information Warfare. Matt's history before the Naval Academy is a mystery of great intrigue; two things are known: (1) his unnatural eyesight is sensitive to light and absent of color, (2) he takes long naps in an extremely damp and dark place. I'm not saying he's Batman, but Matt and Batman have never been seen together. When Matt (Batman) came to the Naval Academy, he quickly became the roommate and confidant of the notorious Fenaughty. Following that quick brush with lawlessness, Matt became known as the strongest of Christians, a great friend, and quite possibly the greatest Halo player in the class of 2013. Matt is one of the most cherished individuals in 14th Company; USNA is certainly a better and brighter place for his time here. Matt will be missed dearly for his humor, mentorship, and technological brilliance.

Georgia A. Riojas

Navy Pilot

Georgia Peach as I like to call her "Alex" being her middle name has been one of the best roommates and friends you could have asked for here at the Naval Academy. Her personality, spunk, and random outburst of laughter for who knows what reason has kept us all smiling these past four years here. Alex has a big heart and would doing anything for anyone. Her dedication, her hard work, and her perseverance have made her very successful at the Academy - This place will not be the same without her. She will be service selecting Navy Pilot which she deserves tremendously, however, I do ask that you send us a mayday report when she finally gets up in the airplane alone. Haha just kidding! She will do great and everyone watch out for a potential Blue Angels' pilot one day. She is going to be big. I know it! The Naval Academy will miss her.

Patrick H. Seng

USMC Ground

If Patrick Seng, a true SoCal boy, had known what the weather would be like in Annapolis, he might never have come. If it wasn't 80° and sunny, he was cold, but this never kept him from the soccer field or running a practice PFT (YUT!). Anyone who came to his room could find him in one of three states: bobbing his head to dance music, sleeping (at the oddest times possible), or racing on Mario Cart as if his life depended on it. Despite never starting his home work until at least 2300 or never thinking about a paper until the day it was due, he somehow kept himself in the top 100 of the class his entire time at the Academy. Always a hardened cynic, Patrick perpetually looked to the motivating Marine Officers on the Yard to remind himself that brighter times were ahead. The only Training Officer to ever receive a Christmas card from his Plebes, Patrick defied Machiavelli by being both loved and utterly feared. A man of relentless drive and devotion, he is sure to succeed in whatever path he may follow. There is no better friend and no worse enemy than Patrick Seng. Mia San Mia.

Chloe J. Staab

Surface Warfare Officer

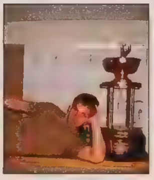
Chloe's whole world was turned upside down on a fateful night in San Diego. Although she had previous sworn off dating Mids following bad influences and awkward situations, she decided to give it one more drunken try… with Chris. Chloe has faithfully stood by Chris, and he finally was smart enough to put a ring on it, a very big ring at that, like he-spent-his-whole-Sub-bonus-on-it big. When not talking to Chris or writing papers about Iran, Chloe can be found sneaking off to her Bat Cave. This is, if a Bat Cave had wine and bubble baths. After a short time as CC, where she learned how hard it was to get rid of morning workouts, she retired to the MIR lifestyle of naps and online shopping, mostly just online shopping. Best of luck- Love, Fishy and T

Samuel F. Strelkoff

Submarines

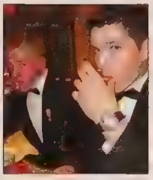
Like the great arctic hippo, this walruS of a man has always displayed a healThy aptitude foR all thIngs virile and manly. Being the greatest guy in the room isn't too Difficult for StrElkoff Strelkoffovitch Strelkoff; quick to appreciate everyoNe for whaT he or she brings to the table, you'll never hear this rotund Embodiment of Jollity say he dislikes anybody. He is also famous for acting like a bowling ball before morning workouts, generating copious Drool stains on the front of his shirt, snow PTing, claiming he won't buy any food on an MLK Day trip to Chicago (karaj meat), being guilt-tripped, cinnabons, bellowing at every passerby: "HELLO! HOW'S THE LADYFRIEND," side-jabbing, and overall a pretty intense sensation of love-hate. Some have been known to say that they'd probably hate him if they didn't love him so darn much. After all, he's pretty much the greatest guy ever.

Max C. Van Benthem



Navy Pilot

He is a true man of the PUEBLO and a native Albuquerque, NM. Baby Face Van B is man with no fears and no razor. He has been numero uno since anyone can remember. As a Mech E, Van B put the hot back in heat transfer and the strength in Strength of Materials and became a Scholar of the Trident. As a ladder climber in the brigade, Max reached the rarefied heights of a two striper. He was a key member of the exclusive 14th company intermural soccer team until his senior year when he was infused with Zeus blood and began back flipping. A one woman kinda man, Max is a proud member of the 3% and tying the knot ASAP. Max will bring his confidence, quirkiness, intelligence and now not-so-baby-face to flight school where we know he will make us all proud.



Lambert M. Van Eerden

USMC Ground

Born in Illinois and raised in Washington, Lambert Matthew Van Eerden went to the academy and climbed some mountains. It's a metaphor but it actually happened. At the beginning his time at the Academy seemed as tough as forced labor (especially since he rowed crew). However, this jack of all trades pulled through the muck. A few girlfriends and conduct offenses later he set himself up for a climactic year that no one saw coming. In one phrase Matt would be described as perseverance through excellence. I am proud to call this future Marine Ground officer my roommate and especially my friend.

Michael J. Washington

Navy Pilot

If you wanted to summarize Mike in a few things it'd be chocolate milk, lifting, chemistry, and sleeping. Despite missing his goal of owning his very own Black N, Mike managed to have two successful plebe years. The hotshot lax goalie loathed the idea of being a NARP, but he was awfully good at being one. After the disbanding of his one true love, the National Champion Club Lacrosse Team, he wasn't really sure what to do since he wasn't catching balls in the net anymore. The only member of the Broasis who maintained a regular workout regimen firstie year he never really got any bigger. Mike truly is a chip off the old block following his dad's footsteps to P-Cola only without the Black N his dad earned while he was here.

Joseph N. Ryan

USMC Ground

Joseph "Joe-Nick" Ryan was born the same as you and me, if you or I possessed the characteristics of a rampaging bull. For all his intimidating size and musculature, though, Joe is one of the most loyal, organized, and funniest D&D players you will ever meet. A master storyteller and astute social critic, Joe-Nick spins yarns incomparable in wit, vitality, charm, and piercing satire—punctuating more ironic moments by bellowing the catch-phrase "juicy," or sometimes just "ohhhhhhhh!" Just as few can deny his incisive raillery, fewer still can debate his physical prowess. While we, like 7262's formic denizens drawn to the scents of protein powder and tuna, scurry at the whims of lesser men, Joe's massivity allows him to stiff-arm naggers: Company Commanders, Battalion 1st LTs, and Darius Mercer. Baby Huey's size, humor, and cleanliness will be prized in the Marine Corps and in whatever range this mountain finds himself.

Class of 2014

Cody Anderson

Brandon Beans

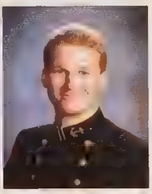
Scott Bolstad

Blake Busse

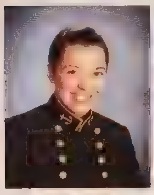
Kristina Byrne

Michael Byrne

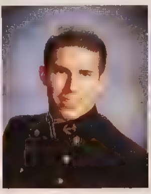
Daniel Chauvin



David Cooper



Ariel Coreth



Hugh Davison

Ellen Deckinga

Thomas Ferrara

Kyle Fortney

Kurt Geiger

Adam Geuss

Johnattan Gonzalez

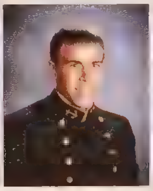
McMillan Hastings

William Herrin

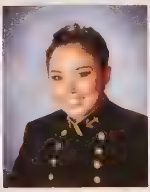
Stanley Hollins

Howard Kellett

Mitchell Kempisty



Curtis Khol



Elissa Kim

Joyce Kim

Cassandra Kovac

Jordan Krulik

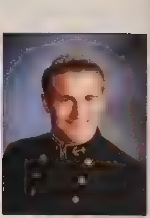
Ethan Madison

Richard Padron

Amanda Parsons

John Perez

Lyndsey Peters



Tyler Pregel

Isaiah Roberts

Philip Solt

Shane Thames

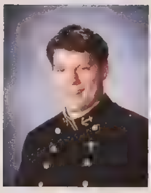
Roberto Torrealba

Victorino Untalan

Paul Westland

Matthew Wolford

Class of 2015



Colin Barry

Matthew Benner

Emily Blaha

Thomas Bond

Jorden Brown

Michael Brusoski

Drew Calcagno

Jacob Compton

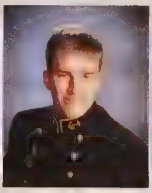
Seth Connor

Kevin Doran

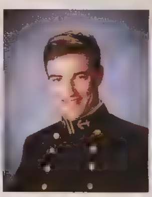
Michael Ebeling

John Ekman

Michael Fitzgibbon



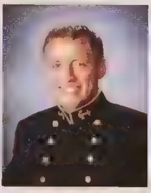
Jacob Fox



Ryan Garvey

Ian Grinaski

David Hasegan



Kyle Hawkins

Hannah Hayes

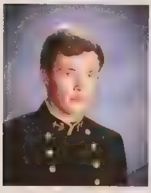
Daniel Hiller

Lee Kaufman

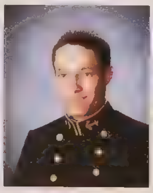
Mark Kelly

Randy Lopez

Alexandra Lundgren



Duncan Mamer



Spencer Marsh

Richard Morales

Kari Nogacek

Connor O'donnell

Andrew Paige

Danielle Quinonez

John Remy

Isaac Seals

Morgan Stamm

Katelyn Stoltenburg

Brandon Tran

Andrew Truong

Brendan Walsh

Michelle Yau

Class of 2016

Curtis Allen

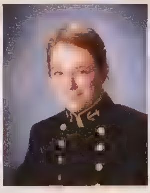
Alexander Anicetti

William Anthony

Rachel Bailey

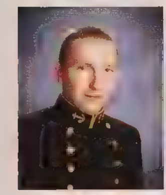
Dakota Beach

Alexander Biondo



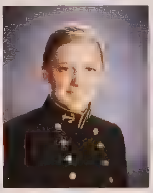
Mikaela Carlson

Jessica Carrillo



James Catina

Joshua Chu

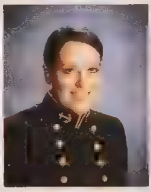


Alexis Clark

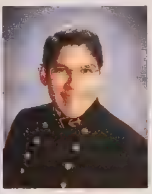
John Connors

Joseph Curtis

Joseph Dinkel



Mari Eves

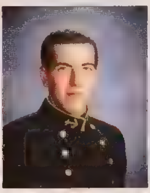


Matthew Flores

Michael Hamp

Michael Higgins

Chris Lewis



Thomas Marryott

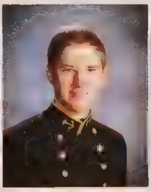
Michelle Nelson

Minhtuan Nguyen

Bethany Park

Andrew Pick

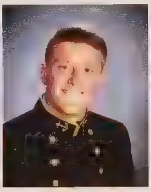
Keenan Reynolds



Mark Schnabel

David Silver

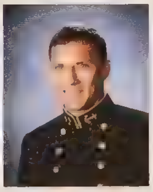
Toderick Stevens



Thomas Swanson

Chelsea Terry

Jared Valeske

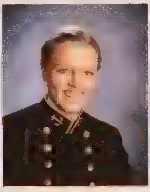


Derek Vogel

Thomas Wester

Austin Whitehead

Myles Wortham



Olivia Yeager

William Young

John Zawarski

15

Company

15

John Boone S. Baker

USMC Ground

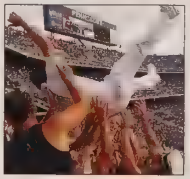
"Midshipman Baker is a man of character and integrity…", "Let me just stop you right there Mr. Smith, Midshipman Baker has six conduct offenses. Character and integrity are not the two words I would use to describe Midshipman Baker." So went the Deputy Commandant's poignant riposte to Cody Smith's feebly inauspicious attempt to vouch for the content of John "Boone" Baker's character. As shown in this exchange, Boone's Naval Academy career was full of missteps, misjudgments, and rash decisions that seemingly reserved him a spot at the vaunted restriction muster. However, let the record show that Boone's illustrious attendance records at the aforementioned musters do not do justice to his unshakable sense of patriotism and admirable idealism that led Boone to commit some of the actions he gained notoriety for. For Boone is the quintessential human being that Friedrich Nietzsche would have adored, reflected in Nietzsche sentiments that "I love the great despisers, for they are the great adorers, and arrows of longing for the other shore." This sentiment reveals perhaps the most ironic truth about men like Boone in that true idealism and admiration of greatness can only be found in those disappointed by the current state of affairs.

John K. Bishop

Surface Warfare Officer

Don't let the size of this furry little Belgian baker fool you, Johnny B is a bite sized ball of fury that never backs down from a chest fight. Know to drown his sorrows in sweets and baked goods, John-40-Bishop was never down for long even when shelling out some major coin. We have faith that his California tan, immaculate chin, chest hair, and googly eyes will attract a girl who will actually text him back. Born to lead on the sea, we are confident that his crew will love his lust for toe licking and outrageous business ventures.

John H. Bowling



USMC Ground

"Ooh-ooh-R-A-H. I really like this Tim Tebow thing we had goin' on here at the Academy, I drink beers, Swan's drunk, I love Kim, Marine Corps, and if not me then who? I had the toughest job in the Company which was easy to do with my young Will Farrell body. John Shane Bowling can drink beers and pee lines with the best of them. With his troll figure covered in hair from neck to toes, Ted Brogan, I mean Shane Bowling is sure to make next year's Marine Corps swim suit calendar. He will not only look like his Dad when only in his twenties, he will also follow in his footsteps to become a flag officer. To infinity and Beyond John Shane!

Kyle J. Bunker

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

William H. Coats

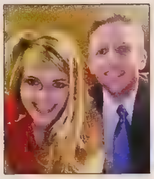
USMC Pilot

Always in the Zone, you'd be hard pressed to find a more kind a cordially person than Billy F. Coats. A record holding football player, Billy F. Coats dressed for more games than any player in the history of Navy football without playing a single down. Billy F. Coats should serve as an example to any Midshipman lacking self confidence problems, because as we all know, few love Billy F. Coats as much as Billy F. Coats loves himself and his temple of a body. After all, he would... he would hard. Filmoe...

Brandon A. Davis

Surface Warfare Officer

I would like to thank my family (Mom, Dad, John, Lisa, Jon, Johnny, and Kyle) for all the help and support during my time here at the Academy. Mom, even though you were taken from us too early I know you're still looking down at us everyday. I hope we continue to make you proud and you like what you see.



Zachary J. Denison

Surface Warfare Officer

This motivated worshipper, Zach Denison, hails from Bradenton, Florida. Never missing an intramural soccer game, maintaining his studies through a full-time residence in the library, an active Officers Christian Fellowship life, and full dedication to his "babe" and wife to be Keri Joy Harling. Even his squad and platoon can attest to the amount of time he spends in the library! Earned the title from his roommates as being the "hardest working red-head in the business!" When asked, "Mr. Denison, why don't you want to be a SEAL" his reply has always been, and forever shall be, "I just want to be a SWO, sir!"

Kathleen S. Engle

Surface Warfare Officer

Where's Kathleen?....said no one ever. She may be short, but she took on the world at 5ft 1in (she claims) and left every leadership position she held with big shoes to fill. She may not be wearing brown shoes in the fleet, but we all know she is a pilot at heart . When she wasn't locked in the Chauvenet basement working on yet another physics lab and producing extraordinary research, she was in the air with the flight team. A work hard, play hard mentality, Kathleen may be the only mid to have walked back from DTA and been allowed in through gate 1 in just one shoe.... it must have been that smile. The Surface Warfare Community has a competent JO on the way, but more importantly than that, a genuinely kind and down to earth person. Her accomplishments here speak wonders to her, but her roommates will forever speak in wonder of her amazing personality and heart. We are lucky to have you as a friend.

Nicklaus W. Gfeller

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Nicholas R. Hajner

SEALs

Tearing down the highway in his suped up midstang, blasting chitty house music with his girlfriend of 22 years, don't confuse Nick Danger with a typical midshipman. Tromping around in his Sperry-boots, bright chubbies and 'the Pit' jersey, he's always on the prowl for a good meat hooking. This is all in good fun; Haj-ner knows how to take a joke. For being a guy with such a large chest and Atlas legs, his prize winning poodle can fit in a Pringles can. We have no doubt that he will succeed in anything he does… because he is too competitive not to, just ask Denison. He's counting down the days to graduation just like he counted down to his 21st birthday. Haj-puppy, the fearless leader of 15th Company, defined how a proper Company Commander and Company Officer relationship should be (i.e. nonexistent). We wish you nothing but success, with a role model like Lady Gaga, it's pretty much guaranteed.

Ryan D. Hetherington

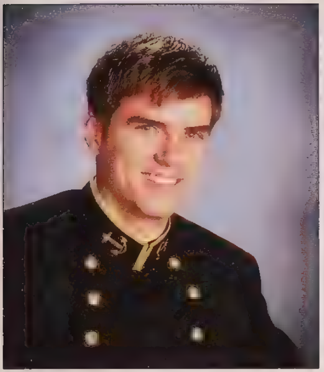
Nuclear Surface Warfare

It's clear that Ensign Ryan Hetherington is destined for great things; hell, he's already made the CNO's desk. That may have been for his adventures in Japan, but count on him to take on San Diego in a similar fashion. His deep voice and profound vocabulary make him the instant authority in any topic he discusses. Don't take him too seriously though; he's only a History major. Ryan approaches life with a lighthearted mindset and overcomes setbacks and bad news with a chuckle. He may have a sarcastic remark for everything, but inside Ryan is a serious man and a loyal friend. The strength and charisma Ryan is known for on the Yard will no doubt be cherished and invaluable to both his sailors and senior officers in the Fleet.

Brandon Hill-Rogers

Naval Flight Officer

Brandon 'Rev ' Hill-Rogers has committed himself to saving the souls of midshipmen everywhere since his admission to NAPS in 2008. He diligently clutters our news feeds with bible verses and worship songs and has also been known to lay a hand or two. When he is not attending to his ministerial duties you are most likely to find the young prophet in Lejeune trying to baptize his way to graduation past the devil in the form of a 200m swim. His holiness has chosen to serve his country where he can be closest to the God he loves so much, in the air as a Naval Flight Officer.



Nicholas T. Hutchins

SEALs

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Charles D. Johnson

Navy Pilot

WANTED: Sasquatch sized man known for throwing pulled pork sandwiches out of windows and taking his rage out on bathrooms. Do not be afraid of this uncoordinated, chentle chiant, he was once bested by a middle aged, intoxicated woman…it wasn't even close. While the sound of thirty-seven assorted chalarms won't wake him up, any mention of the choin industry or a sale at Chordstrom's will surely peak his interest. If you can't catch him, even though he runs like a two-legged chorse, corner him on a beach volleyball court where his chankles will undoubtedly fail him. This gregarious sea-creature will fly better than he sails, and always have the backing of his feisty friends. ALIASES: Chucklebutt, Charlie-Squatch, Khunu, Dumpy Butt, and Big Vanilla.

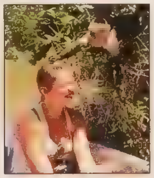
Liam M. Kearney

Surface Warfare Officer

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Abigail C. Khushf

Navy Pilot



From her crazy red hair to her midnight rack face plant, it was obvious since plebe summer that Abby was unique. A googly eyed small town southern girl, Abby impressed us all with her drive, intellect, and sense of adventure. Whether it was participating in uhmmm body artwork or learning new languages or boxing in brigades, Abby made sure to experience every aspect of the academy. It's comes as no wonder that she will be joining the pilot community in May. The adventures will continue on for our beloved friend and roommate and all we can say is, we will miss you. Whether it was late night sprints in DTA to find you Abby food or watching you laugh yourself into tears (and sometimes the other way around), you made the academy interesting. Thank you for making us laugh and being a model of hardwork. We leave you with the best wisdom and advice we can offer you after four years: always laugh even when you fail and for the love of god, make it to the trash can!

Tyshan A. Larry

Surface Warfare Officer

You only live once; but if you life it right, once is enough. "He's short, black and ripped with a big smile." That's all anyone has to say to identify Tyshan Larry. Seven years of USNA grads will know who you're talking about. A colorful man of many talents and a diverse background, Ty is a Marine corporal, bike mechanic, pro mover, chef, juice maker and much more. You need uniform help, advice, motivation or something from Brigade Services Division? Go to Larry! He offers years of real world and military experience and is known and loved all over the Yard. Always finding a new way to "make a dollar outa five cents," Ty has never lost touch with his hustlin' roots. His magnetic charisma and worldly insight have positively affected the lives of so many at the Academy and certainly will in the Fleet! Keep it pinned!

Matthew A. Lethbridge

USMC Ground

COUGH With his propensity for soft alcohol and younger women, this feisty red-headed fiend will be sure to give you or his current COUGH female interest a ring while under the influence. Most known for his love of a sport that no one cares about and his more jacked, evil twin, Mattbridge COUGH is one of the most genuine dudes you come across and is sure to make his 15 brothers proud in the Corps. He's still in love with Steph Payne.

Brandon W. Martin

Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kevin Moore

Surface Warfare Officer

WHITE WOMEN! Kevin Moore cut his time at the Academy in half by spending 12 hours a day asleep. Although he struggled with the PRT, Kevin could make it from 7-4 to Steerage in under 20 seconds. Kevin was a favorite of the women of the brigade as he spent every night going from room to room with an empty backpack to study. He had more muscle mass on his calves than the majority of the brigade had on their entire body, unfortunately his calves also led to some untimely "cramps" during plebe summer runs. By far the most athletic NARP in the brigade, Kevin was a tenured member of both the remedial program and the MacD basketball warriors (where he led the league in scoring). A SWO to the core from day one, Kevin was the most successful YP Commodore in Academy history; he is surely on a fast track to CO and is going to have a long and storied carrier in the surface navy.

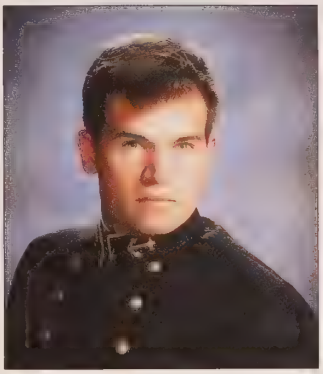
Gregory J. Nadal

Naval Flight Officer

Four years together by the Bay Where Severn joins the tide, Then by the Service called away, We've scattered far and wide; But still when two or three shall meet, And old tales be retold, From low to highest in the Fleet Will pledge the Blue and Gold.

Ryan S. Peterman

Navy Pilot



Bro, Cali is so chill, maybe almost as chill as Iowa. A poet of west coast rap, though he has no affiliation with the state whatsoever. Peterbro will defend the bland corn field that he calls home in fervent fashion. A simple man with a simple plan that seems to have it all figured out. Brotherhood.

Sam B. Rappeport

Submarines

A man of deep and varied passions, Samwise is never afraid to tell it like it is. Company officers and SELs alike mistook his open faced and frank assertions as insubordination, and no one was immune to his cutting intellect and rock solid principles. Despite having been told by a certain chief plebe year that he would "help Sam pack his bags when he left," everyone's favorite Canadian-Arkansasian will in fact be graduating with the great class of 2013. Known across the yard for his characteristic swagger, Sam is a giant among men, both intellectually and morally. At least once a day he produces a quote worth remembering. His well developed cultural taste allowed him to mix easily in the cosmopolitan crowd of the Annapolis Smoke Shop. Never one to let the man get him down despite constant effort to do so, the sub community is lucky to get this one. Fair winds, my friend, and remember . . . the Dude abides.

Robert Repp

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Jessica D. Ridgway

Surface Engineering Duty

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Stephen Y. Roan

Surface Warfare Officer

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Wesley S. Sadler

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Napoleon Complex? This kid's got it. The smallest varsity 'athlete' at the Academy, Wes is sure to make his presence heard before he's seen. Don't let his small stature deceive you; he can consume his weight three times over in M & M's, Skittles, and Goldfish. Whether sporting Uggs, Lulu Lemon yoga pants, or a metrosexual headband or two, Wes will jump on any apparel bandwagon that ensures he's peacocking. Not a fan of DTA, Wes would rather make an appearance at a local high school kegger where he is known as "Wes Sadler -The Legend- Beer Pong Extraordinaire." Even though Wes knows he's better than you, he won't shy from coming down to planet earth where all the common people dwell to make you laugh until your sides hurt. The Surface community has received a great one, just don't let him on the con after liberty hours. I remember my first beer. BROTHERHOOD.

Sara Sanchez-Maldonado

Surface Warfare Officer

"Sister Sara" to those feisties in need of a confidant and "mother" to all plebes, this hispanic chica was never lacking when it came to leadership. She always put the concerns of those under her charge before her own. Friday nights you would find her with proquizes; Saturday mornings you would find her at SMT. However, for the short hours in between duties, Sara was no saint. Savvy enough to keep her wits when she needed them she slipped over the walls, swam through the Severn, slopped through the gates, and slid past the SDO, and always brought everyone home. Sara, the Surface Warfare Community will be lucky to have your caring and giving spirit. May the seas bring you adventure, Japan a new home, Australia handsome men, and the red pants many more nights to remember.

Nathan M. Swan

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Purchases Bike: $4500 Resells Bike: $5 Starts 3 Month Diet: Last until lunch Watches The Notebook: Cries during opening credits Smells beer: Drunk and glowing Falls asleep: Stops breathing Sneezes: Car alarms sound and glass shatters Having Swan as a friend: Priceless. Anywhere there are baked goods or twinkies to be found, you can guarantee a Swan will be present and accepted. Always the greenest of the bunch, he'll be the pride and joy of the nuclear Navy. TOP OF THE MORNIN' TO YA SWAN!

Emerson T. Wahl

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Emerson Theodore Wahl is slender, athletic, optimistic and too considerate. If you do not know him, you may think he is pompous or selfish. In fact, he is ultra considerate and often the NICE guy who finishes last. If you want to get his attention, mention food, sleeping or girls!! This kid religiously REPS CALI till he dies. Emmer is an emotional guy and burns midnight oil nightly to get things done (or to account for his procrastination). This selfless man always comes through in the clutch, just like KOBE. Remaining humble and learning from those around him, he can take on world. He will do great things for his nation, but his true calling may need to be a stripper!! Ok really, a lawyer or a CEO of his own corporation after his naval service… He will definitely make the world shine for the better.

Eric M. Washkewicz

Submarines

Plebe Washkewicz was either loved or hated by upper-class. 2/C he tutored in double-E loved him and everyone in his section hated him, every time he ruined the curve. A plebe in double-E? He validated plebe and youngster year so there wasn't much left for him to take. Wash is humble so when he mentions that he is going to grad school at Cambridge, he isn't going to mention that he turned down MIT, Stanford, Oxford. Don't let the brainiac façade fool you, Wash can be totally oblivious. But if Wash is oblivious to subtleties it is because he is a straight shooter. He will always give the honest truth. Loyal to a fault, and generous, he would definitely give you the green Abercrombie and Fitch vest off his back. He is a Naval Academy Lightweight through and through. Disgustingly loyal, insanely generous, Wash would do anything for his friends.

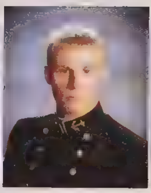
Noah R. Weintraub

SEALs

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Class of 2014

Scott Aquino



Brett Bogaard

Kevin Borough

David Campbell

Hayes Cozza

Britana Cremean

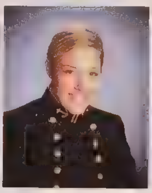
Johnmichael Dampf

Tracy Daniels

Gregory Dinkel

Brendan Egan

Samuel Flood



Rebecca Freihofer

Michael Grove

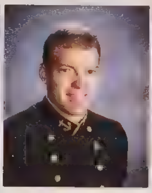
Adam Jatho

Susannah Johnson

Shane Kerber

Keaton Lockhart

Nathan Lorei



Andrew Macpherson

Alexander Merrall

Joshua Mossman

Marc Nucum

Sarah O'shea

Michael Peribonio

Pierre Ramos

Andrew Robinson

Chelsea Smith

Erin Snook

Andrew Snyder

Brian Sweeney

David Talon

Tyler Trainor

Collin Watkins

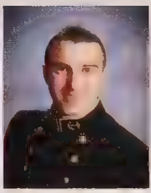
Heather Willis

Kevin Wilson

Jonathan Yuen

Class of 2015

Caleb Achor



David Allshouse

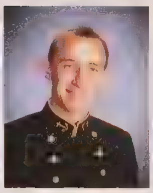
Glory Armentrout

Jesus Arrambide

Raymundo Arroyobautista

Christine Baldridge

Ben Bittle



Benton Boeck

Thomas Buckley

Emily Cooper

Jason Davin

Jeremy Duruji

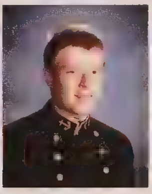
John Eaton

Kaitlyn Fitzgerald

Parrish Gaines

Noah Garza

John Goulding



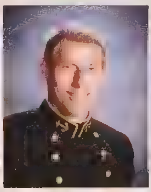
Joel Grabiel

Jonathan Inglett

Peter Jennings

Zachary Kerscher

Justin Knisely

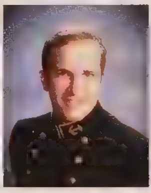


Michael Lemonick

Eric Longabaugh

Peter Lutter

Calvin Mark

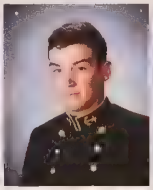


Robert Marshall

Erin Meador

Kristina Milman

Jacob Norton



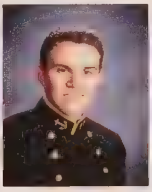
Dustin Oberlander

Dane Oshiro

Collin Parry

Matthew Searight

Ying Tang



Kyle Waldorf

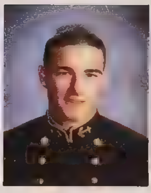
Angela Ziccardi

Robert Ziesermisenheimer

Class of 2016

Sally Anderson

Ryan Burmeister



Nicholas Butler

Matthew Caine

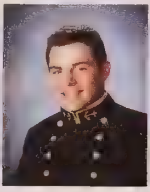
Riley Castle

Brice Clairmont

Kyle Cuddeford

Stephen Dacruz

Brenden Delmonte



Pierce Demarreau

Steven Dull

Bradley Franke

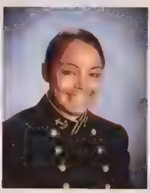
Darren Freedman

Samantha Glaeser

James Hansen

Shanice John

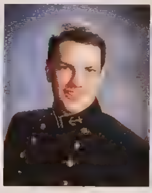
Breanna Kolbe



Alexandria Laureys

Kevin Marvel

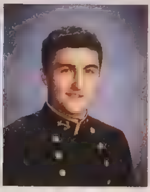
Christopher Miles



Charles Moore

Cameron Morris

Alexander Nickell



Michael Parker

Madison Pascale

Dustin Pechler

Michael Pender

Charles Ren

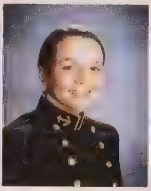
John Rice

Kelley Robinson

Joseph Rodgers

Stephen Sawyer

Seyko Seykov

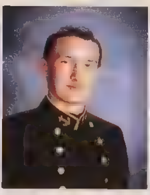


Allyson Strachan

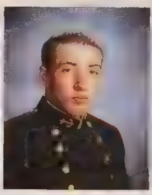
William Teater

Meredith Wallace

Kevin Wendel



Zachary Winzurk



James Womack

James Yost

U.S.
NAVAL ACADEMY EX
TRIDENS
SCIENTIA

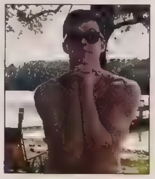
Company

16

Joseph C. Acevez

Information Professional

If Joe Acevez were a comic book character he would be Superman. Perhaps he can't run faster than a speeding bullet...but after a good long time, he dies - an absolute tragedy to the fans - but mere months later, they bring him back. You scared us a bit there Joe. Try as they did though, they could never quite kill off Joe Acevez. Sorry Franz - Oh...I'm afraid Acevez will be quite operational. "Sweet, I don't have to take finals" - Joe Acevez's first words after being separated from the US Naval Academy, May 1st 2013



Sean P. Bagent

Submarines

Adonis. Arnold. Thad Castle. Many names come to mind when one thinks of the likeness of Sean Bagent. Long before his other classmates were being rocked in the cradle of the deep, Sean was workout partners with Poseidon and King Neptune. Between leg days, the three would frequent the local watering hole to chat over a few protein shakes. Sean grew weary of listening to Poseidon and Neptune's enthralling tales of the oceans deep, and thus sought out a naval career of his own. While studying the classics and taking up swimming to maintain his aesthetics, Sean worked his way into the United States Naval Academy after graduating from Norcross High School in Norcross, G.A., far from his more familiar territory in the depths of the Atlantic. Sean quickly garnered a bad boy persona upon entry into the Academy, having multiple altercations with leadership, the law, and his personal dignity. Through all of this, he has developed a chin of steel that can take more than its fair share of blows. Women will continue to crumble at his feet as he showers them in his endless supply of money and muscle, and men will be left as bystanders watching through an open window while he is at work, hammering his way through the midnight hours as he casts himself into an inescapable time warp. He has showed an unrelenting willingness to board a foreign vessel for affection, and will surely prove to be effective against our adversaries while conquering the silent theatre of the ocean's abyss as an officer in the Submarine Corps.

Amanda S. Benavides

Submarines

Hailing from the sunshine state, it is not surprising that Selina can brighten any room with just her personality. She is one of the sweetest and most down to earth girls in 16th company. However, if you call her by her birth name, "Amanda," she might bite your head off. By day, she is in charge of the coordinating all honor board hearings for the Brigade while excelling in academics, but if you catch her at night you might find her raging at a DC nightclub or dancing to her own beat at the local line dancing club. Her heart beats with compassion for others and (unfortunately) country music. She has a world of knowledge, having gone to "college" in London and enduring a brutal summer training in Israel which consisted of three weeks of 5 star hotels and copious amounts of hummus. She has strong values and is grounded in her beliefs. No matter what obstacles may come her way in nuclear power school next year, she will achieve greatness with suave and her own style.

Jacqueline A. Blackburn

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Some know her as Jacque and others as that firstee woman who shaved off her eyebrows that one time… Jacqueline will become the first female president or find the cure for cancer. As a varsity cross country and track star for four years, former Brigade SMAJ, academic whiz, active participator in clubs, one of two female selects for the EOD community, and sole recipient of the Kauffman Award Jacque is destined for greatness. Despite facing tremendous personal adversity, she wakes up before the sun rises, works out three times a day, goes to classes, attends team practice, studies in the library, and usually is the last to sign TAPS. She does it all with a smile and is a true, wonderful friend. Jacque's resilience, courage, and positive attitude will carry her farther than anyone can imagine. Eyebrows or no eyebrows, she's already well on her way there.

William J. Culp

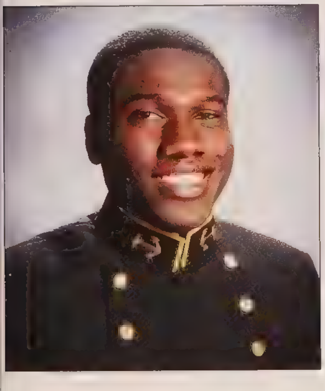
USMC Ground

Known as the "I can't believe I am doing this" kid which earned him the reputation of being "such a hypocrite." Will has come a long way. Will started off going to Vegas during protramid, but ended up south of the border. Woronoff never knew. His height was never an obstacle because anyone could jump over him. Will found love junior year, and now strives to create his own munchkin land. In this corner Thumper measuring up at 4 foot five... in the other corner the bouncer from Pussers. Will also enjoys riding bikes especially when the one he borrows has a seat low enough for him to reach the pedals.

Jonathan K. Desimone

Navy Pilot

"4/C DeSimone, if you get a high and tight you'll receive a week of sleep-ins." Only Jonathan, former emo partier of Hollywood, would receive such an offer. He traded skinny jeans for uniform pants, long hair for regulation haircuts, and perfect weather in Los Angeles for fickle Annapolis… Ah, yes the rants on how much the East Coast sucked were often, but overshadowed by the ironic reality. Despite trying to be a cynical guy, "Deez" excelled as a Supe's List midshipman with respectable CQPRs, PRT scores, and teaching of Sunday school. But on weekends, he's found at DC nightclubs or "suiting up" in DTA. His sushi, Sriracha hot sauce, and Netflix (15 seasons of South Park in 6 weeks!) obsessions are notorious. With a sister at the Coast Guard Academy and Jonathan going Navy Pilot, the DeSimone family name will become LEGENDARY. And yes, he got that high and tight.



Oheneba K. Duodu

Surface Warfare Officer

Oheneba Kow Duodu… Fresh Prince of Ghana. Former rapper "watch out for your village I'm about to pillage." We all thought he'd make it despite his plebe trucker English teachers concerns. Destined one day to be "ken". Duodu is a very generous lover and does not discriminate when it comes to social norms. Duodu has been known to sleep in parking garages but it is still more comfortable than his bed in Ghana. He single-handedly put 3 different girls through college and woke up with remnants of the previous night's endeavors. Would have made a great Navy SEAL cause he is impossible to see at night. He is very African except where it counts. Hit Christian Smith with a car…too bad he didn't finish the job. Duodu enjoys frequenting the bars and will most likely end up behind them.

Nicholas C. Ernest

USMC Pilot

16th Company: Friends, Family, and Ernest. The only person to simultaneously hold the titles of the most liked and the most disliked member of the company. Despite being the butt of many a joke (in no small part to his own inability to tell one) and ignoring his occasional short temper, there isn't anyone who Nick wouldn't call a friend and anyone who knows him would call him a friend in return. A level headed and well-rounded guy, Nick hails from Ocala, Florida. His desire to fly and to serve led him to the Naval Academy, where he intended to become a Naval Aviator. He kept an open mind throughout his experiences, saw a challenge that he couldn't pass up and decided to select Marine aviation instead. One of his old coaches once commented "He's quiet, you never hear him. But you can feel his presence on the field." When it matters most, Nick chooses his actions and words carefully. Whatever the future holds in store, his character and passion will serve him well. "The greatest risk in life, is not taking one."

Janae M. Estrada

Surface Warfare Officer

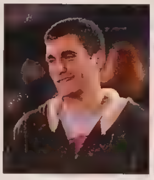
1/C Estrada, a natural SWOtivator, can often be seen picking things up at the gym, or at your local Starbucks. Her distinguishable laugh can be heard up or down any staircase and immediately puts a smile on anybody within range. She likes longs walks on the beach, with a side of crab fries and a killer hangover (but she always remembers to use the lavatory before she leaves). When she's not out doing Estraderly things, she spends her time in a 10 x 10 room with her cellmate, whom she adores more than the puppies they spend hours giggling at. Together they order fried rice only to pick all of the peas and carrots out with chopsticks, therefore symbolizing their cellmenship. Throughout her Naval Academy career, Janae has picked up many skills, including creating a new fashion statement for weekend runners all over Annapolis, learning how to play the Ukulele without practicing, and restructuring her tailbone using only gravity and water. I MISH YOU!

Paul J. Evans

Submarines

Hailing from the great state of California, Paul Evans has been a large part of the Centurion family. He loves to bring people together for large dinners out in town or just to grab some wings at BWW's. Any Centurion who has spent any time in San Diego has experienced the full extent of the Evans' hospitality, whether drinking at Big Bear or just chilling around the pool, they make you feel like part of the family. As nice as Paul is and how much he loves bringing people together, he also loves blowing them apart. A future graduate of Bottom Gun, Paul is a true Intramural Warrior spilling blood (mostly his own) and tears all over hospital point. Moving through all positions of sixteenth company varsity flag football he is most known for his violent defense "STATS" and notable quotes "when he's on the ground, then you grab the flags." There is no SUBstitute for this silent warrior's personal touch of humor and violence that he will bring to the submarine community. Ladiesss.

Ryan B. Ewanchew



Navy Pilot

If you somehow stumble across this page searching for that feeling of nostalgia and read this section either out of curiosity spurred by my last name or sheer boredom, you may find that this isn't a typical bio. To those who I have had the privilege of getting to know over the last 5 years, I just want to say thank you for all the challenges, support, and shenanigans to get me through this place. I do not know if I would have gotten through this place if it wasn't for it. Being a midshipman at the Academy is truly a blessing. Whether you think this place is amazing or the most miserable place on earth; that is irrelevant because you're viewpoint of this place will eventually change, and your perception of its value will be altered. Never lose sight of your purpose, what you hope to develop, and those you will inevitably be leading. To my classmates and those in the subsequent classes preparing to make your next step, I look forward to working with you in the coming years, and always keep in the back of your mind that confidence and competence may be enough for success, but when laced with humility and the desire to seek self-improvement of yourself and those around you, you will without a doubt do an incredible job. Good Luck and God Speed. - Chewy

Brian R. Gureck

Submarines

Brian was not illustrious enough to earn his own one-man squad as early as Plebe Summer. In his PCC days, he learned some quality leadership lessons that will guide him well in his career. As a youngster Brian knew that he would never select Submarines because he was going to Tom Cruise only taller. Eventually though, he came into his own as the Battalion Commander and a future Submariner with a fat wallet. As a Midshipman, Brian developed an excellent knack for timing. In front of thousands of Navy fans, Brian decided to coin his own drill movement now known by all season ticket holders as the "about face at present arms." I wish you the best of luck in your career and the sailors under your charge will be the better for knowing you. Hope you always go deep to stay on top, brother.

Nicholas E. Gutsche

Submarines

Gutsche. The Alfred to Thor's Bruce Wayne, the only thing Gutsche is truly afraid of is cleaning for the alpha. He has come a long way from his homeschooled background in Florida.Can be found on the tennis courts or in the Thunderdome serenading his roommate with beautiful guitar playing. Does anyone know his first name? You almost stopped my heart at ring dance, wait that was yours. A master of disguise he has successfully gone months without his whereabouts being known, with the rare encounters known as 'Gutsche sightings'. His hobbies include ambulance rides with Duodu and eating too fking slow at lunch. The Sub community is gaining a smart young man, but he might just not know what is going on.

Nicholas A. Hutchinson

SEALs

Hutch, hutchy poo, sharkbait, Reader's roommate and moral compass. . Drinks a lot… of orange juice. Hutch managed to accomplish a lot considering the amount of time we spent in his room trying to distract him from all things productive. Hutchinson wanted to be a doctor until he found out he would have to examine girls. Tried to learn to be cool by watching Varsity Blues, and taking notes (highlighting the key points) on how to party. Hotel 2010, dip spit and piss, conehead bike rides… was that meeting important? Joined the cycling team because he likes how the seat feels. Our favorite designated driver, and decision maker. Switched roommates frequently, but he claims he wasn't the problem. Thanks for the FDB jacket, my mom loves the pictures. Plays well with others but don't ask to borrow his food, vultures are circling. Finest frog hunter this side of the Mississippi. The Katie O. thing happened, and we all found out Hutch wasn't perfect. When he's not saving the world from terrorism, Hutch enjoys crashing into parked cars, grunting loudly, and doing things the hard way. HTFU Looks tough but don't be fooled. He'll be the cuddliest SEAL in the fleet. I. Love. You… I will ALWAYS love you!

Jordan A. Kellett

Navy Pilot

Many reports of Big Foot originate in the Northwest United States. The Truth? Jordan Kellett. With the back hair of a full grown grizzly bear and the olde tyme naval poise of David Farragut himself, any communists or vegetarians best steer clear. Think those Johnny girls are good enough for this beast? Think again. Jordan "America" Kellett only has time for the classiest of sailor lasses in his company – and with a sternpost and mizzenmast like that, who could blame him? Here's One: Guns. Reagan. Republic. When others were wasting their time at parades, Jordan was likely researching the foundations of our glorious star spangled origin. To close, a quote: "Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other." – John Adams. Article Thirteen, never forget.

Thor J. Klinker

Naval Flight Officer

Hailing from the heartland of Iowa, Thor is known to have three great loves in his life: Reagan Ebel, the St. Louis Rams, and the Iowa Hawkeyes, and not necessarily in that order. His favorite exercise is "love making" while his favorite hobby is borrowing handles from parties frequented by Dom Davis. Thor spends his days between napping, reading sports, and coordinating his next spring break. He has never been seen doing homework, and epitomizes what it means to be a group 3 major. His true propose at the Academy is to serve as a role model for Joshua Anthony Pangborn. Thor enjoys partying at colleges all over the East Coast, but not Mary Washington University. The aviation community has a good FO coming there way, and they won't have to waste time with a call sign because they can just use his name.

Phoebe M. Kotlikoff

Submarines

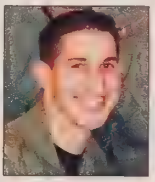
Phoebe Kotlikoff, Goddess of Light.... fact, not myth... She is one of the original grumpy cat followers. A devoted lover to both Mike and Ike, she was traditionally associated with the 16th Company leading the Centurions into the pit of war from the front ranks as Company Commander. Resident therapist for the Women's Rugby team, dance floor aerobic instructor and future Princess of Ghana. In her free time she occasionally did homework, landed a Truman scholarship and benefited from the extended treatment of elevator access for being a Trident Scholar. A true Lady and prodigy, a friend to all of nature and the most fierce woman in the arena, Phoebe your massive following of friends, mentors, admirers and probably stalkers don't say it enough but have all grown into better people because of your example and care. We are cheering you on wherever you go…most likely fifteen minutes late.

Hayden A. Lawson

USMC Ground

When he is not taking long afternoon naps, he is typically setting three different alarms and then ignoring them. Hayden spends his free time maintaining the highest standards of physical fitness required of a Marine officer and spends no time on schoolwork. He can often be seen rocking his regulation high and tight, in fact it's so high and tight, that when Chesty goes to the barber he asks to look like Hayden. His juggernaut shaped head intimidates all those around him and is one of his prized attributes. A soft spoken man, Hayden follows Teddy Roosevelt's motto and always carries a big stick. In the end, however, he takes care of those around him and will develop into a fine Marine Officer. Semper Fi young Devil Dog, stay frosty.

Maxwell L. Margolis-Casillas



Naval Flight Officer

Having made his way from Fajardo, Puerto Rico to the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Newport, Rhode Island, Maxwell has pushed ten long semesters and is finally attaining his goal. Max is the definition of a true shipmate. He continuously puts the needs of others before his own. He will be a good officer because he knows what it means to endure through hard times. He has truly been crafted these four years into a mature and trusting young man. Though he service selected Naval Aviation, it is often suggested that Maxwell should've selected Special Warfare or Marines. Over the years, he served as the Commanding Officer of the USS HATE, and spent most of his days dodging bullets in all forms. Whether it was the SM-2 missiles of restriction in the hall, or the shotgun shells from fathers in town, Max truly mastered the art of elusion. He has survived the destructive 0530 wind chills of Annapolis, the sirens of DTA, and has escaped Davy Jones' Locker 5 times. This paired with his hard work ethic in cars, girls, sports, and everything else that had nothing to do with the academy, destined him for success at this wonderful institution. Having truly known what it felt like to struggle and achieve victory from self-motivation, self-preservation, and teamwork. Max's fighting spirit and message will motivate many classes to come when he returns to give Forestall lectures of his own. Times in El Junky will never the same. And with that: Ding Ding, Ding Ding, CO departing…..

Kenneth G. Morrison

Navy Pilot

Here's one! This is NOT the law-class Ken Morrison! When asked, "What do you want to service select?" He responds, "DO YOU KNOW WHO I AM?! I'm Kenneth Morrison, Aviator extraordinaire!" Ken desired to come to the Naval Academy since he was in the womb. Already an able pilot, Ken has no issues figuring out who the best pilot is. But that one time in Bravo airspace was hell, it shook him up. It even earned him the nickname "the Penetrator". Ken eventually got over it and decided to move on to flight school after graduation (where he will be helping his less gifted roommates succeed). Also, Ken-bot believes that the only intelligent people are aerospace engineers. Everyone else is subpar, however being a history of film major doesn't sound too bad. His classmates and closest friends will never forget his "Neeners" and "biyeeeee."

Joshua A. Pangborn

Surface Warfare Officer

This is hard to write because no one has talked to him since youngster year when he started being SWTOR-vated. He took up striving to be like his superior counterpart, Ryan. The force is strong with this one. You have tried so many times to go to the dark side, but they don't want you. Josh has been keeping his finger clean since youngster year. Hates Daytona cheerleading events. Known affectionately as "Snaggle Tooth" Lost a lot of weight and yet remains single. Known mostly for his speed on the PRT, Josh played rugby for 6 practices and has a plate and 6 screws in his ankle to prove it. However, his greatest athletic accomplishment was joining varsity women's basketball where he still couldn't get a date. Wants to thank Hunchinson for the weekend at Bernies.

Ryan S. Paulson

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Erica R. Perez

USMC Ground

Erica Perez is a future Marine Corps Flight Officer. She does what she wants. She even decided not to participate in the "Plebes, stay after" part of Noon Meal Formation on the very first day of the 2010 academic year. She was the only plebe in 16th company to make it to King Hall on time that day. Don't expect her to make plans more than two days in advance, but if you see her out, feel free to try and keep up. She possesses a serious and focused demeanor, but her kryptonite is The Titanic and bunnies. She and her roommate are kind of a big deal. They communicate via giggles and over facebook while in the same room. Her Code: "Do you have a dorsal fin? To train ze dolphin you must zink like ze dolphin! You must be getting inside ze dolphin's head. I am saying to Snowflake, "Akay!... Akay Akay Akay?"

Benjamin L. Price

Navy Pilot

When we all signed our two-for-sevens, Ben became a member of the centurion family…sort of. He then left a year later, again, and somehow managed to graduate from the Academy after only being here for 3 semesters. Most believe he started his time back before WW2 , but no one really knows. He just showed up one day and got a commission. When he was here he spent his time on the soccer field scoring goals with his face instead of his feet. No one knows if this is something he picked up in Chile or if he's just trying to play it off. Even with his lack of time living in the Centurion Barracks, our token Mexican-but-actually-white friend has captured the hearts of all his classmates; best of luck to you!

Philip J. Rouse

Navy Pilot

Phil Rouse is straight outta Wisconsin, doncha know. A true American hero, he came to the Naval Academy to do something good for his country (and because he really liked the Van Halen Blue Angels recruitment video). Once on leave, Rouse made record driving time from Crabtown to Miltown—and when passing through Illinois reminded those Chicago folk that Abe Lincoln was a Republican. An accomplished broceanographer, Rouse won favor with his teachers by giving each a piece of Wisconsin hard salami at the end of the semester. This Wisconsinite has been a real musical asset to the USNA, playing in the D&B pit and providing musical support to mids on their way to eat during his Smoke Hall piano sessions. Pensacola, brace yourself—the world's biggest Cheesehead is coming to town… and he's bringing his cat. "It's not how smart you are, it's how are you smart." -Lt Col. Robert Schick (Retired)

Chinna L. Salio

Philippine Navy

Chinna Louise Eulogio Salio…connoisseur of Sriracha, devour-er of Nano's, Philippine spy. Don't be fooled by her petite frame, this foreign exchanger takes the title for most sushi consumed in Bancroft Hall as well as second place finisher in amount of fried rice eaten, falling behind only Ensign Oheneba Duodu. Known for her ability to nap at any time of the day and remain awake for the entire night, Chinna often drinks her own weight in coffee. She claims she is not a spy, but has managed to break the hearts of millions of junior officers from Annapolis to Colorado Springs. She appears harmless and adorable at first sight, but this spitfire can make plebes cry with a single look. The US is losing a terrifying war-machine as Chinna transitions back to the PPhilippines

Edgar D. Takeda

Navy Pilot

The prodigal son of California. This product of the Pacific sun, sand, and California Burritos came to Annapolis fighting at featherweight. He put on the pounds and impressed us all at brigade's youngster year taking home the title. Plebe year he set his sights on the women's lacrosse team. Wanna talk about it? Always willing to lend a helping hand to a fellow company mate. Grant Hill's favorite shooting guard, Reggie! Herndon's coming up, hearts will be broken. Varsity Paintballer and equipment manager… "Only for a couple weeks bro." Loyal physics partner and padres fan. Great guy always willing to have a laugh, unless he's cutting weight. Going to make a great Navy Pilot, has big things ahead of him in the Sunshine State.

Brent C. Teague

USMC Ground

Brent "Cpl. Bootz" Teague has been like a grandfather to the centurion family. Just like any good grandpa, Teague is always there to tell stories that no one is truly sure ever happened. His tales about boot camp, the Fleet or what crazy is chasing him this week would always draw a crowd around the mate's desk. The company is still debating if his signature Errr's, Yut's, and Rahh's are actual motivation or if he just has a hard time forming coherent sentences. But never fear, when things start to go south, Teague is never afraid to step up and take charge. Always remember when "The Corporal has the Con!" run for your life

Derek W. Van Norman

Naval Flight Officer

Wynn, known for being Roman Catholic when he starts feeling guilty. He is such a gentleman that mothers invite him to spend the night with their daughter knowing nothing will happen. Going bald since the first grade. He did his Titanic pose when walked in on wearing nothing but a towel and sounds coming from his computer. Wynn was appointed academic officer of 16th company senior year because he knew more about academic boards than anyone else. Wynn's greatest athletic achievement was not making any ground with the cheerleading girls despite being on the team for two years. His spirit fingers were weak

Taylor G. Vann

Navy Pilot

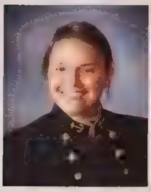
A native of sunny Tampa FL, this Rays fan is a man of many talents. Blending in in a crowd would not be one. This fiery, strawberry blonde is both a master thrifter and a connoisseur of patagucci threads. Taylor sailed through many injuries some closer to the heart than others. His love of music allowed him to endure hard times. A privileged few enjoyed the musical talent of Taylor's band. Captain Vann closes the 3rd chapter of the Vann brothers with a national title and a commissioning as a Navy pilot. GO NADS

Scott R. Walker

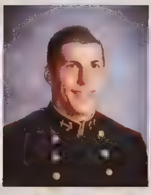
Nuclear Surface Warfare

A true Wisconsinite, Scott Raleigh Walker was such an outstanding Plebe over the summer of 2009 that they gave him his own squad. From that humble beginning, the years on the Severn have shaped him into quite the future SWO, aside from the caffeine issue. You will be hard pressed to find another Navy man who can't hold his coffee quite like Scott…one cup and he will be awake for days. However, if that is his worst quality as a Naval Officer, the fleet is getting one hell of a leader who is destined to care for the men and women under his command and whom will no doubt go far in his career. No one could ask for a more loyal friend and shipmate. I wish you and Victoria a long life of happiness and success. Brother, let's give the nuclear Navy a run for its money!

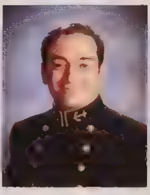
Class of 2014



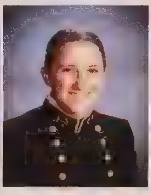
Bonnie Alford



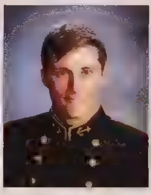
Gregory Bryant



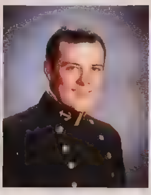
Benedict Capaldi



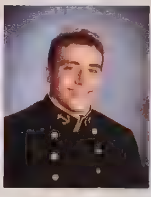
Alexa Ciarolla



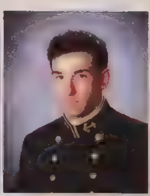
Timothy Dixon



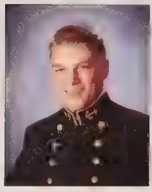
Robert Dunlap



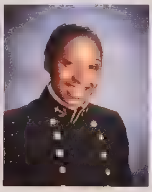
Benjamin Freedman



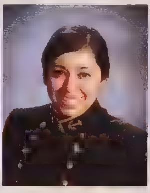
Nicholas Galanos



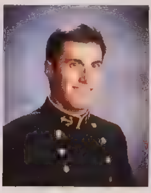
Grant Genzman



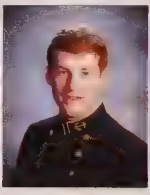
Ashley Gilliard



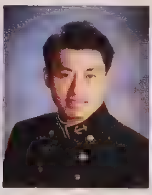
Summer Gonzalez



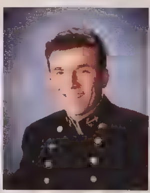
Michael Hickey



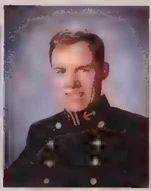
Robert Keating



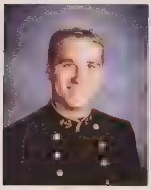
Alex Liu



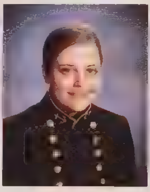
Jordan Lynch



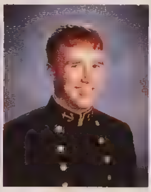
Peyton McDonald



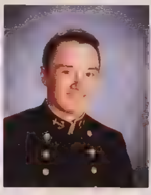
Connor McKiernan



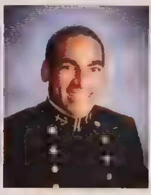
Elizabeth Miller



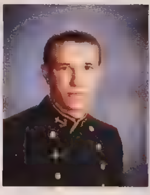
Benjamin Murphy



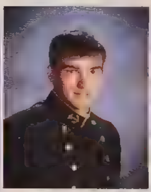
Kevin Nakayama



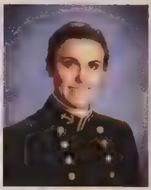
Broderick Neelfeller



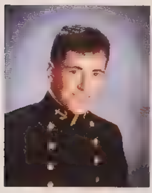
Scott Oberst



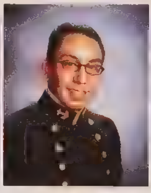
Robert Patterson



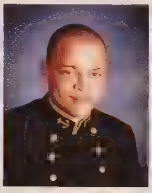
Nathalie Pauwels



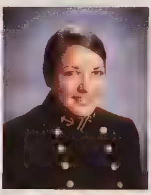
Erika Pedersen



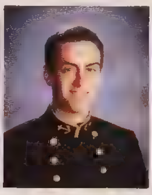
Alvaro Rentas



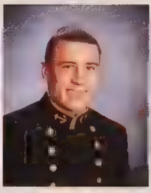
Jason Roman



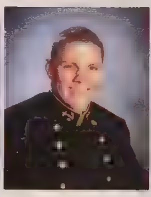
Erica Romer



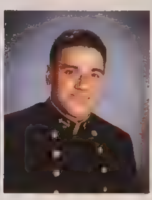
John Ryan



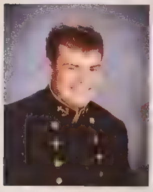
Matthew Schaidle



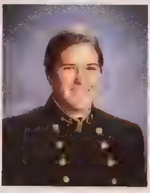
James Sciscoe



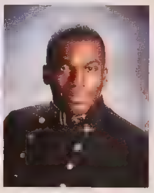
Stephen Smith



Timothy Sullivan



Morgan Tilley

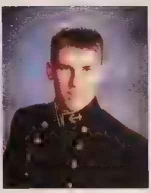


Gregory Wynn

Class of 2015

Oliver Abraira

Kevin Alter



Alec Bacon

Austin Bentley

Carl Blanco

Victor Bowen

David Brainerd

Keon Briscoe

David Calves

Matthew Cecala

Jessica Fellows

Andrew Garcia

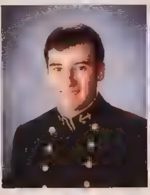
Thomas Goodell

Benjamin Graveline

Connor Gudmundsson

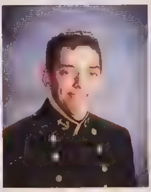
Shawn Horvath

Robert Hutchinson



Zachary Janik

William Joiner

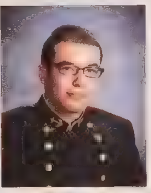


Marcantoni Julia

Abdussalaam Kako

Bryan Kaps

Austin Kelly



J.Z. Lavine

Vigneshwar Manickam

Nishant Mohan

Anthony Parenti

Shannon Penne

Adam Penquite

Clayton Petty

Evelyn Rios

Warren Rooney

Patrick Root

Kaitlyn South

Chloe Stapleton

Taylor Vendetta

Supawit Wongissares

Class of 2016

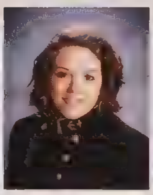
Alvinangelo Abes

Tipok Aekviriyasathan

Rolando Amador

Brent Bohanan

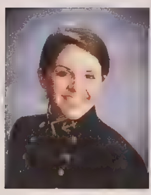
Taylor Buck



Savannah Chandler

Vivian Chau

Jonathan Conner

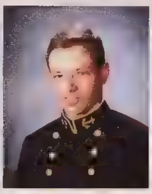


Michelle Devente

Michael Dolan

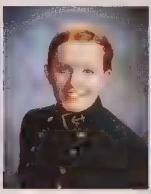
Alyson Eng

Anthony Evans



Joseph Francisco

Jacob Glastad



Briana Gorman

Jacob Gregory

Kalena Hammond

Megan Hough

Christian Johnston

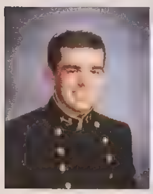
Leo Jones

Diego Kleckner

Pierre Lambard

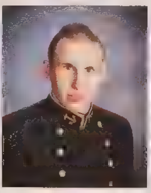
Caleb Lintz

Adam Majoria



Anthony Malatesta

Robert Mancini



Christien Oman

Robert Paul

Grace Pruden

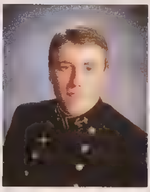
Rodolfo Reyna

Josephjed Salonga

Susan Scheid

Cody Solari

Jason Steiner



Ryan Thomas

Shaquille Townsend

Connor Westrick

17TH COMPANY JABBERSAURS

Company

17

Scott C. Cebulski

Submarines

Scott "The Admiral" Cebulski's playful and dog-like qualities contribute to his odd displays of athleticism in manufactured games. His enthusiasm for athletics unfortunately does not carry over to his standards for room cleanliness. Despite being a serial monogamist, his self-proclaimed title of the greatest wingman of all time is only tarnished through his rogue actions and occasional flogging of muggles. Although his love for the Academy ring is devout, it is only questioned by his potential ring from his Ice Queen- but isn't the real statement "One ring to rule them all?"... You must choose wisely Scott. A warning to all future sub selects: Don't bounce a ball around the nuclear reactor because Scott will not hesitate to make the diving catch.

Matthew P. Christian

Medical Corps

Matthew "Do you have a moment to talk about Our Lord, Jesus Christ" Christian can usually be found wasting time on frivolous activities and never doing homework. As a ghost to his classmates, Matt usually found something better to do with his weekends by courting the Honor Concept of the Brigade of Midshipmen- Expect a June Wedding. Although en route to medical school next fall, Matt has seriously considered hanging around the Honor Office "just because" for his entire naval career. Matt, medical school is overrated anyways, we've been coming to you with injuries since plebe year, you got this.

Brent T. Cline

Surface Warfare Officer

Brent "The Farmer" Cline is known for being the most inquisitive man in the Brigade. Putting platoon sergeants to shame with his impeccable accountability record, he is never one to miss a military obligation. Although it is assumed that he is from Kansas, no one is really sure because he never talks about it (I think they grow corn?). Brent gained a reputation as the most fascist dry rack owner after coming back from practice with soiled clothing. He enjoys weed-whacking on the weekends and has been known to protect his fellow man from fragmentation devices. Brent, if you are as thorough with your JO responsibilities as you are with a girl's text messages, you'll do great in the fleet!

Manuel E. Cuesta

USMC Ground

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Jason B. Darby

Navy Pilot

Jason Darby – A world traveler and a renowned connoisseur of food, fun, and festivities, Jason Darby can always be depended on to navigate his friends through trouble and inclement weather. In his spare time, Jason likes to experiment with his chemistry set and explore the wonders of the NFL. Although inadvertently making his roommates appear physically inadequate in his presence, Jason is a good friend and can always be depended on to smile through hardship, even when detailers are screaming in his face. Beware the Darbula!

Alexander R. Donaldson

Navy Pilot

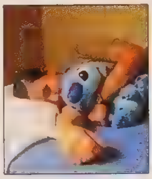
Alex, "Ace" "The Judge" Donaldson was destined to be an aviator since the day his perfect smile was unveiled to the unprepared mortals of this world. Though never actually applying to this prestigious institution, Alex arrived on I-day and used his suspicious charm and devilishly good looks to convince the female detailers to induct him on pure intuition. Excessive time with the opposite sex has seemingly rubbed off on Alex, as he spends the bulk of his free time pampering his face with various lotions and creams, and sculpting his hair to mimic the crest of the wave he was born on. Due to his outrageous chivalry, Ace refuses to conform to either end of the spectrum of "social age barriers." No one knows how many infants he has actually saved from certain death, but not one of the ladies that he has told these stories to has learned the secret to tie Alex down… for more than a week at least. But I think we can all say for certain that a particular green Muppet made a significant impact on his heart. Good luck at flight school Alex, but we don't know if your future roomies are prepared for Papa Bear yet. Court adjourned.

Claire E. Fletcher

Surface Warfare Officer

Claire "ClaireBear" Fletcher's love for the Naval Academy is so deep that she decided to leave for an entire semester to China and then picked the closest port to Mother B... in Japan. Claire's creativity was shown through Friday night arts and craft plebe sessions and organizing DC trips which never failed to get a company-mate in trouble. With her experience in Oceanography and foreign languages, Claire's life-long goal is to teach dolphins to speak Chinese. Good luck with that goal and good luck in your career; we will miss your optimistic attitude and wicked sense of humor.

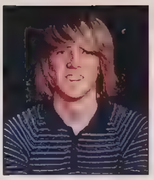
Stephanie M. Flores



Surface Warfare Officer

Stephanie "Like Mike" Flores was initially recruited for basketball and attended NAPS. Being a prodigy, she decided she was too good to play at a college level, so she planned to head the NARP league at USNA instead. Throughout her Naval Academy career, Flores has rekindled her love for Disney movies, pickles, Chris Hemsworth, and chocolate chip cookies. She received Honors with Distinction in the Science of Nap-taking all the while keeping up with her arduous workload as a history major. Had the book thief walked in the room, they would have needed a U-Haul for her collection of books. When she was not entering Mids in the conduct system, Flores loved to watch her favorite shows on Netflix, daydream about puppies, practice MOBOARDs, and shine her leathers—her shoes had been known to blind tourists during outdoor formations. Her role models include: her dog, Soland, and Major Acevedo. Flores plans to return to her motherland in Ireland upon her retirement as Commodore. SWOtivation.

Hunter R. Gibson



USMC Ground

Hunter loves school. Everyday he eats food and he likes sports too. He hopes one day to be in the military. Whenever he opens his mouth to sing, the world truly knows peace. It is a beautiful thing. One day, the Old Man will finally cross that River.

John L. Goldsborough

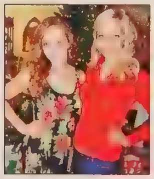
Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Roberto B. Golovic

Montenegro Navy

They said I will miss my classmates after we leave the Academy, but I never miss at close range.



Christy C. Harding

Naval Flight Officer

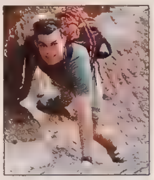
Christy Carolyn Harding made her grand entrance into the world on September 4th, 1991, two weeks after her due date, and has been fashionably late ever since. Needless to say, the Naval Academy was something of a culture shock, with its emphasis on timeliness, but she has adapted and overcome in true happy-go-lucky fashion. A proud "Glirstie" songbird, Christy has been a member of Women's Glee Club for four years, traveling to Brazil, Hawaii, NYC, New Orleans, Chicago, Miami, and Charleston as part of the Club's tours. Other accomplishments include overcoming her extreme aversion to any sort of physical activity, having run two Marine Corps Marathons during her USNA career. Love and thanks goes out to The Man in the Sky, Mom, Dad, Hannah, her grandparents, aunts, uncles, Cristen, Molly, Pearl, and Charlie for their "real good talks," faithful Messiah attendance, laps to sit on, and unfailing love and support. In the near future Christy will be found enjoying the backseat as a Naval Flight Officer, sharing her sunny outlook with wardrooms across the Fleet.

Darin Hess

Supply Corps

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

John R. Hunting



"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Stephen A. Jaenke

USMC Pilot

CAPT Stephen August Jaenke, commander of the seas and tamer of various young dames. CAPT Steve is perhaps the saltiest sailor that the Varsity Sailing Team has in its repertoire, and by far the best. No doubt! His daring skill and stout ability to boldly defy nature while commanding has earned him respect and esteem across the seven seas. When CAPT Steve first showed up to the Academy he was just a lowly plebe; scrawny, helpless, and ignorant. But through hard work, diligence, training and protein, CAPT Steve has elevated himself to a level that is the envy of Poseidon himself. A damn good pilot indeed, CAPT Steve has safely navigated the sky lanes and calmly landed in the gustiest of gales, especially when his feet aren't on the breaks. CAPT Steve's confidence and stature allow him to easily attract the crème de la crème when it comes to women, and he is often known to be jet-setting across the nation answering the calls of scores of southern young belles. CAPT Steve, a tamer of the wild, a true friend, and a great role model. The USMC should feel privileged to have such an awe inspiring gentleman join its ranks. Fair winds good lad.

Molly L. Lepter

Surface Warfare Officer

A bright bundle of joy, Molly L. Lepter was born and raised in the Bronx. Following her family's footsteps, Molly came to the USNA with dreams of joining the Explosives Ordinance Disposal community. While Molly is a valuable asset to the Aeronautical Engineering Department, she did not feel adequately challenged. To remedy this, Molly took on a second major in the Mechanical Engineering Department, became the Brigade Training Officer, and an active member of the Women's Rock Climbing team. In her free time, Molly enjoys volunteering anywhere and everywhere possible to fulfill her beckoning civic duty and to make those around her look bad. To capture her adventurous thrill seeking mentality, Molly just bought an expensive GoPro. Currently, she has over 12,725 unedited hours of personal skydiving, base-jumping, and scuba diving footage. No need to ask about any of this —she will tell you freely.

Nombulelo N. Mkhulise

Submarines

AKA Ntombifuthi AKA Pearly AKA Mom AKA Miss TwerkSumfin. The best roommate a gal could ask for because Ms. Mkhulise's side of the room was always "Alpha-Inspection" ready, even on the weekends... Stemming from the motherland of South Africa, known for her tedious company-wide Monday morning inspections and never hesitating to take a weekend away. We've had some great times since she's been here at the Academy: from South Korean bargaining, DC chillen, Philadelphia flaunting, and the unforgettable Vegas trip meeting LT's LBs. She can always be found ready to order Nando's chicken and rice, even if she's at her last US Dollar. A great friend, and even better person. Pearl can and WILL accomplish everything including becoming the first female South African submariner, first South African foreign exchange, and first South African Dexter lover. Love, room 2202 AEL.

Cristen K. Odom

Surface Warfare Officer

If you want to find Cristen Kate Odom, the first place you should look would be Route 301, trucking out in Old Black (R.I.P) or her big white truck to see her so-called "Fiance" (aka the Phantom) that no one's ever seen. She's been ever faithful to this phantom figure and the 17th Company Wardroom for four years, managing to ward off any and all relentlessly dogged pudgy Texas frat boys that come her way. There's never a dull moment for Cristen, who is plagued with planning multiple dining outs a year, dual majoring in Arabic and Political Science, and running marathons on the side. In addition to her bilingual pursuits, we often have to pardon her French, when she starts telling it like it is. Some of her best traits are her street smarts and quick wit, often masked by her cute squeaky voice and sweet little face. All in all, we are confident that Cristen will be best the best officer in the Navy until 25 May 2018, when she will become the happiest woman in the world.

John M. Paquette

Navy Pilot

John Paquette – Always walking around with his mind somewhere near a Langragian Point, John can always be counted on to correct your orbit when you're going astray. A former member of the Corps of Cadets at Texas A&M, John embodies what leadership should be in his instrumental work as Saber Team Captain and the president that pulled the AIAA from the ashes bringing it to new heights. He has survived multiple attacks on his knees and his sanity, but has come back even stronger making significant progress on his Iron Man prototype. He is ever ready to defend his friends, whether with a sword or a word. Ride on Tonto!

Randolph J. Patton

Navy Pilot

Josh Patton, aka the laziest Midshipman in the Brigade is upheld as a legend among Midshipmen. It was previously thought that it was impossible to sleep in one's rack for an entire week, but Josh quickly dispelled that rumor by acquiring an "eye infection." Josh also developed a reputation for taking an absurd amount of three day weekends. Oddly enough, he quickly had a change of heart. Josh was devoutly involved with Christian outreach programs and spent a large portion of his time leading Bible studies. His fun loving attitude is infectious to everyone around him. Hopefully the rumors are true about pilots getting mass amounts of sleep, if so, flight school should be as easy as renting an Ipad for a summer. Good luck Josh!

Alexander L. Pennington

USMC Ground

Hailing from Washington State, Alex Pennington is a thoroughbred stallion coming from a long breed of healthy drinkers and tough mountain, lumber truck driving folk. Accepted into the USMC community, this go getter has a brass pair even ol' Chesty would be proud of. The only thing stronger than his thirst for Crown and a pack of Marlboro Unfiltered in the early morning is his ability to sniff out the hole in South Beach. YYYYYYYYEEEEEEEEEEEEEE…Yes please…I want. An aficionado of men's style, Alex is the master of Hawaiian Shirts, Jean shorts and the Borat thong. Not for the faint of heart, he is the destroyer of the innocent and will correct all problems with a staircase or hanger. His choice, not yours. Don't tell me how to live my life. Enjoy A Fine Day.

Michael P. Price

Navy Pilot

Better known by his alter ego "The Boy Vermin," Mike is one of the most photogenic people in the company. He enjoys cheating on freedom with European "football" for sports. When attending non-mandatory fun Mike enjoys buying rounds for all and chasing Tanner. May your efforts one day end in success. I hope by the time he reads this he's already been told they drafted him for subs, regardless of the interview.

Edward K. Pritchard

USMC Ground

Ahhhhhhhhhhhh.... Vidi Vici Veni... These famous Latin words spoken by Caesar have been reordered on purpose to properly embody Edward's lifestyle. His wondrous Casanova-like escapades may have left a "trail of tears" behind him, fallen from the eyes of past girls, but if you look on the bright side, they made for some great stories that are still passed down generation to generation on the Rugby team. Parents know him as that charming South Carolinian who shook hands and kissed babies, we know him as man who left no stone unturned, no girl unkissed, and no weight unlifted. This adventurous midshipman's only weakness is playing "Never have I ever" and the occasional love song from Steel Panther. Edward has definitely left his mark on the academy and will be remembered for his humor at the squad tables and his revolutionary time in office as 17th company CMEO. He will have a promising career in the Marine Corps and where ever his southern charm takes him after that.

Roviric R. Riel

USMC Ground

Rovie "My nipples look like Milk Duds" Riel is the most secretive mid in the brigade. His most famous secret is his nationality, which to this day includes a descent from the Chinese, Japanese, Dutch, and Asian. This nocturnal creature tends to crave food exclusively cooked in a rice cooker and can only be eaten at the oddest times of night. When our schnookerboobiesugarballs is not in the room, he's either contending with the creature or conquering various levels of insanity. Good luck Rovs, we hope you don't pull landscaping duties in the Corps.

Markian Sich

USMC Pilot

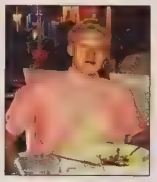
Whether you know him as Sich, sIch, Sich Daddy, the traveler, or the Ops Rascal, the boy remains constantly delicate. His unprecedented dedication to Ops work (mainly burdened by his Ops Sergeant 2/C Melivin) keeps him constantly busy checking Facebook, with intermittent texting, and sparingly doing Ops work. Whether it's planning the next "rage", or searching for an Ike Jacket, this Facebook Falcon can always be found antsy or worked up in some capacity. The young traveler's greatest weakness resides in mail order Ukrainian brides, perogies, progress, and the English language… probably related to his heritage. If there is one thing that sIch is no stranger to; that is the rack. His dedication to mastering it is unparalleled? Whether in class, the car, a Forestall, in transit between events, or up in 4250 the boy can be found recharging his batteries as indicated by the prevalence of the bottom lip. If you really want to get to know this Ukrainian, the best way to his heart is a good treat.

Mitchell D. Simmonds

USMC Pilot

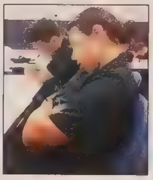
Mitchell "Lloyd" Simmonds – Whether checking his flow in the mirror or the flow over his hull, this Naval Architecture major always stayed true to his roots. Born in a snowstorm to a pack of bears on a mountain deep in the Idaho wilderness, Mitch was taught toughness at an early age. This naturalistic instinct was only further encouraged by the intensity of his Boy Scout troop. However rough and rugged this outdoorsman turned out, he also developed a taste for the finer things in life to include an affinity for cooking, baking, and other home skills. It may all sound busy, but this man's man always had time for his friends and even those he didn't know. He would always lend a hand when needed and wore a smile every day. If you were feeling down, he'd pick you up with a song from his IPod – 13,000 songs of nothing but the good stuff. He is loved by all who know him and we wish him luck as Marine Corps Aviator.

Zachary M. Tanner



Submarines

Why he's alright with going subs: "Cause I wanna make bank, bro.
And I wanna drive a Range Rover." It'll also be good for him in the long run.



Daphne A. Vargas

USMC Ground

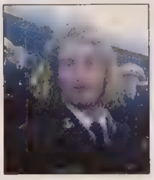
Hailing from the actual city of Chicago, Daphne "Chesty Puller" Vargas sets the standard that all midshipmen should strive to achieve. Daphne has had several achievements while here at the Naval Academy, such as validating Sunday night SEAL swimming, being the Annapolis Ice Cream Company's number one customer, and scaring the greatest number of plebes as a plebe summer detailer. As a firm believer in science, Daphne preferred to learn her academic material through osmosis while taking a nap. Never having any work to do as an astrophysics major, Daphne preferred to laugh hysterically at videos of cats and bouncing baby goats or listen to the same songs over and over and over again. To fuel her mind and body, Daphne stuck to a strict diet of Cool Ranch Doritos, gummy bears, pizza, McDonald's, and curly fries…mmm precious food. However, since service selection, Daphne preferred to live off pure motivation and could often be heard yutting in her sleep when her motivation levels exceed their capacity. Upon achieving her life-long goal of being Commandant of the Marine Corps, Daphne hopes to be able to live the rest of her days sitting on a beach somewhere in Mexico, drinking tequila and practicing land nav.

Conor P. Wilkes

Naval Flight Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

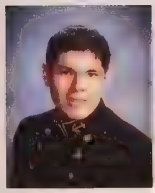
Benjamin Robinson



Submarines

Making his way from the fine state of Iowa, Ben has navigated the mystical secrets of computer science, while languishing in the serenity of the Japanese Defense Academy. While away from Bancroft Hall, Ben spends his time regaling his fiancé-to-be with adventurous sea stories, which he and his esteemed roommates have participated in, on and off the yard. Ben now leaves us for the silent service, where we know he will continue to excel and demonstrate his Neo-like computer skills. Blink on!

Class of 2014

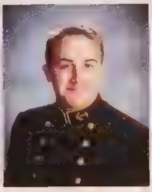


Jeffrey Baez

Killian Corbishley

Austin Gallegos

Aquiles Gomez

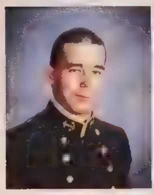


Chase Hubert

Matthew Huffman

Christopher Junghans

Camron Kiekintveld



Gary Koda

Ryan Kommer

Madelyn Macfarlane

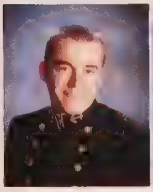
Alec McGlaughlin

Jasmine Melvin

Mary Morrison

Sean C. Murphy

Krystyna Nowakowski



Michael Nugent

Caitlin Olsen

Nathanial Perisho

Benjamin Porter

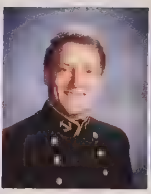
Mack Qin

Christopher Radka

Christianrizal Regan

Matthew Salo

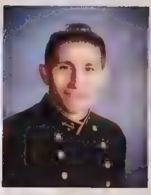
Anthony Seda



Dylan Spencer

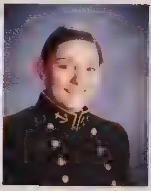
Blake Stout

Matthew Verducci



Ryan Wheeler

Shelbywayne Williams



Cheyenne Wingate

Amanda Zablocky

Class of 2015

Maxwell Ain

Dominic Bellissimo

Blake Brooks

Tymiescia Chase

Christopher Diorio

Samuel Ector

Alexander Fedorovich

Jackson Fisher

Patrick Gest

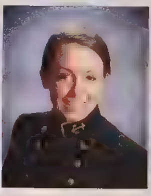
Zachariah Gober

Connor Hendi

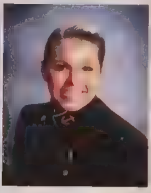
Sean Jackson

Naticha Jamordeeconnor

Samuel Lacinski



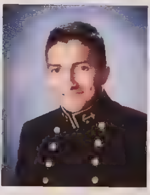
Carly Leary



Brooke Mackno

George McIntyre

Lucas McKee



Vikram Mukherjee

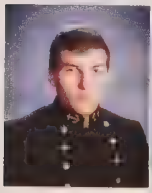
Brice Musgrove

Eric Myers

Sierra Parks

Carlos Perez

Andrew Preul



Anthony Prochilo

Victoria Rand

Andrew Sanchez

Aimee Snelling

Hlan Thaw

Nicholas Thompson

Grant Valenstein

Timothy Waterman

Joshua Werling

Jake Williams

Eric Wilson

Class of 2016

Hannah Adams

Jude Akpunku

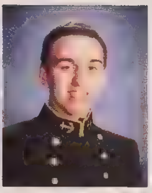
Andrew Bonn

Rachel Busiek

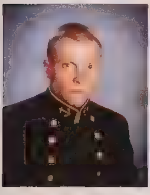
Joshua Choung

Angela Cleveland

Robert Costa



Daniel Dawson



Zachary Elsner

Benjamin Fry

Daniel Gartrell

Joseph Gaston

Tyler Germann

David Gordeuk

Praneel Gulabrao

Mark Hackworth

Michael Harding

Allison Hunt

Randall Hymel

Shane Kravetz

Bridget Lee

Kevin Martin

Elizabeth McCarty

Andrew Mendez

Tyler Muniz

Daniel O'neill

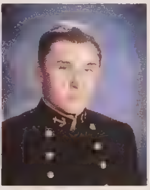
Salome Ok

Eric Oliver

Samuel Peckham

Phillip Perabo

Annabel Rayl



Tyler Roach

Kelly Salander

Joshua Sarker

Aaron Sims

Julia Splaine

Luke Sullivan

Lukas Temple

Riley Weber

Andrew Whisner

Guy Williams

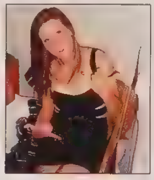
Company

18

Patrick J. Abbott

USMC Pilot

Considered the ginger voice of reason among his closest friends, Pat could always be counted on to lend a caring hand or some sound New England words of wisdom. The victim of a still controversial slap bet and survivor of countless nights on the town, Pat always managed to somehow make it back to the hall or onto an awaiting airliner despite no recollection of the trip. An Honors Economics Major and a Marine Pilot select, Pat had better luck telling the ladies he was "the guy who announces the stops on the T" or by winning them riches betting on horse races. With a bottle of SPF-50 in hand, Pat is sure to go places in the Marine Corps and we can only hope he is never far-off to keep us out of trouble. No better friend, no worse enemy!



Leslie R. Aird

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Leslie Aird grew up on the plains of Fredrick, aka DTF, aka Fred-neck, Maryland. Her activities include lunging, hiking in the vast mountains of western Maryland, collecting hiking sticks and occasionally banana-grams with her dear friend Alexis. She is a fan of Navy Football, enjoys tailgating games and cheering on the team, and hanging out with her friends in D&B. In all seriousness if there was one word to describe Leslie it would be loyal. You will never find more loyalty in a friend than in Leslie Aird, who always puts herself before those she cares about and wouldn't think twice about helping them out when they're in need. She will make a fantastic Nuke, considering she is distant relatives with Christopher Columbus, and once conned an entire cruise ship on its voyage. Dynamic Duo Forever.

Jonathan D. Alston

USMC Ground

Jonny "John" Alston came to the Naval Academy from the fine state of Texas. He was an A student and recruited gymnast in high school, but it would be his love for cookies, sleep, and video games that would make him the man he is today...a NARP on the Combat Arms Team. Unlike many students here that found special interests in music or sports, Jonny spent most of his time searching the internet for puppies, guns, and designer underwear...a combination that would confuse and frighten most people. But to those who knew him well, it all made sense! Despite these odd hobbies though, Jonny was still the most respected and valued person in the entire company. And although he may not share his Oreo cookies with you, Jonny is the most caring and trusting friend anyone could ever ask for. Many are lucky to call him a friend, but I am truly grateful to call him a brother. Semper Fi

Aimee Brenner

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Mark A. Carrion

SEALs

Since Mark wasn't born in Africa, and thus missed his calling as a philosopher warlord, he'll have to settle with being a SEAL. His life plans include spreading the Gospel of Mark, breeding super babies, and thriving when society inevitably collapses because men have become weak. When things get in Mark's way, Mark crushes them, then crushes their little thing families to make sure they get the point. He'll undoubtedly continue defrauding the government out of hundreds of thousands of dollars for his pet projects by, "getting balls-deep in officers' OODA Loops." All-inclusive trip to Africa? Check. SOT Gym? Check. Private army? Coming. (Phrasing. Boom!) Currently though, he is always there for you…assuming you deserve his time, and especially if he should be writing a paper. Respected and loved by many, he will have a large fan group rooting for him while he's at BUD/S, and crushing everything he encounters.

Christopher D. Cheng

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Andrew R. Clark

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Have you ever wondered if there was more to life, other than being really, really, ridiculously good looking? Yeah, neither has Andy; the shining beacon of hope among the few remaining NAPS survivors and a future Explosive Ordnance Disposal Officer. A systems engineer by trade and history major at heart, he secretly took out his academic angst in fits of violence directed at his closest friends, but always with a smile. Like his father Capt Clark (yes, the Dant, so please stop asking) Andy served as a leader; a company commander and other stuff but most notably as an ADEO who sorely needed… an ADEO. Phallic artist, hair-metal musician, and promising Britney Spears backup dancer; anyone fortunate enough to serve with him will surely partake in the hot, heavy, jacked action that defines his life.

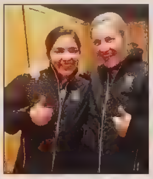
Samuel Cosgrove

Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal.

Patrick G. Costello

Surface Warfare Officer

Hailing from Neenah, Wisconsin, Patrick is a verified cheesehead (GO PACK GO!) and Cat Fancy subscriber who won't let you forget that all the sewer covers are made in his hometown. Maybe that's where he got his nickname "Brigade Crap-O" from. He was highly involved in the Catholic Choir and Men's Glee Club, and the Catholic Midshipman Club and Knights of Columbus, to the point where his roommates believed he lived in the Memorial Hall Chapel. He definitely fell asleep there. He also was one of the few members of D&B to complete the MCM and the Seal Screener. "Cos" is always willing to help out anyone in need, just give him an extra 5 minutes to show up. He's been voted most likely to have 13 children... or none. All in all Pat is a stand-up guy who loves God, his family and friends, and will be one of your most loyal friends if you are lucky enough to meet him.



Natalie E. Crow

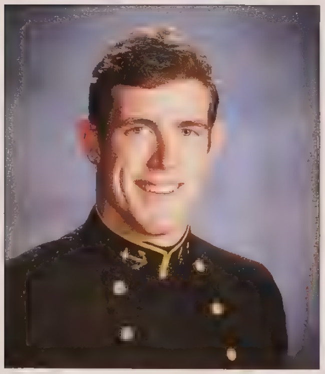
Nuclear Surface Warfare

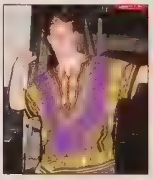
Hailing from the California paradise of San Jose, Natalie made the rough journey to the Northeast and all that it doesn't have to offer. There is no doubt she left her mark on the Academy. For one, she effortlessly enjoyed the DTA life and rallied on Saturday mornings to rep the Women's Golf team at practice. She is even known at first site in at least one Annapolis establishment and gets served without even ordering. A true shipmate, she is known to help 'tanks' who have gone too hard. In all seriousness, she fearlessly commanded 18th Company, influenced the DI status of the Women's Golf team, was a dedicated member of the Women's Glee Club, and challenged herself with many leadership opportunities that will make her an awesome officer. She lives life to the fullest and is an excellent friend to many. She will undoubtedly have an awesome time in Pearl Harbor!

Vincent A. Curley

USMC Ground

Who says one man can't make a difference. Remember the final game of the 2013 Sprint Football season that Navy lost to Army? Vinnie Curley sure does, since he single-handedly lost the game due to a couple of blown blocks in the closing minutes. When he's not underperforming in weak-bodied football, Nipple-guy is spending his free time holding hands with his girlfriend, but not a bit more. Maybe if he were a little more coldblooded, his first girlfriend wouldn't have left him for another shipmate. Vinnie, you're extremely boring, but a solid guy, so we'll let you keep hanging out with us. Best of luck in the Marine Corps killer.





Colin C. Daniels

Supply Corps

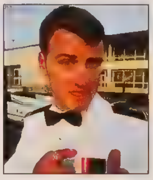
Colin- Who needs college when you can continue to act like you're the king of high school for four more years. Lifting weights and pulling chicks is more than just a hobby, it's a way of life. But leave it to the Naval Academy to bring out the best in somebody. From his tear-jerker late night phone calls to finding the love of his life, Kim Muirhead, Colin's life is less Varsity Blues and more The Notebook. Don't ever cross this diva, because you might get the cold shoulder and not be allowed to sit with him at lunch. Crying won't get you very far in the Supply Corps, but good luck anyways. Bishop Sullivan football rules!

Benjamin R. DiTota

Navy Pilot

They say that Virginia is for lovers, but they've never been to Connecticut. Under that hard exterior shell, Ben DiTota is a true romantic and sweetheart. From post-its pressed against his lips that say 'Ur beautiful' in mirror selfies, to teddy bears and bouquets after one date, this is a guy who knows how to melt any woman's heart. If that doesn't work, he'll fly all the way to Notre Dame to be with you, and won't mind if you leave him for your EX. Speaking of Notre Dame, Ben even has the heart to date a girl that resembles their hunch-back bell-ringer, but can see through that outer image to her beautiful mind, or lack there-of. But don't try and tell him any of these things, because your opinion is always wrong. Good luck Ben, don't break too many hearts… if that's OK with him.

Ralph P. Duffett



Navy Pilot

"Who is Ralph Duffett???" A man whose flowing locks of gorgeous hair and no worries attitude set him apart from the characteristic military persona, Ralph Patrick Duffett hails from the non-tropical island of Grosse Ile, Michigan, where, "you can't drink all day if you don't start in the morning." Spending his days sleeping through class and sailing the waters of the Chesapeake, Ralph somehow pulled off a degree in Aerospace Engineering without putting forth any effort at all. Maintaining a life shrouded in mystery, Duffett one way or another managed to stay off restriction despite his endless shenanigans, including once having a late night, emergency Brigade staff meeting called due to the "rumor" of his alleged misconduct started by his close friends. A man whose perennial flip flops and striking good looks stole our hearts and hardened our…... resolve, Ralph will fit well in the P-8 community where his nonchalant attitude and culinary mastery of the microwavable hot-pocket are sure to take him far.

Ian F. Eisenhauer

Medical Corps

Ian Francis Eisenhauer, son of Walt and Doreen Eisenhauer hails from Jersey Shore Pennsylvania. Whether he's training plebes, fulfilling his duties as Regimental Commander, or fantasizing about all the awesome things he will do when he graduates, he never has time for all the ladies that are constantly chasing after him. In spite of this, he has managed to do exceptionally well as a chemistry major. He enjoyed the pain and agony of chemistry so much that he decided to share it with his roommate by staying up late and waking up even earlier, ensuring his roommates never got the sleep they deserved. If it wasn't his grades that got him into medical school, it was his vast firsthand experience playing doctor for 18th company. He has been a loving son, brother and friend, and his dedication and compassion will make him a great asset to the Navy and to the medical community.

Galen L. Fisher

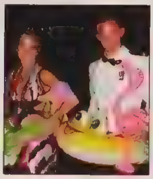
Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Joshua W. Fitzpatrick

Navy Pilot

Josh Fitzpatrick, or Fitz as his fans know him, is probably too busy being famous right now to ever read a 250 word bio. But let it be known, his days at USNA were quite memorable. From his Napster roots, he's done everything from being a Dawg, to impersonating Superman, and he's even passed the PRT without riding a bike, twice. No one could ever deny Josh's pride towards going to the Academy. He enjoyed it so much that, after the Buckeyes lost in the NCAA tourney for the fifth straight season, he even began calling the Academy "home". As for the future, the sky is the limit for this stud. Though he hopes that his career will not resemble his favorite actor's in Flight, he agrees with Denzel that if, "If you don't trust the pilot, then don't go." Although his time in the Navy is sure to be short, if you're ever trying to find him, you mustn't look far. Whether being paid to perform at piano bars or on stage, this Drake-look-a-like was born to entertain.



Sean D. Freitas

Navy Pilot

Hailing from the frozen tundra of the great white north, Sean spent more of his time hiding from stalker ex-girlfriends, than he did SAT. Between serenading the 2-4 backshaft on his guitar and attempting to pronounce the ever so difficult word "sombrero," Sean kept busy, dealing with "The Scare," and procrastinating any actual work. Determined to earn a degree in Aerospace Engineering to better his chances of achieving his childhood dream of being selected for Navy Pilot, he nearly removed himself from being considered at all. Fortunately, Sean had more luck using his "mastery" of the English language and boyish charm to dodge the NFO draft by convincing the board he would "be a terrible backseat driver" than he did talking himself out of restriction for sporting flip-flops on liberty or convincing his chain of command building bunk beds in his room would profoundly add to his professional development as an Officer. His "no worries, everything works out in the end…for me," blissfully ignorant attitude is reminiscent of a mischievous puppy, however, it's no surprise he formed such a close friendship with his sarcastically pessimistic "grumpy cat" opposite who appreciates every way he's ever cared; from driving her home crying at 2am to daring to fly with her again after she stalled the prop and broke off an instrument in the plane. Grumpy Cat can't wait to see how the future brings Blue Angels 5 and 6, the Ginger voice of reason, and herself together again for some more outrageous adventures we probably should have been kicked out for.

Marvin L. Gibbs III

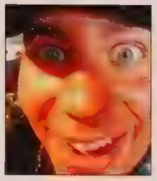
Information Corps

Marvin Leo Gibbs III (Tres) has an innate ability to accept future challenges with great drive. That is, of course, if there is heavy iron to lift involved. He was ecstatic when he found out he could take weightlifting for a PE class but could not earn above a B due to his under-developed legs. With all of the weight lifting Tres does he often uses Icy Hot and is likely to one day be sponsored by them for experimenting with its uses. When he is not in the weight room pumping iron you can find him doing various other activities like drinking muscle milk and lifting. Tres will use his finely developed muscles, his computer expertise, and his deep passion for training to serve the Information Dominance Corps with distinction. Tres Gibbs is an upstanding person, an exemplary leader, and an irreplaceable asset to this nations combat arms.

Blake V. Hendrick

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



Breyer M. Houston

Naval Flight Officer

From day 1, MIDN 1/C Breyer M. Houston has exemplified the upstanding traits of a well refined naval officer. He has and continues to be at the forefront of drill where he proudly serves as the 18th Company drill officer. He has brought 18 from the very depths of failure to the upper echelon success through his absolutely ruthless parade expectations. Breyer has not only been known to destroy the hope and dreams of fledgling underclass but also the vary souls that their bodies possess. When the lights go out Breyer doesn't sleep, he's simply planning for the next day of slaying bodies at the next drill practice. He was service selected for Naval Aviation, but he probably should have been selected for SEALs solely based on the fact that Breyer has more confirmed knife kills than any special operations operative to date. None the less, the aviation community will be greatly enhanced with Breyer's introduction into that prestigious warfare community.

Adam C. Johnson

Supply Corps

Now college men from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailor men in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Cory M. Leviton

Surface Warfare Officer

A truer NJ guido could never exist - forget he's not Italian, from his gold chain to his watch bling, Cory exudes pride for the Jersey shore and Bruce Springsteen. He certainly isn't afraid of his bully classmates, "let them come", he says, "I know martial arts!" A few friends tested him on this statement, well let's just say they needed a self-esteem boost and had to beat our favorite Hebrew speaking friend on the racquetball courts. When not touring Europe with his outperforming girlfriend from 20th Company, Cory can be found messing with his midstang - he still claims the first one getting totaled was not his fault - or tunneling into Michelson for faster internet. Once on the road to Mayport, Cory will certainly be missed by his JMC, company, friends, and the local comic book shops that have made this place home (weird right!?) for the past four years.

Brittany T. Love

Surface Warfare Officer

Ever wonder what it means to be a SWO? Look no further. Sweet-B exudes the definition of SWOtarium Totalum. If not at the barn knee deep in matter I can only describe as the stuff nightmares are made of, or at medical chatting it up with the docs over her latest injury, she's keeping YP's in a perfect Form 1. Through blood, sweat, and Thermo Dynamics, this chick is well on her way to sailing the 7 seas, visiting exotic destinations, and taking the fight to those who would do others harm. The watch is stood my friends...the watch is stood.

Daniel C. Miller

USMC Ground

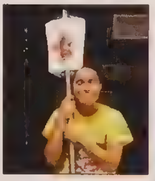
Fat Dan loves two things: food, and girls that love food. When Dan's not stuffing his face with Swedish meatballs, he's probably searching the Iowa white pages for a new girlfriend. His long distance relationships are a lot like his cars, he has a lot of them, and usually totals them after a year. At least he has the common courtesy to keep his women a few states away so they don't have to smell his repulsive body odor. Many people know him for his successful career of rolling around in tights with other dudes, but we'll always remember him as the casual guy with the boat. Dan's going to be a great Marine, as long as he doesn't get too fat.

Angel Morales

Surface Warfare Officer

"?Quieres hacer el amor conmigo?" Do you know what this means? Neither does Angel Morales. But don't let his lack of Spanish fluency fool you- this Hispanic hailing from the netherworld of downtown Chicago packs a spicy punch. He can guzzle more tequila-filled, umbrella mixed drinks than an alcoholic in an open bar, has more friend-girls than a gay man, and can summarily bitch out his opponents without even delving into Spanglish in under two seconds. The rest of his time is generally spent talking with his fiancée, doing homework, and cleaning up his roommates' messes. In all seriousness, Angel's attention to detail saved my butt more times than I can count, and I will miss his feisty penchant for staring at his naked roommates, especially now that he's married. It's a new Navy, right? You have my well-wishes for your career, marriage, and whatever else you choose to do in life, and I'll sincerely miss you man! Byyyyyeeeee! <3

Kimberly A. Muirhead



Surface Warfare Officer

SWO by day, party planner by night, MIDN 1/C Muirheads future looks pretty bright! As a member of the YP squadron for two weeks, I'd trust her to conn any ship. Plus, if you added some sparkles, bino's are a fabulous accessory. Kim can be heard minutes before shes seen. She has the personality that lights up any room simply because shes in it. Shes usually running, with her back pack clipped, and ready to tell anyone a brilliant idea shes just had. The only person I know who firmly believes in social investments, Kim Muirheads 21st birthday was the best one Annapolis has ever seen. Sure, it took a year to plan, and five hours to drink enough to never remember- but it was absolutely worth every dime. A genuine friend who will stop everything if you need help, no really.. she'll come to your room out of breath, shes just the kind of girl you'd want in your corner. She'll make a fabulous leader. She's the Navy's Elle Woods.

Jordyn E. Nicholl

USMC Ground

She is the sweetest Georgia Peach you will find in the North East. Don't stand in her way when there is a fresh tub of Nutella; she is ready with her bananas and knife in hand to take you down. 1/C Nicholl is a ray of sunshine throughout the Women's Swim Team, the class of 2013, and 18th Company. Whenever you need a hand or a pick me up in the day, Jo is always there to give kind words or a knock out laugh guaranteed to turn your frown upside-down! Though she may be little, she is mighty; don't challenge her to a pull-up competition for you will surely lose. From memorizing marine corps rates plebe year to now being my little beast of a Marine Corps Officer, I am truly blessed to have four years of amazing memories with you, my dear. Go knock 'em dead with your spunk and love for the Lord.

Jeremy M. Orton

Surface Warfare Officer

Jeremy was known by many names at the Academy, most he gave himself and were very flattering....but they do not tell the true story of Jeremy "Jimmy Neutron" Orton. A devoted Christian by day and blue chino wearing runner by night, Jeremy spent most of his time shooting on the Combat Arms Team and leading company bible studies throughout the week. While a sense of apathy and total lack of tact normally hinder a man's journey in life, Jeremy's personification of these qualities secured him an escape from the dreaded nuke draft. In all reality, Jeremy is one of the smartest and most loyal people I have ever met, and will no doubt succeed in his endeavors. Jeremy continues to work hard on his dream of becoming a SEAL, but until then...Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead!

Ethan J. Pellman

Surface Warfare Officer

G.K. Chesterton stated, "Drink because you are happy, but never because you are miserable." Pellman never understood that advice. Ethan loves two things, beer and cars; however, his favorite is when he mixes them together on West Street. While alcohol has been one of Pellman's favorite past times, let's not forget that Ethan is a lover of the ladies. Although Pellman and TC aren't best buds, they both share the common love interest of 18th company's Leslie Aird and Colin Daniels' sister. We really tried to think of a positive way to end this but there aren't any. Love you.

Daniel G. Ramirez

USMC Ground

"If you're going through hell, keep going." - Winston Churchill

Mark Reaser

USMC Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Marc W. Rintz

Navy Pilot

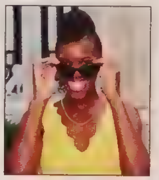
Hailing from Lancaster, this Amish Gangster left nothing to chance. He takes what he wants, when he wants it: AR15 and automatic guns activist? Check; BMW 3series? Check; Conquering Alexandre the Great? Check; Building a RedBull Sponsored Formula 1 Car? Check; doing all of this while being a systems engineer, visiting wounded warriors, and bragging about NOLS? Oh yeah… As a maverick wannabe (cue intro music from Top Gun like we did before formation every morning), this mid will take his spotless career to the Rag and will undoubtedly fly under the call-sign "NASCAR" as he will surely tell one too many stories about his beloved car.

Bradford J. Schieve

Navy Pilot

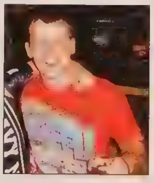
Huger than Brian Goss, Scheeves is the reason for the "no pull-ups" signs on the laundry hangers. A true Renaissance midshipman, he is an accomplished sketch artist with an emphasis on still life and modern art. An armchair weatherman, he has been known to spend late winter days stomping on snow in order to hasten the arrival of spring. Musically gifted, Bradford served as a D&B drum major, was the lead dancer in Gospel Choir, and is now spending basket leave on tour with his up and coming band "Viola Tree." Affectionately given the name "Beaker" over plebe summer due to a real resemblance to that Muppet, Brad is a most loyal friend. The epitome of servant-leader, he switched out of a promising academic career in the math major in order to help his struggling shipmates in broceanography. While he may not have a subscription to Cat Fancy, he certainly wishes he did. Too humble to admit it, Brad's pilot service selection is only the beginning—this intrepid Ohioan is headed for the space program and beyond.

Audrey J. Stiles



Navy Pilot

Audrey "Dre" Stiles, originally from Harlem, Georgia but moved around due to growing up in an Army family, is probably the most courageous, downright fearless souls of the whole Brigade, especially after stepping up to the call of duty when it came to cleaning up the vomiting residue of a fellow MIDN, in the middle of a disgusted crowd after the Spring PRT. Audrey is one of the most helpful and hardworking individuals this school has ever seen. From starting her Naval Academy career as a track star to capping it off as the infamous XO of 18th Company, she has graced this institution with her authentic personality. If she wasn't out having the most awkward moments of her life due to various interactions with fellow MIDs or texting her family in group text during class or catching up on her movie-watching or bumpin gospel music or simply chillin with her boo thang, she was at her desk studying, which I admire her for; her dedication to understanding all the material and her ability to study for hours on in, plus maintain the information was simply inspiring. Her love for God is unmatched; she strives to grow her relationship with God and in turn, strengthens the relationships she has with others. Her love of God readily shows through her interactions with others and people are truly grateful for her compassion. The best is yet to come! The future is bright for this young lady and the world better get ready for this flygirl!



James E. Thomas

Submarines

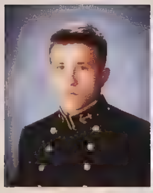
Known as the cleanest midshipman in the Brigade, James always knows how to clean his room in under 5 minutes. What he lacks in height he makes up for in intelligence, except in English. Although he didn't always do his own homework, he was always willing and able to help the yard dogs out with theirs. He could also be found making friends with Jordanians, asking his roommates if he could light the chair on fire, killing it at fieldball or helping out the homeless. James will be a great asset to the submarine force.

Antonios G. Zikos

USMC Ground

This creature hatched in the sewers of Los Angeles and was raised by transient busboys in the kitchen of Denny's. If you ever wanted to smell the stench of death, Zikos was your man. If you ever wanted to be banned from a half respectable establishment, Zikos was your man. Zikos was not only a menace to society, but may have been the only person suspected of murder from self-inflicted wounds. This being was constantly morphing in order to try and be a part of every fad known to man. But there were two things consistent in Zikos' life, the ability to woo the nastiest females around, and a permanent black eye. We wish you the best pal, cause you're the last of your kind. He hated Cheng.

Class of 2014



Robert Atkinson

Sara Baugh

Hunter Beck

Travis Bridges

Andrew Castro

Nikolas Curry

Zetta Don

Jonathan Driesslein

Max Dunn

Zachary Eaton

Keith Eckert

Dylan Etzel

Thomas Greene

Geoffrey Grooms

Sean Hunt

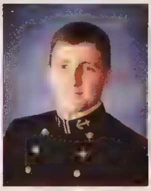
Olivia Kosaka

Alexandra Lynch

William Mayo

Dylan McCrea

Forres McGraw

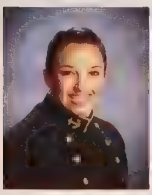


Nicholas Moilanen

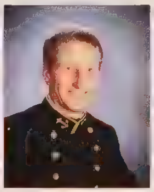
Jacob Neal

Kathleen O'brien

Daniel Park



Sydnee Percival



Austin Price

Justin Roberts

Brandon Romero

Karina Schmidt

Frederick Shaak

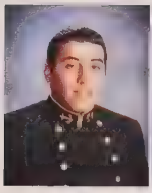
Kennedy Trotter

Giorgi Tsurtsumia

Alexander Turitzin

Matthew Van Halanger

Class of 2015



Mohammed Alnaimat

Maria Arnone

Anton Balsirow

Hunter Bloy

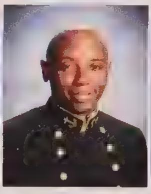
Joseph Brant

Emily Buzzard

Joseph Cardona

James Daughtrey

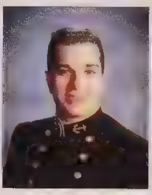
Collin Demski



Cory Dennis

Alec Eiber

Tanner Fleming



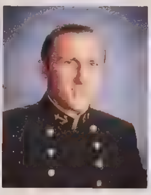
James Frevola

Ashton Genzman

Christopher Giraldi

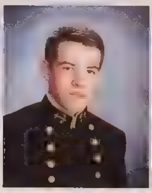
Steven Hallgren

Ryan Heagen



Christopher Hein

Margaret Jones



Brandon Karpf

Mubarak Kiyamov

Saungwon Ko

Peter Lamoe

Nicholas Laurel

Justin Loomis

Marquise Lovejoy

Nathaniel Males

Zane Markel

Kevin Miller

Garrett Morano

Abigail New

Padraig O'brien

Brendan Perry

Maxine Robinson

Stephen Rodriguez

Jared Sadtler

Jonathan Sharbo

Christopher Smaldone

Thorys Stensrud

Britney Thornton

Sarah Truskot

Class of 2016

Jared Allacher

Breanne Aronin

Nicolas Arosemena

Juan Chaves

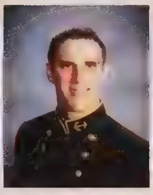
Jessica Desousa

Derek Frawley

Evan Gerbino

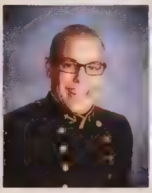
Brandon Greene

Jared Griggs

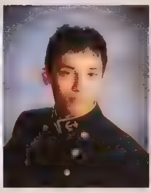


Christopher Hamilton

Adam Hammer



Gavin Hawbaker

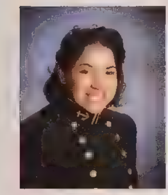


Kai Hinton

William Johnson

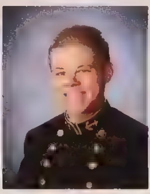
Teresa Kennedy

Richard Kuzma

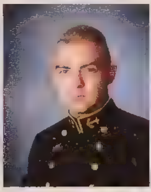


Resfa Latigo

Taylor Lindenhayn

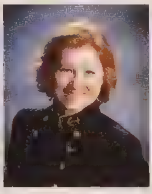


John Martin



Eric Menholt

Alexander Monteilh



Deborah Mullen

Nicholas Neighbors

Patrick Nolan

Marc Prather

Connor Renihan

Alexia Ricketts

Sean Ridinger

Kelsey Roberts

Chad Rogers

Ashley Ross

Ian Shaw

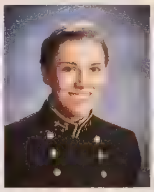
Nicholas Sloan

Zofia Stark

Luke Stocking

David Suh

Clarissa Thatcher



Taylor Turchan

Joshua Weeden

THANK YOU FOR NAVY

Company

19

Ronald Q. Allen

USMC Ground

Ronald Quinton Allen, also known as "Scooter" by his mother, is from Seattle, Washington. The area he is from is well known for their BBQ, coffee, fried chicken, and most importantly, their "swag." Ronald enjoys reading, writing, and arithmetic, and enjoys the occasional game of pickup basketball. His favorite activity is composing hip-hop lyrics or "rap songs." Ronald Allen aspired to come to the Naval Academy since he was twelve years old. He worked hard to get a scholarship to the best high school in the area in order to give himself the best chance. While at the academy he performed very well; not without the help of his best friends and roommates; Noah Joseph and Robert Crutcher. He played Sprint Football, graduated in the top 100 as an Econ major, and was sent to Kings College to get his Masters in Public Policy. He will be a great Marine.

Tyler J. Barker

Surface Warfare Officer

A native of Navarre, FL, Tyler Jackson Barker spent his first two years in the sun as a valued member of the Offshore Sailing Team. His summer "training" took him to exotic places like Orlando, Bermuda, and Israel. A die-hard fan of the Braves and Gators, Tyler even admits to cheering for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Despite living with a Russian spy for three years, he remains fiercely patriotic and loyal to this country. A sucker for southern women, Tyler longs to visit SMU and JEFF STATE, you know, JEFFERSON STATE, to chase these beauties. Eager to meet new people, Tyler enjoys going on SPRING BREAAAAK and checking out the local bar scene. A victim of the classic NAMI whammy, Tyler had his service selection changed to Surface Warfare at the last minute. SWO life will take you many places…just don't burn your feet.

Dylan D. Becker

USMC Ground

Four years together by the Bay Where Severn joins the tide, Then by the Service called away, We've scattered far and wide; But still when two or three shall meet, And old tales be retold, From low to highest in the Fleet Will pledge the Blue and Gold.

Ryan Benroth

Submarines

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Robert M. Crutcher

Medical Corps

"Crutch, GO TO BED!" He ignored them. He had to stay up late in order to finish. Real late. Like absurdly late. Every 45 minutes: break—vending machine, walk around, snack, anything to stay up late. Rob knew it would all pay off once he could get on the piano and serenade all of 19th company with that electric keyboard.O they love it. Robbie knew he was the best on it...."Rob, you want to pillow talk?" Every night they talk about nothing. Noah actually makes an effort to open up, but what does he get? Q falling asleep in fewer than 10 minutes. They some scrubs doe, Robert thought to himself. Yes, hands down the hardest worker in his class, Rob also had the biggest heart. A tutor and confidant for many of his classmates, Robert Crutcher was so selfless that sometimes he even forgot to shower...smh.

Dyanna R. Cuevas

Naval Flight Officer

Navy Women's Lacrosse regrets to announce the graduation of its leading scorer, Dyanna Cuevas. Wait a second...does Dyanna play lacrosse? Just kidding, but she did win an award for the best bun in the brigade! Dyanna, also referred to as Maya (even on her birthday), is heading down to PC next year (Pensacola for those not familiar with abbrevs). She'll be a great friend for the bar scene because if you go, SHE WILL GO...and not ever get hungover. Dyanna has a nickname for just about everyone, probably because she had plenty of thinking time when she was looking for 4/C Steele. She is a future mombat and she is an aunt to a two of the cutest pigeons on the planets...too bad J's not her type. Dyanna is the C G in the B #CTTFW

Christopher Davies

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Emani J. Decquir

USMC Ground

Born and raised in Sacramento, E-E-E-E-Muhhh is a Cali girl through and through. She even drew flowers and peace signs onto her canteen over plebe summer. Always a free bird before she said "just stop" and flipped the switch to become her marine corps self. But not before trying to sneak a quick nap with headphones. She's always the "first" to have gummy bears, gold fish, Milanos, J.Crew sweatshirts, and Uggs... she's such a trend setter. Though she was # 1 on the courts and in our hearts she was the last to turn 21, but she definitely made up for it. She'll never tell your secrets, but she will always laugh when you mess up. A smile, a shoulder to lean on, and sister forever and always. Way to go Emani, you made it to graduation! OORAH!

Kevin S. Dever

Surface Warfare Officer

Despite his severe cases of gymnophobia and bromodosis, you have always been a source of entertainment. Whether it was starting drama in the room which would lead to wrestling matches, to taking a pepperoni shot in D.C. to having a secret girlfriend for months, you never let us down. I can't believe you adopted a dog with her without consulting us? Although you suck at every video game you have ever played (you dead in Demon Souls again), and yes you've had a lot of practice so there's no excuse, we believe you'll excel at the SWO life. Hey next year's ski trip bring the vodka and Gatorade, we love feeling like we are in middle school again. Although you're an aspiring Racquetball player, your still just a NARP like the rest of us. "I'm not touching youuuuuu…"

Stephen J. Dixon

Navy Pilot

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Cheyann R. Essley

USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Travis W. Fanning

USMC Pilot

So hoist our colors, hoist them high, And vow allegiance true, So long as sunset gilds the sky Above the ocean blue, Unlowered shall those colors be Whatever fate they meet, So glorious in victory, Triumphant in defeat.

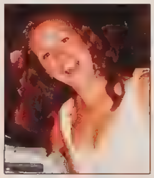
Andra F. Florea

Surface Warfare Officer

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Peter J. Galbraith

"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."



Hannah L. Geisen

Navy Pilot

Banana formerly known as stinky Hannah is from California, Japan, Greece, Virginia, and Maryland. What can I say about my roommate of four long and tiresome years? A whole lot let me tell you. She might actually kill me (this time) after reading this. Hannah Louise Geisen is an interesting character. She couldn't even get my name right for the first six weeks; I was called Manny. Her closet is always throwing up and she just can't stop singing…like ever, in the morning its country, midday we hear pop and at night she's a rock star. Spending her days and nights on Perez Hilton throughout the years allowed her to spend more time with me on the weekends as a youngster. When Hannah isn't swinging home runs against Air Force as the Captain of the softball team, she is making sure the plebes don't use the rotunda unless it is her birthday. She may not be gullible, but she may or may not have believed her feet smelt like a dead mouse! So why did I put up with her for so long? She's not my friend; in fact she is more than that, she is my SISTER and I love her. Hannah G is a ride or die. She'll be there for me through the thick and the thin. The Navy is honored to have her flying for them.

Collin M. Grier

Submarines

Collin Grier hails from Cambridge, a quiet town on the eastern shore of Maryland that seems out of place when compared to the fast-paced cities that surround it. Collin, empathizing with Cambridge, has often pondered how his personality fits into an institution like the Naval Academy. Already an old man at heart, he has spent many nights chaperoning his less responsible peers. Unlike Cambridge, however, Collin can be described as anything but quiet. With one of the loudest voices known to man, his voice is often heard resonating throughout the hallway praising yet another rational decision made by his superiors. With aspirations more extensive than the rants he posts on Facebook, he spent his free time writing papers, napping on the streets of Croatia, getting pooped on by birds, and well, ranting on Facebook. Upon graduation, Collin will serve his nation proudly and promptly in the submarine force before bolting out of the Navy faster than it takes him to do 65 situps.

Julius C. Jones

Navy Pilot

Cort... You've been married with children since you were 15, and are an even more recent honorary citizen of Coronado. You have the sweatiest hands in the land and we've seen your hate for walls, but hey Kat's in the bag. "Want to go on a bike ride?" By the way, how'd that pizza crust taste, probably better than that 10x10, you had it twice. What should we do next, crab fights? But feel free to leave. This Golden Boy couldn't dress himself for croquet. Dat pier day tho.

Noah M. Joseph

USMC Ground

During the 1st Day of Plebe Summer, when asked "What sport you want to play, Mr. Joseph?" He quickly responds, "Sprint Football, Sir." 1st Day of practice: Noah breaks his foot. Limping around, ooVoo'ing countless ladies, watching SEAL cadences, and continuing to tell people he played Sprint, NoJo's plebe year would be his least productive and most cynical—ironically going against the norm of the Academy. Many believe this was because it was Mackenzie's only year of not rooming with the Harvard bound mastermind Robert Crutcher and the humble Quinton "the Man" Allen. From sneaking his girl into the hall, making the most annoying sounds known to man in Goat court, being the only 1/C to shine his shoes on a daily basis, performing interval sets of studying (5 min HW, 5 min Facebook), Noah turned out half way decent and the best friend his roommates could have asked for.

Timothy R. Keller

Submarines

After four years of being a completely average Midshipmen, Tim Keller is finally about to throw his cap in the air. From his humble NARP beginnings to an even humbler NARP ending, MIDN 1/C Keller has pledged his academy life to honing his slightly above average athletic skills with hours in MacD. All while staying committed to a middle of the road GPA. He was almost voted class Treasurer once and barely missed the cut for 19th Company CC. If one had to pick the best of the best from 2013 (OOM ranging from 200-600 only) I wouldn't hesitate in choosing the charming Ohioan, Tim Keller.

James R. Kerrick

Surface Warfare Officer

James "Kitty Kat" Kerrick has always been liked by his peers and friends. However, it later became known around school that most of these peers and friends were, in fact, imaginary. Despite not actually existing in the physical realm, these "friends" bullied him and made him do things against his will. He spent most of sophomore and junior year hidden away in his room from sheer embarrassment and fear. That was until his real human friends were finally able to coax him out little by little. Though he still suffers from relapses every now and then, he has learned a great deal that will help him excel in life no matter the challenge. Of course, he plans to be extremely generous to the alumni association upon graduation and throughout his life as well, hoping he may come close to paying them back for their constant kindness. The academy has taught him valuable lessons, and it is with a great deal of certainty that he will accomplish everything that he sets his mind to. Good luck in the fleet. You will do great things! Hooyah James T!

Christopher M. Kliebert

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Sotir A. Koev

Surface Warfare Officer

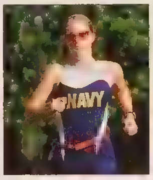
"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Lauren J. McCann

USMC Ground

If you are ever stranded on a desert island, you'll want this girl with you. Bubbly, loyal, and always up for an adventure Lauren never fails to brighten your day. Not one to take life too seriously, this girl will have your back day or night; rain or shine… or blizzard. If she is not hunting down hurricanes with the oceanography department, you can find Lauren racing for the win for Navy Women's Crew, running the O-Course with her fellow yut-yuts, or watching Vampire Diaries in her room. Joy rides, wingmen, catch-up yogs, Ireland, NCIS, target runs, braving blizzards: from the original crew to commissioning, the memories are endless. Here's to many more and much success in the Corps.

Elizabeth A. Milewski



Surface Warfare Officer

Elizabeth "Big Liz" Milewski arrived at the boat school after spending two years running track and enjoying the real world at The College of William and Mary. Day and night she resides in the mystical land of Michelson Hall as a part of 'the few the proud' Chemistry majors. If not slaving over academic endeavors, Liz can be found running, biking, or swimming throughout the yard. In her final year by the bay, she serves as the team captain of the nationally recognized Navy Triathlon Team. Liz's unwavering work ethic is thankfully complimented by a laid-back kid who enjoys kicking back with a cider or brew in hand. Her future is bright and bound to be filled with good times and some more great memories in San Diego. See you in the fleet Liz!

Nicholas C. Miller

Submarines

If you are walking down the halls of Bancroft and hear a meow, chances are you've heard the call of Cole Miller. Spending his days in the bowels of Rickover has obviously addled his brain. When not stalking the wind tunnels, you can find him in his rack, but good luck waking him; approximately five seconds after his head hits the pillow, Cole enters a comatose state that only the Big Cheese will awaken him from. After he has eaten, it is unsure if he moves at all from his chair, it has never been observed to this date. Science speculates that he requires a rooting process to absorb all the information set before him, except for the times when he must sit in a small cardboard box in the hallway. Approach him at random, and you may find out about wooden ships of old, or be warned that a Submarine flies, just at a much lower Reynolds Number. All of this might seem odd, but it will serve him well in the Submarine Corps. Fair winds and following seas, and don't forget: Oh. My. God. How. I. Tried.

Bryn M. Moriarty

Surface Warfare Officer

Ms. Baby San Diego, aka Bryn Moriarty, is a navy brat who has lived everywhere. If you attempt to engage her in conversation (WARNING: you must have at least 30 minutes to do so) you will surely hear a detailed story about every bone she has broken (see appendix A for a list of all 100) or of how she learned to use chopsticks before a fork. Despite her occasional long winded-ness, there is no one better to have as a friend than Bryn. She genuinely cares about every person she has ever met and will never refuse anyone who asks for her help. Bryn has an incredible drive to succeed and is the most competitive person in the school. There is a proverb that says "keep company with those who make you better" and Bryn is one you want to keep in your company.

Jacqueline M. Penichet

Submarines

Jacqueline, Jack-Jack, Jackster, Jack. A girl with a lot of nicknames and even more friends. Her meowing and prring are bound to make you smile. She may be small in size, but I wouldn't mess with her—she squats triple her body weight. Jackster is also the most considerate person; she makes Valentines, birthday cards, brings you special treats on Easter and Christmas. The girl delivers more gifts than Ol' Saint Nick himself; her future submarine is going to be littered with the Twix wrappers she passes out. She has been an irreplaceable part of her friend's lives, sprinkling love everywhere. Jack is an old soul, the kind that just knows when you need a smile, a hug. Always ready to help. Between her fire for God, her dedication to her teammates, and her incessant determination to give, Jacqueline is the best kind of person- the type no one will forget.

Achraf Refifi

Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal.

Philip E. Reynolds

Submarines

MIDN Fil Reynoldz was born on September 26, 1990 to his parents in Westfield, NJ. Pil has been a phine upstanding membr of the bridge of midshipmen since his arrivul in July of 2009. He has been a member of the offshore sailing teem and even had the chance to go to Phrance. Phil's greatest memries include celecting submarines, broing out wit his boys, working out, and awaking to vuvuzaleas in the morning. Mostly, Fil will miss his time spent with Tim Keller, and is happy to be travling to Charleston wit him this sumer. He will alwys b scarred bye the time Caleb throw his bumber stiker out the window. #JerseyStrong

James C. Robinson

Surface Warfare Officer

Caleb Robinson is excited to be embarking on the SWO adventure of a lifetime. He loves the Navy so much that he plans to name his first dog, a Wheaten Terrier, after John Paul Jones. When you can't find him on YPs, you'll probably find him on the drill field practicing the manual of arms. Caleb's time at USNA was marked by his positive outlook on the system and frequent trips to South Carolina. He will most be remembered by his classmates for the time he stopped a convenience store robbery, resulting in the breaking of his hand, hence earning him the nickname "hand," or was that Robert-son (chief would know)? Included in Caleb's favorite memories are his escapades in Irish McDonald's, working out with his roommate Santi, and not going out youngster year so he could study more. His roommates can't wait to see Admiral Robinson commanding the fleet of the future.

Logan M. Roy

Submarines

Logan "Brick" Roy hails from a humble upbringing in Wisconsin, doing real work like chopping wood and making cheese. Now the Wisconsinite spends his time in McDonalds, reminiscing over fond memories of the Big Mac with extra special sauce he had in Ireland. At least you have the best… derriere ever to march onto Worden Field. Remember that one time you maxed the PRT, yeah neither do we, keep training Lance. But it's okay, don't shed a tear, because you did a better job as Company PMO than you ever did as Wardroom. Remember that one time you were relieved as Wardroom, because we do. But we all thank you for getting us out of mandatory stuff and taking the fall, you're a real hero. Congratulations cheesegaf… "Did I (explicative) stutter?!" BRICK SQUAD!!!

John D. Shinnick

Surface Warfare Officer

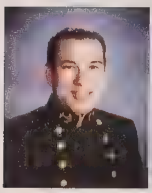
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Spencer C. Toy

USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Class of 2014



Austin Arino

Juan Barbajaume

Benjamin Berkey

Bryce Boyer

Jeanluc Currie

Jack Dembowski

Ryan Demers

Andrew Felton

John Founds

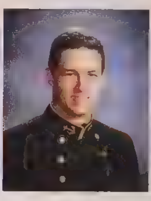
Carey Fries

Robert Gay

Michael Gonzales

Kai Hall

Christopher House



Zachary Ingold

Mary Jordan

Martin Kwong

Eric Lies

Michael Love

Kash Manzelli

James McDaniel

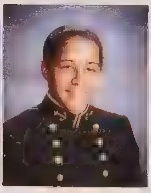
Nnamdi Moh

John Nowell

Alexander Ortiz

Samuel Peterson

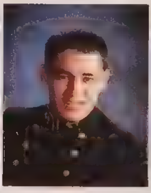
Kristin Rovito



Aleksandra Sawyer

Andrew Sawyer

Lauren Schmiegel



Kieran Simonson

Riacca Slater

Angelique Sturdifen

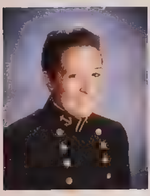
Heidi Swanson

Brandon Swindler

Luke Walsh

Benjamin Wright

Class of 2015

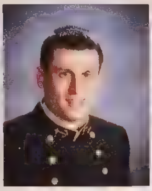


Danielle Abad

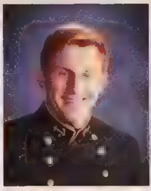
Sarah Bernhardt

Matthew Brattain

Dustin Calvert

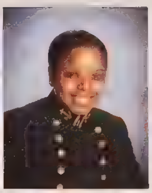


Joseph Carson



Dylan Cawdery

Conrad Chen



Ashley Edmond

Anton Ekman

Ian Eversman

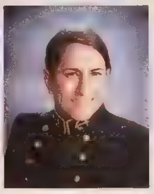
Julian Fletcher

Daniel Gallien

Joshua Goetz

David Harmon

Nicholas Houser



Andrea Howard

John Hsu

Sarah Hutchinson

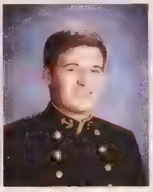
Emily Jensen

Kahra Kelty

Jeremy Kleiman

Olivia
Koppenhaver

Patrick McDonald

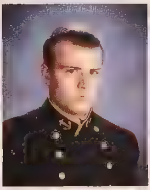


Stephen Moore

Daniel O'hear

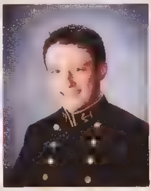
Cole Palmer

Justin Peabody

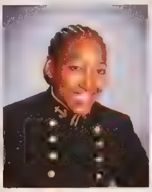


Hampson Skinker

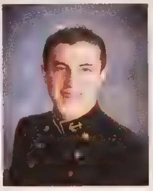
Tahira Steen



Alexander Vogel



Ajournae Webb



Jordan Webster

Cody West

Geoffrey Whiteside

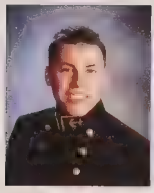
Brian Yoo

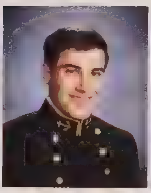
Class of 2016



Michael Abonyi

Conner Adamski

William Ashby



Ryan Ballester

Gregory Bohmke

Samuel Brad

Rachael Brown

Timothy Burnett

Ryan Chang

Eleanor Derouin

Tyler Dickenson

Mitchell Evans

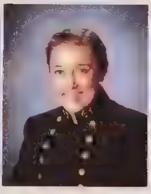
George Folk

Jarred Gillie

Rebecca Greenberg

Lauren Haller

Christopher Hudson

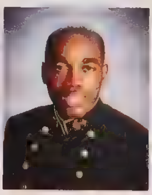


Julie Jesse

Alexis Kelm

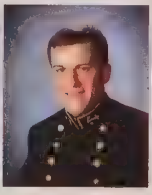
Meredith Lipp

Julia McKenna



Yannick Mohamed Mboga

Jackson Morgan



Garrett Moyer

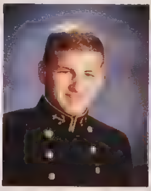
Douglas Ott

Shane Phillips

Joel Pinedo

Michael Popp

Peter Rockhold



Anthony Romagnoli

Charles Simpson

Ryan Spadaford

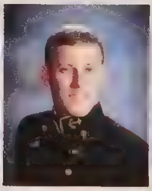
Mackenzie Spaich

Joshua Toye

Michael Tupica

Ronald Vaughn

Cameron Wade



Seth Watlington

Brandon Winters

Caroline Zotti

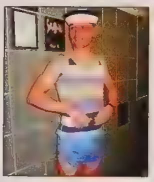
Company

20

Steven J. Billmaier

Surface Warfare Officer

Growing up in the mean streets of suburban Bowling Green, Ohio, little Steven, or Mr. Hopkins to you, dreamed of something more, to escape the hard life he led. He applied to some schools, such as Berkley and Harvard, because of their political views or prestige, but it was when he was applying to St. John's when something about the Naval Academy caught his eye, free Gatorade. I really got to know Steve as we bonded on our trip to Rome Firstie year. It really took this extra time together to get to know him, since most of his time is spent sitting in large chairs, by fire places, reading leather-bound books and holding a snifter of brandy or a fine Cuban cigar. But we had some real heart-to-hearts. He talked about how much he loved the Cleveland Browns, especially after they became a dual-city team in 1996, and then shed a few manly tears as we talked about "Susan" and his future job as the Bilge Officer, YES! SWO WAS HIS FIRST CHOICE! But Johns; no Bill; sorry, Steve, is a good man, and as long as he continues to follow the Swanson pyramid of greatness, I know he will succeed in everything he does. Let's just hope he makes the rest of his life choices wisely and diligently, just like how he chose such great friends here at USNA, and less like how he chooses sports franchises. Fair ye well, sir, fair ye well.



Dean A. Black

USMC Pilot

Ever since he was a young pup on the Colorado River, Dean Black has made an impact on those around him, especially here at the Naval Academy. Like a hand grenade in a trench, he has a way of getting people up and moving with nothing but his presence. First as a prior Marine during plebe summer, his enthusiasm kept the detailers at bay, then as a guitar-wielding youngster he kept us all entertained. Although we knew he was special (who isn't special yelling: Rah, Yut, Kill?), it wasn't until he was training sergeant did we grasp his musical skills, leading the plebes like a Pied Piper with little more than a hyper, "Aye aye, sir". After a stressful tour as 20th company CC, he plans on retiring to Quantico as a Marine, shooting and running for a change instead of pretending and procrastinating on a video game. (Do English majors get credit for Call of Duty or is that only for watching movies?). However your river bends, go forth and conquer, my friend.

Joshua K. Cabral

Supply Corps

Joshua Kekoa Cabral aka The Bear. If a Bear could somehow transform itself into human form, it would turn into Josh. Looks aren't the only thing that Josh has in common with this ferocious animal, his bear instincts come out in full in force on the football field as his successful football career is a result of his ability to put people on the ground. Off the field though Josh is one of the most laid back guys I know, probably because of his Hawaiian ancestry and constant 'chillaxin' state of mind. But don't think because he doesn't talk much that he doesn't like to tease you with his sarcasm and witty comments. Josh is going to go far in life because of his genuine personality and constant spreading of Aloha to everyone he meets. Malama Pono Kekoa. Aloha.

Matthew D. Carmody

Seabees

From the day I met Matt (or Mike…I'm still not sure) Carmody, I knew we would get along. Easy going and good-natured, Matt likes to live his life on the edge (though Five Guys got the best of him a few times…). Never one to back down from a fight, 1/C Carmody was an avid member of the Brazilian Jiu Jitzu team, even after his 14th, 15th, and 16th concussions. Never one to waste time, Matt was also able to watch every single TV show ever created. Tough as nails, Matt battled through a lot while at USNA. He moves on to better days as a Seabee, building and fighting all over the world. Though all the laughs and all the hardships, surely we are better for knowing Matt Carmody.

Kelly M. Carpenter

Navy Pilot

Kelly is the kind of person you hope you run into when you are feeling down. Her outrageous laughter may leave you stunned and confused but it is guaranteed to brighten your day.

Alvin E. Carr

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Melissa L. Carwile

Surface Warfare Officer

"I am certainly not one of those who need to be prodded. In fact, if anything, I am the prod."
-Sir Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill

Joseph W. Crawford

USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Nancy De Avila Alvarado

USMC Ground

At the age of Dos, Nancy Pants ventured over the border from Mexico to CAL-UH-FORN-YAH in her Bates Lights with nada but hot sauce and a lime in hand.... She wanted a vida mejor in the land of Mike Richards and the home of Mark Wahlberg.... Here she found the suerte of the Irish, as well as an insatiable love for the great sport of ice hockey...."#27 Nancy... deee uuh.. Avee... Alva... radoraaaaa!!?!" .... While mastering in the language of chirping goalies, Nancy earned solid C's in the class of her native tongue.... QUACK!.... She doesn't hear much, but when she does, it's the sound of her shot gun slap shot ruining the dia of whatever goalie (or more realistically the boards) attempts to step in the way....Nancy has always had her sights on the Marine Corps and hopes to be stationed with her hubby, hockey bestie, and boxer named Stanley back in Cali where she will make green salsa, chimichangas and red headed, azul eyed Latina babies....After sharing over 500 sunrises attending each and every hockey practice, #dutyvanchillin', conquering Dublin and Sint Maarten (but not the horses... YAA!), and countless other memories, Nancy has proved to be the best amiga, girlfriend, teammate, Captain, Aunt and Marine anyone could ask for. She has a genuine corazon of gold and her influence will last a lifetime no matter what tip of the Earth we are sent to.....but just the tip! <3CMD

Geoffrey S. Desena

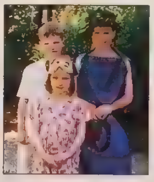
Navy Pilot

Geoff DeSena hails from the distant land of Colorado. Having a choice between the Air Force Academy back home and this august institution, he surprisingly chose the Severn's shores. Concerned by his unnatural focus and feverish work ethic, his well-wishing roommates decided to confront and discuss the issue. Geoff infamously replied, "Why talk to people unless I need something?" and "I had fun once… it was awful." His hard work paid off though, because this eight semester Supe's list member selected Naval Aviation and finished as a motivating 20th in the class. Even with the workload of an aero major, Geoff has remained steadily devoted to his 2% Club girlfriend, Luisa, who may have seen him more often than his roommate, because he spent so much more time in Rickover than Bancroft. The fleet probably isn't ready for him, but they'll be lucky to have him.

William J. Frazier

USMC Pilot

Will "Chief Chief" Frazier is an Ops Guy. As a Varsity Aerospace Engineering major, Will put in long hours coding in Matlab, playing with planes, and doing whatever else that Aero's do. But that time pales in comparison to the time he invested on World of Warcraft and Minecraft. Will's level 74 mage would surely decimate any challenger. But he was also a man of strong physical fitness, though it usually took him about an hour to get ready to go to the gym. A willing companion for any adventure, Will undoubtedly will be a great Marine Pilot and looks to someday fulfill his life's mission by being an Ops Officer.



John W. Gannon

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Jack Gannon, the one who didn't go to Dartmouth. When Jack isn't worshiping Tom Brady he likes to spend his time doing hipster things like read books, throw pottery or enjoy the beauty of life. No average human being goes drunk shopping on Amazon to buy 16 books. Jack Gannon does. He is not your average human being. Jack has traveled far and wide as a midshipman. He has gone to the depths of dark basements to exploring the wonders of Jordan. In fact, he was lucky enough to get a sneak peak of Jordan before he even got there. Jack has the ability to open people's minds. He is so good at it that two of his VERY close female high school classmates have gone on to trying new things. It's just astounding how influential he is. Jack will continue spreading his plethora of knowledge down in Charleston for the next 2 years while he rages in nuke school. Although he wasn't always there in person, he will always be a roommate in 4402.

Souhaíel Gharbi

Tunisian Navy

Born on the shores of the French Med, Sou was adopted by a gang of pirates who raised him in their ways. They taught him all the essential practices of Tunisian piracy – cyber warfare, karate-do, and how to bump and grind to multi-lingual music – skills that would prove vital to his Annapolitan lifestyle. A real night owl, Sou could be found after midnight ordering pizza to Gate 3 or listening to the pounding bass of Edward Maya and Vika Jigulina's "Stereo Love." On the weekends you might see him swabbing the deck with ladies on Pussers' dance floor or training to become the only 4-time karate champ the U.S. Navy ever had in its ranks. To the coolest and most mysterious Tunisian we'll ever know: thanks for the memories.

Jeremy B. Gray

Nuclear Surface Warfare

"Fastest Man in Texas," Jeremy Gray has proven himself to be an Intramural Legend in the mighty company of 20. While he is not holding two-a-days for his current intramural team, Jeremy can be found watching one of his 50 TV shows, working in the very early mornings in the Computer Engineering labs, or perfecting his Texas accent. Although it sent him to the hospital, Jeremy refused to back down from an opportunity to enjoy the nightlife of Naptown. Jeremy's high intelligence, persistence, and competitive spirit will make him a very valuable asset to the Navy.

Hunter C. Herron

USMC Ground

Hunter "the Law" Herron is a true renaissance man. An enjoyer of fine clothing, good literature, and only the most natural peanut butter, Hunter was a true disciple of discipline and never cared to spare anyone's feelings when sending company-wide emails or formation announcements. Never one to discriminate, Hunter spent his early years at the Academy chasing young Spanish maidens and older Annapolitan types. But he put aside such childish pursuits when he finally realized his lifelong dream to be an Army Ranger….errr Marine Corps Officer. Always willing to lend a helping hand, a person could not wish for a better roommate. The Marine Corps is lucky to add an individual so caring, dedicated, and motivated as Hunter Herron.

Ryan M. Hickey

Submarines

Ryan "Boo Bear" Hickey was molded into a man by the arctic winds of Andover, Minnesota. During Plebe Summer, he bewildered his detailers with his unbreakable chipper spirit and his inhuman consumption of milk. His shining moment during indoctrination was the display of versatility of his esophagus as a large quantity of milk reappeared for an encore during noon meal. Throughout youngster year, Mr. Hickey excelled as a member of the Jiu Jitsu team. He credits his "leg style" with the creation of his juicy, however uncharacteristically bodacious "white boy booty". After the anonymous youngster year, Ryan enjoyed an LSAP to Japan, where he was the epitome of professionalism while being the the life of the party. 2/C year, Ryan found his calling as a member of the notable honor staff. As a BIO, he put Sherlock Holmes to shame with his thorough yet fair investigations. His sharp intellect and problem-solving skills aided him in achieving a coveted early-selection spot for the Submarine community. He charmed the Admiral, and was accepted into the eternal bonds of the soon-to-be submariners. Ryan' outstanding performance as a bio led to his appointment as the 2nd Regiment Honor Investigations Officer, a billet at which he excels. He now spends his days practicing his sword manual, reviewing cases, and watching Dr. Who. All who know Mr. Hickey recognize that he is the most loyal individual who has ever graced the walls of this fine establishment. It is an honor to know him, and honor to befriend him, and an honor to serve with him.

Austin N. Hulgan

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Sarah L. Jaeger

Submarines

Sarah Jaeger is the person every girl wants to be. She has many incredible accomplishments such as being selected early for the submarine community and excelling as an honors mathematics major, yet she is never one to brag. Her gorgeous chestnut locks, charming wit, and dazzling smile inspire admiration and justifiable envy from everyone around her. Sarah is graceful, poised, and beautiful inside and out. All those who know her are confident that she will excel in any and all endeavors she chooses

Joseph A. Kessopha

Surface Warfare Officer

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Russell J. Keuling

Surface Warfare Officer

So hoist our colors, hoist them high, And vow allegiance true, So long as sunset gilds the sky Above the ocean blue, Unlowered shall those colors be Whatever fate they meet, So glorious in victory, Triumphant in defeat.

Roman M. Klimchuk

Naval Flight Officer

Mr. Klimchuk sure is a cheery fellow, by God! His time here was short, but still too long for him. He's off to the rigors of Naval Aviation, and he won't be back again for a long, long time (at least until he makes "Lef-tenant" and returns as the first Mountie company officer in USNA history). A patriot in the truest sense, Mr. Klimchuk will spend his career defending the Constitution to the letter, and might even sacrifice his career in that defense as well...or maybe just sacrifice his career because he is the Dragonborn and he ain't got time fo dat. Fair winds and following seas, my friend.

Devin M. Laviano

Surface Warfare Officer

This proud son of the Strong Island finished his victory lap and found himself on a one way flight from the Abbey to Annapolis. Quick on the draw, Devin made moves on the water and had fast friends on the sailing team before the conclusion of plebe summer. Eager to please firstie leadership, Devin learned a great deal from his mentors. Always proud to wear the uniform, Devin will forever cherish the officer cover. A dedicated sailor, Devin worked his fingers to the bone spilling his fair share of sweat, tears, and blood at the Bobby C. A superb hands on teacher, he formed strong bonds with his teammates, company mates, and even a roommate or two. He proved his salt on the water, but not even his badass life jacket could save him from Beluga whales or water-type pokemon. There's so much moore, but we should just finish already. Devin is the best kind of friend, and we've been lucky to know him these four years. He will make a great naval officer blah blah etc. etc.

Kelsey C. Learned

Surface Warfare Officer

Kelsey Learned is known far and wide as the blonde girl who loves two things: soda, and winning. Hates pop, hates sodapop, and hates pretty much anything that has to do with competition. Over the last four years at the academy, Kelsey has become a friend to many and an icon on both sides of the brigade… partly because she was actually in two companies. But still, not many people can say that! Two is twice as many as they give most people. Kelsey's been a soccer player forever, and ruled Navy Women's Soccer as captain with an iron fist—"Kelsey's way or the highway" she'd always say. But behind all the leadership was a genuinely awesome young lady; someone with time for everyone and a nickname for everyone. Kelsey may not have always been the military stud she is today, but she's always been a damn good friend.

Tyler A. Ledoux

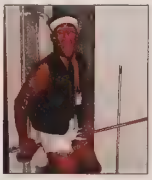
Nuclear Surface Warfare

Aka Chief Big Fish Teller, or Big Fish for short, Tyler is one pleasant and admirable Hawkeye. Unwavering in his Christian convictions, he has been a role model for many of us the past four years as we've lost our minds at this institution. He is a man easily pleased by home cooking on a skillet, a .44 Magnum on his hip, and a woman riding with him into the sunset. A country boy at heart, he managed decent grades in systems engineering and achieved his dream of ship command thanks to the kind folks at USNA Waterfront Readiness. He looks forward to raising lots of chickens with su esposa and eventually being the sheriff at The Ranch. Yo, Burkur

Patrick O. Maguire

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



David A. Medina

USMC Pilot

Heritage? Still not sure. He tells us one thing, but his popping abilities suggest something else. His favorite move is Happy Feet, and boy does he love Clemetines. A proud member of Team Diversity, he is always able to cease the day. His leadership as a new 21 year old showed his test taking abilities and commitment to the academic mission. Although he spent a long time swimming upstream, he finally caught and ate another of his favorite foods, salmon. How this athletic freak ended up a sailor nobody knows, while he didn't quite earn team captain he was voted president overseas. We are sure this future Marine Corps Pilot will remember to lose his socks before he streaks through the sky.

Kristina J. Nelloms

Surface Warfare Officer

Kristina "Mama Bear" Nelloms is nothing but a legend at the Naval Academy. She descended upon this paradise upon the Severn on I-Day sporting an afro that would make Foxy Cleopatra jealous. While growing up in Greeley, Colorado, Tina was trained in the elegant arts of the trumpet and was charitable enough to serenade the Brigade on several occasions as a member of the Drum and Bugle Corp. After spending a year as the best plebe in Academy history, Tina spent a good part of her youngster year satisfying every curiosity she had about the honor system. An Information Technology major and Japanese minor, Tina Nelloms took Japan by storm the summer before her Second Class year, hitting every famous night club and experiencing the bubbly Japanese culture. After her success as a ruthless 20th Company training sergeant, Tina was chosen to take command of the oldest Drum and Bugle Corp in the nation. Under her leadership, the USNA D&B became a true fighting force that even Chesty Puller himself would be proud of. One of the coveted female early submarine selects, Tina is looking forward to going to nuke and power school. Loved and adored by her peers, Tina was one of the finest midshipman to come to the Naval Academy and has a bright and beautiful future ahead of her.

THIS IS WHAT YOU "SMELL"

Shane M. Nolan

Naval Flight Officer

Nolan is truly a junkyard cat at heart; born in motor oil he has an acquired taste for pig guts and rice with a side of Dr. Pepper. He hails from the slowest talking town in Texas. He likes the rump and he likes it plump, but aged like a sweet wine. As chairman of the three mile club he will probably never live up to his idol, Forrest, Forrest Gump. Watching him try to read aloud is more humbling than wheelchair basketball. His only true love, a $10 cutlass has never actually been seen or driven in a decade. When it was working however, it was known to run the streets of Beaumont, blasting Pitbull and Selena Gomez. By the way Shane, everyone knows what finding Nemo means.

John F. Oboyle

USMC Ground

Juan Francisco, aka Donny, aka Don Juan, aka J.O.B., aka The Nicaraguan Nightmare. The man has many names, but this 140% Irish-Nicaraguan has even more allergies: beef, fish, bees, the outdoors, fun-stuff, childish laughter, a small boy's Sunday trousers, things that go "boing", and words ending in "ebruary", to list a few, but nothing hurts this guy worse than full-body-cramps during the first period of an August practice. Some say his nostrils are so big people suffocate around him. He hustles everywhere he goes, even if it is to the bathroom. He has some gnarly tricep hair, and he will believe mostly anything he is told. A Four year member of the Varsity Football Team, don't let his wanna-be frat star, southern style fool you, this guy will outwork anybody. A True southern gentlemen and lover of all things American, it's hard to find a better all around person than Johnny O'boyle. Johnny is taking his talents into the United States Marine Corps where he will replace his Epi-Pen with an M-16 (well actually, he'll probably hold on to the Epi-Pen just to be safe) and the Marines are lucky to have him…however, little does anyone know, his true dream is to be a professional tap dancer.

Erica Park

Surface Warfare Officer

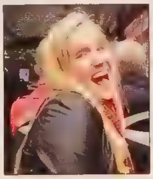
From "Midshipman Candidate Park, why aren't you out here for online muster?" to "Midshipman 1/c Park, where were you for noon meal formation?" Erica Park has come a long way. Instead of taking up 2ne1's offer to be part of the K-pop girl group, she declined and decided to attend the Naval Academy. She first spent ten months in Newport, RI where she ruled in the game of billiards at the libo center, shh she's the real "Black Widow." While a midshipman, she's had to fight off many boys… not kidding, literally fight if they even tried to make a move on her. If she likes you, you're lucky because she won't threaten to beat you up. But don't let her pretty looks fool you, she is silly and oftentimes speaks in a British accent for no reason. She'll paint the town red when she's out at night with the girls wearing her stiletto heels and Bebe dresses. At the bar, she's "Miss Kim Kardashian, please turn around." She's a tough chick who is generous, and loving once you get to know her: A true friend who will always put her friends first. bae go pah

Robert J. Parker

Surface Warfare Officer

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Brooke L. Pitcher



Navy Pilot

Brooke Leigh Pitcher, A.K.A. Unstoppableigh, will forever be remembered as being the key activist in convincing the Naval Academy higher-ups towards to switch back to the female cover. This habit, of always taking the initiative in everything she did, led her to becoming CC of 20th Company, the most locked on company in the entire Brigade! Brooke's selflessness was apparent to everyone around her. She even gave up the chance at a successful basketball career at the Academy, so that she could have more time to train those who respected her so much. "Trust," Unstoppableigh Pitcher always thought of others before herself. She embraced Mother Teresa's ideal that, "If you can't feed a hundred people, then feed just one." This is why she only spent her money on things that would better her people. Furthermore, Brooke Pitcher only had 3 shirts and 2 pair of jeans to her name! She offered the rest of her closet space to lowly plebes in dire need of shelter. Brooke Pitcher is a noble leader, and will forever be known as

Michael C. Rakoczy

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Michael D. Smiley

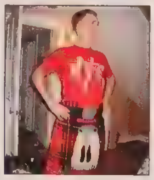
Surface Warfare Officer

Just a small town boy in a lonely world, Mr. Smiley spent his days at the academy either in some sort of extended hibernation or an airport terminal dreaming of the perfect girl to fly away to on weekends. His keen sense of fashion is renowned throughout the woods of the Pennsylvania from his many bow hunting experiences and alleged possum soccer games. Much like a panda bear Mr. Smiley has never been able to pass up a good nap and would rather go without food than move to find it. We are all so happy you woke up from your six months of slumber plebe year (October, November, December...). Hopefully Japan doesn't lead to another cheap relationship or meaningless tattoo. "I'll just do it later unless we go shoe shopping." –Smiley

Tyler A. Thein

Surface Warfare Officer

Diet of a 5 year old and the artistic skills to match by fingerpainting on the wall...A farmer's market full of fresh produce..."Scotty move over, I don't feel so hot."...Sev's, it's not short enough...Tiggles...King of the campers...Like the Energizer bunny, just keeps going..."What is this, a UNICEF?"...Tiny Whiny Theiny. Period

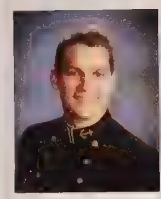


Kyle S. Todd

Naval Flight Officer

Sharing a hometown with Texas Pete, Camel cigarettes, and the original Krispy Kreme, Kyle Todd moseyed his way to Annapolis from Winston-Salem, NC with the Avett Brothers playing from his otter-encased iPhone. Kyle leads a simple and leisurely life, rudely interrupted by the daily demands of the Naval Academy. Inching ever closer to the coveted Superintendent's List, his grandfatherly gold Lexus found its way to a suspiciously unmarked location in the 7th wing on the wrong day, forever ruining his shot at weekday liberty. He fills the spare time with copious amounts of modern, classic, and so-old-they-have-been-reflected-from-outer-space episodes of Doctor Who. A religious tea-ist, a munificent Moravian, banjo student, and a kilt connoisseur, Kyle has made a commitment to both Naval Aviation's backseaters and his high school sweetheart. Never close enough to home, Kyle Todd has set his controls to chill because life is too short waste away with worry.

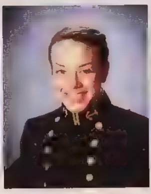
Class of 2014



Payton Alsup

Audrey Bauer

Eli Bronshteyn



Kerstin Caesar

Joshua Clark

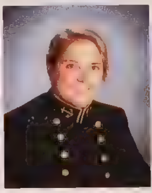
Chase Dalton

David Dolinar

Albrey Felder

Alexander Fishman

Kadeem Gordon



Mary Hamilton

Joshua Hildebrand

Jon Huntsman

Nicholas Jasman

Mitchell Kallek

David Kerby

Ryan Keyes

Nadila Khan

Ryan Kochert

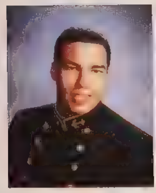
James Kuzmick

Andrew Lacosse

Paul Masteller

Benjamin Matson

Sean McCalister



Christopher Morales

Matthew Morrison

Alexander Mund

Matthew Padilla

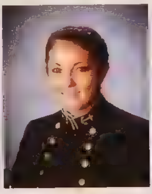
Grant Page

Kenneth Piech

Colleen Randolph

Bryan Roby

Alison Schwinn



Samantha Seitz

Samir Shaikh

Geramiah Simoes

Nathaniel Swift

Class of 2015

Hunter Abrams

Luke Aleksandravicius

Christian Amelia

Stephen Anderson

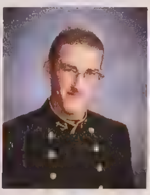
Caleb Bauer

Daniel Becker

Timothy Bihl

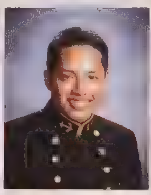
Hannah Bobell

Madison Buck



Benjamin Copenhaver

Benjamin Creed



John Deanon

Matthew Deisher

Andrew Duff

Benjamin Etringer

Andrew Flegge

Daniel Godkin

Abdessattar Hayouni

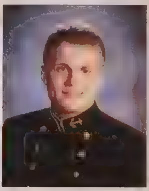
Caleb Kadrmas

William Laponza

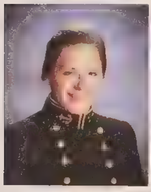
Quentin Leadbeter

Changyoung Lee

Christopher Leigh



Ashton McCombs



Leah Moore

Christopher Morneau

Zachary Mossman

Susan Plunkett

Jacqueline Rine

Teri Rutter

Michael Ryan

Jade Seabrook

Arvind Stone

George Strickland

Abbie Trippe

Mariano Veloria

Adam Wydra

Class of 2016

Anthony Alexander

Andrew Anderson

Gerrit Bakker

Paul Bodet

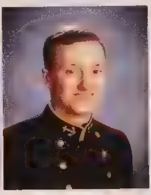
Benjamin Branson

Emily Brown

Roger Castle

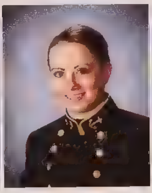
Joseph Cauley

Matthew Chavez

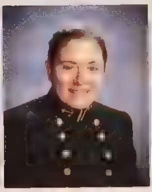


Caleb Crispell

John Dirito



Molly Doyle

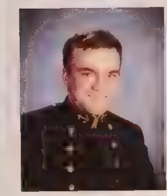


Briana Eaton

James Eckles

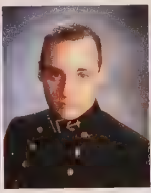
Ward Gavin

Jacob Glesmann



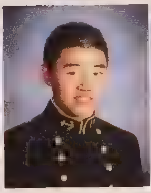
Wesley Goodrum

Kerri Hands



Hunter Harrell

Maurice Harris

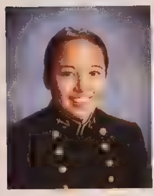


Sungwoo Jung

Moira Kimmell

Richard Lorentzen

Bryson Mays



Kya McAlister

Robert Nolan

Jack Oberman

Micah Pescaia

Nathan Peterson

Justin Prendergast

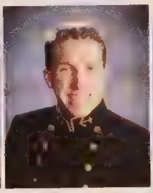
Kathryn Quandt

Megan Rausch

Sean M. Reilly

Alberto Salabarria

Rebecca Skovira



Richard Thomas

Stout Watson

Zachary Wauer

Ethan Weir

Michael Woulfe

Pierre
Zenguebouca h

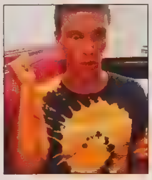
Company

21

Brooke A. Amoroso

Surface Warfare Officer

Born as the daughter of a hard working Marine, Brooke came to the academy pumped and ready to go. Her path through the Academy showed her the blue side and she decided to become a SWO-mama. She is an avid supporter of the retired BCG's and hopes to bring them back into style one day. Like her initials, BA, Brooke is one bad ass and has consistently proven herself as one. She has paved the women's rugby team into new directions and consistently shows her Amo on the field. She enjoys Tim Mcgraw concerts, showing off her diving skills, and intimidating people throughout the school with her ATFP armband. She will prove herself as a great officer and continue to inspire people throughout her life.



Nicholas A. Bonsall

Surface Warfare Officer

MEOW! You were always one to keep your head about you, which helped out a lot since your room mate was the one who did all the stupid things. Honestly though, who can clean up a murder scene better than you? Who else could ask for a better roommate then one who would sit down and have a Disney movie marathon with you? You made this year a great year. I think what topped the cake was some of the music and videos you showed me. Gotta love it. I feel bad not being able to say anything really funny about you or make a reference to something you did. It was kind of a one sided thing I guess. But the stories we have of how you got to witness my stupidity firsthand are the best. We had a year filled with no regrets. Have fun with Hetherington for the next 3 years. Finally, "EWWW Gary get out!"

Jong Chi

South Korean Navy

Jongsung Chi arrived on I-day from South Korea with about 12 years of military experience. Don't let his boyish features trick you, Chi is old enough to be half the brigade's father. Chi is known for his karate background, mainly his remarkable hip tossing skills. His hatred for the Irish is only surpassed by his hatred for North Korea. Chi is famous for his sink showers, where he manages to shampoo and condition his hair, wash and shave his face, and apply body wash, all at the sink. Chi found love plebe year in New Jersey, and spent 9/10 weekends visiting the love of his life. Chi's generosity and eagerness to learn will help him excel in the future. He is sure to make an outstanding officer and an even better communist hunter.

Thomas M. Cleary

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kellie A. Darmody

USMC Ground

Plebe summer was rough for Kellie when she was a squad leader trying to take accountability for her squad mates. Standing across the bulkhead from her and her squad as she rocked back and forth on her toes and tried to figure out how many were in her squad and who was missing -- I thought to myself 'this girl needs help counting!' While from her point of view, looking at me, she thought to herself 'this girl needs to sound off!' Fast forward four years later and we formed an inseparable bond. Kellie made school records in Lejune, and was an incredible friend, teammate, and mentor to all she came across. I'm so lucky to have spent the past four years with her and am excited as she goes forth to make more history in the Marine Corps."

Kelcie L. Davis

Surface Warfare Officer

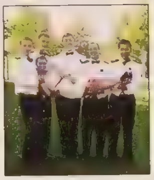
"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Pascal J. Demeo

USMC Ground

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Julie A. Digiovanni



Submarines

MIDN Julie DiGiovanni participated in a wide variety of activities since her Plebe year. She was a member of the inter-collegiate sailing team where she subsequently practiced her swimming techniques after being thrown from the boat on numerous occasions due to her small stature. But don't let her petite frame fool you. Julie DiGiovanni enjoys participating in dangerous activities such as trapeezing and rollerblading at the local skating rinks. Not only was she physically active, but also participated in cultural organizations such as the Italian Midshipmen Club in a secret attempt to travel to her homeland, Italy. MIDN DiGiovanni is truly the complete package. Because of her academic achievements as an Ocean Engineer, she was selected to become a Submariner and will be moving to Charleston shortly after graduation. Best of luck, Julie!

Thomas M. Ellwood

Navy Pilot

Meow! "Excuse me, have you seen my roommate? He is lost and highly intoxicated." I don't need my rack on the ground, I'll be fine. Tank took a tumble, and there was blood everywhere. But don't worry, we had super glue. He's known for the most ridiculous flow that the Brigade has ever seen. It is tamed from time to time, but if it can't be flipped out of the way by a flick of the head, it isn't long enough. And through it all, still manages to be a great friend to many. He's always reliable, approachable, and ready to go hard. "Tank, we don't need another mishap, hold onto your bed while you undress." Can be found either at MacD, any store that sells dip. If not in any of those places, he is probably watching Glee or any Disney movie. Was almost a victim Sub Draft 2013, but will be taking his place rightfully in P-Cola. Give 'em hell, Tank! "EW!"

Gary G. Gilbert

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Bryan M. Golonka

Navy Pilot

Affectionately dubbed "Nitro" by his best friends, Bryan is a Fireball™ of energy with a very nearly excessive love of Naval Aviation. A fan of all things Rickover, Bryan spends his time flying planes, building planes, designing planes, shopping for aviator sunglasses, and frightening the occasional Plebe in Mac D. But don't let his bulging brain and disproportionately large muscles fool you...On the inside, Bryan is the most genuine guy you'll ever meet and will do anything for his friends and followers. A born leader, Nitro is loved by all those who are fortunate enough to know him, and the Naval Aviation community will never be the same once he hits Pensacola.

Trey M. Gregory

USMC Ground

Trey, also known as Slaygory, was born and raised in Texas… Land of steers and queers. I guess you can consider him an athlete since he was the first black male on the swim team. I think that movie Pride was based off of him. Slaygory takes his major International Relations to a whole new level. Take that for what it's worth, but he didn't get the name Slayer for nothing. He likes to pretend he knows everything and will habitually conjure up facts that are remarkably inaccurate. Trey spends majority of his time on Twitter and taking pictures of himself on Instagram. Trey also lacks a filter, so he says whatever he wants and makes sure to say its loud enough so everyone in the room can hear him. With that being said, he is great friend and will do anything to help a friend in need… well as long as he's not busy running his weak game to a random chick telling her how hard working for NASA while developing missiles for the Navy can be.

Nicholas E. Hardesty

USMC Pilot

Skydive, BASE jump, drink, and smoke bum. If there's a line to cross for separation from this place, this guy has spent the last four years flying tangent to it on fire in a wingsuit. Soon to be the first rasta Marine officer, you'll find this guy jumping off cliffs with a magical backpack when everyone else is hitting the beaches for spring break. This loyal Caps fan lives all in and doesn't waste a day, 'cause biding time and taking it slow is for the weak! Very well, dude. 3,2,1… SEE YA!

Riley J. Harsh

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Loud man Riley the shoe thief urinator...the man was a three striper two semesters in a row...he liked that kinda stuff...a lot. Will always be slower than Mike. Recycling bins, coffee mugs, vending machines, random walls...none of these are safe when Riley's around. Once was so hungover he couldn't unplug a computer. Once tried to use his razor as a toothbrush. Once woke up in another man's bed having fell asleep in his own. He has broken such things as a coffee maker, a coffee mug, numerous shaker bottles, several women's hearts, a mini fridge, a printer and a city bus, mostly due to his own clumsiness. Is happy to discuss the hardest part of going EOD with anyone interested. "Anybody wanna day drink at Rams Head?"

Kyle D. Hatcher

Navy Pilot

Told them he should be CC...and they bought it. The first of our group to finish the Rams Head Beer Challenge...in fact he climbed the highest mountain in Africa just to drink a beer on top of it. Is known to jump off of ridiculously high objects while quoting Freud and Nietzsche at all of the wrong times. The heavyweight champion of the drunken disappearing act. His narcolepsy is paralleled only by his uncanny ability to continuously confuse those around him with random literature and movie references.

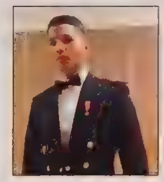
Christopher P. Hetherington

Surface Warfare Officer

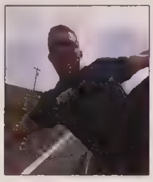
When Chris Hetherington answers the question "How long have you been in the Navy?" he truly means every word. Born the son of a mermaid and King Neptune, he has risen from beneath a colossal mess of Star Wars memorabilia resembling the Aggro-Crag to become a fine Midshipman circa the Age of Sail. If Bancroft hall could be his permanent residence, there is no doubt that it would be. One of the saltiest of sea warriors, his morning routine consists of power blasting barnacles from his sun scorched back. He is Navy's number one fan and will always be remembered for his fighting spirit and commitment to the service he loves so much. Best of luck to him and his fiance, Jess, in their future endeavors and may you have fair winds and following seas. It's been a good run; remember us all when you're an Admiral.

Shafiq W. Ladha

USMC Pilot



Pearl Jam. I got engaged over spring break. My roommates found out on facebook. I'm a good friend and an even better lover. Impulsive internet shopper. Legendary world of warcraft player. Bench pressed for a living, Tom Jane and Stephen Lange look up "Shafiq Ladha workouts" to get ready for movies. The drone robot from Skynet… originated in my back corner of the room.



Garrett A. Loeffelman

USMC Ground

"Garrett from the Naval Academy" has grown into his own over the past four years. The wild and crazy liberty buddy from Connecticut decided to trade in his late night "meetings" second class year when he found the right woman. He may not be a liberty risk anymore, but he is still the same old Garrett. He managed to break just about every rule there was in the book at least once in his four years, yet never got caught. Proves sometimes it is just better to be lucky. Wish his roommate was that lucky. Garrett was not all play during his four years and excelled in the classroom and on the rugby pitch. His successes carried him to the United States Marine Corps, where there is no doubt he will serve honorably.

Jack A. Morado

USMC Ground

Jack "Rocky" or "LOUD MOUTH" Morado. If you can't hear him from 7th wing, then you are probably deaf! This loud mouth could always be seen walking around telling everyone how "hard" he was and how much he could beat everyone up. This hard knock kid from Newark, New Jersey would always find a way to win a fight, even if it meant blocking with his face. I don't know much about boxing, but I would say that using your face as a boxing glove is a bad idea. In all seriousness, Jack was a guy who started NAPS with one mindset and that was to be a United States Marine. Well, Jack I am here to tell you your "cocky confidence" got you what you wanted and what you deserved. You were a great friend and a guy we could always lean on when times got tough. Best of luck in the Men's Department buddy, but remember one thing "It ain't about how hard you can hit, it's about how hard you can get hit and keep movin' forward, how much you can take...and keep movin' forward. That's how winning is done!"- JS

Michael S. Norman

USMC Ground

The most vocal leader on the team. - - Brotherhood.

Cade D. Norris

SEALs

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Patrick M. Osullivan

USMC Pilot

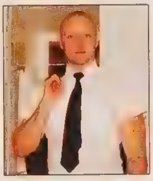
The Irishman...so well known at Castlebay that as soon as he walks through the door the bartender starts pouring his favorite beer. This man can actually hear Irish whiskey being poured from twenty clear feet away. Jameson gave him a lifetime achievement award. Don't even think of ordering a light beer in his presence. Slingblade, philosopher, lover, lifetaker and heartbreaker. Explored realms of music that most musicians don't know exist. Oh, he's a lace curtain Irish mother. In both terms of the word. Shuffled, studied, and sulked more than any other man. You may have learned about ranch and other normal things Americans know about, but you taught us about "thinking" and "taking it easy" - thanks. In the upcoming war with Korea, you'll be our greatest asset.

Cory F. Oberst

Submarines

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!

Nicholas K. Poremski



SEALs

I've managed my way through the academy by bumming everything I can off of everyone else around me and using very little of my own things. Any story about Nick worth talking about started off George Thorogood style. And most ended with Bane quotes and a dip during a pullup workout at a dark playground. These workouts ensured Nick was the fittest guy in DTA. And DTA ensured Nick drank more than the rest of the triathlon team combined, must be why they made him team captain. No one cared who he was until he put on the mask. Only it wasn't a mask, it was a leather jacket. No mixed drinks only straight Bushmills. He put loyalty to his friends before everything else, especially before his academics and his girlfriend. I guess I should say ex-girlfriend. Always had at least 2 degrees of Kevin Bacon to spare. We'd care more about your dreams if they weren't all "so awesome." Naval Academy's proudest graduate, and Foundation school program's finest product. The Hangers!

Samuel K. Ramirez

SEALs

Sam Ramirez a Connoisseur of film. Sam has compiled the greatest collection of movies and films any mid has ever gotten his hands on. His hard-drive is a thing of legend. Sam dedicated himself to the perusal of the internet, the rugby team, his friends, and his hard-drive like no other. His knowledge of whiskeys, snowboarding, spear fishing, and mountain-biking are unmatched. It was therefore no surprise that Sam survived the SEAL screener and went on to excel during his cruise. There was never really any other career field that suited him. Sam has always been a great friend, never letting his teammates down, or passing up an opportunity to pick someone up with an internet clip or a trip to the ocean-spa. After all the trips to monks, travels overseas, and rugby games we have played together I wish you the best of luck at BUDS. Everyone knows you of all people will do great there.

Michael R. Rattan

Submarines

Butthole Mike...aka Dirty Mike aka Mikey Twinkle Toes aka Mike the Killer aka Mikey Guns. Is a human rolodex of Midshipwomen knowledge. While warming up to lift he takes his shoes on and off at least two separate times. Once did ludes in DC in front of several terrified strangers after licking someone's face. World champion Triathlete, Olympic Lifter and dinosaur hunter alike. His snatching ability is legendary. When we grow old and tell our children tales of Mike Rattan, they will listen in awe and wonder. Because those tales will be pretty, prettyyy, Pret-ty good.

John K. Satterwhite

Navy Pilot

A secretive individual seen only by few (including only twice by his company officer) and his compulsive hibernation habits have earned the name "Satterbats". The few times he has been seen outside of his rack or running, he was documented telling plebes to report to their training sergeants, napping, lathering himself in peanut butter, and ensuring everyone but himself becomes inebriated so he can swiftly escape and be in bed by 10 pm 7 days a week. A stellar sailing captain and an avid hunter, his favorite game is of the Turkey of the Wild variety, the pursuit which led him to reevaluate his life. A devoted boyfriend, he spent many hours in the evenings at the mates' desk offering emotional support to his heart-throb as she endured the trials of freshman year and dealing with her first roommate, even when the demands of firstie year loomed overhead. As Kyle-baby is fond of saying, "Every love story is beautiful, but ours is my favorite."

John J. Schoberl

USMC Ground

John "Armed and Dangerous" or "I can't I have Baseball" Schoberl the Fourth, really? There is four of you guys? What is there to say about the hard throwing right hander? A lot actually. If you didn't find John stressing about a homework assignment four months in advance, you could usually find him updating his Facebook or Twitter accounts IN ALL CAPITAL LETTERS about how many days to Baseball season or about the Marine Corps. From your first dip at NAPS to your first encounter with Ralph, you have been nothing but a hard working individual who always strived to do the right thing even if it wasn't the most popular thing to do. The Marines are always looking for a Few Good Men, they found one in you. Best of luck and see you out there.

Garrett B. Sherwood

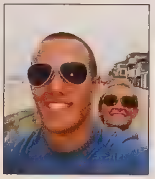
Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Andrew D. Stellato

Navy Pilot

OH MY GOD! It's Ryan Gosling. Andrew Stellato, The laid back Floridian who has the largest spectrum of women I have ever seen. You have slayed everything from the dragon to the princess in the castle. An aficionado of beer and whiskey, you can tell how much alcohol Andrew has consumed by what girl he is talking to. Andrew has never failed to attract the ladies and if his game were as big as his guns he would be better than Ed Pritchard. We had good times, met cool people, cruised around, and cranked some tunes. You've been a great friend and teammate. Good luck in the future brother. Give Tabitha my best regards.



Jordan Timmreck

USMC Flight Officer

Hailing from the wilderness of Maine, Jordan "Master of all engineering" Timmreck can most be remembered as his girlfriend's most flattering accessory. If you could spot him away from her (whipshhhh), you could either find him chewing out his training sergeant as a plebe, chewing out his plebes as a training sergeant, or breaking mirrors with his roommate while practicing wrestling moves. Who woulda thought his field day paying off that mistake was really just training to be the Brigades greatest 1st LT. Whether it was long hours spent in LT Smith's office or rewriting MIDREGS, this guy never let a floor go unwaxed or a work-order unfinished. This eatin' machine lives for the weekends and the time he gets to spend with his friends and family. Whether you need a partner for put-put or someone to count on, Jordan will always be known as a true friend and will make a great Marine.

Stefanie Ton

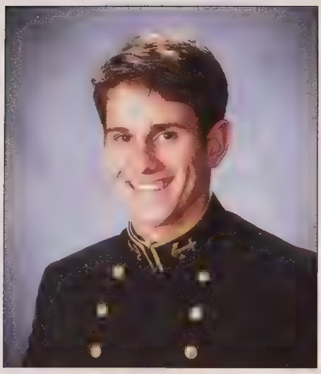
USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Jagdeep Walia

Surface Warfare Officer

Now colleges from sea to sea May sing of colors true, But who has better right than we To hoist a symbol hue? For sailors brave in battle fair Since fighting days of old, Have proved a sailor's right to wear The Navy Blue and Gold. BEAT ARMY!



John A. Warren II

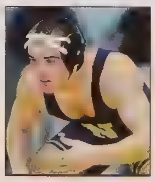
Naval Flight Officer

Arch Warrén: Mixing business with pleasure. Enough bubble gum for the team. Guarding a guy who sucks. Incredibly weak and soft. Mama Juana. "ON MY FAAACEEE!!" Yeah you caught me... "You're a f#*&@^$# cancer." Tack and jibe. A true nature lover, always willing to refill the birdbath. No man, she's dirty!

Katie D. Whitcombe

USMC Ground

I met Katie through UKISP, but we were never close until we were forced into a misfit three-man for Brigade Staff. Together with her and Brynn Umbach, we may have comprised the greatest GPA per square inch unit ever in Bancroft. Though we were pitted on separate teams (Brigade Morale Suppression Squad vs. the Brigade Morale Enhancement Squad), we came to forge a friendship I hope will stand the test of Cambridge and Oxford. I would like to add that there was probably more joy per square inch of Bancroft Hall, and Katie was the most significant contributor. Hanging out with her was so fun that I agreed to go to a petting zoo! I have no idea where Katie will end up, but I am certain she will have an incredible impact. She has inspired me, and I am blessed to have her as a sister in Christ.



Zachary A. White

USMC Ground

Zac White, an honorable young mans has gotten through this place by the skin of his teeth, a vast knowledge of civil war history, country music, dipping, and wrestling. When Zac isn't tying flies for his next fishing quest, or watching wrestling, he's spending time with the dudes. Zac has been an extremely dedicated wrestler, and friend throughout our 4 years together here at the boat school. He's never let any of his friends or family down. Time and time again he has put himself out there to save the reputations of those he cares about. There have been some troubled times for Zac, times neither of us knew if he was going to graduate or be a Marine, but Zac made it, and I don't know another person who deserves it more. I have been lucky to call him a close friend of mine, and look forward to continuing our careers together.

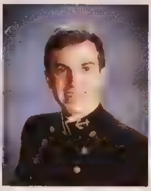
Class of 2014

Richard Bradley

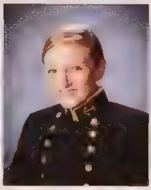
Nathan Brown

Zachary Brown

Andrew Caveness



Brian Davenport



Margaret Gilroy

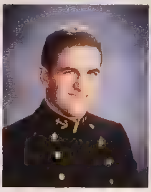
Kevin Ginn

Zachary Haueter

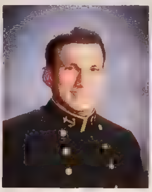
Emily Hughes

Anasitasia Ioane

Christa Kamon



Conor Kearney



Mark Lanfranki

Justin Lenhart

Lucas Leonhardt

Samuel Lilek

Adrian Montecinos

Sean Murray

James Neigel

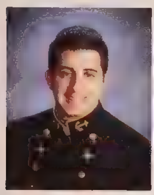
Daniel Novak

Norman Overfield

Cody Peterson

Jordan Rettie

Dwayne Saunders



Kevin Sercia

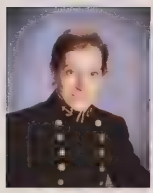
Gavin Snyder

Andrew Thompson

Joshua Whitt

Philip Williams

Class of 2015



Annienorah Beveridge

Kazimir Biesiada

Erik Boudart

Daniel Bowden

Christopher Brahm

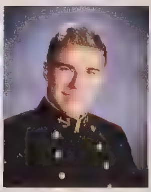
Austin Branch

Karl Chen

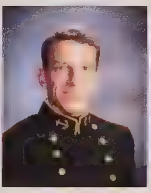
Jacky Chow

Jordan Cook

Keyawna Danai



Joel Davis



Joshua Drablos

Caroline Evans

Gregory Fountain

Scott Gibson

Anthony Goliver

Tina Kieu

Nickos Leondaridismena

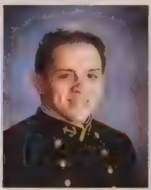
Jean Loomis

Austin Marshall

Michael Mejia

Jeffrey Pearson

Dakota Raymond



Christopher Robinson

Barney Schmidtke

David Schroeder

Ward Scott

Jacob Slaughter

Trevor Smith

David Tisler

Langston Williams

Christine Wilson

Gabriela Winter

Class of 2016

Justin Adams

Marco Alejos

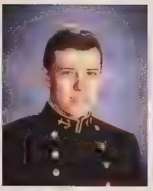
Zachary Brown

Nia Chandler

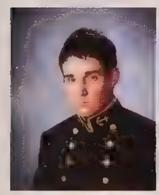
Alec Comito

Justice Constantine

Nicholas Dantonio



Christopher Day



Cary Elward

Alexander Evans

William Floresmux

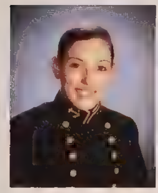
Czerda Frank

Jacob Garrett

Montana Geimer

Sara Giraldo

Walter Glenn



Veronica Hoecherl

Brennen Jaeb

Kathleen Johnson

Alec Jones

Max Kirchofer

Marcus Mack

Nicholas Marmureanu

Ty Mechling

Bradford Mills

Jacob Moses

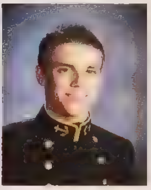
Kamron Murrell

Joshua Padilla

Zachery Santella

Megan Snyder

Seth Sotelo



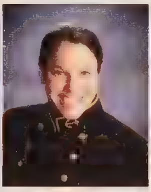
Robert Souza

Jasmine Spencer

Nathan Stinson

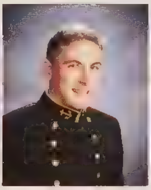
Michael Strawn

Alec Tenne

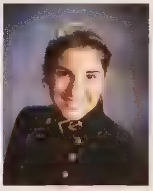


Madalyn Thompson

Zachary Verissimo



Richard Wheeler



Chloe Whitworth

Susan Wissmann

Jinghong Yuan

Company

22

Benjamin H. Baker

Medical Corps

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Glendon J. Bartlett

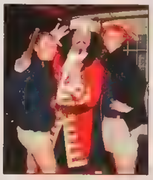
Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Michaela N. Bilotta

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

It's not a girl...IT'S A BILOTTA! Mother B taking care of all the boys in the backshaft Youngster year. She's been working hard for 4 years, prepping for her job in EOD, at least when she wasn't putting hard time in the library, though she might say it was "only for a few minutes." Gainey became part of the family, literally. I don't know why, but, McFadden's. She kept crew team alliances strong at the Bowl Game, defusing her first 'Baum.' We are all extremely proud of her, and of her accomplishments. She may be one of the hardest working chicks on the yard and her track record shows it. She is the most likely to become the first Female CNO and own her own bakery at the same time. Don't doubt this girl will make it big with a heart of gold and love for life's endless possibilities. Go get'em comeback kid! BKB for life!



Dagmara Broniatowska

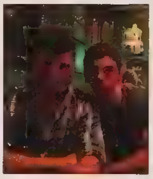
Dagmara Broniatowska... "Brownie" to some, "D" to most... our favorite, most energetic foreign exchange student. Coming to us from Warsaw, via Gdynia (the location of Poland's naval academy). Always sporting the most fashionable heels, even if there will be 5+ miles of walking around Chicago. The only person here who takes 23 credits, while being an in season varsity athlete, running multiple clubs, earning a black N, AND skiing competitively, all at the same time... and all while being an honors major and getting great grades. Has navigated to Bermuda by the stars, made a daring night time crossing of Newport harbor, and stays up to "midnight seventeen" procrastinating. The best workout companion imaginable, especially if you're a fan of cutting the work out in half as soon as you start and realize how out of shape you are. She's Castle Bay's most loyal and iconic customer... but that never gets in the way of ending the night at Pusser's. She's back to Poland for the time being; but, don't worry Annapolis, she'll get her hands on a green card and be back before we know it! Love, Mary <3

Tyler D. Coleman

Information Warfare

Tyler Coleman wave of sardonic despair descended upon the Naval Academy in July of 2009. Creepy Coleman quickly made his mark upon 22nd company, especially in the eyes of Trujillo. First of all, he hates whatever today is. The 5 rules of Coleman's life are: "admit nothing, deny everything, demand proof, make counter-accusations, and blame someone else" as he learned during his first trip to Delaware plebe year…."Jackson where are my pants?" His favorite memory of civilian life was ddefaecatingin peace. His cheerful optimism and sunny disposition will be missed from the halls of 6-1.

Gregory T. Cummins



Naval Flight Officer

On July 1st, 2009 Macho Man Gregory Cummins entered the gates of what he now knows to be the tower of power. Looking around, and noticed that his fellow plebes were the cream of the crop. He was confident in his ability to make it through four years, as the cream always rises to the top. Greg wasn't always on balance while at the academy. He met his fair deal of challenges. But Greg quickly learned that on balance or off balance, it doesn't matter... he is better than you are. Most midshipman go around grand standin' and hot doggin'. Greg never fell into this trap. They were accomplishing nothing. And as he learned early in his life, nothing means nothing. As Greg developed into a young officer, he realized that he may not be able to sing or dance, but he could make romance. Between his work and his relaxing, Greg found little time to eat. So, he learned to keep his favorite snack handy, and snap into a Slim Jim, whenever he needed a triple shot of protein. You may ask Greg how he would reflect on his time at the academy. The usual response is that his time here was too sweet to be sour. Greg will be flying for the Navy as he realized from a young age that Space was the place and the sky is the limit. Greg will be entering the fleet more ready than Bonesaw ever was. And for that, we thank you.

Ryan T. Dendler

Navy Pilot

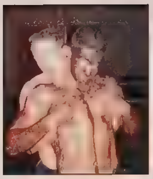
A Chicagoan with a short armed, Midwestern, goalie playing counterpart, SanDendy loves his dogs, poop, and has a new found passion for Motley Crew. If he starts making dog noises, don't be alarmed he's just trying to say the word "roof". What about those long bright strands of red hair? He blames JD and Rock 'n Roll. So, uhh, now that we're at the gym, what are you gonna do? Front or back squats? What are you doing for sets? When you squat do you go beyond parallel? Ok… I think im gonna do chest. "Hop off your roommate!" I'm not so sure about those mirrors. A man with true compassion, slight FOMO, and undeniable Eeyore-like tendencies, Ryan is a trustworthy friend and great roommate. As he enters his Officer Career as a Naval Aviator, be sure to look out for his new radio talk show, Monotone in the Mornings, with ENS Sleepy Big Butts, hitting the Pensacola control towers soon.

Paul M. Gainey

USMC Ground

The United States Naval Academy is proud to announce that Paul Gainey has just been nominated as the Republican Candidate for the 2016 Presidential election. This announcement came as a surprise to many since Paul is typically demure and soft spoken about his political views. Nevertheless, the GOP could not think of a better candidate. The news reached Paul while he was on the golf course, flag pin in hand, brushing up his game for his next visit to San Diego. His nomination serves as a testament to his dedication to work, fierce friendships, and ability to endure miles of rifle-toting goodness, as any good Republican will tell you.

Alan J. Hansen



SEALs

Wanna wrestle?... with our shirts off?... in the mud?... grab each other's chest?... AND leave photo evidence on Facebook? Well, apparently Hansen does! A hockey player by necessity, SEAL pup workout fiend by choice, AJ never ceases to entertain, amaze, and push your buttons, oftentimes managing to do all three at once. And honorary member of 6152, "Come over to our room to watch homeland, also be sure to steal our food while you're here and leave a trail of crumbs after you, Thanks!" Snap chats of you singing Bieber won't, then will, then definitely will not be missed. Remember when you used to get paid to swim with dolphins and baby seals? Yeah now have fun getting dropped in the cozy waters of the Pacific. Listen to your beautiful Fiancée, Madie Strole (and not the one on the stick), she'll teach you a thing or two. Lord knows she already has ;)...even though we all know you wish Hummel was the one to teach you those things. Hope you're excited about us continuing to ridicule you for getting your assignments done in a timely fashion, organizational skills, and the fact that you get more sleep than us. Your unparalleled work ethic will serve you and our Nation's Navy well in the upcoming years.

Daniel K. Holliday

Navy Pilot

Deep in the heart of Dallas, sprouted a young, wily leader named Knox. While vulnerability to the hypermotivation virus characterized Knox's indoctrination to USNA, he quickly adopted the ethos of Real Talk and grew into "Knox Holi-Dare-You". Civilian clothes meant that the endless stream of impulse buys, collectibles, and speculation over frat gear could never be beat back by his nemesis, midship-bros. His prowess as an athletic supporter showed in Navy Football's impressive record during his time. The Crescent City will never forget its audience with the Duke of Dads, nor will the City of Lights forget the brief visit of Monsieur Knox. Never afraid to uphold the standard, Knox is sure to bring the winning attitude and demand for excellence he nurtured at the Academy to those fortunate enough to fall under his future command. Although he may not always show it, he does care for you… just don't cross him.

Jackson W. Hummeldorf

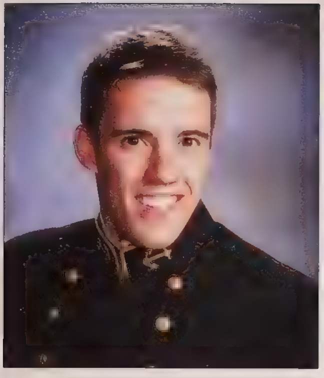
SEALs

Who knew God was scared of smoking apples? Stretching Guru. Team mom. Hotel de Hummeldorf. "Sir, what kind of maneuver did you just pull?" Dumbeldore. You didn't go to class for 3 months and still stayed on God's list, Blood clots make you run faster.

Richard M. Jackson

USMC Pilot

Mr. Jackson, there's a window to your left…Dendler Get Out…Dendler get out. Duck Commander Buck Commander. Forever defended his friends from the Jewish fraternity brothers. Between Brazil, China, and DTA there's no woman the WILD BOAR couldn't woo. "Please forgive me for what I did to you when I was hungry"…never fear because all is forgiven…even that time you brought a girl to Mikey's house. When he's not pulling his pants up to his armpits or shaving his chest hair he can be found studying into the wee hours of the morning with his beats headphones that project throughout the room….Would you rather?



Samuel J. Kelly

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Dylan T. Kim

Navy Pilot

Dylan "Meh Meh Meh" Kim will always be remembered as the guy who brought the crazy out in us all (but it was never his fault). Affectionately known as "Panda," when he wasn't in eating bamboo and napping in a tree, Dylan was hard at work in the gym; as legend has it his pecs are as hard as his astrophysics homework. Youngster year, this "old-timer" spent many a moon at Ram's Head Tavern, but in time found a true home in the Fleet Reserve Club, always wearing his neon shades and panda shirt. It is here Dylan cleverly coined the term "midstakes." After escaping the Submarine Community as a sailor fresh out of boot camp, Mr. Kim only had to convince seven stars that he was NOT the man for the job. A true and unwavering friend, the Naval Aviation community is lucky to have a man so hungry (literally, "BRING ME FOOD MEOW!") to succeed in it's ranks. Proud to call Dilly Willy one of my best friends, best of luck big guy.

Danica M. Konyk

Navy Pilot

This girl could kick your butt while doing handstands on the moon. She is likely the most highly recruited midshipman , but don't let her love for high standards and impeccable grades fool you, she just wants to fly. Her long nights doing homework don't phase her as long as she has her favorite midnight snack—pop-tarts and her roommates' Gatorade. A coffee date with homework is the way to this girl's heart. She spends her spare time talking to the "adorable" old grads and taking her squad on overnight hikes through the wilderness. .. barefoot, in the snow, while being hunted by wild coyotes. But there is no need to fear, it has all been accounted for in the ORM. Nothing will stand in her way, not sleep, linear algebra, or out of reg. shower curtains. Aviators everywhere brace yourselves for her arrival! Good Luck Dani! KLL NAM JLV

Katie L. Labbe

Nuclear Surface Warfare

"Hey Guys, I think I want to go Marine Corps…" was the funniest thing Katie said…until she tried to run 3 miles. Ever since then, this non-Hispanic, non-Engineer, non-professional, has spent her time as the Vice President and Secretary of the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers, trying to find her true identity. Fortunately, she has finally figured out her true calling in the Surface Nuke community, even though she is an Honors English major and had an infamous obsession with Marilyn Manson during her high school goth phase. Her greatest accomplishment however, is "discovering" Reis's fridge and moles on your face even though she has won multiple science fairs, written speeches for dignitaries, crocheted blankets, sewn tattered uniforms—but not her own, given swimming EI to her roommates, found lost IDs when all hope was lost, and mastered the art of obnoxious laughter and making animal noises. In her spare time, she spend nights in bed eating, or at least sleeping next to, chocolate, daydreaming about red heads and men with gages in their ears, going to El Toro Bravo as much as she can, and making sure that the room "smells like Katie" before she leaves. We wish you the best of luck as you head out into the real world to lead hard working sailors. NAM DMK JLV

Tyler Lawlor

Submarines

The Gorilla. Crushes 12 packs before anyone else finishes their first beer. Famous for making late night ho-hos on a bath rug. The one that always gets away, even if it means sleeping on a porch in the middle of winter. One of the three amigos that did hard time. Going subs, to pay for more beer. Arguably the greatest laugh; beneath his wild exterior lies the heart of a Teddy Bear.

Matthew R. Lutch

USMC Pilot

No one is quite sure if he's Irish, Russian, Italian, or Mexican, but either way Matt Lutch is one good looking dude. Moreover, he's got style. You can always catch him over at the Brigade Sports Complex, crushing weights (even after a good bag skate), rocking his spandex leggings, high-cut white athletic socks (with the leggings tucked into the socks, of course), any one of his many Navy Hockey T's, and the classic throw-back, snap-back Bruins hat…Dude, you don't have to raise your hands when you talk to us, we get it, you're from Boston. As if we couldn't already tell from the way you say "tarrable," or that weird jacket with all the fur on it. And seriously, you don't have to "mark your territory" when you stay over at a new place. Nevertheless, for a guy that spent the beginnings of his young adulthood at "real college" chillin with Sammy Adams, Lutch (or Atticus as he's known by some) did alright for himself at the Naval Academy. As the captain of the hockey team his senior year, he led a crazy group of guys to the national tournament for the first time in the club's history, learning on the fly what it means to make tough decisions, and solidifying the respect of his classmates and closest friends along the way. So whether he's proving his Irish heritage through choice Irish beverages or sweating them off at Bikram the next day, the Marine Corps is lucky to be getting such a qualified, caring, and all around good dude for a pilot.

Naomi A. Marcelo

Surface Warfare Officer

I have known Naomi since plebe year and what has always been prevalent about her is that she always brings light into the world through her art, smile or just helping someone out. Some adventures that will always make me think of her will be Jamaica, trying for the first time to eat sugar cane, making the trek to snowy West Point and ski class (and when you finally learned how to stop), taking all of Pennington's classes together, an awkward Easter and a certain cold morning when you came to cheer me on a run which was a moment of insanity on my part. We have been through a lot Naomi and I am excited to be able to hang out with you more in Japan! Sushi! Kappa! You are my sister in Christ! Naomi will be going SWO, Sasebo, Japan.

Taylor J. Marton

Surface Warfare Officer

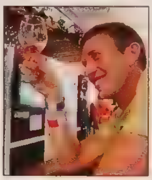
T.Money$ when you weren't dousing yourself in Lefty's sweet sauce, or spending late nights in the cabin of the sailboat ralphing, you were spending a lot of your life sleeving. Firstie brass is youngster ….anyway… When the world is not enough, and you think the sky is about to fall, your classmates will be there waiting for you with a drink in hand, shaken not stirred. You were always willing to correct AJ's illiteracy and we can't wait till you spend some quality time slaving away in the kitchens of Coronado. When nobody wanted to be back here you made life a little easier with your optimism, humor, and baked goodies and we thank you for that. We wish you the best of luck on your ship, with your old pal Joe, SWO swole buddies. Snatch life's ass and then kick it to the curb!

Miles E. McGee

Navy Pilot

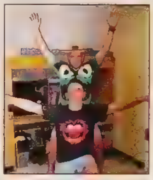
The true southern gentleman, Miles Ennis McGee, can be found studying Robert E. Lee's great successes (according to him) and incorporating them into his future master plan for battle space dominance for when he becomes an Admiral...just like Pop. This Bayou Boy is the toughest man around; he never refused an opportunity for a historical debate with a naïve, propaganda-filled Yankee who knew not the truth of the Northern Aggression. He loves many things in life: video games, the 2nd amendment, being a MIDN LT, paintballin', and his black Bumble Bee. He led from the front of 22 and stood firm for the rules. If you're looking for someone who can make the tough decisions, have your back in any situation, or just kick back, relax, and enjoy the company of a good friend, look no further than Miles McGee.

Luke M. Neitzke



Navy Pilot

Luke, aka Ensign Bailey (yep, the Irish Cream enthusiast), was born on January 19, 1991. I tried to link this to some important event, but it turns out, nothing really important happened that day, but the Camp Pendleton Naval Hospital Staff still refer to is as "Ugly Saturday." Unfortunately, Luke was a slow starter. In play school, he was a little different than all the other 5 year olds; he was 11. But he quickly learned literally everything, literally all of it, literally; and thanks to an O-6 father, he made it to the Naval Academy. But, he turned out alright, even picking a major that is way harder than yours; if you haven't heard yet, he studied chemistry. He grew up in Italy and has been to Rome countless times. So many in fact, that he will even take you on a tour that will change how you see St. Peter's basilica and the aqueducts forever. Luke always does well at whatever he puts his mind to, whether it's school, friends, his career, or sports, even if he always was the last one to be picked. But he will use this special skill to get the coveted helicopter spot out of flight school. So watch out, ladies of Pensacola! Luke will befriend you and never date you, but if you're lucky, he might just share some of his appletini with you. He's a friend I'm proud to have, even if he's sometimes hard to be seen with.

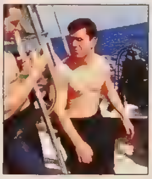


James B. Robinson

Navy Pilot

James Bond Robinson spent his time at the Naval Academy guaranteeing his personal safety and survival for the apocalypse—or at least one might surmise that, after taking one look at the ridiculous myriad of supplements adorning his desk and locker. His love for regulation PT gear, Greg Plitt, crazy Greek cousins, organic food, blender bottles, and his Q5 was rivaled only by his love of the universal healthcare system and big government debates with the Facebook-savvy Mad Man of 22. Bond slowly gave in to the lure of Naval Aviation with its promises of warmth, sleep, shirtless volleyball, beach parties, and selected Navy Pilot. He could be found perusing the aisles of Whole Foods, rolling 6 dudes deep in DTA on weekends or making crazy and incoherent Randy Savage gestures with @GregCummins22. A very honest, genuine, and humble person, Bond is the true friend that you wish to have behind you and the one that you know will have great success in the Navy and his life.

Scott S. Rowe



Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Call him the post man. Sleet, Snow, Hail, hell even tornado be damned his packages are always delivered....always. Especially in key west at Fat Tuesdays. Shiva Khomini! forever unclean! Especially when he takes those late night trips to study his Kathstone. Hell ill give it to the kid, he managed to have the absolute worst luck with women. But just like the little engine that could Scotty tried, tried, tried....and tried again. Scott is known for his un-proportional retaliation with pranks but sometimes that landed him in some trouble (aka in a thorn bush....yes, all the way in the bush while he was on crutches.) I weep for any terrorists that get in the way of this motivator. Scott will be a great EOD officer and any one of us would love to serve by his side. Be safe out there and make Buff Daddy proud.

Michael Y. Sales

Naval Flight Officer

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Stephen Scales

Naval Flight Officer

In short, Stephen is both a scholar and an athlete. He earned 2 varsity letters in each of his 4 years here: sleeping and eating. On a serious note he has dedicated a lot of his time to tutoring others in his ways and I'm sure some are thankful for the relaxation techniques he has passed on to them. His sleeping abilities are only surpassed by his beard growing skills. His morning shaves are like that scene from The Santa Clause. Stephen is also very fiscal. He looks for ways to increase his money by risking it all and also saved a lot on running shoes while here. He still wears the plebe summer go fasters that are in near perfect condition. This hefty sasquatch will always hold a spot in our heart. Where that spot is will be determined by this last weigh in.

Mary C. Senoyuit

Surface Warfare Officer

"Ok, Dagmara, we are working out and getting skinny. Seriously though. There is nothing worse than being fat in whites!"... Later that day on Rip Miller, "Is that 3 reps yet?!" There is nothing more disturbing than seeing her write a 5 page paper between morning formation and 3rd period, on which she WILL get an A. Eats chocolates while sitting on the floor. Always finds the best deals in Anthropologie. She is a person who would rather eat salad than a burger, but is always a great companion during trips to McDonald's. Has the experience to say, if wine is two for one during happy hour, friends should probably stick to glasses, not bottles. One of the few 2/C who would wear whites on 4th of July hoping to be bumped up to first class on a 2h flight to Chicago (needless to say, it worked). And, the only highly ranked SWO selectee who picked (first choice) a frigate out of Norfolk... as a 22 year old buying a house in Norfolk, with South African fiancé "from South America." xoxo D

Joseph A. Shannon

Surface Warfare Officer

Joe "Shanrock" Shannon aka Koala Bear aka Nighthawk, famous for his mumbling and disappearing acts. Everybody Love Everybody (except for those kids at JHU). Always running, only sometimes from the cops. Loves spending time outdoors, whether it is a snow covered peak or a frigid river or a sun drenched swamp, he's never satisfied with just one adventure. "So I've got that going for me." Just livin' man. DBAP.

Charles L. Talisse

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to Charlie, the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and ducks; who strives valiantly; who errs, who avoids cardio again and again, because there is no effort without error and protein; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in irrational purchases; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while in Rickover, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know statics nor dynamics.

Luke A. Theriault

Naval Flight Officer

Luke Theriault (pronounced "Terry-oh") is a genuine explorer. Though he proved his manliness on his youngster sailing cruise by subduing his broken sailboat in an epic storm by sheer bench pressing power, it was just not enough for the adventure hungry Luke. He continued on to become a master of the M-16 as a weapons instructor and explorer of the seas and the skies as a qualified open water diver and skydiver. As audacious as he may be, Luke's one weakness is women, specifically those with "jet black hair" and "perfect skin complexion." But while he's not laughing in the face of storms or jumping out of airplanes, Luke spends quality time with his friends at Officer's Christian Fellowship, or playing ridiculously aggressive games of racquetball. Always seen walking briskly to class with a cup of coffee, Luke is always ready to take on any day at the Naval Academy with the same adventurous attitude. Although the Naval Academy tried to suppress his wild appetite for adventure, nothing will stop Luke now as he becomes an NFO in the U.S. Navy. Take care Luke, and may the force be with you.

Lyle M. Tomaszewski

Naval Flight Officer

Lyle loves the academy so much that he has dedicated quite a few breaks to standing watches here in good ole mother B. However this "choice" was often (always) aided by adult beverages. If there was one word to describe Lyle it is scrappy. He may not be the biggest dog in the fight, or the strongest, or even the smartest, but by god he thinks so and that's what counts. Despite all of this he still has friends.

Jamie L. Vales

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Where do we begin? You can always find Jamie either cleaning hers and her roommates closet, passed out in her rack, or eating in Cracker Barrel (or eating in general). But don't let her lethargic, sloth-like qualities fool you. This ninja in disguise balances food, naps, and 4.0s on a daily basis. But behind the tough girl persona, she is a sucker for puppies, Winnie the Pooh, laughing babies, and a feast of baby ducks. But her good mood will be crushed as soon as someone forgets to fill the water filter in the fridge, not clean up their closet, deprive her of rice, or tell her she moves like a loris (The primate Loris lydekkerianus is known for its lethargy and love of rice balls). The list goes on… She is known for her random outbursts of exclamation to express her many frustrations, that include every vowel in the alphabet and may be accompanied by random punches to the gut. Sushi beware, Jamie is on her way to Japan to join the Surface Warfare Community (Nuclear), and she is hungry for action.
KLL NAM DMK

James White

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Kyle D. Widhalm

Civil Engineer Corps

No one can get rid of Kyle Diamond Widhalm, not even the devil from Cambridge. What kind of redneck has Diamond as a middle name? He is one of the few and proud Black N stars that will graduate from the Academy. The times on restriction were the worst times of his life because of the extended detox he had to endure. It is actually a surprise that he is still alive based on his liquid experiences, owning that magnificently flaming truck (may it R.I.P.) and your horse friends back home. He is supposed to be this master griller but as you can see here he has clearly set himself on fire. Also half the time he can't even tell the meat is done because he is color blind. The Seabees will get a valuable asset when he isn't using his eyes, ears or fire.

Eric J. Wootten

Submarines

Qualifications of a Naval Officer. "It is by no means enough that Eric would just be a capable mariner. He was that, of course, but also a great deal more. He was as well a Midshipman Lieutenant Commander of liberal education, refined manners, punctilious courtesy, and the nicest sense of personal opinion. He was a soul of tact, patience, justice, firmness, kindness, and charity. No meritorious act of a Midshipman would escape his accomplishments, or be left to be unsurpassed, even if the reward was only an unseen gesture or smile. Conversely, he was not blind to a single minute he procrastinated, though at the same time, he was quick and unfailing to extinguish error from MATLAB, thoughtfulness from incompetency, and well-meant shortcomings from heedless or stupid blunder. In one word, every Company Commander, SHAPE Commander, and Varsity Soccer Player should keep constantly before him the great truth, that to be well obeyed, he must be perfectly "Woot-tee`d""

Matthew J. Yates

USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Class of 2014

Tanner Anjola

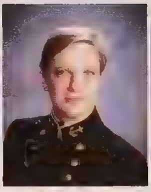
Anthony Blazevic

Jesse Burroughs

Matthew Busick

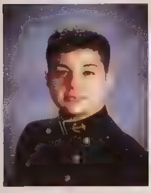
Jacqueline Callahan

Abigail Chek



Elizabeth Cotter

Stephanie Deboer



Joseph Delorenzo

Brandon Easler

Veronica Ffrench

Aaron Fleming

Ian Gray

Caleb Haney

Alston Harper

Daniel Huber

Daniel Hurley

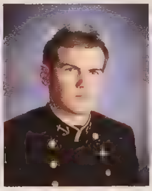
Richard Hutyra

Lorna Kimple

Darryl Lindie

Lucille Lu

Eric Madden



John McLaughlin

Walter Pope

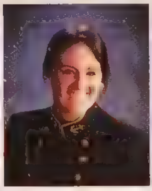
Ryan Rapada

Elizabeth Rubin

Mohamed Saudulla

Thomas Shaheen

David Smith



Ashlynn Soellner

Gabriela Torres

Taylor Vannatta

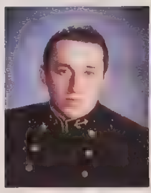
Kenneth Williamspittner

Bradley Woods

Brennan Wyatt

Martin Zuber

Class of 2015



Ethan Albrecht

Alisa Batcher

Sarah Blake

John Chamberlain

Taylor Compton

Kyle Cregge

Conor Cross

Nathan Fewel

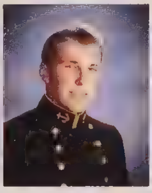
Kelly Fielder

Jake Fish

Mitchell Fitzgerald

Alec Geilfuss

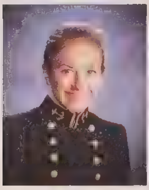
Sarah George



Michael Gerritsen

Benjamin Gonzales

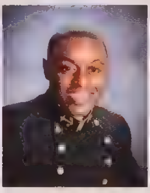
Zachary Griffitt



Mary Hall

Tyler Heinemeyer

Alexander Heyward

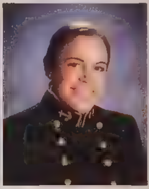


Jonathan Huggins

Alexandra Hyrkas

Andrew Jones

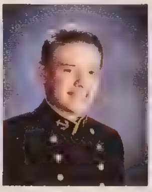
Kevin Lois



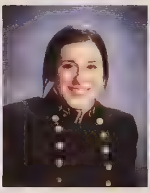
Amber Lowman

Ian Maloney

John Mayer



Riordan McGuinness



Brooke Merchant

Zachary Nelson

Daniel Pruitt

Colton Rasche

Bryant Renfroe

Matthew Sandusky

Tyrise Shepardlewis

Philip Song

Charles Steveken

Joseph Toole

Juan Valencia

Mark Vetere

Connor White

Class of 2016

Sarah Armstrong

Riley Bartlett

Miranda Beal

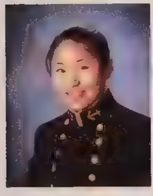
Rachel Berger

Kwazel Bertrand

James Bigger

Shepard Chalkley

Junkwan Chan

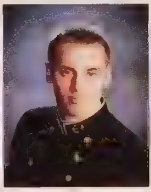


Judith Cho

Michaela Connally

Merrill Dean

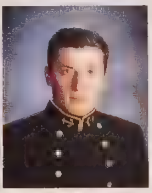
Patrick Eytchison



David Frechette

Adarsh Ghosh

Jeremy Granderson



Julian Hagberg

Sarah Howard

Gina Kang

George Khoury

John Kroon

James Lawson

Michael Markovsky

John Mellgard

Kennan Miller

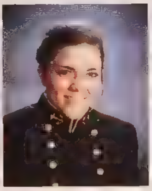
Laurence Moore

Alec Morgan

Kyle Packer

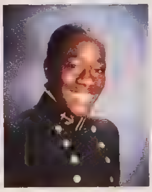
Daniel Rose

Samuel Sorenson



Kirstin Spann

Robert Sutherland



Alexandria Thomas

Timothy Tracey

Heather Trafford

Connor Vance

Robert Volm

Cyrus Wilson

Joseph Zobel

Company

23

Zachary A. Basich

USMC Ground

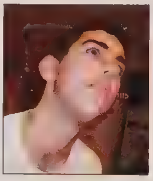
Zachary Andrew Basich, often known as being the life of the party, came from humble origins. Being raised in West Virginia he overcame adversity and proved that a West Virginian could make it to and complete college. After being accepted to the Naval Academy he attended NAPS where he made many friends while honing his academic abilities. He has also seen many of those friends leave through Bilger's Gate over the four long years since graduating NAPS. The skills he has learned at the Academy have prepared him for the "See the hill? Go get the hill" mentality of a Marine Grunt. Overall Zachary Basich is one of the most capable leaders to graduate from his class. His future is bright and full of opportunities. It's up to him whether he wins the battle of the heart, mind, and body to become the great Marine officer the people close to him know he can be.

Theodore L. Baumgardner

USMC Ground

Jacked and Ted. Bro do you even lift? On June 5th we glimpsed a side of you we never saw again. The constant paradox between your metaphorically large head and tiny skull. TAKE YOUR HANDS OUT OF YOUR POCKETS! You can get a better tricep flex for the photos. A fan of Chris Christie despite fear of of fatties. Brotherhood.

Timothy S. Berry



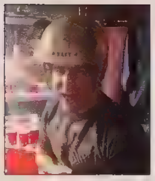
Navy Pilot

Born Timothy Sean Berry of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the second child of a Fighting Irish family he was the first to attend the United States Naval Academy. To this day Tim is still trying to figure out why he didn't attend the prestigious Notre Dame. Throughout his time in Mother B, Tim could either be found in his room playing civilization or trying to find someone to jump his car out on Farragut. When his car wasn't being cheap and actually ran, Tim took pride in pothole avoidance, perfecting the sixteen point park, and outrunning Annapolis PD down King George Street. BHB's numerous hobbies include Ultimate Frisbee, Super Smash Bros, and snowboarding down runs with skills that could be smelled for miles. Like the giraffes of the savannah Tim will always be a head above the competition. Fitting perfectly into his bro lifestyle, Tim has an excellent career of naval aviation in his future, 'the dude abides.'

Katherine A. Bray

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

A faithful teammate to both NWVB and NWL, KBray will be a hard friend and DJ to replace. Thank goodness she is so musically inclined, otherwise we'd never know what song she was listening to at any moment. Katie overcame adversity when Vbrick was canceled, managing to continue watching all 78 of her TV shows. Thanks to Mrs. Bray, there is no tough time that can't be survived with a can of icing and some of Mom's pound cake. Speaking of tough times, if this whole Navy thing doesn't work out, we're sure Hooters would love to have you. It all makes sense that a future EOD keeps hanging around such a blonde bombshell! Whatever you end up service selecting and traveling too, always remember that the dog days are over and 4121, 4130, 6208 will always keep your love on top!



James D. Brown

Navy Pilot

Affectionately known as Grandpa, James David Brown has learned throughout his years in Bancroft Hall that the early bird gets the worm. He has no problem fitting in with his classmates despite the fact that he is almost six years their senior. On the weekends, Darth Brown has been known to enjoy feeding the fish off the dock at Pussers, cutting his way into the "soles" of his friends, and donating his shoes to the homeless people of Saratoga. Unfortunately for Dave, the wisdom afforded him by his advanced years was simply insufficient to guide his wayward roommate. We can only hope he tackles his aviation career with as much gusto as his RV trips, "Damn the highway patrol, full speed ahead!"

Bret M. Butler

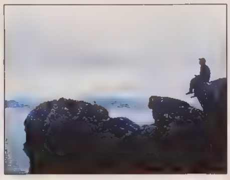
"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Mark W. Campbell

Navy Pilot

Hailing from Farmville, Virginia, Ensign select "quick draw" Campbell has spent the past four years perfecting the art of flying under the radar. While most midshipmen could be found hitting the book during study period, Mark took personal ownership of honor concept by attending almost nightly "honor boards." He was a man of few words, but when he did speak he meekly conquered mediocrity. While his true passion lies below the surface with the submarine corps, he graciously obliged to the needs of the navy and accepted his navy pilot assignment. His friends and family eagerly await the opportunity to celebrate his bright future and shining career with a round of Mike's Hard Lemonade and a boisterous cheer of "Go Campbell, Go Campbell!"

Chuan A. Chang



Navy Pilot

Chuan Alexander Chang aka "Alex" aka "Chang" brought his talents to Naptown with the motivating Class of '13 and 23rd Co. from the hard streets of Northern Virginia in the sweltering summer of '09. A strong believer in the Book of Urban Dictionary, Alex would spread his vast knowledge to his classmates and instruct them in the use of new words. He was always seen going "hard-in-the-paint" in everything, including, but not limited to, academics, PRT prep (that elusive sub-9!), and that one Georgetown Hoyette his Youngster year (though he probably doesn't remember…). Throughout his four years by the Bay, Alex was known to roam the halls of Mother B, interacting with everybody, conversing about sports, stocks, life, and coming up with a new nickname for every person in the company. Whenever he walked into a room, he would bring a smile to every person's face, and his joyful laugh was known across the Yard. To have known him at Canoe U. is to have known a true, loyal, and dedicated friend who could always be counted on. Wherever your wings may take you in life, Alex, you will be greatly missed. Fly high and fast, buddy.

Jordan L. Chmielewski

Navy Pilot

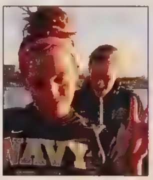
This girl is known for her love of the need to dance, wine, updates, and nutella. She can easily be reached at all times thanks to her surgery in which her cellphone was permanently attached to her hand. She amazes many as she answers a text in the midst of a perfectly executed wobble, and if she starts to squint at you across from ACME get a pillow ready because it's almost this socialites bed time. She has permanently retired her N star cheek tattoo but her cheerleader ways are still quite apparent. Whether she's cheering her friends through a soon to fail diet or the latest boy interest, this future Naval Aviator is a great person to have on your side because she will always be your biggest supporter.

Matthew R. Couch

Supply Corps

Hailing from a country suburb outside Harrisburg in Enola, Pennsylvania, Matthew "Tim" Couch rose to prominence in academics and protecting the quarterback. If you go home to visit him, chances are you'll find him reclined back in his red la-z-boy chair playing Madden, Tiger Woods, or NHL. If you don't find him in his recliner chair, then chances are he is off in his dodge deer stand with Papa Couch praying for an 8-point buck to stroll by. While most might be intimidated by his 6-3 280 pound stature, you will find a very loyal friend. As a member of the Varsity Football team for all four years, Matt persevered through several joint injuries which epitomize his dedication and unending loyalty for his brothers. Matt will enter the Navy Supply Corps post commissioning where he will build a foundation for his promising future as a businessman.

Jasmine S. Depompeo



Oceanography

Started from Long Island now she's here… and as we all know, you can't spell life without LI. Midshipman 1/C Depompeo was immediately inducted into the NWL 15 percent after facing many challenges at Bently's, Silopanna, Vicky's, Black Pineapple, and Sakura. But adversity could not hold her down and #60daysOnRestrictionGaveThisBudSomeStreetCred. She rose from the ashes, knee brace and all, with a signature move, "Two words Tyra: Inside Roll" followed by "Stats on Stats on Stat". This FLID spent most of her free time at snacking, tanning, watching hours of Homeland/Scandal/GIRLS/Game of Thrones, and hanging with the winningest ladies on the yard. Jasmine's adventurous spirit, calm composure, and contagious laugh makes her the most desirable Battle Buddy. #FEBU #WAWG #NOOOOOOOO "I awoke with the crazy feeling that I was where I belong, and the sun warmed a remembered love, in my head I heard this song."

Michelle R. Ferguson

Surface Warfare Officer

It's Fergie Ferg! Coming down the hall, she greets you with a warm smile, but 23rd company plebes don't be fooled, when it was training sergeant time, "Momma Ferg" knew how to lock it on and bring the pain. At 5'1" she may be on the shorter side of the brigade, but she's one fierce chick! What she lacks in height, she makes up for in strength and drive. From salsa-ing across the dance floor, to hitting the books, Fergie's discipline and work ethic always inspired me. She's one of the most generous, fun-loving and sweetest people I know. She never hesitates to speak her mind and welcome any and every one with open arms. She's super caring and a mean cook, but what really defines Fergie is her faith. God is number one in her life and leads all of her actions! She is one of the most genuine people that I know, and has ALWAYS been there for me. Her habit of putting forth her best effort in everything that she does will undoubtedly make her a successful and inspirational leader in the surface warfare community...and sorry for all you boys out there wondering, this fabulous lady is member of the 2% club!

Michael D. Fessenden

Naval Flight Officer

Ya Boi Mikey Fez, AKA El zorro Travieso, reppin' tha A-T-L, well just outside of Atlanta…no not Marietta. Born to Donna and David (whom he affectionately calls Donna and David), he grew up pampered as the youngest child causing havoc and confusion. Well, four years of leadership and professional training development later, some things haven't changed. His principle of "deny, deny, deny, counter accuse, attack" has somehow enabled him not to get fried (I cannot say I am upset about that…). He won't let a minute go by without reminding you that you aren't an engineer, even though he hates systems himself. His only real accomplishments have been on the Frisbee field, completing countless shows on Netflix, leading Native American adventures, and adopting a gorilla. With the highs, come the lows, and when he let that "cat" claw his neck, that topped the list. Almost forgot, stop slamming the doors and lower your voice, Paul doesn't appreciate it. You will return back to the south and soar the skies to a bright future… just not one in business, the Midstore proved that.

Ryan A. Green

Naval Flight Officer

Ryan Green, better known as Big Head, Mars Attacks, or Fivehead, started his Naval career at NAPS, where he began his hypocritical endeavors. A definite fan of the naval babes, he has spent much of his time here telling his friends one thing and doing another. But don't get it wrong, there is no shame in his game, never hesitating to jump on any older woman between the ages of 34 to 64. "It was a moonwalk!" Always quick to fall in love, especially if she is foreign. "My little monkey!" I will never forget the nights out when Ryan is so drunk that he can't even keep his big head up. All big head jokes aside, Ryan is a true friend and will always be there when any of his friends need him.

Malik X. Harris

Surface Warfare Officer

Leaky/ZuluPrincess/Coach, was born to Roxy&David into a tough life in Jupiter, FL. They imbued him with the strength and fortitude to survive the cruel streets he grew up on that had a palm tree every 20 ft. instead of the usual 10. The crucible he called 'life' only motivated him to rise from the abyss like a young Bane. Through determination and an 'any means necessary' attitude, he worked his way into the system and conquered numerous facets of midshipman life (aka play puppet master). His political savvy jettisoned him into an unprecedented 3 batt jobs. His adoration of Nixon is entertaining, scary, and foreshadowing. Burned Ballots/Christmas with Coach/H&B/homebrews/ ALLIES/Penny Parties. Great friend/roommate/business partner/ accomplice. There's little doubt that Malik will be running something, someday, somehow. I just hope that no one I care about is connected, in any way, to that something when someday comes, and isn't involved in the somehow.

Chad Hingst

USMC Ground

Chad "little boy" Hingst hails from the mysterious badlands of Fargo, North Dakota. After a youth filled with cow-tipping and yetti herding, Chad decided he wanted to see how "civilized" Americans lived. So of course he came to the Naval Academy. He is a proud member of the two percent club, Chad quietly introduced the members of the 23rd company to his traditional North Dakotan ways of romantic courtship. During his Firstie year Chad briefly decided to run away to a far and distant land full of wild women, crazy parties and no homework . However upon hearing of his service selection into the USMC, Chad decided to return home to re-aMERICAnize himself. Chad-boy, you've taught us all something over the past four years. Whether that be getting big or how to probably yut, we are all the better for it. So thanks Chad, for giving us four years of good times, better memories and most importantly great friendship. HOUULLL!

Natalie A. Houle

Surface Warfare Officer

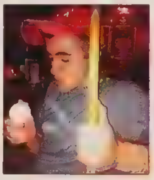
"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Sara M. Johnson

Surface Warfare Officer

Well it took us all about a year to discover the Fasian was not actually Asian… or had naturally straight hair for that matter but regardless of her ethnic ambiguity, this world class traveler has a thing for yoga, Whole Foods, weird green, too-healthy-to-look- appetizing concoctions and of course, shopping. After some exposure to the rugby world, this hipster found that ballroom dancing was more her speed. When she's not being a literary scholar in the corner of a Starbucks, she enjoys studying Anthropology under the South Moon and blending in with the other hipsters of Annapolis. She has successfully made it through the many circles of Hell, those damn technical classes, and found her niche over in China for both a summer and a semester. SJ heads again out to the Pacific in Yokosuka, Japan on the USS McCampbell but with all that time in Asia, one has to wonder if she is really Asian after all!

David L. Kennedy



Submarines

David Kennedy came to us from The Great Frontier after spending his formative years fighting off grizzly bears and fishing for salmon. He arrived in Crabtown via sled and sleigh in the summer of '09. David was able to conquer Plebe Summer through his musical talents--serenading his upperclass with "Alaska's Flag" seemed to have a calming effect on them. An academic standout, a wizard with the computer, and a no-show in the classroom, David managed to finish in great academic standing without ever opening a single book! In addition to his academic prowess during the week, David exhibited his social prowess on the weekends. Sightings of David were frequent in the Georgetown area during youngster and 2/C year, as he was a crowd favorite among the Washingtonians. Whilst frequenting Georgetown, David always made sure to call his beautiful ice princess, Little Miss Holly, before going to sleep and wish her good night. At USNA, David was an active 4-year member of three elite clubs--the Men's Glee Club, 2% Club, and the 3.0 Mile Club. Those who knew David well did not dare step foot into his man cave/corner office/ whack shack during sports period, as any wise person knows to never, ever wake up a bear during hibernation. David's infallible sense of humor and suave professionalism will bring him success wherever he goes. The silent service is getting a winner--Keep Calm, Chive On, and Semper Deep!

Rhyan C. Lange

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

William D. Newberry

USMC Ground

William Daniel Newberry AKA "Newbs", "Brocef", "Broberry", "Shoeberry", "Tootberry", and "Will" is a master at finding other people's cars to use for the weekend and returning it with a full tank of gas divided by 2. A die hard Cubs fan, his motto is "there's always next year." Even for his small stature, he can be found devouring a Nanos' Spicy Sushi combination; just make sure you bring extra napkins because it either ends up all over the table or him wearing his food. Does anyone have anything to say to Mr. Newberry? "GROW UP NEWBERRY!!" Truly dedicated to his brothers in arms, he can prove it with his matching pride tattoos with the jujitsu team. A great friend and an overall good guy, Will-Dan will make a great addition to the Marine Corps, Rah!

Peter K. Nguyen

Navy Pilot

Peter Kheim Nguyen, a native of Denver Colorado originally aspired to plant rice with the rest of his family. However, a higher calling led Pete to discover NAPS and then the Naval Academy. As an aero major, he has learned the true meaning of "cynical" pulling multiple all-nighters in order to finish his fluid mechanics homework. If you were to walk into Pete's room you would most likely find him yelling "GO BRONCOS!" at his computer or sleeping in his chair. Pete has also been plagued by multiple injuries every other week. However, whether it is a sprained hamstring, a twisted ankle, a broken fingernail, gassy stomach indigestion, or performance anxiety, Pete somehow perseveres. When he graduates, Pete is going to be joining the Navy Pilot community. His passion and boisterous attitude will help him to soar among the best of them. Although stubborn and unbending, Pete is a good friend and is the guy you want in the air with you. See you on the other side Iceman!

Nicolas K. Ogier

Navy Pilot

Nicholas Keoni Ogier, or as he is known to Company Officer's and SELs, Christian Tsukamoto, is one of the few midshipmen to have successfully completed a covert semester abroad with only a little more than his roommates even aware of his absence. While you might over look this mild mannered midshipmen as he enjoyed one of his many bar naps, you would be surprised to find that this multilingual parachute enthusiast has resided in more countries and lusted after more international flight attendants than a young James Bond. If Nick is able to amass flight hours as efficiently as he logged gaming hours he will attain his wings of gold during his first duty weekend in Pensacola. If it's alcoholic he'll drink it, if it's electronic he'll fix it, and we're sure that if it has wings he'll fly it. Good luck to an outstanding future naval aviator.

Anthony J. Posillico

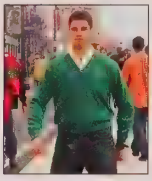
Surface Warfare Officer

Anthony "NHP" Posillico would make you an offer you can't refuse… if you're on the women's lacrosse team that is. This Thalassemic Italian was known for his spontaneous bouts of insomnia followed directly by uncontrollable narcolepsy. His energy and enthusiasm were surpassed only by his love of the physical mission. Unable to look left, he always did what was right. Even so, Po had many close calls during his time on the yard, to include close encounters of the third kind, the Spring 10:29, and Sloppopotamus. He will certainly be the best out of the three new ensigns checking onto his ship and great things await him in the fleet… but he'll probably sleep through them. KLB

Andrew W. Price

Navy Pilot

Where do I begin with Andrew? Is it the countless hours of phone calls and video chats with his girlfriend Emily or the daily NARP naps that he takes? Born and raised in rough streets of St. Louis Missouri, he is a devoted Cardinals fan (and yes, he is still upset about Pujols leaving) that loves to do various outdoor activities such as rock climbing, hiking, mountain biking, camping and the occasional flying on the weekends through the trusty transportation of his beloved snowflake. Andrew's time at the Naval Academy has been one of learning and development. Often referred to by many as the "young grasshopper", "padawon" or "3P" he has been guided under the protective wings of his roommates to make him the exceptional young man that he is today. His family, friends and of course his beagle, Spike, are extremely proud of his accomplishments throughout his time at the Naval Academy and wish all the best for him as he prepares for his career as a future naval aviator.



John R. Richey

Navy Pilot

John "F." Richey is the frappiest Mid and squash player to ever walk the halls of Bancroft. Of course being frappy is defined as the careful combination of being fratty but also preppy at the same time, and he pulls it off with class. When he's not being a poster child for Patagonia clothing, he can be found in Halsey with a straight left hand crushing the squash ball. Acme, Fado's, and the den of evil Pussers are his stomping grounds, but when he's out in his Flyers jersey you may know him by "Blain." For relaxation Blain likes to take long breaks in Steerage, "Industrialize" on his favorite computer game and talk to his "baby girl/future wife" Emily on vid chat. Soon enough John will be piloting through the skies and soaking up the rays in P-Cola. He promises not to forget the little guys when he becomes big time. God Bless.

Daniel A. Robertson

USMC Pilot

MIDN 1/C Daniel A. Robertson can often be found out on the battlefield toting around his unbelievably superior paintball guns or being doted upon by the El Toro Bravo's waitstaff. Although he is a light drinker, he frequents DTA and is often seen being hit on by multiple townies. He will always be remembered for his kindness, respect for authority, and his knowledge earned by searching Liveleak.com frequently. He has service selected Marine Corps Aviation and will dominate the battlefield due to his ability to be the best at everything.

James C. Russell

USMC Ground

Congratulations to MIDN 4/C Julia Caesar (JC) Russell, who has miraculously recovered from injuries sustained from slipping on the dock at Hubbard Hall to graduate USNA with distinction. As tyrant of the lightweight crew team, he once erged a 30 minute piece in only 29 minutes. In what little free time he has not listening to his teammates whine, JC enjoys erging, TV shows, erging, reading comic books, and erging. The Marine Corps is fortunate to have a superhero joining its ranks—"SuperPlebe" has proven impervious to both kryptonite and morning tours (though Krispy Kreme donuts have proved to be a weakness). For any woman forced to marry this man, don't expect the guy in the $4,000 suit to explain any of these inside jokes to you—Come on!

Ryan E. Schmidt

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Stewart M. Simpson

Submarines

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Joseph A. Stark

Submarines

His Holiness, Joseph Anthony Stark, second in line to the seat at the right hand of the Father, fearless leader of the backstrokers, and hearthrob of USNA Class of 2013. When his hair was swo bwonde as a pwebe, Joey was the leader of a few excellent adventures to local institutions where we encountered local celebrities such as Pinapple Pete and an aspiring entrepreneur named, "Boots." He was drafted 3rd in the 2012 Navy Men's Swimming Submarine Service Draft and is looking forward to many more years of doing Justin Vagts' homework for him. He never let his love for swimming interfere with his goals as a midshipman, always making sure to get a few extra yards in on his own dime. Make sure to keep a lookout for Joseph as he goes on to do great things…but please don't touch.

Kenneth J. Taylor

Navy Pilot

Kenneth "Kj" Taylor has left his mark on his classmates as well as the rest of 23rd company. Hailing from the hard knock streets of Sarasota, Florida. As a history major Kj could be seen "working hard" playing his Grand theft auto games. These games potentially provided Kj with his first flight experience before getting his wings at Pensacola. Kj can always be found on the weekends having a good time with friends downtown at his favorite bar, Castle Bay. Kj has come a long way in his academy career, from having to crutch backwards during plebe summer. Here is wishing you the best of luck in the future, you will do great things as long as you don't sit in the cockpit backwards.

Christian K. Tsukamoto

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Daniel J. Whitsett

Navy Pilot

Danny Whitsett had a deep love of upperclass on the team, unfortunately he rowed like them. His chest is as big as his jokes are bad. Anchor to the boathouse, he couldn't leave even to propose. A true pleasure to row behind, an inspiration to all. Brotherhood.

Ryan K. Wilkins

USMC Pilot

"Little Boy" Ryan Wilkins hailing from his humble abode in the world famous Palmdale, California aka home of Afroman. By being from the desert he has an unusual affinity for his jeep "Big Red" causing some to speculate about the nature of the relationship. But when it comes to the weekend this "ladies man" with his signature SoCal smooth style and his meticulously groomed "flow" has a jaw dropping ability to woo all the flashy females of DTA. Ryan often spends his free time composing lengthy letters to his unrequited Spanish love or filling his room with ZZZZZ's during his daily afternoon siestas. In his little academic endeavors "Oceanography" Ryan wonders at the beauty of coral reefs and the exotic fish that call them home. Congrats on your achievement thus far. You are probably one of the nicest guys around; keep brightening other people's days with your overall positive attitude and good outlook on life. Best of luck to you the Marines will be proud to call you one of their own! Rah!

Cameron P. Woods

USMC Ground

Although he really wanted to attend the French Naval Academy and spend his summers traveling around Europe, Cameron Woods decided to attend USNA instead and spend his summers going to leatherneck and training plebes. A part of the first class to graduate under the expert tutelage of Morabito, Cameron spent most of his time as a Naval Architect-in-training making excellent computer drawings and the occasional cat noise. Cameron has always been an excellent friend and a devoted individual. Never one to take sides between friends, he could be said to "fly the Swiss flag" in any argument. His friendliness and dedication to doing well will make him an excellent Marine Corps officer.

Katherine A. Young

Surface Warfare Officer

"Hey Beth, uhhhh I mean Kathy!" First out of the womb, first to USNA, but you bet your bottom dollar that Kathy is late to class every day. And if she's not late, she's asleep before the teacher has something to say. You can count on her positivity and her awful jokes, but if you join her on a run, try to keep up slow pokes. Kathy's really good at tongue twisters, just don't have her say "Real World Road Rules Challenge" mister. She's got a great personality, which goes well with Jay's long hair don't care mentality. Don't worry, California will have coffee too, and who's going to the USS Essex…you! We will love you until your boobs start to sag, because #WAWG.

Class of 2014

Mark Atkins

Andrew Beeler

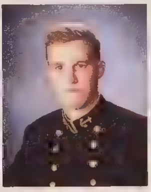
Stephan Bristow

Jacqueline Chimiak

Mario Colon

William Cortez

Alexis Cowing

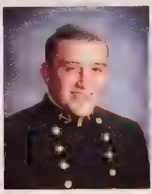


Eric Davids

Robert Davis

Aaron Dougherty

Jared Edwards



Casey Escamilla

Kevin Flaherty

Ryan Fowler

Joseph Gallagher

Obakai Grandisson

Kennan Healy

Daniel Hibert

David Matasic

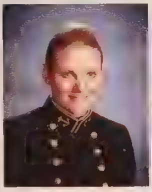
Sean McDonald

Christopher Pagan

Gregory Poser

Michael Raffels

Allison Reitmayer



Marisa Roberts

Sean Rynning

Justin Shelton

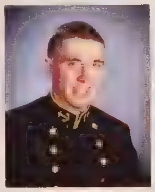
Michael Troncoso

Valerie Tucciarone

Justin Versteeg

Igor Vladimirov

Ellie Webster



Benjamin Zeiss

Class of 2015

David Alexander

Devon Budzitowski

Christopher Chiles

Paul Cooper

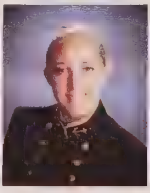
Kyle Davis

Joshua Ehrhardt

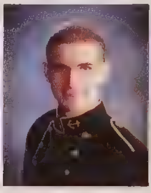
Ryan Eilerman

Brett Enlow

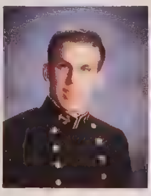
Ian Farquharson



Emma Ferris



Jeremiah Fulton

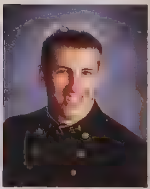


Ryan Gall

Emelie Gidley

Gavyn Gonzales

Jack Hinderland



Brandon Hudson

John Jensen

James Kennington

Tyler Kent

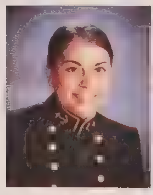
Mohamed Khochtali

Nathan Killea

Paul Lee

Anthony Lewis

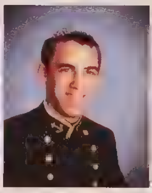
Thomas Louisville



Sarah Martella

James Maxwell

Brittany Medina



Sean O'brien

Jordan Riley

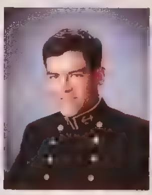
Perla Rodriguez

Wilson Rydalch

Ian Sharbel

Robert Sheldon

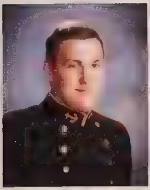
Liam Ubiera



Christopher Whippo

Conor White

Class of 2016



Robert Amick

Jose Benitez

Blake Benjamin

Marius Bernotas

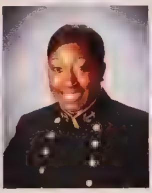
Roy Billodeau

Jordan Boyland

Ellen Bradford

Robert Cannon

Christen Carpenter



Sedarria Crawford

Santiago Depacopriess

Stephen Dibartolomeo

Taylor Gilliam

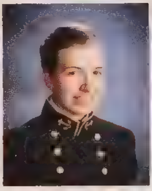
Hannah Hayes

Alexander Heille

Christian Herrmann

John Hintze

Sherwood Johnston

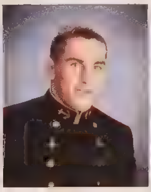


Alison Kennedy

Andrew Lewaniak

Zoe Macfarlane

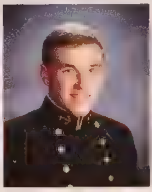
Patrick Mahar



Daniel McCaffrey

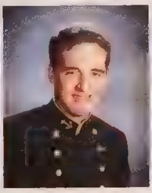
Omar Messallam

Joshua Moore

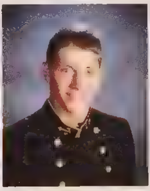


John Morgenthaler

Bo Peng



Steven Pique



Andrew Potts

Benjamin Radeff

Megan Reutzel

Christopher Rizman

Jordan Sartorfrancis

Stephen Schroeder

Alexandria Segovia

Michael Short

John Tortorici

Blaine Wicklund

24

Company

24

Justin D. Bush

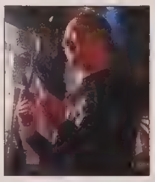
USMC Ground

Hailing from Melvin, MI (don't bother looking it up, Google Maps hasn't found it yet) this future Marine has successfully set 2 records here at USNA: least amount of hours slept per night and most times forgetting something after leaving his room. That being said, this happy guy can always be seen walking with his head bouncing to and fro, never forgetting to say a friendly hello to every person he makes eye contact with. Wherever he goes, reason follows. As in, sometimes it took a little while for reason to catch up. I mean, I know it SEEMED like a great idea to get up at 0530 and work on Chinese, but, you know, Zzzzz…staying in bed is lame anyway. All that aside, you'd be hard-pressed to find a more loyal and trustworthy friend. Justin never did fear giving someone the business for something stupid they just did, but I've never seen someone stick his neck out for as many people as he did. So much of what he did was for someone else — and he never complained about it. In fact, he was always happy to help out both friends and total strangers. A more forgiving person you'll never meet, Justin is always willing to see the good side of anyone (dude, he's a 'good guy')-earning him the respect and admiration of everyone who knew him. So here's to you buddy — be you and you'll go far, devil dog!

Prentice A. Christian III

Surface Warfare Officer

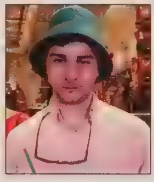
One of the happiest individuals you can find around 24th company area. Lives and dies for family & The Brotherhood. Just like the rest of his teammates, he'll bleed the blue and gold til' the end. Mr. Prentice Christian got many of us through NAPS, Plebe Summer, and school in general through his amazing outlook on life that I for one will never forget. I'll give him a 9/10 on the roommate ranking...always kept the fridge full of Gatorade & made sure I was up for class...always had the blinds open at 90 degrees and gave the room a solid sweep before he left. I'm going to miss how he played his music while I was trying to study...when I felt like studying (GROUP3MAJORS4LIFE). Gonna miss you man...serve your country well. ~"Sirrr GOOOO Navyyy Siirrrherrrrr!"



David N. Colon

Navy Pilot

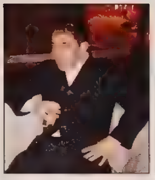
David Colon, came into the naval academy from a military family, he spent his childhood traveling the world in conjunction with his father's military duties. He has always wanted to proudly serve his country and fit right in at the Academy, his quiet, careful and friendly demeanor served him well as he is respected by all of his classmates. Known in the annals of mother-B and the streets of Stribling as Lil 'D, he wakes up every morning to the one hit wonder by Young Buck: Shorty Wanna Ride. His renown as a lady killer is unmatched at the Naval Academy, he spent many hours web chatting with many young eligible ladies and many more days cruising the rough streets of Fredricksburg with his best friend Cassie riding shotgun in the big green P-Wagon. His unhealthy obsession with the 2nd Amendment is where most of his second class loan was spent and is only matched by the mexican drug cartels. Those of us who consider him a good friend know he has a smiling (albeit rare) and odd personality, he will be a perfect fit for Naval Aviation where he is sure to become a successful officer. He is a great friend and one of the best people I have met.



Timothy D. Copare

Surface Warfare Officer

Midshipman Copare truly started off his career with a bang...and never stopped. There is little question that his diverse interests have always been a soft spot of his. As a young, aspiring naval officer, Midshipman Copare christened his entire company as a Rockstar. After starting his career as the most sought out man in town, Tim settled down only to find that the true Italian Stallion within could not be contained. He was born to be a breeder. It is no secret that the man enjoys a good ol' night out on the town and everyone loves him for it. Just ask the Acme waitress who was tipped $200 for filling up a beer tube with Blue Moon. After visiting the Eiffel Tower over summer cruise, he has been bound to the SWO community ever since. He will truly lead from the rear.

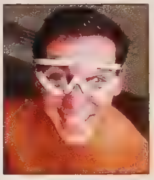


Timothy J. Craddock

Navy Pilot

Midshipman 3/C Timothy Han Li Sho Jinoo Craddock was born Han Li Sho to peasant farmers in the western Chinese valley of Li Doo in 1990 (actual date unknown due to lack of records). When his parents were murdered around 1992 he was giving into the care of Shaolin monks of the Shaotai Monastery and trained in the temples of the Tibetan Plateau. He was given the title, "Jinoo," otherwise known as "First Lotus Blossom" or, in English "The Chosen One," after completion of his studies and a dedication to a life of service in America. At the academy MIDN Craddock evolved from a typical marching band, drum-line video gamer into a proud member of the, "I rep over 400 pounds for my squat" club. His 22nd birthday is still remembered as one of the best NYC outings in Midshipmen history. A proud Falcon's fan and accomplished snowboarder, he can be truthfully be proclaimed a 'Really cool dude', even after Plebe Summer detail. His sense of humor and wit endeared him to everyone he met and his inability to feel stress was truly superhuman. His friendliness, compassion, humor, love of life, and quadriceps made him one of the best friends a person could ever ask for. His personality will carry him far into the future as he pursues a career as the first ever Asian country music singer.

Bryce R. Dabbs



Supply Corps

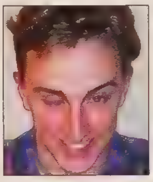
After spending a year behind bars as an inmate of Ripley Hall, Bryce Dabbs was released on parole to attend the United States Naval Academy. A highly touted lacrosse player out of Good Counsel, Bryce came to the Naval Academy already friends with everyone. After being tied down plebe year with a long time girlfriend, #5 did a right to right and finished it off with a little behind the back poke to the back of the net. Needless to say, it turned into a low key kick back chill sesh. Last seen by 24th company on the 2/C Ring Dance board, he has always made an effort to be involved in the Hall. Rumor has it he even thought about going to a formation one time! A superb athlete who was able to take an academic sabbatical his youngster year, Bryce was able to focus on an internship at Facebook. He also worked part time at Acme. Bryce Dabbs will always be remembered as a charmer. His steel blue eyes and jacked legs always helped him get him to the top of the Aptitude rankings as a veteran MIR.

Cody S. Dickson

USMC Pilot

Cody "Steve" Dickson is a jack-of-all trades. He spends his free time scuba diving, fighting on the Jujitsu team, and working out. In a fight, he is the guy you want on your side. This gentleman loves his whiskey and will not hesitate to share it with you! After graduation, he will be joining the elite yut-yut Marine Corps where he will show Tom Cruise how to be a real pilot. See you on the other side—HIATT!

Matthew R. Disher



Submarines

Matt Disher was THE prince of Annapolis. He never did miss an opportunity to get in the spotlight, volunteering for things that didn't exist. It is no surprise that with his family legacy to uphold, Matt managed to have a flawless record here at the academy but can't say that for others. You could usually find him in his room crying about how he fell in love and could never find the right girl for him. Matt stayed away from alcohol and could usually be found running around downtown with his friends, most notably in his local hangout, Pussers. He always did have a problem locating the nearest restroom. Everyone knew that Matt was the responsible and sensible member of the group that could get them back safely.

Arielle L. Dyer

USMC Ground

It's a bird, it's a plane, nope its just Arielle dominating her full twisting basket. She might stand at five foot nothing, but don't let this spunky cheerleader fool you. Going Marine Corps, she is guided by her love of Jesus and she lives her life to the fullest. She can often be found breezing her way through the dolphin chemistry major, or out lifting the boys in Wesley Brown. Her power lifting skills have paid off giving her a strong shoulder for her friends to cry on and when Arielle smiles you can't help but smile too; her joy is contagious and her ability to support people around her truly reflects her love for her classmates.

Miles C. Eaglowski

USMC Ground

Anticipation was high at the Naval Academy in the summer of 2009 for the arrival of the Sea Cadet of the Year and his membership in the 24th Company. MIDN Eaglowski did not disappoint. After his initial experiences in Russia with the KGB were swept under the table by Naval Intelligence and the admissions department he proudly joined the Brigade. He became the first Marine Corps selectee in Naval Academy history (probably) to earn his YP qualification pin and YP Command Star, both of which will be proudly displayed on his Blue Dress Alphas. In a never-ending pursuit of getting huge, MIDN Eaglowski was never counted amongst the petty and sad unswollen masses and remained faithful to the plebe summer words of Theodore Brosevelt which we all memorized, "It is not the unswollen who counts; not the man who points out, 'DYEL?' or where the squatter of squats could've been lower." Truly though, MIDN Eaglowski was a great friend and an outstanding Midshipman, a natural peer leader who is sure to excel in his Marine Corps career and with whom I share many fond memories of Istanbul adventures and nights in DTA.

Anthony W. Emberger

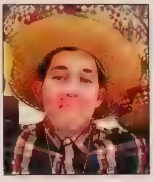
USMC Ground

Open any Abercrombie and Fitch magazine and you'll see men who want to be Tony Emberger. Watch any Olympic event and you'll see athletes who wish they were Tony Emberger. Watch any model on the runway in New York and you'll see women who wish they dated Tony Emberger. From toe shoes to cleanliness, muffins in the morning to power naps every afternoon, snowboarding all winter and the infamous longbow (+4 STR +4 STAM), Tony Emberger defines manliness. Oh, and has the all natural God-given six pack been mentioned? Tony's contributions to the Naval Academy include the Class of 2016 Plebe Summer horror (with drill competition championship), poker nights at the Fleet, a home away from home in Fredericksburg for half the company, and teaching half a dozen of his friends to snowboard. Tony's desire for excellence in every aspect of life, friendliness, and incredible loyalty made him the most unique and lovable friend any of us could ask for. We could not be prouder to count him among the ranks of, "A Few Good Men."His dedication to helping others improve their lives and drive for perfection will surely lead to a long and successful life, both in the Marine Corps and after.

Eric E. Engelbrecht

Naval Flight Officer

After a year of diligent studying and good citizenship at South Carolina, Eric entered the Naval Academy to pursue his dream of becoming a pilot. While he always worked his hardest to achieve his full potential academically and physically, Eric spent his weekends exploring the vibrant culture of the tri-city area. No one had crazier adventures or more comical mishaps than Eric as he met new people and tried new things. He even dabbled in experimental art, for which he was unfairly chastised by the uninitiated and banned for life from two of the slimiest bars in Annapolis. Through it all Eric never gave up his dream of flying, and will join many of his classmates in Pensacola to continue their adventurous ways.



Christopher R. Gallardo

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Nothing can stop a Mexican gorilla from California. He spent most of his Firstie year sober due to some exotic virus he picked up during his escapades growing up in Tijuana. Chris really hit his peak during his time at the Academy. Whether it was with a girl who stole his books or a certain Hellfish who stole his heart, Chris made sure to do it all. He was always the best roommate and made sure his roommate's bed was always occupied. Chris was always courteous; he made sure to keep the noise level down when his roommates were sleeping. Gorillas are lovers of all species and Chris was no exception. He went to great lengths to maintain the health of his beloved pet, the anteater. Even before his service selection we knew Chris was a special boy. Go and diffuse those bombs, shipmate, and protect this country that still hasn't given you a green card.

Ryan T. Hagelin

Surface Warfare Officer

Ryan Hagglesawce Hagelin had a vice, it was indulging in life's simple pleasures: reading a good book, hanging out with friends, soothing that relentless sweet tooth, and running ultra marathons. It was clear from the beginning that R Dawg Sizzle Sawce was not one to back down from an opportunity. Starting small with glee club and recycling corporal, Ry Dog eagerly began his journey for power. Rising through the ranks as training corporal, training sergeant, PMO, and capping it off with Company Commander, this future SWO Daddy demonstrated his tenacious work ethic and desire to serve others. This fun-loving economics major was a great roommate, cherished friend, and loyal Buffalo Bills fan. He will be a great asset to any future command lucky enough to get him.

Christian H. Heller

USMC Ground

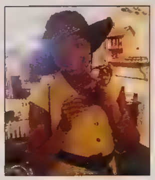
It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Laura C. Hill

Navy Pilot

Raised in a small town in Alabama, Laura has never given up on her Auburn Tigers, a solid fan through Championships and scandal. Cam Newton's jersey sets the backdrop on her corkboard for all other pictures and Navy memorabilia. She clung to the crazy idea that concrete can float, then actually made it into a boat and paddled around. Amazing things these engineers can do! Ever a lover of the outdoors, she enjoys long walks in the woods, and driving down winding roads. She's so down to earth that if you look hard enough, you can find dust on her knees and tree leaves reflect in her green eyes. No better friend, no worse person to talk to before 0800.

Jenne G. Jolie



Navy Pilot

There she is! Her bright smile and infectious laughter always puts a smile on your face. Jenné AKA princess is a beautiful person inside and out. She is kind and very funny (not sure if that's on purpose or an accident). No matter the inconvenience, she'll go out of her way to lend a helping hand. She's amazing to talk to and gives the best advice! Her honesty and kind spirit makes her easy to approach. Whatever the deadline…she pushes it, but always comes through! She is one people can count on to get things done whenever you're in a bind. Jenné is the sweetest tough skinned girl that I have met, and I am so glad that God put her in my life. She is 100% child of God and 100% dedicated. She's a hard worker who sets goals and pushes to complete them.Whether it was sprinting for the track team, singing with the gospel choir, praising the Lord with her bible study group, or studying abroad in China; she participated in almost every ECA! Her genuine personality and tenacious spirit are refreshing and inspirational. I don't think my time here at the Academy would have been as memorable if I didn't have a friend like Jenné. I know she will be successful and continue to set a great example. With the Lord as her guide, I have no doubt that she will be an awesome Navy Pilot.

Jacob T. Juriga

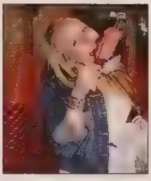
Nuclear Surface Warfare

The purest example of how civilians can graduate from the Naval Academy, Jake is one of 24th Company's finest. His friends know it wasn't his brains, or being a recruited linebacker for football that got him accepted to Annapolis. Rather, the credit is owed to his impressive, short-stunted, modeling career. We were fortunate to land Jake after the fashion world struggled with his retirement from the industry. Jake brought his famed "blue steel" pose all the way down to Annapolis…and into Pussers. Who'd of thought he'd be the first in company to meet a college sweet heart there….on the dance floor, right before closing, and impressively not a townie. In all seriousness, Jake stands as one of the most charismatic, hard-working, and best friends to have met and had at USNA. We look forward to hearing about the incredible things he will do in the Navy and beyond. He'll prove to all of us that "there's more to life, other than being really, really, ridiculously good looking….."

Daniel Kim

Submarines

Internet sensationalist, Daniel Kim, is best known by the combination of his bright pink bra, wild hip movements, and cheesy smile during the Lady Gaga Telephone rendition plebe year. After over 83,000 views on YouTube, his internet career was over when the video was fit as unbecoming of a Naval Officer and had to be put on a private setting. He then decided to make his debut on national television at the 2011 Army-Navy game. His inflatable dragon-riding skills were displayed in front of over thousands of viewers as he cheered Navy on to its billionth victory over Army. Self-deemed as hailed gymnast Yang Wei's look-alike, his Ring Dance board featured the world's coolest Asian selfie. You can ask him about that one. On the flip side, when he wasn't a celebrity or busy getting his 4.0's, his undercover character Daniel "Donkey Kong" Kim was always sure to save the day—he was always known as that dependable friend you could count on, whether it be through homework help or simply just to talk about life. He is among the most accomplished yet humble people I know, and his walk with God is inspirational. He allowed the academy experience to teach him to come out of his shell, and it will always be a privilege to get to know him more. The Submarine community will never know what hit them—unless, of course they witnessed his early years of media renditions.



Hannah M. Legler

Navy Pilot

With the most beautiful screech that could shatter your eardrums, Hannah Legler does not pass by unnoticed. She is a loud and proud Texan who you always hear before you see and will mow you down with words if you happen to cross her path. People scatter at the sound of her voice because her high pitch somehow resonates at the proper frequency to kill brain cells. If you do manage to develop a resistance to her vocalized weapon, you will find that she is one of the funniest and sweetest people you have ever met. I have had some of my best laughs with her, and she will go out of her ways to help a friend. I see her going very far in both her career and life, and she is one to definitely stay in touch with as a life long friend.

Erica A. Leinmiller

Submarines

Like all midshipmen, Erica came to the Naval Academy to pursue the finest traditions of art, music, philosophy, and creative writing. Her zeal for the humanities led her to the natural service selection of Nuclear Engineering and submarines (where she'll be the only member of the crew who doesn't need to duck. Ever.) She demanded only the highest levels of athletic and physical competition from herself with arguably the most difficult sport at the academy: sailing. Erica's smile and charm were lost on no one; she always saw the best in people and could lend a word or action for any cause. Her love of everything southern, Sinatra, the great outdoors, and Annapolis coffee shops endeared her to the hearts of her classmates. When faced with any challenge in the future, her unwavering optimism and loving dedication to others will surely see her through. Erica was the world's greatest roommate and will always remain one of my greatest friends. <3

Derek S. Lovely

USMC Ground

MIDN Derek Lovely, Esquire, the 5th. What a man. Handsome. Charming. Great sense of humor. All American Powerlifter. Since Derek arrived from Houston on I-Day his smile and wit have brought sunshine to the cloudy Naval Academy skies. Our fondest memories include drinking for the first time together, Buttercup and Snowflake preparing to train future generations of plebes, and countless hours in the weightroom. Half way through youngster year he was awarded an unlimited sleep-in card used to the fullest over the next two and a half years. His performance at the Naval Academy shall surely carry him to become an above average officer. His best trait was his deadlift and his most memorable quote, "What do you mean I have to put on pants today?"

Ashley M. Mannix

Surface Warfare Officer

Catch her if you can! 1/C Mannix is always on the run whether she is running a 50K or running to catch you so she can say hello. To add to her many talents of organizing, knitting, and showing off her beautiful smile, Ashley is an amazing sister, roommate, and friend. She oozes of confidence, beauty, and compassion for others. Don't distract her with a cute puppy or she might just go running after it! The Surface Warfare community is so blessed to have you chica. Keep changing lives and spreading your contagious zest for life!

Austin A. Miller

USMC Ground

After a year at NAPS, Austin majored in Quantitative Economics and walked onto the Lacrosse team. Balancing his studies, sport, and social life masterfully, Austin always knew how to have a good time, inside the hall and out. Whether it was the Turkey Bowl (four time MVP), a Friday night hang out, breaking arms and crushing dreams on the lacrosse field, or just relaxing on his green and white loveseat Austin always had something to add. Although he enjoyed the single life for most of his first two years, number ten eventually found love in San Diego and settled down. While service selection had been something of a question mark for Austin, after nearly killing someone at Leatherneck he "heard" the call firsty year and signed up for the corps. We all look forward to hearing about his successes at TBS and beyond.

Ryan T. Monagle

SEALs

The red headed one, the epitome of "the ginge." One could argue he came out of the womb organizing anything he could get his hands on. His first toy was a Post-It, followed by the 4 color pen. Post-It Notes are his life; I swear I've seen one as a reminder to remind himself to look at his reminders. His desk so organized that he doesn't miss a thing, even when his roommates try to mess around with his stuff (he notices). His constant obsession with his caloric intake adds to his model physique. Ryan crushes anything that is put in front of him, whether it his mother's famous Monkeybread or any sort of PT (as intense PT usually accompanies his binge eating). His attention to detail is unmatched as is his loyalty to friends. He will truly make an outstanding leader in the NSW community and it has been a privilege knowing him. Although our near futures will force separation, when I want to visit Ryan in the future, all I need to look for is his bobbing red head and listen for, "Ding Ding, welcome to port!…"

Benjamin P. O'Neill

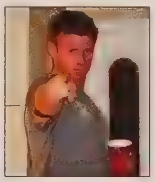
Navy Pilot

At first glance, Benjamin Patrick O'Neill is light-hearted and easy-going. Beneath his likable nature is a true American with a deep sense of service, unwavering loyalty to the values he holds dear, and relentless passion for flying and for anything that moves fast. Give Ben a job, and he will do it right; put him in a room, he will bring out the laughs; and turn to him for help, and he will put down anything for a brother. As he flies into the sunset and into his future, all who know him are confident that our Navy will be forever better for his service.

Ryan J. Pangborn

Naval Flight Officer

Ryan known as the kid we hung around because he was Josh's brother. When we were first introduced to Ryan he was busy petting a cat. He takes pride in his taste of Baileys. Loves to spend his money to support needy families (he is cheap). Brings a whole new meaning to "the wheels on the bus go round and round." Was found wandering around 1st wing eating left over lobster tail. His girlfriend is a Patriot cheerleader. He is not a fan of Tom Brady. Culp and Wynn know he can take a punch. Ask him, Temi, Thor, Duodu, Josh or Culp about the night before the Army Navy game..none of them could tell you. He is known to lie to tell you what you want to hear in order to convince you to do what he thinks best. May be the only Midshipman to acquire third degree burns over spring break without touching anything. Ryan was smooth and respectful during the company dining out....the tours that followed proved it.



William B. Parker

SEALs

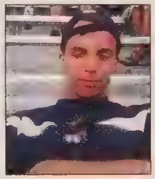
A Joe fo' sho,' Will demands a high level of performance from himself. All the way from the College Park trips and "Sunday Funday!!!" Will Parker, a.k.a. Willy P, a.k.a. Parkour, a.k.a, yobgaf, made it through the Academy with incredible success. The great weight-cutting memories, practices, and games, Sprint Football and the brotherhood made him into the man he is today. If you hear the bass in the club drop, Will isn't far off. The ground shakes when Will drops it low, and he's not afraid to admit it. You may have noticed an extreme amount of swag walking down Stribling and into the classroom. Ignore the Bieber and Glee songs coming from the room, Will is in the zone. He's captured the hearts of the women around him, but still remains a 2 percenter. He'll have fun running off his signature feature on the beaches of Coronado and make a great addition to the NSW community.

Josue L. Ramos-Calvario

Surface Warfare Officer

Hailing from "el rancho" of Chula Vista, Josué "el cabezon" Luii Ramos Calvario Jacinto Cardenas Zepeda… Often mistaken for a foreign exchange student, this charro will never let you forget his origins. On a wintry day, you might find him curled up with a warm pancho and some menudo cooked with a hot plate. You may also discover that Ramos is not a champion ping-pong ball thrower, but the victors may be left wondering why the guy who played beer pong with tequila is the one helping you pee. Josué enjoys dancing with machetes, playing soccer, watching soccer, and if nothing else, playing FIFA. He aspires to greatness, like his idol, Vicente Fernandez, and on any given weekend you could find him performing at El Toro Bravo. With a rules of the road app downloaded on his phone, he is motivated and ready to join the Surface Warfare Community!

Joseph D. Rizzo



Surface Warfare Officer

Joseph Rizzo began his Naval Academy career as an aspiring Navy basketball player in the bitter cold tundra of Newport, Rhode Island. As a former Napster and lifelong Steelers fan, Joe stood out plebe year as a model midshipman and was even admired by the second class. From Dover Downs to Harrah's of Chester, Joe gallivanted across the Delaware Valley in search of a blackjack table worthy of his presence. A true neat freak, Joe once spent the night diligently cleaning the bathroom floor while his roommate slept and even came back to the hall after an Army Navy game to dust. As a future Surface Warfare officer and patent day trader, Joe looks forward to spending his time in drydock leaching off of free wifi at the local Starbucks and Chipotle, and maybe one day going to Spain. The city of Norfolk will never be the same once the man with his baby face on the family pasta sauce jars leaves his mark.

Daniel P. Roberts

Submarines

Daniel is most known for locking up Army week during our Plebe year by breaking his jaw during "carrier landings." You can always find him getting in heated debates about sports, politics, school, and just about anything that warrants two sides to an issue. However, he used this love for arguing to help him win many debates with the Naval Academy Ethics Team where there have been confirmed accounts of him drinking from trophies similar to Lil Jon's pimp cup following competitions. He also spent many nights scrambling to solve problems on that God-awful green colored engineering paper, struggling to find solutions to problems us non-engineers will never understand, as he crunched numbers into a calculator where magic popped out numerical values. Additionally, he spent a large amount of time helping out different classmates with academics, legal advice, investment ideas, and a range of other things. Although he has lost most of the hair on his head throughout his four years at the academy, we can only hope he does not lose the rest as he spends the next five or more years of his life swimming alongside sharks, in the deepest depths of the sea, maneuvering in a 6000 ton underwater radioactive tank known as a Submarine. Although one of his roommates would join the brotherhood of the Marine Corps in May of 2013, Daniel will always BELIEVE that the only real Corps is the Reactor Corps! Daniel will always be remembered for his dry humor, glass jaw, and bald head. We wish the best of luck to you in your future endeavors for you will be a great officer and leader. Semper Deep.

Matthew Shibata

USMC Ground

The story of Matt Shibata has been compared to that of Forest Gump or Ricky Bobby. There isn't enough space on the page to tell of his greatness, so a brief summary must do. Matt Shibata was born in a small tire swing in some place no one can pronounce but it's in Hawaii. He attended a school called Stalebread Academy until the age of 3. It was then that he was expelled for flinging apples at a teacher's head. For a brief period Matt Shibata was homeless until he found work at a factory, Holy Shirts and Pants. He finally heard the calling after numerous attempts, to come to the Naval Academy in which they proceed to send him to NAPS, because they weren't ready for his swag. After a year at NAPS Matt Shibata came to the Naval Academy in which he validated Plebe Summer. The years leading up to Matt's senior year aren't really important but he is a proud member of the class of 2013 in which he is slated to go Marine Ground with many of his classmates. The Navy Football Brotherhood took him under their wing and transformed him into the man he is today. Congratulations to Matt Shibata and future in the USMC. Keep your feet moving and your head down.

Parker D. Summers

Surface Warfare Officer

If you ever happen to run into Parker Summers, the look on his face may give you the impression that his life is filled with happiness and thoughts of peace on earth. Parker can often times be found lounging out reading a good book or thinking over the finer points of music, culture, and art. Need advice? Parker will be there to lend you a helping hand of encouragement and stories about how the sun will come out tomorrow… Not really. If you know Parker, you know the Old Man is not much for the fine arts and rainbows. This diehard Cowboys fan is one of the most dependable and stable people at the academy. He is always there to help a friend and gives his honest counsel when it is most needed. Parker is great friend that will be sorely missed by his family at USNA, but will do great things for the Surface Warfare community.

Justin W. Vagts

Submarines

Justin Vagts AKA the Honey Badger is a jack of all trades. He has achieved success in all avenues of life: naval architecture, varsity swimming, beer drinking, and taking full advantage of his 2nd amendment rights. He has fallen in the footsteps of his father and is taking his talents to the deep seas in the submarine warfare community. He is a loyal friend and will always be known by his most famous phrase, "are you gonna eat that."

Corey A. Ware

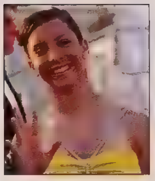
USMC Ground

The first word that comes to mind when describing Corey Ware is: motivated. He came in on day one ready to bring his dream of becoming a Marine Corps officer into reality. He is commonly mislabeled as a prior because of his myriad of tattoos his skill in drill and dancing. His pristine uniforms and weekly high and tights make him a model for all midshipmen. Corey met the love of his life while a midshipman at USNA: Christina Ramirez. Like many midshipmen he did his time with 0530 tours and almost 2 months of restriction. Corey has been on the straight and narrow since then having been retained by the academic board three times; maintaining a 2.15 that would make John McCain proud! His accomplishments include being in the top 96% of the class of 2013, falling 10 demerits short of a black N, being the poorest midshipman at USNA because of his strange habit of buying designer underwear, shoes and car parts. All these accomplishments are unmatched to his survival of 3 semesters holding onto the edge of the pool in Lejeune--the only marine he could ever hate. Though he will miss the sleep deprivation of the Naval Academy, his loyalty, honor and character make all of us who know him best proud to call him friend and brother.

Benjamin C. Watson

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



Daphne Y. Williams

USMC Ground

Don't be fooled by the warm smile and affable personality—behind that smile, future USMC Officer Daphne Williams has already mapped a hundred different ways to throw you into a triple suplex shoulder-snapping omplata. However, show no sign of fear or weakness and you can fully enjoy the friendship that Daphne has to offer—which is invariably an exciting adventure, considering that Daphne led and organized the Naval Academy's Leadership Conference for 2013, practices ju-jitsu regularly, runs triathlons just for giggles, and can out-lift your average beta-male gym goer on any given chest day (which is every day right Daphne?). When she isn't breaking hearts or shoulders, you can find Daphne indulging in her only weakness—small, soft puppies. Whether you need a friend for the gym, the bars, or any other of life's adventures, Daphne is the go-to lady.

John M. Williamson

Medical Corps

Groomed from birth to be successful, John was able to adapt to the rigors of the plebe summer easily due to his many years in boarding school. Aspiring to be a doctor because of the critically acclaimed television show House, John spent many of his free weekends youngster year shadowing students at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. It was there that John first became acquainted with the conduct system and restriction. John learned many valuable lessons while at the Academy, but none more integral to his life than how to love. After a passionate YP cruise, John met his current girlfriend who brought focus to his life and reigned in his wild side, allowing John to secure a prestigious med corps service selection. John's hard work and determination will surely see him become a successful naval officer.

Conn P. Wiseman

USMC Ground

Conn, "Connor P. Wiseman" hails from Woodbury Heights Dirty Jersey where he learned his famous skill of arguing over anything and everything to the point of no return. As a stellar MIDSHIPMAN Conn enjoyed upchucking over balconies, phantom fictional punches, strange mature trips to the homeland MOTHER RUSSIA, throwing blenders at roommates, and getting apprehended for being in possession of red cups. He also managed to find a nice girlfriend who somehow manages to put up with his shenanigans on a regular basis. Conn will excel in the MARINE CORPS and do big things in the civilian world.

Symone Woody

Naval Flight Officer

What's that screaming you hear in the halls…it's Symone Woody! Despite her cool and collective demeanor, Symone has an energy and a passion for life no other. She's silly, caring, and kind. From Varsity basketball to ice hockey, she has played a variety of sports in the brigade. However, her adventures don't stop there from Spiderman and Superman to any other cartoons, Symone is a well versed expert. She is a genuine and open person, and the definition of "real."I've enjoyed being her roommate over the years, and I can't wait to see her rock it out in the felt as a Navy NFO.

Ashley C. Zanetti

Naval Flight Officer

Ashley, a native "New Yawka," exemplifies the qualities of an officer with her death glare and impeccable bearing. The screeching and howling sound her roommate makes has not fazed Ashley for the past 3-4 years. She is always able to complete her work and get her studies done while owning at Nintendo 64. Ashley is a very friendly person, well known by all with good friends in all classes from '11 down to '14. Most of Ashley's romantic interests did not turn out well for the other; most have had to deal with high interest rates on their loans. Ashley can drink men into the ground while up keeping her femininity. She is a cool party animal who can speak with a stellar British accent only by the pool bar and slightly inebriated. Time for her to tear it up in P-cola!

Class of 2014

Gilesa Allison

Ryder Ashcraft

Jordan Bennett

Thomas Brown

Cara Buckley

Grant Buckley

Meghan Connor

Marcelo Davila

Connor Davis

Joel Elenbaas

Hunter Gaskins

Jared Griffin

Justin Haan

Rachael Honrath

Christian Horr

Jose Iglesias

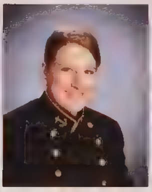
Bahaa Joudieh

Donald Lafleur

David Lorio

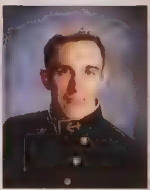
Christopher Masters

Patrick McAllister



Kelsey McCullough

Samuel Oatjudge



James Petersen

Krishnan Rajagopalan

Arthur Schexnaydre

Trevor Shafran

Haley Sobrero

Patrick Sopko

Julie Stabile

Ivan Subialdea

Roscoe Thomas

Cody West

Brian Williams

Paul Winston

John Yoon

Class of 2015

Owen Ball

Kawika Barabin

Langley Barth

Tabitha Brown

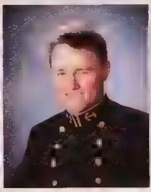
Alexandra Cassel

Alexander Clements

Joshua Devera

Christopher Dunlap

Brendan Fay



Patrick Finley

Samuel Fitzmaurice

Anna Funkhauser

Joseph Gardner

Carson Goldman

Kevin Grier

Brian Harrington

William Hegarty

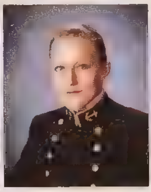
Joseph Hernandez

Christopher Joseph

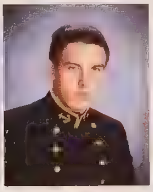
John Kameen

Johnathan Ladouce

John Martenstein



Kricket Masters



Patrick McDonald

Joshua Meister

Whitney Morey

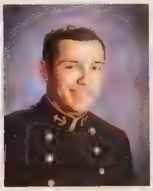
Angela Nordstrom

Logan Oliver

Ryan Poblete

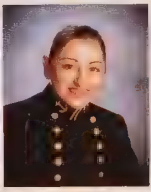
Paul Quessenberry

Michael Richline



Zachary Teeny

Xisen Tian



Andrea Tinajero

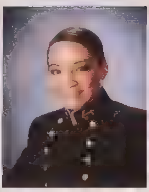
Nicolas Towers

Colton Vanthof

Adam Vetere

Class of 2016

Jonathan Barrau



Diana Cabarle

Jennifer Chavez

Kayla Coleman

Ethan Dalton

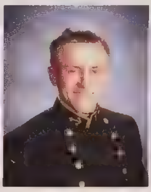
Erik Derecktor

Lonnie Fields

Cassandra Fisbeck

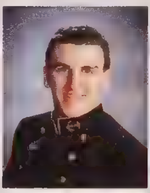
Tyler Gehr

Alexander Gibson



Devan Grigsby

Austin Grow



Charles Hannah

Zachary Hester

Andrew Kim

Hunter Lampp

Teodoro Ledesma

Sung Bok Lee

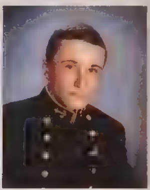
Patrick Lien

Warren Markowsky

Noah Martin

Kirk Mason

Nathaniel McLauchlan



Timothy Metzger

Zachary Oravec

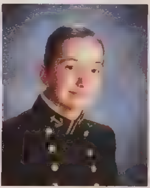
Aldrin Racelis

David Reisner

Elizabeth Rodes

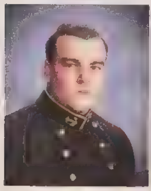
Emily Saitta

Maximiliano Salcedo



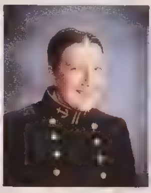
Allison Shafer

Frederick Simpson



Trevor Smyth

Kate Sylakowski



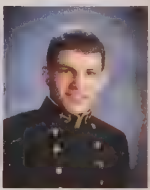
Catherine Thompson

Rylan Tuohy

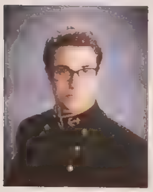
Eric Vannote

Elizabeth Warner

Thomas Wheeler



Thomas Wilson



Aaron Zimmerman

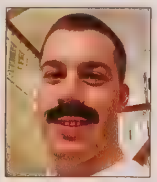
Company

25

Sean J. Alexander

USMC Ground

I am Sean Alexander. I can bench more than you. I am better known as Doober. Sometimes, you may see me being addressed as King Doobs. I earned the crown of King because I lived a very majestic and a "PPD" life before I came to the Academy (and I am the King of all doobers, but that's not important). That is also why I speak a very intellectually superior and high level of English even during normal conversations. I can bench more than you. Girls, of the immense category, have come easy to me. Something about my charm, or desperation, really gets them "eating my face." I am most proud to be serving in the USMC. I could not see myself in an environment anything less than "RAH!!" Sorry, that comes out occasionally. I only started caring about standards once I selected Marines. Otherwise, it wouldn't be uncommon to see me in the streets of Georgetown with a missing SDB jacket, no tie and maybe even a missing shoe. It all seemed unimportant until service selection. Wait till the USMC gets a load of me. I'll show them that good ole' King Doobs can be a great USMC officer and leader! I can bench more than you. All jokes aside, good luck Sean, you're the shit and a great roommate. I hope I see a star or two, years from now. Godspeed and good luck!



Christopher W. Arndt

Navy Pilot

Throughout his time at the Academy, Chris enjoyed basking in hour long showers, often utilizing enough water to attract the attention of United Nations watchdogs who expressed concern over the depletion of some small African countries water supplies. A staunch disciple of John Coltrane, and an adherent to that small group of individuals who enjoy wearing the unsightly footwear known as CROCS, Chris was never afraid to be himself. Pity the poor fellow who insulted Boston in his presence - Chris is fiercely loyal to his hometown, often launching into quotes from 'The Departed' just to reassure us of his authentic Boston accent. Amazingly, Chris is rarely wrong when it comes to nearly any subject ("I like that in a pilot"), and he can wow just about anyone with his encyclopedic knowledge of nearly every aircraft dating back to the Wright Flyer. A fine roommate for the last three years, it is with great pleasure that we hand him off to his newest roommate, Gretchen - call sign "Wifey."

Matthew H. Brewer

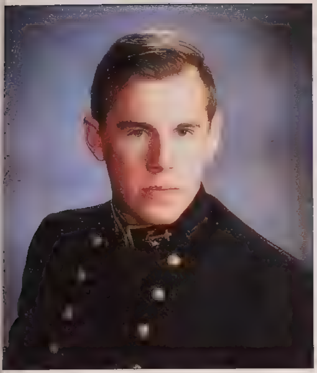
USMC Ground

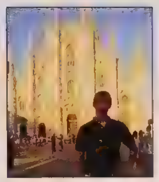
Matthew Hamilton Brewer, more formally known as "BREW DAWG", "BREW-HA!", "BREWER!", or "[insert grunt noise here]", if not found in his room, is most likely underneath the house that he is squatting…and by the way, that's just his warm-up set. Possessing both the strength and intellect of a pure-bred American Ox, Matt is more commonly known for his eloquence and mastery of the American language. Since day 1, Matt has always maintained the highest military standards in all aspects of midshipmen life. The dude's like him for what's on the outside, such as his great pecs, but the ladies like him for what's on the inside, such as his bikini-style underwear(whether the underwear is clean or dirty, now that's another story). If Matt were to give you a dream snapshot of him in 10 years, that dream would look a lot like Arnold Schwarzenegger. A 4-year stud on the Varsity Football team, Matt Brewer has inflicted pain on more opposing ball carriers than books he has read…or papers he has written…or hours spent in Nimitz. Matt will take his genuine personality, unprecedented work ethic, and boyish good looks with him into the United States Marine Corps where he will, without a doubt, excel. Ladies, you think you can tame this beast… but you can't.

Colin M. Bruton

SEALs

Before you start reading, imagine "Two Weeks" by All the Remains playing in the background. That was Colin "Crutons" Bruton's walk up song and he wouldn't have it any other way. There wasn't a day that went by where you wouldn't find Colin wearing his favorite Combat Arms Team shirt with a pinch of Copenhagen Wintergreen in his lip. If he wasn't studying hard for his academic courses, he was roaming 6-4, developing friendships with all the other Bearsharks in company. One of Colin's greatest memories as a Midshipman was the Seal Screener. When he came back for his first break, his roommate and best friend for life wrapped him in a heated blanket until Colin fell asleep in his arms. Even though Colin grew up wanting to be a submariner, it was that moment that he knew he was born to be a Navy SEAL. Call sign to follow.



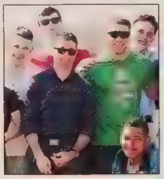


Jake V. Bryant

Navy Pilot

Actually pronounced Jake VON Bryant, he was born in the quiet, subtle suburbs of Long Island and has since jet-setted across the globe. During Plebe Summer 2k09, 4/C Bryant was a standout among his Bearshark brethren; yet, due to an ankle injury he was forced to take command of the gimp squad. The Cuddler took his distressed roommate under his wing, and his generosity became legend. Jake recovered well and quickly became an individual in a sea of conformists. The pursuit of quality product was afoot. Frustrated with the insular thinking of the Brigade, Jake set a course for Deutschland, and while he may have received plenty from Russia with love, we don't know if he's ever truly come back. No matter what region of the world he's planning to take on next, Jake will always be a free thinker, up to explore the unknown, and there for his friends. He's sure to reach for the skies in everything he does, and if he doesn't get there he'll buy you a martini to celebrate what could of been. Fair winds and following seas…..Brother.

Alexander A. Chatman



USMC Pilot

Alex "Red Panda, Halfrican, 'Chatman', (stream of expletives)" Chatman. Handy with a screwdriver and a hammer, some women just can't be fixed. A proud member of the comma club, his membership in the Shadow Government proved essential however we were still skeptical whether he would make it to graduation. Although never able to win, he was always up for an argument. He was as bad at video games as he was at lifting. A mean, green Marine from the day he was born, Alex will proudly carry on his father's legacy in the Corps. Any Marine squadron will benefit from his energy and crazy sense of humor. Semper Fly Gangstalicious!

Thomas D. Corbett

USMC Pilot

Thomas "David" Corbett may be unassuming at first glance with his lanky 6'3" frame, undistinguishing facial features, and typical Midshipmen haircut; however, there is more than meets the eye. Whether he's fighting fires in Texas or starting them in the hearts of young women, this Texas native loves a good time. He can relate to almost anyone who watches TV because he has officially seen everyone TV show aired in the past 2 decades. His affinity for movies and TV dramas doesn't stop this young buck in his never-ending pursuit for that special someone. He can be found many a weekend nights "suiting up" with his friends in search for her in the streets of downtown Annapolis. He has even perfected the talent of the mouth trumpet; a mating call said to be irresistible to all who hear it. When he's not trying to strum the heartstrings of young ladies, he's strumming his guitar and rocking in his room. Loved by all and hated by none, Dave will be missed as we transition to the next stage of our lives; the Marine Corps has gained a good one.

Ciardi E. Glenn

Belize Defense Force

What can be said about Ciardi "Seaco, Elvis, Baby Face" Glenn? Both a lover and a fighter, Ciardi can tell anything about you just by looking into your eyes. A card carrying member of the Shadow Government, he changed phone numbers just as often as he changed girlfriends. (Coincidence? We think not!) Ciardi's deep concern for the welfare of the plebes was always appreciated by his friends, not so much by the plebes. After four years of intimate diplomatic relations, we look forward to the day when the U.S invades Belize and we get to see his sunny disposition again. You better BELIZE it!

Shubeg S. Grewal

Naval Flight Officer

When MIDN Grewal arrived at the Naval Academy, he already towered over his classmates, having spent 3 years in the Navy as a nuke. Plebe summer passed easily for Shubeg, he was the darling of every detailer's eye for his impeccable sense of military bearing. As the years progressed, he never lost sight of the important things, sporting his BCG's everywhere. His friends know they can count on his moral courage in any situation, whether on spring break in Nassau or the streets around the George Washington University. Pumpkin IN THE FACE. Shubeg takes his academics very seriously, so much so that he goes to sleep well before TAPS every night. He seems to always know if Websense is down. His wingman skills are famous in 25th Company, he has "buzzed the tower" on many occasions just to help a friend. His tenacity, drive and physical prowess will serve him well as a Naval Aviator. We are all confident that he will make his friends, family and country very proud.

Hilleri N. Groves

Naval Flight Officer

Hill dawg is the best friend anyone could ask for. Her laugh is contagious, or ear piercing (depending on the situation), and her smile radiates her inner beauty. Don't let that fool you, He-ro-chan has a sassy side and if you are straight trippin', triflin', or rachet... She will let you know. She uses her talents for good, whether surprising you with a hand-made card on your desk just because it's Tuesday, transforming a thrift shop find into a Pinterest masterpiece, or baking cookies so you have a reason to talk to a boy you think is cute ;). Whether hanging out at the G's, getting jiggy with it in DTA, or having a special bonding moment in the Atlanta airport, Grovsie is the perfect person to turn your Will So frown upside down. While at the academy Hill has embraced both sides of her family. She traveled to Japan and joined the gospel choir. Hilleri is a dedicated follower of Jesus, a bible study leader and a friend to many. Hilleri will be the best NFO that the fleet could ever hope for, and she'll proudly wear wings of gold, so long as her call sign isn't "koala". We love you!

William R. Gureck

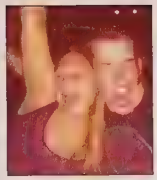
Navy Pilot

The saltiest of wrinkly old men, Bill "The Mayor" Gureck ventured to the Academy through the illustrious five year process. Though many of his fellow NAPS '09 classmates fell on the road to graduation, IT3 Gureck kept his head (and rather large nose) above water through shear determination and stubbornness. After four years of befriending nearly every member of the Class of 2013, it's a rare occurrence to be within thirty yards of someone who doesn't know and love him. A junky for jets and anything involving flight, Bill's vast knowledge of computers, networks, and the ways of the Gallente people, will probably make him a natural in whatever cockpit he steps into. Cheers to you and your new bride, now go forth and multiply!

Duncan A. Hall

Naval Flight Officer

Duncan Hall is a proud resident of Kennesaw, GA, and is always eager to display his southern pride despite his French-Canadien blood and birthplace of Boca Raton, FL. Not many people knew what to think of Duncan when they first met him, aside from having some unorthodox uses for Tabasco and always doing "what his father taught him". Duncan is a perennial nice guy, and unfortunately he has yet to reap the karma. Whether it's getting stuck with some obscure watch or being assigned the worst chemistry professor three times, Duncan always takes his bad luck in stride, knowing it's just a matter of time before he wins the lotto and lands a hot wife. Duncan is a man of exquisite tastes, and is forever in search of "good quality products" in every sense. Travel is one of Duncan's greatest passions, although we're not sure if it's because of the food or the women. Why not both? We can't think of anyone we would rather have sitting behind us at Mach 1.2, and I'm sure anyone he meets in the fleet or the real-world will feel the same. No matter which hand life deals him, we're sure that Duncan will succeed with his best foot forward.



Charlotte K. Hauser

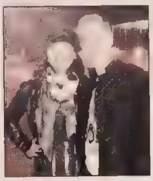
Navy Pilot

From the first day we met HAAAUUUUUUS, she was always full of surprises — from falling out of her rack on training day one, to seducing our detailers with every whisper of sweet nothings, to picking fights in the p-way with her New York attitude. As a varsity LAX bro, Char Char's presence is sporadic, but when we do see her, there is never a dull moment. Whether she's droppin' it like it's hot (workin' the forty inches), or becoming your immediate best friend (showering you with wanted and unwanted love), she's someone you can trust (to give you good gossip) and a shoulder to cry on (when she's not crying on you). In her free time, Mama Haus enjoys hittin' the slopes, stashing Chic-Fil-A for Sunday, and flaunting her "so in" fashion sense by stompin' the yard with her Timbalands. She lives up to such catch phrases as, "Poli-sci and Fly!" and "Once you go black, you never go back." Charizard lives for the thrill of zoomin' through the air, so best of luck hangin' with the Top Guns. May the odds be ever in your favor. Much Love, The Midgets

Joseph M. Hussey

Submarines

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



Alexander W. Kane

Surface Warfare Officer

Originally from San Diego, Alex "HBIC" Kane will be returning 5 years later with his commission. After an exciting year at NAPS, he joined the ranks of the Brigade. He took the stage in the musicals at school. As a youngster on Saturday nights you could always find Alex at Pussers in his SDBs. In later years, he became a solid presence in College Park and a standard at the Fleet. He was always planning the next big adventure for the weekend. Alex always found time to care for his friends and will be a great asset in the Surface Warfare Community.

Kolton T. Kempel

USMC Ground

Kolton "Farm Boy" Kempel is best described as a man of the people. By people I mainly mean the ladies. When he's not busy meeting beautiful women on Facebook he can found eating food cooked for him by beautiful women he's met on Facebook. Don't let his ridiculous (and scientifically impossible) success with the ladies fool you; Kolton will drop anything to help a buddy in need. Kolton's "Great White Buffalo" came along at the exact same time as the tragic Red Sox Cap Incident of 2011. Your efforts will never be forgotten. Kolton is a whirling vortex of talent and many people feel inferior in his company. In all likelihood the man is faster, stronger, smarter, better looking, nerdier, classier, and a much better pool player than you will ever be. Kolton enjoys tractor pulls and video games and can often be found telling someone about cows whether they wanted to know about them or not. In the end we're all just glad he let us hang out with him for four years. The Marines are lucky to have him.

Daniel J. Kindervater

Submarines

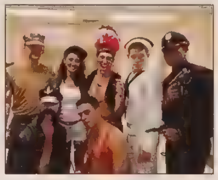
Daniel "LT Dan, The man, Sassy B*tch" Kindervater constantly aimed to impress women with his juggling prowess and widely envied social skills. A dedicated submariner from day one, he managed to dive his way into the Shadow Government where he holds honorary position .Dan passes time with flubber-esque inventions, video games and ultimate Frisbee. We look forward to not hearing about the missions we never do off the coast of North Korea. Semper Deep!

Christine J. Layug

Naval Flight Officer

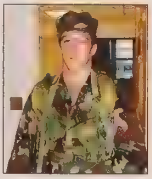
Joy Layug (pronounced LAH-yoog. Get it right or she'll freak out!) hails from the "freezing" 60-degree coast of Oceanside, CA. She is probably the only math major in the history of the Academy that calls every building on the Yard by its full name. If she's not in Chester Nimitz or at daily Mass, this 1/3 Bearshark, 1/3 Mustang, 1/3 Spartan can be found FOCUSing in the Rotunda, leading a Catholic Daughters meeting or watching Downton Abbey. Her ability to make a killer cup of SWO-drink will surely be missed in the surface fleet but the NFO community is in for a treat! Her deep-rooted faith, professionalism and dedication will serve her well no matter where life takes her. Not only will she be a great wingman in the skies, she will always be a great wingman to her friends and family. Best wishes and clear skies!

Anthony E. Matacotta



USMC Pilot

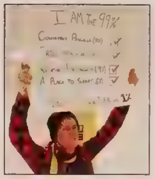
Anthony "Tony, H.A., Anaconda, Hayuna" Matacotta. Dis B*tch…regaled us with his 'succesful past exploits' with no confirming evidence to support his claims, yet we still suspect there might be a mini Matacotta out there. He became a founding member of the Shadow Government when he was unwillingly dragged into the conduct system. His insatiable urges culminated in a successful 'Houdini' in front of a full audience. Born in the land that God forgot, he was destined to become a leader of Marines. His aggressively philosophical approach to leadership will greatly benefit any squadron fortunate to have him. Semper Fly Thugnificent!



Chase A. McLean

USMC Ground

When 4/C Chase "Caveman" Lean first arrived at the Naval Academy in the humid summer of 2009, his classmates knew he was a special boy. He quickly established a reputation for the highest standards of personal hygiene and mental acuity. Around the hall Chase always found time for his favorite activities, which include long scenic runs and casual laps and lower body days in MacD. A stellar midshipman academically, he struggled to choose between cruising around in his fire-red Mustang convertible on the weekends or remaining in the hall to stay abreast of his studies. Chase's eating habits are among the most interesting in the Brigade. Who knew tuna fish, ketchup, peanut butter, salad, Texas Pete, cheese, and milk went well together? His classmates know that he will succeed as a Marine Corps officer, most likely as a PAO. OORAH CHASE!!!



Michael L. Newton

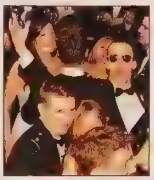
Surface Warfare Officer

If you need a new taste in music or a recommendation for the right brand of skinny jeans, Michael has you covered. His utter devotion to everything that you've never heard of is legendary among the company, and possibly the Brigade. Whether or not you like it, you soon will become well-acquainted with a new dub-step-banjo-whiny-voice song every week until you can hear it in your sleep. And it would seem that those around him are better-cultured for it. Aside from that though, Michael brought a healthy dose of SWOtivation to an otherwise obscenely-aviator-centric room. Talk of living in Japan and doing an absurd number of MO boards and charts reminded those around him specifically why they didn't go SWO. In addition to jumping on that grenade though, Michael takes care of his shipmates and never hesitates when one is in need. Anyone who simply understands Michael will greatly appreciate his presence and energy. Enjoy the SWO life, bud and you TAKE that con.

John B. Rauch

USMC Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.



Michael C. Raynes

Submarines

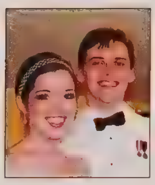
The infamous Michael Raynes... His love for a good brew is surpassed only by 70s muscle cars and ridiculous 80s clothing. Just a few minutes of talking to Mike, you would never guess he finished at the top of his class. A submariner through and through, I feel sorry for the crew that'll have to live in a tiny metal tube with this devil dolphin. A true master of DTA, he would say the crowning achievement of his academy career was completing the Ram's Head beer card. No doubt this Bearshark had an impact on everyone's time here whether they liked it or not. If climbing 3000ft cliffs doesn't kill him, he'll definitely suffocate under the 100s of collections of crap he's managed to acquire over the years. Putting all the craziness aside, it's been an absolute blast being this man's roommate for four years. We're gonna miss you RayneMan.

Matthew B. Richmond

Surface Warfare Officer

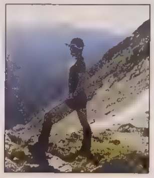
Hailing from the town of Kalamazoo, Michigan is Matthew B. Richmond. Commonly referred to as the Commandant of Midshipman, this cat was infamous for getting caught eating cheetos during plebe summer while "cleaning" for a room inspection. "IT WAS JUST ONE CHEETO SIR!" Naturally, Richmond currently holds the record for most debt owed to one company's wardroom store. Rumor has it that the company dining out was funded by Richmond alone.. Tennis is the man's game, although he enjoys other sports such as stealing friend's dip and sprinting to class when he's late. In any event, there is no other midshipman who has the same outlook on life as Matt Richmond. He'll bring a loyal, warm hearted asset to his next command and will truly be missed by the company. Good luck in Japan buddy, we'll see you when you make O-6 and come back to be the Commandant.

Colin K. Rockefeller



Naval Flight Officer

Colin "Scoliosis, Bird bones, Rocky face, Kendrick, 1%" Rockefeller. What can be said about Colin that Forbes hasn't already covered? A native of the "Southern" state of Arkansas, he occupied his time with chocolates, video games and attempting to make his facts sound believable. We distinctly remember the times Rockefeller exhibited the athletic prowess he still claims today. The anonymous financial backbone of the Shadow Government (sshh…) and an avid herbivore, we hoped for his command over an infantry platoon however neither the Navy nor Marine Corps could afford his death. As the Shadow Governments' perpetually sober chauffer, he was always happy to watch us make a fool of ourselves and then get us home safely. Any pilot would be more than lucky to have Colin in the back seat. Fly Navy!



Raymond K. Seese

USMC Ground

What can be said of Raymond, Ray-Ray, Keith, Red Panda, Seese? Though catching jungle fever late in his academy career, Sheila was still pretty torn up when Raymond found his African Princess. The jury is still out on whether Ray is on our side after his trip to Oman, but he does spend an awful lot of time on that Arabic homework. When not inciting a jihad, Ray can be found skiing or rock climbing. Well-loved by his classmates, Ray is a strong athlete who will make one hell of a Marine. Semper Fi!

Patrick Slack

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

William J. So

Navy Pilot

She's four months pregnant! He stabbed the bouncer at Pussers? They hooked up in the wardroom! Every Midshipmen rumor has an origin… But the most absurd of all start in room 6421! Will So has propagated more hilarious lies than FOX News! Will is the Brigade's dark ninja. If he isn't busy slandering innocent friends with a new rumor, he's sneaking embarrassing pictures of them! No one is safe and you never see it coming! He simply emerges from the fog with his iphone at his hip click then he disappears again with enough evidence to enslave you. The man loves eating pho almost as much as he enjoys hazing plebes in the hallway. A collective gasp (and one terrified whimper) was heard on deck as the newest Plebe victims read their names on his squad roster. He takes this training thing very seriously, maybe he will even spoon them once they Commission as Officers. But above all, Will has a tremendous heart and powerful sense of humor. He has called many study sessions that end in clicking through the Chive and eating chips and salsa. He is always there to brighten even the darkest Academy winter with the hilarious, straight face sarcasm of a true Midshipman. We proudly wave below as Will soars away in the aviation community with the thrill and dedication that has made his Academy career so successful.

Francheska E. Soto

USMC Ground

Franklin, whether she's catching the attention of black men in a corvette in VA beach, or catching the attention of angry firsties on Stribling after the fabled PCR Exam of 2013, she stays true to her roots. Fran the Man is a sassy little senorita from the little island of Puerto Rico. She has made leaps and bounds from the crutching four eyed plebe who crushed on her squad leader and failed her pro board. Now, Frank the Tank is a beautiful glasses-free brigade training officer who plans to destroy the same plebes she used to be like. Word on Stribling is that the little Consuela look-alike actually took the out-of-company position so that she could continue to frat with her male counterparts. Cheska can take shots with the best of 'em, and will not let the fact that she's half the size of her drinking buddies get in her way, even if it means ending the night in her favorite 6th wing basement bathroom stall. Always up for a good time, this future devil dog enjoys hiking, camping, cliff jumping and general adventuring. Whether she only does five, or makes the Marine Corps a career, she will always remember, "Mission first, people always." Best of luck, baby girl. 'Merica! Love you always, The Roommates

Lora C. Thomerson

USMC Ground

Possessing a voice rich with command authority known to make certain people cry, Courtney never let anyone forget that she was from Kentucky/the South/a better place than you are from. Like a foraging bear, she often made excursions to various company rooms in search of food (most especially french fries), after which she'd happily saunter back to her room to watch old-timey movies for hours on end. Courtney found her calling as the leader of the elite women's rugby team, a hobby that afforded her the opportunity to grow tougher and stronger than probably half of the male population. We'll always fondly remember her infamous pass at Kind Doobs. Wherever the Marines send her, we'll definitely feel safer knowing that she's there.

James A. Turner

USMC Pilot

CCCUUULLLVVVEERRR! As prior military, James "Tripp, Pooh Bear, Tummus, Cookies" Turner had slightly different roots than the rest of us. Over endowed with leadership, Tripp had quite the commanding presence over his peers. When Tripp was not at Jujitsu practice, he was asleep anywhere but in his rack. A proud member of the 2% club and a founding member of the Shadow Government, as well as the Shadow Government's spiritual adviser, Tripp was always a good wingman up until the third beer. Not sure what he learnt in Oman, we can only hope his loyalty still lies with the U.S. The Marine Corps and his future endeavors will benefit from his moral compass and exceptional work ethic. Semper Fly!

Aaron Van Driessche

Surface Warfare Officer

What an adventure it's been rooming with a man who's worn so many different uniforms! We first met Aaron during Plebe Summer when he wore the uniform of a Plebe warrior! For weeks he endured push ups with a closed fist and clenched jaw, too defiant to see Medical for the ripped tendons torn from his wrist bone. This was the truest testament to his character and it earned the respect of each of us. Haha but that respect was immediately lost when we met Aaron again, this time wearing the uniform of "Jason," a shirt ripping and bra snapping bad boy on the MTV series Parental Control! Junior Year showed promise and he wore the uniform of the Company First Sergeant and Battalion Sergeant Major. He was the best we ever saw… Too damn bad he couldn't uphold his own class policy! That summer he returned home slipped on the uniform of a winning MMA fighter. I doubt he put "cage fighting" on his leave ORM! Alas! In this final year, Aaron stopped wearing uniforms altogether and transitioned into wearing no clothes at all! As an underwear model he schmoozed Paris Hilton and partied with super models in New York City clubs every weekend! We cannot wait to see Aaron put on the uniform of a Navy Officer next… he will be a great addition to the USS John McCain if he can keep his shirt on and wake up to his alarm! Besides being an honest friend, Aaron is an undeniable leader and charismatic visionary. We pray he uses these powers for good! I stand by the words of his NAPS Company Officer, "You will be the best or worst thing to happen to the Navy. Only time will tell which one it is."

Steven P. Kempa

USMC Pilot

Never has a saltier Sea Cadet graced the Naval Academy with his presence until Steven "King of Haddonfield" Kempa marched into Alumni Hall on July 1st, 2009. Whether it was correcting his detailers at calling cadence, loaning out his underwear to his best buddy, or knowing when to put it all on red, Kempa sang his way into everyone's hearts during his four years at the Academy. When he wasn't socializing with Danny DeVito and Bob "Baseketball" Costas, Kempa could be seen donning his favorite green…suit…and bringing a party even where there wasn't one. The Marine Corps better be ready for a great addition to its team, because this guy is ready to put his Jiu-Jitsu skills to work. To "The Man Formerly Known as Wildcard," let's drink to the good times!

Class of 2014

Kimberly Bernardy

Sharon Bong

Alfredo Bouchot

Aaron Brantley

Robert Brubaker

Brendan Casper

Nicole Castro

Jack Chang

Conner Dempsey

Patrick Durkin

Matthew Grimm

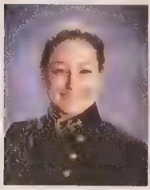
David Hall

Brynmor Hughes

Nathan Hughes

Christopher Johnson

Thomas Krysil



Kelly Maw

George McClymont

Pierce Niemiec

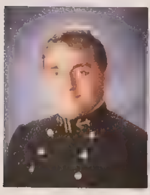
Scott O'brien

Gregory Oh

Blake Roper

Mark Santamaria

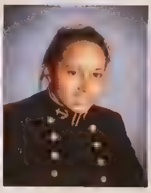
Bryan Schmidt



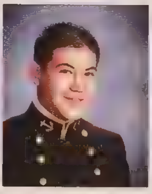
Skyler Schneider

Patrick Sokoloski

Jacob Spaulding



Brianna Valladares



Steven Wagner

Kris Ward

Eugene Yang

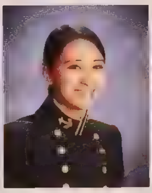
Jonathan Zurita

Class of 2015

Peter Adamowicz

Erik Bergstrom

Heather Bui



Felicia Crockett

James Cunningham

Thomas Delaney

Thomas Egger

Scott Galloway

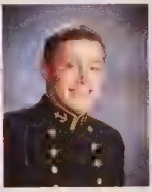
Evaristo Garza

Curtis Grafton

Joseph Greenspan

Benjamin Hagan

Austin Haynie



Steven Hefner

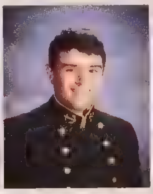
Collin Hinson

Jesse Holian

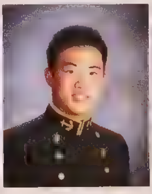
Jason Infante

Diana Jacinto

Jonathon Johnson



Jon Jones



Matthew Lee

Samuel Maddaus

Jonathan Makona

Brian McGrath

Spencer Michelson

Loren Moran

Joseph Otero

Kody Rhines

Vincenzo Rider

Jeffrey Sauers

Peter Severs

Worth Smith

Timothy Steinberg

Patrick Swain

Jabari Thomas

Zachary Watt

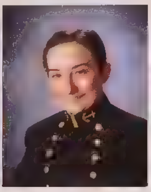
Brian White

Class of 2016

Shane Arena

Travis Beach

Samantha Billy

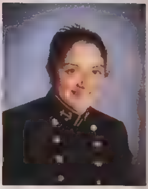


Helena Cheslack

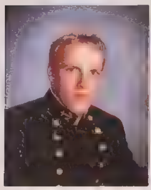
Kaylie Davidson

Cathryn Delong

Thomas Ernst



Nicole Fasolino



Aaron Fowler

William Fox

Gavin Fuller

Jonathan Furseth

Jules Godino

Peter Goutzounis

Alton Grayson

Rachel Griffin

Abigail Gross

Keian Hardy

Dillon Hartmann

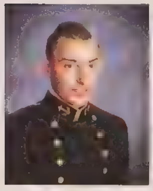
Ruben Hays

Sean Kamela

Joseph Kendrick

Joshua King

Christopher Lent



John Marino

Molly McNamara

Jude Merkel

Matthew Metzdorff

Thomas Moore

Ashley Paek

Cara Pastrana

Evan Phillips

Richard Ramos

Edward Robinson

Jay Stell

Tsungmin Tsai

David Wilson

James Yi

NAVY
N
NAVY
NAVAL ACADEMY
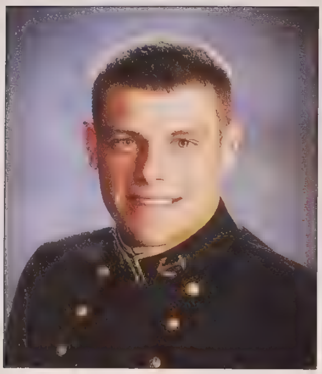
U.S.

Company
26

Angelo J. Briccetti

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Angelo Joseph Briccetti, born before the invention of color TV, began his illustrious career as an enlisted sailor. After finishing Basic Training he answered the call of the Nuclear Navy and reported to Charleston, South Carolina. After quickly realizing his talents were severely underutilized he decided to grace the United States Naval Academy with his presence. When the time came to choose majors he realized he wanted more than just the conventional course load and opted for the prestigious double major. His passion for his studies runs a close race with his passion for beer drinking. As a proud member of the Rams Head World Beer Club, Angelo does not take beer lightly. On weekends, he is most often seen at the Acme Bar and Grill, where he is a VIP member, enjoying his usual order of ten wings, cheesesteak eggrolls, and a beer tube. Regardless, Angelo plans to continue his journey in Cambridge where he hopes to get a Masters Degree in Nuclear Engineering. Goal-oriented, passionate, and driven; Angelo will be a fantastic Nuclear Surface Warfare Officer and will one day certainly become an influential leader in American society.



Kyle P. Burdick

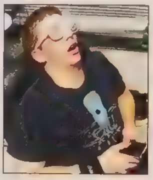
Navy Pilot

BEARDICK PUNCH! Cali boy through and through. What's the forecast? I'll wear sandals and shorts anyway…I am the best driver EVER. But seriously, wear your seatbelts. The rent-a-cop told me to come in here. The Ironman who prefers women workout videos. To the batcave! Those headphones are definitely noise-canceling. They call him the pirate of King Hall. Here's to Ireland!

Clayton K. Callander

Submarines

Clayton or more widely known by his nickname "Cal" is a Northern California boy at heart. His love for the outdoors is only surpassed by his love of boats and an good time with friends. Clayton is a hard worker and strives to succeed at everything he does, and he tries a lot of things. His more recent dreams include trying to para ski, which if you look it up is for crazy people. Cal represents everything good from Northern California and can be said to be classier than the Dos Equis man.



Christopher R. Campbell

Navy Intelligence

Christopher Ryan Campbell's biography can be found in the dictionary under the word "unlucky", "ill-fated", and/or "doomed". More commonly known as "Cams" or "Christo", his life changed greatly after that fateful day as a child when a black cat crossed his path, as he stepped on and broke a mirror, underneath a ladder, simultaneously opening an umbrella…in his living room. If the 4-leaf clover had an evil twin, people would refer to it as a "Chris Campbell". I think you get the point. However, you can also find his picture under the words "toughness", "perseverance", and "dependability". A 4-year member of the Varsity Baseball team, and one of the funniest people on the planet, they don't make better friends than Chris. Whether he is uncontrollably crapping his pants, or ranting about the latest addition to the "Why My Life as a Midshipmen is Miserable List", he is making people laugh, and at the same time, those people are looking up to him. In his free time, this future Intelligence Officer can be found taking a one of his patented "chair-naps", killing some zombs, or sipping on a healthy, non-alcoholic, carbonated beverage. No matter what, every obstacle that has been thrown his way, Chris has, and will continue to, overcome. Not even cancer can stop this guy…literally.

Michael V. Cristiano

Submarines

Mike Cristiano is Italian, and proud of it. Not a day goes by that people aren't reminded through his actions. In addition to being Italian he also has the ability to sleep anywhere and his ability to wake himself up from his snoring are unparalleled. He is the true master of napping. This gift is one that many try to emulate, but few succeed.

Timothy A. Denning

USMC Ground

With a square jaw, bulging biceps, and a 6'5 frame, Tim Denning was born to be a Marine. Blessed with gorgeous blond locks, he attracted a host of female admirers. They ranged from Midshipmen (of ALL classes) to local Annapolitan car wash employees. As a leader, Tim was mostly known for his love of drill and skill at motivational speeches. Tim Denning was an animal at all things physical. His skills ranged from crew, racquetball, dunking basketballs, and his one pull-up or push-up from maxing each of his PRTs or PFTs. His most obscure and impressive talent was his ability to eat everything in sight. King Hall will not miss him very much. His mornings and afternoons during the Ac year were filled with Crew practice in all kinds of weather, while his evenings were passed playing a faddish Facebook game that began with Fishville and Farmville as plebe, and culminated with Candy Crush as a Firstie, but on occasion he studied. Tim was very sincere and left a great impression on everyone he met. Tim will no doubt have a long and successful career in the Marine Corps as his genuine personality and likability make him a great leader and a great classmate. A dreamy body, that dream of course being Hitler's. Has a really big...truck. Going Marines, no surprise there. Is Captain Pitman still around? Brotherhood.

Alejandra Dorado

Navy Pilot

Over the years, Alex "Dorajoe" Dorado has proven many things. During her own plebe summer, she proved that her cleaning methods are anything but conventional when she pledged her floor with a coat thick enough to send her roommate surfing clear across the room and into the window. Even to this day, she manages to make the bright works dirtier than before she "cleaned" them. As a freshly signed 2/C, she proved she cannot drive or navigate to save her own life when she got lost just trying to leave the St John's parking garage. She has proven that strange and obnoxious noises are not just for small children, but for 22 year old aspiring Naval Officers as well. This foreigner is way too enthusiastic about video games and comics, and will forever be remembered as the upper class who signed up for a weekend every weekend but always stayed in and did homework. Most importantly however, she has proven to be an amazing friend, a reliable confidant, and will no doubt be an incredible Navy Pilot.

Jamal R. Dubey

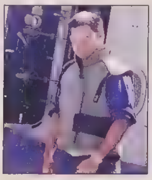
Surface Warfare Officer

Midshipman Dubey has distinguished himself as one of the most proficient members of the Brigade and his stellar order of merit reflects this fact. He endeared himself to the three classes that preceded his own, as exemplified by his public email response to a member of the class of 2011 about officer etiquette. Among his own classmates, specifically his blue teammates, he has earned a reputation for "spontaneous resourcefulness," to put it mildly. Dubious Dubey will miss countless friends, most notably his fellow AuPair club members, as well as the virile Parin and his roommate Harold, who was the subject of many a story. Mr. Dubey is also infamous for coining the term "sea warrior," and spreading it throughout the brigade. He will serve as a sea warrior in the Surface Warfare community upon graduation.

Kyle A. Elam

Submarines

Kyle Aspie Elam: the man, the myth, the legend. No words can describe the meticulous manner in which Kyle was able to spend an entire semester tinkering in the lab, somehow making it worth ten credits. Few men can master the rigors of the EE major, but Mr. Elam chose to make things twice as difficult and double major in Computer Engineering as well. Quite possibly the smartest person anyone has met, even fewer people share Kyle's heart for the Gospel and true community in Jesus Christ. No conversation with Kyle remains superficial, and the love of Christ simply pours forth as Kyle speaks with eternal significance. Never passing an opportunity to eat at Bella Italia or Taqueria Juquilita, there is no doubt that Kyle chose Submarines for the food…The Naval Academy has been blessed to have him these past four years, and the fleet eagerly awaits his arrival!



Jose A. Escobedo

Navy Pilot

José Alvaro Escobedo (pronounced Es-co-bee-dough) hails from Memphis, Tennessee. Jose had the unique ability to get high grades while doing practically no work. Jose earned his nickname "SWOsé" due to his fear of the color blue and because hatred of the open ocean. SWO-sé can usually be found slouched deep in his chair playing one of two games: NCAA 2013 or NBA 2K12. As company wardroom officer, SWO-sé's leadership style was epitomized by the phrase: "This is my tailgate!" Jose is always ready to help out his classmates and subsequently earned the respect of his peers. There is no doubt that Jose will make a great addition to the Naval Aviation community. He's a leader of men, he is my best friend- he is Jose Escobedo.

Carolyn A. Ewert

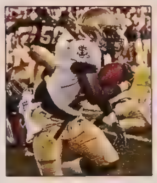
Surface Warfare Officer

Over 4 years Carolyn mastered the ideal mid life. She had a few hiccups here and there: getting turned away from plebe summer uniform fittings, and having to explain to a cop why there was beer in her car over ring dance weekend- but Carolyn's charming personality always helped her avoid getting in any sort of trouble. On any given day, you could find her sleeping or sitting at her desk watching TV and snacking on fruit from Whole Foods. No one really knows when she did her homework, but she somehow managed to get and it done and make it look neater than anyone else's in the brigade. You may spot Carolyn aka the "lion" sporting the soccer mom attire while attending the rugby games. She will be heading to Washington State to further her career as a SWO, not only does this state satisfy her recreational desires, she will not have to wear SPF100.

Ian K. Fisher

Navy Pilot

Ian Kevin Fisher, an Acme frequent flyer, started his journey to greatness in the great state of New York. Once accepted to the Naval Academy he dedicated his time and freedom to becoming a Mechanical Engineer. After battling between SAT and UNSAT grades for three years he earned a reprieve. During his firstie year he set out to make up the time the Naval Academy had claimed. He has been seen with the Mayor of Bancroft Hall, Mr. Alex Newsome, and his debonair roommate at the local watering hole almost every Sunday. Now he has set his sights on a new goal, to become a Navy Pilot. With his constant dedication and natural intelligence he has the ability to be one of the best pilots the Navy will ever see. There are many great times and adventures to come on his path to becoming the best Naval Aviator.



Alexander G. Greene

Surface Warfare Officer

"Never let someone's opinion define who you are"

Amanda N. Griffin

USMC Pilot

Amanda Griffin, a twenty-five year old, 7th year undergraduate student, retired tennis player, starving artist, prior California aspiring hipster, and future Marine Corps Pilot has finally made it to the conclusion, of what many would describe as: a long, long…long, road. There is no match to her quick wit and unusual expressions; she has a way with making people feel a little awkward. Also, if she ever jokingly makes a statement towards you, it is really her way of "trying" to be nice about something she doesn't particularly like; meaning she is giving you the opportunity to fix yourself. While she appears to be stoic and almost entirely desensitized to others' emotions, don't let her fool you, she cares just as much as the rest of us. And if you ask the girls she lives with, they will tell you that Amanda has a playful personality and beautiful soul.

Nicholas R. Huang

USMC Ground

Nicholas Huang's girlfriend is like his Ferrari, he doesn't have one... If it were up to him he would choose having cars over almost anything except his great friends and wonderful family.

Jan P. Ithier

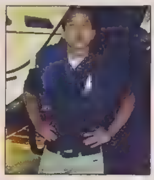
USMC Ground

Coming from an Army green family in Alexandria VA. Jan Paul was a rather unlikely candidate for the Naval Academy. He knew he was at the right Academy when a thirsty weekend at a tailgate landed him six extra months of chow calls and squaring corners. Never one to feel down he focused on the academic rigors of being a general science major and believed one's grades increased exponentially as a result of rack time, TV shows, and a few trips to Panama City FL. Jan Paul looks forward to a promising career in Marine Aviation where his lighthearted optimistic attitude will earn him many friends as he seems destined to become a General.

Anthony M. Johnson

USMC Ground

Anthony Johnson otherwise known as The Truth aka Polo Boi aka Crowncrux aka A-Mac is one of the hardest working Midshipmen on The Yard, though this may not be evident from his grades. This is shown through his long list of extracurricular activities. For example, Anthony is the leader and premiere artist in the Academy's most distinguished rap group, Polo Crew. Also, he's one of the founding members of the prestigious Bater Nation and represents the good guys in 26th Company by siding with the Blue Team. Most importantly is the fact that not only is Anthony a scientist (generally speaking), Anthony is always there to help a friend in need and has truly earned the title of dependable. Constantly there to lend a helping hand through thick and thin, Anthony is one of the best friends anyone could ever wish to have. In a world filled with hillas and pretenders, Anthony maintains a positive attitude and stays true to himself at all times by not letting the little things in life get him down. We wish him the best of luck in the Marine Corps and in everything he puts his mind to in life. As always, stay grindin' and keep it 100! Friends 'til the end!



Douglas Kang

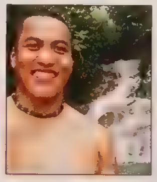
Surface Warfare Officer

Born and Raised in KoreaTown LA, Douglas Kang is one hard Asian to miss; standing tall at 5'9'' with his ego even taller. It's no surprise he is proud to be Korean and representing on the East Coast. If you can't find Doug on the weekends, he is most likely going out and causing terror in Annandale, "mac-ing" on the ladies at some bar. Best known for being a "home-wrecker," he really knows how to charm the ladies, sometimes too much… If you go out with this guy, you know there will be good Korean food and some entertainment…Ara knows all about it. If you don't know what Ara is…no not a girl, a bar, ask him. Douglas is all for fast food too, but he will walk through the drive through and tell Micky-D's what is up and how he likes his food. When Doug goes out, hilarity ensues. He was meant to be a SWO because he has SWAG, he was too cool for school, and showed it. The Navy is getting a valuable asset with Douglas Kang. They will know how to work hard and party even harder.

Jordan A. Kronshage

Submarines

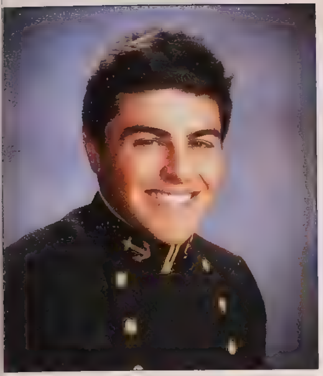
Hailing from the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, where paved roads are unheard of and people snowmobile to school in June, Jordan Kronshage, or "Krazy K," is quite the character. With her authentic wardrobe you would never guess was compiled from a range of America's thrift shops and with her quirky personality she brings a new meaning to individualism. No one will ever appreciate or utilize foamy ear plugs as much as she does; don't bother interacting with her while she is studying, her focus is resilient. While most midshipman take at least one hour naps, Jordan manages to survive each day with a 15 minute nap before track practice and an occasional chair nap in the evenings. This future Submariner's unique traits are going to make for some entertaining times underway for those lucky enough to join her.



Uziel B. Ladaw

USMC Ground

Uziel Ladaw is a man of many passions. If you need someone who can blow straight through a Crossfit workout with ease, then serenade someone with amazing guitar skills, and motivate the heck out of you while doing all of the above, you know that Uzzy is up for the challenge. Most admirably, Uzzy is a man of faith, and that shows in everything that he does. As a Marine Corps selectee, we know that Uzzy will be an effective leader and amazing friend who is on his way to great places!



Marcus A. Lamadrid

Surface Warfare Officer

Young Andre Marcus started his naval career off in the most unlikely of places, Hollywood. As a young child star he quickly rose to fame, starring in various hits seen on television screens around the nation. Sadly, like most child stars, Marcus fell from the spotlight and hit rock bottom. It was upon listening to the hit song "In the Navy" by the Village People for the first time that Marcus knew what he was truly destined to do. Since that fateful day, he has strived to become the greatest sea warrior the world has ever seen. From eating copious amounts of donuts to running a 13:30, Marcus will surely be an inspiration to all surface warfare officers. For more information on his acting career please visit: http://www.imdb.com/name/nm1399900/

Jeff D. Lentz

Navy Pilot

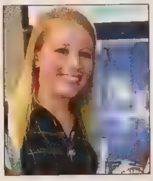
Jeffrey "Jeff" Donald Lentz is a man of few words, or at least few intelligible words. As brilliant and brainy as he is, it will take you 5-10 minutes to translate the almost incoherent gibberish emitted from his mouth. Some say that he is the founder of a whole new language, Jeffanese, which is of course named after him. This makes it all the more astounding when you hear Jeff rap along to his favorite Eminem song without missing a single word or beat. In all seriousness though, Jeff is a dependable friend with a problem solving ability he is always willing to utilize to help someone in need. Anytime you are in a tight spot, he is the one to go to, just make sure you bring a translator. Good luck in flight school and congrats on living the dream! :)

Paul F. Loeffler

USMC Ground

Paul Frank Earnest Loeffler (AKA Hulk) hails from the great city of Anacrime, California where he was bred by his mother Franchesca to be a midshipman. He is known as a hard working political science major. When he is not writing capstone papers the night before they are due or studying for Spanish presentations he can be found socializing in 7th wing gym, talking on webcam, or hanging out with the sprint football team. He is known around 26 company as a hard working individual and a friend to all. After 4 years of "hard work" he has earned a spot in the Marine Corps. Good luck in Quantico.

Allison G. Maher



USMC Ground

Allison Gail Maher, affectionately known as Gail Whale, known for her marathoning and delicious baking. A parallel symbolic of her life. The last "outstanding plebe chemist" (reference the plaque in Michelson!) and the standard for the new Marine Corps. She sets the bar high for recreational eating and drinking. A trained swords-woman, persistent in nature and dedicated to training -- 2 years later she's finally dating her plebe/second class crush. The Gail Whale: a role model, a ready ice cream partner, and a life long friend to everyone close to her.

Joshua J. Marziale

USMC Ground

Joshua Juhoe Marziale, is not the smartest nor the brightest individual, just one of the most hardworking. Born and raised, in Pennsylvania, he was one of the very few Asian minorities in his neighborhood. This helped him to develop his patience and "swag." People found it hard to believe that he was in fact part Italian and Irish. His anime character facial features (overly big smile and overly small eyes) did not help the cause. Today, he is well known as a person of integrity and of great compassion. He is as fearless and shameless as a man can get, as he is better known as "the Beast." Women can't look past his courage and are charmed by his philosophy of approaching them at full masts ahead. Falling backwards and forward (both literally and figuratively), he has climbed in and out of tough situations. The Marine Corps is lucky to have a future officer in line, ready to lead and to serve with a humble and loyal heart. The only problem they might run across is his flow, which he refuses to cut, claiming it as his own trademark.

Daniel R. McClellan

Navy Pilot

Coming from San Angelo or sometimes called the boonies of west Texas, Daniel learnt that the small things in life count! And by small things, Dan means triathlons. Even though his other hobbies include flying planes and his occasional solo Rubik's cube competitions, Dan mostly enjoys waking up early, working out, then sleeping the rest of the afternoon away.

Isaac R. Mello

Surface Warfare Officer

Coming from a patriotic family in somerset, MA, Mr. Mello has always valued selfless service. The mission of and the four years at the Naval Academy only further reinforced this conviction. He has battled in treacherous conditions and brutal landscapes in places such as Panama City Beach, FL and Puerto Rico. Oh what a warrior Mr. Mello is!! He has jumped on numerous grenades to save the lives of countless shipmates. Ironically Mr. Mello has always emerged uninjured and unfazed. Mr. Mello has also successfully helped the United States maintain a peaceful and friendly relationship with South Korea since the 2012 International Ball. With such diplomatic prowess it came as no surprise that various services fought over his commitment. Mr. Mello ultimately chose the Surface Warfare Community, in his words, "to truly serve the sons and daughters of America rather than bro out in P-cola and to further advance America's interest while on port visits."

Keegan P. Merkert

Submarines

Keegan Merkert AKA Big Cat, Meercat, Keegdog, Big Stupid has come a long way in his four years at USNA. Nobody has better time management than Keegan. Whether it's doing his own laundry or never needing to pull an all-nighter because of efficient study habits, he is a model midshipman. You will never catch this motivator late to class or taking a nap in the afternoon. How else would he have earned his PhD? If there's one weakness for Big Cat, it has to be the rain…or morning classess…or intramural attendance. Keegan does have the unique ability to rationalize any behavior into acceptable common practice: "But, Sir I would have been on time if it wasn't raining. Do you expect me to get wet? This might make my uniform even more 'scratchy.' They really should be made of silk." In addition to great rationalization skills, Meercat continues to be an example to others with his superior room cleanliness. His "blast radius" rarely exceeds the height of Chuck. Even with all of these skills, Keegan somehow manages to be an outstanding student and better friend. While laundry and time management may not be his strong suits, Keegan will surely excel in Charleston and eventually on a Submarine.

Randall A. Newsome

Surface Warfare Officer

The Original Chuck Randolph Newsome the White is a man of many hats. Proud 2009 graduate of Hargrave Military Academy before gracing the grounds of this Institution as Acme's resident ambassador. Music snob, Hipster/ Cowboy at the same time, NASCAR enthusiast, Dockstreet wallflower, alcohol expert of all shapes, forms and fashions, as well as one part of a large package deal. Stoic fan of Navy Football, Lacrosse and Baseball, he can be found perusing the upper decks with his patented Niamat visor and outrageous coozies. Solid confidant, expert advice presenter, Confederate historian (mainly all things dealing with North Carolina), stock owner of Terwilliger Brothers Park, David sunflower seeds and Grizzley Tobacco products. Chuck has the knack for brightening any type of environment that he steps into. He is akin to the caulking of the group of rag tag friends that he has chosen to take under his very large wings. And last but not least: Boogity Boogity Boogity, lets go racing! Pals

Temitope E. Ohiomoba

Submarines

Hailing from the great nation of Nigeria, Temitope Ohiomoba has self-proclaimed to "Be from the jungles!" Traveling from such vicious conditions, it is no surprise that Mr. Ohiomoba began his naval career as an enlisted man as a keeper of stores. He entered the academy as a former "sailor of the year", and immediately showed his classmates the way through his unwavering belief in abstinence from alcohol. What devotion to values! By youngster year, Mr. Ohiomoba served as the foundation for DTA's existence. Truly dedicated, Mr. Ohiomoba trained for his PRT's through the many long walks back to gate 8 after an unsuccessful night. Though not completely unsuccessful, Mr. Ohiomoba has had quite a few unique experiences while a midshipman including one-of-a- kind tours on the Yard. Of course he owes Frank Ernest a big thanks for his dedication to the principle of 'shipmate before self." Mr. Ohiomoba will be sorely missed by the bartenders of DTA, but the submarine force will be gaining a great and irreplaceable asset. "Show me the money and Semper Deep!"

Claire C. Olechowski

Navy Pilot

As the fastest eater in her company and one of the few that could pull off the crude plebe haircut with style, Claire quickly rose to stardom as an indispensable midfielder on the Woman's varsity lacrosse team. Deciding that a earning a letter was not enough to satisfy her love of sports and instead found her calling as captain of the field hockey team. After a very educational and informative 3rd class cruise resulting in belly-button rings and tan lines, the next summer Claire decided to broaden her horizons and study abroad in Spain. As an English major and Spanish minor, she was usually pretty busy, but when she was not online shopping or avidly pinning you could usually find her at the gym obsessively working out and making every other mid trying to get in shape feel bad about themselves. She earned respect not only with her notorious death stare, but also with her blunt, but honest personality, and straightforward attitude-–two attributes that make her a good shipmate and friend. It's no surprise then that she was chosen to become a Navy pilot and attend flight school in Pensacola. Raised in Annapolis all her life, she will finally have to stop stealing her sisters' clothes and come to terms with the fact that her parents can't drop dinner off every other night when King Hall doesn't cut it. Don't worry though, Claire's ready for the real world—she's visited her little sister at Penn State enough times to understand what real college is like.

Justin W. Riddick

Supply Corps

First and foremost, what is a massage without Jergens? Aside from having gifted hands, Mr. Riddick is also gifted academically. His unparalleled studiousness has warranted a special congratulatory meeting with the Supe, Dant, Dean and other officials at the end of his youngster year. Earning the nicknames "J-Boogie" and "Spyder," he was known in company for his quick wit and was known on the Rugby pitch for his quick feet. Mr. Riddick will be missed by both his rugby and blue teammates, and will also be missed by many Au Pairs, among whom he helped spread the "seeds" of American diplomacy. He will serve in the Navy's Supply Corps upon graduation.

Keegan D. Ryan

Navy Intelligence

Keegan "My Bottle" Ryan, aka. Shifty Ryan, aka. Skuggle-wuggles came to the Naval Academy because of his love of discipline, the military, and his ability to run really fast. Although he is a natural leader of men, he never forgets his SoCal swag. Keegan's track career didn't pan out the way he hoped, but it gave him the time to pursue an aggressive career of body building and tanning. Oh, and let's not forget Keegan's sister, Lauren (sweet sweet Lauren), who he has righteously defended from the hordes of midshipmen suitors who caught wind of her beauty. Keegan is an honest, dependable and kind friend. He performed well in his academics and excelled in physical fitness. From his COD incident plebe year to leading his peers as CC as a Firstie, Keegan Ryan was well-respected and it was a pleasure to have him as a friend. Keegan will serve as an Intel Officer and continue to do great things for the Navy and shine in future endeavors.

Jacob W. Schalles

Naval Flight Officer

Jacob Wade Schalles, possessing the ability to make anybody feel awkward, dumb, and confused all at the same time. "Wade" hails from the South, or North as he will claim, Florida to be specific; though opposite to most Floridians his skin can actually reflect the sun to the magnitude similar to a mirror. Similar to his attitude on the yard, which is an example for all who look up to him in Bancroft, his standards can only be compared to those with the highest expectations off the yard as well. Despite his stellar grades, physical prowess, and high standards, Jake has still managed to be considered a below average midshipmen by those of lesser grades and softer bodies, an achievement not many graduate to see. No matter what surprises he wakes up to in the middle of the night, he always rises to the challenge no matter how dirty and urgent it can get. One can always find Jake smiling or complaining, often at the same time which will contribute greatly to his future success or mediocrity.

Peter C. Severson

USMC Ground

Since the day he was born, Peter "The Gun Game King" Severson has had his eyes set on becoming an officer in the USMC. Articles in magazines such as Boy's Life, can attest to the hard work Peter has put in to get where he is today. He trains every day by excelling at first person shooter video games. What really stands out about this devil dog is the amount of testosterone filled TV shows he watches. His collection of shows includes, but are not limited to, The Bachelor, The Bachelorette, Gossip Girl, Sex and the City, 90210, and Pretty Little Liars. When it comes to riding in Peter's sweet Camaro, be careful not to sip from your drink while he shifts, unless you brought a change of clothes. A great person and friend to all, Peter will excel as a Marine Corps officer, and all that he does afterwards.

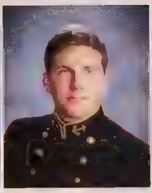
Andrea G. Stooksbury

USMC Ground

After 18 years of popping around the country as a Marine Corps brat, Andrea Grace Stooksbury had learned one main thing about her future: she was NEVER going to be a Marine. She entered the Naval Academy knowing this one great truth, and began Plebe year in style—humming her way through Plebe summer to the tune of the Lizzie McGuire song. She started her USNA career off as a swimmer, but decided that the combination of wet and sandy workouts by morning, NARCH labs by day, and Swim practices by afternoon added up to an overdose of water and decided instead to join the ranks of the esteemed and talented NARPs. She quickly waltzed her way into popularity among her company-mates, and couldn't be happier in her role as wing-woman for some of her predictably awkward midshipmen friends. She is easily spotted in DTA, because she is the only girl who can keep up with the boys' sprints between bars—and she does it all in her eight-inch heels. And through it all, she held fast to the initial, heartfelt vow she had made to herself: never to be a Marine. Oh, wait…does that certificate say 2ND LIEUTENANT STOOKSBURY!? Well, at least we know she will be an amazing Marine, since she already is an always-faithful friend, sister, and roommate. HOO. RAH. YUT.

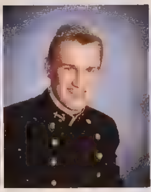
Class of 2014

Zachary Braida

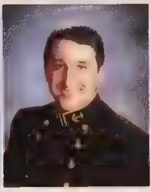


John Chapman

Anthony Clay



Clayton Cottrell

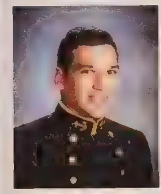


William Cox

Jonathan Delvalle

Benjamin Derathe

Lance Dugger



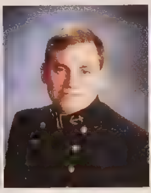
Joshua Escobar

Samantha Espinosa

Cara Fisher

Brian Fritz

Connor Geer



Silas Grosch

Juliann Hitt

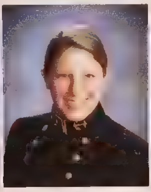
Daniel Lee

Jacob Liebert

William Maddox

Neil McMillan

Adam Morgenroth



Elizabeth Morrison

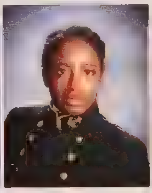
Nolan O'sullivan

Parker Pierson

Ashley Pulido

Alexa Rizzo

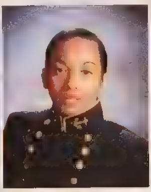
Adrian Santosalborna



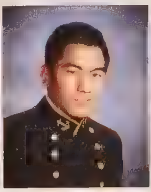
Jasmine Sarjeant

Mary Smallwood

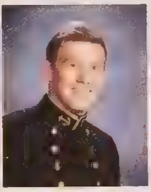
Kevin Thomas



Candice Tisdale



Jericho Urmenita



J.D. Walker

Emily Wilkin

Jon Williams

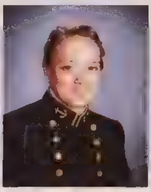
Wayne Worthington

Class of 2015

Theodore Augustus

Michael Briseno

James Britton



Virginia Brodie

James Case

Katelyn Constantakis

Benjamin Demandante

Charles Eilertsen

Marjorie Ferrone

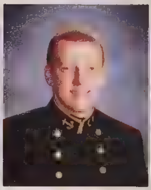
Justin Fratantuono

Zachary Gilbert

Daniel Green

Lauren Hickey

John Highsmith



Joshua Hudson

Michael Kickbush

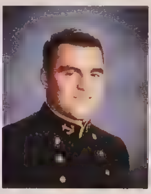
Steven Knopf

Daniel Kuerbitz

Kevin Lake

Kevin Lee

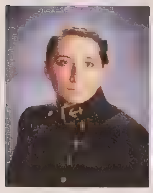
Joshua Llewellyn



Jason McGinty

Gabriella McIntyre

Michael Moore



Sara Nardone

Lukas Ohman

Harrison Ostrenga

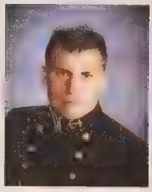
Michael Rivard

Kisshan Sankar

Matthew Silberberg

Andrew Stallard

Julie Stapleton



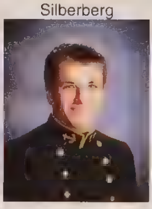
John Sweeney

Chanaka Thelisinghe

Nicholas Tucker

Benjamin Unpingco

Brant Verhulst



David Wiedeman

Joseph Worth

Class of 2016

Lindsey Adams

Amanda Assenmacher

Austin Batisté

Zachary Borchardt

Chrishad Broadway

Maxwell Bulba

Bryce Colceri

Jodi Cullhost

Henry Dewing

Daniel Drew

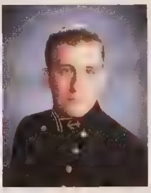
James Dubyoski

Thomas Forstmeier

James Grant

David Heckman

Jacob Hilliard

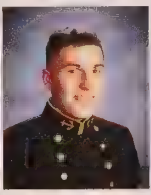


Michael Jacobson

Ryan Jaenke

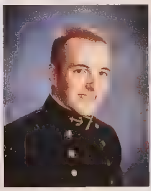
Michael Kelly

Thomas Kim



Jack Lahey

Johnathan Leyba



Nicholas Mantz

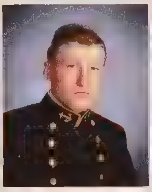
Joanna McCoy

Heather Nearing

Jack Ogden

Blake Peek

David Phelps

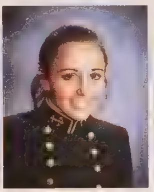


Jameson Pirkel

Christina Reid

Stryker Smith

Garrett Snyder

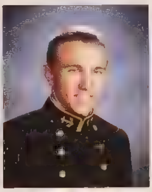


Catherine Stark

Kevin Tamayo

Trey Townsend

Lawrence Wilson



Matthew Wyckoff

Katherine Young

NAVY

Company

27

Christina M. Carson

Submarines

The best thing to come out of New Jersey since The Shore, Christina was a friend to many and known by all. Her exploits are worthy of the Navy times, yet have only found their way to Dear Santa's and Dining-ins. Her good sense of humor and consistent level of optimism made for an interesting four years in all the right ways. Though she leaves for San Diego her great spirit and compassionate personality will be remembered. A dear friend and awesome shipmate we wish you the best of luck in the fleet and any challenge that dares get in your way. DAMN THE TORPEDOES...You know the rest!

William H. Dorriety

Submarines

William Herston Dorriety will be the Naval Officer personification of the Asgard Demi-God Thor. He exhibits Thor's keen intellect, steel-forged body, and undeniable will necessary to lead young sailors through any obstacle the submarine force will face. Most importantly, Will also wields a very large hammer......of discipline. As a native Alabamian, Will's enthusiasm for gettin' swole, playin' video games, and rootin' for the Crimson Tide were never hindered by his long study hours as a chemistry major and will continue as he makes his way to be an amazing Submarine officer.

Robyn K. Draughon

Navy Pilot

Robyn Draughon—or better known as "Dragon"—has excelled in various areas during her time at the Academy. She has been active with Officers Christian Fellowship and the Varsity Rifle Team, and has majored in history with a double minor in Spanish and Chinese (all of which is enough to qualify her as a secret agent…or maybe a time traveler…) But her talent does not stop there. She is also quite fluent in all things Doctor Who and Tolkien. When she's not busy being a beast with weapons or running the Monster Mash, she can be mistaken for her other identities—including Belle from Beauty and the Beast, an Elvish princess, or even Hermione. Robyn enjoys long walks on the beach, late night tea cravings, and Tim Tebow. Her presence also lights up a room—and her dragon-esque, fired-up passion can smoke out anyone who gets out of line. Even Shakespeare thought of her when he wrote "Though she be but little, she is fierce!" Robyn's resilient and gallant personality stems from her strong faith and she shines as a light everywhere she goes. The Fleet, beware! This girl is full of spunk, full of faith, and full of promise. Best wishes for one of the best we've ever seen.

Eric W. Emerling

Medical Corps

Eric "Golden Child" Emerling is the essence of purity in the Emerling clan. From his birth with his devilish twin Alec, Eric has been on the fast track to success (with a few detours to Chilis and Chik-fil-a). He falls in and out of love with Hondurans, and is a certified romance counselor. His gaming skills are on an expert status, although he must have bribed the department of motor vehicles to get his license. Steerage is his home away from 8th wing. No man, woman, or child fights with Eric besides his other half, as Eric has the kindest heart. His foibles are limited, and his DTA experiences revolve around tequila. "Eric's Curse" has haunted his room since plebe summer – if you enter as his roommate, there's only a 50% chance you come out alive. Console him frequently, cookies and buffalo chicken sandwiches will suffice.

Jordan S. Gruber

Navy Pilot

Ever hear about the gringo Mid from Western PA? That's Grubs for you. His legend precedes him the way thunder precedes lightening. He lives vicariously through himself. He maybe a UKISPer going to grad school, but don't be fooled. He is quite the unconventional nerd. From voluntarily swimming through underwater caves to catching swamp turtles with his bear hands and subsequently eating them, he never ceases to live life on the edge. All of South America was his playground. The police are dear friends of his, especially when he explodes stuff in his backyard. He throws Javelins, and sometimes roommates, great distances. He is an Ocean Engineer, but he teaches the Chemistry Major how to do Chemistry problems. Most importantly, he is a man of God, a regular reader of the Word even at 0200 in the morning. Jordan is a constant encouragement and model of what a man should be. Even his enemies list him as an emergency contact, and you should too. I did.

John W. Howell

USMC Pilot

We have all been blessed to be in the presence of Mr. Hollywood himself these last four years. Junior can't walk 50 feet without getting stopped by an adoring fan and he handles the limelight gracefully. This little diva is by far one of the most outgoing, personable people we've ever met and always seems to be at the center of things. He's persevered through football injury and maintained his upbeat attitude as well as his traps. Johnny boy has been a great roommate and even better friend. Good luck with Marine Pilot!

Michael E. Keane

Submarines

"Great moments are born from great opportunities". Michael had two great loves during his time at USNA: Rickover and his girlfriend. Both of them came into his life youngster year, eventually Rickover won his weekdays while his girlfriend made sure to control most of the rest. Never one to let a mistake go uncorrected, this native New Jersey-ite was known for his assertive demeanor and quickly recognizing problems within the Brigade. Mike was a man of his time; the only thing he enjoyed more than buying new clothes was wearing those clothes out for a round of cosmopolitans or a glass of rosé. Inspired by his experiences at the Naval Academy, Mike leaves with an enthusiasm to do great things in the world. His future sailors will be lucky to have him at the helm. Mike's one regret is that his children will never be as tough as he is.

Keegan A. Korpela

Naval Flight Officer

Keegan Allen Korpela inherited a long legacy of athletic prowess from his parents. Legendary throughout the state of Wyoming, the Korpela family has dominated high school athletics for at least the last 4 years. Keegan felt so compelled to carry on this legacy that he could be found every day at 0540 on Ingram Track for 5 semesters, but there is no doubt that he will not be one to reach his peak at the Academy. An extremely ambitious man, Keegan aspires to be the first Naval Academy graduate to win an Oscar. He is always available for his friends whenever they need him and can be trusted to break out a dance move or two regardless of whether the timing is appropriate. Keep banging on those windows Keegan (just not too hard, those P-3s are fragile).

Elise M. Lagergren

Navy Pilot

Elise stayed busy throughout her four years at the academy. The consummate aerospace engineer, she never missed an opportunity to further herself academically. Her alertness in class was rivaled only by her ability to break her colleague's hearts. Elise was willing to risk life and limb and climb into the wind tunnels down in the depths of Rickover in order to achieve an A from Dr. B. However, some may question, is it wise to trust a future pilot who spends her free time jumping out of airplanes? I guess there was that one time she jumped off a bridge… and yet to this day she'll say it was worth the 45 days. Through intense mini golf matches and terribly late nights in 213 Elise was always there to make her friends smile. There is no doubt this courageous connoisseur of treats will succeed out in that great yonder we call "the fleet".

Chantel J. Lavender

Surface Warfare Officer

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Jewel M. Lightfoot

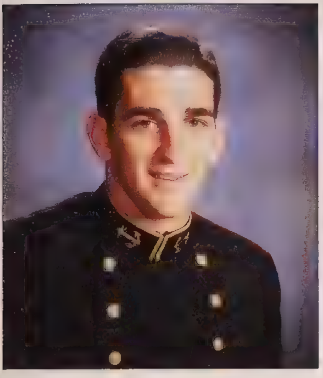
Naval Intelligence

Ah yes, Jewel Morris Lightfoot IV, yes there are four of them...and you thought one was good enough. A man truly defined by his hobbies which include studying, more studying, drinking coffee, taking other people's duty to study, and watching Saturday Night Live. Over the years, Jewel has bloomed from social awkwardness to borderline mclovin minus the alcohol. He expanded his horizons and assumed the roles of Sea Trials Company XO, and Company XO all while displaying the finest qualities of a future leader. He journeyed through the forest of life and despite getting lost made his way through and decided to take his talents to the intelligence community. A man loyal to his friends, his morals, and the people he serves alongside, Jewel is a man who embodies hard work and dedication to the highest degree and will undoubtedly be an asset to the fleet and the greater work force down the rocky road of life.

Beka Metreveli

Georgia Armed Forces

A native of Georgia, not the peaches and the ATL. He is the Brigade's strongest midshipman and can always be spotted in Wesley Brown putting up massive amounts of weight that even a spotter couldn't help him with. As a plebe, you could hear him sounding off all over the brigade; no matter what the question, he was always prepared to answer it in perfect English! The most respectful gentleman around, he would give everything he had to help a friend in need. A model midshipman, Beka can be seen standing CMOD even as a firstie in order to set the example. He plans on continuing his education, winning knife fights, and putting in some serious work at the gym to continue to impress the jersey girls. A friendship with Beka is a treasure that many of us will always hold close.



Rand E. Montermini

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Ryan D. Montgomery

SEALs

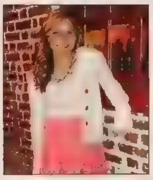
He hails from the land of fruits and nuts. A product of his environment, Ryan enjoys long walks on the beach usually followed by a cold dip and a roll in the sand. As he leaves the Boat School behind, Ryan looks forward to a career of island hopping in search of terrorists and a cure for yellow fever. Ryan will always be remembered for his diligence and deportation from China. A member of the sprint football team and future Navy SEAL, no one could doubt Ryan's dedication to his goals and ambitions. Admired by peers and subordinates alike, Ryan has a unique leadership style which weaves together empathy, confidence, and One Direction cadences. His innate ability to win the affections of plebes is unmatched among his classmates; a skill which ensures he will become one of the Navy's greatest leaders. Ryan's work ethic serves as an example to all.

William V. Parker

Navy Pilot

"Dude, remember that girl Kayla...I mean Sarah…I mean…" William is an interesting fella who has late night urinal issues, in bed. Despite almost having a 4.0 GPA, William still finds a way to get out in town and continue being "such a good guy". Always starts stories with, "so this one time, Pieter…". William is a great roommate and friend, who we are lucky to have gotten to know over the years. Best of luck in Pensacola brother! -John Howell and Miles Snelgrove

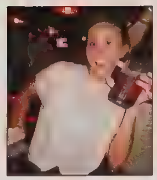
Stephanie L. Payne



Submarines

Stephanie, Steph, Stephy, Kitty Kat?! She is known by many names and by many people. Stephanie enjoys long nights in Maury and romantic steerage dates with the girls. She is a rare species and travels in a pack known as the Kitty Club with Kori and Jackie. These three are inseparable and if you are lucky, you can spot them in their natural habitat of the library making their distinct meow kitty calls. Steph has one of the biggest hearts you will ever know, always giving to others and spreading the love of Jesus. She never fails to give you a good laugh and her smile always brightens the room! She is a fearless leader and a true friend to all. Stephanie is paving the way for women as she embarks on the journey of the submariner. To her, the only marine is a SUBMARINE. Semper Deep Stephanie!

Jennifer N. Penley



Surface Warfare Officer

A native of Winston Salem, North Carolina, Sweet-Sweet Jenifer could always brighten anyone's day. Tall and slender, with the biggest smile, she found her best friend on a romantic youngster cruise. Navy Women's basketball occupied most of her time as an underclass, but with her new found freedom second class year, she filled her time volunteering and enjoying downtown Annapolis to the fullest. She's headed to Mayport to become an EDO where she will continue to bless our Navy with her kindness and intelligence.

Haben A. Petros

Surface Warfare Officer

MIDN 1/C Petros was a phenomenal guy who was always was there for his shipmates. He had a good time and looked great doing it. He also loved his roommates (Zach & Beka) and chocolate chip cookies.

George R. Prieto

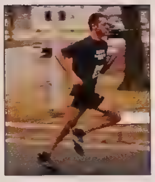
Submarines

We would like to define the word "borrow", according to Webster's English Dictionary, it means "to receive with the implied or expressed intention of returning the same or equivalent." George never mastered this concept, if you were missing something either think back to the last time you had it or check George's locker. Be it government vans or his own transportation, George always made it to Farfield. Except for that one time when Farfield came to Yale. Actually looking back on it there wasn't a lot of time when George wasn't with Farfield. Remember the Army Navy game in DC? Never saw George there, someone should have checked Pussers. This "PMO" could regularly be found bearing 000R on Steerage Cam. Heard you can't bring your phone into class at Nuke School, I guess those tindar girls will have to wait. The Charleston women await the coming of this p.t. god. Note to Self: Pride Runs Deep.

Zachary T. Ryan

USMC Ground

Are you married yet? Dude what's taking so long, it's been like two months. Went to Alaska and back with Ian Fisher. Monster trucks and night crawlers to stay awake in Gainesville. Brotherhood.



Rohít Sharma

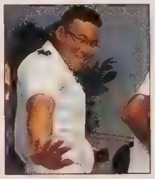
Surface Warfare Officer

One of the few, the proud, the NAPS class of 2009. He rose the ranks to become spring semester 27th company CC. He also participated in NAPS detail, 2/C Admin detail, and Sea Trials CC. He was also Vice President of the USNA Marathon team. He's a poli-sci major with dapper personality. When he isn't busy running his 3rd marathon of the month, you can catch him conducting his ever so famous morning workouts. He is soft spoken Floridian with an encyclopedic knowledge of every sport. He's a vegetarian without a chit and perfectly happy as long as nobody touches the food before the bell. And don't forget, a cup IS a utensil. But all joking aside, his soft spoken manner and approachable nature made him a great friend and a better leader. The crew of DDG 90 and the Island of Oahu better be ready, because he's got big things in store.

Miles N. Snelgrove

USMC Ground

Miles is never alone, because he is always with his wonderful Tanya. Anyone who has had the privilege of hanging out with this snapchat deviant has experienced exotic smells, countless impersonations, and borderline physical abuse. A truly great guy; his many friends are a testament that despite being a complete goober he is still a caring roommate, teammate, and friend. Best of luck in the Corps, Semper Fi! -William Parker and John Howell

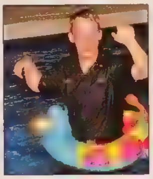


Joshua D. Sohn

Surface Warfare Officer

Some call him Doctor Sohn. Some worship him as King. Josh is the ReflectiveBelt Tyrant, the MOOW waving the flags in the Youtube video, and the Zen Master of Shin Ramyun noodles in the pressure-cooker. He rules his Korean club with an iron chopstick. He is not the kind of man that you want to mess with. From the Chemistry Lab to his Rack, Josh reminds the pavement that it must be strong enough to bear his greatness. He's a man built to dominate, with a passion to heal wounds. He's a mighty Bull and a cuddly Kitten… and he eats them both. I've known Josh for four years, and I've never seen him shave… he doesn't need to, because his beard is afraid to grow where it is not welcome. If you don't know Josh, then you want to. If you know him then you're blessed. If you're reading this, then consider yourself lucky just to know that people like Josh exist. When Josh is commanding ships at sea, remember that the waves are no coincidence. They're the aftershock of Josh flexing a biceps. God Blessed America.

Alexander W. Sweet



USMC Pilot

How can anybody describe the scariest Plebe Summer Detailer and Training Officer in our class in only a few brief sentences? A Marine with an addiction to eye drops who will take his racket ball and sky diving skills with him to become a valuable asset to the Corps. This Midshipman, who could not keep a cactus alive, has fulfilled his long time dream of joining the Marine Corps to be a pilot. Over this past year you have been an awesome roommate and a great friend, the Marine Corps will not know what hit it.

Troy B. Tauber

Submarines

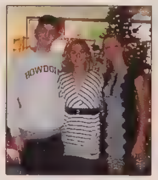
Troy Tauber, from Sturgeon Bay, WI (that's sturgeon like the fish), is the ideal shipmate. He is the most dedicated friend a person can ask for, even going so far as to tailor his morning routine so that his roommates do not sleep too late. An extremely detail oriented individual, Troy never missed the opportunity to write a list or put something in a schedule. Troy's unique upbringing as an Irish Jew in rural Wisconsin has inspired him to pursue an eclectic array of interests while at the Academy. A man of the people, Troy aspires to bring high quality, locally sourced fruits to the masses after his time in the Navy. As Troy leaves USNA behind and plunges into the deep abyss that is the submarine community, he realizes that "fun time is over" and it's time for him to get to the work he has been training his whole life for.

Christopher J. Teska

USMC Pilot

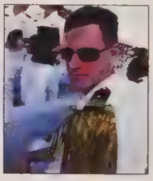
"Though (he) be but little, (he) is fierce!" – William Shakespeare
Perhaps the most popular person in the brigade, who knew that such intelligence and charisma could come from such a small man. His company-mates know him by many hats: the Company Officer's aide, the inventor of full contact Risk, best friends with 1/C Keegan Korpela, and the next Ken Jennings. Though his ego may have stunted his growth, that will not stop him from ever being wrong. The Submarine Community is losing an irreplaceable asset as he enters the Marine Corps following graduation. The passion and intelligence he brings to the Marines and all of his endeavors ensure that both his future, and our nation's future, is bright. His history of success makes it believable that someday, when flying into Indianapolis, planes will land at the Christopher Joseph Teska International Airport.

Korin A. Wilke



Navy Pilot

Korin is a rare breed of human. Some days she's a cat, speaking in a dialect of kitten not many can translate. Other days her laugh closely resembles that of a suffocating goose. But mostly I think she's an angel. Her life revolves around God, Nimitz Library, mochas and muffins, yes muffins. Throughout 2/c year she referred to Chester Nimitz as her boyfriend, the only man who fit into her schedule. Everyone says you come here with personal goals but stay for the people you meet—Kori is one of those people who changes lives. She is more than just an incredible friend; she serves as a support beam to those who need her. Her love for the world comes from her passion for Jesus. That love brings joy to people and will keep strengthening people in the aviation community. This world could use a lot more people like her.



Kameron T. Wright

Nuclear Surface Warfare

Entering the US Naval Academy with the trappings of an illustrious NJROTC career pinned to his chest, Midshipman Kameron Taylor Wright quickly staked his territory in the Class of 2013. As the senior midshipman Craftmaster on the Yard, he blazed a trail through YP Squadron that has left hope in the hearts of many aspiring SWOs. He served in many leadership positions during his time, including the president of the Protestant Choir, Second Regiment XO ("I do nothing in this job"), and a brief stint as the most motivated SMAJ in recent history. His weekly high-and-tights and coke-bottle glasses transitioned to a four-inch long lion's mane and sharp, avian eyes with 20/20 vision. We wish him the best in his many nuclear ventures at home and abroad, and many chickens in his coop in his future marriage to...a Marine. Yo, Burkur.

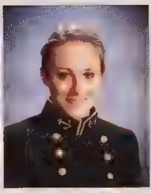
Hannah Yun

Surface Warfare Officer

What to say about Hannah? Though raised in New Jersey, she is definitely no "Jersey girl." Head strong and determined, Hannah had always been one to rise to any challenge. Being the oldest child, she definitely leaves some big shoes to fill for her younger brother and sister (Good luck Zenas and James!). Though she can be serious when organizing an Alumni event as Secretary, she has a free spirit and goofy side that leave people saying, "Oh Hannah, she's a crazy Asian." With her passion for running and dedicated work ethic, if she's not outside on a run, she can be found coordinating some event that will involve important people - all this while taking care of family back home. How does she do it? One thing is for sure: she is very much loved and will be greatly missed when she goes to Japan. Keep being amazing!

Class of 2014

Kyle Davinsizer



Kathleen Dennis

Haley Doyle

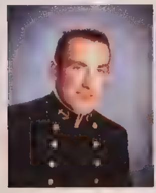
David Gallaher

Shane Gamez

Bryan Heasty

Rahsaan Johnson

Donna Jones



Bo Joost

Timothy Kimbrow

Patrick Lyons

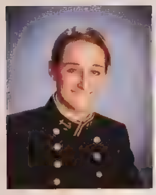
Arthur Mapugay

Thomas McElwee

Hannah Morse

Stephen Moss

John Muti



Samantha Newhaller

Hongyong Park

Paulena Pine

Anthony Pinto

Amanda Ragan

William Roberts

Alberto Rodriguez

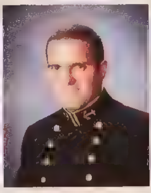
Jose Ruiz

Jacob Schlenbecker

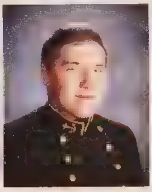
Scott Snowden

Kevin Stransky

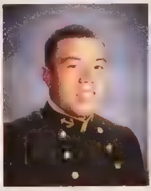
James Temple



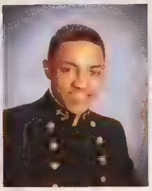
Phillip Trainor



Race Uto



Timothy Walters



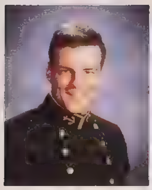
Justin Watkis

Phillip Wears

David Williams

Taylor Yust

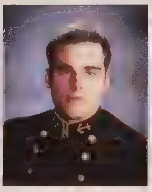
Class of 2015



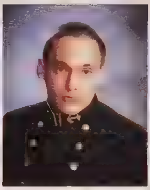
Franco Aiello

Godfrey Baldez

Griffin Burke



Tyler Burnett



Dominic Chumich

Ryan Cleaver

Jake Dang

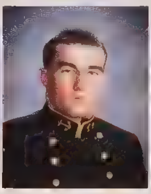
Morgan Dankanich

Joshua Elliott

Justin Engel

Zachary Everhart

John Finch



Brady Flies

Andrew Foard

Fabio Garciaquiroga

Lumiere Hayes

Brian He

Alissa Kain

Michael Krasnor

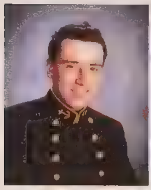
Franek Kulik

Hank Leslie

Mark Lind

Siwan Livingston

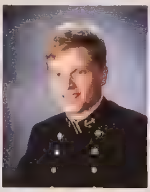
Patrick Loftus



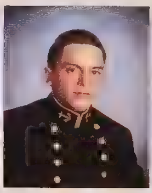
Anthony Marchilena

Marisa Molkenbuhr

Matthew Newby



Erik Nordgaard

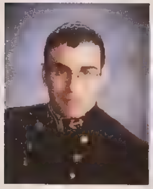


Luis Penichet

Melissa Pifer

Andrea Raville

Sean Reilly



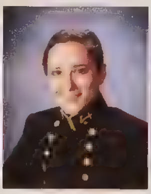
Ahmed Shamma

Jordan Snyder

Ethan Studiner

Joshua Tate

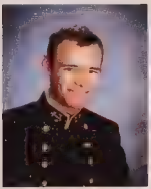
Alan Thornhill



Lily Van Steenberg

Alfredo Velazquezsanchez

Class of 2016



William Allred

Collin Ascherl

Cameron Baird

Anthony Baldessari

Jonathan Cabarrus

Cassidy Chaney

Jason Chung

Mark Clanton

Jonathan Clemente

Carolanne Cosgrove

Carson Craig

Daniel Ecker

Jonathan French

Thomas Hand

Mitchell Heaton

Daniel Hernandez

Alexander Huang

Gavin Jernigan

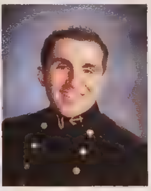
Brendan Klovekorn

Meliamae Lagat

Christina Lanier

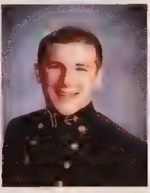
Stephanie Moore

Cameron Morgenweck



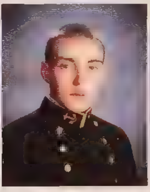
Edward Muncy

Colin Osborne



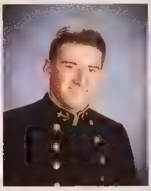
Eric Poletti

Colston Polly



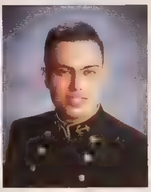
William Rock

Jessica Rodriguez



James Sands

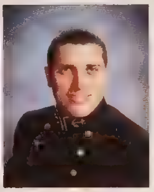
Monique Valliere



Joseph Vandegrift

Karen Vargas

Betty Yi



David Zubler

U. S.

Company

28

Scott R. Blasinsky

Surface Warfare Officer

What is there to say about Maverick. A not-so-bro who kicked his way out of Ohio. But who wants to stay there? Not even Lebron. cough cough A kid with an amazing workout plan and a super healthy diet, cough cough, what school wouldn't want a pilot/seal/marine/CIA operative who can get deployed eight hours a day and can still become a SWO certified political scientist. His PATIENCE inspires us all. And to those poor sinks, RIP. cough cough. Just remember, Goose dies in the movie. Although the Marines lost a great officer, we gained an awesome friend .

Hunter R. Bouchard

Supply Corps

Hunter Bouchard's Naval Academy career consisted of 4 years of varsity squash and business dealings. Know for his electric smile and always having the most attractive women by his side, he is a force to be reckoned with. He also is know to have "the voice of an angel", writing the anthem "Caps in the Air" in memory of his time spent at the Academy. If not a successful musician touring the world, Hunter will surely spearhead many other ventures that will land him at the head of the boardroom table.

Erick S. Capulong

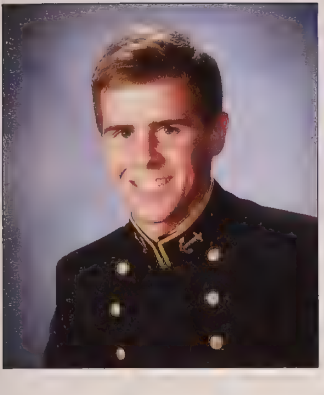
USMC Pilot

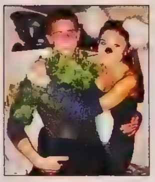
Erick, Cap, Capushort, Bust-a-Caps. Although he has multiple aliases, there is only one Erick Capulong. Born 'n raised in Lubbock, Texas, Young Erick is no stranger to the hood. Life was just as tough for him plebe year as it was during his middle school years. As the Cap Daddy would tell you, no gain comes without pain. Capmode has overcome multiple obstacles in his path: destroying his aqua-rock tendencies, recovering from rejection by former MIDN Zuspan, and thwarting the swarm of enemies that come with multiple weeks of Starcraft gameplay. Throughout his four years at the Academy, Bust-a-Caps has always considered maintaining good physical condition to be a top priority. Arnold Schwarzenegger himself endorsed Kang Xin Pei, and openly admits learning a few things from the Filipino phenom. We in the class of 2013 wish Ricky the best as he sets out on his new career as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps. Sticks and stones may break your bones, if Cap doesn't first.

William H. Christoph

Naval Flight Officer

Where to find him? Playing Temple Run in the corner of wherever we. This old man does not go out often because lets face it, sports center never sleeps. Although he spent a year studying in China, he is still more in tune with the Korean culture, an experience that two Henrys will never forget. This BA since freshmen year is a more reliable closer than Marmol, as seen by his debut save in Dublin. As he moves into the fleet, we, and he, hopes he can one day be as cool as Roger. But then again, we wouldn't want him any other way.





Sean T. Crain

Navy Pilot

A graduate of the University of Maryland, Sean Thomas "Gobi" Crain puts on quite a show for his friends. Or used to, at least. Sean can give you 68 reasons why you should join the crusades. On the weekends, Sean…? Moving on, he really paid back those Chivettes as the cutest tree in the forest. Genuinely sorry for partying on PROTRAMID, he's become an unofficial ADEO for life. Thanks for getting Bin Laden, buddy. Good luck in the cockpit, many tears will be shed as you drive right past Quantico.

Laura M. Curtis

Medical Corps

If sleeping 12 hours a day means you only spend two years at USNA, then it's likely that Laura's four years were the longest in academy history. The queen of all-nighters, Laura powered through each semester with an equal mix of adrenaline and willpower (but surprisingly little caffeine). 0530 workout? No problem, that's when I usually finish studying anyway! With her sights set on becoming a doctor from day one, she nevertheless left the entire EOD community greatly disappointed when she chose scrubs over bomb suits. The best friend you will ever have (just don't startle her too often), Laura's dedication and compassion will serve her well in the medical community. Here's hoping that her bright future includes some well-deserved sleep.

Michael R. DeLong

Naval Intelligence

As a "member" of the Navy Sprint Football team, Michael DeLong was a 3-time all CSFL punter. He will not be remembered for his punts, however, but rather his unorthodox tackling techniques. He will go down as the all-time record holder for both slide tackles and unsportsmanlike penalties. The only punter with bigger hips than quads, Mike often finds the love of his life in the most exotic of places. So clumsy is he that he is the perfect culprit for any pots broken or bottles dropped. The only thing smoother than his broken Spanish is his jumping motion when the snap goes over his head. His favorite team somehow manages to be located in two different cities, and he is also the real creator of the website IMDB. Don't ever ask him if he has ever gone to California Pizza Kitchen, OH HAVE WE! Michael has very cultured tastes from traveling to Japan in the summer to trying more exotic tastes in the most romantic place on earth, Panama City beach Florida. Though he may be deaf in one ear he isn't deaf to the call of a great friendship, he will always be a great officer and an even better friend. All in all, one thing can be said about Michael and his escapades that can't be forgotten, he does it for the dudes.

Christine M. Dullnig

USMC Ground

Born and raised just a stone's throw from a runway and the Boat School itself, this bubbly, bull riding, vivacious firecracker of a personality hails from Edgewater, MD, where her favorite pastimes are flying, a good fake bake, and a little Taco Bell. Despite her undying love for unhealthy foods and seemingly always sharing far too much information ("I have stories…) , this triple threat has it all- brains, beauty, and brawn; with a degree in Aerospace Engineering, countless (unwanted) admirers, and a 6 pack to show for it. "My arms look fantastic." Quite possibly the only Midshipmen in charge of a duty van who hasn't crashed one, Christy managed to race her personal government vehicle throughout Annapolis to lead the Navy Women's Hockey Team to a winning season despite spending the majority of her hockey career ejected from the ice. From pool noodle wars at Toys R' Us, late night talks about everything and nothing over a bottle of wine (cue Chicago accent), 12 mile tandem bike rides through the hills of San Francisco, in flight "emergencies," and countless other adventures, there is no one else I would want by my side…unless it's in a public venue. The most loyal, honest, politically incorrect friend you could ask for, you're the most beautiful person I know. The Marine Corp is lucky to have such a strong willed (stubborn), energetic, and caring leader. Wherever your career in the Corps takes you, we can only hope it won't be too far from a beach, your 130lb puppy, and those whom you somehow managed to trick into friendships that will last a lifetime. SDF

Lukas A. Edegran

Navy Pilot

Anthropologists are unable to identify the origins of Lukas Edegran. New York? That can't be right. This Brazilian FIFA phenom dazzles on the water. An excellent role model, Lukas glowed most in the classroom; so much so that he inspired his brother to follow in his footsteps at the United States Naval Academy. His career came to fruition during breakaway performances senior year. These stupendous on the field decisions gave this warrior more time to pursue his true passions of powder, deadmau5, and drill. Although this Larchmont prodigy was never allowed to reach his full potential his teammates are well of aware of his incredible talent. We've enjoyed sailing the lifts and the headers with Lukas and wish him the best. Yet one question still remains. Who will be doing the flying in P-Cola? Will Gerard continue to chauffer or will Lukas finally take the stick?

Harper E. Foley

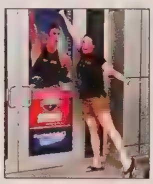
Explosive Ordnance Disposal

On I-Day, 2009, the Naval Academy admitted its first Artificially Intelligent student: the Toshiba-manufactured Android named Harper Foley. iFoley has had his difficulties integrating with the often weaker, gluten-addicted human race. Cast from 195 lbs of pure Japanese steel, this Crossfit warrior came to Annapolis to kick tail and chew bubble gum. He soon ran out of bubble gum. Creeper Foley is a cross between the Marlboro Man and Wall-E. His "fish-eye" app allowed him to spy on unsuspecting roommates, while his severe gluten allergy/phobia kept him Texas thin. His workouts were notoriously exhausting. Their extreme difficulty forced him to take many pictures and give hourly updates on his leg soreness. The Glutenator can be called many things. Lazy is not one of them. He has accomplished a lot at the Academy and is a genuinely good person. Remember the lessons you have learned here and you will be a successful leader in life. Good luck Master Foley-san. 001001101.

Matthew C. Foran

Naval Flight Officer

Escaping a life of crime in the urban city Monticello, Illinois and coming to Annapolis, Matt may have been taken from the streets, but the streets will never be taken from him. From breaking dozens of Xbox controllers to kicking doors off their hinges, Malicious Matt hasn't lost his violent, dog-eat-dog ways. This isn't to say the Naval Academy hasn't brought out a lighter, more socially acceptable side of him. Plebe year, with the help of a penguin, he managed to master the art of Facebooking. He even took on the gentlemen's sport of croquet. If you are wondering why you haven't spent a wonderful evening at Pusser's with Matt, he may have been escorted out or, most likely, is sitting in his room making music. AND if you are wondering why you haven't heard the latest hits from DJ Pogostick, don't fret! His first song may be out a year or seven from now. Best of luck, buddy!



Laura M. Gorinski

Submarines

"When Laura isn't swimming or listening to Skyrim soundtracks, hearing her laugh while watching the latest cat video is sure to brighten anyone's day. From dancing in the room to some deep discussions about the universe, our room has always been a little "spaced out." But despite her seemingly quiet demeanor, the lion comes out when competition is involved. After breaking over 20 records here in Lejeune, she's sure to go for more in her career. So watch out power school, she might just outswim the submarines. S-S-G-N! Giggity giggity..."

Jonathan E. Harrell

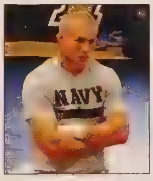
Naval Flight Officer

He is the lyrical wordsmith whose name will forever be remembered – as soon as he drops his first album. Though let's face it, his target date for hitting platinum has been pushed back further than the F-35 delivery date. Regardless – we are all reminded that "[we] should be honored by [his] lateness…". Fine, he's famous in his own right; and he did it without defaming the Miami Heat or signing some random rapper to force into joint albums. A regular Mark Spitz, he gives pointers to Michael "M-Baby" Phelps when not at swim remedials. Whether he's signed by Cash Money Records (where dreams come true) or by Big Brother Thunder, the [Underground] Wonder, and the Master Blaster, Sig will surely entertain his pilot while he handles all the important stuff in the back seat. Because, aftafter allhe back seat becomes the front seat… when you crash.

Ross E. Hermann

Navy Pilot

This eskimo hopped on the town bicycle (being the avid cyclist that he is) halfway through his Junior year, getting help with his training wheels from his good buddy Boothe. More of a lover than a fighter, any altercation with an Italian Stallion will knock him out faster than Frasier and Ali. When not engaged with any of his frequent run-ins with the law, he listens to the same music as any "good old southern boy" … you know, trance, house, techno, and anything else from the EDM movement. The discoverer of the Harlem Shake, Reddit is the most normal thing he looks at on the internet. A lover of Kimchi, his crash course in pharmaceuticals led to his future weekend-ly commutes to the i-RAND of Manhattan. Penguins? Pirates? Why not Pandas? They'll ruv you rong time

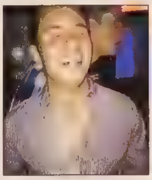


Peter O. Huntley

SEALs

When he's not getting harassed by his freshman teammates, this closet nerd can be found playing World of Warcraft or writing code. One of the most unlikely IT majors you will ever meet, Oscar rules the computer geeks with an iron fist. He masquerades as a physical freak on the wrestling mat and in the weight room but he would really rather be listening to bad music or talking to Amanda. There was no doubt that the three of us would always be roommates. We love you man, but when it comes down to it, you play ball like a girl. – J and O

Maxwell D. Johnson



Explosive Ordnance Disposal

This Napoleonic sword-bearer was the inspiration for the famed Steve Carrell flick 40 Year Old … you know the rest. You can find him in 8244 watching the "least romantic" movie he's ever seen, The Book of Eli. Heading down to Panama City for EOD training, he'll be waving the orange flag with the best of them (dooie dooie dooie). When not in hot pursuit of Yeagermeister in DTA, this lovelorn romantic is willing to humbly let his friends lend a finger when he falls SHORT with the ladies. We know you'll continue to make your parents proud as you dive the densest minefields and dissemble the most complicated IEDs. Answer: Daily Double.

Bríjet N. Mall

Surface Warfare Officer

GET BACK when Jet Mac Mall is feeling that honey badger status. Majoring in lacrosse with a double minor in karaoke and ribbon dancing, it's amazing this BUD has time for her favorite activity: snacksercizing. Sometimes you can find her cuddled up in deep conversation, or partying hard with Ann down at Pussers. You may think that there's a sweet girl under that black war paint on the field… but you're wrong, it's just her skin. She has kept the fifteen percent alive and thriving this year, and she's definitely way more fun without what's his name. Through THICK and THICKA, your battle buds will always be there for you. Thanks for being my most "athletic" friend, or I guess half-"athletic". And we know that you really do want world peace.

Jeffrey M. Mann

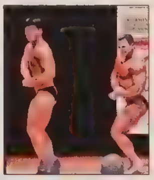
SEALs

Don't let this 6'3" monster fool you. Though he may look like ADM Pybus, or the bad guy from I Am Legend, Jay Mann is every girl's father's dream. The suburban Baltimore product, sheltered most of his childhood days on a strict diet of hot dogs, hamburgers, and apple pie, truly defines "All-American". He has come a long way from those days. With the help of his NAPS roommate Matt Brewer, the two of them learned from one another and were eventually able to figure out how to turn a computer on. Jay has left a lasting impression with everyone he has met. He is known to those who know him best as selfless and determined. One could not ask for a better teammate. His work ethic and selfless personality have allowed him to be a leader on the lacrosse field and will take him far in the Special Warfare community. He is kind enough to give you the shirt off his back (or lend a friendly stranger a few hundred dollars), and that is what we will all remember about Jay Mann. A best friend to many, as loyal as they come, we are blessed to know Jay Mann.

Alexandra R. Mensing

Navy Pilot

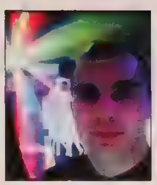
Alex hails from "RAHLEE!" North Carolina from a graduating class of 12 people. Life drastically changed for this sheltered Southern Belle upon I-day at USNA. She was always of high spirits amongst the dark days of plebe year and joke jail, having the support of Farmville, dressing up as the Boondock Saints' next victim, and crushing on her favorite Aryan during chow calls. The next three years flew by, with a semester vacation getaway to España. This vacation had its cost of over 21 credits per semester in Astro, but her competitive nature and hard work kept her driving through and will buy her way to space one day. We wish her the best of luck in flight school and beyond, even though she doesn't need it. Wherever our careers take us, from overseas to space and back, we know our memories and strong friendship will last a lifetime! We love you Alex and you have and always will be an integral part of our journey! CMD SBR



Yale L. Minn

Naval Flight Officer

Arnold Schwarzenegger, look out. Yale Minn has been training to beat you. His unorthodox lifting regimen of lugging a capless, 1 gallon jug of water throughout the Yard is bound to produce results. Also, Yale has been developing a mental edge to take you down. He has become a Korean mastermind of psychological warfare, employing daily "mindgames" with the Plebes, many of which have left them permanently scarred and confused. His countless hours of watching dehydrated men flexing in speedos will soon payoff, as will his urban rhythm and beat-boxing skills developed from listening to the hardest, hood-est kind of rap east of Compton. In all seriousness, Yale, we are very proud of you. You have really paid your dues and turned yourself around since you arrived. You represent what the Academy is ideally about – young men developing themselves over four years into capable leaders. Never stop believing in yourself and keep chasing your dreams



Michael G. Mourafetis

SEALs

Michael Mourafetis is one of the most active midshipmen at the Naval Academy. He would always make physical conditioning his last priority, with the understanding that the "best" leaders did not need to have mental/physical toughness. So he practiced his clarinet day and night, with hopes of leading men into combat one day, with his magnificent musical talents. He was an active supporter of many clubs, including: Drum and Bugle Corps, Masqueraders, the Bancroft Hall "Shawl-Dementors," Pipes and Drums, The Joy Bright Hancock Organization, SHAPE, Team AWESOME, and IST. His unwavering support of these clubs stem from his firm conviction that they produced the greatest leaders out of the Academy. However, Mike had some serious social issues. His lack of style led to people offering him food and shelter with the belief that he was homeless. His star performance in The Spivey Ultimatum, led to 3 Academy Award nominations. All 3 nominations stemming from the Shaving Kit scene. During the Dark Ages, Mike discovered Hiphop/Rap Music and Lady Gaga. In all seriousness though Mike, we are so happy to have been your friend for the last 4 years. We only hope that you continue to grow, and achieve the "impossible." Watching you win Brigades, and seeing you rock out to "we are the champions" with I-foley, the morning you were selected for "chaplain corps" will always stick with us as really special memories.

Kathy J. Mun

Surface Warfare Officer

Under the false name of K-Money, Kathy is known for her kind yet mysterious nature. On the weekends, she secretly computer chats with a red headed spy (codenamed "Comrade Goose") who undermines Hollywood movies with his Communist ideas. Who knows what secrets were passed under those headphones. When Kathy isn't partaking in cyber espionage, she becomes the raider of King Hall, destroying food contracts with Tupperware containers and her uncanny obsession for oranges and exotic Asian teas. But to her friends, Kathy is known as quite possibly the most dedicated English major to walk the halls of Mother B. Successfully completing all those papers (thanks Dickens!) and finding the love of her life is no easy feat. So its full speed ahead to San Diego for Kathy, or as her favorite zombie from the Walking Dead would say, "Ehhhh…."

Andrew J. Owens

USMC Ground

Owens the lover boy works hard and plays hard. Girls want him, guys want to be him. His Christian values instilled in him at a young age by his loving parents serve him well to make him a charismatic young man that attracts everyone. However, he gets himself in too deep, falls way too hard and way too fast. He has a fatal attraction to any girl with the name Steph. He has plenty of friends; one even taught him a new accent and dialect, Thanks Stephen Meidus. His steady eddy demeanor and, "I've never had a bad day in my life" attitude will make him a great Marine Corps officer. It is a privilege to have Andrew Owens as your friend.

Dillon T. Pierce

USMC Ground

Who knew John Mayer got totally pitted? This Laguna Beach resident was deemed too chill to appear on the TV show, but that didn't stop him from scoring one of the teenage adorers of the program. His penchant for California girls was almost put to a stop by the Mormon religion, in a flash of horror from which he barely escaped with his life. Chesty Puller himself came back from the grave to steal Dillon from the EOD community and guide him on his journey to become the next James "Mad Dog" Mattis. Cruising down The 50 in his Camborghini Merci, no amount of RVCA tanks can keep this golden boy warm on the least coast. Fair winds and fol… oh wait, Marine Corps… See you at Pendleton, Devil Pup.

Benjamin L. Putbrese

Navy Pilot

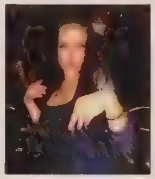
"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat."

Edward Y. Ro

Surface Warfare Officer

Straight cheese! Whether it was on the FIFA field or the Call of Duty battlefield, Ed "Woah" Ro always had a drive for competition. This insane tactician has at his disposal the skills needed to put experienced gamers and n00bs in their place. His success in the real world parallels his success in the virtual realm. Woah can, for instance, look back at an accomplished four years in which he juggled two majors, redefined Academy hair standards, and took on DTA bars like a champion. Ever the ladies' man, Ro has stolen the hearts of multiple members of the female variety. This was best seen by Ed's relationship with a particular (of-age) drag his plebe year (something you can ask him about on your own time). And of course we can't forget about Ro's awesome time at Ring Dance (also something you can talk to him about). The class of 2013 is proud to graduate with Ed BRo, and we can't wait to see what's in store for this SWO in the future. Quite frankly, art imitates life and Ro imitates art.

Sarah E. Rupp



Navy Pilot

Sarah Beth hath groweth betwixt many places around the world but claims a hometown of Herndon, Virginia. Her brain and emotions were in just as many places on I-day when she came rampaging into the room with a canvas bag bigger than her 5'2" body of fury and intensity. She hath successfully transformed this energy into eloquently expressed passion through her English Major. Sarah Beth found herself in France on many occasions including semester abroad. Yet wherever Sarah Beth is, boys find themselves chasing this genuine Galway girl to the ends of the Earth. Little do they know, she's running in circles. After battling through some "short"-comings, Sarah Beth shall be a Navy Pilot who shall fly like a butterfly. Her future is more certain than the present in that her liveliest dreams shant be unlived to the fullest, whether tis riding horses through the greenery of Ireland, healing needy souls, propagating majestic melodies through her violin as the songbird of the generation, or gracing the exotic places of the world with her beauty. Wherever God takes Sarah Beth, we art sure she shall bring blessings and joy to those around her as she hath with us hither. Her passion for life shall drive her to great adventures and we can't wait to be a part of them for the rest of our lives. SB, we love thee, thy honesty, thy passions, thy crazy emotions and analytical thoughts just the same, and we couldn't have asked for a better best friend! CMD ARM

Roberto A. Schneider

Navy Pilot

Roberto Juan Pablo Eduardo Sanchez-Schneider, Attempting to fool everyone by imitating an immigrant farmer, this Mexican Prince is the heir to a vast fortune. Unfortunately, his massive amounts of wealth were not enough to keep his girlfriend from going on a mission trip to Africa. He chooses Corona over Guinness like he chooses a Chipotle Burrito Bowl over going on an amazing trip with his best friends. He doesn't work out often, oh wait, that's all he does. But only to look good. And Scott loves it. But then again, we all love it too.

Michael W. Simpson

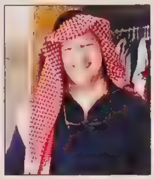
Navy Pilot

Mike Simpson is a man of great worth(lessness). If there is one great skill Mike has mastered, it is sitting aside watching others work and then having the balls to tell them how to do it better. Mike took a great interest in volunteering his time at a local farm the last year and a half at the Academy. I say volunteering his time instead of work because, well, let's be honest, he didn't work. Standing there like a sack of potatoes is doing nothing but wasting time. Mike has been a romantic since his time at NAPS, and it has cost him dearly. His "romance" cost him a new windshield and countless other misadventures that shall not be discussed for protection of his victims. Not only is Mike a modern day Romeo, but he also a self-proclaimed genius. He constantly brags about being smarter than everyone else, yet when the time comes to it he can't seem to help a single person with academic help. And, even though he supposedly validated the subject, his study partner who never even took Chemistry in high school schooled him on that section of the FE. Let's not forget how Mike always claims how poor he is even though he's driven nothing but BMW's until his new "ferocious" four cylinder. In all actuality, Mike has chosen the perfect career choice for him, Navy Pilot, where he will never have to work out but simply "fly" through the schooling and make a career sitting on his ass.

Steven Spada

USMC Pilot

Steven Gerald Spada. Deceptively hairy for someone of non-Italian descent, can frequently be spotted at Olive Garden or Cece's Pizza, trying to fit in. Who loves Rammstein, Toucan Sam, Roondawg, and spelunking more than this arthritic, balding, worry-free Sicilian? A recipient of more nose jobs than Michael Jackson and Sarah Jessica Parker combined, he abandoned his football scholarship for a much more rigorous pursuit of intramurals. We're all sure, kind of, that you'll fly your helo better than an RC plane. Semper Fidelis, Devil Pup.



John-Rex Spivey

Navy Pilot

Hardened from humble beginnings in the badlands of Northern Arkansas, John-Rex Spivey arrived at the Naval Academy with a vision in his mind and a passion in his heart. Our Class President's direct, non-political demeanor and ability to readily admit his faults soon won over the respect of his peers. John-Rex was also an incredibly active Midshipman. When not leading prayer groups at the local IHOP, or training for his next ultra-marathon, he could be found poring over historical documents and philosophical literature, all in the name of self-betterment. On a personal level, John-Rex never once complained about his workload or leveraged his overwhelming responsibilities to escape from normal Midshipman duties. He was extremely generous, often lending his school supplies or food out to those who asked; always without hesitation. He was also extremely disciplined, never once sleeping-in past 0530 or breaking with his strict, ascetic diet of herbs and roots, which he learned during one of his annual training trips to the unforgiving Philmont wilderness. John-Rex, we look forward to witnessing your history-altering accomplishments and telling our grandchildren that we were once in your presence. Remember us with benevolence when you clasp the world in your talons of authority. God speed, young Arkansan!

Luke A. Stephenson

USMC NFO

Luke Alexander Stephenson's epic tale has five chapters: feces, hellcat, nair, ladies, and cops. But those aren't the chapters. The boy with the golden pipes, for some reason, sought help for his IBS in… optometry? Unsuccessful, he befriended a hellcat for her handiwork. In the interest of a smooth and slick execution, he decided to clear the way regularly. A pinnacle of sober decision-making, this man has earned the gnome in parked cars, New Jersey residences, and a closet. This big brother will never let his dad down… or his high and tight. Semper Fidelis, Devil Pup.

Zachary P. Westlake

Submarines

The infamous ninja of 28th Company. When you meet this future submariner, you need to be aware that he has formed his own language during his years here. His inner circle cannot predict the words that may come out of his mouth. He spent his time here on the croquet pitch and was a member of that flag football team that took themselves too seriously. Zach found trouble when rooting for his sports teams: Browns, Indians, Cavaliers, and Liverpool FC never game him anything to root for, but he's a good sport. He was famous for hurting himself, whether he was snowboarding or opening his con locker and busting his forehead open. To consul his injuries, he quickly invested his sub bonus into dressing fancy for all the wrong occasions. Just ask him about his unofficial J. Crew, Oakley, and Brooks Brothers sponsorships. Hopefully by now he has canceled his sponsorship to Tiffany's. Now that he is single, his eyes are set on one in particular and everyone nose who that is. He must not move to quickly, or he may end up spending the night in the shower. From interpretive dancing to failed parkour attempts, Zach was always a go-getter. Good luck in power school, and if not, see you out west the other day.

Class of 2014

Michael Ashmore

Kyle Auld

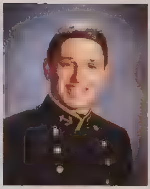
Sarah Bowman

Lorna Ceaser

Eugene Chang

Laura Collier

Catherine Cortesio

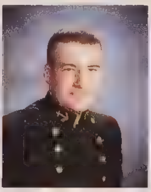


Evan Craig

Zachary Davis

Matthew Eblin

Samuel Gedeon



Matthew Harms

Alex Hayano

Erik Hoffstadt

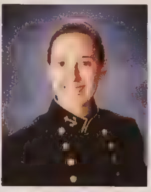
Brian Holloway

Daniel Jacquier

Quentin Johnson

Edward Klausner

Michael Klunder



Stephanie Lasch

Ryan Lluy

Zachary Marquez

Abigail Meyer

David Murtha

Seungun Myung

Joseph Price

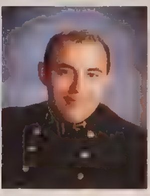
Joshua Rivera

Gabriela Scherer

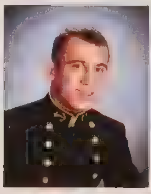
Colten Southworth

David Szabo

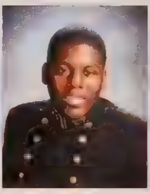
Ryan Thurman



Stephen Walsh



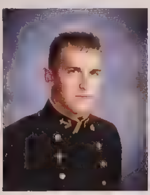
Samuel Warne



Kenyon Williams

Samuel Womack

Class of 2015



Christopher Adsit

Eric Bermudez

Christina Blair

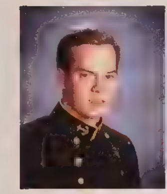
Samantha Brennan

Trebor Buck

William Campbell

John Carbone

Reuben Carson



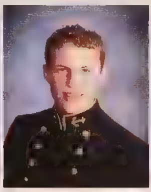
Thomas Cranford

Samantha Dasilva

Ashlee Davis

Joshua Forgacs

Geoffrey Fries



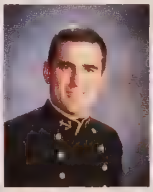
Zachary Gates

Christopher Geer

Amanda Graham

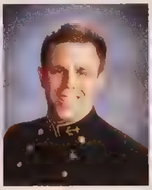
Blake Hamilton

Adam Harris



Timothy Kerner

Jonathan Kim

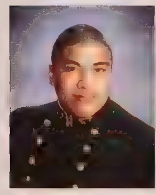


Henry Kincaid

Charles Lamar

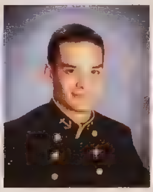
Carrington Lewis

Hamzah Lodge



Christopher Maligsa

Patrick McDonough



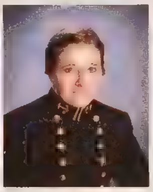
Julius Melero

Justin Menke

Charles Peck

Max Schlessel

Elizabeth Shields



Savannah Stafford

Katrina Thompson

Wilson Valle

Kevin Whitlock

Tiana Williams

Hassan Zihan

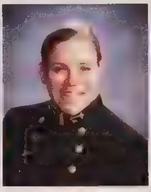
Class of 2016

Thomas Allen

Archie Bass

Kathleen Braun

Zachary Ceroli



Molly Chandler

Daniel Desouza

Kristine Doan

Teresa Falesmeadows

Sawyer Gilmore

Joshua Gong

David Groh

Andrew Hettenbach

Thomas Hetzel

Peter Igras

Nikolas Jaqua

Daniel Kinnamon

Casey Knapp

Mario Kohn

Nathan Kwon

Barbara Lesko

Jacob Lindsey

Samuel Lott

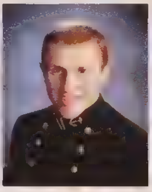
Justin Maguire

Bryce McMurrey

Rex Montes

Derek Moore

Nicholas Musquiz



Quincy Page

Joy Pearson

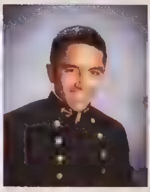
Kathryn Porter

James Rice

Mikaela Robbins

Nicole Skaggs

Caleb Smith



Neeraj Talegaonkar

Daniel Thompson

David Von Savage

John Wilkinson

Bradley Williams

BACK TO BACK
WORLD WAR CHAMPS
Bud
BACK TO BACK
WAR CHAMPS
U. S.

Company

29

Jared C. Anongos

For Laundry ONLY
NO Pull-ups

Submarines

Jared Anongos, aka Boo-Boo, aka the cutest Mid in the brigade, aka Jabred Abongos. Do you know his sister? Because you should. He was so great as Company Commander for Leatherneck that he was recommended to be a Private in the Corps. He enjoyed the Marine experience so much that he chose to join them after graduation…the Submarines. He does his part to save the environment by only wearing one pair of socks a week. Go out with this guy and watch him tear up the dance floor, but look out for the walk back.

Ryan M. Benito

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Timothy R. Benoit

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

For Laundry ONLY
NO Pull-ups

John R. Bolchoz III

Submarines

John Robert Bolchoz III is a bar sitter and comes from a long line of bar sitters. His hobbies include playing the banjo and 0530 workouts. He can most likely be found making new friends up-stairs at Armadillos or testing the quality of his rack. His biggest fear is walking alone and being judged by everyone who passes him. He is best known for requesting YP's for summer training and for the number of "boys" he has. John is one of the saltiest mids in the Brigade and transferred to the Naval Academy after a short time at Ball So Hard University. He is a great friend unless you do not agree with everything he says, and then he hates you.

Joseph W. Boykin

USMC Ground

On the most beautiful September morning in 1989, on the highest and most remote mountain of South Carolina's Appalachia, a baby was born. The birds sang and the angels descended from the heavens to celebrate. This baby was Joseph Boykin, and he has become a man. The journey to manhood for baby Joseph William Boykin has been a story of underdog triumph and determination. Having been diagnosed at age four with two lazy eyes and acute attention shortness, his dogged perseverance has carried him through his many trials and tribulations as a midshipman. Despite having lifelong dreams of becoming a world renowned foot model for Sketchers, he is thankful he failed miserably at this goal and instead decided to pursue a prestigious career as a Marine, following in the footsteps of both his father and older brother. Having finally found his calling, Joe will surely excel both professionally as a Marine Officer and as a man wherever life may take him. Success is certainly on the horizon for this exceptional young man, and his many family and friends are proud. Semper Fidelis Jaboykin and good luck!

William B. Brundage

USMC Ground

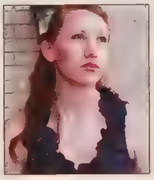
Will Brundage throws a heck of a house party. Former Club Lax President and a Supe's List regular, his impeachment was due to him "not being a crook." Although he's graduating with honors in the easiest major offered, he does less than an hours worth of work each night. He'll be fighting the good fight as a devil dog in the USMC. If you haven't seen the fight in him yet, just mention his stunning sister. Seriously. He ended up living with Siefring, Evans and Hickey after Hanton and Chilton deemed him unworthy of being in their three man. Thanks a lot Kotler. But in all seriousness, he's a great friend and loyal roommate that is a pleasure to be around. Good luck in the Corps brother.

Nicholas S. Campbell

SEALs

Nick Campbell, a man of true perseverance and loyalty. Dumb enough to take on the weight of CC, Sea Trial Staff, and 2nd semester firstie year, but smart enough to grit it out in the hardest major at the Naval Academy, EE. This goon originally showed up to the school single, not so ready to mingle... Little did he know he would be dating a Taylor Swift-esque looking girl somewhere down the road. Nikolai is also one of the crazy young lads that can operate effectively on very little sleep. Gettin big is one of his favorite activities, but the kid can still run a PRT under 9 minutes. An upstate New York and Iceland native (Yes, Iceland), this dude is also impervious to the cold. Foreshadowing SEALs? A best friend and homie, Nick will never be forgotten... Except when on a submarine, cuz we can't really talk to each other anyways.

Lauren K. Carpenter



Submarines

Lauren Kay Carpenter aka Lau-Lau aka Magi Carp aka The Ginja Ninja. Yes, Kay is a real middle name. Just because she gives you "Eww go away" stank face it doesn't mean she hates you. That stank face she wears has won even her worst enemies over, so before you write her off think twice. Whether she's yelling in the Mid-Store, having Dance Night in her room, eating an orange with the peel still attached or discussing how old the Earth actually is, she probably has a stank face on. Don't take it personal, it's an Icelandic Princess kinda thing. WARNING: DO NOT ASK "Why don't you smile more often."

Bryan J. Coco

Navy Pilot

Bryan Joseph Coco hails from the town of Cromwell, CT. Don't know where that is? Nobody does. In his four years at the Academy he transformed from an 18 year old boy into a 22 year old boy. He also managed to learn a science that the Native Americans perfected using neither science or math… making a boat float. He became the first person in Naval Academy history to get cut from the sailing team on the first day. Everyone is still waiting to meet this Brazilian nanny who you claim "exists" and is a "real person." Sloppy.

Jacob A. Coffey

USMC Pilot

Jacob Coffey, hailing from the great country of McKinney, Texas. Texas huh? Must like big trucks and meat. Wrong! Drives a 1943 X-terra and can't finish a chicken wing. But he will eat any burger with bourbon or Jack Daniels in the name. His shoulder lean is enough to make even Young Dro jealous. Got clippers? Doesn't matter, its either a tall fade or a wrinkly scalp for this guy. Lookout when he takes the mound because its Coffey Time!

Kristopher L. Dissette

Naval Flight Officer

Kris Gallardo-Warren-Dissette's reflection in the mirror is tired of looking at him. He enjoys wearing short shorts and even shorter bathing suits. Fantastic golfer, just make sure you have 6 hours to play four holes. Kris doesn't need water, he runs purely on RBV. He spent more nights on the floor than in his rack. What does that truck get like 10 miles to the gallon? Yeah, try 8. For more information be sure to check out his profile at bodybuilding.com

Sean M. Dooley

Surface Warfare Officer

Sean Dooley is a man of extraordinary character. He is a 2009 Napster and hails from the great state of New Jersey. His years at the Academy have been very spectacular, and he has accomplished many great things. He was one of the only males to make the girls basketball team even though he never saw playing time. Sean easily had the most exciting and romantic Ring Dance of any midshipman, and has become a Ring Dance legend. He loves playing the game of golf with his boys, however, he wishes his high score on the course would translate to the classroom. Above all else, Sean Dooley is a great friend and roommate. He would go above and beyond to help out those around him, and that will translate directly into the fleet for him. Sean has become a great leader, and will be an exceptional Naval Officer. He is loved by all, and we wish him the best in his future endeavors.

Lucas J. Evans

Submarines

Lucas Evans' spidey senses are always tingling. He approaches his love life like a game of Pokémon… ya gotta catch em all. Growing up in rural Illinois taught him how to milk cows and avoid drinking the devil's water. He is used to watching livestock get slayed, so he is not fazed by his short term relationships. He has a strong dislike for dogs on death row and roommates confusing the shower and trash can for a urinal. After graduation he'll be an arctic fox in the deadliest Submarine force. He is single handedly responsible for Brundage, Siefring and Hickey passing every alpha. The best roommate and friend a person can ask for. Run silent, run deep brother.

Nicholas R. Fowler

USMC Pilot

Nicholas Fowler, AKA "Hickey Nicky" honestly embodies the true spirit of all Nashvillians. Honestly, this knife handing go getter is the first Midshipman to have never been wrong. Honestly, never. Although living in a Yankee state for four years, he has not yet lost the capability of dialing up or down his southern twang when need be—you know, girls. A social butterfly, this southern gentleman has acquired quite The List. Nick aspires to be the POTUS after a short stint as a Marine Corps JAG. Unbeknownst to him he will be completing a short 30 year career as a Marine Aviator. However, if all else fails there is always a life in organized crime…most likely any position at the U.

Anthony M. Gutierrez

USMC Pilot

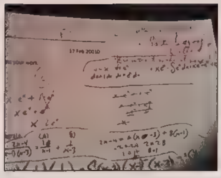
Gucci Mane...Hide your wife, hide her kids, hide your detailer, and the list goes on and on. Is it taco night? Scoring on the savage goalie and then the linebacker. Went back to high school to finish up English. "I'm not listening to you today." Following in Tyler's footsteps, you know the code.. Never have I ever drank Malibu in the Dominican Republic. Is it mine? That's a wrapp.

Destini R. Henderson

Naval Flight Officer

Destini Raven-Aerial Henderson, lost Queen of the powerful H-Town, was the most courageous of all Plantagenet Monarchs. By the time she was 16 she had a recaptured all French lands to the East. She was beloved by her people, using the Scepter of Sciencia Generale to send all taxes back to the poor and the widowed women. Her armies pledged their life to her, refusing pay out of their love for Queen and Country, and she lead them ferociously into battle. Tall and statuesque, she was the envy of all her enemies in court, but masterful and tactful enough to reign for hundreds of years. The Navy has never seen such a force as our adored Queen.

Nolan C. Hickey



USMC Ground

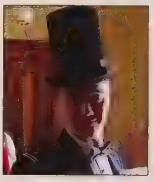
The Marine Corps is fortunate to get this young Devil Dog because Big Hicks truly does it all. Like a good Irish Catholic, he drinks, he swears and he chases women among the best. If you need proof of Nols' giant exploits just see Larry or Holly circa 2011. Both will attest to tales of the great oil spill and crumbling ceiling of a once magnificent shrine. Most importantly the Corps will find absolute loyalty in this young Marine, a characteristic that makes Nolan a great friend to many people. He will sacrifice beyond expectations to ensure the well being of a friend. His selfless actions and his unconditional love for the people close to him define Nolan as a great man and a loved brother.

Grace B. Howard

Surface Warfare Officer

Grace Breland Howard, known as English Hannah by some and G-Money by none, hails from Potomac Maryland. She showed up to plebe summer with a broken nose and was known to many as "that weird girl" a label she had worked hard to change but sadly just missed the mark. Perhaps if we had one more year? When she is not busy double majoring in Political Science and Economics she spends her time hanging with Jesus, not knowing the names of popular movies and actors, not eating gluten or dairy (as she is allergic to both) and not finding places out in town where she has been to a million times. Seriously, she had to GPS how to get to Moes from gate one. If you're reading this and you find yourself on her ship one day, have no fear. Out in the open ocean there are no street signs or familiar landmarks to inhibit her navigation skills, so I'm sure you'll never get lost. Having captured the heart of a certain 1nd class during her youngster year cough cough her plebe squad leader, Grace will be getting married this summer. She is an amazing roommate and friend who has an exciting life ahead of her and will be missed terribly.

Jeffrey A. Inloes



Navy Pilot

If I am ever a distinguished graduate of this fine institution they will read this at the DGA ceremony- Brigade, know that I am probably equally as unhappy for having to be here. Romans 8:18

Joshua A. Kotler

Medical Corps

Genius, billionaire, playboy, philanthropist. It takes a lot of "moxy" (as Class President Spivey would say) to fill the shoes of Josh Kotler. Josh is definitely a social and tactical asset to your DTA bar-hopping team. He even founded his own team (the Hooligans). Aside from the nightlife, Josh has had many successes these last four years in the fields of chemistry, medicine, and swagger. He is credited for founding the 29th company "Loose Cannons," as well as being the first midshipman to implement hardwood floors into the Bancroft room design. His fortress, Chateau d'If, became a famous lounge for bros and scholars alike. When he isn't teaching graduate-level courses, delivering babies, or driving RHIBs, Josh can be found in his study sculpting ways to improve our future. As the Sixth Battalion Commander, Josh was an inspiration to (most of) his midshipmen, leading his companies to extended liberty and free weekends. One of his classmates recalls him as being "the fourth coming of awesome." We don't know where life will take Kotler or where Kotler will take life. However, one thing is for sure: these colors don't run, and neither does Josh Kotler.

Hannah M. Mayer

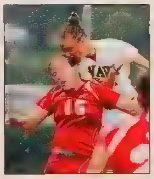
Naval Flight Officer

Like any good 29-er, Hannah Marie Basinger Mayer loves squirrels. She loves their fluffy tails and beady eyes and the way they nibble acorns – but most especially the way they taste when you cook 'em. (Just ask the muskrat skins sitting in the mini-freezer of 8344.) This Ohio girl's wardrobe comes in just two colors: woodland camo and hunter orange. As far as fabric goes, though, velour is the only way to go. She's laughed her way through the Academy, quoting Disney movies, fencing on occasion, and picking mulch for her pockets along the way. Her knowledge of oceanography and brief involvement with YP Squadron will no doubt serve her well as a naval aviator. Always a pleasure and never a bothah, Hannah's goofy sense of humor and compassionate attitude will be missed by all those who know the legends of the Dark Farm.

Stephen V. Patane

Explosive Ordnance Disposal

Stephen (pronounced Steffffff- Hon) Patane is a 50 year old hipster man trapped in a 22 year-old's body. Stephen predicated his Ocean Engineering studies by attending the prestigious Blair Academy - you probably haven't heard of it. This fake tan, steroid popping, hair gelled Guido hails from the Jersey Shore. His hobbies include rowing, boats, hipster food, talking about fiat and researching the stock market. During his academy career Stephen missed zero football games, despite knowing little to nothing about the game. Stephen looks forward to having his own talk show "Now that's some good football!" which will follow his successful career of being an EOD officer. To ensure this success Stephen must always remember his roommates' advice…" DON'T CUT THE RED WIRE!"



Fallon S. Puppolo

Surface Warfare Officer

Fallon, Fallonia, Pup, Poo Poo Low, Fall- She might not be the biggest talker but she makes a statement on the soccer field. Soccer is not her only identity though. She's a super smart woman who always claims she "failed that test" only to get a 98 on it. You can always get the attention of Fallon by either talking about soccer, Germany, Duke basketball or puppies. Don't be fooled though, she is not ACTUALLY German. She only lived there in high school, but she will go to the grave claiming that Germany is her homeland. Fallon has been a best friend since the first day of practice plebe year and has been the most faithful person I have ever met. She is an amazing woman who will be successful in whatever she does in life. Fallon is the type of friend that you don't have to talk to every day, but when you need her she is always there no matter what. It will be tough saying good bye but I know we will forever be friends. Good luck in Florida Fallonia, you're going to be one sexy SWO MAMMA! Rah.

Emma C. Quinn

USMC Ground

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Lorenzo J. Santos

Surface Warfare Officer

Lorenzo, also occasionally known as 'Renzo…where to start? There have always been two sides to this man of mystery. Some people may know him as the consummate professional. That is, the man who shined his shoes every morning throughout plebe year and who went through at least a can of starch per week. The man who dressed as the ultimate swotivator not once, but twice, for Halloween. The man who loved his uniform so much that he slept in it just because he could. His other side, however, is where his true personality shines. The master of navigating Expedia, Hotwire, and Travelocity, and the guy who always knows how to have a good time. The future expert of all things Chinese. The roommate to always count on and one heck of a friend. He'll have no problem finding himself at home on the high seas.

For Laundry ONLY
NO Pull-ups

Stephen C. Scott

USMC Pilot

Even though Stephen was our diplomat to the brass as company commander, he would still kick it with the boys on the weekend. Whether it was out in DTA, Philly, or throwing down in Georgetown, it was always an exciting night. He's always looking for that KO. Stephen doesn't discriminate, after all age is just a number. Known as the biggest flirt in the brigade. Enjoys candlelit dinners but didn't make much of an impression. Stephen who?

Seamus A. Siefring

SEALs

Habitual rule breaker Seamus "Moose" Siefring is the only Midshipmen to graduate this year with missing more classes than he attended over a four year period. This is the same guy who went from "Mid of the Month" as a plebe, to Training Sergeant as a second class, to Rugby captain junior and senior year, to SEAL select, to 29th Company public enemy number one with one month to graduation. When his MIDS excusal wasn't "Lifting in Wes Brown," he was taking Bill the Goat to the vet for his "daily check-ups." He is living proof that love at first sight can come in the form of Summer Seminar, where he met the port to his starboard, Kelcie Davis. He has been told by many of people that he won't make it here…they couldn't be more wrong. Get wet and sandy brother.

Scott Stamer

Submarines

Scott or Scotty for those that know him, including any person who has given him a casual "What up homie" or fistbump in his life. Or simply held their hand up in some fashion that begged Scotty to bump it. There is only one thing that this zombie-slayer is more passionate about than his home, San Diego, that is his feelings for the Marines around the yard. That is why he forwent his dreams of playing with bombs to join the best Corps, the Submarine Corps.

Austin J. Toombs

Navy Pilot

Austin J. Toombs is a man of many talents from a long lineage of naval offisisfers. This rock dangling, trap skeeting, gnar shreading, Crayola coloring, Joe XO loves to write the occasional essay. On weekends you will find him at any local college, with a questionably dry pair of jeans. When having a conversation, Austin is ALWAYS attentive to every detail said, never getting distracted by the most recent meme or subreddit. In the near and distant future, you can catch Austin flying the skies, always with a bag of goldfish or a half-eaten, day old sandwich.

Joseph J. Urbashich

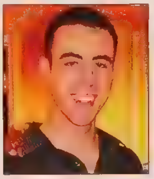
"Midshipmen are persons of integrity: They stand for that which is right. They tell the truth and ensure that the full truth is known. They do not lie. They embrace fairness in all actions. They ensure that work submitted as their own is their own, and that assistance received from any source is authorized and properly documented. They do not cheat. They respect the property of others and ensure that others are able to benefit from the use of their own property. They do not steal."

Michelle L. Verbeeck

Information Professional

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Philip J. Watterson



Naval Flight Officer

Philip John Watterson, or P.J. for short was mostly quiet and kept to himself, but when he spoke, he always had something worthwhile to say. The P.J. could stand for peanut butter and jelly as this is easily what he could be seen eating in King Hall on any given day. He might have thought it was a food group. PJ's style and flair was unique, probably only being bred from those exclusively from his hometown of Brookesville, Florida, famous for being the "Home of the Tangerine." Perhaps this is why PJ always hoarded bottles of V-8 fruit juice in his room's personal fridge and lit candles that smelled of sweet citrus. Whip smart, PJ performed well in the classroom and was a top notch manager of the tennis team. He was also always ready to bring cheer to the room by playing a few of Taylor Swift's latest hit songs. Four Years By the Bay just wouldn't have been the same without this roommate whose devilish smile could stop an Annapolis Au Pair in her tracks. Our nation can expect great things from this one.

Daniel J. Ziminski

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Class of 2014

Nicholas Aufderheide

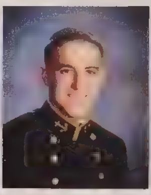
Benjamin Baltz

Carol Boyd

Alexandra Chan

Peter Chatry

Kristina Chepurko



Brian Colby

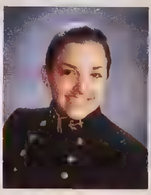
Jillian Coughlin

Vanessa Covarrubias

Cameron Crowell

Caleb Drogowski

Darian Durden



Gabriela Espino

Peter Freund

Jonathan Garcia

David Guerin

Jonathan Hurd

Yechan Kim

Karissa Kleinschmidt

Doyoung Lee

Kelsey Lee

Mario Mastriano

Micala Migneault

Landon Miller

Eric Nordquist

David Norman

Stephen Odell

William Pagliarulo

Marcus Perez

Alexander Reddinger

Paul Reese

Conor Rentz

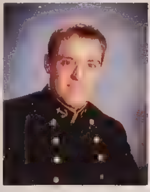
Jonathan Shontz

Jordan Tropf

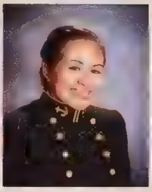
Christopher Valles

Benjamin Walters

Class of 2015



Leo Anderle



Audrey Andrade

Pablo Beltran

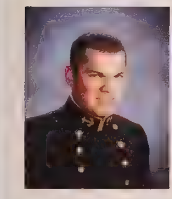
John Booth

Michael Calnan

Christopher Chase

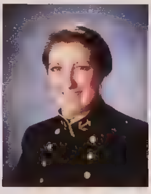
Brandt Clemons

Kyle Combado



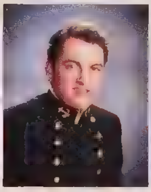
Blake Daniel

Phillip Ellsworth



Kristen Ewert

Matthew Faber



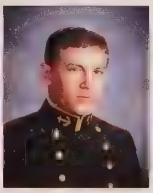
Troy Gargiulo

Daniel Golden

Steven Gregg

Katrina Herrera

John Hogan

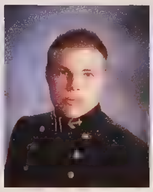


Tyler Husar

Caitlyn Jensen

McCrae Kempf

Samantha Lee



Austin Leicht

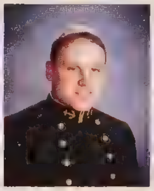
Andrew Lund

Raymond Matelli

Brendan McCarthy

Aran McMurtray

Luke Moore

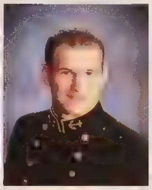


Adam Mosebar

Louis Nabors

Victoria Overton

Natasha Patterson

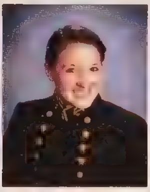


Kyle Poolman

William Pope

Keefe Rafferty

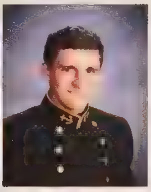
Edward Schultz



Ashley Strong

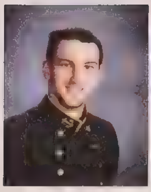
Brendan Tillman

Daniel Watanabe

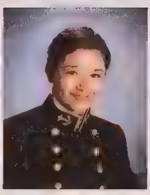


Samuel Wolborsky

Class of 2016



Jerome Alexander



Paris Bess

Brandon Boyd

Nicholas Cerf

Raymond Chow

Benjamin Cumberland

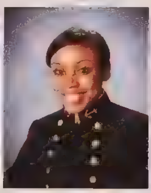
Matthew Cusack

Zachary Dannelly

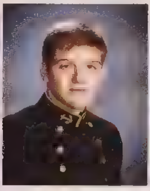
Jamie Francona

Kai Gamble

Corey Garcia



Maleah Gilchrist



Max Goldwasser

Reed Haley

Donal Hanlon

Julian Happy

Tautiana Harriott

Meghan Harvey

Andrew Hayes

James Hunter

Kent Iizuka

Haley Johnson

Batyrbek Kantarbayev

Andrew Karas

Cole Maetzold

Christian Martin

Joshua Mokracek

Miguel Nieves

Kelsey O'brien

Jordan Olson

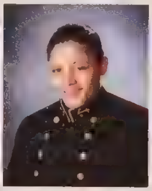
Andrew Peterman

Charles Reis

Vannara Sakbun

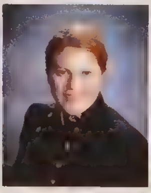
Cesar Segura

Star Steele



Geanna Verdeburke

Luke Voss



Amelia Wagner

Stephen Walsh

NAVAL ACADEM

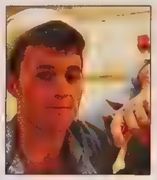
Company

30

Clarence W. Bell III

USMC Pilot

Clarence Bell III has seen his fair share of the States, but Maryland is where he calls home. Growing up within an hour drive to the Naval Academy, he glued his eyes to the prize at the age his counterparts were worrying about their first zit. Instead of begging his parents for the new and hottest cell phone, Clarence was one of few to beg and plead to be sent to the prestigious Hargrave Military Academy. Working his way to Cadet Battalion Adjutant, it didn't take long for him to know what he had to do to reach his first and ultimate goal. Flight. From knowing knowing the names of hundreds of aircraft in the sky to every tradition of the Corps, Clarence has prepared himself to reach above and beyond his goal to be a United States Marine Corps pilot. Walking the walk and talking the talk has led him through 4 successful years at the United States Naval Academy and stellar firstie year. He has a way with words, he's full of adventure and boat load imaginative ideas. All those close to him know of his caring heart and can't wait to see his future success. "There are no secrets to success. It is the result of preparation, hard work, and learning from failure." -Colin Powell



John M. Carlos

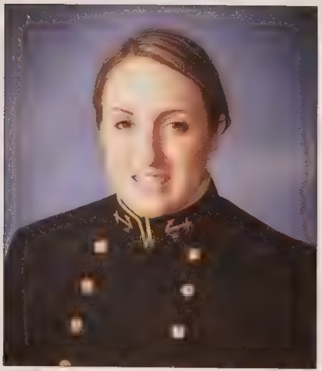
Naval Flight Officer

John Carlos, also known as Manya, the social butterfly and the songbird of our generation to name a few out of many. Hailing from the rough streets of Valrico Florida JC grew up by the Sea. This mid-hipster will always be ahead of the game in style, even if it never actually enters mainstream. Whether he is in the P-way stopping to speak to everyone that passes by or at his chosen watering hole Rams Head Tavern, JC can be seen socializing with someone just about all the time. Throughout his career in the arts here at the academy Manya has acquired a loyal following of admirers, though he always finds time for his underclass fans. This future aviator has been honing the skills that are needed to be a US Navy pilot. Whether it be the flow that draws the ire of chiefs and marines, ray-bans or the only-a-pilot-can-do-it attitude this man will be a great naval aviator. Seriously though from your roommates good luck JC and well see you again.

Austin L. Clover

USMC Ground

If Austin's life had a theme song, it would be Gym Class Heroes "Cupid's Chokehold." If you don't know why, then you don't know Austin. The physical mission is the only mission for Austin "The PT God" Clover. If you happened to walk into his room (the door was usually locked) you would have to wade through piles of empty cartons of creatine and protein. You could always count on Austin to walk into MacD at 5:30 complaining about how he had to get a pump on and that there were too many people there. If he wasn't in the gym, you could find him in the basement of Rickover putting in some long hours on Facebook complaining about how hard his Aero project is. Taking longer to get dressed than any woman, Austin CloveBro is one of the best men I know. SWEET BERRY WINE!



Katelyn E. Davidson

Surface Warfare Officer

Every year, firsties ask their friends to write them a funny Lucky Bag biography. Behold! This is that bio. No comedic biography can do justice to the laughter Katie Davidson bestowed upon the Brigade as editor-in-chief of the Log. Her "hard work" (for an English major) here paid off when she was selected to be a Marshall Scholar, thus ensuring a steady supply of fish, chips, and tasty beer for the next two years as she hunts for Platform 9¾. After second semester sadly dispersed the smartest room in the Brigade, she finished 1/C year strong by earning her never-NARP medal in swimming, a horrible sport that involves intentionally depriving oneself of air. Katie also stole this year's title of "Restrictee with the Highest CQPR" from yours truly. Katie Davidson will take Cambridge by storm, just like when the Vikings (who were also tall and blond) invaded the Anglo-Saxons.

Daniel P. Deland

USMC Ground

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Michael L. Dominik

Navy Pilot

Yeah they let me go pilot anyway! Looking forward to the trashy Pensacola life for at least this summer and if sequestration never ends who knows how long I'll be down there livin the life I lead. Dudewhywouldyouwanttojumpoutofaperfectlygoodairplane? You know I'm a good ole country boy from western Pennsylvania. GO STEELERS WE BLEED BLACK AND YELLOW IN DA BURG! You know beer's sooo much cheaper where I come from. No sense in letting that landshark poster go to waste. And on the eighth day the lord said let there be tailgaters! Dom, your roomies wish you the best in flight school. Rip up the airways and the next thing we know you'll be squadron commander. FWAFS bro. Panda, Chuck, n Manya

Jacob R. Ellis

Navy Pilot

Jacob Ellis is a dedicated midshipman who understands the value of time; the first few miles of a marathon should be adequate training to finish a marathon, and classes can be a wonderful opportunity to catch up on lost sleep. He was humble, never being one to only toot his own horn but frequently shared it with others and let them blow it also. Jacob enjoying a good story and loved the lore of Lord of the Rings, Star Trek, and The Dark Side of the Force. Always one to stand by his beliefs; Jacob Ellis is a trusted friend, a dependable midshipman, and the fleet will be better with him on their side as a Navy Pilot.

Brittany E. Fruin

USMC Ground

Brittany Fruin, aka Brit, B-Nasty, and sometimes Tonya, but always MUFFINS, is perhaps the nicest person ever. Service selecting Marine Ground, Brittany defeats the enemy by giving them diabetes because she is so sweet. Her contagious laughter is often heard bellowing throughout the hall in 30th company, with her new family. Loved by everyone she meets, Brittany has also been nominated for Best Oceanography Helper of the year. A constant source of inspiration on the Women's soccer team, she scored the winning goal against Army her 2/C year and the game winner in Patriots semi-finals this year. The only bad thing you could say about Brittany is that she doesn't like bacon, seriously?! Hailing from Virginia, the only person cooler than Brittany is her mom, Kim. Brit never sneaks out to Bikram, loves blasting mash-ups, and can't get enough reality TV. Brittany, as one of the greatest people we know, we want to say: "Get out of me" and "Cap it off." We love you! MUFFINS!

Todd M. Fuselier

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Anthony J. Gentry

USMC Pilot

Anthony Gentry is a man of great mystery. Despite his city-slicker good looks and uncomfortable knowledge of fashion, this man comes to us from the great country of Texas. Weighing in at a whopping 120 pounds and a towering height of 5 ft, 7 and ¾ inches, this man was made to be airborne. No doubt will he make a great addition to the C-130 community, not as a pilot but as a human surveillance camera. He will also make a great Marine because he doesn't take "no" for an answer. Whether it be "secret" relationships that miraculously surface when he love-chits out his Firstie year, finding enough time to patent the "Gentry Poof," or surmounting near-deathly slow internet speeds to upload "selfies" to Facebook, this man knows how to get the job done. The United States Marine Corps is lucky to have this brother to many.

Todd A. Gerald

Submarines

To read or not to read? "Semper read." His favorite Pandora station is silence. "Uhhhhhhhhhh." A four year letter winner and truly talented Varsity Sleeper. GO NA_Y. "Mammaaaaaaaa." A mamma's boy at heart, whether it's Mother G, or Mother Russia. You've got a secret.... this man's willing to listen. (Just don't try reaching his cellphone, it's not on him) "Running my mouth!" Extremely helpful around Alpha time, especially when it comes to sterilizing the shower. This fine Louisiana gentleman runs solely off of Columbian Bam Bam. Just look for its remains in the sink. When the fingers move, so too does the brain. If you need some southern charm attire, this is your guy. His seersucker suit would buckle any belle's knees. All in all, one of the more dedicated and helpful people you will ever meet. Good luck in your learning (and playing) in your sure to be illustrious career. Geaux Todd Geaux. Love, The Fellowhship

Mitchell R. Graves

USMC Ground

Mitch is the kind of guy who always points out the positive qualities in others while carrying a contagious smile, unless you get too chummy with him, then he might call you by the wrong name just so you know he doesn't care about you. He spent his time at the Academy procrastinating work while composing flamboyant dances to Katy Perry songs. His weekends and a ridiculous amount of his loan were dedicated to awkwardly tumbling out of airplanes. Unfortunately there was a parade the weekend of Bridge Day and his prestigious battalion position precluded him from joining the more courageous Navy base jumping team. Still how many people have rolled under a fence to escape an angry bull, not 5 seconds after agreeing to stick with his buddies? Mitchell is a great friend and will become a baller Marine.

Kyle M. Hanton

Surface Warfare Officer

Kyle Hanton, the poet laureate of the Brigade (he has the award to prove it) exudes classiness and grace in every action. From speaking German with exchange cadets to wearing a monocle to his British Literature class, Kyle seems as at home in a foreign country as its natives do. On any given weekend, you could find him at Ram's Head, finishing his Beer of the World card (further demonstrative of his international acumen), or if it's the right season, in Mahan Hall with the Masqueraders. While he left wrestling behind early on in his time at USNA, his combative spirit never did, and he quickly found a home in the fencing team, taking home medals and trophies on the foil squad as well as being the best XO and Bus Fleet Commander a guy could ask for. There's no doubt in anyone's mind, Kyle will be a SWOutstanding officer, and the Academy was a better place because of him.

William R. Harris

Submarines

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Elizabeth G. Hegarty

Navy Pilot

She hails from the Boros— Southborough, Massachusetts that is. True to her New England roots, pearls and Tom Brady are this girl's best friends. If she is not practicing her Chinese, she is probably tearing up the field leading the Navy Field Hockey team to victory or getting her fitness on with Shaun T. One of the most poised and graceful people to walk these halls, Lizzie has been known to fill the room with sweet piano melodies or old school Nelly. Every day is a fairytale and the sun never sets on 8455 as long as Liz is around (and the Pats, Sox, and Celtics are winning). Whether it's jamming to J Biebs in the morning or keeping neighbors up at night with uncontrollable giggles, the presh times are never ending for the Dream Team. The dearest friend and best roommate ever, Liz is going to do great things. Really great things. Pensacola is calling, and this girl is ready to rock and rollski.

Matthew S. Kelley

USMC Ground

Hailing from Ohio, Matt spent his early years taking steroids and hanging out with his best friend Pauly Shore. When not battling Imhotep and his zombie army, Matthew enjoys a good ol' fashion back yard throw down. After completing his service Matt hopes to pursue his true passion, acting.

Harold J. Kim

Surface Warfare Officer

Harold "the Panda" Kim hails from Chicago, Illinois, but has had a lasting impact on the academy. As CC, the Panda led 30 in its quest to return to being dirty. Not only did he gain experience in multiple adjudications, the Panda developed personal relationships with the DepDant and other officials. The Panda's influence, however, has not only been limited to 8-4. He has spent many a day drinking through DTA. The Panda is a strong supporter of day drinking and is often found completely hammered before the sun begins its descent. In spite of his inclination towards alcoholism, the Panda is a "compassionate drunk." If he is not spending his inebriated moments in deep, heart-to-heart conversations, he will be found dusting, cleaning, or performing some other act of service. The Surface Navy will be aided by the Panda's inclusion, and may his future be as dirty as his past.

Ian M. Lassonde

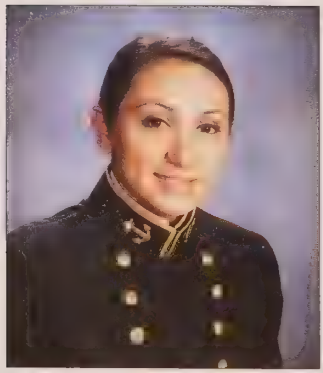
USMC Pilot

Hailing from Bedford, Hampshire, Ian "The Ghost" Lassonde has always cherished his healthy lifestyle. Always turning to his favorite meal, Peanut Butter and Jelly Sandwiches, for fuel; Ian cherishes the "getting huge" mentality of Mac-D. He consistently gets the proper rest by taking routine naps to be ready to go for his long days. Even on the weekends, Ian always is critical of his diet by only ordering a deluxe plain cheeseburger with extra ketchup as well as his "eat fresh" flat bread sandwich with steak, cheese, and ketchup at Subway. To add to his active lifestyle, Ian adds extra cardio to his regiment by moving to the beats of music in DTA. Ian's favorite things to work out are his hands, wrists, and eyes while watching the latest TV shows and cranking away computer code. With his preparation, Ian has added the perfect skin tone and lifestyle that will help him be an awesome aviator for the Marine Corps.

Brendan T. Lewis

Naval Flight Officer

Brendan Lewis.. talk about a RAW dude. From Brendy to B Lew, this guy has more aliases then he does girlfriends! Brendy can usually be found in a Syracuse jersey, sipping on some janky scotch, which he drinks to help gain approval from his older brothers. Brendan is mainly good for having a great time and acting extremely inappropriate. Unlike most, Brendan gets more immature with age. In fact, not much of Brendan has changed over the past four years, except his love for female midshipmen which has infinitely grown. If you can understand what he is saying through his thick (Auburn?) accent you would come to realize his love for life and family. While he sometimes puts on a tough guy persona, he truly is a softy at heart. From larry's, to rusty's, and finally to dogtown, B Lew has ruled them all, with a beer in one hand and a gal in his other…. Brendan drinks beers, well because Brendan drinks beers…



Kimberly A. Mahoney

Navy Pilot

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover."

Daniel D. Morales

USMC Ground

Daniel "Brown Bear" Morales hails from Ontario, California. He can be observed outside his natural habit, roaming the streets of DTA in his Vans and his LA Dodgers hat, complete with the sticker it came with. Throughout his years by the Severn, he never seemed to take PT seriously as he was a CAT V midshipman till Spring Semester Firstie Year. Despite this inherent disrespect for the weight room, he somehow managed to excel in his swimming classes. When it comes to academics, Danny has taken the road less traveled. Once a math major, he decided that a singular focus of study wasn't for him, deciding instead to become a master of all and to uphold the prestigious title of a "Scientist." His impeccable study skills that have enabled him to thrive academically mainly consist of watching UFC fight videos, documentaries, scrolling through Facebook, listening to the same song on repeat, and swearing repeatedly at his computer. Danny prides himself on being cultured and when he isn't playing country club sports such as tennis, he enjoys listening to the rock sensation Daughtry, expanding his tastes in high class establishments such as Subway, and experiencing close encounters with Twilight fan girls. We wish him the best of luck at TBS as he survives the Quantico High Lands and snores through every major brief.

Marina K. Nanartowich

Surface Warfare Officer

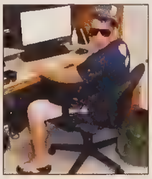
Marina Nanartowich goes by many names: Nana, Leadership, Chronicles, ½ of the Dream Team, and the list goes on. There's one thing everyone in Dirty Thirty can agree on: Marina is the nicest person in the history of the world. Like, seriously. She's like rainbows, unicorns, puppies, and giggles all wrapped up into one high-achieving-super-sweet ray of sunshine. Speaking of which, Marina's motto is "Bring Your Own Sunshine" (or BYOS for short). Whether it's by bringing friends to her home in the Burg to enjoy a delicious meal from Mama Narns, singlehandedly maintaining order and cleanliness in the Penthouse over PCB SB 13, or hand delivering super presh valentines to her classmates for four years running, Marina brings her own sunshine to everyone she meets. But don't let her "nicest girl in the world" title fool you- as 30th Company's Fearless Leader, this SWO Mama to be still knows how to run a tight ship up in the hallowed halls of 8-4. Everyone who has met Marina is a better person for having known her and the Navy is so lucky to count her in its ranks.

Charles E. Newnam

Navy Pilot

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Sean T. Parmigiane



USMC Pilot

Sean "Seany Bear" Parmigiane hails from Medway, Massachusetts and quickly made a name for himself at the Naval Academy. Looking very familiar to Ryan Gosling and having the deepest voice in the Brigade, this Masshole always gets the girls, whether it is back home, DTA, Spring Break, or on YPs. However, girls never made Sean truly happy; Sean finds real happiness in his academic achievements (making Supe's list twice) and the bottom of alcohol containers. He can always be counted on to never speak his very reasonable opinions and to always keep the wardroom store barely stocked. Being sick of the girls telling him "Baby, get in the water," Sean decided to join the Marine Aviation community. While Sean will miss the Naval Academy, he knows that better things lie ahead. He will do great at TBS and most likely drop his air contract for an adjutant spot. Make us proud Sean!

Paul R. Pedrotty

Naval Flight Officer

Pistol Paul: Have you finished eating yet? I'd like to look at your gluten free menu. I'm not paying for that gas. Can't drive the BMW over the bridge. Dipping your pen in company ink. This swim set is gonna make me vomit. Try less. Let's have a round of beers…or woodchuck ciders. Paul Perotty….no D. All American.

Charles J. Royster

Surface Warfare Officer

Charles Royster is from Gaithersburg, MD and if he hasn't told you, he went to NAPS. Once he made it to the Naval Academy he decided submarines were what he wanted to do, so plebe year he made sure he was not going to be SARBed. At the end of that year he decided that he wanted to stay up all night doing homework, unlike his aero roommates, as an economics major with a chinese minor. Royster is known for his vast knowledge on everything, don't believe me? Just ask him and he will tell you. Now he is going to the best duty station in the world, Norfolk, and will be a great SWO. FWAFS Chuck, From Manya, Panda, and Dom

Andrew J. Rydalch

Submarines

After two miserable years of actually going to formation and being told to tuck his shirt into his underwear Andrew was chosen by God for a higher calling. Armed with just his Scooby Doo lunchbox Andrew spent two years riding Splash Mountain at Disney World and feasting off the generosity of others multiple times a day until he was blessed with the opportunity to return to the Academy as a member of the Dirty. His lack of intelligence and low standards in women were the source of constant laughter, especially by his fellow Mech E. majors who had to hold his hand through all of his homework and laboratory reports. Even though Andrew must have cheated on his Sub interview, he is a loyal friend and will probably end up running America's nuclear program if he isn't conscribed for service as the King's Chancellor first.

Melanie D. Sluzewicz

USMC Ground

From the current roommate: Mel loves all of her fellow Midshipman, always has kind words to say about each and every member of the class of 2013. Our room is full of positivity and hard work. Rarely will you find Mel and me not hard at work, typing away furiously on our computers completing assignment after assignment. What is television? Don't ask us, because we don't know. Mel is the best roommate I could have ever asked for. After moving from 27th company to the dirty 30, she made my transition flawless. We have so much fun together in the room and out in town. I still don't know how you didn't know him Mel…..he's really popular and cool….? Hahaha love you Mel! But I hate sloths.

John R. Smith

Surface Warfare Officer

John "Randolph the Red" Smith hails from Richmond, Virginia. This rare breed of flying red panda enjoys all aspects of altitude, whether it be by way of a pole vault or parachute. Partially nocturnal, the panda prefers to sleep during the day and gets most of his work done at night. Jack has already found his Pocahontas, and plans to continue the supreme race of red-heads. When not in the air, this red panda will serve the US Navy as a surface warrior. Red Panda is fiercely loyal and luck will be with those who have the privilege of serving with him. -Manya, Dom, Chuckle

Jeffrey J. Trezza

Surface Warfare Officer

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Robert C. Veech

Naval Flight Officer

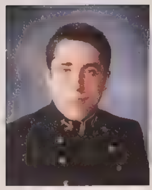
Craig Veech, the most stylish 230 pounder ever to barge into Bancroft Hall, set foot on the shores of the Severn as a two sport recruit destined to be a success in all things outside of Bancroft Hall. He owned the apartment, and Acme was his home, not the cult's. Craig was always a fan of extreme happiness and believed it was never too late to crush a wimp when trying to deal with the Bancroft blues. He could be found watching movies at any hour; Tombstone was a favorite. Who knew the King of Sweden lived in Ireland? Despite his claims that he is not a Midshipman, Craig's dedication to his friends and a heart almost as big as he is will give the fleet one awesome aviator. Follow his famous flow, and you'll find a true friend, a good time, and open arms.

Alexis M. Werner

Nuclear Surface Warfare

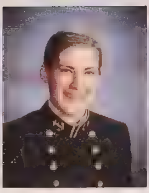
The queen moves to the Wild West away from her realm of raucous. The west, to west she goes while the base of DTA thumps in the east. Alas, she goes to hold court in the west. To Everett, Washington to be a Nuclear Surface Warfare officer where all she will want to do is dance.

Class of 2014



Brendan Adams

Matthew Aiken



Rachelle Ammond

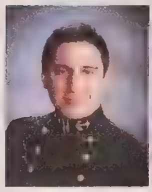
Lance Bell

Jeremy Bottomley

Paul Cho

Matthew Dalton

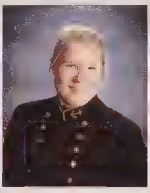
George Davros



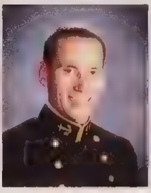
Robert Detchon

Joseph Dipietro

Andrew Edwards



Erin Fortner



Eric Fugleberg

Kelsey Henshaw

Andreas Jackson

Johnhenry
Klasinski

Kellen Lewis

Adam Locklear

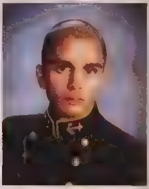
Christopher
Lowman

Clifton Luber

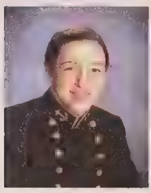
Sean M. Murphy

Marcus Nguyen

Victor Nguyen



Sahil Patel



Kara Pollinger

Katherine Poulin

Thomas Reed

Gavin Schelske

Katherine Smisson

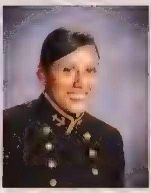
John Wilson

Nicholas Wohar

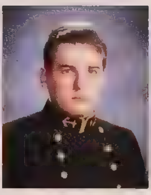
Benjamin Ziemski

Class of 2015

Stephen Arceneaux



Adriana Ayala



Charles Bowen

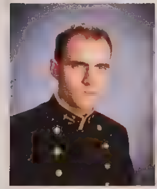
Matthew Brook

Joseph Carbone

Noah Copeland

Jordan Dix

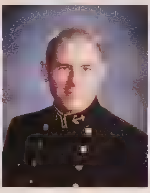
Manu Elias



Robert Fontenot

Sean Gallagher

Loren Generi



Sean Harper

Erik Henegar

Trey Hernandez

Alexander Johnson

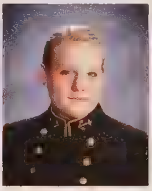
Ryan Kelley

Evan Kolodziejczak

Carolyn Laskey

Jorge Liberato

Kristen Liggett

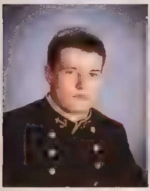


Breeda Mannion

Alec Marsico

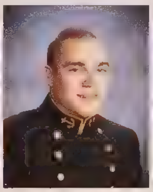
Peter McGee

Julie Miller



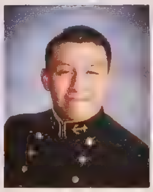
Seth Montgomery

Christopher Ormsbee



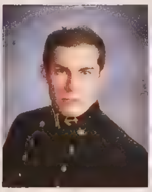
Colton Oviatt

Kevin Park

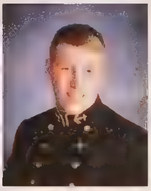


Nestor Sanchez

Lucas Stanley



Zachary Stocks

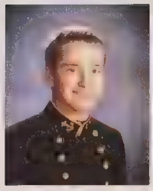


Kevin Stoddard

Ryan Vahsen

Mason Weber

Class of 2016

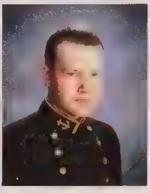


Lukas Allard

Jacob Amon

Shawn Banani

Lawson Brakefield

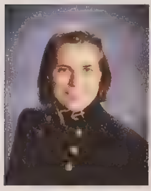


James Brisotti

Demond Brown

Michael Byrne

Joseph Cirillo



Jennifer Coletta

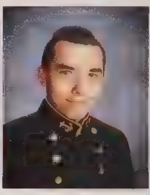
Tayler Davidson

Dakota Deverill

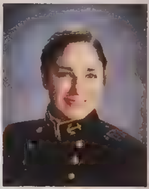
Steven Doan

Matthew Driskell

David Duchaine



Kieran Dziallo



Amy Epperson

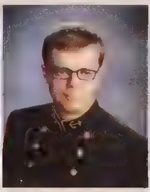
Brandon Foster

Kyle Fringer

David Johnson

Tyler McCarthy

James Michael



Michael Moore

Amanda Mulkey

Donald Nabity

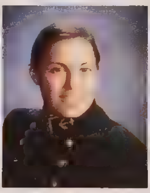
Christina Perez

Emily Phillips

Manuel Ramirez

Paul Raper

Conner Robertson



Katherine Rodrock

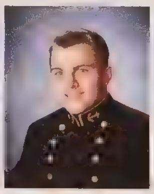
Onanong Smith

Samantha Steere

Marissa Stewart

Kyle Toto

William Warren



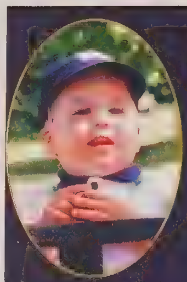
Lucas Weilbacher

Shelley White

Austin Wiemann

IDENS
ADEMY

Recognition



Matthew Ryan Lutch

Matthew,
We are so very proud of you. Your accomplishments at USNA, service selection, and Navy hockey captain. We love you dearly!

Congratulations,
Mom, Dad, Kelsey, Brendan and your entire family

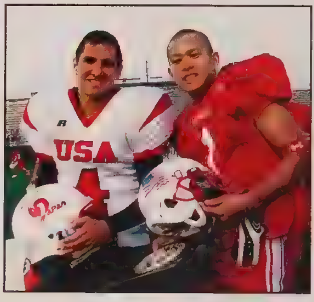
BOSTON
Bruins

CONGRATULATIONS ROLAND HANSEN



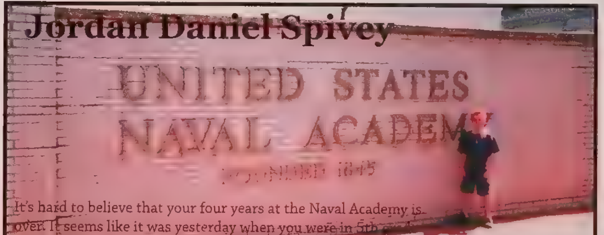
Roland all your hard work has finally paid off. We're so proud of you and your accomplishments. We wish you all the best as you embark on the next chapter of your life as a Naval Officer. May God continue to guide and protect you in all that you do.

Love,
Mom, Dad & Ryan

Elizabeth Milewski

Liz,
You were always a sweet little girl, an accomplished athlete, a brilliant student, a charming young lady, a devoted sister, a wonderful and loving daughter, and you've become a special woman. You'll be a great naval officer. You chose the road less taken and I'm very proud of you.
May God keep you always safe.
Love, Dad

Jordan Daniel Spivey



It's hard to believe that your four years at the Naval Academy is over. It seems like it was yesterday when you were in 5th [illegible] visiting, and decided this was where [illegible] wanted to attend college. You made it a goal and have lived that goal to it's fullest. You've made lifelong friends and have wonderful memories of the four years.
Words cannot express how happy we are for you and how proud you have made us your whole life. Good luck in the future and may you make all your goals and dreams come true.
We love you, Mom and Dad

Daniel Schmerber

We love you and are so proud of you!

Congratulations!

Mom, Dad, Rebekah,
and Sarah

Michael McPherson

Awesome Memories!

The memories are much too numerous to list. There are a few Honorables that are too precious to ignore. A few will start with: "The Devil Went Down to Georgia" on the fiddle while dancing at Country Steak House, or your imitation of Tom Cruise singing "Old Time Rock & Roll" in the talent contest. The trips to stand out starting with ski outings, Boy Scout trips (paddle 70 miles on the Missouri), being the best man at the Cajun wedding. All of your acting performances ..... "Oklahoma, Hello Dolly, Anything Goes." Harvey plus all the performance for the Naval Academy the last four years. Your flying the single engine on your 18th birthday and your experience and success at St. Mark's of Texas.

As Bob Hope Always Said,
Thanks for the Memories
Love,

Dad and Mom

Congratulations Michael!

We are so pleased and proud of your commitments, dedication, hard work, accomplishments and your success.

Your success of becoming accepted into the U.S. Naval Submarine Service is an exceptional accomplishment. We will continue to pray and support your success and happiness.

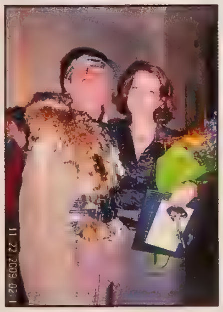
We also extend our Best Wishes and Prayers for the:

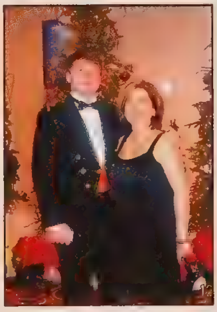
U.S. Naval Academy
Graduation Class of 2013

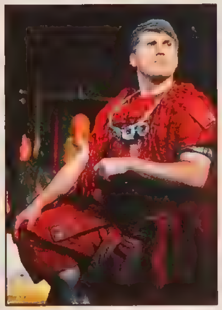
Love,

Mom and Dad

03.06.2010 02:22







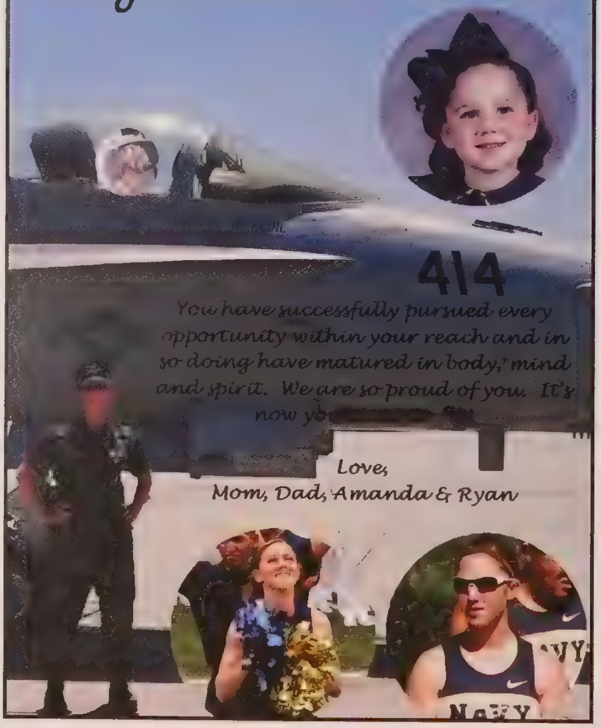
U.S. AIR FORCE

KATEY FORAN

From adorable toddler in pig tails to the beautiful, intelligent and strong young woman you've become... it can't be that long, but it is. We're looking at old photos and marveling at how much you've changed... and, fortunately, how much you haven't. You've become a self-assured adult who will make her mark on the world and yet still have the sense of humor that will make most anyone laugh so very hard. We wish you happiness, adventure and a life fulfilled. No matter where you go in the world... your place will always be here at home and in our hearts. We are so proud of you... every day!

We love you!
Mom, Dad & Danny

Ensign Aimee E. Brenner



You have successfully pursued every opportunity within your reach and in so doing have matured in body, mind and spirit. We are so proud of you. It's now yo [illegible]

Love,
Mom, Dad, Amanda & Ryan

Jacob Coffey

Sometimes dreams become your reality.

Never stop dreaming.

We love you!
Mom, Dad, and Jillian

N
NAVY BASEBALL

William James Frazier

William, your USNA graduation is the fulfillment of a long held dream. As you prepare for officer training, then flight school in the United States Marine Corps, your family and friends proudly salute your success and your commitment to service. We wish you God's guidance and protection.

Matthew

"What lies before us and what lies behind us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us"

We are so very proud of you and your accomplishments.

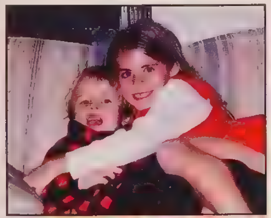
May God always be your compass!
Love,
Dad, Mom, Michael, and family

Annie Rae Barry

"Sweet Pea"

We are so proud of your many accomplishments! From the beginning of "do it myself" to the next phase of "ride the bus", your courage and desire to try anything, even risking failure, was an inspiration. We are most proud though of your love and consideration for other people. Your loyalty is unsurpassed. Best wishes as you move forward to "the few, the proud, the Marines".

We Love You,
Mom and Dad



Stephen J. Dixon

All the hard work you have put in has paid off. You truly deserve the success. We are proud of you! Congratulations!

LOVE

Mom, Dad, Jonathan and Brandy

Jay Mann

HOPKINS
NAVY
47

Congratulations Jay! Our entire family is very proud of you. You have given great effort in your academics, military responsibilities, and Lacrosse! We pray that God's presence will always be with you to give you strength and endurance.
We love you with all of our hearts!
Love,
Mom, Dad, Stacy, Molly, and Alex

Congratulations
David J. Milanes!!

We are extremely proud of your accomplishments. You have proven through your tireless efforts that you can achieve all of your goals in life. God Bless you and protect you in your journey through life.

We love you the most,
Mom, Dad and Katelyn

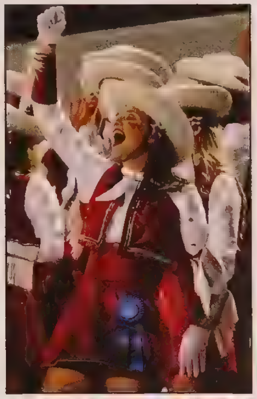
Semper Fi

ENSIGN ALEXANDER KORNICK

Alex Kornick
U-23 4+ Bow Seat
United States Naval Academy
World Rowing Under 23 Championships

ANCHORS AWEIGH, ALEX,
WE COULDN'T BE MORE PROUD!
LOVE, DAD, MOM, SARAH & GABE

Katie Otaño



Katie,
Perseverance, kindness, humor and integrity are your attributes. We are so blessed to have you as our daughter.
All our love, Mom and Dad

Edward K. Pritchard, IV

mcb
"Little Mo
ARLESTON
DAY

Edward, we are so proud of you. What an accomplishment. May there be fair winds and following seas from here on out.

Mom, Dad, Celeste, Peter, Boo, Lal, Muz and Charlie

Franklin E. Agli

Frank, you spoke about becoming a pilot since you were seven years old. Although your life's path led you to places unknown, you overcame every challenge that came your way. You aimed high, target was achieved and you hit your mark. You've made us SO PROUD and OUR LOVE and SUPPORT can only be stronger for you as you continue further on your journey. Wishing you Fair Winds & Following Seas.

Much Love,
Mom, Dad, Austin, Spencer & All of your Supporting Family

Melanie Cleveland

We are so proud of the young lady you have become and we love you very much, Mom and Dad.

Continue to always follow your heart because it has taken you to where you are today and remember when making life's decisions to always think, "What do I want to look back on years from now?"

CONGRATULATIONS USNA CLASS OF 2013

Taylor Calibo
Adam A. Drucker
Jamal Dubey
Harold B. Hickey
Joshua August Kotler
Michael J. Pollard

USNA South Florida Parents Club

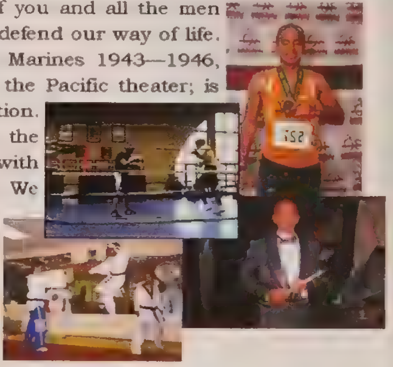
CONGRATULATIONS, JAKE!

We're very proud of your hard work and dedication!

---

2 nd LT. STEVEN E. ANDERSON

Congratulations Son on a job well done. We remember the day you set your desire to become a Marine. It was a sunny clear day in New York City on the USS Intrepid museum. The moment you saw the Marines stage a mock assault and rescue on the Hudson River, you were hooked; and from that day on, you honed your mental and physical skills, culminating in this day. We are so proud of you and all the men and women who step out to protect and defend our way of life. Your Grandfather, a member of the US Marines 1943—1946, trained at Montford Point and fought in the Pacific theater; is looking down on you with great devotion. Grandpa would have loved to have had the opportunity to spend just one minute with you before he left to do the Lord's work. We wish you great success in your walk through life. May God watch over you as you watch over us.



Love You Son!
Mom, Dad & Spencer

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED!

Congratulations Luke!

Much love from Mom, Dad, Abby,
Kim, Jonathan, and Abbey
Joshua 1:5-9

PLEBE
STORY

TONI ANGELINA PARUSO
MOVIN' ON AND UP

AMAZING EFFORT AND DEDICATION
CONTINUE FOLLOWING YOUR QUEST

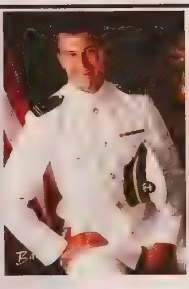
YOU ARE LOVED BY MANY!

ENS Jennifer L. Jones

CONGRATULATIONS
on your hard work and accomplishments!!

With Much Love Always,

MOM & DAD, THOMAS & MARY-MARGARET



ENSIGN BLAKE E RADEMAKER

We are so proud of you Blake! You have accomplished everything you have set out to do. Your dream of becoming a pilot since you were little, has become a reality! We knew you could do it! You have been such an inspiration to all of us and we are looking forward to your next journey. We truely admire your dedication to serving our country. Thank you for all of the wonderful memories!

Love,
Mom, Dad and Brock

Congratulations TO THE CLASS OF 2013

FROM THE PARENTS, FAMILY AND FRIENDS OF THE FOLLOWING MIDSHIPMEN:

1ST COMPANY
Justin Mueller
Sean Sweeney

2ND COMPANY
Shane L. Martin
Zach Mix
Denzel Reina
Becky Watson

3RD COMPANY
Andrew Campos
Christopher E. Humber
Jocelynn SS Knudsen
Eric L. Rintz
Bo Simpson
Cheng Han Tay

4TH COMPANY
Michael Spinello

5TH COMPANY
Jordan Kay Armstrong
Haleigh Lind Fulmer
Christopher Allan Hood
Kevin Matthew Iannacone
Bailey Claire Miller

6TH COMPANY
Sean Callum Divoky

8TH COMPANY
Sarah Burnes Early

9TH COMPANY
Michael R. Dodenhoff
Rebecca Guild
James J.S. VanKirk

10TH COMPANY
Victoria L. Cannon
C. Spencer Schwacke

11TH COMPANY
Timothy John Flanagan II

12TH COMPANY
Andrew A. Almonte
Kevin O'Brien Darby
Colter John Hanson
George Planeta IV

13TH COMPANY
Sean Michael Blochberger
Ryan A. Ryman
Jillianne So

14TH COMPANY
Adam Drucker
Patrick H. Seng
Max Van Benthem

15TH COMPANY
Charlie D. Johnson

16TH COMPANY
Joseph Cameron Acevez
A. Selina Benavides
Jonathan DeSimone
Jordan Kellett
Thor Klinker
Kenneth Morrison
Joshua Anthony Pangborn
Philip Rouse
Scott Walker

17TH COMPANY
Hunter Reed Gibson

18TH COMPANY
Samuel Davis Cosgrove
Galen Leigh Fisher

19TH COMPANY
Tyler Jackson Barker
Christopher Joseph Davies
Noah M. Joseph

20TH COMPANY
Kelly M. Carpenter
Ryan Michael Hickey

22ND COMPANY
Paul Gainey
James Bond Robinson
Scott Stephen Rowe
Stephen James Scales

23RD COMPANY
Ryan Keith Wilkins

24TH COMPANY
Erica Ann Leinmiller
Ryan Joseph Pangborn
Daniel Peter Roberts
Parker David Summers
Conn Wiseman
Ashley Catherine Zanetti

25TH COMPANY
Alex Chatman III
Daniel J. Kindervater
Michael Lawrence Newton

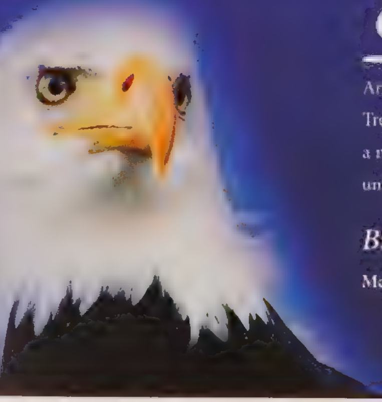
26TH COMPANY
Ian Fisher

27TH COMPANY
William Herston Dorriety II
Robyn Draughon
Rand Erick Montermini

28TH COMPANY
Zachary Westlake

29TH COMPANY
John R. Bolchoz III
Bryan J. Coco
Anthony M. Gutierrez

30TH COMPANY
Todd Mitchell Fuselier II
Kyle Hanton



During your watch, Osama Bin Laden was killed. You extended the historic football winning streak over Army to EXCELLENCE status and brought the Commander-In-Chief's Trophy back to Mother B. You endured two hurricanes, snowmageddon, a major earthquake, and the hottest Plebe summer on record. You had a unique Herndon climb and the lowest attrition rate for any Plebe Summer.

Bravo Zulu to every one of you!

May you always have Fair Winds and Following Seas!

Micah Dose - Submarine
Ryan Hickey - Submarine
Mike Norman - Marine Ground
Mark Palmquist - Submarine
Alison Reed - Navy Pilot
Luke Stephenson - Marine NFO
Scott Tangen - Navy Pilot
Spencer Toy - Marine Ground

MINNESOTA PARENTS WOULD LIKE TO CONGRATULATE OUR 2013 MIDS ON THEIR COMMISSIONING!

William Daniel Newberry

Sometimes, words cannot express the depth of emotion a parent feels about a child. Your success at USNA is one of those times. From a child, to St. Mary's, to GMS, to GHS, to NMMI, to USNA, we have awesome memories with you along the way. We are so proud of you, we love you with all our hearts, and may God always bless you and be with you as you continue your life journey.
Love always, Mom and Gene.

Bennett Lewis Thomas

Class of 2013, Twelfth Company

We love you Bennett!!
We are so very proud of you!
Mom, Dad, and Weston

"Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed with the things you didn't do than with the ones you did. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover." -Mark Twain

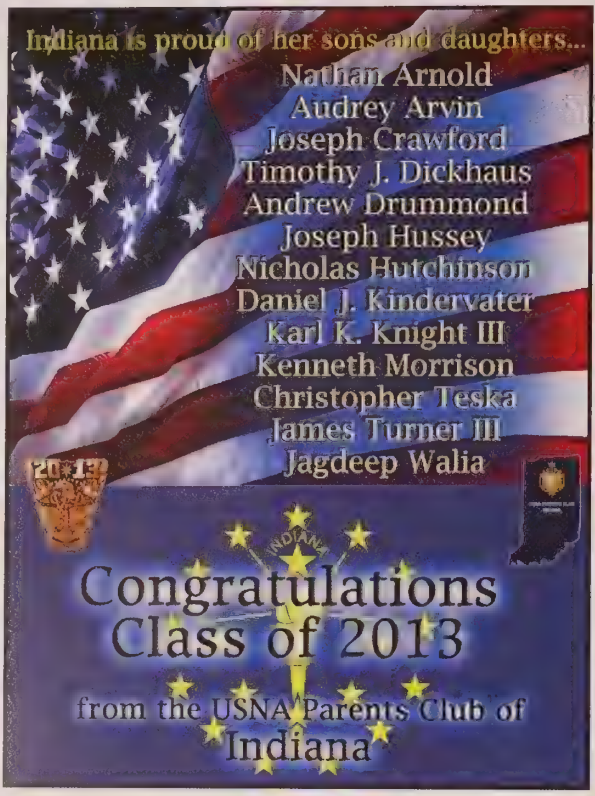
---

Rebecca M. Guild

Naval Flight Officer

God danced the day you were born, He continues to dance!
You are a wonderful young woman. You are blessed, you are loved, you are a shining light. I love you and am so very proud of you, I support you with all that I have.
You are constantly in my thoughts and prayers.

Mom



Indiana is proud of her sons and daughters...

Nathan Arnold
Audrey Arvin
Joseph Crawford
Timothy J. Dickhaus
Andrew Drummond
Joseph Hussey
Nicholas Hutchinson
Daniel J. Kindervater
Karl K. Knight III
Kenneth Morrison
Christopher Teska
James Turner III
Jagdeep Walia

Congratulations
Class of 2013

from the USNA Parents Club of Indiana

MIDN 1/c Jillianne D. So

USNA Class of 2013

Congratulations Jillie! We are so proud of all your accomplishments. You are a talented, determined, and focused young lady. You have what it takes to do great things in life. Remember to always use your talents to leave a place better than you found it.

Go Jillie! Go Navy!

Love Always,
Mommy, Tatay, Ate and Mama

"Forged Steel and Faith"

Congratulations Erick Capulong!

We are so incredibly proud of who you are, and what you've become!
Love,
Mom, Lynn, and family

" Commit to the Lord whatever you do, and your plans will succeed"

- Proverbs 16:3

2nd Lt. John J. Schoberl IV
United States Marine Corps

There were those who doubted. There were some who hoped you wouldn't.
There were a few who tried to stop you, but they just couldn't.
You have defined yourself through your determination and commitment.
You are now One of the Few, and One of the Proud.
No parents could hope for more from their son. You have raised the bar for all those who follow you. You are an amazing man, and as I have said, "our hero".
Congratulations. We love you Johnny, and God Bless you.
Mom, Dad, and Leanne

Semper Fidelis

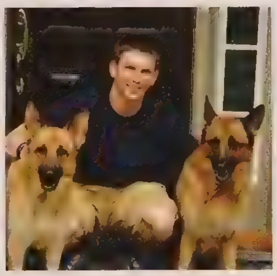
"Everything is possible for him who believes." Mark 9:23

2ND LT MARK MOELLER

Congratulations! God bless you and keep you close. We are very proud of you! Semper Fidelis! Love, Mom, Dad, Chris, Brendan, Blaze and Rhia

The purpose of life is... to be useful, to be honorable, to be compassionate, to have made some difference that you have lived and lived well.

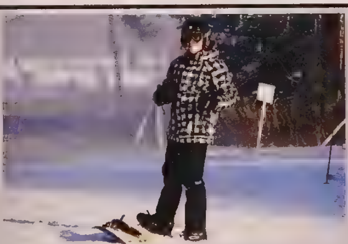
-Ralph Waldo Emerson



Christopher R. Campbell

You've always determined your own path and the means by which you traveled it. The journey has made you not only wise, tough, tenacious, and confident, but also compassionate, adaptable, loyal, and courageous. You are a blessing and we love you.

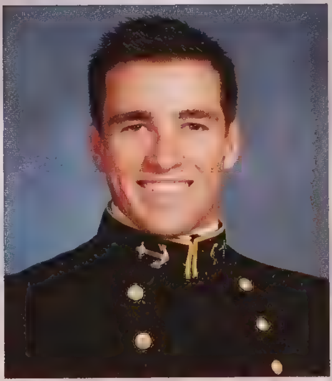
Mom, Dad, Geoffrey, and Robin.



CONGRATULATIONS!

2nd Lt. Stephen C. Scott

"THERE ARE NO GREAT MEN. JUST GREAT CHALLENGES WHICH ORDINARY MEN, OUT OF NECESSITY, ARE FORCED BY CIRCUMSTANCE TO MEET."
ADMIRAL HALSEY



But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint.

Isaiah 40:31

...for having the courage to reach for your dreams, the persistence to endure hardships, the humility to see the value in all men, and the faith to honor God in all things. We love you and are so proud of all of your accomplishments. May God continue to watch over you in this new chapter of your life.

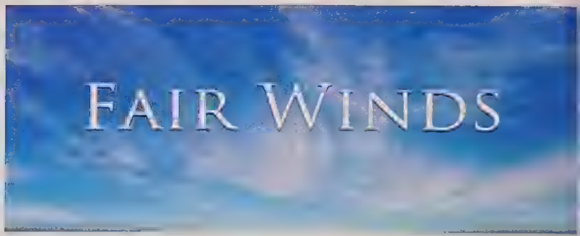
Mom, Dad, Erica, David and Emily

Ensign Eric M. Washkewicz

Congratulations! We are so proud of you and all you have achieved. May you have friendship, love and much success throughout your life.
God Bless.

Love, Mom and Dad

NAVY LIGHTS! JOPE CUP!



ANNIS MARY COX
JAMES DENTON GIESEMANN
JOHN BENJAMIN RAUCH
JESSICA DIANE RIDGWAY

Congratulations from the USNA Parents' Club of Mississippi

FOLLOWING SEAS

Giancarlo A. Palazzo
"Faith, Non Parole"
Love Mom & Dad
Fly Navy... The BEST Always Here
ARMY NAVY
May God Bless and Keep You, Guide and Protect You Always.
Integrity Be True to Yourself Do the Right Thing!

Congratulations Kori Wilke

We are so proud of you and what you have accomplished. It is clear the you are right where God intended you to be...

Love, Mom, Dad,
Shelley and Troy

<><

FLY NAVY !!!

CHARLES H. PIERSALL IV

What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us -
Emerson

Congratulations Charles!
We are inspired by your passion, perseverance, and devotion. As you continue on life's journey, we wish you fair winds. Your family's pride runs deep!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Andrew

RYAN PETERMAN

There is no combination of words that could describe the pride and love we have always had for you. You have excelled and surpassed any and all expectations. From the first day of Kindergarten to your last day at the Naval Academy and every day in between you have always been a reminder that dreams do come true. Go live your dream now, you have earned it!

We Love You!
Mom, Dad, &
Your Entire Family!

NOAH R. WEINTRAUB

NOAH CONGRATULATIONS ON GRADUATION AND COMMISSIONING.
YOU'VE WORKED HARD AND ACCOMPLISHED MUCH STAY STRONG

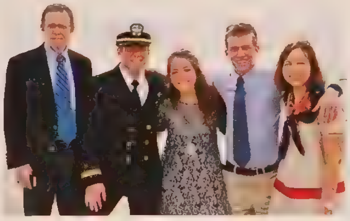
WE LOVE YOU
MOM DAD CALEB ('09) AND ELIZA



CONGRATULATIONS,

Second Lieutenant

Joshua J. Marziale

United States Marine Corps

"Be strong and courageous! Do not tremble or be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go." - Joshua 1:9

"...yet those who hope in the Lord will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary."
-Isaiah 40:31

Joshua,

All of your hard work, determination, and "Don't Give Up the Ship" attitude have paid off. We are so proud of what you have accomplished. Keep reaching for the stars!

We Love You!

Dad, Nanay,
Chette, and Jonathan

Congratulations Joseph J. Savo

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments.
Just remember that dreams really do come true. Well done Son.
May God bless and protect you always.
Love you forever. xo Mom and Dad

Ensign Matthew D. Carmody

Seabees Can Do!

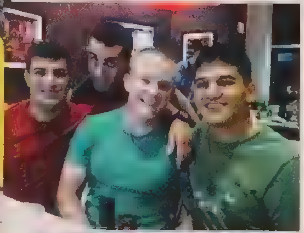
"If not me then who?"
Travis Manion

Remember our heroes.

TRAVIS MANION FOUNDATION

Matt— We are so proud of you; your accomplishments, your quiet leadership, your perseverance, the man you've become. Never ever, ever give up! We love you!

Mom, Dad and Jack

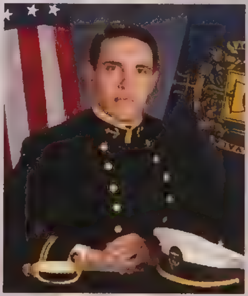


"The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Congratulations

2nd Lieutenant Andrew A. Paulmeno, USMC



You chose the more difficult and honorable path and persevered. We are so very proud of your accomplishments.
Semper Fi !

Love
Mom, Dad, Natasha and Chesty too

Persevere
and Let God
Be your guide.

Love you forever,
Mom, Dad, Anthony,
Samantha & Bella

Semper Fi!

CONN PATRICK WISEMAN

"EDUCATION IS THE MOST POWERFUL WEAPON WHICH YOU CAN USE TO CHANGE THE WORLD" ~NELSON MANDELA

CONGRATULATIONS
2ND LIEUTENANT CONN WISEMAN
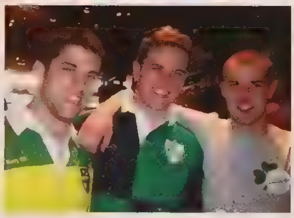
USMC

CONGRATULATIONS LIAM

SO MANY PEOPLE WHO KNOW YOU ARE BETTER AMERICANS BECAUSE OF YOU.



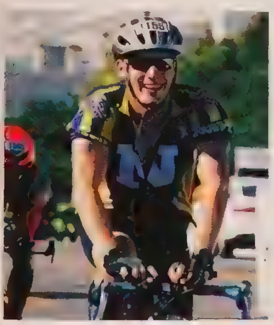
WE ARE PROUD OF YOU!
SEMPER FI
MOM, DAD, MEREDITH, AND CONOR

Daniel Ross McClellan

San Angelo, Texas
26th Company, Class of 2013

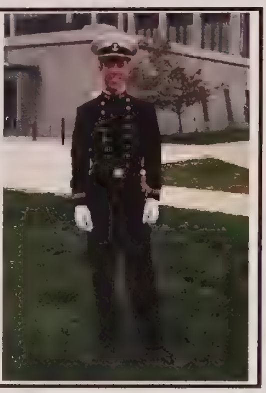
"I can do all things through Christ who gives me strength."
Philippians 4:13
"Yet those who wait for the Lord will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles."
Isaiah 40:31a

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly . . . who at the best knows at the end the triumph of high achievement . . ."
Theodore Roosevelt



Daniel, you have brought so much joy into our lives and into our family, and we could not be more proud of you! Thank you for being such an incredible son, brother, and friend. Know we are cheering you on, excited about all the Lord has for you in the future.
You've got this!!

Philip John Watterson



PJ,

We are so very proud of you and wish you the greatest happiness possible. To achieve your dream is awesome! You are a truly remarkable young man and there is only one thing left to say--GO NAVY!!!!

Love,
MOM & DAD

Ensign Andrew William Price

Congratulations Andrew! You always make us so proud. We watch you set your goals and then do what it takes to achieve them with courage and perserverance You are a joy to us! We love you and wish you all the best as you spread your wings and "Fly".

Love,
Mom, Dad, David, Lindsay, and PawPaw
Proverbs 3:5-6

BRANDON ALEXANDER DAVIS

CONGRATULATIONS
Brandon

Your hard work in school through all the years has finally paid off as evidenced by your graduation from the U.S. Naval Academy. We are all extremely proud of you.
BRAVO ZULU!
Your Loving Family

---

*Success is not final;
failure is not fatal:
It is the courage to continue that counts.
-Winston Churchill*

Congratulations, Jim!

Mission Accomplished.
We could not be more
PROUD of you!

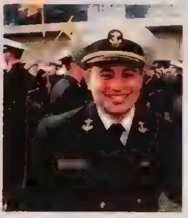
*We Love You,
Mom, Dad & Darice*

CONGRATULATIONS!!
ENS BRYN MORIARTY & ENS JEFF LENTZ

You have achieved so very much we are proud of you both and wish you all your hearts' desire!
Love you!
Mom, Dad, Christa, David, Alyssa, & Blake

You made it! Celebrate!
You both have grown so much since Plebe Summer! This is just the beginning of your future; embrace it and don't forget to have fun!
Lots of love,
Dad, Mom, Ali, Seana, & Siobhan

Ensign Alex Balandran



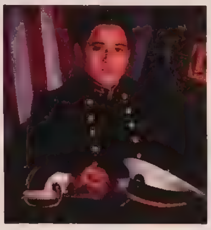
Congratulations!

"The Will of God will never take you where the Grace of God will not protect you."

We are very proud of the outstanding young man and Navy Officer that you have become. We know there is no limit to what you will achieve. Continue to follow your dreams!

God bless you

Love, Mom, Dad & Michael



Congratulations Aaron!

2nd Lt. Aaron Kenneth Guerrero USMC

But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.
Isaiah 40:31

Dios Te Bendiga y Vaya Con Dios...

We Love you and are so proud of you,
Mom, Dad, Mark, Bryan, & Christopher

SEMPER FIDELIS

PHILIP EDWARD REYNOLDS

From the Boy who Loved the Water to the Man who Loves the Sea

Wisdom will be the Wind in your Sails
Family the Lighthouse to Guide you Home

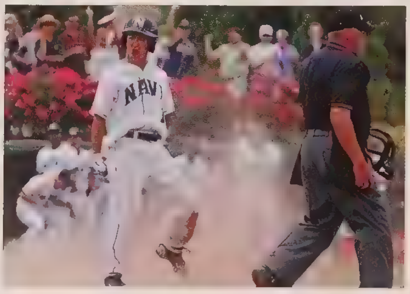
Love you Always,
Mom, Dad, Will, James, Maggie,
Jack, Grammy, and Abuelo

DYLAN WHEELER

CONGRATULATIONS!

WE ARE HUMBLED BY YOUR ACCOMPLISHMENT...
ONWARD AND UPWARD NAVY PILOT DYLAN WHEELER!

LOVE,
DAD, MOM AND LUKE



Congratulations!

Ensign Kyle Dann Hatcher

21ST COMPANY AND CLASS OF 2013

WITH LOVE AND PRIDE
MOM, DAD AND TARYN

LUKE

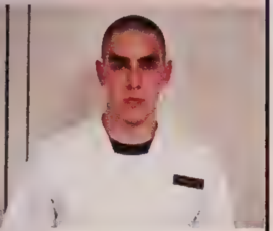
Continue to be that positive person you are, LIVE, LOVE, LAUGH!
"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams.
Live the life you have imagined" (Henry David Thoreau).

RIPLEY HALL

With you, the world has a brilliant future; because of this integral part you choose, along with your colleagues, there will be lots of greatness. You have always made us proud, and we thank you for being such a great inspiration in our lives and to others. You continue to attain and maintain quality standards and for that we are extremely thankful to be blessed with a son like you. We are proud of your excellent achievements and pray for God's guidance and protection in your endeavors. Congratulations and Anchors Aweigh!

Love you always,
Mom, Pop and Elizabeth-Rose.

Congratulations Charlie!



WELL DONE!

We are so very proud of you!

We so love you!

Mom, Dad, Hannah, Jimmy and Daisy

2nd Lt. Michael Jones
USMC

Congratulations Michael
You make us so proud! These past four years have prepared you well. Your desire to lead has been put to the test. Your experiences have given you the tools you'll need to succeed.
May God bless you and give you the strength and drive to accomplish all of your goals in life.
With love, Mom Dad
Kristen Michelle and Greg

Proverbs 3:6 In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths.

Emani

Love is what parents feel for their daughter that they will always try to keep safe and close. Many days we wondered how this larger than life personality came to live in our house. You never met an activity that you didn't want to try - you excelled at them ALL. The last 21 years have been a journey that we wouldn't have missed for anything. We squeezed in an awful lot of fun! We will miss those late nights when you came blasting in our room, jumping in bed with us to discuss what was on your mind just as we both were about to fall asleep.

We are very excited that you will begin your life that has been in the planning stages since you were five years old. Our work is done, this chapter is closed, so World, I give you our daughter, the Amazing Miss Thang!
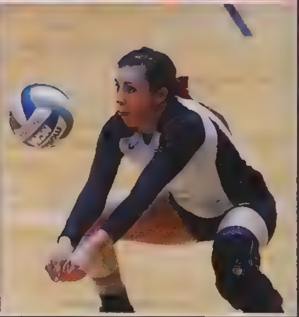
Mom & Dad

Congratulations
Ensign Carolyn Amanda Ewert

from your very proud family!



LUKAS ANDIN KIM EDEGRAN
Navy Pilot
Systems Engineering Major

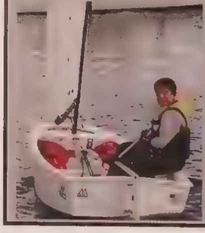
Congratulations Lukas !

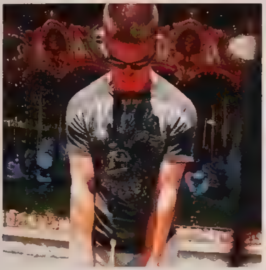
We are extremely proud of your accomplishments at the Naval Academy. You have proved to be resilient, intrepid, and courageous. Going forward we are confident you will handle life's ups and downs with alacrity and poise.

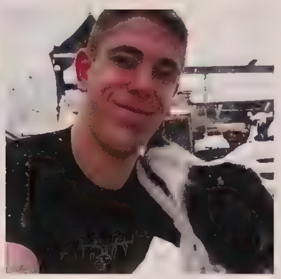
The coming years will test your skills even further. Be determined, see the big picture, and success will be yours.

"Don't follow a path instead lead and leave a trail"

We love you! Mom, Pappa, Markus, Grandma, and the entire family.

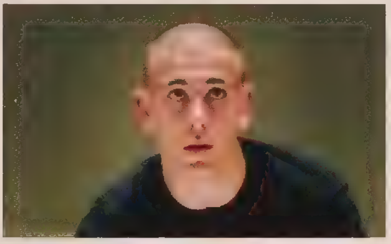






Kristoffer Kevin Larson

You have always gone your own way, even when no one else was going there or even knew how to get there. We have loved helping when we could and watching you get to the places you wanted to go. We are proud of you and we know you will do great things . . .in your own way, of course!



Miles Ennis McGee
USNA 2013

With tremendous love and pride, we have watched you become a Naval Officer: A gentleman with the nicest sense of personal honor. Your character, sense of duty, leadership, and adventurous spirit will shape the Navy and the World of tomorrow.

Congratulations* to you Son!

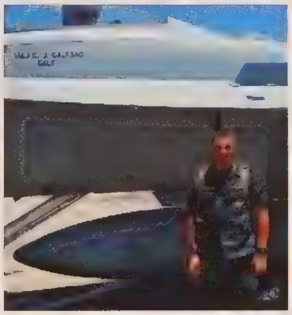
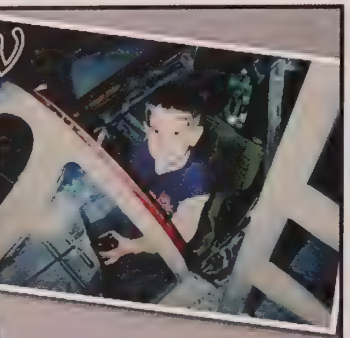
We Love You! Mom and Dad

Kyle Patrick Burdick



Congratulations on your commissioning.
We are so proud of you.
Love,
Mom, Dad and Collin

Andrew



Since you were a little boy,
you've always been a pilot at heart.
We are so proud to see that you have fulfilled your dream!

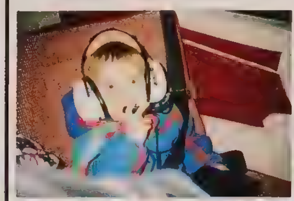
We love you!
Dad, Mom, Adam and Abbey

Ross Brandon DeSoto



That September morning the world stopped turning and each of our lives were changed forever. When you came home from school, you raised the flag on our house to demonstrate that you believed we would persevere and seeing it as I drove home from work filled my heart with pride. When I finally got the opportunity to look into your eyes that afternoon; I and anyone else that knew you well; knew that you had committed your life to service of country. We gathered together that night to pray for those lost that day and for those, like you, that would answer the call to duty in the days and years to come. You have honorably dedicated yourself to your calling to serve through hard work and diligent application of your talents and energies. Your efforts and commitment have and will continue to make your family proud beyond my capacity to describe with words. I continue to fly a flag each day in celebration of the belief you demonstrated that day for God and country and as a reminder to pray for those that continue to commit their life to service along with those that have made the ultimate sacrifice

Congratulations on your graduation and commissioning. We love you and wish you the very best in all of your future endeavors. May God bless!!!
Richard, JoBeth, Nanny, Libby, James, Caden, and Sealey

CALEB ROBINSON

CONGRATULATIONS CALEB !
YOU ARE ON AN AMAZING JOURNEY--FROM ROEBUCK TO ANNAPOLIS AND NOW ON TO HAWAII.
WE ARE SO PROUD OF YOU !
MOM, DAD AND LOGAN

LISA MAREE WORSHAM

It has been quite the journey from July 1 2009 I-day to Ship Selection to Graduation on May 24 2013. We love you! We are very proud of you as you carry on a family tradition of service to the country.

Love Mom and Dad and all the family: Grandma Kay, Uncle Terry, Uncle David, Aunt Rhea, Brad, Rocio, Olivia, Delia, Ryan, Scott, Stephanie, Shonna & family. Aunt Anna and of course Grandpa Harry would also be proud!

MONTAUK
NAVY

PLEBE PARENT

Jacqueline,

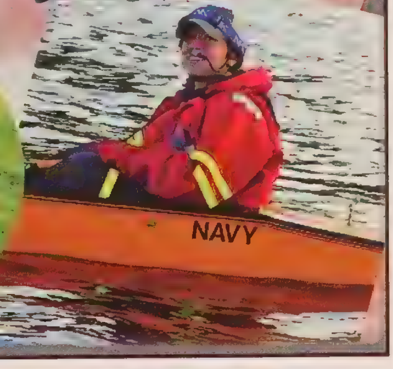
It seems like yesterday that you continued your journey through life by attending the U.S. Naval Academy. Year after year we were delighted and amazed as you confronted the physical rigors and academic demands of the Academy. But we were even more amazed and proud when you faced insurmountable obstacles, and overcame them. You never surrendered to physical pain or fear. You never gave up nor gave in. You never followed; you always lead.

We are proud of what you have accomplished, but more importantly, of whom you have become. You have strength of character, kindness, intelligence, courage and love. You possess an amazing ability to challenge yourself to achieve greater accomplishments. These remarkable qualities will continue to serve you well in life in all of your endeavors and challenges. You love God, your family and your country. And they in turn love you. Know that we will always love you and support you in all of your endeavors. Wherever life may take you we will always be with you. You are our precious angel. No one will ever love you more.

Some people ask why. You have always asked, why not? Indeed Jackie, why not?

Fair winds and following seas
Ensign Penichet.

HOLLISTER
Laguna Beach
Co.



Christian Helmer Heller

"Two roads diverged in a yellow wood..."
and instead of choosing one, you chose to blaze your own trail: "To infinity ... and beyond!"

Congratulations, Christian!
Semper Fi! We love you and are so proud of your accomplishments.
Mom, Dad, Eric, and Andrew

"For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord ~ Jer. 29:11
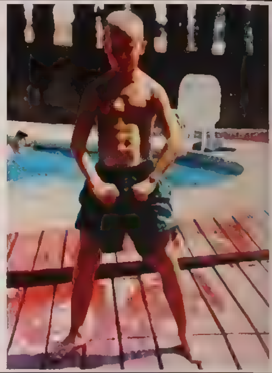
"Lo, I am with you always..."
~ Matt. 28:20

Congratulations Logan!!!

So many wonderful memories of you growing up, the list is endless!! Always with an infectious smile, eagerness to learn and be...to be every super hero there was!! From The Ninja Turtles to Batman and Superman!! So many forts built!! And now to seeing you living out your "Top Gun" dream, the Naval Academy and Aviator Commissioning. You are a very special young man and have so much to offer the world!! We are so excited for you and this next adventure in life!! May God continue to bless you son!! We Love you so very much and are so extremely proud of you!!



ENS Andy Clark, USN

Congratulations buddy! History awaits & your time is now to inspire and lead others to dream, learn, believe, and become. You have come a long way from your days as a Chipmunk Hunter, but one thing has never changed - you have always been a leader.

We Are So Proud of You & Love You Very Much!

Mom, Dad, Wes, and The Pups

CONGRATULATIONS LIZ HEGARTY!!

We are so very proud of you and all that you have accomplished. Wishing you fair winds and following seas!

Love always,
Mom, Dad, Emily & Bill

"Go Confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have dreamed."
Henry David Thoreau

Congratulations Christopher Michael Ceconi

We are very proud of you and your accomplishments!
Love,
Dad, Mom & Philip

UNBEATEN
GO NAVY BEAT ARMY

KIMBERLY MAHONEY
LANCASTER, CA

I didn't want to let you go, but look how far you've come...

You have come so far, yet you've only just begun... Dad

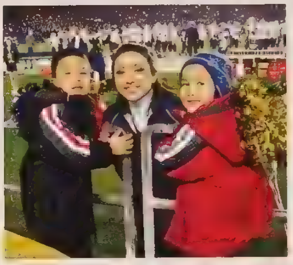
That was pretty funny, you must be from Jersey!

Now you're really an ensign!!

Nothing like family to give you a little "lift" on plebe parent weekend... don't forget your ID card!!

Congratulations to our incredible sister! WE LOVE YOU!

Wherever life takes you, good friends will always be there.



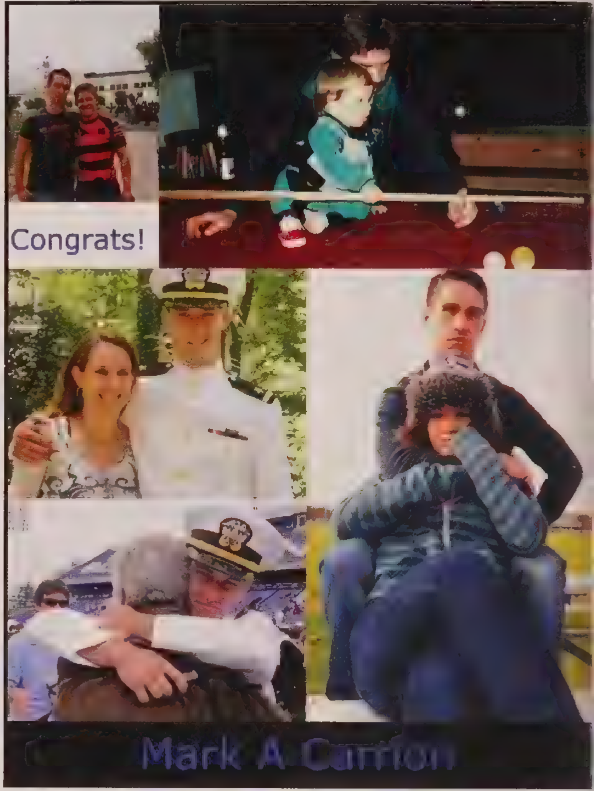
To the best big sister in the world: we miss you so much but we are so proud of you!!!

Keep reaching for the stars, there's nothing you can do!!

Emma Christian Quinn

Go make a difference...
...in the world, in your community, in your work,
...with friends and with those who may never be your friends,
...with those whom you love, and with those who will come to love you.

GO MAKE A DIFFERENCE, EMMA
We love you
Dad, Mum, Will, Nana, Pop, Grandma, Susan & Rich



Dorinda Alexandra Pintos

"Little girls dreamed of becoming princesses while I dreamed of becoming a United States Marine"

Well honey your dream came true and we are so very proud of you!
Always remember to be yourself and never forget that God has a special plan for your life.
Nanny is in heaven celebrating your accomplishment!
Love Ya
Dad, Mama, Jonathan & Willie

Congratulations
2nd Lt JOSEPH L. LIVI, USMC

Ensign Zach Tanner

Words cannot express how proud we are of you and this great accomplishment. You have shown great determination and courage through these years & you did it!! You have always had the drive & the ability to do great things. These traits are who you are...who you've always been. You are an amazing young man & we couldn't be more proud of you lil buddy!!
We love you!!
Mom, Dad & Colby

STEPHANIE A. BENITEZ-STRINE

These years flew by and you have made us SO proud of ALL that you have accomplished. Continue to demonstrate strength, resolve, duty, commitment and integrity as you serve in the USMC & throughout your lifetime. Remember to forgive and seek progress, not always perfection. Keep smiling & Surrender To Nothing!

Mom, Kaitlyn, Papa, Gragra & Humphrey

Lt. Trey Cleary

Congratulations Lt. Trey Cleary and best wishes on your service and dedication to the US Marine Corps.
Love, Mom

"Some people spend an entire lifetime wondering if they made a difference in the world. But the Marines don't have that problem." - President Ronald Reagan

Pride is inside us all.

jostens

Jostens brings it out.

compete perform experiment excel calculate play organize you did it

Congratulations to the Lucky Bag staff on a job well done. Everyone at Jostens is proud to support your mission to capture and share the memories of the year.

Your Jostens Lucky Bag Representatives
Steve Sweet & George Fold
1-877-612-6800

HARD STUFF DONE RIGHT

TAKING TECHNOLOGY TO THE NEXT LEVEL.

Nakeesha Gilliam, an engineering technician at the Newport News Shipbuilding division of Huntington Ingalls Industries (HII), uses immersive virtual environment (IVE) technology to simulate the flight deck of an amphibious assault ship. IVE video game technology allows our engineers and technicians to better connect to our warfighters, which helps our sailors and Marines protect America.

Huntington
Ingalls Industries

HuntingtonIngalls.com

U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association and Foundation

Congratulations,
Class of 2013!

The U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association and Foundation and the Class of 1963
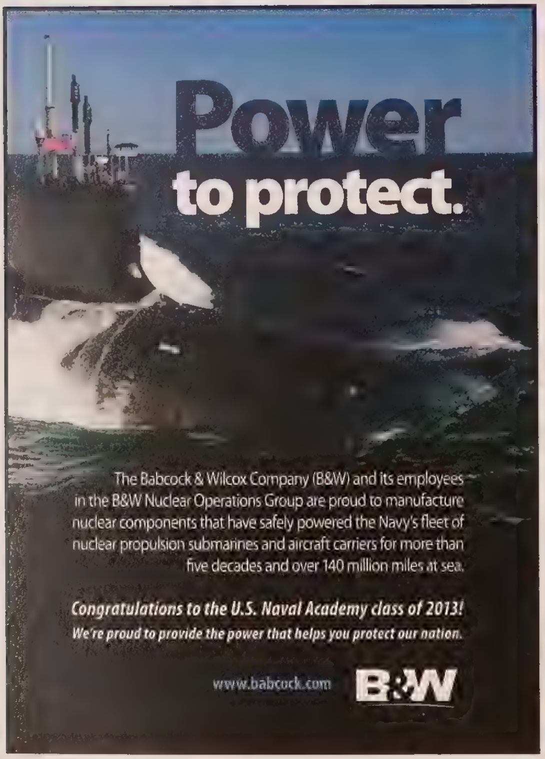
welcome you to the Extended Brigade!

Fair Winds and Following Seas

Stay connected at www.usna.com



Power to protect.

The Babcock & Wilcox Company (B&W) and its employees in the B&W Nuclear Operations Group are proud to manufacture nuclear components that have safely powered the Navy's fleet of nuclear propulsion submarines and aircraft carriers for more than five decades and over 140 million miles at sea.

Congratulations to the U.S. Naval Academy class of 2013!
We're proud to provide the power that helps you protect our nation.

www.babcock.com B&W

THE AMERICAN CLUB

A NEW WORLD OF P & I SERVICE

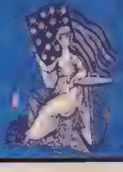
Vision
Commitment
Results

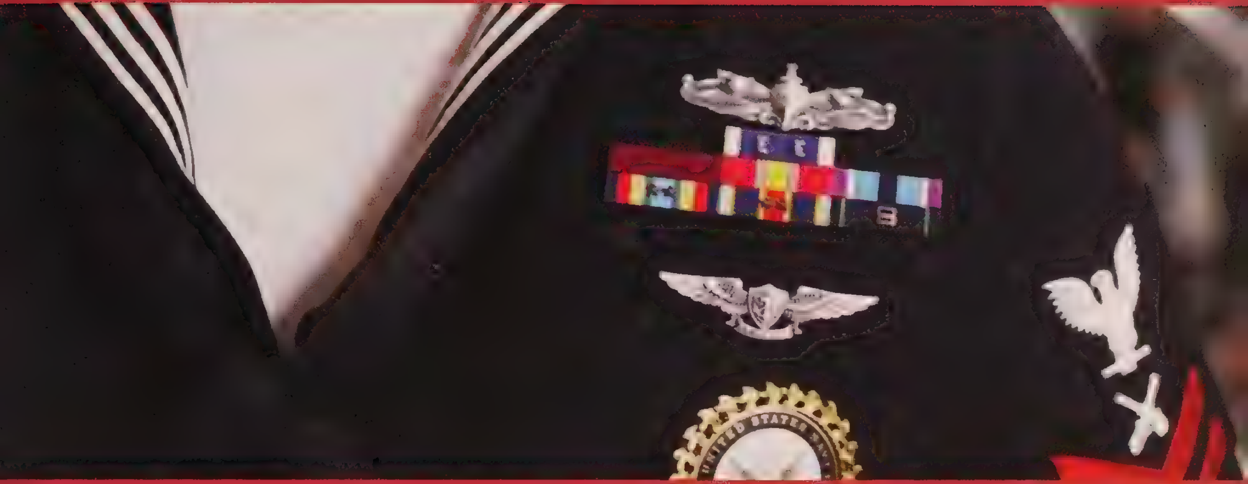
[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]
TEL: +86 21-3366 6000, FAX: +86 21 3366 6100





THANK YOU TO ALL MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM.
WE SHARE YOUR SAME PASSION AND COMMITMENT TO SERVICE.

Nueces Electric Cooperative

Your Touchstone Energy® Cooperative

www.nueceselectric.org

REYNOLDS SYSTEMS INC.

Reynolds Systems, Inc.

Proudly Supports Our United States Military!

18649 Highway 175 • Middletown, CA 9546

Proudly Supporting the USN

Shumar Industries
414 Stone Church Rd.
Grindstone, PA 15442

(724) 246-0811

Sealift Inc.

68 West Main Street
Oyster Bay, New York 11771
sealiftinc.com • email: info@sealiftinc.com

RHEM INSULATION INC.

Salutes the United States
Naval Academy Graduates!

(910) 478-0626

1219 Lejeune Blvd, Jacksonville, NC 28540

THE FOSS FAMILY IS HIRING.

Get your life in gear with one of the best maritime companies in the world. Click on Careers at www.fossmaritime.com. When you work here, anything's Fossible.

FOSS

Always Safe. Always Ready.

Worldwide Maritime Transportation • Marine Logistics Engineering • Full Service Shipyard

NAVIGATION AND MARITIME SYSTEMS

THE VALUE OF A COMMITMENT TO THE NAVY AND MARINES THAT'S AS RESOLUTE
AS YOURS.

As proud partners with the U.S. Navy, Marine Corps, and Naval Academy, Northrop Grumman warmly congratulates the Class of 2013. We're dedicated to providing the highest quality navigation and combat management systems, launchers, and large propulsion and electrical machinery to ensure that our sailors and Marines never have to "fight fair" in the defense of a free America. That's why we've become a leader in Navigation and Maritime Systems.

THE VALUE OF PERFORMANCE.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN

www.northropgrumman.com/navalmarine

© 2013 Northrop Grumman Corporation

E
6010
NAVY
TAW-4
010

Proudly training the forces that protect us all.

At Beechcraft, we salute the men and women of Naval Aviation for their service and dedication. We're proud to continue our 60+ year service to the United States Navy with more than 100 additional deliveries of the Beechcraft T-6B military trainer. We thank Training Air Wing 4 in Corpus Christi for its confidence in these state-of-the-art, high-performance trainers. As the Navy's choice for primary military trainer aircraft, Beechcraft is committed to proven excellence, outstanding mission readiness, versatility and exceptional value.

Learn more, visit Beechcraft.com

Beechcraft
We build aircraft you can believe in.

©2013 Beechcraft Defense Company LLC. All rights reserved. Beechcraft is a registered trademark of Beechcraft Corporation. The U.S. Navy does not endorse Beechcraft or any defense contractors.

AMERICAN Compressor
COMPANY

Industrial Air and Gas
Blowers and Compressors

10144 FREEMAN AVENUE
SANTA FE SPRINGS, CA 90670
(562) 944-6188
FAX: (562) 946-8365
www.americancompressor.com

IsoVac Σngineering Inc.

IsoVac
Engineering Inc.

614 Justin Ave.,
Glendale, California 91201
(818) 552-6200

BC
The BRANDAMAR CORP
Email:
brandamar@brandamar.com

A PROUD SUPPORTER OF ALL THOSE WHO SERVE AND PROTECT OUR GREAT COUNTRY.

Congratulations
Class of 2013!

ATAC
Avionics Test &
Analysis Corporation

4540 E. Hwy. 20, Ste. 6
Niceville, FL 32578-9755
(850) 897-4553

American Metal
Bearing Company

Saluting our United States
Naval Academy Graduates!

(714) 892-5527
(800) 888-3048
Fax: (714) 898-3217
7191 Acacia Avenue
Garden Grove, CA 92841-5297

PRECISION MACHINE WORK & MANUFACTURERS
Commercial Machine Inc.

Congratulations
to the
Class of 2013

804-329-5405

2706 RADY STREET
RICHMOND, VA 23222

Class of 2013, we salute you.

Congratulations to today's graduates and tomorrow's leaders.

From the dawn of naval aviation to the nuclear navy and beyond, Curtiss-Wright Flow Control has been proud to support America's men and women serving at sea. With systems operating onboard carriers, destroyers, submarines, amphibious ships and more, chances are good that no matter where you go in the Navy, we'll help you get there and get back home.

CURTISS WRIGHT Flow Control Company
Engineering transformation™

INDAL Technologies EMD EPD APSD Target Rock NU-TORQUE EST Group Peerless Instrument Farris Engineering

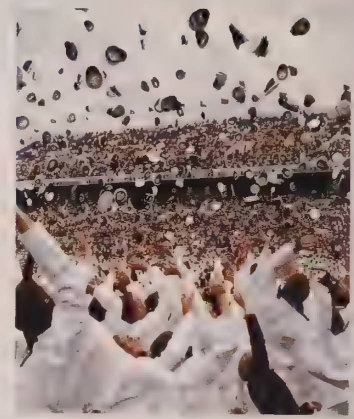
Learn about our mission-critical solutions at www.cwfc.com

© 2013 Curtiss-Wright Flow Control Corporation. All rights reserved. Photos courtesy of [illegible]. Use does not imply or constitute endorsement.

CONGRATULATIONS,
CLASS OF 2013

We salute you for your accomplishments, and we're proud to serve you. Wherever your life and career take you, we'll always be there to provide you with the service and benefits you deserve

> Convenient online and Mobile Banking*
> 24/7 live phone support
> Over 55,000 free ATMs



NAVY FEDERAL Credit Union

ARMY
MARINE CORPS
NAVY
AIR FORCE COAST GUARD
DoD

JOIN TODAY!

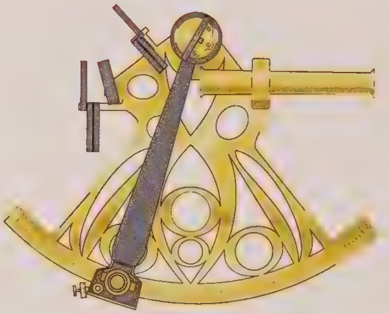
Visit us online at navyfederal.org or stop by one of our over 220 branches.

1.888.842.6328

Federally insured by NCUA. *Message and data rates may apply. Visit navyfederal.org for more information. App Store℠ is a service mark of Apple, Inc.

App Store
Google play

CHARTING A COURSE FOR SUCCESS!



DETERMINED EXPERIENCED COMMITTED PREPARED

PENTAGON PUBLISHING, INC.
www.pentagon-usa.com
info@pentagon-usa.com

YOUR DEDICATION AND COMMITMENT INSPIRE US ALL.
Congratulations to the Class of 2013.
USAA®

USAA means United Services Automobile Association and its affiliates. ©2013 USAA. 145024-0413

DRASH®

THE WARFIGHTER'S CHOICE

YOUR STRENGTH. OUR COMMITMENT.

Failure is not an option because we serve the warfighter. Whatever we do has to work every time, all the time. That is why our Deployable Rapid Assembly Shelter (DRASH) and its supporting utilities are tested extensively at military test centers. As a result, you can depend on its quickly deployable, modular design to keep out driving rain, sweltering heat or heavy gusts of wind, in any location.

DRASH is also the most trusted and proven infrastructure deployed by the Navy and Marine Corps today. In use for more than 20 years, DRASH equipment is being deployed by all branches of the U.S. Military, U.S. Federal agencies, NATO Forces, and the armed forces of countless countries. Because we serve you, we have a moral obligation to build the best. That is our commitment. That is our strength.

DHS SYSTEMS LLC

A DHS TECHNOLOGIES COMPANY

1-877-GO-DRASH drash@drash.com www.drash.com

© 2013 Lockheed Martin Corporation

MAKING SURE AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL REMAINS AMERICA THE FREE

America will always be the land of the free. Because it is the home of the brave men and women of our military forces. We thank them — each and every one — for their service and sacrifice.

www.lockheedmartin.com

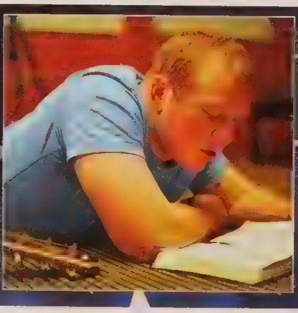
100 YEARS OF ACCELERATING TOMORROW

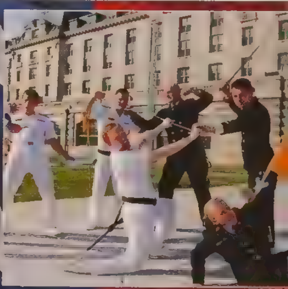
LOCKHEED MARTIN

Index

A

Abad, Danielle 167, 551
Abbott, Jenn 171
Abbott, Jennifer 455
Abbott, Patrick 528
Abeling, Colton 373
Abellar, Julian 84, 474
Abes, Alvinangelo 512
Abonyi, Michael 552
Abordo, Eric 299
Abraira, Oliver 510, 511
Abrams, Hunter 148, 566
Acevedo, Gabriel 313
Acevedo, Michael 442
Acevez, Joseph 502
Achor, Caleb 497
Adamowicz, Peter 637
Adams, Brendan 704
Adams, Haley 313
Adams, Hannah 525
Adams, Justin 143, 371, 581
Adams, Lindsey 174, 653
Adams, Quincy 329
Adams, Zachary 401
Adamski, Conner 128, 552
Adelman, Joshua 348
Adiputra, Yosef 304
Adkins, Carolyn 327
Adsit, Christopher 677
Aekviriyasathan, Tipok 512
Afriyie, Kevin 329
Agli, Frank 134
Agli, Franklin 460
Ah, Brandon 387
Ahn, Paul 400
Aiello, Franco 664
Aiken, Brianne 344
Aiken, Matthew 704
Ain, Maxwell 524
Aird, Leslie 528
Akers, Kody 400
Akpunku, Jude 525
Al-Ahmar, Rolland 204
Alahmar, Rolland 328
Alam, Didarul 314
Albrecht, Ethan 204, 594
Albright, Gary 159, 313
Alcantor, Daniel 359
Alcasid, Charles 154, 401
Alcorndominguez, Daniel 387
Aldridge, Brent 400
Alegria, Ciro 359
Alejos, Marco 581
Aleksandravicius, Luke 566
Aleshire, Justin 474
Alexander, Anthony 90, 91, 567
Alexander, David 608
Alexander, Jerome 130, 131, 692
Alexander, Sean 628
Alford, Bonnie 510
Allacher, Jared 539
Allam, Lauren 174, 327
Allard, Lukas 706
Allen, Aric 474
Allen, Curtis 204, 485
Allen, Max 299
Allen, Robert 358
Allen, Ronald 146, 542
Allen, Shawn 400
Allen, Thomas 156, 678
Allison, Gilesa 622
Allred, William 665
Allshouse, David 497
Almonte, Andrew 446
Alnaimat, Mohammed 538
Alston, Jonathan 237, 528
Alsup, Payton 565
Alter, Kevin 130, 131, 511
Althaus, Wesley 385
Alvarez, Alexandria 301
Alvarez, Carlos 343
Amador, Rolando 512
Amaral, Nicholas 404
Amedia, Samuel 362
Amelia, Christian 566
Amick, Robert 609
Ammond, Rachelle 704
Amon, Jacob 706
Amoroso, Brooke 570
An, Jesse 400
Anderle, Leo 691
Andersen, Joseph 415
Anderson, Adagray 456
Anderson, Andrew 567
Anderson, Caleb 443
Anderson, Cody 249, 483
Anderson, Daniel 441
Anderson, Daniele 460
Anderson, Drew 137, 154
Anderson, Ian 146, 401
Anderson, Sally 498
Anderson, Stephen 362, 566
Andon, Robert 327
Andrade, Audrey 691
Andre, Bradley 385
Andrews, Johncurtis 399
Anicetti, Alexander 485
Anjola, Tanner 255, 593
Anongos, Jared 682
Ansell, Cooper 373
Ansley, Dax 315
Anstett, Bret 132, 460
Anthony, William 485
Antill, Logan 172, 345
Antoun, Daniel 386
Aquino, Scott 496
Arceneaux, Stephen 705
Arellano, Aaron 371
Arellano, Paul 456
Arena, Shane 638
Arino, Austin 550
Armentrout, Glory 497
Armistead, Thomas 387
Armstrong, Jordan 348
Armstrong, Sarah 595
Arndt, Christopher 261, 628
Arnold, Dave 144
Arnold, David 399
Arnold, Julia 457
Arnold, Nathan 290
Arnone, Maria 165, 174, 538
Aronica, Clayton 441
Aronin, Breanne 204, 539
Arosemena, Nicolas 539
Arrambide, Jesus 497
Arredondo, Alfredo 304
Arroyobautista, Raymundo 497
Artis, Melanie 358
Arvin, Audrey 390
Ascherl, Collin 146, 665
Asdal, Kirsten 290
Aselton, John 446
Ashby, William 552
Ashcraft, Ryder 622
Ashmore, Michael 676
Ashton, Katherine 163, 299
Asmah, Ebenezer 432
Assenmacher, Amanda 653
Asuncion, Alex 178
Asuncion, Alexandra 328
Atiles, Ricardo 471
Atkins, Mark 607
Atkinson, Robert 146, 537
Atwill, Andrew 432
Aufderheide, Nicholas 690
Aufderheide, Nick 254, 255
Augustus, Azure 344
Augustus, Theodore 652
Auld, Kyle 676
Austin, John 362
Austria, Marc 441
Avila, Mario 180, 313
Ayala, Adriana 705
Azhocar, David 327





B

Babb, Joshua 470
Bacon, Alec 511
Bacon, Erin 246, 255, 441
Badillo, Samuel 428
Bae, Yohan 245, 441
Baez, Gabriela 400
Baez, Jeffrey 523
Bagent, Sean 151, 502
Baglini, Matthew 332
Baguley, Lauren 171, 313
Bailey, Mason 159
Bailey, Parker 399
Bailey, Rachel 485
Bailey, Richard 304
Baird, Cameron 665
Baker, Alexandria 301
Baker, Allyson 315
Baker, Benjamin 584
Baker, John 488
Baker, Kyzle 300
Baker, Logan 290
Baker, Samantha 415
Baker, Samuel 387
Baker, Zak 390
Bakker, Gerrit 567
Balandran, Alejandro 84, 304
Balczewski, Ian 371
Baldessari, Anthony 665
Baldessari, Tony 137
Baldez, Godfrey 664
Baldridge, Christine 497
Ball, Owen 146, 623
Ballester, Ryan 552
Balleza, Paul 415
Balsirow, Anton 538
Baltz, Benjamin 690
Banani, Shawn 706
Bangsal, Jonathan 314
Banks, Rhonda 305
Barabin, Kawika 623
Barajas, Juan 290
Barbajaume, Juan 550
Barbaro, Zachary 332
Barbour, Lorentez 359
Barker, Tyler 156, 386, 542
Barnaby, Adrian 386
Barnes, Harrison 301
Barney, Jake 401
Barnhisel, Bobby 159
Barnhisel, Robert 305
Barnum, Jacqueline 399
Barnum, Sarah 174, 442
Barrau, Jonathan 624
Barry, Annie 390
Barry, Colin 148, 484
Bartek, Andrew 128
Barth, Langley 623
Bartlett, Glendon 584
Bartlett, Gregory 328
Bartlett, Riley 595
Barto, Alexander 441
Basich, Zach 159
Basich, Zachary 240, 598
Bass, Archie 678
Batcher, Alisa 594
Bates, Ruth 357
Batiste, Austin 154, 653
Batye, Taylor 168, 371
Bauer, Audrey 161, 565
Bauer, Caleb 566
Baugh, Sara 537
Baumgardner, Ted 134
Baumgardner, Theodore 598
Bayless, Beau 156, 428
Beach, Dakota 485
Beach, John 418
Beach, Travis 638
Beal, Miranda 167, 595
Beale, Jeffrey 446
Beans, Brandon 128, 483
Beasley, Nicholas 299
Beatrice, Leslie 390
Beck, Hunter 148, 537
Becker, Daniel 566
Becker, Dylan 542
Beeler, Andrew 180, 607
Beeson, Brett 385
Behm, Sarah 300
Behr, Anthony 190, 315
Beiler, Madison 345
Bekemeier, Caleb 460
Beliveau, Andrew 432
Bell, Andrew 415
Bell, Clarence 696
Bell, Lance 704
Bellissimo, Dominic 524
Beltran, Pablo 691
Benavides, Amanda 502
Benfield, Warren 314
Benitez, Jose 609
Benitezstrine, Stephanie 318
Benito, Ryan 682
Benjamin, Blake 609
Benner, Cameron 204, 385
Benner, James 300
Benner, Matthew 484
Bennett, Allyn 163, 426
Bennett, Jordan 622
Benninger, Ian 348
Benoit, Timothy 682
Benroth, Ryan 542
Benson, Jillian 386
Benson, Travis 300
Bentley, Austin 132, 511
Berger, Rachel 595
Bergstrom, Erik 637
Berkey, Benjamin 550
Berkey, William 344
Bermudez, Eric 677
Bernal, April 161
Bernal, Katrina 428
Bernardy, Kimberly 636
Bernhardt, Sarah 174, 551
Bernotas, Marius 609
Bernreuther, Bryan 474
Bernstein, Dantaun 329
Berry, Alexandria 328
Berry, Timothy 598
Bertrand, Kwazel 127, 595
Bess, Paris 692
Betty, Ryan 348
Betz, Justin 313
Beveridge, Annie-Norah 165, 174
Beveridge, Annienorah 580
Beydler, Robert 427
Biesiada, Kazimir 580
Bigger, James 595
Bihl, Timothy 566
Bilden, Philip 470
Billmaier, Steven 556
Billodeau, Roy 609
Billy, Samantha 638
Bilotta, Michaela 163, 584
Bilunas, Brianna 171, 386
Binau, Jonathan 433
Binns, Ikechukwu 345
Biondo, Alexander 485
Bird, Daniel 237, 344
Birnbaum, Michael 391
Birnbaum, Mike 90, 91
Bishop, John 488
Bittle, Ben 497
Bixler, Keegan 84, 305
Black, Dean 556
Blackburn, Jacqueline 165, 174, 502
Blaha, Emily 89, 484
Blair, Christina 165, 174, 677
Blake, Sara 178
Blake, Sarah 189, 594
Blanchard, Zac 146
Blanchard, Zachary 328
Blanco, Carl 511
Blasinsky, Scott 668
Blazevic, Anthony 134, 593
Bledsoe, Alex 180
Blochberger, Sean 461
Bloy, Hunter 237, 538
Blum, John 399
Bly, Brittany 327
Bobell, Hannah 231, 566

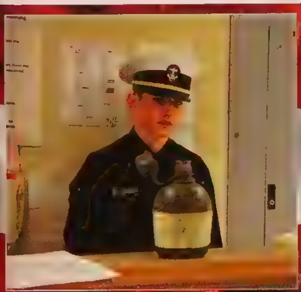
USS ELROD FFG 55

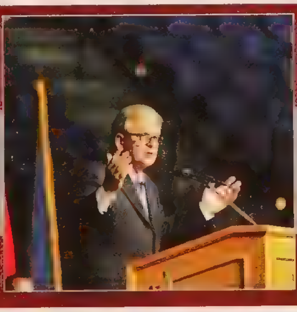
Bodet, Paul 567
Boeck, Benton 497
Bogaard, Brett 154, 496
Bogdan, Colin 455
Bohanan, Brent 512
Bohannon, Daniel 414
Bohmke, Greg 137, 154
Bohmke, Gregory 552
Bolchoz, John 682
Bole, Andres 456
Bolinger, Curtis 318
Bolstad, Scott 483
Bomberger, Dain 151, 344
Bond, Thomas 484
Bondurant, Ben 151, 156
Bondurant, Benjamin 446
Bong, Sharon 636
Bongiovanni, Charles 314
Bonitz, Dylan 301
Bonn, Andrew 525
Bonsall, Nicholas 570
Boosmann, Taylor 305
Booth, John 691
Borchardt, Zachary 653
Borja, Lawrence 441
Borja, Raymond 159
Borosak, Brad 128
Borosak, Bradley 400
Borough, Kevin 134, 496
Borrego, Anthony 344
Bortz, Kerri 163, 391
Bosch, Adrian 102
Botero, Mario 414
Bottini, Mitch 148
Bottini, Mitchell 457
Bottomley, Jeremy 704
Bouchard, Hunter 148, 668
Bouchot, Alfredo 636
Boudart, Erik 580
Boudreau, Dane 447
Boughton, Melissa 171, 372
Bowden, Dan 151
Bowden, Daniel 580
Bowden, McKenzie 84, 362
Bowen, Charles 705
Bowen, Christopher 433
Bowen, Victor 511
Bowers, Donald 134
Bowling, John 488
Bowman, George 306
Bowman, Jordan 134, 441
Bowman, Sarah 676
Boyce, Garrett 401
Boyd, Brandon 692
Boyd, Carol 690
Boyd, Lindsay 231, 299
Boyer, Bryce 550
Boykin, Joseph 683
Boyland, Jordan 609
Brad, Samuel 552
Bradbury, Wyatt 443
Bradford, Ellen 171, 609
Bradley, Mark 433
Bradley, Richard 579
Brahm, Christopher 580
Braida, Zachary 651
Brainerd, David 511
Brakefield, Lawson 706
Bramble, Jared 455
Branch, Austin 580
Brannon, McKenzie 363
Branson, Benjamin 567
Brant, Jarrett 146, 343
Brant, Joseph 538
Brantley, Aaron 636
Brashears, Mark 471
Braswell, Domenique 415
Brattain, Matthew 551
Braun, Kathleen 678
Braun, Katie 174
Bravo, Rick 442
Bray, Katherine 598
Brecht, Alexander 300
Breen, Nicole 189, 475
Brennan, Sam 171
Brennan, Samantha 677
Brenner, Aimee 165, 174, 528
Brenon, Nathaniel 400
Breslin, Tyler 455
Breuer, James 357
Brewer, Matt 90, 91
Brewer, Matthew 628
Breznik, Ryan 344
Briccetti, Angelo 642
Brickman, Jordan 376
Bridges, Travis 537
Bridgewater, Logan 413
Briggs, Kyle 428
Briscoe, Keon 90, 91, 511
Briseno, Michael 652
Brisotti, James 706
Bristow, Stephan 607
Britton, James 652
Broadhurst, Robert 103, 433
Broadway, Chrishad 653
Brodie, Virginia 163, 652
Broll, Anthony 313
Broniatowska, Dagmara 584
Bronshteyn, Eli 565
Brook, Matthew 231, 705
Brooks, Blake 524
Brown, Conley 358
Brown, Demond 706
Brown, Emily 171, 567
Brown, Jacob 387
Brown, James 599
Brown, Jorden 484
Brown, Karah 329
Brown, Michael 401
Brown, Nathan 579
Brown, Nathanael 455
Brown, Rachael 552
Brown, Sarah 471
Brown, Sean 332
Brown, Tabitha 623
Brown, Teronda 174, 385
Brown, Thomas 622
Brown, Zachary 579, 581
Browne, Casey 167, 470
Browne, Kyle 134
Browning, James 426
Broyles, Caralyn 363
Brubaker, Robert 237, 636
Bruce, Samuel 387
Brundage, William 683
Brunette, Hailey 414
Brusoski, Michael 484
Bruss, Robbie 134
Bruss, Robert 461
Bruton, Colin 237, 628
Bruton, Tyler 404
Bryant, Caron 163, 371
Bryant, Gregory 414, 510
Bryant, Jake 629
Bryant, Travis 344
Bucher, Renata 471
Buck, Madison 566
Buck, Mark 470
Buck, Michael 146, 413
Buck, Taylor 512
Buck, Trebor 146, 677
Buckley, Cara 622
Buckley, Grant 622
Buckley, Thomas 190, 497
Budzitowski, Devon 608
Buffone, Thomas 386
Buffone, Tom 154
Bui, Heather 163, 246, 637
Bulba, Maxwell 653
Bunce, Patrick 414
Bunker, Kyle 488
Burchett, Logan 372
Burdick, Kyle 642
Burg, Bobby 159
Burg, Robert 401
Burger, Virginia 246, 428
Burgett, Christofer 442
Burgos, Angel 259, 418
Burgoyne, Michael 230, 313
Burke, Griffin 664
Burke, Stephen 427
Burke, Tyler 329
Burmeister, Ryan 498
Burnett, Timothy 552
Burnett, Tyler 153, 664
Burns, Chris 137

Burns, Christopher 154, 299
Burns, Jason 299
Burns, John 426
Burns, Robert 359
Burroughs, Jesse 204, 593
Burt, Nathan 371
Burton, Donald 386
Burton, Donny 144
Burzenski, Laura 255, 357
Bush, Jamie 301
Bush, Justin 612
Bush, Travis 318
Busick, Matthew 593
Busiek, Rachel 525
Busse, Blake 144, 483
Buterbaugh, Jonathan 315
Butler, Bret 599
Butler, Edward 306
Butler, Nicholas 498
Butts, Dallas 434
Buzzard, Emily 189, 538
Byrd, Kenneth 359
Byrne, Brigid 165, 174, 259, 376
Byrne, Kristina 483
Byrne, Michael 483, 706
Byrne, Tina 189

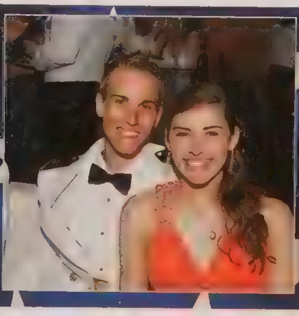
C

Cabarle, Diana 624
Cabarrus, Jonathan 665
Cabral, Joshua 66, 556
Cabrera, Elias 461
Cabrey, Rebecca 443
Cadiente, Jeremy 154, 413
Cadigan, Tim 134
Cadigan, Timothy 103, 461
Caesar, Kerstin 565
Caine, Matt 190
Caine, Matthew 498
Calcagno, Drew 137, 154, 484
Calderon-Guthe, David 357
Caldwell, Zachary 443
Calibo, Taylor 291
Caliendo, Sebastian 427
Callahan, Jacqueline 163, 593
Callahan, Nicholas 349
Callander, Clayton 642
Calmus, Quinton 357
Calnan, Michael 180, 691
Calvert, Dustin 551
Calves, David 511
Campbell, Chris 128
Campbell, Christopher 642
Campbell, Conor 151, 357
Campbell, David 496
Campbell, Evan 404
Campbell, Mark 599
Campbell, Nicholas 683
Campbell, William 677
Campos, Andrew 318
Canady, Andrew 414
Canclini, Jeffrey 327
Canclini, Jonpaul 401
Canelon, Fran 189
Canelon, Maria 455
Cannon, Chris 128
Cannon, Christopher 300
Cannon, Robert 609
Cannon, Victoria 265, 418
Capaldi, Benedict 510
Capote, David 154, 400
Capuano, Hollis 418
Capulong, Erick 668
Carandang, Angela 387
Carbone, John 677
Carbone, Joseph 705
Cardon, Anthony 441
Cardona, Joseph 538
Carey, Dominique 328
Carl, Sam 174
Carl, Samantha 165, 299
Carlos, John 696
Carlson, David 151, 345
Carlson, Mikaela 172, 485
Carmody, Matthew 556
Caro, Jonadel 349
Carothers, Matthew 358
Carpenter, Christen 609
Carpenter, Kelly 557
Carpenter, Lauren 683
Carps, Michael 413
Carr, Alvin 557
Carrasco, David 455
Carrillo, Jessica 485
Carrion, Mark 529
Carroll, Gordon 359
Carson, Christina 84, 656
Carson, Joseph 551
Carson, Reuben 677
Carson, Trevor 140
Carter, Brandon 313
Carwile, Melissa 557
Case, James 652
Case, Jason 376
Casey, Samantha 387
Casey, Sean 471
Casper, Brendan 636
Cassel, Alex 176
Cassel, Alexandra 623
Castillo, Thomas 428
Castle, Riley 498
Castle, Roger 567
Castro, Andrew 537
Castro, Christina 401
Castro, Johnadrian 301
Castro, Lizandro 349
Castro, Nicole 636
Castromendoza, Amelia 349
Cathcart, John 359
Catina, James 485
Cauley, Joseph 567
Caveness, Andrew 579
Cawdery, Dylan 551
Cawthon, Christopher 442
Cayaban, Beatricejoyce 385
Ceaser, Lorna 676
Cebulski, Scott 516
Cecala, Matthew 511
Ceconi, Christopher 376
Cen, Lawrence 372
Cerf, Nicholas 692
Ceroli, Zac 140
Ceroli, Zachary 678
Cespedes, Brandon 327
Chaires, Harrison 143
Chalkley, Shepard 595
Chamberlain, John 594
Chamberlin, Becca 189
Chamberlin, Rebecca 471
Chambless, Katie 189, 404
Chan, Alexandra 690
Chan, Howard 457
Chan, Junkwan 595
Chan, Melissa 455
Chandler, Molly 678
Chandler, Nia 581
Chandler, Savannah 512
Chaney, Cassidy 167, 665
Chang, Chris 134
Chang, Christopher 405
Chang, Chuan 599
Chang, Eugene 156, 676
Chang, Jack 636
Chang, Michael 300
Chang, Ryan 237, 552
Chapman, John 651
Chapman, Justin 447
Charette, Gabe 134
Charette, Gabriel 377
Charles, Jonathan 469
Chase, Christopher 691
Chase, Tymescia 255
Chase, Tymiescia 524
Chatman, Alexander 629
Chatry, Peter 690
Chatterjee, Avi 414
Chau, Vivian 172, 512
Chauvin, Daniel 483
Chaves, Juan 539
Chavez, Jennifer 624
Chavez, Matt 146





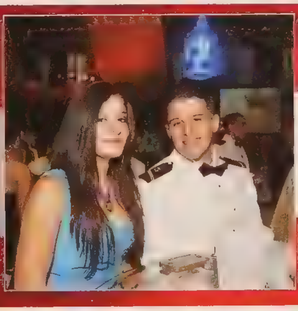
Chavez, Matthew 567
Chawiche, Houssein 462
Chek, Abby 189
Chek, Abigail 593
Chen, Conrad 551
Chen, Karl 580
Chen, Kevin 456
Chen, Xiao 426
Cheng, Christopher 529
Chepurko, Kristina 690
Cheslack, Helena 638
Chester, Joshua 343
Chi, Jong 570
Chiaia, Stephen 426
Chico, Douglas 377
Chilbert, Joseph 471
Chiles, Christopher 608
Chilton, William 299
Chimiak, Jacqueline 607
Chipps, Christopher 350
Chlebo, Katherine 434
Chmielewski, Jordan 230, 600
Cho, Judith 595
Cho, Paul 704
Chomic, Maxwell 456
Choung, Joshua 525
Chow, Jacky 580
Chow, Raymond 692
Chrans, Cait 254
Christian, Giiehti 291
Christian, Matthew 516
Christian, Prentice 612
Christoph, William 668
Christopher, Garland 426
Christopher, Jay 143
Christopher, Jeffrey 332
Chroman, Connor 373
Chu, Chihsuan 313
Chu, Joshua 485
Chu, Vincent 359
Chumich, Dominic 146, 664
Chung, Jason 665
Ciarolla, Alexa 180, 510
Cinqmars, Alexander 428
Cirillo, Joseph 706
Clairmont, Brice 498
Clanton, Mark 665
Clark, Alexis 485
Clark, Andrew 529
Clark, Joshua 565
Clark, Wesley 314
Claus, Daniel 343
Clay, Anthony 651
Cleary, Shawn 345
Cleary, Thomas 570
Cleary, Trevor 419
Cleary, Wayne 363
Cleaver, Ryan 664
Clemente, Jonathan 159, 665
Clements, Alexander 623
Clemons, Brandt 180, 691
Cleveland, Angela 525
Cleveland, Angie 174
Cleveland, Melanie 291
Cline, Brent 516
Clover, Austin 696
Coats, William 489
Cobb, Nighel 301
Coco, Bryan 684
Cody, Jeremy 358
Cofer, Wade 442
Coffey, Jacob 684
Coffey, Jake 128
Coffey, Kyle 100, 101, 291
Coffey, Thomas 319
Coffin, Thomas 345
Coffman, Zachary 457
Cogar, Samuel 358
Colby, Brian 690
Colceri, Bryce 653
Coleman, Gary 401
Coleman, Kayla 624
Coleman, Tyler 585
Coletta, Jennifer 706
Collier, Caulin 455
Collier, Laura 676
Collins, Elliot 456
Collins, Pat 138
Collins, Patrick 391
Colon, David 612
Colon, Mario 607
Colonwaite, Bailey 428
Colyer, Cody 414
Combado, Christofer 84, 306
Combado, Kyle 691
Comito, Alec 154, 581
Compton, Jacob 484
Compton, Taylor 594
Condit, Camille 176, 457
Conn, Andrew 401
Connally, Michaela 595
Connell, Kyle 414
Connelly, Nicholas 344
Connelly, Nick 132
Conner, Jonathan 512
Connor, Brendon 306
Connor, Meghan 225, 622
Connor, Seth 484
Connors, John 143, 485
Constantakis, Katelyn 652
Constantine, Justice 581
Cook, Colynn 159
Cook, Jordan 580
Cooke, James 387
Cooper, Andrew 327
Cooper, David 114, 483
Cooper, Emily 189, 497
Cooper, Lamar 428
Cooper, Paul 608
Cooper, Taylor 307
Copare, Timothy 612
Copeland, Noah 705
Copenhaver, Benjamin 566
Corbett, Dean 387
Corbett, Thomas 629
Corbishley, Killian 178, 255, 523
Corcoran, Elizabeth 399
Cordero, Cody 90, 91, 329
Cordova, Jose 455
Coreth, Ariel 89, 483
Cornelius, Zachary 469
Cornes, David 377
Corona, Jorge 292
Correa, Maria 314
Correale, Lewis 146, 414
Cortesio, Cat 171
Cortesio, Catherine 236, 676
Cortez, William 607
Cosgrove, Carolanne 665
Cosgrove, Samuel 529
Costa, Robert 525
Costello, Patrick 216, 530
Cotner, Stefanie 442
Cotter, Elizabeth 593
Cottrell, Clayton 651
Couch, Matthew 600
Coughlin, Jill 167
Coughlin, Jillian 690
Covarrubias, Vanessa 690
Covington, Anthony 386
Cowhey, Thomas 371
Cowing, Alexis 167, 607
Cox, Annis 307
Cox, Mary 84
Cox, Tyler 469
Cox, William 651
Coyle, Connor 159, 373
Cozad, Daniel 399
Cozza, Hayes 496
Craddock, Timothy 613
Craft, Justin 400
Craig, Andrew 344
Craig, Carson 148, 665
Craig, Evan 676
Crain, Sean 669
Cranford, Thomas 677
Crank, Kevin 475
Crawford, Alicia 333
Crawford, Joseph 557
Crawford, Michael 456
Crawford, Sedarria 609
Crayton, Devin 126, 373
Creed, Benjamin 566
Cregge, Kyle 594
Cremean, Britana 496
Cremean, Brock 415
Crisan, Radu 359



Crispell, Caleb 567
Cristiano, Michael 643
Crockett, Felicia 637
Crockett, Samuel 359
Crofton, Boyd 319
Cross, Angelo 442
Cross, Conor 594
Crow, John 377
Crow, Natalie 530
Crowell, Cameron 180, 690
Crumblish, Eamonn 190, 314
Crush, Kevin 328
Crutcher, Robert 543
Cruz, Justin 405
Cuddeford, Kyle 498
Cuesta, Manuel 516
Cuevas, Dyanna 543
Cullhost, Jodi 653
Cullingford, James 415
Culp, William 503
Cumberland, Benjamin 692
Cummins, Gregory 585
Cunningham, James 637
Cuomo, Michael 434
Curley, Vincent 530
Curley, Vinnie 146
Currie, Jeanluc 550
Currie, Robert 128, 359
Curry, Nikolas 537
Curtis, Joseph 485
Curtis, Laura 669
Curtis, Peri 161, 301
Cusack, Matt 159
Cusack, Matthew 692
Cutchen, Max 378
Cuthbert, Shannon 165, 174, 456
Cutner, Tara 248, 405
Cybulski, Alan 292
Cybulski, Will 143
Cybulski, William 456
Cypher, Kendra 434

D

Dabbs, Bryce 143, 613
Dabney, Barry 343
Dacruz, Stephen 498
Daghistani, Leith 457
Dahl, Erik 307
Dahlke, Zachary 292
Dahmer, Austin 249, 343
Dalbora, John 301
Dallas, Ryan 413
Dalton, Chase 565
Dalton, Ethan 624
Dalton, Grace 441
Dalton, Matthew 704
Daly, Paul 299
Dampf, Johnmichael 496
Danai, Keyawna 580
Dane, Christian 399
Dang, Jake 664
Daniel, Blake 153, 691
Daniel, Ryan 455
Daniels, Colin 530
Daniels, Tieara 475
Daniels, Tracy 146, 496
Dankanich, Morgan 168, 664
Dankle, James 314
Dann, Cameron 319
Dannelly, Zachary 692
Dantonio, Nicholas 581
Darby, Jason 517
Darby, Kevin 447
Darcangelo, Jaret 400
Darling, Lindsey 327
Darmody, Kellie 171, 571
Darragh, Margo 165, 174, 359
Das, Dye 172
Das, Dyuti 307
Dasilva, Samantha 677
Daugherty, Matthew 447
Daughtrey, James 538
Davenport, Brian 579
Davenport, John 319
Davids, Eric 249, 607
Davidson, Katelyn 231, 696
Davidson, Katie 171
Davidson, Kaylie 168, 638
Davidson, Tayler 706
Davies, Christopher 543
Davila, Marcelo 622
Davin, Jason 497
Davinsizer, Kyle 663
Davis, Aaron 300
Davis, Andrew 333
Davis, Ashlee 677
Davis, Brandon 489
Davis, Connor 622
Davis, Evan 470
Davis, George 313
Davis, Hardy 204
Davis, Joel 580
Davis, John 359
Davis, Kelcie 571
Davis, Kyle 137, 154, 608
Davis, Robert 159, 607
Davis, Zach 144
Davis, Zachary 676
Davison, Hugh 151, 483
Davros, George 704
Dawson, Daniel 525
Day, Chris 190
Day, Christopher 581
Day, Colin 320
De Avila Alvarado, Nancy 189, 558
De L a Mora, Brian 154
Dean, Merrill 595
Deanon, John 566
Debaugh, Jonathan 315
Deboer, Stephanie 593
Deckinga, Ellen 483
Decquir, Emani 543
Deeb, Derek 385
Deese, Kevin 327
Defournoy, Jeanfelix 329
Deganutti, Dominic 386
Deguzman, Nicki 345
Deisher, Matthew 154, 566
Delacruz, April 292
Delacruz, Ivan 386
Delacruz, Manuel 372
Delage, Megan 400
Delaisse, Michael 441
Delamora, Brian 328
Deland, Daniel 697
Delaney, Thomas 154, 637
Delaney, Tom 137
Delangel, Jesse 455
Delcarmen, Eduardo 427
Deleon, Carinne 371
Delmonte, Brenden 498
Delo, Andrew 314
Delong, Cathryn 638
Delong, Michael 669
Delorenzo, Joseph 593
Delrosario, Kirk 343
Delvalle, Jonathan 651
Demandante, Benjamin 652
Demarreau, Pierce 498
Demass, Nicholas 301
Dembowski, Jack 550
Dement, Eric 373
Demeo, Pascal 571
Demers, Aaron 455
Demers, Ryan 550
Demiris, Ted 143
Demiris, Theodore 315
Dempsey, Conner 636
Demski, Collin 538
Demyon, Marci 174, 400
Dendler, Ryan 585
Dendor, Christopher 363
Deneen, Connor 128, 373
Deniega, Johnvincent 455
Denison, Zachary 489
Denney, Joshua 400
Denney, Nick 134
Denning, Tim 134
Denning, Timothy 643



Dennis, Cory 538
Dennis, Kathleen 663
Dennis, Sam 167
Dennis, Samantha 455
Dennison, Michael 471
Depacopriess, Santiago 609
Depompeo, Jasmine 600
Deppe, Kaylin 163, 427
Depree, Frances 314
Dequir, Emani 172
Derathe, Benjamin 651
Derderian, Tyler 190, 442
Derecktor, Erik 624
Derouin, Eleanor 176, 552
Derrick, Zachary 435
Desena, Geoffrey 102, 558
Desimone, Jonathan 503
Desoto, Ross 475
Desousa, Jessica 539
Desouza, Daniel 678
Detchon, Robert 704
Deters, Brett 373
Deturck, Philip 372
Devente, Michelle 512
Dever, Kevin 544
Devera, Anthony 301
Devera, Joshua 623
Deverill, Dakota 706
Devivies, Erin 329
Dewing, Henry 653
Diamond, Patrick 400
Diaz, Luke 371
Diaz, Moises 328
Diazordaz, Nestor 386
Dibartolomeo, Stephen 609
Dickenson, Tyler 552
Dickhaus, Timothy 378
Dickson, Cody 613
Dickstein, Siwen 470
Didier, David 315
Dietrich, Douglas 320
Digiovanni, Julie 571
Dildine, Hannah 163, 419
Dilks, Anna 427
Dille, Keaton 372
Dillon, John 442
Dillow, Patrick 364
Dimaapi, Gabrielle 358
Dinelli, Christopher 299
Dinkel, Gregory 496
Dinkel, Joseph 485
Dion, Justin 426
Diorio, Anthony 314
Diorio, Christopher 524
Dipietro, Joseph 704
Dirito, John 567
Disalvo, Brian 372
Diserio, Dominick 372
Dishart, Addison 401
Dishe, Matthew 232
Disher, Matt 249
Disher, Matthew 613
Dishman, Ryan 448
Dissette, Kristopher 684
Ditota, Benjamin 531
Divoky, Sean 364
Dix, Jordan 705
Dixon, Stephen 544
Dixon, Timothy 132, 510
Doan, Kristine 171, 236, 678
Doan, Steven 706
Dodd, Ashley 315
Dodenhoff, Michael 405
Dodge, Jacob 457
Dods, Patrick 132, 344
Dodson, Samuel 371
Doeller, Nicholas 344
Dolan, Michael 512
Dolce, Rebecca 469
Dolinar, David 565
Dominguez, Kristian 308
Dominik, Michael 697
Don, Zetta 537
Donaldson, Alexander 517
Donnelly, Shawn 476
Donovan, Michael 218
Doolittle, Alex 426
Dorado, Alejandra 230, 643
Doran, Kevin 484
Dorriety, William 656
Dorsey, Michael 140, 443
Dose, Micah 146, 308
Dougherty, Aaron 180, 607
Dowd, Thomas 476
Dowell, Evan 435
Dowzicky, Carl 156, 401
Doyle, Haley 663
Doyle, Joseph 441
Doyle, Molly 167, 567
Drablos, Josh 154
Drablos, Joshua 580
Drake, Catherine 333
Draughon, Robyn 656
Draves, Billy 151
Drayton, Austin 371
Drejeris, Vytautas 357
Drew, Dan 137
Drew, Daniel 653
Drew, Jacqueline 391
Drew, Jacqui 189
Driesslein, Jonathan 180, 537
Driskell, Matthew 706
Drogowski, Caleb 690
Droop, Sam 172
Droop, Samantha 415
Drucker, Adam 476
Druckrey, Reuben 457
Druggan, Natasha 174, 462
Drummey, Maeve 176, 457
Drummond, Robert 435
Dry, Lynsey 456
Dubee, Nicholas 371
Dubee, Nick 144
Dubey, Jamal 643
Dubois, Dryn 219, 387
Dubyoski, James 653
Dubyoski, Jamie 144
Duchaine, David 706
Dudeck, Brendan 314
Dudley, Rachael 171, 443
Duesler, Nicholas 476
Duff, Andrew 566
Duffett, Ralph 531
Duffy, Ryan 371
Dugan, Christopher 378
Dugger, Lance 651
Dukleth, Matthew 300
Dull, Steven 498
Dullnig, Christine 669
Dullnig, Christy 189
Dunbar, Tilman 130, 131, 428
Duncan, Trey 159, 315
Duncavage, Zachary 399
Duncavage, Zack 154
Dundon, Molly 300
Dunlap, Christopher 623
Dunlap, Robert 510
Dunn, Christopher 400
Dunn, Max 154, 537
Dunovant, Leonard 328
Duodu, Oheneba 503
Duong, Quoc 329
Dupell, Greg 128, 333
Dupere, Aaron 144, 455
Duran, Astrid 343
Durden, Darian 690
Durkin, Brendan 143, 315
Durkin, Pat 143
Durkin, Patrick 636
Durst, Kyle 414
Duruji, Jeremy 154, 497
Duvall, Tom 151
Dyer, Arielle 614
Dykstra, Gregory 373
Dziallo, Kieran 706

E

Eaglowski, Miles 614
Early, Sarah 392

Easler, Brandon 593
Eason, Gregory 373
Eaton, Briana 567
Eaton, John 497
Eaton, Zachary 537
Ebeling, Michael 231, 484
Eberhart, Nicholas 448
Ebert, Scott 343
Eblin, Matthew 676
Eby, Samuel 327
Ecker, Daniel 665
Eckert, Keith 537
Eckles, James 567
Eckman, Anton 255
Economou, Joseph 462
Ector, Samuel 524
Edegran, Lukas 670
Edegran, Markus 178
Eden, Michael 358
Edmond, Ashley 551
Edmonds, Kelvin 426
Edwards, Andrew 704
Edwards, Hayden 456
Edwards, Jared 607
Egan, Brendan 496
Egan, Kyle 457
Egger, Thomas 637
Ehrhardt, Joshua 608
Ehrhart, Earl 357
Eiber, Alec 538
Eichhorn, Catherine 470
Eickmeier, Isaac 441
Eikenberg, Jennifer 293
Eilerman, Ryan 608
Eilertsen, Charles 652
Eilinger, Uriah 428
Eisenhauer, Ian 531
Eisenhauer, William 386
Eisenhower, Billy 146
Eisenhower, Tasha 329
Eissler, Zachary 328
Ekman, Anton 551
Ekman, John 484
Elam, Kyle 644
Elder, Brad 138
Elder, Bradley 328
Elenbaas, Joel 622
Elias, Manu 204, 705
Ellefson, Kathryn 84, 448
Ellerbe, James 371
Elliott, Joshua 664
Ellis, Jacob 697
Ellsworth, Phillip 132, 691
Ellwood, Thomas 572
Elmore, Joshua 343
Elsaawy, Haadi 457
Elsner, Zachary 525
Elward, Cary 581
Elward, CJ 137, 154
Emanuele, Francesca 471
Emanuele, Frankie 176
Emberger, Anthony 614
Emde, Steven 156, 471
Emerling, Alec 364
Emerling, Eric 656
Emison, Joshua 455
Eng, Alyson 178, 512
Eng, Bryant 134
Engel, Justin 664
Engelbrecht, Eric 614
England, Tanner 299
Engle, Kathleen 489
Enlow, Brett 608
Enslin, Garrett 373
Epperson, Amy 706
Ernest, Nicholas 503
Ernst, Thomas 638
Erps, Ryan 358
Escamilla, Casey 607
Escobar, Joshua 146, 651
Escobedo, Jose 644
Escobedo, Ryan 387
Eskew, Zachary 328
Esparza, Aaron 435
Espino, Gabriela 690
Espinosa, Samantha 651
Esposito, Joe 151
Esposito, Joseph 344
Esposito, Thomas 350
Esquivel, Rebekkah 470
Essley, Cheyann 544
Estrada, Janae 504
Estrada, Nicolette 300
Etringer, Ben 204
Etringer, Benjamin 566
Etzel, Dylan 146, 537
Eubanks, Jordan 344
Evans, Alexander 581
Evans, Andre 428
Evans, Anthony 512
Evans, Brett 328
Evans, Caroline 580
Evans, Lucas 685
Evans, Mitchell 552
Evans, Paul 504
Everhart, Zachary 664
Everist, Juliana 441
Eversman, Ian 551
Everson, Ryan 143, 314
Eves, Ashley 301
Eves, Mari 111, 485
Ewald, Patrick 146, 428
Ewanchew, Ryan 504
Ewert, Carolyn 176, 644
Ewert, Kristen 691
Eytchison, Patrick 595
Ezell, Quentin 415

F

Faber, Matthew 691
Fach, Cassandra 385
Falesmeadows, Teresa 678
Fallon, Daniel 413
Fanning, Travis 544
Faris, Tyler 378
Farley, Kevin 320
Farquharson, Ian 608
Farr, Joshua 358
Fasolino, Nicole 638
Fay, Brendan 623
Featherstone, Jacob 442
Fedorovich, Alexander 524
Feeney, Andrew 151, 334
Fehr, Jerad 364
Felder, Albrey 565
Fellows, Jess 167
Fellows, Jessica 511
Felman, Melissa 301
Felton, Andrew 550
Felton, Jacob 456
Felton, Jake 132
Ferguson, Christopher 400
Ferguson, Michelle 600
Fernandez, Alejandro 329
Fernandez, Daniel 301
Fernandez, David 392
Ferrara, Thomas 89, 483
Ferrez, Enrique 386
Ferris, Emma 178, 608
Ferrone, Marjorie 652
Fessenden, Michael 601
Fewel, Nathan 594
Ffrench, Veronica 174, 593
Field, Cameron 373
Fielder, Kelly 594
Fields, Lonnie 624
Figueroa, Jesus 426
Filipowicz, Eric 392
Finch, Jack 156
Finch, John 664
Fine, Caitlin 174, 350
Fine, Jesse 373
Fineis, Michael 399
Fink, Sarah 387
Finley, Matthew 415
Finley, Patrick 623
Finney, Sean 371
Fiorelli, Michael 334
Fisbeck, Cassandra 172, 624
Fischer, Adam 344
Fish, Jake 594
Fish, Seamus 132, 357
Fisher, Cara 651
Fisher, Daniel 327
Fisher, Galen 531
Fisher, Ian 134, 644

Fisher, Jackson 524
Fisher, Jacqueline 163, 477
Fisher, Timothy 359
Fishman, Alexander 565
Fitzgerald, Brian 263, 419
Fitzgerald, Kaitlyn 497
Fitzgerald, Mitchell 594
Fitzgibbon, Michael 484
Fitzmaurice, Samuel 623
Fitzpatrick, Joshua 532
Flaherty, Kevin 607
Flanagan, Timothy 436
Flatter, Michael 328
Flegge, Andrew 566
Fleischer, Bryan 392
Fleming, Aaron 190, 456, 593
Fleming, Jonathan 387
Fleming, Tanner 538
Fletcher, Claire 84
Fletcher, Julian 551
Flies, Brady 146, 664
Flood, Samuel 496
Florea, Andra 545
Flores, Matthew 485
Flores, Stephanie 517
Floresmux, William 581
Flounlacker, Sean 359
Floyd, Adam 334
Foard, Andrew 664
Fogleman, SA 167
Fogleman, Sarah 399
Foky, Annie 167
Foley, Harper 670
Folk, George 552
Fontenot, Robert 705
Foran, Caitlin 462
Foran, Matthew 670
Ford, Meghan 372
Forgacs, Josh 180
Forgacs, Joshua 677
Formella, Jonathan 328
Forrester, Gregory 357
Forstmeier, Thomas 653
Fortner, Erin 176, 704
Fortney, Kyle 154, 483
Foster, Brandon 706
Foster, Michael 218, 379
Foster, Ryan 443
Founds, John 550
Fountain, Gregory 580
Fournier, Umberto 313
Fowler, Aaron 638
Fowler, Chris 154
Fowler, Christopher 419
Fowler, Nicholas 685
Fowler, Nick 134
Fowler, Ryan 607
Fox, Jacob 137, 406, 484
Fox, William 638
Fox, Willie 159
Franchi, Allyson 457
Francisco, Joseph 204, 512
Franco, Michael 365
Francona, Jamie 176, 692
Frank, Czerda 581
Franke, Bradley 498
Franklin, Cory 372
Franklin, Travis 190
Frantz, Christopher 469
Frantz, Nichole 379
Fratantuono, Justin 204, 652
Frawley, Derek 190, 539
Frazier, Wesley 300
Frazier, William 558
Frechette, David 595
Frederick, Raymond 300
Fredericks, Dominick 428
Freedman, Ben 151
Freedman, Benjamin 510
Freedman, Darren 498
Freeland, Christopher 343
Freeman, Alex 189
Freeman, Alexandra 426
Freer, Kelli 358
Freese, Emily 456
Freihofer, Rebecca 496
Freihoffer, Rebecca 163
Freitag, William 320
Freitas, Sean 532
French, Brianna 469
French, Brye 143
French, James 477
French, Jonathan 665
Freudenberger, Christian 204, 327
Freund, Peter 690
Frevola, James 218, 538
Frey, John 314
Frick, David 140, 345
Friddle, Samuel 442
Fries, Carey 550
Fries, Geoff 144
Fries, Geoffrey 677
Fringer, Kyle 706
Fritz, Brian 651
Fron, Christopher 426
Fruin, Brittany 168, 697
Fry, Ben 151
Fry, Benjamin 525
Fuentes, Robert 470
Fugleberg, Eric 704
Fuller, Courtney 401
Fuller, Gavin 638
Fuller, Michael 400
Fulmer, Haleigh 350
Fulton, Jeremiah 608
Funk, Susan 387
Funkhauser, Anna 174, 623
Funkhauser, Nikki 165
Furseth, Jonathan 638
Fusco, Robert 399
Fuselier, Todd 698
Fussman, Chris 293

G

Gachowski, Michael 477
Gaine, Brendan 143, 456
Gaines, Alex 153
Gaines, James 315
Gaines, Parrish 497
Galanos, Nicholas 510
Galat, Mason 373
Galbraith, Peter 545
Gale, Frances 248, 415
Gale, Frankie 174
Gall, Ryan 608
Gallagher, Joseph 607
Gallagher, Kaitlyn 401
Gallagher, Katie 167
Gallagher, Sean 373, 705
Gallaher, David 663
Gallardo, Christopher 615
Gallegos, Austin 523
Gallet, Joseph 314
Galli, Antonio 345
Gallien, Daniel 551
Galloway, Scott 637
Galvin, Christopher 120, 121, 137, 154, 477
Gamarra, Alexis 315
Gamble, Kai 692
Gamez, Shane 663
Gammage, Dwayne 327
Gannon, John 558
Gannon, Orlando 415
Garate, Jorge 246, 385
Garcia, Andrew 511
Garcia, Angel 386
Garcia, Bryson 345
Garcia, Corey 146, 692
Garcia, James 441
Garcia, Jon 204
Garcia, Jonathan 690
Garcia, Jorge 300, 301
Garcia, Roberto 385
Garciaquiroga, Fabio 664
Gardner, Joseph 623
Gargiulo, Troy 143, 691
Garner, Derrick 414
Garrett, Jacob 581
Gartrell, Daniel 525
Garvey, Alfred 151, 329
Garvey, Ryan 484
Garza, Evaristo 204, 637
Garza, Noah 497
Gaskins, Hunter 622
Gaston, Joseph 525

Gates, Zachary 677
Gavin, Ward 144, 567
Gawboy, Zachary 443
Gay, Robert 550
Gazaille, Jonathan 463
Gear, Christopher 134
Gedeon, Samuel 676
Geer, Christopher 677
Geer, Connor 651
Geer, Patrick 156
Geerling, Sam 427
Gehr, Tyler 624
Geif, Jade 161, 413
Geiger, Kurt 483
Geilfuss, Alec 594
Geimer, Montana 581
Geisen, Hannah 545
Geisler, Andrew 385
Geiss, Stephen 128, 463
Genco, Ethan 154, 344
Generi, Loren 167, 705
Gennaro, Aimee 167, 357
Gentry, Alexandria 436
Gentry, Anthony 698
Genzman, Ashton 538
Genzman, Grant 510
George, Sarah 167, 594
George, Taylor 359
Gerald, Todd 698
Gerard, Caleb 343
Gerbino, Evan 539
Gerlach, Gregory 180, 399
Germann, Tyler 525
Gerritsen, Michael 594
Gest, Patrick 524
Geuss, Adam 483
Gfeller, Melissa 167, 344
Gfeller, Nicklaus 490
Gharbi, Souhaiel 559
Ghosh, Adarsh 595
Giammanco, Phillip 463
Giancarli, Anthony 457
Gibbs, Eric 442
Gibbs, Marvin 532
Gibson, Alexander 624
Gibson, Hunter 518
Gibson, Scott 580
Gibson, Zachariah 315
Gidley, Emelie 608
Gies, Stephanie 448
Giesemann, James 212, 213, 351
Gifford, Justin 436
Gilbert, Gary 572
Gilbert, Zachary 652
Gilchrist, Lenue 455
Gilchrist, Maleah 692
Gilliam, Ian 315
Gilliam, Taylor 609
Gilliard, Ashley 510
Gillie, Jarred 552
Gillingham, Luke 128, 329
Gilmore, Dan 146
Gilmore, Daniel 359
Gilmore, Sawyer 144, 678
Gilroy, Margaret 225, 579
Gimbert, James 313
Ginn, Kevin 579
Ginnane, Molly 343
Giraldi, Christopher 538
Giraldo, Sara 581
Girling, Rowland 413
Giudice, Wesley 315
Givens, Gil 190
Givens, John 387
Glaesar, Sam 90, 91
Glaeser, Samantha 498
Glancey, Sarah 343
Glastad, Jacob 512
Glenn, Ciardi 629
Glenn, Walter 581
Glesmann, Jacob 567
Glick, Steven 420
Gober, Zach 180
Gober, Zachariah 524
Godfrey, John 357
Godino, Jules 143, 638
Godkin, Daniel 566
Goetz, Joshua 551
Goins, Timothy 365
Golankiewicz, Andrew 151
Golden, Daniel 691
Goldman, Carson 623
Goldsborough, John 518
Goldstein, Frank 308
Goldstone, Rico 154, 344
Goldwasser, Max 90, 91, 692
Goliver, Anthony 146, 580
Golonka, Bryan 572
Golovic, Roberto 518
Gomez, Aquiles 523
Gomez, Beau 143, 401
Gomez, Vianey 345
Gomezverduzco, Juan 372
Gong, Josh 140
Gong, Joshua 678
Gonong, Richard 90, 91, 456
Gonzales, Benjamin 594
Gonzales, Connor 140, 345
Gonzales, Gavyn 608
Gonzales, Michael 550
Gonzalez, Johnattan 483
Gonzalez, Joshua 344
Gonzalez, Lance 321
Gonzalez, Summer 510
Gonzalez, Victoria 365
Goodell, Thomas 140, 511
Goodman, Charles 449
Goodman, Jordan 321
Goodrum, Wesley 567
Goodwin, Peter 359
Gordeuk, David 525
Gordon, Evan 334
Gordon, Kadeem 565
Gorie, Andrew 134
Gorinski, Laura 171, 670
Gorman, Briana 512
Gould, Adam 344
Goulding, John 497
Goulette, Alexander 357
Goutzounis, Peter 638
Grabiel, Joel 497
Grabowski, Gina 441
Grace, Joshua 401
Grafton, Curtis 637
Graham, Amanda 174, 677
Graham, Eric 299
Granderson, Jeremy 154, 595
Grandisson, Obakai 607
Grant, James 653
Grantham, Andrew 427
Granthom, Michael 146, 373
Graveline, Benjamin 511
Graves, Mitch 254
Graves, Mitchell 698
Gray, Garrett 406
Gray, Ian 241, 593
Gray, Jeremy 103, 559
Grayson, Alton 638
Greba, Autumn 165
Grebe, Austin 443
Greco, Ethan 469
Green, Daniel 652
Green, Darien 393
Green, Ryan 601
Greenberg, Rebecca 552
Greene, Alexander 645
Greene, Brandon 539
Greene, Thomas 537
Greenspan, Joseph 144, 637
Greenwood, Billie 441
Gregg, Steven 691
Gregorius, Randall 385
Gregory, Jacob 512
Gregory, Trey 572
Greiner, Sean 335
Greve, Viktor 427
Grewal, Shubeg 630
Grey, Corey 358
Grier, Collin 102, 545
Grier, Kevin 623
Griffin, Amanda 645
Griffin, Jared 156, 622
Griffin, Rachel 638
Griffitt, Zachary 594
Griggs, Christopher 372

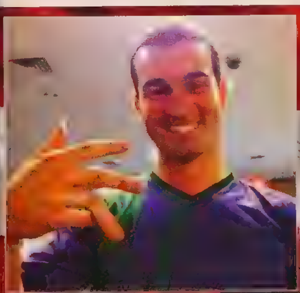
NAVY Proofs

Griggs, Jared 539
Grigsby, Devan 624
Grimm, Matthew 636
Grimmett, Kayla 456
Grinaski, Ian 140, 484
Grocki, Daniel 329
Groh, David 678
Grooms, Geoffrey 537
Grosch, Silas 651
Gross, Abigail 638
Gross, Rory 301
Grove, Ben 151
Grove, Michael 178, 496
Groves, Andrew 457
Groves, Hilleri 630
Grow, Austin 624
Grubbs, Yoshiro 328
Gruber, Jordan 154, 657
Gruebl, Thomas 345
Gudmundsson, Connor 511
Guerin, David 690
Guerin, Matthew 314
Guerrero, Aaron 420
Guerrero, Christine 299
Guglielmo, Phil 130, 131
Guidice, Wesley 237
Guild, Rebecca 406
Guizarcastillo, Pamela 335
Gulabrao, Praneel 525
Guo, Peter 79, 387
Gureck, Brian 504
Gureck, William 230, 630
Gurzynski, William 400
Gutsche, Nicholas 153, 505
Guynn, Maressa 174, 313

H

Haan, Justin 622
Hackworth, Mark 525
Hagan, Benjamin 637
Hagberg, Julian 595
Hagelin, Ryan 615
Hageman, Patrick 415
Hagen, Ian 469
Hajner, Nicholas 490
Haley, Harrison 293
Haley, Reed 692
Haling, Amber 420
Hall, David 138, 636
Hall, Duncan 630
Hall, Kai 550
Hall, Kellie 399
Hall, Mary 178, 594
Haller, Lauren 552
Hallgren, Steven 538
Halloway, Brian 254
Halton, Ernest 463
Hamilton, Blake 677
Hamilton, Christopher 539
Hamilton, Ethan 415
Hamilton, Mary 565
Hamilton, Molly 167
Hammer, Adam 539
Hammond, Kalena 512
HammondHead, Kalena 189
Hamp, Michael 485
Hampton, William 146, 386
Hancock, Nicholas 102, 449
Hand, Thomas 665
Hands, Kerri 567
Haney, Caleb 154, 593
Hanks, Cullen 301
Hanlon, Brendan 259, 420
Hanlon, Donal 692
Hanna, Molly 163, 372
Hannah, Charles 624
Hanover, Lauren 167, 441
Hanrahan, Richard 293
Hansen, Alan 586
Hansen, David 327
Hansen, James 498
Hansen, Roland 436
Hanson, Christopher 373
Hanson, Colter 449
Hanton, Anton 359
Hanton, Kyle 699
Hanzsche, Thomas 457
Hanzsche, TJ 143
Happy, Julian 692
Harden, Michael 358
Hardesty, Nicholas 573
Hardesty, Nick 254
Hardgrove, Julia 344
Hardie, Christina 443
Harding, Christy 518
Harding, Michael 525
Hardy, Keian 638
Hargett, Carlos 143, 343
Harihara, Ganesh 413
Harmon, David 551
Harms, Matthew 676
Harper, Alston 593
Harper, Sean 705
Harrell, Hunter 567
Harrell, Jonathan 671
Harrelson, David 357
Harrelson, Joshua 315
Harrigan, Cameron 190, 469
Harrington, Brian 623
Harriott, Tautiana 692
Harris, Adam 677
Harris, Glen 146, 154
Harris, Glendrevious 471
Harris, Malik 85, 601
Harris, Maurice 567
Harris, Radix 372
Harris, Will 146
Harris, William 699
Harrison, Hunter 406
Harrison, Treye 359
Harsh, Riley 573
Hartmann, Dillon 638
Harvey, Meghan 165, 174, 692
Hasegan, David 484
Hashigami, Kristi 315
Hass, Shane 385
Hastings, McMillan 114, 483
Hatcher, Kyle 231, 573
Hatef, Benjamin 407
Haueter, Zachary 579
Hauser, Charlotte 167, 631
Hawbaker, Gavin 539
Hawkes, Skyler 365
Hawkins, Kyle 484
Haworth, Beau 90, 91
Haworth, William 437
Hawxhurst, Kevin 300
Hayano, Alex 676
Hayano, Alexander 134
Hayes, Andrew 455, 692
Hayes, Drew 128
Hayes, Hannah 484, 609
Hayes, Lumiere 664
Hayes, Michael 386
Haynes, Nathan 154
Haynes, Nathaniel 315, 358
Haynie, Austin 637
Hayouni, Abdessattar 566
Hays, Ruben 638
He, Brian 664
Head, Audrey 359
Heagen, Ryan 538
Healy, Kennan 607
Heap, Bradyn 427
Heasty, Bryan 663
Heaton, Mitchell 665
Hebda, Zach 137, 154
Hebda, Zachery 470
Heckman, David 653
Hedgcorth, Ryan 159, 427
Heer, Whitney 428
Hefner, Steven 637
Hegarty, Elizabeth 699
Hegarty, William 623
Heille, Alexander 609
Hein, Christopher 538
Heinbach, Kathleen 387
Heinemeyer, Tyler 594
Heller, Christian 615

Heller, Jordan 455
Helms, Ron 314
Hemphill, Sydney 345
Henderson, Destini 685
Henderson, Weston 294
Hendi, Connor 178, 524
Hendrick, Blake 532
Hendrix, Lauren 327
Henegar, Erik 705
Heneveld, Austin 143
Henley, Brittany 327
Henrich, John 143, 359
Henshaw, Kelsey 167, 704
Herbelin, Alexander 294
Herbold, Benjamin 441
Hermann, Ross 671
Hermberg, Nicholas 443
Hermberg, Nick 190
Hernandez, Daniel 665
Hernandez, Joseph 623
Hernandez, Monica 171, 236, 401
Hernandez, Trey 705
Herrera, David 421
Herrera, Katrina 691
Herrera, Maximiliano 327
Herrin, William 483
Herrmann, Christian 609
Herron, Hunter 559
Hess, Darin 102, 519
Hester, Zachary 624
Hetherington, Christopher 573
Hetherington, Ryan 490
Hettenbach, Andrew 678
Hetzel, Thomas 678
Hetzel, Tom 151
Heyward, Alex 143
Heyward, Alexander 594
Hibert, Daniel 154, 607
Hickey, Harold 321
Hickey, Lauren 180, 652
Hickey, Michael 510
Hickey, Nolan 143, 686
Hickey, Ryan 559
Higgins, Connor 415
Higgins, Michael 485
Highsmith, John 652
Hightower, Brock 387
Hildebrand, Joshua 565
Hill, Aaron 385
Hill, Laura 615
Hill, Rebecca 456
Hill, Ryan 372
Hill, Wyatt 469
Hiller, Daniel 484
Hilliard, Jacob 653
Hillrogers, Brandon 490
Hilt, Jack 464
Himlin, Sam 161
Himlin, Samantha 400
Hinderland, Jack 143, 608
Hingst, Chad 601
Hinson, Collin 637
Hinton, Kai 154, 539
Hintze, John 609
Hinz, Eric 449
Hippe, Erica 386
Hirsch, Zach 143
Hirsch, Zachary 443
Hite, Matthew 146, 387
Hitt, Juliann 651
Ho, Kenny 358
Hoecherl, Veronica 581
Hoerner, Elizabeth 168, 385
Hoersten, Alex 140
Hoersten, Alexander 470
Hof, Colton Vant 159
Hoffer, Lucas 313
Hoffer, Luke 151
Hoffstadt, Erik 143, 676
Hogan, John 691
Hogsett, John 470
Holian, Jesse 146, 154, 637
Holl, Anthony 132, 300
Holland, Michael 442
Hollar, Micheal 401
Holleman, Christian 300
Holliday, Daniel 586
Hollins, Stanley 134, 483
Holloway, Brian 676
Honrath, Rachael 622
Hood, Christopher 351
Hooker, Allan 299
Hooks, Dennis 478
Hooper, Brandon 399
Hooper, Dewayne 335
Hooper, DJ 146
Hornberger, Emily 163, 344
Horner, Wyatt 301
Horr, Christian 622
Horton, Alexander 146, 456
Horton, Jon 343
Horvath, Shawn 511
Hoss, James 457
Hough, Megan 178, 512
Houle, Natalie 602
House, Chris 138
House, Christopher 550
Houser, Nicholas 551
Houston, Breyer 533
Howard, Andrea 551
Howard, Grace 686
Howard, Sarah 595
Howarth, Timothy 456
Howe, Nathan 180
Howell, John 657
Hoyt, Richard 308
Hozey, Conor 204, 393
Hribar, Abraham 407
Hsu, John 148, 551
Huang, Alexander 665
Huang, Nicholas 645
Huber, Daniel 593
Hubert, Chase 523
Huckeba, Austin 134
Hudson, Brandon 608
Hudson, Christopher 219, 552
Hudson, Joshua 652
Huerta, Vicente 400
Huey, Karl 190, 387
Huf, Michael 469
Huffman, Matthew 132, 523
Huggins, Jonathan 128, 594
Huggins, Joseph 328
Hughes, Brynmor 636
Hughes, Emily 579
Hughes, Nathan 636
Hughes, William 309
Hulgan, Austin 560
Hull, Aaron 178, 387
Hull, Tucker 143, 299
Humber, Christopher 321
Humiston, Michael 421
Hummeldorf, Jackson 156, 586
Hunt, Allison 525
Hunt, Bryan 414
Hunt, Sean 90, 91, 537
Hunter, Ben 159
Hunter, Benjamin 413
Hunter, James 692
Hunter, Rachel 168, 470
Hunting, John 519
Huntley, Oscar 159
Huntsman, Jon 565
Huntsman, William 329
Hurd, Jonathan 690
Hurley, Daniel 593
Hurtz, Ryan 299
Husar, Tyler 691
Hussey, Joseph 132, 631
Hutchins, Nicholas 491
Hutchinson, Nicholas 505
Hutchinson, Robert 511
Hutchinson, Sarah 174, 551
Hutyra, Richard 593
Huynh, Christopher 471
Hyland, Joshua 450
Hymel, Randall 525
Hyrkas, Alexandra 594



I

Iannacone, Kevin 351
Iglesias, Jose 622
Igras, Peter 678
Iizuka, Kent 692
Infante, Jason 637
Inge, Katherine 301
Inglett, Jonathan 497
Ingold, Zachary 550
Inloes, Jeffrey 686
Ioane, Anasitasia 163, 579
Iorio, Elizabeth 443
Ipema, Justin 372
Irsik, Sam 174
Irsik, Samantha 345
Ithier, Jan 645

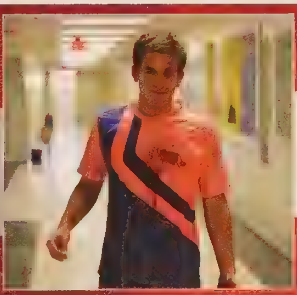
J

Jabaley, Alexander 358
Jacinto, Diana 637
Jackson, Amanda 373
Jackson, Andreas 704
Jackson, David 478
Jackson, Demetrious 386
Jackson, Donya 130, 131, 328
Jackson, Jonathan 313, 400
Jackson, Joseph 74, 299
Jackson, Karen 414
Jackson, Luke 344
Jackson, Matt 159
Jackson, Matthew 313
Jackson, Richard 586
Jackson, Sean 524
Jacobs, Caroline 176, 426
Jacobs, Eric 469
Jacobsen, Benjamin 301
Jacobsma, Tyler 455
Jacobson, Michael 653
Jacquier, Daniel 676
Jaeb, Brennen 581
Jaeger, Sarah 560
Jaenke, Ryan 653
Jaenke, Stephen 519
Jamison, George 372
Jamordee-Connor, Naticha 255
Jamordeeconnor, Naticha 524
Janik, Zachary 511
Jaqua, Nikolas 678
Jarm, Alec 146, 470
Jarreau, Lauren 328
Jarrell, Kristen 84, 421
Jasman, Nicholas 565
Jasper, Kevin 442
Jatho, Adam 496
Jefferson, Thomas 134
Jenkins, Jamence 387
Jenkins, Jeremy 366
Jennings, Peter 497
Jensen, Caitlyn 691
Jensen, Emily 165, 174, 551
Jensen, John 608
Jepsen, Jacob 315
Jernigan, Gavin 665
Jerzerick, Julian 146, 464
Jesse, Julie 171, 552
Jester, Colin 372
Jester, Marian 343
Jimenez, Xavier 327
John, Shanice 498
Johnson, Adam 533
Johnson, Alex 159
Johnson, Alexander 705
Johnson, Anthony 646
Johnson, Charles D. 491
Johnson, Charles S. 294
Johnson, Charlie 180
Johnson, Christopher 427, 636
Johnson, Daniel 357
Johnson, David 706
Johnson, Haley 692
Johnson, Jonathon 637
Johnson, Kathleen 581
Johnson, Maxwell 671
Johnson, Michael 314
Johnson, Nathan 401
Johnson, Quentin 676
Johnson, Rahsaan 663
Johnson, Samuel 371
Johnson, Sara 602
Johnson, Stanton 146, 386
Johnson, Susannah 246, 496
Johnson, William 237, 539
Johnson, Zach 159
Johnson, Zachary 299
Johnston, Christian 512
Johnston, Sherwood 609
Joiner, William 511
Jolie, Jenne 616
Jonas, August 138, 456
Jones, Aaron 366
Jones, Alec 581
Jones, Andrew 594
Jones, Austin 153, 345
Jones, Donna 663
Jones, Jackson 313
Jones, Jennifer 85, 478
Jones, Jeremy 154, 443
Jones, Jon 637
Jones, Joshua 450
Jones, Julius 546
Jones, Leo 512
Jones, Madison 322
Jones, Margaret 538
Jones, Michael 437, 470
Jones, Sam 143
Jones, Samuel 426
Jones, William 471
Joost, Bo 134, 663
Jordan, Charles 442
Jordan, Mary 165, 174, 550
Jordan, Steven 385
Jorde, Gee 386
Joseph, Christopher 623
Joseph, Jasmine 457
Joseph, Noah 146, 546
Joshi, Diwakar 300
Joudieh, Bahaa 622
Jowett, Shain 464
Judstra, Corbin 371
Juker, Anthony 328
Julia, Marcantoni 511
Jung, Shin 470
Jung, Sungwoo 567
Junghans, Chris 140
Junghans, Christopher 523
Junio, Andrew 443
Juriga, Jacob 616

K

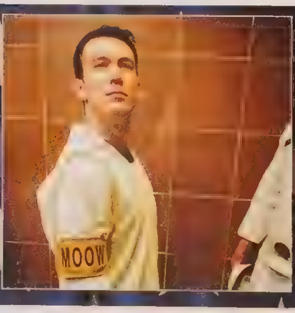
Kacergis, Bill 148
Kacergis, James 427
Kacergis, Jim 148
Kacergis, William 471
Kadrmas, Caleb 566
Kahle, Brendan 159
Kain, Alissa 664
Kako, Abdussalaam 511
Kallek, Mitchell 565
Kameen, John 154, 623
Kamela, Sean 638
Kamon, Christa 579
Kane, Alexander 631
Kang, Douglas 646
Kang, Gina 595
Kang, James 457
Kang, William 427
Kania, John 371
Kantarbayev, Batyrbek 692
Kanth, Vikram 156
Kappel, Jonathan 134, 299
Kaps, Bryan 511
Karam, John 385
Karas, Andrew 692
Karika, Alex 176

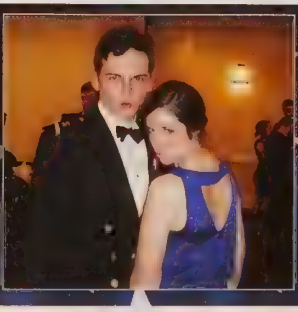
Karika, Alexandria 315
Karpf, Brandon 538
Kaufman, Lee 484
Kaufmann, Noelle 172, 414
Kavall, Alexander 399
Kaye, David 314
Keane, Michael 657
Kearney, Conor 190, 579
Kearney, Liam 491
Keating, Bobby 138
Keating, Robert 510
Keating, Travis 379
Keck, John 159, 428
Keeling, Kristina 407
Keena, Patrick 143
Keena, Timothy 301
Keene, Bryce 138, 358
Keller, Jack 128, 358
Keller, Timothy 546
Kellett, Howard 483
Kellett, Jordan 505
Kelley, Matthew 699
Kelley, Ryan 137, 154, 705
Kellogg, Eric 345
Kelly, Austin 511
Kelly, Dylan 385
Kelly, Jacob 329
Kelly, John 344
Kelly, Kyle 393
Kelly, Mark 484
Kelly, Michael 653
Kelly, Samuel 587
Kelly, Will 130, 131
Kelly, William 301
Kelm, Alexis 204, 552
Kelty, Caprice 168, 328
Kelty, Kahra 168, 551
Kempel, Kolton 154, 631
Kempf, McCrae 691
Kempisty, Mitchell 483
Kendrick, Joseph 638
Kennedy, Alison 609
Kennedy, Allison 163
Kennedy, David 602
Kennedy, Teresa 539
Kennedy, Weston 137, 154, 343
Kennedye, Jacqueline 387
Kennington, James 608
Kent, Chris 132
Kent, Christopher 328
Kent, Tyler 608
Kenton, Chadanthony 407
Kerber, Shane 496
Kerby, David 565
Kerner, Timothy 677
Kerrick, James 159, 546
Kerscher, Zachary 497
Kersey, Alexander 464
Kessopha, Joseph 560
Keuling, Russell 560
Keyes, Ryan 146, 565
Khambhati, Rakhee 442
Khan, Muhammad 309
Khan, Nadila 565
Khochtali, Mohamed 608
Khol, Curtis 114, 115, 483
Khoshroo, Babak 441
Khoury, George 595
Khushf, Abby 90, 91
Khushf, Abigail 491
Kickbush, Michael 652
Kidd, Hannah 456
Kiekintveld, Camron 523
Kiernan, Pat 143
Kiernan, Patrick 357
Kieu, Tina 580
Kilby, Matt 128
Kilby, Matthew 441
Killea, Nathan 608
Kim, Andrew 624
Kim, Daniel 616
Kim, David 443
Kim, Elissa 483
Kim, Harold 700
Kim, Jonathan 677
Kim, Joyce 245, 483
Kim, Thomas 653
Kim, Yechan 690
Kim, Zackery 358
Kimbrow, Timothy 663
Kimmell, Moira 567
Kimple, Lorna 593
Kincaid, Henry 677
Kindervater, Daniel 632
King, Alexander 478
King, Joshua 638
Kingsland, Joshua 154, 414
Kinnamon, Daniel 678
Kinsella, Andrew 313
Kirchofer, Max 581
Kisin, Polly 441
Kistler, Hobart 465
Kitzmiller, Ann 385
Kiyamov, Mubarak 538
Klasinski, Johnhenry 704
Klausner, Edward 676
Kleckner, Diego 512
Kleiman, Jeremy 551
Kleinschmidt, Karissa 690
Kleintop, Jarrett 146, 470
Klena, Luke 427
Kliebert, Christopher 547
Klimchuk, Roman 561
Klinker, Thor 505
Klouda, Christian 328
Klovekorn, Brendan 665
Klunder, Michael 204, 676
Klusmeyer, Jessica 335
Kluxen, James 132, 351
Knapp, Caleb 379
Knapp, Casey 678
Knight, Karl 244, 393
Knisely, Justin 497
Knoll, Gabriel 401
Knopf, Steven 190, 652
Knorr, Kendall 130, 131, 415
Knudsen, Jocelynn 322
Ko, Saungwon 538
Kochert, Ryan 154, 565
Koda, Gary 523
Koenig, David 148
Koenig, Kyle 156, 443
Koev, Sotir 547
Kohn, Mario 678
Kolbe, Breanna 498
Kolden, Ryan 190, 358
Kolinko, Matthew 471
Kolodziejczak, Evan 132, 705
Kommer, Ryan 523
Konyk, Danica 587
Kopar, Kitti 313
Koppenhaver, Olivia 551
Kornick, Alexander 134, 479
Korpela, Keegan 657
Kosaka, Alexander 415
Kosaka, Olivia 171, 537
Kosman, Ben 134
Kostrzewski, Kirk 457
Kotlarski, Jacob 315
Kotler, Joshua 686
Kotlikoff, Phoebe 506
Kovac, Cassandra 484
Kovensky, Alexander 336
Kraemer, Lillian 314
Kraemer, Lily 168
Kraft, Andrew 470
Kraft, Thomas 441
Kramer, David 457
Kramer, Mathew 479
Krampen, Gene 336
Krasnor, Michael 664
Kravetz, Shane 525
Kronshage, Jordan 174, 646
Kroon, John 595
Krulik, Ashley 165, 174, 359
Krulik, Jordan 159, 484
Krupczynski, Kamil 443
Krysil, Thomas 190, 636
Kuerbitz, Daniel 652
Kulik, Franek 664
Kuo, Andrew 400
Kuzma, Richard 539
Kuzmick, James 565
Kwon, Nathan 678
Kwon, Soon 313
Kwong, Martin 550

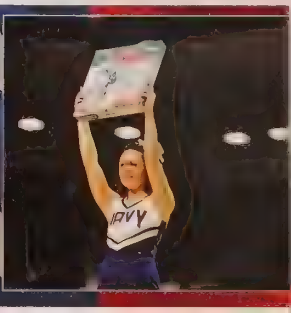


L

La, Christine 401
Labbe, Katie 587
Labruzzo, Joseph 415
Lachgar, Safouane 372
Lacinski, Samuel 524
Lacosse, Andrew 156, 565
Ladaw, Uziel 259, 646
Laderer, Katie 426
Ladha, Shafiq 574
Ladner, Evan 357
Ladouce, Johnathan 623
Lafleur, Donald 622
Lagat, Meliamae 665
Lagergren, Elise 254, 658
Lahey, Jack 653
Lake, Kevin 652
Lamadrid, Marcus 647
Lamanna, Emily 372
Lamar, Charles 677
LaMar, Charlie 128
Lamascus, Justin 352
Lamb, Jody 443
Lambard, Pierre 512
Lamm, Daniel 345
Lamoe, Peter 538
Lampp, Hunter 624
Land, Michael 358
Lander, Pamela 465
Lane, Nicholas 345
Lanfranki, Mark 579
Langbehn, Sawyer 415
Lange, Rhyan 602
Langston, Shuntiyea 443
Lanier, Christina 665
Lanoue, Matthew 455
Lapoint, John 387
Laponza, William 566
Larios, Mitchell 140
Larocca, Vincent 386
Larosa, Chase 457
Larry, Tyshan 492
Larson, Kristoffer 336
Larson, Michael 413
Lasalle, Nicholas 336
Lasch, Stephanie 676
Laskey, Carolyn 705
Laskey, Carrie 172
Lassen, Matthew 322
Lassonde, Ian 700
Laterza, Grant 328
Latigo, Resfa 236, 539
Lauer, Charles 386
Laughridge, James 132, 322
Laurel, Nicholas 538
Laurel, Nick 146
Laureys, Alexandria 498
Lavelle, Sean 465
Lavender, Chantel 658
Laviano, Devin 561
Lavin, Shanon 371
Lavine, J.Z. 511
Lavis, William 386
Law, Gordon 294
Lawlor, Tyler 588
Lawson, Hayden 506
Lawson, James 595
Lawson, Jim 90, 91
Layne, Trenton 441
Layug, Christine 632
Le, Erica 329
Le, Ryan 414
Leadbeter, Quentin 159, 566
Leahy, Sean 315
Leal, Joaquin 295
Learned, Kelsey 168, 561
Leary, Carly 174, 524
Lebovitz, Nicolas 380
Lederer, Colby 138, 470
Ledesma, Teodoro 624
Ledoux, Tyler 561
Lee, Alexander 387
Lee, Bridget 525
Lee, Changyoung 566
Lee, Christopher 413
Lee, Daniel 651
Lee, Derek 426
Lee, Doyoung 690
Lee, Francis 372
Lee, James 315
Lee, John 471
Lee, Joshua 413
Lee, Junmo 401
Lee, Kelsey 690
Lee, Kevin 652
Lee, Matthew 637
Lee, Michelle 428
Lee, Paul 608
Lee, Philip 465
Lee, Roberta 300
Lee, Samantha 691
Lee, Sung Bok 624
Legler, Hannah 616
Lehrke, Tyler 428
Leiby, Christopher 380
Leicht, Austin 691
Leigh, Christopher 132, 566
Leinmiller, Erica 246, 617
Lemonick, Michael 144, 497
Lenczowski, Hubert 366
Lenhart, Justin 579
Lent, Christopher 638
Lentz, Jeff 647
Leondaridismena, Nickos 580
Leonhardt, Lucas 579
Lepter, Molly 519
Lescher, Dale 165, 174, 301
Lesko, Barb 176
Lesko, Barbara 678
Leslie, Hank 154, 664
Leszczynski, Ian 314
Lethbridge, Jacob 309
Lethbridge, Jake 146
Lethbridge, Matthew 492
Levin, Jacob 323
Leviton, Cory 533
Lewandowski, Ryan 159, 329
Lewaniak, Andrew 609
Lewis, Anthony 608
Lewis, Brendan 143, 700
Lewis, Carrington 677
Lewis, Chris 485
Lewis, Kellen 90, 91, 704
Lewis, Marcus 441, 470
Lewis, Megan 314
Leyba, Johnathan 653
Leyva-Yelverton, Sammie 189
Leyvayelverton, Samantha 366
Liberato, Jorge 705
Liebert, Jacob 651
Lien, Patrick 112, 113, 128, 624
Lies, Eric 218, 550
Liggett, Kristen 174, 705
Lightfoot, Jewel 658
Lights, James 299
Lihan, Marissa 178, 246, 469
Lilek, Samuel 579
Lim, Daniel 442
Lind, Mark 664
Lindenhayn, Taylor 539
Lindie, Darryl 593
Lindinger, Charles 315
Lindsey, Jacob 678
Link, Christian 385
Linn, Nikkolas 337
Lintz, Caleb 156, 512
Lintz, Katrina 352
Lipp, Meredith 552
Liscomb, Kacey 299
Little, Cameron 426
Littlejohn, Arabia 174, 479
Liu, Alex 510
Liu, Anson 329
Liu, Chun 408
Liu, Marshall 327
Livengood, Mark 337
Livi, Joseph 394







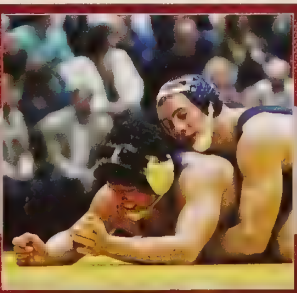
Livingston, Clint 428
Livingston, Siwan 664
Lizotte, Alex 134
Llewellyn, Joshua 652
Lloyd, Benjamin 466
Lluy, Ryan 676
Loberg, Nicholas 442
Lockhart, Keaton 496
Locklear, Adam 704
Locksmith, Joe 159
Locksmith, Joseph 327
Lodato, Victor 367
Lodge, Hamzah 677
Loeffler, Paul 647
Loewen, Hans 387
Loewen, Zatha 343
Loftis, Jarrett 394
Loftus, Patrick 664
Logan, Sergio 413
Lois, Kevin 594
Lombardo, Robert 455
Lomberg, Jonathan 387
Lonero, Angelo 90, 91, 394
Long, Jacob 300
Longabaugh, Claire 414
Longabaugh, Eric 497
Longhenry, Dustin 84
Loomis, JB 176
Loomis, Jean 580
Loomis, Justin 538
Looney, Jourdan 90, 91, 373
Lopez, Caroline 437
Lopez, Randy 484
Lopez, Rosa 373
Lopez, Violeta 427
Lopez-Shaw, Alexes 168
Lopezdearriagashaw, Alexes 327
Lopezsotelo, Fernando 295
Lord, Matthew 300
Lorei, Nathan 496
Lorentzen, Richard 567
Lorio, David 622
Losee, Isaac 154, 455
Lott, Samuel 678
Louisville, Thomas 608
Loupos, James 130, 131, 343
Love, Brittany 248, 533
Love, Francis 415
Love, Frank 151
Love, Michael 159, 550
Lovejoy, Marquise 538
Lovelace, Taylor 344
Lovely, Derek 204, 617
Lowhorn, Gregory 299
Lowman, Amber 62, 594
Lowman, Christopher 704
Lowry, Ian 358
Loya, Aaron 401
Loyal, Rebecca 359
Lu, Henry 443
Lu, Lucille 593
Lu, Yujen 469
Lubeck, Grant 414
Luber, Clifton 704
Lucas, Jonathan 456
Lulow, Trent 190, 457
Lumsden, Luke 394
Lund, Andrew 691
Lundgren, Alex 171
Lundgren, Alexandra 484
Lunkwitz, Crystal 357
Lutch, Matthew 588
Lutter, Peter 497
Lynch, Alexandra 537
Lynch, Jordan 510
Lynch, Kyle 313
Lynch, Ryan 372
Lynch, Shawn 371
Lynch, Tyler 352
Lyons, Patrick 663

M

Ma, Brian 255, 450
Macdonald, Katelyn 357
Macfarlane, David 455
Macfarlane, Maddie 171
Macfarlane, Madelyn 523
Macfarlane, Zoe 171, 609
Macgriff, Chelsea 300
Machablishvili, Mikhail 367
Mack, Jarred 479
Mack, Marcus 581
Mackno, Brooke 163, 524
Mackovjak, James 399
Mackovjak, John 371
Maclellan, Lucas 359
Macpherson, Andrew 496
Macvarish, Katherine 218, 328
Maddaus, Samuel 637
Madden, Eric 593
Maddox, William 651
Madison, Ethan 114, 180, 484
Madrid, Michael 132, 327
Maetzold, Cole 190, 692
Magaro, Colin 471
Magno, James 386
Maguire, Justin 137, 154, 678
Maguire, Patrick 562
Mahar, Patrick 609
Maher, Allison 647
Mahler, Eric 299
Mahoney, Kimberly 700
Majoria, Adam 512
Makona, Jonathan 637
Malatesta, Anthony 137, 512
Malca, Eduardo 329
Malcolm, Kirkland 313
Maldonado, Alejandro 301
Maldonado, Christopher 426
Males, Nathaniel 538
Maligsa, Christopher 677
Mall, Brijet 167, 672
Malone, Joshua 314
Maloney, Ian 232, 594
Maloney, Mark 442
Mamer, Duncan 180, 484
Mancini, Robert 512
Mandrayar, Shan 450
Maness, Jiles 154, 315
Manickam, Vigneshwar 511
Mann, Jay 143
Mann, Jeffrey 672
Manners, Erin 328
Mannier, James 159
Manning, Thomas 159, 328
Mannion, Breeda 174, 705
Mannix, Ashley 617
Mansberger, Kirby 313
Mantz, Nicholas 653
Mantz, Nick 190
Manzelli, Kash 128, 550
Mapugay, Arthur 663
Maradiaga, Kevin 204
Marberry, Tucker 300
Marburger, Jacob 358
Marcelo, Naomi 588
Marchilena, Anthony 664
Margoliscasillas, Maxwell 506
Marino, John 638
Mark, Calvin 153, 497
Markel, Zane 538
Markovich, Eric 385
Markovsky, Michael 595
Markowsky, Warren 624
Marleike, Nana 248
Marmureanu, Nicholas 581
Marquez, Zachary 676
Marryott, Thomas 485
Marsh, Montana 314
Marsh, Spencer 484
Marshall, Austin 580
Marshall, Robert 497
Marsico, Alec 705
Martella, Sarah 168, 608
Martenstein, John 623

Martenstein, Tyler 180
Martin, Brandon 492
Martin, Christian 692
Martin, Connor 428
Martin, Devin 344
Martin, John 539
Martin, Karter 204
Martin, Kevin 466, 525
Martin, Meleah 167, 367
Martin, Nicholas 373
Martin, Noah 151, 624
Martin, Shane 84, 309
Martinelli, Nicolas 371
Martinez, Chris 204
Martinez, Christopher 337
Martinez, Eliud 470
Martinez, Nicholas 443
Martinez, Ryan 427
Martino, Jeff 255
Martino, Jeffrey 110, 387
Martins, Delano 371
Marton, Taylor 588
Marvel, Kevin 159, 498
Marziale, Joshua 648
Mason, Blair 219
Mason, Kirk 624
Mason, Robert 359
Mass, Shelby 399
Masteller, Paul 565
Master, Chris 180
Masters, Christopher 622
Masters, Kricket 163, 623
Mastriano, Mario 690
Matacotta, Anthony 632
Matasic, David 132, 607
Matcham, Jeffrey 426
Matelli, Ray 154
Matelli, Raymond 691
Mather, Robert 386
Matson, Benjamin 565
Mauney, Taylor 373
Maw, Kelly 174, 636
Maxwell, James 159, 608
Maya, Dylan 380
Mayer, Hannah 687
Mayer, John 594
Mayes, Anthony 315
Mayo, Wil 151
Mayo, William 537
Mays, Bryson 151, 567
McAlister, Kya 567
McAllister, Benjamin 373
McAllister, Patrick 622
McAuliffe, John 372
McCabe, Holland 180
McCabe, Tilghman 400
McCaffrey, Daniel 609
McCalister, Sean 565
McCann, Lauren 163, 547
McCarey, Eamonn 441
McCarter, Nathaniel 343
McCarthy, Brendan 691
McCarthy, Shannon 380
McCarthy, Tyler 706
McCarty, Elizabeth 525
McClellan, Daniel 230, 648
McClure, Christian 299
McClymont, George 636
McCombs, Ashton 566
McConaghy, Kaleb 456
McCoy, Joanna 165, 653
McCoy, Paul 180, 314
McCrary, Ciera 443
McCrary, Patrick 395
McCrea, Dylan 537
McCubrey, Connor 395
McCullough, Jordan 437
McCullough, Kelsey 622
McDaniel, Cynthia 413
McDaniel, Jacob 395
McDaniel, James 550
McDonald, Frederick 414
McDonald, Patrick 551, 623
McDonald, Peter 153
McDonald, Peyton 510
McDonald, Sean 156, 607
McDonnell, Ryan 373
McDonough, Patrick 677
McDougall, Andrew 442
McElrath, Isaiah 344
McElwee, Thomas 132, 663
McGee, Miles 589
McGee, Peter 705
McGee, Ryan 300
McGee, Will 134
McGee, William 295
McGinty, Jason 652
McGlaughlin, Alec 146, 523
McGlynn, John 441
McGoogan, Evan 143, 466
McGrath, Brian 637
McGraw, Forres 537
McGraw, Ian 237
McGuinness, Andrew 148
McGuinness, Riordan 594
McHale, Timothy 314
McIntosh, Alexandra 373
McIntyre, Gabby 168
McIntyre, Gabriella 652
McIntyre, George 524
McKain, Randon 154, 426
McKee, Lucas 524
McKeen, Matt 254
McKeen, Matthew 441
McKenna, Erin 337
McKenna, Glenn 178, 299
McKenna, Julia 178, 552
McKenzie, Ian 315
McKenzie, Troy 442
McKeon, Jack 381
McKiernan, Connor 510
McKimmins, Holly 295
McKnight, Danielle 189, 401
McLauchlan, Nathaniel 624
McLaughlin, John 593
McLaurin, Earl 130, 131, 358
McLean, Chase 632
McLeod, Brianna 466
McLymore, Crystan 174, 401
McMasters, James 401
McMillan, Gregory 480
McMillan, Neil 180, 651
McMurrey, Bryce 678
McMurtray, Aran 691
McNamara, Molly 167, 638
McNeil, Thurman 314
McPherson, Michael 218, 421
McShane, William 300
McSweeney, Riley 480
McVay, Matt 159
McVay, Matthew 367
Meador, Erin 161, 497
Meaney, Daniel 146, 299
Mechling, Ty 581
Medina, Brissa 301
Medina, Brittany 608
Medina, David 562
Meek, Brandon 456
Meidus, Stephen 146, 352
Meier, Marc 315
Meister, Joshua 623
Mejia, Michael 580
Melero, Julius 677
Mellgard, John 595
Mellgard, Juliana 471
Mellin, Emily 167, 353
Mello, Isaac 648
Mellos, Christian 329
Melvin, Jasmine 523
Membreno, Alix 161, 174
Mendelson, Jacob 415
Mendez, Andrew 525
Menezes, Pat 143
Menezes, Patrick 143, 345
Menholt, Eric 539
Menke, Justin 677
Mensing, Alexandra 672
Merchant, Brooke 594
Merkel, Jude 638
Merkert, Keegan 648
Merki, Joseph 329
Merrall, Alex 137, 154
Merrall, Alexander 496
Merritt, Bo 413

Mershon, Christopher 146, 456
Messallam, Omar 204, 609
Metreveli, Beka 658
Metzdorff, Matt 190
Metzdorff, Matthew 638
Metzger, Timothy 624
Metzler, Christian 353
Metzler, Ethan 401
Meyer, Abigail 676
Meyer, Chris 154
Meyer, Christopher 373
Michael, James 706
Michelson, Spencer 637
Mighty, Andrew 154, 469
Migneault, Micala 690
Mihaljevich, Brian 146, 386
Milanes, Dave 128
Miles, Chris 146
Miles, Christopher 498
Milewski, Elizabeth 547
Miller, Ashley 314
Miller, Austin 143, 617
Miller, Bailey 353
Miller, Chris 137, 154
Miller, Christopher 381
Miller, Dan 159
Miller, Daniel 534
Miller, Elizabeth 510
Miller, Joshua 427
Miller, Julie 178, 705
Miller, Kennan 595
Miller, Kevin 538
Miller, Landon 690
Miller, Mathew 159
Miller, Nicholas 548
Miller, Paige 165, 174, 442
Miller, Riley 373
Miller, Theodore 314
Miller, William C. 345
Miller, William D. 359
Miller, William 159
Mills, Andrew 190
Mills, Bradford 581
Mills, James 299
Milman, Kristina 497
Minahan, John 134
Minn, Yale 672
Misch, Christina 358
Mistele, Barrett 457
Mistele, Bear 143
Mita, Riley 151, 314
Mix, Zachary 310
Mkhulise, Nombulelo 520
Moeller, Mark 408
Moffett, Liam 132, 300
Moh, Nnamdi 550
Mohamed Mboga, Yannick 552
Mohamed, Awad 327
Mohan, Nishant 511
Moilanen, Nicholas 537
Mokracek, Joshua 231, 692
Molkenbuhr, Marisa 664
Moll, Alexander 414
Molony, Venus 470
Momani, Nora 323
Monagle, Ryan 618
Monramirez, Andres 296
Montecinos, Adrian 146, 579
Monteilh, Alexander 539
Monteiro, Pieter 442
Montermini, Rand 154, 659
Montes, Rex 64, 65, 678
Montez, Dominic 467
Montgomery, Chall 456
Montgomery, Ryan 146, 659
Montgomery, Seth 705
Moody, Ryan 128, 345
Moore, Charles 498
Moore, Derek 678
Moore, Gregory 296
Moore, Joshua 609
Moore, Katherine 426
Moore, Katie 373
Moore, Kevin 492
Moore, Laurence 595
Moore, Leah 204, 566
Moore, Luke 691
Moore, Michael 652, 706
Moore, Stephanie 665
Moore, Stephen 128, 551
Moore, Thomas 638
Moore, Tom 137, 154
Moorehead, Andre 237
Moorehead, Andrew 90, 91
Moorman, Michael 480
Morado, Jack 574
Moragne, Luke 399
Morales, Alexander 471
Morales, Angel 102, 534
Morales, Christopher 565
Morales, Daniel 701
Morales, Richard 484
Moran, Loren 637
Morano, Garrett 538
More, Eric 338
Moreno, Carlos 359
Moreno, Paulet 427
Moreno, Saree 399
Morey, Whitney 623
Morgan, Alec 595
Morgan, Christopher 359
Morgan, Jackson 144, 552
Morgan, Thomas 338
Morgenroth, Adam 651
Morgenthaler, Jack 143
Morgenthaler, John 609
Morgenweck, Cameron 140, 665
Moriarty, Bryn 548
Morneau, Christopher 566
Morneault, Michelle 300
Moroney, Jamie 218
Morral, Dennis 386
Morris, Benjamin 338
Morris, Brett 381
Morris, Cameron 154, 498
Morris, Charles 345
Morris, Jacob 457
Morrison, Elizabeth 178, 651
Morrison, Eric 140, 345
Morrison, Kenneth 506
Morrison, Mary 523
Morrison, Matt 143
Morrison, Matthew 565
Morrison, ML 161
Morrow, Jack 204
Morrow, John 414
Morse, Hannah 663
Mortensen, Kyle 329
Mosebar, Adam 691
Moser, Nicholas 469
Moses, Jacob 140, 581
Mosher, Eric 422
Mosley, Nigel 180, 456
Moss, Stephen 663
Mossman, Joshua 496
Mossman, Zachary 566
Motsay, Kenneth 399
Motter, Zachary 371
Mourafetis, Michael 673
Mourafetis, Mike 90, 91
Moyer, Garrett 138, 552
Moyle, Jon 146, 344
Mueller, Justin 296
Muirhead, Kimberly 84, 534
Muka, Kyle 415
Mukherjee, Vikram 524
Mulkey, Amanda 165, 174, 706
Mullen, Codi 167, 373
Mullen, Deborah 539
Mullen, Nik 143
Mulloy, Tyler 327
Mun, Kathy 673
Muncy, Edward 665
Mund, Alexander 75, 565
Mundo, Katherine 415
Muniz, Tyler 525
Munoz, Chase 301
Munoz, Ethan 359
Murphy, Benjamin 510
Murphy, Christopher 438
Murphy, Connor 385
Murphy, Dan 254
Murphy, Daniel 368



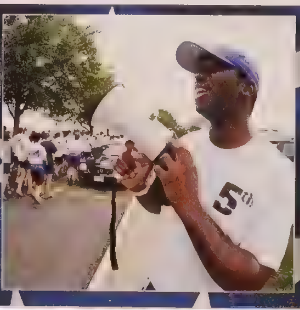
Murphy, Michael 371
Murphy, Samuel 372
Murphy, Sean C. 523
Murphy, Sean M. 704
Murphy, Sean 138, 151
Murray, Sean 579
Murrell, Kamron 581
Murtha, David 676
Musgrove, Brice 524
Musilli, Megan 457
Musquiz, Nicholas 678
Musselwhite, Steven 353
Muti, John 663
Mychalowych, Alexander 426
Myers, Eric 524
Myers, Nathan 415
Myung, Seungun 676

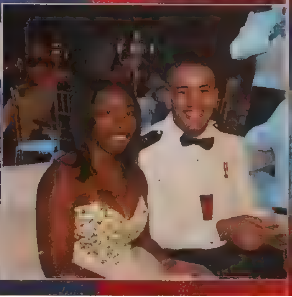
N

Nabity, Donald 706
Nabors, Louis 691
Nadal, Gregory 132, 493
Nagel, Abigail 470
Nagel, Capshaw 132, 338
Nakayama, Kevin 510
Nanartowich, Marina 163, 701
Nantz, Molly 314
Narciso, Marcelo 358
Nardone, Sara 167, 652
Nassif, Morgan 171, 359
Neal, Jacob 537
Nearing, Heather 653
Nechanicky, Tyler 143, 469
Neelfeller, Broderick 510
Nefzger, Robert 441
Negley, Darren 339
Negus, Patrick 359
Neigel, James 579
Neighbors, Nicholas 539
Neitzke, Luke 589
Nellis, Brett 415
Nelloms, Kristina 562
Nelsen, Oliver 329
Nelson, Ben 128
Nelson, Benjamin 451
Nelson, Darby 163, 428
Nelson, Michelle 165, 174, 485
Nelson, Zachary 471, 594
Neno, Patricia 171, 329
Nesselroade, Andrew 327
Nestor, Cynthia 255, 373
New, Abby 189
New, Abigail 538
Newberry, William 603
Newby, Matt 156
Newby, Matthew 664
Newhaller, Sam 168
Newhaller, Samantha 174, 663
Newkirk, Bryan 372
Newnam, Charles 701
Newsome, Randall 649
Newton, Michael 261, 633
Ng, Yanjie 315
Ngalle, Naomi 387
Nguyen, Duc 480
Nguyen, Marcus 704
Nguyen, Minhtuan 485
Nguyen, Peter 603
Nguyen, Victor 704
Nicholl, Evan 328
Nicholl, Jordyn 171, 534
Nickell, Alex 151
Nickell, Alexander 498
Nieberding, Erich 443
Niemiec, Pierce 636
Nieves, Miguel 692
Niketas, Jackson 443
Nixon, Blake 414
Noel, Nathan 296
Nogacek, Kari 484
Nohre, Jedidiah 358
Nolan, Patrick 539
Nolan, Riordan 455
Nolan, Robert 567
Nolan, Shane 562
Noonan, Abigail 300
Nordgaard, Erik 664
Nordlie, Nicole 457
Nordquist, Eric 690
Nordstrom, Angela 623
Norman, David 128, 690
Norman, Michael 134, 574
Norris, Cade 143, 575
Norris, Daniel 328
Norris, Kevin 329
Norton, Jacob 497
Novak, Daniel 579
Nowak, Haley 171, 343
Nowakowski, Krystyna 132, 523
Nowell, John 550
Nucum, Marc 496
Nugent, Michael 523
Nunes, Arin 399
Nunez, Kevin 180
Nurthen, Christopher 456
Nurthen, John 395
Nyaradi, Chris 151
Nyaradi, John 470
Nye, Bradley 381
Nygren, David 382

O

O'boyle, James 413
O'boyle, John 65, 563
O'brien, Elizabeth 382
O'brien, Kathleen 537
O'brien, Kelsey 692
O'brien, Miles 372
O'brien, Padraig 538
O'brien, Scott 636
O'brien, Sean 608
O'connor, Morgan 315
O'donnell, Connor 484
O'donnell, Sean 471
O'donnell, Shane 300
O'driscoll, Michael 438
O'hara, Luke 386
O'Hear, Daniel 190, 551
O'neill, Benjamin 618
O'neill, Conner 386
O'neill, Daniel 525
O'neill, Kendall 371
O'neill, Thomas 386
O'shea, Logan 470
O'shea, Sarah 496
O'sullivan, Nolan 651
O'sullivan, Patrick 575
Oakley, Catherine 163, 413
Oatjudge, Samuel 622
Oberlander, Dustin 190, 497
Oberman, Jack 567
Oberst, Cory 575
Oberst, Scott 244, 510
Oblinsky, Morgan 354
OBoyle, Patrick 132
Obranski, Brendan 399
OBrien, Kelsey 167
OBrien, Morgan 167
OBrien, Padraig 180
Ochy, David 327
OConnor, Morgan 165, 174
Odell, Stephen 690
Odom, Cristen 102, 520
ODonnell, Shane 137, 154
Ogarro, Greggrie 471
Ogden, Jack 653
Ogier, Nicolas 603
Ogundipe, Akinseye 422
Oh, Gregory 636
Ohiomoba, Temitope 649
Ohman, Lukas 652
Ojard, Daniel 299
Ojard, John 396
Ok, Salome 525
Olechowski, Claire 649
Oliver, Eric 525
Oliver, Logan 623

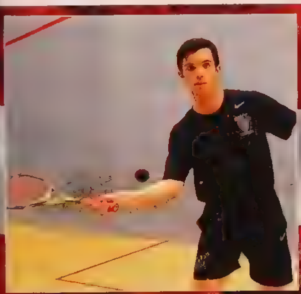




Olsen, Caitlin 523
Olson, Jordan 692
Olson, Nicholas 358
Oman, Christien 512
On, Allen 469
ONeill, Dan 90, 91
Oravec, Zachary 624
Orchard, Katelyn 443
Ormsbee, Christopher 705
Ortiz, Alexander 550
Orton, Jeremy 237, 535
Osborne, Colin 665
Oshiro, Dane 497
Oster, Jonathan 422
Ostic, William 387
Ostrenga, Harrison 652
Oswald, Morgan 442
Otano, Katie 189, 382
Otero, Joseph 637
Ott, Douglas 552
Otto, Joshua 368
Otto, Nathaniel 358
Overfield, Norman 579
Overton, Victoria 691
Oviatt, Colton 237, 705
Owen, Kelsey 176, 263, 339
Owens, Andrew 673
Owens, Devin 401
Owens, Drew 146

P

Paap, Patrick 426
Pache, Trenton 329
Packer, Kyle 595
Padgett, Christopher 314
Padilla, Joshua 581
Padilla, Matthew 565
Padleckas, Nicholas 230
Padron, Richard 484
Paek, Ashley 638
Pagan, Christopher 607
Page, Daniel 427
Page, Grant 565
Page, Quincy 678
Pagliarulo, William 690
Paige, Andrew 484
Pajor, Ryan 154, 358
Palazzo, Giancarlo 216, 382
Palazzolo, Joseph 442
Palermo, Nicholas 415
Palermo, Nick 137, 154
Palm, William 408
Palmer, Cole 551
Palmer, Ethan 134, 399
Palmquist, Mark 310
Panek, Louis 470
Pangborn, Joshua 507
Pangborn, Ryan 618
Panter, Donald 383
Papadakis, Lucas 427
Paquette, John 232, 520
Parenti, Anthony 128, 511
Parin, Johnathan 323
Park, Beth 174
Park, Bethany 485
Park, Daniel 154, 537
Park, Erica 563
Park, Hongyong 663
Park, Kevin 705
Parker, David 400
Parker, Michael 144, 498
Parker, Robbie 151
Parker, Robert 563
Parker, Will 146
Parker, William B. 618
Parker, William V. 659
Parker, William 401
Parks, John 327
Parks, Sierra 524
Parmigiane, Sean 701
Parr, Christopher 368
Parry, Collin 497
Parsons, Amanda 484
Paruso, Toni 171
Pascale, Madison 498
Pastrana, Cara 167, 638
Patane, Stephen 134, 687
Patel, Akheel 469
Patel, Sahil 132, 704
Patel, Shradha 443
Patitsas, Nicholas 467
Patricco, Stephen 455
Patrick, Austin 343
Patrick, Zachary 339
Patterson, Natasha 691
Patterson, Robert 137, 154, 510
Patterson, Thomas 344
Patton, Randolph 520
Paul, Robert 512
Paulmeno, Andrew 339
Paulson, Ryan 507
Pauwels, Moose 189
Pauwels, Nathalie 255, 510
Pawlowski, Kyle 442
Payne, Erin 345
Payne, Kurt 427
Payne, Stephanie 174, 659
Peabody, Justin 551
Pearson, Donald 126, 415
Pearson, Jeffrey 580
Pearson, Joy 168, 678
Peart, Eric 134, 408
Pechler, Dustin 498
Peck, Charles 677
Peck, Charlie 178
Peckham, Sam 137, 154
Peckham, Samuel 525
Pedrotty, Paul 702
Peek, Blake 159, 653
Peko, Togasii 358
Pelletier, Jesse 401
Pellman, Ethan 535
Pender, Michael 498
Pendleton, Jennifer 427
Peng, Bo 609
Penichet, Jacqueline 163, 230, 548
Penichet, Luis 664
Penley, Jennifer 660
Penne, Shannon 511
Pennington, Alexander 521
Penquite, Adam 511
Perabo, Phillip 525
Percival, Sydnee 537
Perez, Carlos 524
Perez, Christina 706
Perez, Erica 507
Perez, Francisco 396
Perez, John 484
Perez, Marcus 690
Perez, Marlene 359
Perez, Paloma 168
Perez, Stephen 413
Perezurena, Paloma 413
Peribonio, Michael 496
Peribonio, Mike 151
Perisho, Nathanial 523
Perkowski, Timothy 371
Perry, Brendan 204, 538
Perry, Matthew 481
Pescaia, Damon 323
Pescaia, Micah 567
Peterman, Andrew 692
Peterman, Ryan 134, 493
Peters, Lyndsey 484
Peters, Samuel 428
Petersen, Dana 470
Petersen, James 622
Peterson, Cody 579
Peterson, Colton 134
Peterson, Eric 301
Peterson, Nathan 567
Peterson, Nicole 315
Peterson, Nikki 168
Peterson, Samuel 550
Petett, Derrick 154, 314
Petro, Audrey 327
Petrofes, Caitlin 372
Petros, Haben 660
Petty, Clayton 511
Pfaeffle, Herman 373
Pfau, Andrew 413
Phelps, David 653
Philbin, Sean 84, 85, 324
Philiph, Zachary 373



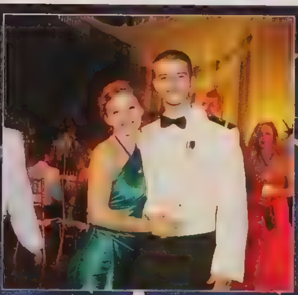
Philleo, Norris 400
Phillips, Emily 706
Phillips, Evan 638
Phillips, McLean 329
Phillips, Shane 552
Picache, Nicholas 345
Picchini, Stephen 357
Pichard, Tyler 400
Pick, Andrew 485
Piech, Kenneth 565
Piekut, David 357
Pierce, Dillon 673
Piersall, Charles 451
Pierson, Parker 651
Pifer, Melissa 664
Pillari, Nicholas 357
Pine, Paulena 663
Pinedo, Joel 190, 552
Pinto, Anthony 663
Pintos, Dorinda 340
Piotrowicz, Matthew 146, 327
Pique, Steven 609
Pirkel, Jameson 653
Pitcher, Brooke 563
Planeta, George 451
Platt, Robert 426
Pluhar, Zane 383
Plumb, Jacob 471
Plunkett, Kyle 345
Plunkett, Susan 566
Poblete, Ryan 623
Polamalu, Maika 328
Poletti, Eric 140, 665
Pollard, Michael 396
Pollinger, Kara 161, 704
Polly, Colston 665
Poole, Jonathan 396
Poolman, Kyle 691
Pope, Ben 146
Pope, Walter 593
Pope, William 691
Popp, Michael 178, 552
Poremski, Nicholas 575
Porlas, Dylon 340
Porter, Benjamin 523
Porter, Christopher 409
Porter, Kathryn 678
Porter, Katie 172
Poser, Gregory 607
Posillico, Anthony 603
Potts, Andrew 140, 609
Poulin, Katherine 704
Powell, Jonathan 314
Powers, John 385
Powers, Mark 385
Powers, Zachary 74, 299
Prada, Patrick 159, 372
Prather, Marc 539
Pregel, Tyler 484
Prendergast, Justin 567
Prescott, Sam 254
Presley, Wilbert 315
Prettyman, Austin 387
Preul, Andrew 524
Price, Andrew 604
Price, Austin 537
Price, Jay 204
Price, Joseph 676
Price, Michael 521
Price, Sean 143
Price, Tyler 414
Prieto, George 660
Principato, David 314
Principato, DJ 151
Pritchard, Edward 521
Probe, Travis 438
Prochilo, Anthony 524
Prohaska, Bryan 345
Provost, Eric 340
Prox, Caleb 343
Pruden, Grace 512
Pruitt, Daniel 594
Pruitt, Staton 138
Puent, Donald 428
Pugh, Graham 400
Pulido, Ashley 651
Pung, Christina 314
Punsalan, Jason 301
Puppolo, Fallon 168, 687
Putbrese, Benjamin 674
Pybus, Alexander 413

Q

Qin, Mack 523
Quandt, Kathryn 165, 174, 567
Quessenberry, Paul 623
Quinn, Daniel 397
Quinn, Danny 151
Quinn, Emma 687
Quinn, Katherine 470
Quinn, Katie 163
Quinn, Shane 237, 299
Quinonez, Danielle 484

R

Rabun, Brandon 328
Raburn, Matthew 481
Race, Will 134
Racelis, Aldrin 624
Radeff, Benjamin 609
Rademaker, Blake 310
Radford, Ben 469
Radka, Christopher 523
Radwan, Kareem 469
Raffels, Michael 607
Rafferty, Keefe 691
Rafter, Zachery 386
Ragan, Amanda 204, 663
Ragsdale, Kelsey 409
Rajagopalan, Krishnan 622
Rakoczy, Michael 564
Ramey, Josh 255
Ramey, Joshua 259, 422
Ramirez, Amanda 315
Ramirez, Daniel 535
Ramirez, Manuel 706
Ramos, Alexander 314
Ramos, Anthony 400
Ramos, Daniel 371
Ramos, Pierre 496
Ramos, Richard 638
Ramoscalvario, Josue 619
Rand, Victoria 255, 524
Randolph, Colleen 171, 565
Rands, Paul 159, 414
Rapada, Ryan 593
Raper, Paul 706
Rapp, Christina 324
Rapp, Christy 176
Rappeport, Sam 493
Rasche, Colton 159, 594
Rattan, Michael 576
Rauch, John 633
Rausch, Megan 567
Rauscher, Chance 159, 467
Raville, Andrea 664
Rawls, Michael 368
Raybin, Skyler 299
Rayl, Annabel 525
Raymond, Dakota 580
Raynes, Michael 633
Reader, John 371
Reading, Carter 146, 329
Reagan, Christian 255
Reaser, Mark 146, 535
Reaver, Sean 387
Rebholz, Karl 372
Redden, Dallas 128, 328
Reddinger, Alexander 690
Reed, Alison 241, 260, 452
Reed, Catherine 324
Reed, Chris 138
Reed, Christopher 340
Reed, Joshua 467
Reed, Thomas 704
Reed, Tommy 190
Reese, Paul 690
Refifi, Achraf 548
Regan, Christianrizal 523
Register, Paula 423
Reid, Christina 653
Reid, Jake 357

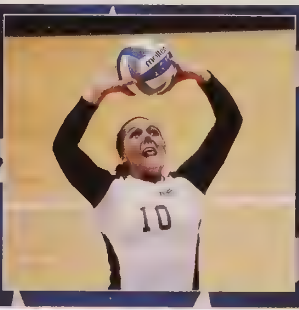


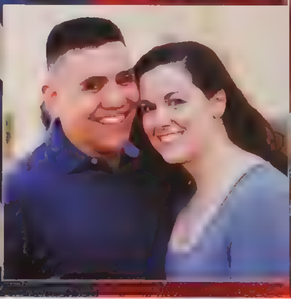
Reidel, Steven 471
Reilly, Sean F. 443
Reilly, Sean M. 567
Reilly, Sean 143, 664
Reina, Denzel 204, 310
Reindl, Michael 230, 369
Reis, Charles 692
Reisner, David 624
Reitmayer, Allison 607
Remillard, Ian 442
Reminger, Danielle 171, 383
Remy, John 255, 484
Ren, Charles 498
Renaldo, James 297
Renfroe, Bryant 594
Renihan, Connor 539
Rentas, Alvaro 510
Rentz, Conor 690
Repp, Robert 493
Rettie, Jordan 579
Reutzel, Megan 171, 609
Rey, Annmarie 452
Reyes, Joshua 344
Reyes, Sabrina 314
Reyna, Rodolfo 512
Reynolds, Christopher 386
Reynolds, Keenan 485
Reynolds, Philip 549
Reynolds, Sara 314
Rheiner, Lindsay 167, 427
Rhines, Kody 637
Rice, Andrew 311
Rice, Benjamin 471
Rice, James 678
Rice, John 154, 498
Rice, Steven 359
Richardson, Lonnie 300
Richardson, Roy 372
Richey, John 148, 604
Richline, Michael 623
Richmond, Matthew 633
Richmond, Rebecca 161, 471
Ricketts, Alexia 539
Ricketts, Lexi 168
Riddick, Justin 649
Rider, Vincenzo 637
Ridgway, Jessica 174, 494
Ridinger, Sean 539
Riel, Roviric 521
Riewestahl, Luke 428
Riffle, Lauren 314
Riggers, Jonathon 301
Riley, Jordan 608
Riloff, Matthew 314
Rimmer, Gerald 469
Rine, Jacqueline 566
Rinehart, Joel 128, 383
Ring, Daniel 470
Rintz, Eric 324
Rintz, Marc 536
Riojas, Georgia 481
Rios, Evelyn 511
Rist, Konnor 171, 315
Ritter, Nathan 401
Rivard, Michael 652
Rivera, Adela 373
Rivera, Joshua 676
Rivers, Jemuir 384
Rizman, Christopher 609
Rizzo, Alex 167
Rizzo, Alexa 651
Rizzo, Joseph 619
Ro, Edward 674
Roa, Antonio 397
Roach, Tyler 525
Roan, Stephen 494
Robbins, Mikaela 678
Robbins, Samantha 415
Roberts, Daniel 619
Roberts, Isaiah 484
Roberts, Justin 537
Roberts, Kelsey 539
Roberts, Marisa 607
Roberts, William 134, 663
Robertson, Conner 706
Robertson, Daniel 604
Robinson, Andrew 496
Robinson, Anthony 452
Robinson, Christopher 580
Robinson, Edward 638
Robinson, James B. 589
Robinson, James C. 549
Robinson, Kelley 165, 174, 498
Robinson, Maxine 538
Robinson, Shakir 314
Robles, Ramiro 327
Roby, Bryan 565
Rocco, Zachariah 325
Rocha, James 354
Roche, Andrew 327
Roche, Paul 190, 314
Rock, William 665
Rockefeller, Colin 634
Rockhold, Peter 552
Rodasreyes, Evelyn 457
Rodes, Elizabeth 174, 624
Rodgers, Joseph 156, 498
Rodin, William 299
Rodriguez, Alberto 663
Rodriguez, Jessica 665
Rodriguez, Jorge 457
Rodriguez, Perla 608
Rodriguez, Richard 369, 409
Rodriguez, Stephen 538
Rodrock, Katherine 706
Roemer, Peter 468
Rogers, Chad 237, 539
Rogers, Peter 143, 452
Rojas, Jose 90, 91
Rojasrodas, Jose 387
Rollins, Orion 443
Romagnoli, Anthony 552
Roman, Jason 510
Romano, Michael 428
Romer, Erica 510
Romero, Brandon 537
Roofner, Brian 297
Rooney, Warren 146, 511
Root, Patrick 511
Roper, Blake 636
Rosales, Samantha 178, 329
Rose, Daniel 595
Rose, Evan 413
Rose, William 471
Ross, Ashley 174, 539
Ross, Camille 297
Ross, Candace 328
Ross, Edward 325
Ross, Samuel 397
Ross, Stephanie 171, 443
Roth, Kevin 341
Roth, Remington 314
Rothstein, Jacob 428
Rouse, Philip 508
Rovito, Kristin 550
Rowe, Scott 589
Roxey, Jason 456
Roy, David 301
Roy, Logan 549
Roy, Tim 143
Royds, Edward 301
Royster, Charles 702
Rubin, Eli 174
Rubin, Elizabeth 593
Ruck, John 386
Rud, Brian 441
Ruiz, Jose 663
Rullan, Elizabeth 428
Rullan, Lizzy 167, 168
Rupp, Sarah 263, 674
Ruppenthal, Alec 428
Russell, James 604
Russell, JC 132
Rutter, Teri 566
Ryan, Daniel 328
Ryan, John 510
Ryan, Keegan 650
Ryan, Michael 566
Ryan, Zachary 134, 660
Rydalch, Andrew 702
Rydalch, Wilson 608
Ryder, Blaze 471
Ryder, Wave 357
Ryman, Ryan 468

Rynning, Sean 137, 154, 607

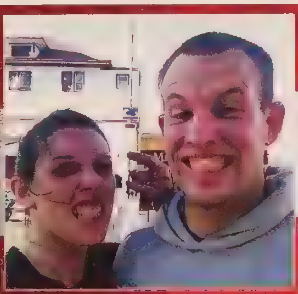
S

Sabbatini, Scott 311
Sabean, Timothy 400
Sabesky, Garrett 156, 443
Sadler, Wes 134
Sadler, Wesley 494
Sadtler, Jared 538
Saitta, Emily 171, 624
Sakamoto, Arthur 409
Sakbun, Vannara 692
Salabarria, Alberto 567
Salander, Kelly 525
Salazar, Esteban 373
Salcedo, Maximiliano 624
Sales, Michael 590
Salio, Chinna 508
Salio, Kendrick 415
Salo, Matthew 523
Salonga, Josephjed 512
Samia, Tiffany 163, 400
Sample, Ericka 344
Sampson, Ben 143
Sampson, Benjamin 314
Sanborn, Jacob 470
Sanchez, Andrew 524
Sanchez, Austin 387
Sanchez, Martin 144, 413
Sanchez, Nestor 705
Sanchez, Theresa 325
Sanchezmaldonado, Sara 494
Sanders, Alina 329
Sanders, Scott 134, 426
Sandroni, Christian 423
Sands, James 665
Sandusky, Matthew 594
Sankar, Kisshan 652
Santamaria, Mark 636
Santella, Zachery 581
Santos, Lavontay 297
Santos, Lorenzo 688
Santosalborna, Adrian 651
Sappio, Michael 428
Sarjeant, Jasmine 651
Sarker, Joshua 525
Sarpy, Nicholai 154, 457
Sarra, Bernard 401
Sartor-Francis, Jordan 154
Sartorfrancis, Jordan 609
Sasai, Matthew 438
Satre, William 443
Satterwhite, John 576
Satterwhite, Kyle 137, 154
Saudulla, Mohamed 593
Sauers, Jeff 140
Sauers, Jeffrey 637
Saunders, Dwayne 579
Savo, Joseph 354
Sawick, Ange 171
Sawick, Angelique 386
Sawyer, Aleksandra 550
Sawyer, Andrew 550
Sawyer, Grant 400
Sawyer, Stephen 498
Saylor, James 132, 354
Sayre, Kent 358
Scaccia, Michael 315
Scales, Stephen 590
Schaeffer, Luke 159
Schaffino, Isabella 345
Schaidle, Matthew 230, 510
Schalles, Jacob 650
Schalles, Jake 159
Scheid, Susan 512
Schelske, Gavin 704
Scherer, Gabriela 676
Schexnaydre, Arthur 622
Schieve, Bradford 536
Schifferle, Chelsea 386
Schimelpfenig, Natalie 84, 255, 298
Schlenbecker, Jacob 663
Schlessel, Max 677
Schmerber, Daniel 439
Schmidt, Benjamin 355
Schmidt, Bryan 146, 636
Schmidt, Joshua 344
Schmidt, Karina 537
Schmidt, Ryan 605
Schmidt, Stefan 180, 328
Schmidt, Zachary 414
Schmidtke, Barney 180, 580
Schmiegel, Lauren 550
Schnabel, Mark 485
Schneider, Daniel 400
Schneider, Roberto 674
Schneider, Skyler 636
Schoberl, John 576
Schoberl, Johnny 128
Schofer, Thomas 386
Schofer, Tommy 156
Schroeder, David 580
Schroeder, Stephen 609
Schroeder, Steve 137, 154
Schuhlein, Colin 386
Schultz, Albert 159
Schultz, Cyle 132, 455
Schultz, Edward 691
Schulz, Kalli 168, 469
Schumacher, Julie 168, 427
Schwab, Evan 457
Schwacke, Christopher 423
Schwamb, Erich 397
Schwinn, Alison 565
Sciscoe, James 510
Scott, Alexander 358
Scott, Jarod 300
Scott, Stephen 688
Scott, Ward 580
Scully, Ethan 400
Seabrook, Jade 168, 566
Seagraves, Park 414
Seals, Isaac 154, 485
Searight, Matthew 497
Sears, Darien 172, 299
Sears, Thomas 190, 373
Secrest, Kelis 358
Seda, Anthony 524
Seeberger, Nickolaus 470
Seese, Raymond 634
Segalla, Michael 414
Segovia, Alexandria 609
Segura, Cesar 692
Seipp, Patrick 456
Seitz, Samantha 232, 565
Selby, Drew 138
Selby, Richard 455
Seng, Patrick 481
Senoyuit, Mary 264, 590
Sercia, Kevin 579
Setness, Taylor 156, 469
Severs, Peter 637
Severson, Peter 650
Seykov, Seyko 498
Sha, Alexander 387
Shaak, Frederick 537
Shabshab, Spencer 443
Shackleton, Dan 146
Shackleton, Daniel 426
Shade, Amanda 371
Shafer, Allison 624
Shaffer, Weldon 387
Shaffer, Zeke 138
Shafran, Trevor 143, 622
Shaheen, Thomas 593
Shaikh, Samir 565
Shamma, Ahmed 664
Shannon, Joseph 590
Sharbel, Ian 608
Sharbo, Jonathan 204, 538
Share, Ashleigh 84, 311
Sharma, Rohit 661
Shaut, Drew 371
Shavers, Clyde 311
Shaw, Ian 539
Shaw, Joshua 154, 341
Shaw, Patrick 132, 456
Shawver, Christina 174, 359
Shea, Andrew 341
Shea, Sara 401
Sheeler, Matthew 400





Sheldon, Robert 608
Shelton, Justin 607
Shelton, Mallory 176, 428
Shepardlewis, Tyrise 594
Shepherd, Jonathan 386
Sherenco, Alexandra 428
Sherwood, Garrett 577
Sherwood, Jason 301
Shevock, Kelsey 455
Shibata, Matthew 619
Shields, Elizabeth 677
Shiiba, Thomas 144, 315
Shilakis, Alexander 345
Shinkle, Erik 154, 443
Shinnick, Jack 148
Shinnick, John 549
Shontz, Jonathan 690
Short, Michael 312, 609
Shrum, Stuart 314
Shuttleworth, William 312
Sich, Markian 522
Sidamonidze, David 423
Siefring, Seamus 688
Silberberg, Matthew 652
Silver, David 151, 485
Simmonds, Cassidy 358
Simmonds, Mitch 154
Simmonds, Mitchell 522
Simoes, Geramiah 565
Simons, Derrick 424
Simonson, Keely 171, 471
Simonson, Kieran 550
Simpson, Charles 552
Simpson, Frederick 624
Simpson, Michael 230, 675
Simpson, Robert 325
Simpson, Stewart 605
Sims, Aaron 525
Sinar, Melissa 248, 453
Sipe, Samuel 180, 441
Sisk, Alex 153
Sisk, John 372
Skaggs, Nicole 171, 678
Skarpnes, Konrad 359
Skeen, Nicholas 471
Skinker, Hampson 551
Skinner, Cessily 163, 442
Skogerboe, Eric 424
Skord, Guy 144, 299
Skovira, Rebecca 567
Slack, Patrick 634
Slater, Rachel 165, 174, 469
Slater, Riacca 550
Slaughter, Jacob 580
Sledge, Thomas 372
Sloan, John 470
Sloan, Nicholas 539
Sloan, Orris 329
Sloan, Quinn 263, 424
Sloan, Temple 146
Sluzewicz, Melanie 174, 702
Slye, Robert 344
Smaldone, Christopher 538
Small, Arthur 456
Smallwood, Mary 651
Smeeks, Frank 457
Smiley, Michael 564
Smisson, Katherine 704
Smith, Bridger 372
Smith, Caleb 678
Smith, Cameron 255, 301
Smith, Chelsea 178, 496
Smith, Christian 355
Smith, Cody 398
Smith, David 593
Smith, Douglas 369
Smith, Jack 457
Smith, John 703
Smith, Josiah 344
Smith, Katherine 455
Smith, Kristin 174, 424
Smith, Onanong 706
Smith, Raquel 453
Smith, Samuel 103, 439
Smith, Stephen 510
Smith, Stryker 653
Smith, Travis 329
Smith, Trevor 580
Smith, Worth 130, 131, 637
Smoot, Jared 130, 131, 328
Smyth, Trevor 624
Snapp, Isaac 300
Snapp, Siera 457
Snelgrove, Miles 661
Snell, Andrew 384
Snelling, Aimee 524
Snelson, Benjamin 64, 65, 126, 341
Snook, Erin 172, 496
Snowden, Scott 663
Snowden, Scotty 156
Snyder, Andrew 496
Snyder, Garrett 653
Snyder, Gavin 144, 579
Snyder, Jacob 455
Snyder, Jordan 664
Snyder, Megan 581
So, Jillianne 468
So, William 634
Sobrero, Haley 622
Soellner, Ashlynn 168, 593
Sohn, Joshua 245, 661
Sokoloski, Patrick 636
Solari, Cody 159, 512
Solmonson, Molly 384
Solt, Philip 484
Sommers, Matthew 159, 314
Song, Philip 132, 594
Sonnenberg, Ian 298
Soper, Matthew 427
Sopko, Patrick 144, 622
Sorenson, Sam 128
Sorenson, Samuel 595
Sotelo, Seth 581
Soto, Francheska 635
Soto, Michelle 174, 415
Souhaiel, Gharbi 102
South, Kaitlyn 511
Southworth, Colten 676
Souza, Robert 581
Sowerby, Benjamin 329
Spada, Steven 675
Spadaford, Ryan 130, 131, 552
Spaich, Mackenzie 552
Spann, Kirstin 171, 595
Spaulding, Jacob 636
Spear, Jordan 132, 358
Speirs, Zachary 314
Spencer, Clinton 326
Spencer, Dylan 524
Spencer, Jasmine 581
Spies, Victoria 471
Spinello, Michael 342
Spivey, John 263, 675
Spivey, Jordan 439
Splaine, Julia 525
Sposato, Tyler 426
Staab, Chloe 84, 249, 482
Stabile, Julie 622
Stafford, Savannah 677
Stallard, Andrew 652
Stamer, Scott 688
Stamm, Morgan 89, 485
Stanley, Andrew 264, 425
Stanley, Lucas 190, 705
Stapleton, Chloe 161, 511
Stapleton, Julie 652
Stark, Catherine 165, 653
Stark, Joseph 151, 605
Stark, Zofia 165, 539
Starsman, Brian 401
Steblein, Mark 386
Steele, Star 176, 692
Steen, Tahira 551
Steenberg, Lily Van 163
Steenberge, Kyle 426
Steere, Samantha 706
Steffens, Matt 143
Steffens, Matthew 441
Steinberg, Timothy 637
Steiner, Jason 512
Stell, Jay 154, 638
Stensrud, Thorys 538
Stephenson, Luke 675
Stern, Nathaniel 301
Steveken, Charles 594
Steveken, Charlie 190



Stevens, Christopher 439
Stevens, David 400
Stevens, Toderick 485
Steves, Joshua 140
Stewart, Marissa 174, 706
Stewart, Seth 355
Stieger, Richard 146, 300
Stiles, Audrey 536
Stinson, Nathan 151, 581
Stocking, Luke 539
Stocks, Zachary 705
Stoddard, Kevin 151, 705
Stoltenburg, Katelyn 485
Stone, Arvind 566
Stone, Thomas 455
Stone, Wyatt 470
Stoner, Jakob 386
Stooksbury, Andrea 650
Stout, Blake 524
Strachan, Ally 189
Strachan, Allyson 498
Stransky, Kevin 663
Strauss, William 386
Strawn, Michael 581
Strecker, Adrian 427
Strelkoff, Samuel 482
Strickland, George 566
Stromback, Laura 301
Strong, Ashley 691
Strong, Emily 386
Strotz, Kevin 471
Stroud, Joshua 427
Studiner, Ethan 664
Stueve, Cody 344
Sturdifen, Angelique 550
Sturdivant, Collin 342
Stuy, John 470
Subialdea, Ivan 622
Sudduth, Raymond 246, 442
Suen, Justin 90, 91, 355
Suess, Peter 471
Suess, PJ 144
Sugg, Ian 386
Suh, David 539
Sullivan, Andrew 358
Sullivan, Luke 525
Sullivan, Timothy 510
Sullivandavachi, Sohrob 443
Summers, Parker 620
Suqi, Austen 344
Suriben, Rizalina 441
Sutherland, Robert 156, 595
Swain, Christopher 415
Swain, Patrick 637
Swan, Nathan 495
Swanson, Eric 456
Swanson, Heidi 550
Swanson, Thomas 485
Swanson, Tom 154
Sweeney, Brian 151, 496
Sweeney, John 137, 154, 652
Sweeney, Matthew 372
Sweeney, Renee 329
Sweeney, Sean 298
Sweet, Alexander 661
Swezey, Doug 190
Swezey, Douglas 400
Swift, Nathaniel 565
Swindler, Brandon 154, 550
Switanek, Kiley 410
Switzer, Alexandria 345
Sylakowski, Kate 624
Sylakowski, Katie 176
Szabo, David 676
Szczepaniak, Nicholas 314
Szymanski, Christopher 372

T

Takeda, Edgar 508
Talarico, Chris 143
Talarico, Christian 356
Talbot, Tasha 315
Talegaonkar, Neeraj 678
Talicuran, Jefferson 358
Talisse, Charles 591
Talon, David 496
Tamayo, Kevin 653
Tamburello, Ben 301
Tang, Gabriel 180
Tang, Ying 497
Tangen, Scott 212, 356
Tanner, Zachary 522
Tate, Joshua 664
Tatum, Zach 254
Tatum, Zachary 312
Tauber, David 415
Tauber, Troy 662
Tauskey, Michael 371
Tavizon, Alejandro 344
Tay, Cheng 326
Taylor, Austin 327
Taylor, Jared 440
Taylor, Kenneth 605
Taylor, Patrick 327
Taylor, Patton 314
Taylor, PJ 156
Taylor, Shelby 163, 300
Teague, Brent 508
Teater, William 498
Teeny, Zachary 623
Tello, Ian 344
Temple, James 663
Temple, Lukas 525
Tenne, Alec 581
Terry, Chelsea 161, 485
Teska, Christopher 662
Tesluk, Michael 442
Thach, Amanda 171, 427
Thames, Shane 484
Thatcher, Clarissa 539
Thaw, Hlan 90, 91, 524
Thein, Tyler 564
Thelisinghe, Chanaka 652
Theodos, James 469
Theriault, Luke 591
Thomas, Alexandria 595
Thomas, Bennett 237, 453
Thomas, Jabari 637
Thomas, James 358, 536
Thomas, Jordan 315
Thomas, Kevin 651
Thomas, Marcus 126
Thomas, Matthew 440
Thomas, Richard 156, 567
Thomas, Roscoe 180, 622
Thomas, Ryan 512
Thomas, Samantha 457
Thomerson, Lora 635
Thompson, Andrew 579
Thompson, Brandon 300
Thompson, Catherine 624
Thompson, Christopher 469
Thompson, Cody 137, 241
Thompson, Daniel 678
Thompson, Katrina 677
Thompson, Kyle 386
Thompson, Madalyn 581
Thompson, Maddi 171
Thompson, Nicholas 524
Thorn, Travis 415
Thornethomsen, Andrea 358
Thornhill, Alan 664
Thornton, Britney 538
Thornton, Jamison 426
Thornton, Johnathan 358
Thorsell, Tracy 172, 373
Thorsen, Michael 410
Throckmorton, Stewart 414
Thurman, Ryan 676
Tian, Xisen 623
Tibbs, Jessica 414
Tidd, Joel 216, 453
Tidwell, Frederick 344
Tilley, Morgan 510
Tillman, Brendan 691
Timmins, Connor 178, 299
Timmreck, Jordan 577
Tinajero, Andrea 623
Tingley, Zachary 386
Tisdale, Candice 651
Tisler, David 580

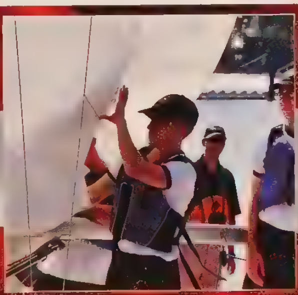
Tobias, Noah 384
Todd, Kyle 564
Tom, Joseph 386
Tomaszewski, Lyle 591
Ton, Stefanie 172, 577
Toohig, Thomas 428
Toole, Joseph 594
Toombs, Austin 102, 232, 689
Toombs, Reid 329
Torrealba, Roberto 111, 484
Torres, Danielle 414
Torres, Gabriela 593
Torres, Jason 386
Tortorici, John 609
Tosco, Hiram 441
Toski, Seth 345
Toto, Kyle 706
Towers, Nicolas 623
Towle, David 410
Townsend, Shaquille 512
Townsend, Trey 653
Toy, Spencer 550
Toye, Joshua 552
Tracey, Timothy 595
Tracy, Ray 410
Trafford, Heather 595
Trainor, Phillip 663
Trainor, Tyler 496
Tran, Brandon 485
Tran, Ryan 344
Tresansky, Andrew 132, 454
Trettin, William 328
Trevorrow, Olivia 415
Trezza, Jeffrey 703
Trimble, Case 176
Trimble, Catherine 358
Triplett, Jeramy 137, 154, 470
Trippe, Abbie 566
Troche, Chris 154
Troche, Christopher 456
Troncoso, Michael 607
Tropf, Jordan 690
Trotter, Kennedy 537
Troutman, Brendon 471
Trujillo, Justin 345
Truninger, Matt 190, 359
Truong, Andrew 485
Truskot, Sarah 171, 538
Truss, Andre 457
Tsai, Tsungmin 638
Tsarev, Stefan 345
Tsukamoto, Christian 606
Tsurtsumia, Giorgi 537
Tucciarone, Valerie 117, 204, 255, 607
Tucker, Jonah 415
Tucker, Nicholas 652
Tucker, Nick 180
Tuimavave, Michael 426
Tullock, Kaitlyn 470
Tuohy, Rylan 624
Tupica, Michael 552
Turchan, Taylor 539
Turitzin, Alexander 537
Turner, Andre 427
Turner, James 635
Turner, Ryan 128, 457

U

Ubiera, Liam 608
Udan, Thomas 386
Ujrat, Nafis 428
Ulerio, Daniel 218, 358
Umbach, Brynn 413
Underhill, Jennifer 218, 299
Unpingco, Benjamin 652
Untalan, Victorino 484
Urbashich, Joseph 689
Urmenita, Jericho 159, 651
Uto, Race 663
Uwazie, Chima 456

V

Vachon, Robert 373
Vagts, Justin 151, 620
Vahsen, Ryan 705
Valaik, Nathaniel 398
Valencia, Juan 594
Valencia, Tyler 457
Valenstein, Grant 144, 524
Vales, Jamie 591
Valeske, Jared 485
Valladares, Brianna 636
Vallancey Martinson, Nathanial 344
Valle, Wilson 677
Valles, Christopher 690
Valliere, Monique 665
Van Benthem, Max 482
Van Driessche, Aaron 259, 635
Van Eerden, Lambert 482
Van Halanger, Matthew 537
Van Norman, Derek 509
Van Steenberg, Lily 664
Vance, Connor 595
Vandegrift, Joseph 665
Vandiver, Nicholas 457
Vanheest, Andrew 259, 425
Vankirk, James 411
Vann, Benny 342
Vann, Taylor 509
Vannatta, Taylor 593
Vannote, Eric 624
Vanthof, Colton 623
Vanvleet, David 345
Vanwinter, Robert 440
Vargas, Daphne 522
Vargas, Karen 178, 665
Vasquez, Jeremy 358
Vaughn, Rheanna 171, 469
Vaughn, Ron 154
Vaughn, Ronald 552
Veatch, Cody 443
Veech, Craig 128
Veech, Robert 703
Velazquezsanchez, Alfredo 664
Veloria, Mariano 566
Vendetta, Taylor 511
Venturini, Brandon 130, 131, 300
Verbeeck, Michelle 689
Verdeburke, Geanna 692
Verducci, Matthew 524
Verhulst, Brant 652
Verissimo, Zachary 581
Vernon, Cody 358
Versteeg, Justin 255, 607
Vetere, Adam 154, 623
Vetere, Mark 154, 594
Vickers, Graham 358
Villani, Philip 471
Villareal, Charisse 415
Villarrealross, Gabriella 469
Villemez, Nicholas 471
Viscardi, Eric 140, 456
Vivaldi, Britta 168, 441
Vladimirov, Igor 607
Voegele, Trevor 180, 344
Vogel, Alexander 551
Vogel, Derek 144, 485
Volm, Robert 595
Von Savage, David 678
Vonparis, Samuel 413
Voss, Christopher 386
Voss, Luke 692
Voumard, Gabe 143
Voumard, Gabriel 358



W

Wade, Anna 329
Wade, Cam 159
Wade, Cameron 552
Wagner, Amelia 692
Wagner, Colby 386
Wagner, Steven 636
Wahl, Emerson 495
Waldorf, Kyle 497
Walia, Jagdeep 578
Walker, Cotter 148, 411
Walker, David 326
Walker, J.D. 651
Walker, Jesse 342
Walker, Joseph 427
Walker, Scott 509
Walker, Simone 443
Wallace, Meredith 498
Wallace, Natalie 428
Walls, Anderson 343
Walsh, Brendan 151, 314, 485
Walsh, Erin 167, 386
Walsh, Luke 550
Walsh, Peyton 159, 442
Walsh, Stephen 676, 692
Walter, Barkley 441
Walters, Benjamin 690
Walters, Timothy 245, 663
Walz, Zachary 369
Ward, Kris 636
Ward, Paige 246, 345
Wardadams, Jonathan 470
Ware, Corey 620
Warne, Sam 159
Warne, Samuel 676
Warneke, Taylor 344
Warner, Elizabeth 624
Warner, Ryan 344
Warnert, Rex 315
Warren, Carpenter 156
Warren, John 578
Warren, Spencer 344
Warren, William 706
Warrick, Matthew 312
Wasdin, Brian 470
Washington, Michael 483
Washkewicz, Eric 132, 495
Watanabe, Daniel 691
Waterman, Timothy 524
Watkins, Collin 496
Watkins, John 180, 455
Watkis, Justin 663
Watlington, Seth 151, 552
Watrol, Michael 371
Watson, Benjamin 620
Watson, Jett 471
Watson, Johnny 159, 386
Watson, Rebecca 313
Watson, Stout 159, 567
Watt, Zachary 637
Wattay, Benjamin 301
Watterson, Philip 689
Wauer, Zachary 567
Waugh, Emily 343
Waugh, Nicholas 398
Wears, Phillip 663
Webb, Aja 161
Webb, Ajournae 551
Webb, Nathaniel 387
Weber, Grady 358
Weber, Mason 705
Weber, Riley 151, 525
Webster, Ellie 607
Webster, Jordan 551
Weckenbrock, John 457
Weeden, Joshua 539
Weggeland, Will 156
Weggeland, William 345
Weilbacher, Lucas 706
Weintraub, Noah 90, 91, 495
Weir, Ethan 567
Weisberg, Benjamin 329
Weisberg, Bryan 370
Welker, Ashley 165, 174, 301
Wellmon, Eric 146, 471
Welniak, Craig 146, 415
Wen, Matthew 414
Wendel, Kevin 143, 498
Werling, Joshua 524
Werner, Alexis 703
Wesley, Maria 298
West, Brendan 146, 344
West, Cody 134, 551, 622
West, Tory 469
Westberg, Alexandra 358
Wester, Thomas 485
Westerberg, Jenna 345
Westlake, Zachary 676
Westland, Paul 114, 484
Weston, Ian 327
Westover, Tyler 371
Westrick, Connor 140, 512
Wetzel, Keegan 454
Wev, Jonathan 327
Whalen, Emmett 329
Wheeler, Dylan 128, 398
Wheeler, Richard 581
Wheeler, Richarrd 231
Wheeler, Ryan 524
Wheeler, Thomas 624
Whippo, Christopher 237, 608
Whisner, Andrew 525
Whitcombe, Katie 174, 578
White, Ansley 426
White, Brian 637
White, Connor 594
White, Conor 132, 608
White, Daphne 314
White, James 592
White, Justin 344
White, Marquis 146, 301
White, Shelley 706
White, Zach 159
White, Zachary 578
Whitehead, Austin 485
Whiteside, Geoffrey 551
Whitley, Scott 315
Whitlock, Kevin 143, 677
Whitsett, Daniel 606
Whitsett, Danny 134
Whitt, Josh 254
Whitt, Joshua 579
Whitworth, Chloe 165, 581
Wickerson, Adam 356
Wicklund, Blaine 609
Widhalm, Kyle 592
Wiechec, Maxwell 457
Wiedeman, David 128, 652
Wiegert, Keith 401
Wiemann, Austin 706
Wiemann, John 470
Wilcock, Thomas 345
Wilk, Logan 117, 358
Wilke, Korin 662
Wilkes, Conor 134, 523
Wilkin, Emily 168, 651
Wilkins, Jared 328
Wilkins, Ryan 606
Wilkinson, John 678
Willi, Brian 427
Williams, Bradley 678
Williams, Brian 622
Williams, Daphne 621
Williams, David 146, 663
Williams, Guy 525
Williams, Jake 524
Williams, Jamaal 359
Williams, Jon 651
Williams, Kenyon 676
Williams, Kevin 344
Williams, Langston 580
Williams, Philip 103, 454, 579
Williams, Ryan 326
Williams, Sheelby-Wayne 255
Williams, Shelbywayne 524
Williams, Terrie 85, 313
Williams, Tiana 677
Williams, Tonnie 370
Williams, Travis 457

Williamson, John 246, 621
Williamspittner, Kenneth 593
Willings, Ethan 427
Willis, Heather 496
Willoughby, Harrison 442
Wilson, Alex 144
Wilson, Alexander 441
Wilson, Cedric 456
Wilson, Christine 580
Wilson, Cyrus 595
Wilson, David 638
Wilson, Eric 524
Wilson, Jared 327
Wilson, John 704
Wilson, Kevin 496
Wilson, Lawrence 653
Wilson, Spencer 400
Wilson, Thomas 624
Wingate, Cheyenne 524
Wingate, Jordan 370
Winkler, Timothy 386
Winston, Antionne 454
Winston, Paul 622
Winter, Gabby 172
Winter, Gabriela 580
Winters, Brandon 552
Winzurk, Zachary 498
Wise, Matthew 414
Wiseman, Conn 621
Wisniewski, Benjamin 426
Wissmann, Jane 401
Wissmann, Susan 581
Wistner, Brian 359
Wistner, Stephen 372
Wohar, Nicholas 704
Wolborsky, Samuel 691
Wolf, Benjamin 356
Wolford, Matthew 484
Womack, James 498
Womack, Samuel 676
Won, David 138, 401
Wondolowski, Andrew 154, 357
Wongissares, Supawit 511
Wood, Collin 469
Wood, Frederick 300
Wood, Scott 385
Wooden, Matthieu 411
Woods, Andrew 180, 314
Woods, Bradley 593
Woods, Cameron 428, 606
Woods, David 134
Woods, Nicholas 471
Woody, Symone 621
Woolard, Jayne 168, 359
Woolard, Katherine 455
Woolard, KD 168
Wootten, Eric 592
Worosz, Matthew 301
Worsham, Lisa 357
Worth, Joseph 652
Wortham, Myles 485
Worthington, Wayne 651
Woulfe, Michael 159, 567
Woxberg, Terry 328
Wright, Benjamin 550
Wright, Kameron 84, 662
Wright, Matthew 411
Wu, Jonathan 344
Wu, Timothy 428
Wubbena, Douglas 414
Wyatt, Brennan 130, 131, 593
Wyckoff, Matthew 653
Wydra, Adam 566
Wynn, Gregory 510
Wynn, Thurgood 130, 131

y

Yachanin, Alex 132
Yallowitz, Aaron 300
Yang, Eugene 636
Yates, Matthew 592
Yau, Kristy 172, 372
Yau, Michelle 485
Yeager, Olivia 176, 246, 485
Yerkesmedina, Robert 371
Yi, Betty 665
Yi, James 638
Yisrael, Khalif 455
Yonkings, David 385
Yoo, Brian 551
Yoo, Yoseph 386
Yoon, John 622
Yost, James 498
Young, Beth 167
Young, Bill 151
Young, Elizabeth 425
Young, Eric 470
Young, Katherine 607, 653
Young, Kathy 167
Young, Katie 171
Young, William 485
Youngberg, Philip 178, 427
Yu, Jinhong 427
Yuan, Jesse 470
Yuan, Jinghong 581
Yuen, Jonathan 496
Yun, Hannah 663
Yun, Zenas 415
Yusof, Awangkuabdulrauf 413
Yust, Taylor 663

Z

Zablocky, Amanda 524
Zack, Aaron 154, 328
Zahzouhi, Sami 426
Zanetti, Ashley 622
Zapala, William 327
Zapata, David 425
Zawarski, John 485
Zeiss, Benjamin 607
Zeleznik, Christopher 455
Zell, Madeline 174, 427
Zeman, Connor 344
Zenguebouc ah, Pierre 567
Zettler, Dean 102, 455
Zhang, Edward 428
Zhong, Elaine 455
Ziccardi, Angela 497
Ziemski, Benjamin 704
Zieser-Misenheimer, Robert 138
Ziesermisenheimer, Robert 497
Zihan, Hassan 677
Zikos, Antonios 537
Ziminski, Daniel 690
Zimmerman, Aaron 143, 624
Zimmerman, Paul 143, 327
Zittrauer, Michael 455
Zobel, Joseph 595
Zook, Julia 400
Zotkin, Georgiy 427
Zotti, Caroline 552
Zuber, Martin 593
Zubler, David 665
Zurita, Jonathan 636
Zuzek, Jake 328

News

North Korea Launches Rocket

The world is uneasy as North Korea launches a rocket that may have put a satellite into orbit around the Earth.

Women Senators Now Number 20

The U.S. Senate achieves a new record: 20 female senators in office, 16 Democrats and 4 Republicans. The new total beats the previous record by four.

BP Agrees to Settlement

Shortly before the second anniversary of the 2010 oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, BP reaches a settlement with thousands of businesses and individuals hurt by the spill.

Shooter Terrifies Theatergoers

In Aurora, Colorado, actor Christian Bale and his wife Sandra Blazic visit the memorial that was created for the victims of the mass shooting that occurred during a midnight screening of The Dark Knight Rises, where 12 were killed and 58 wounded.

Felix Baumgartner Takes a Leap

Skydiver Felix Baumgartner breaks a world record by jumping from a space capsule almost 24 miles above ground.

Hurricane Sandy Hits New York

Hurricane Sandy hits New York, flooding transit tunnels and prompting President Obama to sign an emergency declaration for the entire state.

New Jersey Battles Hurricane Sandy

The Jersey Shore copes with widespread flooding, power outages and property damage resulting from Hurricane Sandy.

Malala Is Teenager of the Year

Malala Yousafzai, the 15 year-old Pakistani schoolgirl shot by the Taliban because she campaigned for the education of girls, is named Teenager of the Year by The Muslim Times.

me Lending RATES
Mortgage and Home Equity
4.000%
3.000%
3.315%

Mortgage Sweet Mortgage

Homebuyers benefit from favorable lending rates as the slow economy keeps home mortgage interest rates as low as 2.94 percent.

Benghazi Attack Kills Ambassador

Armed attackers kill Ambassador J. Christopher Stevens and six other Americans at the U.S. consulate in Benghazi, Libya.

Padres
Maestros
Estudiantes
¡UNIDOS!

Chicago Teachers Strike

After the Chicago Teachers Union fails to reach an agreement with the city, more than 26,000 teachers and staff walk off the job.

Congress Teeters on Fiscal Cliff

To postpone $109 billion in federal budget cuts, Congress passes a compromise bill that raises taxes on the nation's wealthiest.

Morsi Becomes Egypt's President

Egypt holds a democratic presidential election and conservative Muslim candidate Mohamed Morsi is declared the winner.

Dragon Capsule Concludes Mission

With the safe return of the SpaceX Dragon capsule, NASA successfully completes its first commercial supply mission to the International Space Station.

Welcome
SANDY HOOK ELEMENTARY KIDS
SANDY HOOK SCHOOL
WE LUV U!
WELCOME!

Sandy Hook Elementary Students Return to Class

Three weeks after the Sandy Hook tragedy, classes are relocated to the former Chalk Hill Middle School in nearby Monroe, Connecticut. "Our collective strength and resilience will serve as an example to the rest of the world," tweeted the principal from Newtown High School.

Hostess
Twinkies
GOLDEN SPONGE CAKE WITH CREAMY FILLING
Hostess

Junk Food Junkies Mourn Twinkies

The troubled Hostess Brands, Inc. shuts down operations, signaling a probable end for the once-popular Twinkies snack cake.

UN Aid for Syrian Refugees

The United Nations launches a $1.5 billion aid effort to bring food, clothing, shelter and medical supplies to Syrians fleeing more than two years of war.

Movies

The People Choose Jennifer Lawrence

Jennifer Lawrence, star of The Hunger Games series and Silver Linings Playbook, wins the Favorite Movie Actress award in the People's Choice Awards.

James Stars in Here Comes the Boom

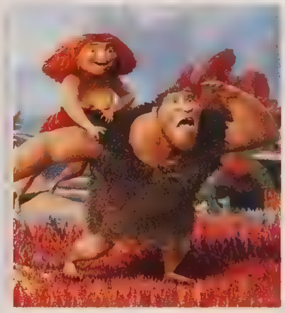
Kevin James stars as a burned-out biology teacher turned mixed martial arts hero in the feature film Here Comes the Boom.

Downey Dons Hero Suit a Third Time

Robert Downey Jr. returns as Tony Stark to face new enemies and overcome new challenges in Iron Man 3.

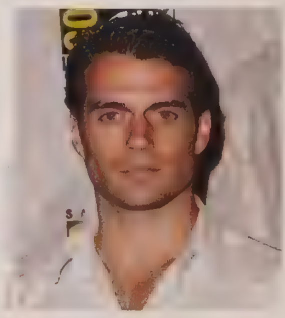
A Wizard Finds His Way

In Oz: The Great and Powerful, James Franco stars as a small-time magician who is transported to the Land of Oz.



Caveman Family Discovers the World

Ryan Reynolds and Emma Stone lend their voices to The Croods, a 3D computer-animated comedy adventure about the world's first family.

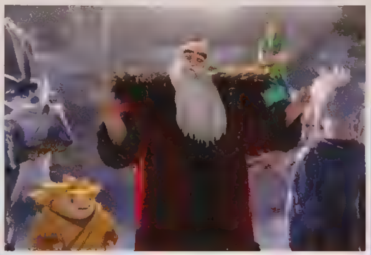


How Superman Began

A journalist who is baffled by his superhuman powers finds his life's purpose when evil invaders attack the world in Man of Steel.

Bond Breaks a Record

Skyfall, starring Daniel Craig as Agent 007, makes $87.8 million in its first weekend, the most successful opening of any Bond film.



Heroes Unite in Rise of the Guardians

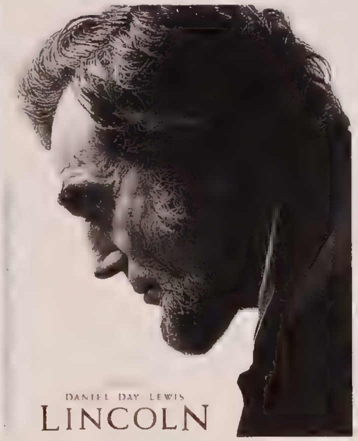
Fans of fantasy flicks head to the theaters for Rise of the Guardians, a 3D animated film from DreamWorks Animation based on the popular book series.

Grandparents Need Guidance

Bette Midler and Billy Crystal star as traditional grandparents who are baffled by their grandkids in Parental Guidance.

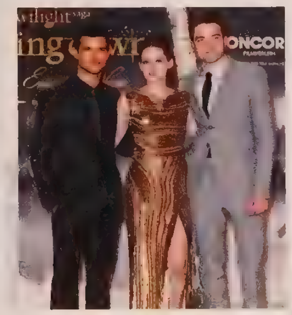
Wallflower Blooms on Big Screen

The Perks of Being a Wallflower, adapted from the book of the same title, tells the story of a shy high school freshman and his quirky friends.



A President Earns His Place in History

Lincoln, a historical drama based on an award-winning biography, depicts the last four months of the legendary president's life.



Breaking Dawn Breaks Box Office Records

The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn – Part 2, the finale to the vampire romance series, is Number One at the box office for three weeks in a row.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE AWARDS
CBS

Downey Is a Fan Favorite

Voters for the People's Choice Awards choose Iron Man star Robert Downey, Jr. as the year's Favorite Movie Actor.

College Singers Perfect Their Pitch

In Pitch Perfect, Anna Kendrick stars as a college student who inspires a mismatched a cappella singing group to achieve hilarity and harmony.

Soundtrack Album Tops Charts

The movie soundtrack for Les Misérables, featuring performances by Anne Hathaway and Amanda Seyfried, reaches the No. 1 spot on the Billboard 200 chart.

Fans Root for Wreck-It Ralph

In the animated feature film Wreck-It Ralph, an arcade game character wants to be a hero instead of a bad guy, but his well-intentioned plans go haywire.

It's a Wonderful Life of Pi

Nineteen-year-old Suraj Sharma stars in the movie adaptation of Life of Pi, about a teenager and a Bengal tiger who survive a shipwreck.

Bilbo Baggins Journeys to Theaters

The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey is the first of three films adapted from J.R.R. Tolkien's novel about a reluctant adventurer in Middle Earth.

Colophon

The 120th volume of the Lucky Bag was published for the United States Naval Academy by Jostens Printing and Publishing, 451 International Boulevard, Clarksville, Tennessee 37040.
Steve Sweet and George Fold served as the local Jostens representatives and Dee Skelton the printing consultant.
Cover and original page art created by Jeremy Bratton, Jostens State College Creative Resource Department. Major Travis Wells served as the Lucky Bag adviser. Ellen Sherman served as Manager of the Midshipmen Welfare Fund. MIDN 2/C Valerie Tucciarone served as Editor-in-Chief. Pentagon Publishing solicited commercial advertisements.

Director of Photography:
MIDN 1/C Joshua Ramey
Portraits provided by Jim Rainey of Lifetouch.
Contributing photographers: Phil Hoffman, Debbie Latta, Brian Fitzgerald, Curtis Khol, Jason Roman, Jeffrey Martino, Thomas Ferrara, Vytautas Drejeris, Yoseph Yoo

The 2013 Lucky Bag consists of 784 full color pages with a press run of 4600 copies. The Lucky Bag is a 9 x 12 smyth-sewn book, rounded-and-backed, printed on 100# matte paper with selective UV Gloss on over 150 pages including all dividers. The page edges are gilded with gold leaf. The cover is a fully molded embossed die of the chapel. Cover material is Terra 453 with an application of cut-away Mission grain and gold foil. Headline fonts are AYT The Hawk, Return to Earth and Maximo. All pages were created using Jostens Yeartech Online on Yearbookavenue.com

We regret the omission of materials. All Firsties/groups/sports/clubs were contacted in the first and/or second semester and asked to contribute material.
The Lucky Bag is a Midshipmen run publication, and, although every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy and reliability on these pages, all transcripts are subject to human error. The opinions expressed in the Lucky Bag are those of the Lucky Bag staff and are not intended to represent the official policies of the Brigade of Midshipmen or the United States Naval Academy. Nothing in this book may be reproduced in any way without the expressed permission of the Lucky Bag Yearbook Staff at the USNA.

Lucky Bag © 2013

20 13
USNA
CEDIMUS NIHIL